AWALT: Then, Now, and Forever

Cursedwithknowing · 1 June 2021 · Archived copy · Reddit

I know there are trad-cucks out there that think that all we must do is return to the 1950s, and all will be well with the world. Their theory is based on the assumption that feminism has ruined women, and turned them into the shrieking harpies that they are today. MGTOW men know the truth. We know that AWALT is reality. We know that feminism is nothing more than a manifestation of unfettered hypergamy. It's the truest form of a woman. Women were always like that; always have - always will be. In those idyllic 1950s, society controlled hypergamy with a healthy dose of shame. If a woman acted on our hypergamy she would look be looked down upon. On the flip side, being a "proper" mother and wife were praised and honored. And, considering that women are acutely susceptible to social pressure, they at least partly complied. It's a probability that many cheated, lied and did all the things we observe today. They were just extremely discreet in their behavior.

To look at this, a walk through of history is needed. Here are three specific examples; Two from the past and one that is current.

Example 1: Salem Witch Trials.

The infamous Salem witch trials began during the spring of 1692, after a group of young girls in Salem Village, Massachusetts, claimed to be possessed by the devil and accused several local women of witchcraft. As a wave of hysteria spread throughout colonial Massachusetts, a special court convened in Salem to hear the cases; the first convicted witch, Bridget Bishop, was hanged that June. Eighteen others followed Bishop to Salem's Gallows Hill, while some 150 more men, women and children were accused over the next several months.

In January 1692, 9-year-old Elizabeth (Betty) Parris and 11-year-old Abigail Williams (the daughter and niece of Samuel Parris, minister of Salem Village) began having fits, including violent contortions and uncontrollable outbursts of screaming.

In late February, arrest warrants were issued for the Parris' Caribbean slave, Tituba, along with two other women—the homeless beggar Sarah Good and the poor, elderly Sarah Osborn—whom the girls accused of bewitching them.

So, several young women come forward with absurd accusations. Since the first accusations were believed, and the girls got attention for it, other women came forward to gain some of that attention for themselves.

Also note that the people accused were of a lower class. A slave, a beggar, and a post wall impoverished person. It's as if they were seen as being less than human, and unworthy of living. Is this not how modern women treat men who are not in the top 10-20%?

So, young women and girls used the existing power structure (Christian Puritanism) to get rid of people they didn't like while garnering sympathy and attention for themselves.

Example 2: Lynching in the Jim Crow South

Thousands of innocent black men were killed in the south. Many were hunted down, brutally abused, and unmercifully hung with no legal rights, for allegedly "raping" white women. For example, Emmitt Till was brutally murdered for allegedly sexually harassing a white woman, and his would be accuser came forward decades later to say she lied about it.

But at the trial, she testified — without the jury present — that Emmett had grabbed her hand, she pulled away, and he followed her behind the counter, clasped her waist, and, using vulgar language, told her that he had been with white women before.

“She said that wasn’t true, but that she honestly doesn’t remember exactly what did happen,” Dr. Tyson said in an interview on Friday.

Ms. Donham, now 82, could not be reached for comment.

Several years ago, I had read an article about a woman that lied about multiple separate attacks by black men, and got 6 men lynched. I cannot find the article anymore. I think it was memory-holed after the #metoo movement became prominent.

The question becomes, how many innocent black men were put to death due to the lies of women?

In this example, women used the existing power structure (racism) to cover for their cheating behavior, or to just get rid of people that they saw as being less than human.

Example 3: #metoo Witch Hunts

Since society has become so gynocentric, we are now watching the undoing of our entire culture due to unrestrained female nature. Part of the feminist power grab is the #metoo movement, which seeks to remove men from positions of power via false accusation and replace these men with women. They also make false accusations to protect their own reputation and cover for cheating and other typical female behaviors. We have seen men like Bill Cosby go to prison with no evidence whatsoever presented against them. We have seen men like Johnny Depp, who possesses overwhelming evidence that he was abused, lose his career. His abuser is instead rewarded with more roles, fame, and grants to discuss domestic violence (Why not? She is an expert at it!). We had the “mean girls” story, in which a group of HS girls plotted to falsely accuse a male classmate. His crime? They didn’t like him. They ruined his life, and when the truth came out, there were no consequences for his false accusers. Even when the family of the boy attempted to sue, the case was thrown out. We see the examples of all the college men, that even though there is abundant evidence of consent, were thrown out of their universities and blacklisted. I could go on and on, but the point is clear.

As a result of the gynocentric system, you don’t even have to be within 100 miles of a woman to be jailed for raping her. No evidence is required, and you can rest assured that women will work hard to keep on eliminating any rules for evidence, due process, or rights for any man.

In these #metoo examples, the women are taking full advantage of the current system (They gynocracy, and the white knights and simps that enable it) to get attention, cover for cheating, extort money, gain power, and revenge. And, since feminists see themselves as superior beings, and that men are garbage (#killallmen, #thefutureisfemale), they see no problem in lying and destroying innocent men, particularly if they aren’t in the top 10-20%. These men, in the eyes of women, are not worthy of existing.

We must always remember that women never mature past middle school. They are as cruel and vindictive at 54 as they are at 14. And, perhaps even more so, as they will be more miserable and bitter at that age.

AWALT is real-it always has been. It is the true state of all women, and the recent election only shows that they are going to be encouraged more and more to use lies to destroy men. GYOW is more necessary than ever before.

Has Porn Helped to Ruin Women?

Cursedwithknowing · 17 May 2021 · Archived copy · Reddit

Here's a thought for the older guys out there, though comments are welcome from all.

Have you noticed the influence of porn on women's sexual behavior?

I had a conversation with female co-workers in the early 2010's. Because I'm older, (I guess) they asked me about "hairy bushes." They thought that was part of "70's porn." No joke. These were women in the early to mid 20's, so they likely grew up with internet access, and of course, we all know that the internet is for porn. So, I had to tell them that, from what I have seen, shaved women are more from the 80's-90's onward until now, and when I was in college (80's), I rarely encountered shaved women. They just assumed that women always have shaved. Of course, this leads me to think that porn has influenced the way women think and behave.

After my single mother debacle, I took the pill, and got into Red Pill thinking by way of PUA. Prior to the single mother, I was in a relationship then marriage for just under 20 years, so I was out of the dating market for a long time. As I recovered from the single mother, I still wanted to have sex with women, but not let them screw up my life. So, I learned game. It does work, but it requires time and effort, and it still means that you're expending time and resources on women (something I've since stopped doing). I quickly noticed something. More and more of the women I was hooking up with, many of them being professional women (nurses, teachers, pharmacists, accountants, and so on) were acting like they were in porn. I rarely encountered a woman who hadn't done anal, and hadn't liked it. Most all gave competent, if not mind-blowing blowjobs. They obviously knew what they are doing. It was if they were acting out scenes from Pornhub. The last woman I had a FWB with was the perfect example. She was shy, dressed like a librarian, was in her mid-20's, and acted like a total freak in bed. Knew how to use her tongue, was verbal, love her hair pulled and to be choked. She literally acted like she was doing live action porn.

When I was in college, sex was sometimes awkward, because many of the college girls were just out of HS, and away from their parents for the first time. Most of them were not, shall we say, good at what they were doing. Lots of starfish sex, and many times, disappointing blowjobs, and so on. That's not to say that many of them didn't get better with practice, but most of the time, their inexperience showed.

I would be willing to bet that porn has really impacted the sexual marketplace, and probably for the worse. How much earlier do women start? How soon do they get into more and more sexual acts? How much higher are the body counts because of that? How much more cheating does that encourage? How much hypergamy is encouraged? We already know that many more women have bisexual experience. Did porn help encourage that? Obviously, this no longer impacts me, since I've gone my own way, but there are young guys out there now that need this information.

Mind you, I'm not an anti porn crusader, but what I have seen makes me think about the differences in female behavior in my lifetime. I really think porn has made a difference.

Of course, this is relevant to MGTOW to show how much more depraved women have become. The feminists and tradcucks say that porn messed up men's sexual expectations. I'd argue the greater impact has been on women. I've just seen the change in behavior over the years. I don't know of a woman today that is relationship material, let alone wife material. GYOW and avoid all of it.

What do you men think?

The Trans Movement is Great for MGTOW

Cursedwithknowing · 10 May 2021 · Archived copy · Reddit

I can't take full credit for what I'm about to talk about. TFM has been discussing this issue over the last couple years, and he inspired what I'm about to discuss. Consider this a thought experiment.

Among the chief problems facing men in the current year is the multitudes of laws and regulations and policies that have been instituted to reward women undeservedly and unjustly punish men. That is all well documented on a daily basis in the various manosphere subs and sites.

- Women overwhelmingly get custody of children.
- Women overwhelmingly obtain alimony.
- Any man can be accused by any woman at any time and the man is automatically guilty.
- Scholarship and diversity programs disenfranchise qualified males to educate or hire unqualified females.
- Women overwhelmingly receive shorter prison sentence is for committing the same crimes as men.

I could probably go on for some time, but MGTOW men already know these things. The gynocentric society has been set up, and they simply will never relinquish the special advantages that they have given themselves. MGTOW men accept this as reality- because it is. And we know that there is no way to change it.

However, there is, as TFM puts it, a cheat code for Clown World. What if a man looked deep inside, and determined that he really wasn't a man, but a woman? This is where things get interesting. If a man agrees, after deep soul searching, to identify as female, he is then entitled to all the privileges and perks given to women in our society. For example, a British city contemplated a 6:00 PM curfew for men to keep women safe. As a man, what if you want to go out after 6:00 PM? The answer is simple. Identify as a female. Clown world has rules. They are nonsensical, but they are rules nonetheless. And one of the biggest sins in clown world is to question someone's gender. As we all know, according to clown world, gender identity is a social construct and no one is to assume anyone's gender, nor are they to question someone stated gender. This is grounds for immediate cancellation. So, if you're in that British town that gives a curfew of 6:00 PM for men, simply identify as female. They are not permitted to question that, and you can go about your business. Problem solved.

Are you going through a divorce? Is the custody of the children in question? Identifies a female! State in court that you're the child's mother. In clown world this cannot be questioned. How can the court then give one mother an advantage over the other mother? And, if the court gives advantage to the biological female, are they not engaging in discrimination against a trans person? The Supreme Court has ruled the trans people are now a protected class. As a trans person you cannot be discriminated against in any way, shape, or form!

Do you want a college education, but need a scholarship? If you're a straight white male, not only is there no assistance for you, you're also a walking target on a college campus. However, if you after some soul searching, declare that you're a trans female, you can get a female scholarship! And if you are denied, you have a great lawsuit on your hands. Want to dominate a female sport? Go for it. No one can stop you. Want to be immune from the "rape culture" witch hunts? Congratulations, in Clown World, women can't commit rape. Do you want a job? Aren't corporations and organizations around the country excluding white males from their workforce? But, if you identify as a trans woman, not only do you qualify for a position as a female, but you also qualify as a trans person. This gives you more "oppression points" than a white female. Guess what? You may be hired over the white female. If one of the feminists (TERF's) in the office decides to falsely accuse you, use the cheat code! You have more oppression points than a feminist. Maybe she gets fired? If a female coworker says you're not a "real woman," report her to HR and watch her get fired! The possibilities are nearly endless.

Isn't diversity beautiful?

Now some of you are going to ask, "I don't want to dress as a woman. What do I do?" The answer is simple. You can, after considerable soul searching, identify as a masculine presenting transgendered lesbian. In that circumstance, you don't have to change your clothes. You can simply act as you always have. You might want to wear a little trans flag on your shirt or coat to identify yourself as being down with the cause, but you really don't have to change much of anything else about you. You might want to change your driver's license to female or something like that but otherwise your life really changes very little. Remember that in clown world, your gender identity cannot, under any circumstances, be questioned. If one person's gender identity is questioned, then anyone's gender identity can be questioned. And clown world simply can't allow for that. After all, that would be hateful.

Others may question if I'm suggesting that people pretend to be something they're not, be dishonest, or go against their principles. All I can say is this is a cheat code. TFM described it that way, and I agree. Clown world is based on feelings, not reality, and because of that, clown rules are easily exploited. And if you're willing, you can use this cheat code to navigate clown world, as well as get every advantage that females receive due to the gynocentric system. Just look deep inside in reflection and self-examination and determine that you're really female. According to Clown World, and the Supreme Court, you're now a woman-no questions asked!

Others will say the clown rule doesn't have to follow its own rules. I understand this completely. Clown world is built on hypocrisy, but because it is run by feelings it is easily manipulated. Plus, parts of clown world are now the law. If you're not accepted to the college or get the job because you're a trans woman, you have legal recourse now. Not only that, but you can also turn public opinion against the institution that is wronging you.

Again, this is a cheat code. As TFM suggested in his videos, you can do life on hard mode. You can be disadvantaged at every turn by the gynocentric system, or you can do some soul searching and use this free cheat code. Your life does not have to change, but you can gain all the advantages of being a woman.

And, if anyone can be a woman, is there any real advantage to being a woman?

I wonder if we should become the biggest trans allies of all. In fact, maybe many of us really are trans, and we just haven't done the inner soul searching to find our inner masculine presenting transgendered lesbian.

Video Links: You'll have to head to bitchute and search for these titles on TFM's channel. Reddit had previously removed this post for spam. Guess they don't want people linking to wrong-think.

Activists Target Pornhub: Women Most Effectuated

Cursedwithknowing · 20 April 2021 · Archived copy · Reddit

Occasionally, I respond to a post about clown world with the idea that the inhabitants of clown world should be forced to follow their own rules. This understandably gets mixed responses. For myself, I enjoy watching the people of clown world being forced to follow the consequences of their own actions, as I'm sure some others are as well. I say that fully realizing that they never expected to follow their own rules. Their rules are to be inflicted on their opponents, and they never had any expectation to have to follow them themselves. However, clown world has rules. The rules are stupid, and make no sense, but they are rather ironclad. I recently encountered an example of this and wanted to share here.

The anti-porn religious lobby just destroyed the livelihoods of thousands of pornographers

Simply put, Pornhub, under pressure for multiple interest groups that oppose human trafficking, pulled the plug on millions of videos, and many of the women that profit from them.

On December 14th, Pornhub released a statement, which said, "Last week, we enacted the most comprehensive safeguards in user-generated platform history. We banned unverified uploaders from posting new content, eliminated downloads, and partnered with dozens of non-profit organizations...As part of our policy to ban unverified uploaders, we have now also suspended all previously uploaded content that was not created by content partners or members of the Model Program."

Here is another excerpt...

Compounding pornographers' expected loss of wages, Mastercard and Visa announced, immediately following the Pornhub purge, that they would no longer process payments from Pornhub, effectively blocking revenue from the site. The move was a reaction to Kristof's Times article about the platform hosting videos depicting child abuse.

"What bothers me is that Visa and Mastercard are major card companies that have now pulled back from allowing sex workers to make a living because of this one company's giant misstep," Akynos told me. "It won't just be Pornhub that they aren't messing with, it will be everyone else... So, now we have to figure out new ways in order to make money, and this is what sex workers have to do...we are constantly getting trampled on, and then we have to figure out how we can reinvent ourselves and go around and jump through these hoops just so we can make a living."

Boo-hoo. They've been disconnected from their simps, and their money. They were cancelled.

Pornhub is the largest porn site on the planet, and what affects them will eventually affect others.

The cancel culture is an invention of the political left. Leftists, including feminists, have used this mechanism to cancel many people with whom they disagree. We saw this in the MGTOW demonetization a couple years ago. We have seen this with MGTOW content creators losing their ability to use PayPal, or other financial services. Some other people have even lost their bank accounts. Others have even had even their family members banned from using MasterCard or Visa.

In this situation, we see social justice warriors being upset that the rules that they used to harm others or being used against them. Remember how many women were upset that Adele's husband got a large divorce settlement? They think alimony and child support are only for them. But the rules they created to destroy men can also be used against them.

How does this apply to MGTOW? If we are caught in a situation in which we can use those rules to gain an upper hand, or even just preserve our livelihoods, they are there for us as well. I fully expect that there would be massive resistance to us using those rules. But what is good for the goose is good for the gander. In other words, I'm a fan of malicious compliance. Or, as Saul Alinsky put it, RULE 4: "Make the enemy live up to its own book of rules."

Before I get accused of being a MRA, I don't want to change the world, I can't. We can't. I'm looking more for a protection mechanism that men can use to help themselves survive clown world. The cancer is terminal, but it doesn't mean that we have to go down with the sinking ship.

I also understand that women in particular, will eventually fight to make sure that their own rules don't apply to them. And sometimes they are successful. We all know that the pussy pass is real, and that women use it on a daily basis however, the rules are real and if push hard enough they have to be followed.

I'm also hearing that Pornhub is considering crypto as a solution to this. If that is the case, it could be something good. Making crypto more mainstream is a way for men to protect their resources in clown world. It's wonderful example of activists trying to fight something, and eventually making it even more resilient.
