This is why DT men do so well. She can't outmatch him. He can beat her at a game she can't play, as well as the game she does play. Superiority = tingles. Women love psychopaths.

[48 Days of Power] Day 40 - "Despise the free lunch."

22 upvotes · 24 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Inverse of this law (aggressive method:)

Offer people free shit. When they try to point out your flaws later, remind them you gave them free shit without them needing to ask. It's important you pre-empt with the sentiment that "I did that for you out of the kindness of my heart without you needing to ask." Or they will spin it and say "I didn't even ask you to do that!" That way you nullify their point by making them look bad before they can attack you by making the same point only directing it against you.

By pre-empting with your "philanthropy" and then pointing it out when they attack you it will seem as if they are just trying to put you down whilst you're this great person who is powerful yet benevolent. In their effort to make you look bad, you will make them look bad by talking about how good you have been to them. When one person is being negative and another positive, people will naturally lean towards the positive party. Nobody likes a hater. Haters seem petty and untrustworthy.

This links in with "protect your reputation at all costs." You must dominate the conversation psychologically. When you understand people and manipulation you can see 10 moves ahead (like chess) and anticipate what they'll do (relevant law: law 17 - cultivate an air of unpredictability,) so you can pre-empt their move before they get a chance to execute, robbing them of an attack. This becomes instinctual and natural once you have Machiavellianism ingrained and learnt rather than it be this abstract concept you read on Reddit or in the 48 laws.

When others are trying to anticipate your future moves, unpredictability with no obvious pattern in your decisions and behaviour is the ultimate defence in shielding yourself from their perceptual analysis. Remember, be water. It allows you to conceal as well as ambush.

Wrapping the pill in humor. Thanks, Onion

22 upvotes · 17 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I actually made a post on this a while back which spawned some great conversation, which I can't link to directly, but you can search "on being marriage material" or check my submission history.

By the grace of the almighty Brodin...

/r/TheRedPill/comments/293em4/on_being_marriage_material/

I never would have received this without you TRP. THANK YOU ALL!!

22 upvotes · 16 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

"Only if the other 19 are invited."

NEVER EVER trust women who say/act like they are "one of the guys" and have "mostly guy friends"

22 upvotes · 3 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Her shitty attitude reduced my quality of service. She was a little terse and a little rude after that set of interactions. No thank you ma'am.

Why women care when you look at other people, and men don't.

22 upvotes · 28 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women are insecure as fuck because they are more dependent on their other half than men are. They are truly the weaker, second sex in almost all ways conceivable. And likewise, infinitely more emotional.

How do you write women so well?

"I think of a man and I take away reason and accountability" - Jack Nicholson

Bill Burr female fan, 'Do not try to change him, that's why so many marriages fail'

22 upvotes · 24 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

We should label this phenomenon something. Occams Ovaries.

UPDATE 1: New plate asked to take her shopping, how is my response?

22 upvotes · 16 October 2014 · /r/askTRP

You're doing great buddy. Keep holding frame. Keep lifting, etc. Always be prepared to take the L (call it a day) if necessary.

Edit: Being on her period doesn't mean she hasn't got a mouth. You have a cock. She can suck it. Whenever my girl was on period week I'd get blowjobs on demand for the week.

Be A Closed Book

22 upvotes · 9 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Great thread OP. Always say less than necessary. Having a sense of humour is good for deflecting and making diversions. Any information you reveal, like OP says, make 'em work for it and value it and really invest to get it. This is subtextually a way of communicating that you are superior to her. Which of course, she will find attractive, hypergamous as they are.

Guy's wife spits into his bedside water. When confronted by the guy she accuses him of insulting her. What is TRP's view of this?

22 upvotes · 30 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

What red flags should I look out for when trying to determine whether a woman is DT?

- Claims she was raped/abused in her past
- Doesn't have any/many female friends, prefers male companionship (easier to manipulate with sexuality - other girls see through her shit) - is overly critical of women despite being one herself.
- Switches from nasty to nice "on-the-fly" (from soft/cute to hard and bitchy)
- Adjunct to the last point, blows up over almost nothing of substance and then "gets over it" very easily.
- Gaslights (denies things ever happened, guilt trips you for saying they did)
- Adjunct to the last point, says her behaviour was "just a joke" to excuse it and then shames you for a lack of sense of humour.
- Does things she knows will hurt you and watches you intently to see your reaction (sadistic tendency)
- Has an incredibly high sex-drive and is absolutely mental in the sack (scratching/biting etc.)

There are probably more, that's off the top of my head.

5 Things Men Should Never Look For In Women

22 upvotes · 18 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Some would argue women are the most logical and men are the hopeless romantics. Woman understand survival and exploit mens weakness for sex.

They have good machiavellian logic, the funny thing about machiavellian logic is you may do seemingly illogical (like give your enemy a gift to put their guard down) because it gets what you want reputation-wise, it's a type of logic that on the face of it, often seems absolutely crazy unless you realise the plan behind the actions.

Machiavellianism is a form of logic that "does not appear to be logical" on the surface, ultimately, there can often be a chain of illogical actions which result in a desired logical outcome that is good for the person engaging in said actions. Women do seem to have less of an interest and sometimes even contempt for things like politics and philosophy. I do enjoy the company of a woman who can hold a conversation in something like that, as I enjoy the company of anyone who can hold a conversation on such a subject, however I must point out that to find a woman that is interested in such things is far rarer.

I personally blame solipsism (does it immediately affect her life?) no? Ok , she doesn't care, now gossiping about someone who could be a threat? Yes, she's interested in that.

Some fun with #YesAllWomen tweets

22 upvotes · 30 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Wow political correctness/feminism is just culty as fuck. Look at that shit. Fucking wow. Keeping it real most people don't feel comfortable being near transies, non-heterosexuals (especially men) or people with certain disabilities or deformities (missing leg? burns? eye popping out? etc.) That's just how it is. No hate about it, it makes people feel uncomfortable, but this bullshit-PC culture, everyone has to be included and you have to pretend to accept/like something you don't no matter how much of an outlier someone is. In the old days freaks were simply freaks, homosexuality was classed as a mental health disorder and a spade was a fucking spade, you didn't pretend to be nice or accepting of someone you didn't feel entirely comfortable with. People have boundaries, people who fall outside the general norm should accept the boundaries of people who are normative seeing as, you know, they make up the majority. Shit, even fat people have a movement now, that's fucked up. On the flip side, fat people at least in the US and UK are making up a huge majority. You can see how a health problem could be bastardized to create a sense of community based on the health condition to spawn an ideology.

Reading this crap reads like something out of 1984, when the ministry of truth is the ministry of lies and the ministry of plenty is the ministry of famine and people are speaking in weird fucking language styles aka the books language "newspeak" where they speak opposites, use weird suffixes and generally make no fucking sense. I mean this twitter pic is not quite that bad, but it's somewhere between English and that. Eerie. Not read 1984? You won't understand this last paragraph and you're missing out on a great book. Don't watch the movie, it's fucking shit. Book owns. Fun trivia: When NSA was exposed the books sales went up around 7000%

Title: "Our Sexual Assault Problem Is Nuanced, Layered, And Not Easily Solved By A Hashtag" - A woman who almost gets it. Thought you guys might like this article.

22 upvotes · 30 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Hypergamy cries when the lesser men have the audacity.

Self-Respect and Crazy Bitches

22 upvotes · 23 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I can totally imagine someone feeling like this is some made up nonsense that couldn't or didn't happen

Eh, pretty much every FR on TRP has a non-believer or two calling bullshit. It is what it is. You can never verify what people say on the internet so you have to let people believe what they want to believe essentially.

Sometimes you're in a bubble you can't believe some things you read on the internet,

This is most of polite society, and I get the feeling a lot of suburban types read TRP, well, at least since the sub got bigger, it struck me as having a somewhat older crowd back in the day. We all share the same air but we all live in very different worlds, there are multiple social classes, personality types, power games and different cultures and social conventions all running paradoxically side-by-side on a day-to-day basis, we often see other people but we don't see the world they're in, we don't have their perception or experiences, this is what TRP is about beyond sexual strategy, opening your mind to all manner of madness, it's a fucking jungle out there and shit is crazy.

Self-Respect and Crazy Bitches

22 upvotes · 23 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

where you actually witness a girl get DT'd.

She was noticeably fucking moist recalling how this guy had almost burned her alive and almost went to prison for it but "she decided not to press charges" then he gloated about he went to prison a month later for an unrelated offence anyway, something about shooting his dad. Not my scene.

the dark triad conjure tingles

How this reads is just hilarious, sounds like something out of harry potter.

The Loyalty of Women in Long Term Mating Strategies - Pair Bonding and the Differences Between Men and Women in Sexual Affairs

22 upvotes · 24 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Archwinger is a hard hitter when it comes to distilling things from the female perspective.

Moving in to a primarily female dominated household.

22 upvotes · 23 February 2014 · /r/askTRP

You're putting yourself in a situation where you have very little control over the dynamic.

Firstly and it's of no help to you now you've made this decision but I think it's important to mention for anybody potentially pondering doing what you've done and can be useful to you for when you move in the future is that you shouldn't be living with anyone you don't already know or get on with very well.

Living with strangers is a poorly calculated move as it means you'll more than likely be putting up with peoples problems/bad habits/flaws whom you don't even value that much and most certainly wouldn't put up with such behaviour from the average person but are forced to endure/notice/be subjected to due to the logistics of where you continuously are.

You wouldn't move in with a girl you'd not known long due to cheap rent or even random guys you met a week ago so how is moving in randomly with complete strangers any better where you're the outsider? Immediately unless your SMV is already really high (very good looking and wealthy, which I doubt if you're sharing with strangers) then you're coming from a place of weakness - they already know each other very well and if there's even one cunt in the group they have the leverage to put a halt to your group acceptance. Again I know so far it sounds like I'm putting you down, and truly believe me when I say that is not my intention, just the truth is not typically a beautiful thing and the burden of telling it often has one thinking you have a negative agenda, anyway that aside I'm going to tell you what I believe to be wise in your situation and this would be the advise I would take if I ever found myself in your situation.

You are an outsider to a new household, there could be a rare chance that everybody keeps to themselves and that there is no social group formed out of the household however that is far more likely in a house full of men than it is women, being a predominantly female household you can bet your ass that the women have banded together and formed a cartel for their interests. Likewise the women will always "go to bat" for each other, as to say, the women there will always take the woman's side if you ever have a problem with one of them. What you want to do straightaway is make a strong introduction to the one male and the ugliest female, pay much less attention to the prettier and prettiest female, if you're not familiar with game theory (which can be applied to all humans, not just dating) this may sound counter-intuitive however there is reasoning for this.

You want a good relationship with the man because he's essentially been "the man of the house" for however many months or years its been now, used to being the sole man he has most likely gotten used to the other girls coming to him when they need some DIY done, or something grabbed from the top shelf, or some heavy shopping lifted up the stairs or whatever, I guarantee you these girls will have tried to have used him to their advantage and he has grown accustomed to this position be he an alpha or a beta or really flamboyantly bitchy gay, there's little difference - he's used to having a unique position in the house that is uncontested - your arrival as the new male contests that position in so many ways that a woman simply can't contest, you'll primitively make him feel a threat a new woman couldn't simply by turning up.

He may be on good terms with the girls and feel protective of them, in that case you definitely want to forge a strong friendship with him before anyone else because he will be your biggest barrier to entry, getting him on board will essentially open up the rest of the house to you, if all the girls like him and he likes you then you basically win the group over. However this is what I mean when I said about not liking the uncertainty of your situation, now I have to sit here typing out all these hypothetical social paradigms because none of the relationships are actually known or solidified by background knowledge so it's going to be "if this" and "if that" for a few paragraphs, anyhow complaint aside I will continue.

If the male does not have a good relationship with the females (and that wouldn't surprise me) then he's all alone - that's an easy ally right there however you still have the pussy cartel, the 3 women. Remember what I said about ignoring the prettiest girl? Well there's a caveat where you'll have to slightly amend that game-plan, if the guy does not hold influence with the cartel then one of the women is essentially head of house (which is NEVER good) identify who that woman is (the one the other woman nod to, follow, agree with, show respect to etc) and befriend her - instead of the man she is the one that holds the keys to power in the household and thus she is the one you need to form an alliance with in order to have the rest of the house fall into line.

To be honest in my opinion it's easier if the head of house is the guy as he will be more trusting of you straight away than a female head of house, women are so egotistical that too much kindness and eagerness from you to try and get her approval will just make her think you want in her pants and thus that will illogically have the reverse effect of actually making her not like you "eg: the new guy is kinda creepy" don't be that guy. Instead, just joke with her and make her feel comfortable, be a bit flirty but don't be too audacious with the flirting, just enough to create some sexual energy which you can use as leverage to make her like you, but not enough that she's jumping all over your dick. Usually the prettiest girl is the leader of the "pussy cartel" as she has the highest smv, girls tend to fall in line with mother hen and mother hen is typically the prettiest girl, however this is not always the case.

Again it depends on your natural strengths, if you're a leader of women you may find it easier to seduce/win a woman over to your side, if you're not a good seducer and most guys aren't then the odds are on your side that a male leader is your better bet.

IF (ugh) the prettiest girl is not the leader but one of the less prettier girls is it's because she's smarter than the prettiest girl, this means shes somewhat more masculine than the prettiest girl and typically less naive and smarter than the prettiest girl. She has her position in the house because she's more apt for it among the women and the man has been considered a non-option for his sociodynamic failures earlier on, however as she's not the prettiest girl this will have some significant effects on her behaviour:

- She will be aware she is not the prettiest girl and thus feel continuously insecure because the presence of the prettier girl(s) reminds her of how imperfect she is.
- She will be bitter she is not the prettiest girl and thus more masculine/bitchy.
- She will feel like she has to look out for the prettier girl(s) and that they need her protection (taking the position of the man.)
- She will be jealous of and resent the prettier girls because she's uglier and it hurts her ego, however as she feels like it's her responsibility to look after the house she will COCKBLOCK these girls out of a dual combination of both jealousy and protectivity.

In the instance the leader of the girls is not good looking, spend most of your time talking to her, treat her non-sexually (won't be hard if shes not pretty and as she's so not used to male attention likely her ego works overtime if a guy shows any slight bit of interest) win her affections by "being cool" act decent without being weak, offer to do things but on your own terms, bring value, slip in jokes but be semi-aloof with her, like you're talking with her but your mind is focused on something more important than her.

Don't spend too much time talking to the prettier girls, this will get her on the defence, you want to win her over first and once she's won the other girls will fall into line and then its safe to spend more time talking to them/being more openly flirty etc.

Exploring so many hypotheticals is annoying because I can't keep a straight flow or plan, instead really this a bunch of different strategic plans for varying situations dependent based upon the social dynamic you encounter so hopefully for you you're good at reading people and situations and can work quickly on-the-fly to improvise and implement the correct plan for the situation at hand otherwise winning the wrong loyalty first may fuck shit up and rather than win the whole house you end up totally ostracized or only having 1 ally in the house.

Principles to apply regardless of situation:

- Be strong by setting boundaries, don't be coerced into doing things, only do what you want to do. Be reasonable and fair, but don't let that reasonable side of you be exploited to do anothers bidding through logical persuasion. Have boundaries and stick to them, it may sound counterintuitive to go against peoples desires as soon as you enter the house but basically getting you to do stuff "as you're the new guy" are compliance tests and if you agree to them you set a precedent where you'll always be the guy who can be exploited. Stick to your guns at all costs, once you've made what you think is a fair decision do not budge.
- Do not go to the shop for people because they asked, offer to get people stuff when you're going there anyway instead. Do not help people out whenever they ask, offer to help people out with their shit when you feel like it - on your terms - when you have the free time and don't need to sacrifice anything to be decent. This a household so you must be more cordial. You can't completely game the chicks and be as alpha as you'd normally be as you have to live with them so you're showing more beta by helping out, but do it on your own terms when you want to not because a silly bitch fluttered her eyelashes. That shit only loses you respect and respect means everything. You can be decent but it must be on your terms. Define strong boundaries and do not let those boundaries be walked over and you will more than likely have a solid position in the house. Do not fuck any of the girls unless it's just before you move out, you need an exit strategy, do not shit where you eat it isn't worth the pussy.

Obviously if any of them shit test you which they probably will just agree and amplify with everything they say. Helps if you're a joker to smooth things over. "So what made you choose living here with us then?" "Well I thought it'd be nice to experiment living with animals after watching the discovery channel" again, remember to calibrate, if you live with hyperemotional bitches that can take no semblance of sarcastic humour then that kind of joke will not execute well as they are too insecure, if you live with healthy well-rounded individuals or those secure enough to have a joke, you'll find that goes well and DHVs you as bringing value rather than offending someone's sensibilities.

Good luck my friend you're entering a social jungle and that's going to be your living space for the foreseeable future!

PS: all their menstrual cycles will have synced, there's going to be about a week a month in that house where you will wish you were dead and they all become mega cunts, when that happens stay out the house as much possible and play avoidant. Keep a trimmed face when they're on their periods (as they will perceive you as less of a threat when ovulating) and when not ovulating keep your facial hair (as they will perceive as you are more manly the rest of the time.)

Tales of Hypergamy — Recursive Game

22 upvotes · 11 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Do whatever it takes to actualise your inner-game. Inner-game is everything. Look at Patrice O Neal's appearance. He was one of the few guys whose inner game was so strong the fact he was severely overweight didn't hold him back. Ironically that's the very thing that killed him. I'm not saying to neglect your appearance, but what I am saying is that your inner-game is the key to success in absolutely everything. Start creating positive feedback loops, kick out toxic individuals from your life. Be outcome independent. Get used to rejection etc etc. Once you put the effort in you need no effort to maintain the psyche, it's a self-sustaining mindset.

RedPillWomen Mods AMA! ASK THEM ALMOST ANYTHING!

22 upvotes · 30 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Despite the nobility of the commitment you ladies work and strive for, it's going to take a legislative change to get the majority of redpillers to put a ring on it. Some will take the plunge and I will not be the first or last to brand them naive idiots, red pill lady or not. If I'm making a legal contract with someone whose primary mode of thought is emotional, I want to have the more favourable terms in the contract, not them. Marriage contract is what is known in legal terms from the perspective of the male as SUFFICIENT but not ADEQUATE. Meaning there is sufficient grounds for a contract when reviewing marriage papers, but the contract is not adequate (meaning FAIR in the exchange of promissory legal value) he is required to give you more value as per divorce law and family law than you are required to legally reciprocate to him.

I'm in law, and contract law is red pill as fuck - that's inherently what marriage is, a form of contract law linked to divorce law and if children are involved, family law. In fact, marriage is the only contract now one can terminate at any time without fulfilling the conditions of the contract (your matrimonial oath) as "till death do us part" would imply as a legally binding verbal contract that should you initiate divorce as the violator of the contractual terms (without a legal exemption) that you would be liable for damages and he would be awarded a remedy, however where the blur comes in contract law is that once you become close associates/family the court automatically assumes anything you say as a promise in passing verbally is not intended to be a legally binding contract, however the marriage ceremony is official and thus if the law was actually non-feminist and logical, it would hold true that you should be bound by your oath with all your friends and family bearing witness to the signing of a marriage contract.

Feminist family law is fucking up everything, it's unfair to demand marriage as a man has no recourse and gives up a lot of power (what you're attracted to) in the process because "you know you have him now." Marriage provides him with no additional benefits to cohabiting with you and the children, in fact it primarily exists to give you (the woman) peace of mind and an economic avenue to screw him for money "every penny" if a divorce should ever occur, that's basically what it is, a redundancy back-up plan for a woman to fall back on in the result of relationship failure. Yes lifelong marriages can work, but they're outliers in today's culture, or remnants from a less feminist era. The benefits of divorce for a woman can serve as an incentive for you to give up if the going ever gets really tough and he's not as alpha as he once was, it's a huge tactical fallibility in any man's reign in a relationship with his woman.

That's not your fault as RP ladies, that's the fault of feminism and the state, but that's how it is as it stands and thus you unfortunately don't become magically exempt from that due to your hard work and traditionalist values.

If traditional laws were adopted in regards to marriage where the woman is most likely destitute if she decides to leave and not work on things as well as require her to need good reason to leave if she so chooses (abolish no-fault divorce, require evidence of abuse and other such things like they used to) then it may become a viable option again, otherwise you're essentially asking a guy to sign his nuts over in a legal contract simply because your SMV beyond aesthetics is high.

Japanese women and men explain what they look for in the other sex

22 upvotes · 25 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Orange hair guy is alpha you can tell. He speaks with confidence and has a solid frame.

"How would you like a woman to approach you?"

"A man always approaches a woman that's the yamato spirit."

Young doctor wonders why women are suddenly after him. Gets slaughtered by hamsters on r/askwomen. These are redpill truths in action.

22 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I know a girl in real life.. 19.. dark triad crazy bitch.. fucking a doctor. He proposed to her... so fucking tragic.

As he doesn't know me directly but knows about me through her he fucking hates my guts (cuz she uses my existence as a weapon against him.. tells him she'll come to mine and fuck me when he pisses her off and etc) ...yes I do my best not to get involved in her silly power games. however I digress, I'd do the same for that guy as well. She's mining his earnings/earning potential for what it is and she's not even hit 20. He's 34.

It's fucking sad. He's already been divorced once. Some motherfuckers just never learn do they? Fucking hell.

Why Is Wordpress Employee Kevin Conboy Threatening To Delete Blogs [Heartiste] He Disagrees With?

22 upvotes · 3 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I fucking hate manginas more than I hate feminists. At least women have the excuse that they're irrational followers, what's this cunts excuse? Detestable oxygen thief.

Why is this working?

22 upvotes · 24 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Being a sociopath is not a choice, it's a neurological state. Unless you're born one, what you're practicing is a mixture of desensitization and stoicism.

Uber-beta lets girlfriend bring a gay man in their bedroom, accepts to do 'really homosexual acts' with the guy while she watches.

22 upvotes · 23 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm a gay guy and I've had a friend who was a girl, who was freaky, and who helped me seduce hot straight guys. But usually in the context of her pretending to be my girlfriend.

OK I understand lesbians having sex with straight girls as women are sexually fluid, however men are not sexually fluid, AT ALL. They are straight or they are gay, very few men are BI or "curious" or whatever, this shit has been scientifically observed. Fuck, women are even turned on by bonobos.

Please explain how you're getting men you describe as heterosexual to give up their ass to you using a pretty girl. This sounds incredibly fucked up/deceptive/predatory.

Very hard to imagine the sex is consensual when by merit of one's sexual orientation and lack of sexual fluidity they simply wouldn't be interested in you.

Edited in the study as some cunts are trying to bury this.

Respect yourself more than you respect her

22 upvotes · 21 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

unless you are chatting up some other girl at the time

Go talk to other girls, dread game the bitch.

Some RP knowledge from the Orient

22 upvotes · 17 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha fuck it I'll name em. Western Europe. Northern Europe. North American continent.

The Red Pill Is Not Something You Take Only Once

22 upvotes · 16 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Children aren't sexually charged psychologically speaking. A lot of the BS is because of sex. Freud was fucking out there but he was onto something with the idea that there were sexual undertones to basically almost everything and if there weren't we'd find a way to invent them.

Feel Good Bullshit: What it is, why it's bad, and how to spot it

22 upvotes · 13 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm not sure how the mods and endorsed contributors here feel about the subject of morality as far as RP philosophy is concerned

If basic needs outweigh the cost, disregard morality. (Eg: food/water/air) Survival trumps sensibilities.

If the threats aren't utilising morality, neither can you - the strategic disadvantage is too great and you will lose.

Morality should be applied selectively. If you have the upperhand, you can use your power to apply morality benevolently, to help, to facilitate positivity etc.

If you're on the poorer footing following your moral code won't elevate you.

Power is inherently amoral and thus being moral or immoral is a matter of circumstance and weighing up the variables at hand.

That's my opinion.

Bitches just simply ain't worth a ring nowadays.

22 upvotes · 2 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Corporate fat cats have been trying to sell sex for decades

No they use sexualisation to sell completely unrelated products, they're not selling vaginas, assholes and mouths for rental.

Also, you talk about women like they're animals/aliens.

Backup the assertion, he holds them accountable for their actions, if he thought they were animals/aliens he wouldn't expect them to do anything except oh wait... have a pussy. LOL.

I'm not really a proponent for feminism but I do see them as equals, more or less.

Then you are a proponent for feminism, you sound conflicted, this is an oxymoron. That is like saying, I'm an islamist but I believe in secularism, the statement is completely fucking inane.

Scientifically, men are more level-headed than women.

Which is why they are no way in hell equal to us, we are always responsible for them, not the other way around. When you are expected to provide and sacrifice for someone, and they are not in return, how can you even claim equality? It's silly. Egalitarianism is idealistic, not pragmatic. Women in leadership positions blame-shift like hell with very very very few exceptions (eg: Margaret Thatcher), however the exceptions prove the rule.

You're just making a bad name for men when you go on angry, emotion-fueled rants like this.

You're adverse to the tone and it's making you sensitive, that does not make the content any less true.

You talk shit about women having a false sense of superiority but only because you suffer the same delusions that you accuse others of.

"The shit" he is talking is not a lie, and to be honest, if you are held to a higher standard by society and have more burden and responsibility, I think you have every damn right in the world to feel like your superior when your life is tougher and you still fucking own at life. For that reason alone, an actualisation of superiority is not delusional, but rooted in solid logic. If the reasoning for your superiority has a logical basis, it is not bigoted but informed.

Grow a pair.

Stop having such a knee jerk reaction and resorting to feminist shaming tactics, its fucking pathetic.

Op/Ed: It's Time For Companies To Fire Their Human Resource Departments

22 upvotes · 14 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminists clutch on to the patriarchy like I clutch onto my dick.

It never ends.

How does this board stay up?

22 upvotes · 2 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminists aren't the patriarchy, they actually exist.

Saying that, they're not omnipotent either. I was with 3 girls last night and each slut loved it. Are they whores or girls enjoying their sexual value in it's primacy?

Feminists get too much attention, I mock and laugh. They're the type of women nobody wants, or someone would want her because she's actually cute but her personality is fucking putrid, toxic quarantine signs, stay the fuck away from this crazy bitch she's leaking emotional vitriol.

If this subreddit goes down www.puerarchy.com will replace it, so bookmark it, it's in the sidebar and don't fret - the message and endeavour will live on.

TRP for an ugly man

22 upvotes · 19 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

More than you guys here give it credit for. Unless you're a male 9 or 10 you won't be doing any captivating but if you're ugly you will be repelling.

It's a hypergamy factor alongside bank balance, game and social status but it's there and far too understated on this sub

[PDF] Dark Triad as an Agentic Social Style

22 upvotes · 8 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Anxiety can be overcome, it's not chronic.

Steps:

- Do things that boost ego (eg: feel good music, talk with people you have a rapport/banter with and keep all other contact minimal, workout etc)
- Keep doing it and then approach random people for random reasons (eg: the time, if you smoke, ask for a lighter, smoking is an easy way to talk to strangers, weird as that is.) Get good at talking bullshit (be synoptic) someone means something, connect it to something abstract or something similar that relates to it. Lots of anxious people suffer from bad articulacy because they simply don't speak enough outside of their heads, this creates a negative feedback cycle (not good at talking, so don't speak to people, don't speak to people so not good at talking etc) talk to people more and you will become a better speaker, as simple as that sounds.
- When your ego is high enough, go into confrontational situations (try to embrace the fear as HYPE rather than let it rule your decision making process and ultimate self-convincing process that you should AVOID it, you've been avoiding your whole life, time to see what the other outcome does)
- Keep going into confrontational situations.
- Learn from the confrontational situations, maintain your ego (keep doing the things in step 1, if you need a break because from confrontation for a bit because you actually lost ego then that's OK it's normal, try to find some positive from the confrontation, what you did right, where you went wrong, when you know where you went wrong you can practice not fucking up like that again.)
- Eventually you'll learn outcome independence from confrontational situations as you'll have prior experience to draw from. Outcome independence is essentially the fabled "I don't give a fuck" mentality. It's when you have enough confidence and self assurance that you can give something a try, and if it fails your world won't crumble around you. I guess for many this is a process of "manning up."
- Focus on yourself more than other people, don't let you convince yourself not to do things, if an activity will boost your ego, generally speaking, do it.
- You can lean on alcohol a little bit to start off with, but you don't want to form a dependency. Dutch courage can lighten the edge when shit gets too much.

I'm not qualified in psychology, I'm speaking from personal experience. Enjoy, good luck.

[x-post from r/redpillwomen] Ladies, be like this girl.

22 upvotes · 6 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If chicks were always like this interaction, TRP wouldn't exist, life would be easy. I didn't catch a sniff of entitlement, 0:34 girl thought she was way above him.

My dad described himself as MGTOW.

22 upvotes · 3 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Of course they've got worse the culture toxically supplicates to their whims via the institutionalised political agenda they're taught to religiously worship. Fair play to your dad.

Banned on Twitter

21 upvotes · 10 June 2018 · /r/TheRedPill

I literally rarely ever talk about this. Nah. It was because I said Asia Argento has borderline personality disorder lol

How To Stop Feeling Tired (if you're always tired as fuck, then none of the self-improvement material in the world will be enough - get your energy levels on lock first!)

21 upvotes · 23 February 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

Nutrients are easy, you don't even really need bloods, you just buy vit D, vit B complex, perhaps magnesium, take em a couple of weeks, and if your fatigue is gone? Voila. Bit of a shotgun strategy though. Bloods do tell you exactly what's up. Hormones though? Don't wanna apply a shotgun strategy there because you'll fuck yourself up if you get it wrong. Testing essential.

Don't recommend buying zinc if you eat eggs regularly (and you should), because you'll be getting plenty of zinc already.

Woman hits the wall at 25, has mental breakdown: single mother with no money comes to realise no one wants to date a single mother, has vitriolic anger towards her ex who's still living a happy life and having relationships.

21 upvotes · 28 August 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

The red pill is about recognising reality, it doesn't legislate morality.

How To Fuck Your Girl Rough

21 upvotes · 23 June 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

For some guys monk mode will take a month, for others it will take years. Depends how deep your issues go, if you have relapses in your self-development, and what your starting point is. Some guys physiologically lose weight easier than others, some guys don't need to lose weight at all. Some guys are more naturally outgoing than others. Some guys are poor, some aren't. You get the point. A poor, fat guy with no father, friends and fuck all social skills and is going to be in monk mode a lot longer than a skinny fat middle class guy with friends and some cash behind him. The deeper your problems, the longer the tunnel and the further away the light.

I'm a clinically-diagnosed Psychopath, and I've found that by meditating, I have become even more detached from my emotions, interpersonal relationships, and from the external world. On the other hand, I have opened myself to the most productive periods of my life. Any insights?

21 upvotes · 18 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

If people think they can judge a guy's level of psychopathy from one reddit post they're fucking retarded. Treat it like Schrödinger's cat, you never really know with the internet. That's why "trolling" has any level of power, because the anonymity means you haven't really got a clue who you're dealing with. So if you don't take it serious and it is, you lose out on valid discussion. If you take it serious and it isn't, you're fooled and your community is undermined.

Most of the comments in this thread are so ignorant it makes me not want to bother even contributing to it. I'd venture a guess most people here have never even known a psychopath. The mention of patrick bateman reinforces that belief, as said people have no frame of reference for this concept outside of a media narrative.

Already I can see this devolving into a shitfest of name-calling and general gronking/amogging nonsense. Not worth my time.

Guy finds out that his girlfriend settled for him because Chad wouldn't commit to her, gets RP advice from his (female) cousin, decides to kick his girlfriend to the curb.

21 upvotes · 30 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

She's locked down the beta bucks and she's longing for the alpha fucks.

Disturbing Social Trends Observed During Summer Vacation

21 upvotes · 23 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

However does that mean there will be even higher polarities between "manly" men and "pussified" men in the west?

This is what I'm seeing. Personally, I strive for balance, because it is my preference, but the west demands extremism: either total supplication, or complete cuntishness. I'm not too fond of being a complete cunt 24/7, I like showing people common decency and being personable. As such one is civil (especially with women) at their own peril. One must be able to switch from a personable guy to one who will fuck up the person mistaking kindness for weakness at a second's notice if they are to get away with toeing-a-line so to speak. It's a peace through power philosophy.

Eventually what you would have is literally no respect for any man, even if they would be considered a honorable/respectable man in any other place.

To be honest, I think we're already there. At least where I am.

A note on the backup forums

21 upvotes · 6 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

They don't mind the improvement part, it's the understanding of women's psychology and augmentation of our own they loathe. Women not in control = misogyny. Men in control = oppression. And then there are the well-meant but idiotic egalitarians who think men and women are, or can be equal. There isn't a chance in hell. Sex and superiority/leadership is pretty binary. You're either in a female dominated culture or a male dominated culture. One leads and the other follows. There is no democracy in attraction or gender imperative.

Many redpillers I suspect would love for equality to be feasible, as it would take the load off them. At one time many of us thought it was. But we have found that it isn't, and so have to come to accept reality rather than living in spite of it. The establishment and the masses of brainwashed sheeple are in denial of this truth, and hate us for reminding them of it. TRP owes its rep to the sentiment that the messenger almost always gets shot.

A man presents only facts to dispute gender pay gap existence. Wins against feminist.

21 upvotes · 16 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

He's got that amused mastery shit going on. Also - takes balls to link to TRP. I guess being gay does give him a get out of jail free card though. Political correctness and all that. Great guy.

WWYD confirms what we already know: society gives 0 shits about men.

21 upvotes · 2 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Bitches don't care about you, they care about how successful you are (unless you are ridiculously handsome or devilishly mind fucking.) Men are success objects, women are sex objects. Men have to get success and maintain it. Women have to be pretty. And even if a girl isn't pretty, even if she fails at that and has absolutely nothing remarkable about her - because there is no pressure for her to be successful, there is no ostracisation of her when she isn't. She hasn't failed at anything. Sure, she won't get all the privileges a pretty woman will, but she will get some level of civility. She will not be condemned like a loser man is.

Men have to have some degree of success just to be granted a base level of civility, women do not. Loser women get help, loser men get laughed at. Just another social manifestation of our biological economy, eggs > sperm.

A basic truth, TRP 101, one of about a million reasons men and women can never be equal - people care about women more and are innately positively biased towards them.

The Hierarchy of Love

21 upvotes · 2 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

You're in the depression phase. You'll feel less depressed if you start lifting some weights. Don't put it off.

Looking to leech off other's optimism because you can't handle reality means you are weak. I know it's tough, but you have to learn to stand on your own two feet if you ever want to be a man who is worth a fuck. Accept shit for what it is. It just is. You can't change it. And now you know that, you know you do yourself a disservice hiding in delusions. Especially when those delusions betray you.

Good luck on your journey. It's not all doom and gloom. Eventually you'll reach the acceptance phase. Could take time, but just work on yourself and have fun whilst you take in the truths. They sting less like that.

Brutal truth, but funny so great for a depressed guy:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=0hAmCjqVkJg&list=PLnhyzKCjt9ubnwI1tdTR0wYGoELYxHNfh>

Successful Men Are Warriors.

21 upvotes · 30 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah the guy doesn't understand that his morals are for him, his family and any allies, but do not apply to women outside his sphere of influence. Morals don't make you fuckable. Power does. Most men don't get this. They think the "good guy" will get the girl. He won't if he's not more powerful than the "bad guy." Woman's attraction is amoral. White knights are losers who don't get the game.

What are trp's "contingency plans" if Reddit CEO shuts us down?

21 upvotes · 26 May 2015 · /r/askTRP

If you read the sidebar in /r/theredpill, you'd know this is the contingency plan:

<http://puerarchy.com/mailling/?p=subscribe&id=1>

RooshV slams the Red Pill

21 upvotes · 22 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Crab bucket Machiavellianism at it's finest. It's funny how some of the traits we see in the triad, are, to a lesser extreme, feminine battle strategies.

For the Girl Writes What fan boys, Karen Straughan lays down her opinion of TRP

21 upvotes · 21 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

For me, I think the message had to come from a woman. I don't think that, prior to unplugging, I would have believed it coming from a man - I would've gone with the beta "whatever, this guy is an asshole" opinion and left it at that.

I think a lot of people are like this. Most plugged in people value the word of a woman 10x more than the word of a man. It's fucked up. If a guy said it you'd think "he hates women" and immediately dismiss him. Fucked up.

Of course once you take the red pill, that dynamic reverses. You begin to value the word of man over women.

On Anger

21 upvotes · 11 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

How some of you can love Patrice O'neal yet shit on the anger phase is beyond me. His anger phase has led to some serious game that a lot of us have learned from.

Right there with you on that. He was one of the angriest-yet-still-makes-sense motherfuckers I've ever heard.

Ask IllimitableMan

21 upvotes · 30 April 2015 · /r/askTRP

should I be cold-approaching women even before I join a gym, get new clothes, and find a job?

My opinion is no. Some people think the meaning of life is approaching women all the time so you don't lose the skill and "feel comfortable around women." Personally I think focussing on women when you need to fix yourself is foolish, it's time better spent on you than worrying about women. What happens if you do good and get into a relationship before you've properly swallowed TRP/improved yourself? You go back to your old ways, eventually she dumps you and it's square one again.

would you say that everyone has different morals?

You have the morals you were taught. Narcissism is really just believing you're better than everyone else, which is like cat nip to kittens when it comes to women. You don't need to be a narcissist in the most clinical sense of the term, but you need to genuinely believe you are better than women to convey an attitude that is attractive to them.

Woman suggests to her husband that they get a sperm donor because he's short.

21 upvotes · 28 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

And then the plausible deniability aspect sets in "I only want what's best for OUR children, can't you see that?! Why are you being so immature?!" Thing is, if it's not his sperm, they aren't his kids. Women are manipulative and insensitive whilst conveying an image of kindness and sweetness. When all you see is the surface you think women are wonderful, because you're caught up in style but blind to substance. But when you can see the substance behind their charades, women are ugly. It's fucked up, they're fucked up.

"TRP is too nice to men, too mean to women. Waaaah!" ... the response

21 upvotes · 18 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Still, it was a really nice 3 month rental.

That's the spirit buddy. We all know drugs/drink and "male friends" lead to "oopsies" if that's a plate fine, if that's a GF, she be getting demoted to plate.

How Men Love / Male Commitment

21 upvotes · 22 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha, say it like it is man.

Indeed, a man must always put his mission and himself before his woman.

My Old Coworker Hung Himself

21 upvotes · 12 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Sounds a lot like feminist logic.

You've exposed me, I'm a feminist.

Nutrition - don't let your blue pill upbringing affect your mentality on what's "healthy"

21 upvotes · 11 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm really not sure what fucks me off more about society - single mothers or bitch ass blue pill beta fathers.

[Meta] SJWs are reportedly working with admins to develop a stricter "no harassment" policy at Reddit. We should have an action plan in place for when TRP is banned

21 upvotes · 4 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Everyone follow <http://therationalmale.com/>. Rollo's site is really good. Probably the most comprehensive blog on RP theory in the manosphere.

Loyalty & Hypergamy

21 upvotes · 30 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I just accept that they're different and appreciate what positive qualities they have.

How often do you meet a woman whose positives outweigh her negatives? Where I am, most women fail a basic cost-benefit analysis. No relationship material whatsoever. If we're gonna be lumbered with women's unchangeable instinctual flaws: hyper-emotivity, inability to take responsibility, incessant vapid chatter, opportunistic loyalty etc; we may as well get low notch count, a lack of man hatred/feminist beliefs and some cooking/domestic skills thrown in to sweeten the deal.

IMO, most women in the contemporary west lack the traits/skills to be loveable. They're fuckable but not loveable for the most part - and that's incredibly sad. What's sadder is a girl who's only fuckable, not loveable that's plagued by daddy issues (most of 'em!) because they're just fucking every alpha they meet to try and secure a "daddy replacement" only to fuck up even more with each and every cock. I think I read some scientific article a while back that suggested girls growing up without fathers hit puberty earlier and are sexually active from a younger age. The theory? She doesn't have a provider (father) so she needs to find a mate to provide for her and so reaches sexual maturity faster to ensure that. Effectively, nature itself endorses the whole "sex for resources" transaction between men and women. Anyhow, I digress.

It's a fucked up time we live in, that's for sure. The world was always fucked up, but this is a whole new kind of fucked up. How many millennials do you think will actually successfully start and maintain families with a viable woman? In about 40 years time there's gonna be a fuck ton of lonely old people with no family. How are governments going to react to their own socially engineered demographic breakdown/loss of tax receipts/dwindling population? Mass immigration from the third world of course. You won't even recognise your country in 40 years. Maybe the foreigners can thwart feminism and return some normalcy to the west. Although racially speaking I doubt it's going to be good for white people if they become minorities throughout Europe/N.America and the Commonwealth. Demographic changes, particularly along racial/religious lines normally end up in all-out war. Interesting times lay ahead that's for certain.

Edit: typos

Men's Spaces: The Barber Shop

21 upvotes · 27 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I feel like at some point we lost some of these spaces when women demanded we give them up.

Anyone who caves to a woman's demands is a fucking idiot. Never negotiate with an emotional terrorist.

What to do about good friends who are blue pill, lazy, and unmotivated?

21 upvotes · 24 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You will grow apart. Bring them up with you, if they won't follow in your footsteps, you will end up leaving them behind. That's part of life. Lazy and unmotivated people are toxic anyway. They will question every ambition and motivation of yours as "crazy" and try to keep you down at their level. They tend to be negative. Lifting weights is becoming a roid head, getting more pussy is "being a player" (said in a bad way.) Working harder = "not knowing how to enjoy yourself" etc etc. You get my drift. Who needs that fucking drama?

Law 10 - <http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-10-infection-avoid-unhappy-and.html>

Re-evaluate your friends. I'm assuming you're young, as this seems pretty much like common sense. There comes a time that if people won't join you, you will have to leave them. Better to leave people behind than sacrifice your own growth. Don't let other's lack of inclination hold you back. Most of us don't get to keep our school friends forever. That's life. People grow apart. All part of the process.

How you know you're Alpha

21 upvotes · 23 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The older you get, the less you care about random unsolicited opinions and the more you accrue people over the years who have repeatedly come through for you again and again. Likewise those who don't come through or don't bother to come through get dropped. One-sided friendships have limited utility, you will meet many users (eg: DTs) and you arms-length them or you drop them entirely. True friendships flourish over years, not weeks or months. Likewise, they are reciprocal. Even though your advisers can betray you, if they have been in your service for a long time their personal investment is high as is their sense of personal affinity and thus the chance of betrayal is low.

Some people are more prone to betraying, eg: DTs, as their concept of loyalty does not permeate through your utility, eg: you become useless/obsolete/replaced by another and they will betray you in a heartbeat because they don't have use for you. They don't care about you, they just care about your utility. Always have to be sharp with DT people and aware of the game at hand, they want your trust only so they can abuse it. They want your trust because they don't trust anybody, yet they realise the value/utility of trust. DTs are huge hypocrites. Do what they want not what they say is their mantra. Always realise the kind of person you're dealing with, for the most part DTs are fucking shit at concealing the fact they are DT, they always seem "a little bit off."

When dealing with DTs (and you have all met them whether you realise it or not) trust them to do only what is in their interest, significant sacrifice is practically an alien concept to the majority of them, especially the younger/less cunning ones who don't realise they can throw people off the scent by doing sacrificial shit every now and then. Forcing DTs to "act normal" actually is a win-win, it benefits the people they treat like instruments and it helps them keep their cover. Anyhow, I have digressed.

Results of Working Out

21 upvotes · 21 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women are primarily sex objects though. Other than sex, they monopolise nothing. They are neither the best at nor the authority on anything else men would be interested in. As Patrice O'Neal succinctly surmised it: "a lot of loser women, they have nothing other than their bodies."

Men are meant to be success objects (achieve this, achieve that, look after women, get smart, get rich etc.) Women have none of those pressures to the depth or extent men do. Seems we're also sex objects now though, too. Men: never catching a break. HAHA.

Women are so utterly useless at so many things that we, as men, have to make up the shortfall. We provide the shoulders of civilization that they unappreciatively trample all over in those "empowered" heels. Even on a micro-scale, you will see this in the workplace. If the woman is even mildly attractive she'll do about 1/3 the work that the guys do and create drama, bat her eyelids and all that other bullshit when she doesn't want to do something she has been asked to do.

[48 Days of Power] Day 1 - "Never Outshine The Master"

21 upvotes · 15 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Im getting angry because I already see idiots in this thread rebuking the first and arguably most important law to gain respect in the Corporate World.

People violate this law everywhere on every level because they are dumb fucks. To use a simple example we can all relate to: people come into TRP and start bitching at the mods for doing their jobs and giving them abuse. Then they come back on throwaways and moan they were banned or bitch in other subs saying they got censored here. It's funny as fuck that people can be that retarded.

Comment on Julien in Japanese culture

21 upvotes · 7 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Psychopaths and wannabe psychopaths are becoming more common.

TRP thoughts on Bro code behavior.

21 upvotes · 7 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Some in TRP think fucking a girl affiliated with your bro is cool. Honour and loyalty are for pussies and blah blah blah. I think those guys are cunts. Male friendship is inherently more valuable than pussy, pussy is replaceable. When you make your friendships with your bros more disposable than pussy, you pedestalise the pussy. You're respecting your libido more than your bro. Guys who prioritise pussy over deep male friendship are not guys you wanna know, steer well away from these types. Your friend fuck your sister without asking? Your friend fuck your ex without checking to see if you're over the bitch? Your friend steal your girl from you? Never speak to that fuck again, he's a cunt. It's about respect. Everything in guy world is to do with respect and honouring respect. Without respect, a bro isn't a bro, he's an associate or an enemy/competition. Disrespecting can lead to you getting your head ripped off if the guy you disrespect doesn't like the cut of your jib. OP did good by not disrespecting his buddy and keeping his sex drive in check. Pussy is interchangeable, bros aren't. Fuck pussy over, not your friends.

Red Pill logic hits the front page, gets tons of upvotes.

21 upvotes · 5 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I am tired of what I perceive to be man-children adding no depth to the sub just needlessly criticising everything they see with put-downs. These faggots have no place here and their whole demeanour and sensitivity goes against the spirit of the place. I fucking despise 'em. Too much meta faggotry. That's the problem with reddit, too many fuckers who have read a book but haven't picked up a damn dumbbell. You can tell when you're talking to one because they just criticise others from a place of self-importance and stay rooted firmly in the realm of pedanticism. No talking from experience (because they have little) no aggression (because they don't lift and have low T), no examples or howtos, but just this pretentious faggotry they try to pass off as advice. These "people" just come here to fuck with our community, and they are a blight on it. We don't need 'em, but they're sure as shit obsessed with us.

I was here from around the 4k~ member mark and I've had beta fags who have been here 2 minutes criticise how I TALK (big words, you swear too much etc.) Fuckoff. Shit if I wanna go thesaurus on your ass or talk like I sell fucking crack, I will. I talk how I damn well want. In fact I encourage all men to adopt multiple ways of talking rather than be confined to one way because you need to be versatile for different situations based on context and company. Alas, tone policing is a sign of the beta fag "Oooh I don't like how you're communicating with me!" bitch please. Never had to deal with the faggots of reddit back then and that's one of the utterly shit things about the sub getting large, every cunt shows up and has their utter pile of wank for an opinion that they want to give. And they'll do that shit without helping anyone in the process. Total cunts.

Hillary 2016: why all men should be concerned

21 upvotes · 25 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Ah I've heard of this crazy bitch. She even cried in public one I think if you type her name and crying into youtube you can see it. Who the fuck wants a leader that cries? Seriously? If you lead a nation of people you don't get to cry. Not in public. You're meant to be a symbol of strength, somebody who can lead. Vladimir fucking Putin. Not THAT. I hear it's no better down in Brazil and Argentina either with both their female presidents. IMO, Thatcher is the best female leader to live in modern times, these other women haven't got shit on her, and even then, she still wasn't popular.

EDIT: here it is, found it - <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RNgeZ-XR9oU>

Absolutely pathetic. Then she's get a fucking cuddle afterwards. If you can't control your own emotions how the fuck can you be expected to rule over a country? That shit is outrageous and disgusting.

FR: I've come to love hamsters, they are honestly the most amusing thing when it comes to women.

21 upvotes · 29 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Everything to do with poverty though. Black america, projects, hood, all that shit = more poverty = more degeneracy. Ease up with that bubbling racial tension you feeling there.

"Are you a masculinist?"

21 upvotes · 22 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

or better yet, just make a mental note that her cognitive abilities not up to par (that is, don't waste any more of your breath).

This is going to be your outcome the majority of the time.

"It's better not to argue with women" - Vladimir Putin, President of the Russian Federation

Keep posting severed bodies, octopus-porn, jailbait, spacedicks and Hitler in all imaginable context for years and nobody bats an eye, post 100+ pics of naked female celebrities and everybody loses their mind.

21 upvotes · 5 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This society is sick, people have all their priorities wrong. There's so much delusion and inequality, but it's a sick inequality. A perverted inequality. Where the weak are dragged up and the strong (at least male) have a tirade of shit trying to keep them down. Weakness becomes power and power becomes weakness. Vice and virtue are reversed. There is no societal institution governing morality anymore, not over anyone, but even less so over women. It's fucked up man, it's really fucked up. It's sick. And you know some day, with your heightened level of awareness about society and people and feminism and all the fucked up crap going on, you're going to have a confrontation with someone; that person is going to be a delusional bitch who gets on an indignant high horse that tries to shame you and keep you down for not towing the narrative and you have two options in that situation. You can walk away or you can give them a verbal slap in the face courtesy of reality and preach some truth. Your words may be wasted they may not, but you'll feel a fuck ton better for getting just a few seconds respite from all the bullshit you're hearing.

The west is so fucked up everyone's trying to escape reality with bullshit. Other people are trying to define their own reality and believe their made-up bullshit is reality. Other people try not to care, but do care, and hate themselves for caring. Some people are misanthropic. Some people are hoping for a better tomorrow and putting their hopes in others instead of themselves only to find that people constantly let them down. They don't realise that we make our own happiness by doing right by ourselves. By being true to ourselves and not bullshitting ourselves. Everyone's so indoctrinated by bullshit or so scared of the truth that they're making themselves mentally sick with all this delusion.

/rant

2xC: "TheRedPill is causing me to self-harm, as I become more depressed by what women must really think of me. "

21 upvotes · 1 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

He owned his gayness. I respect that. He was gay, but he was masculine. He had a sense of humour. He was a cool guy. He wasn't a man pretending to be a woman, he was gay but he was still a man. You know Omar was gay because he genuinely liked men, not because he was raised by 2 bitter feminist lesbians who brainwashed him or any fucked up shit like that turning him into a chick in a guys body. Whenever I'm a dick towards homosexuals its because I can't stand that in your face obnoxiousness, you know, all the cross-dressing, acting like a little bitch and demanding attention. It's the femme-gays and their feminine attention seeking ways that piss me off. Also the false voice. Annoying as fuck. I don't really give a shit about who and how they fuck, as long as they're not flagrantly making an exhibition of themselves in my face. Or coming onto me despite knowing I'm straight (some gay guys have a fetish for fucking straight guys.) Do what you want just don't make me part of it.

It's the obnoxiousness of that gay hookup culture which annoys me. It's overly false, it reminds me of teenage girls with all the bitching and obsession with appearance. If all gays were like Omar I think heterosexual men would be more tolerant of them, simply because they'd be a lot less annoying. If they're not annoying (like anybody, really) and they respect your sexual boundaries (don't try to rape your ass) then you're fine. If someone's been raped by a gay guy they've got all the justification in the world to be homophobic though, can't blame 'em for that. No person is above retribution for their actions even if they're a member of a minority/special interest group. My $0.02c.

LTR Theory & Tips MEGATHREAD

21 upvotes · 18 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

ONE HUNDRED PERCENT of the responsibility falls squarely on your shoulders

I respectfully disagree with this and stated as much in my newest piece. There's one reason for it: women are too easily influenced and emotionally manipulated which makes their agency fickle at best. Sure you can have one hundred percent of the responsibility within the moment multiple times, but when other players are in the equation or you're simply absent she gives her agency to whoever the most powerful person in that environment is. You cannot always be there physically to keep her in line. As they say "whilst the cats away, the mice will play."

If logistics are right and a man with enough game is seducing her, she will fall out of line/cheat or whatever. I'm not willing to assume agency in such a situation and neither should other men. That's why this hyperagent approach to women doesn't bode well with me. I believe in being the leader and taking the majority of the flak, but if it's something that occurs independent of my presence, she's on vacation, out with her friends or some other bullshit, I'm not going to blame myself for that. I'm not going to sit there thinking "oh I shouldn't have let her go out with her friends, it's my fault" or "oh I shouldn't have let her go on vacation without me, so the fact she gangbanged some africans is my fault." As fickle as it is, women have agency and when they yield it to the wrong person I'm going to be holding them fully accountable for their shitty decisions. I mean fuck, we give teenagers more agency and expectation than this and she's supposed to be the most responsible teenager in the house, not a fucking toddler. There's no pussy pass with me.

Women will Beauty/Swole-shame while Men offer Praise (How men & women differ in their approach to higher status entities)

21 upvotes · 27 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The amount of power/money/popularity her physical appearance is capable of commanding alone is absolutely astounding. She could be a massive thundercunt and it wouldn't stop people obsessing over her, if she turns out to be a decent person that "good nature" will be pedestalsed and praised ten-fold because of how beautiful she is, eg: she donates $100 to some kazakh charity and everyone's talking about how she's the next mother teresa, she plants a tree and people think she should get a serious and well-paid position in greenpeace. You get the idea. Sex is one of the core themes behind everything that happens in life, everything fundamentally comes back to sex or leveraging sex appeal to acquire resources, shit, even when it's not a conscious process (and for most people looking attractive is a conscious process because they are not naturally attractive) you will benefit from being attractive whether you like it or not via the halo effect, whether you want that power and attention or not you don't get a choice, the only way to rid yourself of the power of attraction is to become unattractive.

Attraction is one of the key cornerstones of power, alongside money/status and raw Machiavellian skill. With this woman, judging the way the article is written, it suggests she never specifically sought out the power of beauty but was blessed with it, just "being her" when all of a sudden some media exposure sent men crazy over how beautiful she is, and thus there was no intent or conscious consent for her to attain this power and wield it to make money/get famous, but simply by winning the genetic lottery and maintaining herself she has the beauty she has and people are obsessing over it; the women, negatively, as she's perceived as competition, the men, positively, as they're viewing her as an object of desire and most likely all fantasising about how tight her vagina would feel and what she looks like staring up at them naked in missionary. Women will boycott her, men will pedestalise her, that's what the power of beauty will do, that's no real problem for her, wealthy men propositioning her and betas lining up to orbit and "be her friend" will take care of every need she could ever imagine. She could have a guy that grabs her morning coffee, a cuddle buddy, a few other guys she goes out with to the movies and other shit where she's the centre of attention, an alpha fucks and a sugar daddy, guys could be like louis vuitton bags for a woman with that kind of power, different guys for different occasions.

Attractive women are immensely powerful, men will put them on a pedestal, other women will wish they had that power and hate them because they don't, nothing new at all. Shit I even think with swole men who are considered 9's and 10's aesthetically, have the best jawlines and bone structure, good skin with no stretch marks/acne/skin disorders, little hair covering their muscles get a fair amount of (unvoiced) jealousy from other men, sure some men get inspired to lift and dress well by high smv guys but the betas and omegas are massively jealous of the top 20% alphas getting all the pussy, plenty of them see the competition and just lose all confidence by feeling so immensely inadequate and inferior in comparison to such a guy, they're the people who rather hang out in places where people are fatter/uglier than them so they don't feel so inadequate with themselves, guys who are physically high smv and aesthetic get shamed by other men behind their backs for being "pretty boys", as "well-kept guys" generally wax/laser/shave a lot of hair off their bodies using tanning beds (if they're white and in a non-sunny place - it's common here in the UK) and get their eyebrows done or in the case of most asians, just don't have any hair to begin with. Yeah I don't think it's as bad as it is with women and more men than perhaps women will up their game as a result of what they've seen rather than just get jealous and self-loathing, but jealousy is a universal human trait and although "swole shaming" isn't really a thing, it doesn't stop other guys feeling like crap next to Mr. Aesthetic Adonis Chad McThunderHung.

While he's away: Girlfriend Doesn't Realize her Boyfriend is on Vacation. When he doesnt reply to her emails, her brain goes on hamster mode.

21 upvotes · 2 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Abandonment issues in general, daddy or alpha doesn't matter.

Self-Respect and Crazy Bitches

21 upvotes · 23 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Ain't this the fucking truth. Most guys falls into the trap of trying to logically explain shit "to be fair" and then get gaslighted and guilt tripped. It's not about working things out, it's about her feeling like she's won. It's about her repairing her ego so she doesn't feel like a guy just rejected her. She can't win in her own mind if you just up and leave and abandon her ass, but if you start qualifying to her she can just reject you, spin it and then feel like she's won. You can't win an argument against someone who doesn't care about logic/the truth and is infinitely good at applying spin. EG: "I left because you were more interested in your phone than the date" "ooh maaaaan the fuck up its just a phone, you're jealous of a phone?" shit like that.

It's rude and disrespectful behaviour, yet apparently, because you're a man, you're meant to put up with that shit. Well guess the fuck what, that isn't what a man does (tolerate shitty behaviour, that's what a fucking beta bitch does), if a man likes you enough he gives you a warning about your shitty behaviour and a chance to correct it, because he wants to like you but you're being a cunt that's hard to like, if he doesn't like you enough to even warn you for your shitty behaviour, he'll get the fuck out of there, he doesn't owe you any explanations, he doesn't have to endure your shitty behaviour, why should he? Plenty of other bitches on the planet who don't need telling that can at least exercise basic manners and seem present, a red flag is a red flag but they'll always find a way to turn it into "you're insecure" or "you need to man/grow up", which is ironic, because most women are both insecure and immature. Let's not allow that hilarious irony to get in the way of some mental gymnastics on her part though, ha.

RedPill wisdom from MalcomX

21 upvotes · 7 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is unbelievably cogent.

Theory: How natural alphas are made, and why ugly guys have to learn the game.

21 upvotes · 15 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Even if they did have a clever sense of humor, most jokes would fly over a young girl's head anyway.

Same goes for most adult women too. It amazes me how many do not have a concept of irony. Entendre is often understood a little more. Innuendo they generally get.. but that's no surprise.

I advise you to play in the "Champions League" when it comes to pussy.

21 upvotes · 14 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Its counterintuitive, guys have more confidence to hit on a 6 or 7 because they're not so good looking... this means these girls get a fucking ego and a half and think they're the shit when they're not because all these guys hit on them. The 9's and 10's get far less attention as guys are too intimidated by their beauty to hit on them, but this means when guys do actually take the plunge they're far less bitchy and more pleasant to deal with.

It seems so counterintuitive, if men had equal confidence with women regardless of beauty, the 6s to 8's would know their place. It's all this lack of male confidence to pursue the top girls which has the middle to upper middle girls feeling like they're something special, so in a way there's a swap in "status" 6-8's feel like 10's whilst the pretty 10's see the uglier girls getting more attention and go "noooo she's way prettier than me" (as evidenced by all the male attention she sees that 7 getting) and thus the 7 has the ego of an 10 and the 10 feels like a 7. Fucking absurd.

Female acquaintance hitting the wall and settling for beta bux. I fucking cringed at how accurate TRP is.

21 upvotes · 2 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Our humanity fools us into thinking we can reason with these women... we cannot.

Her ego will force her to suffer, and frankly, she deserves it. You get what you put into life. If you use up your youth and don't prepare for your 30's... you're fucked. This applies to men too, but doubly so to women with their declining fertility.

Girl shoots a sex tape, now worried her father, who agreed to pay her tuition on the condition she doesn't slut it up, finds out

21 upvotes · 1 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It sounds like Daddy gave the little Princess every thing she desired

This is the problem. No concept of adversity. Too much privilege from a young age spawns some of the nastiest human beings alive. Everything is disposable and replaceable to them, it's like socialising dark triad traits.

Dude I know, family are multimillionaires, he doesn't have his own credit card or anything, he saves up for things from his job (works a crappy job) and he spends very frugally. He hasn't had a tough life, there will always be heat/energy/food/entertainment, he had the best education (privately educated and goes to one of the top unis in the world) and I can see how that has made him weak, he is full-on beta. He's not a narcissistic bigot like some of the people raised like him were because he didn't get everything given to him at the click of a finger, but he doesn't have that fire. He's very mellow.

If you're wealthy it's hard for your kids to perceive the world from a position of hardship, and they automatically get put into social circles where the kids are all drug abusing rich dark triad motherfuckers. OK sure maybe I'm being abit harsh with that statement, but if there's one thing I've noticed, the richer the people I hang out with - the more drugs/drink are being done. Poor people stay at home and download movies. Rich people go out to clubs/bars/house parties/social gatherings, whack out the grey goose and bags of weed/coke and start getting high as shit. Teenagers are the worst for it. Being rich is kind of dangerous for your kids. I still haven't figured out, assuming I'm rich when I have kids, how the fuck to raise them not to be cunts. If I had spoilt kids because I was wealthy, it would break my heart. Wealth on a psychological level has its negatives. How can you raise someone not to be a pussy when they've never had to struggle? All my strength came from my struggles.

Red Pill Antibiotic Nuke, Come and Feed

21 upvotes · 23 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Unless you want to be mr. beta bux, you're a lot better off roughing it at some volunteer job with clear plans and dreams in mind than you are sitting in your house with 6 figures plodding along at a repetitive career

I understand the angle you come from but do not agree with it as an optimal life plan, TRP is about more than just fucking women, women are a result of your success they shouldn't be the cause or dictate the direction of it.

You can earn 6 figures and be an alpha - eg: a confrontational lawyer. The rich alpha beats the poor alpha every time. Being rich is not equivalent to being a beta. Money over hoes, every time.

I'd advocate stacking those benjamins over volunteering and showing potential to get pussy. What you gonna do after volunteering? Start working anyway, does that make you beta? No it means you're stacking bundles. The guy earning 6 figures is in a better position to make "clear plans" and start up a business or something than the dreamy volunteer guy anyway.

Results are a way better indication than promises and plans. I'd advocate concealing your intentions, playing aloof-mysterious game for short term pump and dumps and building your empire from the ground up.

A word for the Mods (and regular TRP contributors):

21 upvotes · 31 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This philosophy changes lives. Simple.

Some of you may get laid next week, find a better job next week or have to wait a year for either, either way - you're on the right path and as you grow you'll get it all.

The problem is motherfuckers straying from the path because they think they're grown whilst they're still growing.

I have no doubt a lot of people who leave the community because "they've used it for what they needed" will be back when a girl shits in their heart and turns out they lacked the machiavellianism to foresee and adequately deal with her.

Women are like venus fly traps even a high value man cannot get comfortable. Always be alert, nothing is what it seems. Trust on your own terms.

Vladimir Putin is an excellent role model for masculinity.

21 upvotes · 21 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Russia's population are too poor to afford liberalism. Living like a liberal there would get you killed.

Young doctor wonders why women are suddenly after him. Gets slaughtered by hamsters on r/askwomen. These are redpill truths in action.

21 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

All I can say is that I'm so glad I'm learning about TRP at a young age

Same

I'm in college right now (undergrad).

Same.

I'm going to be so much better equipped later on.

I feel like already am but again, same.

The red pill is a beautiful thing, shit's probably saving lives, stopping men killing themselves and all kinds of shit.

Male suffering gets ignored, I'm not gonna get on a podium and start preaching some men's rights pastoral sounding shit however needless to say this place for all it's undeserved reputation is doing a lot of good and helping to give men back the power that successive crazy fucking governments and institutionalised feminism have taken away from them across western nations since world war 2.

Sweden is a fucking joke, I think TRP probably needs its own sub-board just for swedes... the Saudi of feminism holy shit.

When I see a woman in pain I wonder if it's a deception or not "playing the victim"

Men hate to play the victim (99.9%) so when I see a guy in pain and suffering I know that shits legit.

Unlike women men feel ashamed to be perceived as victims, part of being masculine is being strong. Woman use that shit as an engine to elevate their social position/get resources. It's basically part of their fucking prerogative. I mean look at almost every fucking divorce case that ever happened.... yeah, exactly that. Nuff said.

Beware of Straw Red Pills

21 upvotes · 5 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Why subscribe if you disagree with what's said here hmm? I don't subscribe to things that I don't like/agree with.

A small but gold nugget advice my dad told me a long time ago... which I think is redpill worthy

1 upvotes · 31 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Law 11 - Learn to Keep People Dependent on You

How important was the internet to the inception of the red pill movement?

21 upvotes · 16 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

They are affected by it, but they are followers. Their feelings create a veil of ignorance which protects them from the truth, as long as they are happy, why should they care, right?

Simply put, whoever has power - women will follow. Women are followers, through and through - to the core. You know 50 shades of grey? That screams I WANT TO SUBMIT TO POWER. Quite literally. It's a best-seller, I don't know a single straight guy who has read the thing. I'd hedge bets most guys into that shit are submissive types aka feminist indoctrinated/low testosterone. Says e-fucking-nough really.

Men? Not so. They will disagree on moral or logical principles even in the face of power. Women tend to button it against real oppression, only being indignant and vocal with a non-existent threat where society backs them and promotes their every whim - such is the case of the denunciation of patriarchy. If patriarchy were real, do you think they'd be out there screaming and fighting the fight? No. These women would be getting raped left, right and centre, sat there crying in the fetal position begging for the oppression to stop. We all know what happens to women when there is a real threat, an actual threat - like in war-time. They hide with the kids. They get raped, they get killed. They do not STAND UP and confront what is coming - the enemy force. The men do that.

The matter of fact is, that feminist women don't face real oppression. It is imagined oppression and they are illogical enough to believe that mere gender differences are indicative of actual oppression, when really they are elements of traditionalism or sexual dimorphism. Like I said, if they were really oppressed they would be incredibly silent, as by nature of their oppression they would have no fucking power or platform to actually have a voice.

Men are far more stubborn when allowed to prosper naturally and have not gone through feminist social engineering to be brainwashed to think like women via the education system. Men may respect power, but if they disagree with it they will go up against it when the time is right to strike; hence all the revolutions and coups in history. Who was responsible for that? Men. Bit of spin on the feminist "men cause all the wars shit" they also resolve them all too. Lol. Women aren't the threat, they are naive, weak, submissive followers, as a group, not accounting for outliers, their power is in their cunning and their loyalty to the most powerful force they are in contact with; only squawking at men they do not respect or who cannot elicit fear or respect in her. In the presence of power, women are complete putty.

They are malleable because their preference is for emotion, not logic. You can logically make someone do something bad, and layer it with superficial charm to make them feel good, thus causing them to believe/commit atrocities completely guiltless. Even the women with developed logic can have it over-ridden very easily and be forced to use their hind brain and emotional preference. It is high, high, high level machiavellianism. This is what feminist indoctrination essentially amounts to today in the contemporary setting. Causing women to do things like request people lose their jobs because those people offended them "reasoning: I'm a woman, their words are oppressive" LOL, OK. Even the masses are waking up to the idiocy of that crap. Economically it's a pain too, it creates a fucking headache for companies.

The reason women are out of control in the west is because the men are a bunch of fucking pussies and they've been indoctrinated to be pussies, which allows the society to become feminised as men do not put their feet down and put a stop to the madness, they tolerate it and suffer in silence. What defines masculinity? Power. Men have been stripped of their power via the informal curriculums of education, they have been taught subservience in place of self-determination, adhd drugs, lack of male role models and a whole bunch of shit - the rabbit hole goes deep. Why do you think males are underperforming in education versus females now? It's a hostile fucking environment for them. It is not fit for their natural needs.

Women won't disagree as long as their feelings are in check. They are utterly and totally dominated by their sense of emotional well-being and any logic they possess can easily be overridden with emotional manipulation. Women aren't as independent and self-determined as they like to think they are, all of that is ego - not reality. Women are massively in need of validation/false ego because at the core, this lack of consistency creates weakness, weakness means low credibility. This is why there is an underlying need for them to believe lies and reject reality, in order to create consistency in the rhetoric and not wake them up from their own bullshit. It's a coping mechanism.

Women have their feelings kept in check until they hit "the wall" under current social engineering, the thing is social engineering cannot override biology, when they're 30+ and lonely and they feel their biological clock ticking they become incredibly depressed, and then the real perverse victimhood of this "pro-women" ideology affects them in a way that is tangible to them, which is what makes them listen the fuck up and pay respect - because now finally, it's affected them negatively. Oh that solipsism. It's the same shit that clued-in men have been saying all along - it's a toxic, venomous, snake connotated ideology in all the grandiosity that this metaphor implies.

Feminism indoctrinates a lot of "do-gooders" meaning the people who perpetuate it to begin with mean well, and actually believe the bullshit and think they are good people for being activists, protesters, social justice warriors or whatever activity it is that fills the void in their lives and makes them feel included in something. Read up on "group theory" (it's a psychological theory - it's very relevant to feminism and it's followers behaviour/responses.)

Then, as years go by and the ideology wears on them, they become bitter and this is when they become misandrist/bigoted/extremist or even lesbian.

Feminism isn't even PRO-WOMEN, it's ANTI-HUMAN, it tries to destroy the nature of both genders and ruin their cohesiveness under the guise of social equality, it is truly a very sick, twisted, destructive ideology and I hope should I lead a long and fruitful life I can see it's destruction before I hit my deathbed.

If feminism dies a sweet death before I meet my maker, I will be a very happy man. It will be a blight on humanity cured until the next fucking marxist train of thought comes along to wreak havoc and fuck the collective psyche of mankind.

I hope in years to come, they talk about feminism the way we talk about racism today. Completely fucking ridiculed for its ridiculousness.

I'm ahead of the bell-curve, depending on the severity of your indoctrination and the functioning of your higher reasoning you'll read this shit and think "completely fucking crazy" or "damn fuck this guy is clever" the personal interpretation of the reader says a lot about just how afflicted you are yourself so if you're not completely fucking bonkers use this post as a test of sorts, if you like. There will not be consensus in opinion on my thoughts. What I say runs contrary to the rhetoric peddling and bullshit socialisation most of you are subject to.

EDIT: typos and additions

If you appreciate my opinions go to my site - <http://illimitablemen.com/>

The Friend Zone and The Slut Zone

21 upvotes · 13 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

She starts the article with:

his is a how-to for the savvy female who wants to remain friends without hurting anybody.

She ends the article with:

For some guys this will take longer than others, but your rejection of him will always be a scar on his ego, and since that scar is at the very foundation of your one-sided friendship, it will eventually cause the whole thing to crumble

By the end she can't even be fucked to frame it as "girls not wanting to hurt anyone" but says it how it is, an exploitative one-sided friendship, the true nature of what the friend zone fucking is. A chick manipulating a guy with her sexuality to get shit out of him without giving him what he desires. Dangling the carrot and then pulling it away out of conscious choice, rejection.

A gay man's take on the friend zone

21 upvotes · 20 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Women use sex to control men thats why they make drama when he fucks someone else. She loses her leverage.

Woman saves semen in her mouth after oral sex, uses it to impregnate herself.

21 upvotes · 19 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

They turn into Eminem and write songs about how shit their mother was.

[RANT] Lost weight and been lifting, still can't get girls

21 upvotes · 13 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Mistake #1 defining yourself by your success with women.

You still need validation from women to feel inherently valued which means you are probably a low value man or just very young.

You should have the mindset that women need you more than you need them, because it's true. Your potential to gain value is far higher than a womans.

Women are depreciating assets who inherit a trust fund of privilege (beauty) around age 15 which dies around age 30, titties, pussy and ass with a face guys wanna cum all over. They scoot by on this beauty privilege for years and years, getting free shit, getting invites to places, generally living the good and relatively easy life. As shit is easy for them, they don't develop themselves enough, become entitled and are generally lazy people.

Men are appreciating assets, they start out with little (unless your family provided well for you) and they work on every little facet of their life (comedy club - sense of humour, university - career, gym - physique, books/travelling - wisdom/cultured) until they hit about 30 years old and all of a sudden they're quite the catch whereas the women are all desperate to snag a man because their beauty privilege is failing them, their options are running out and their biological clock is screaming to them to have a baby.

You should define yourself, your successes, your achievements, your ambition - not how many pussies you've fucked, that's an immature view to take on yourself.

If you are low SMV then you need to raise your SMV before you even bother with chicks.

Looks do not work as much for guys as they do for girls. Unless a guy is a 9/10 or 10/10 his looks won't really help him get chicks much.

A guy who was a 5 who's improved to a 7 will see minimal improvements, chicks may be a little easier to flirt with but they won't be approaching you or just landing in your lap.. only a 9/10 - 10/10 male gets it easy.. basically model/supermodel looks.

You need to stop giving a fuck about women so much, because you're only going to damage your own confidence and progress by giving them so much power over your own sense of self/value.

- <http://beigephillip.com/> - Game/philosophy/perception
- <http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.co.uk/> - Machiavellianism (manipulation/strategy)

Go improve yourself.

Nothing is worse than watching your friends struggle in unhappy relationships

21 upvotes · 4 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

What can you do? I don't know what sounds worse, watching your friend become beaten down in a relationship/marriage and never stand up for himself, or watching your friend stay in a relationship that he openly admits is shitty.

I don't get people.

Low self esteem. These guys don't think they can do better, that's the functioning problem here. These guys would be forced to go out, learn game and navigate the whole plethora of bullshit which is hooking up, dating and all that shit. They've opted to "settle."

So, my flat mate informed last night I need to get "educated" and shared this with me today...

21 upvotes · 28 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Bigots gonna bigot

This is fucking brutal to read. A MGHOW screwing up every which way.

21 upvotes · 18 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

This guy gives too many fucks.

I doubt even the most beta of betas would go for this.

21 upvotes · 18 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

This is for people whom are desperate to leave a legacy but are unable to do so conventionally due to their attitudes and priorities. Women are calling all the shots, men desperate for kids and whom have money are considered. The entitlement is nuts in that article, I couldn't read it all.

Banned on Twitter

20 upvotes · 10 June 2018 · /r/TheRedPill

I said Asia Argento had borderline personality disorder and that Anthony Bourdain killed himself because he was dating a borderline.

<https://imgur.com/a/nsWMW9Z>

What I heard a bunch of "proper" Thai girls say about their gay friends

20 upvotes · 3 September 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Yep, bang on. Lowering the demand for pussy lowers its market price, as does promiscuity. Both are direct threats to the intrinsic value of pussy. Most women need pussy to be expensive to do well in the world, if pussy's cheap and abundant, they are fucked in the abstract rather than the literal sense. Therefore its in women's collective interest to keep man's sexual appetite high (thus driving demand), whilst vastly limiting their willingness to put out (keeping their own sexual appetites low, and prohibiting prostitution) - it is this which allows them to derive maximum value from their sexuality.

If she doesn't worship the ground you walk on and consistently bring value to your life SHE IS COMPLETELY UNWORTHY of a relationship. The thing you gotta realise about women: It doesn't matter how unworthy of your commitment they are, they'll still try HUSTLE & STRONG ARM YOU INTO IT!

20 upvotes · 17 April 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Sadly the idea that "women will be women" is pervasive, meaning, because women are illogical and less capable, if shit hits the fan because she sucks "the man should take the blame." No, the man should fix shit if he can be fucked to do so, because that's what we as men do, we fix shit, we clean up women's mess, but that doesn't mean he's responsible for her shitty behaviour. Is she not a fully grown adult with voting rights and the ability to earn a salary? Does she not bare culpability for her shitty decisions then?

Women are like children, but they are not children. If a child acts like a cunt it's not always the parent's fault, but often it is. The same principles apply to men with women. The problem with traditional type men is in their quest to be macho providers they blame themselves for every cunt little thing their woman does "If I'd set harder boundaries, she wouldn't be like that" - "well she's only being a cunt because I've been lower energy lately" - they constantly find bullshit ways to blame themselves for their cunt behaviour rather than attribute it to the source and it's god damn insane. To compound things, women encourage man's self-flagellation in this manner, because they practically have an allergy to accountability.

I for one don't subscribe to the bullshit "it's always a man's fault" never have and never will. It's trite.

It's a good heuristic to behave as if a situation is your fault (so you can take ownership over it and fix it) but objectively often the woman is being a cunt through her own volition and there's little to fuck all reason for it being your fault. We do not live in a world where every time a woman behaves undesirably it is purely as a reaction to an error on the part of a man, women can fuck shit up all by themselves without our help, and you fixing that is a service to her should you be benevolent, it is not an obligation.

Women are good at using slippery slope logic to pin the blame on you for almost anything unflattering that they do, and it seems a lot of men have internalised this in their quest to be manly. EG: "real men take care of business, if she's fucking up I did something wrong!" Yeah sure that's macho, but it's also dumb as fuck and not true of reality. Somebody with my level of reason is never going into buy into that crap.

I don't subscribe to the slippery slope of "if you'd been on top of shit, she would have acted right, and thus by not acting right, you clearly did something wrong." It is retarded to infer that all of women's bad behaviour is a direct result of male shortcomings. Yes this is the case sometimes, but not always, and so it is dumb to act as if it's always your fault. If you look at a situation and see you held it down like a boss and yet she still acted out due to her hormones or whatever bullshit it was, why are you going to take responsibility for that? If you've got any damn sense you won't.

I argued with a mod about this over a year ago and we never came to an agreement. Men have strong views on this, I think that because many men disdain being seen as or feeling like a victim, that they'll take blame that isn't theirs to appear strong. It's fucking nonsense. You wouldn't take the blame for somebody else crashing into your car because you're too macho to be seen as a car crash victim. It's ridiculousness incarnate! You should never adopt the victim mentality, but just because you're a man doesn't mean you can't be the victim of undesirable shit outside of your control. People are too focused on the emotion of the word "victim" if something bad happens to you and you weren't responsible for that, you are by definition a victim of it. This is not an excuse to sit around and be a little bitch and whine, it just means something bad happened to you that wasn't your fault - simple.

I do agree it is not productive to blame 100% of what goes wrong on a woman and not see where you went wrong yourself and sort that shit out. Likewise I do not think a man should take 100% of the blame for what goes wrong and adopt this absurd irrational reasoning that if something goes wrong it's because he wasn't man enough. This fucking hyper-responsibility where other people's shit behaviour is somehow your fault has never been something I've been a fan of for one simple reason: it's fucking illogical.

Truth is the blame attribution is somewhere in the middle, if you're both just dumb and inexperienced then you're equally to blame. But it seems we as humans have this weird instinct to just gloss over a woman's involvement and focus on how the man fucked up. Bullshit!

Ex Highschool GF got invitro insemination, get treated like a champion on Facebook

20 upvotes · 6 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Baby rabies supersedes future thinking in regard to the child's mental health, life chances, threat of poverty etc. This is why women who follow the feminist script and end up single and childless in their late 20's to mid thirties hit "the wall" (a biological phenomenon characterised by diminished fertility, diminished aesthetic desirability and a spontaneous and uncontrollable lust to reproduce.)

In a bid for her genes to replicate themselves, women get baby rabies and will do ANYTHING to get pregnant, with the future welfare of the child scantily considered, or otherwise hamstered away as "(s)he'll be fine, I'll be as good a mother as any!" The fact they need to tell themselves this indicates otherwise.

A lot of kids are born because mommy all of a sudden started acting like a crack addict fiending to get pregnant in her late 20's, doing anyone and anything to make it happen. Women are very selfish, bastard children would be better not brought into the world, especially when a woman knows the father isn't going to stay around, or it's IFV or some other dumb shit, but they don't care. They have a baby because they want to have one. Not because they know they can really provide a good life for the kid. Most the time their kids come out fucked up, hence the shape society is in.

<https://twitter.com/IllimitableMan/status/671724698712018946>

<https://twitter.com/IllimitableMan/status/671724443438342144>

<https://twitter.com/IllimitableMan/status/671724046577475585>

Also, even though I'm about to give it an overhaul, I feel this article is as pertinent as ever:

<http://illimitablemen.com/2014/05/08/the-suffering-of-the-lost-boys/>

Teen 'Social Media Star' Quits, Discusses 'Ugly Truth' Behind Fame...

20 upvotes · 3 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah it's straight out of the 48 laws: "create compelling spectacles" and "court attention at all costs."

Both basically meaning "stand out from the rest."

I find it funny most will take what she's said at face value and not even be aware enough of the game.

[Mod] Spam policy and the shameless self promotion issue

20 upvotes · 8 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

People cry sell out whenever you try to make money from your success. But if they found themselves in your position in any capacity, even if it's a bit of mild internet success - they'd do exactly the same shit. People don't like being charged for things that used to be free - but they also don't like seeing guys trying to make money out of things they never used to try to make money from, even when paying is optional! I'm probably going to start experimenting with ads on my blog soon, it's been ad free for 2 years. I tried going the Patreon route first, which I've had about 6 months now, and the growth on that is extremely humble. So it looks like I'm going to have to look at mixing revenue streams up.

I love the dudes who sponsor my work and am infinitely humbled by their support, there just isn't all that many of them. Out of all my monthly views (fuck it, let's say unique views) if I crunch the numbers about 0.001% support via Patreon. If we do it from followers to Patreon supporters that probably comes up to around 0.01%. IT'S definitely below 1%.

So I need to diversify revenue streams if I want to maintain a high output well into the future. Sure I love writing for the sake of writing, if I didn't I certainly wouldn't still be hanging around - but making money from a hobby is always better than not.

I don't even want to put ads up, I really don't. I've tried to avoid it for a long time because I hate 'em and I know most tech literate guys (a large % of TRP) use an ad blocker anyway so the revenue even on the kind of views I get is going to be pitiful. But it's at least an extra something. Why shouldn't I be rewarded for my work? Why shouldn't GLO? Why is it noble to tirelessly produces mountains of content on the blog and the forum, but the minute you make any move towards monetisation you're this untrustworthy asshole who's just in it for the money?

I've been on this board before most people even knew what TRP was. So has GLO. Is there anything wrong with either of us making money out of our hobby? I don't think so. Successful people monetise their success, it's a fair and honest hustle that doesn't harm anybody. What's so bad about giving value to people who have given you value? Not a thing wrong with it in my opinion.

If GLO's built up a lot of goodwill, he's earned it. And I'd like to think the same of myself and all the other prolific contributors on the red pill and in the wider sphere.

Also wanna throw it out there, redpillschool is like Steve Jobs without the fame. Total fucking visionary that has silently guided the trajectory of this community from the shadows. He takes little credit and is rarely in the spotlight, but without him there would be no TRP. Would RPS be an asshole for trying to monetise TRP? I don't think so, yet I can already hear the cries.

"A Quick Word from the Machiavellian" [Video]

20 upvotes · 7 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I've always maintained hip-hop is the most RP music genre out there right now. Gets away with what would be lambasted misogyny if white guys were doing it. Good to see that minority card come in for something useful. In fact, I've had conversations with a dude that runs a popular hip-hop website and there's a rapper that follows Rollo and I. Lot of black dudes following on Twitter. Definitely a more RP culture/race in general, although, I'm not sure the reasons for that are entirely positive. Nevertheless, hardship breeds a stronger concept of reality, there's no dispute there.

Marriage through the eyes of an attorney.

20 upvotes · 12 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

They'll try to shame you and make you feel bad for being 'a soulless materialist'

Yet she wants an all expenses paid party, vacation, and legal entitlement to your worldly possessions.

They'll make assurances they would never hurt you financially or emotionally, even if you fall out of love, Hahahaha. They all say this shit. I swear it's LTR womanese or something. Basically, total bullshit. A woman scorned and all that.

They'll get indignant that you're accusing them of gold digging

Haha try and shame a guy for protecting his assets by being offended. I'd just laugh in her face it's so transparent.

They'll say stuff like 'if you're already assuming our future marriage will fail, then that's what you want to happen'

I assume one day I'll die, so obviously, I must be suicidal. Great logic girl.

and other assorted bullshit. It doesn't matter. Whatever they say is only valid in the moment of saying (and maybe for the next week or two until their hormones swing again)

Yeah it's pure hamster talk. Women want to get married because it's the ultimate form of commitment, a safety net, they glamourise it since childhood and they have ZERO to lose whilst you have everything to LOSE. Hearing women shame men for not marrying is incredibly ironic. If the positions were switched, it'd be women who don't want to marry.

Why you need a yearly monk. "and how to start"

20 upvotes · 24 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Good post. Needs more upvotes.

"I'm Sexist? FUCK YOU!" (3rd Highest upvoted post of all time in Non-TRP subreddit)

20 upvotes · 14 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It makes the woman comfortable because it gives her all the power. It makes your mental faculty overly available. Likewise, it dries her right the fuck up too. Terrible advice indeed. This man is doomed to a life of misery if he takes his own advice. There's only one thing worse than poor advice, and that's misinformation. Everything he said sounds like marriage counselling 101. He probably needed it, not that it helped. Total femcentric garbage.

Dealing with a group of women with a disrespectful mother hen.

20 upvotes · 7 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I doubt the average bitch will even follow what you just said. Clever response, ignoring was probably more efficient though.

Solipsism: the feminine psyche is masturbatory.

20 upvotes · 21 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah, really any heightened emotional state does it. Fear and humour tend to work the best. When you're a lot bigger than a woman it's easy to use fear. When you're witty/good at making metaphors it's easy to use humour.

If you're big and witty you can switch between both and give her one hell of a rollercoaster ride. Getting their imaginations going is always good, have them laughing like crazy or imagining they're helpless to your desire, and they're putty. You can also just stir up conflict all the time and give her pointless shit all the time to get her mad whenever you're around and then convert that anger into lust later on. Unfortunately, far too many women are narcissistic as well as man-hating nowadays, so sometimes you have to throw in some pretty ballsy negs with your jokes to bring them outta their pretty little assholes.

NAWALT - I found a snowflake

20 upvotes · 18 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

There's not a lot of difference between a child and a woman, honestly, the gap is minimal. Refer to sidebar for reference.

Are you a "romantic"? If so, this way please ...I have a several thousand hoops for you to jump through...

20 upvotes · 1 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Sanity rears its head. This was my exact interpretation also. Great minds brother, great minds.

Machiavellian Thinking vs. Conventional Logic.

20 upvotes · 8 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

You know, I think womanese is born out of the inherent female need to protect her reputation and retain plausible deniability. When you force people to interpret what you mean rather than solidly say what you mean, you have more wriggle room to be slippery and you can beat people over the head when they "get it wrong." Whereas when you're direct - you're actually held accountable for your words.

Girl Reports Me for Inappropriate Behavior On Match.com for Getting Her Naked !

20 upvotes · 5 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

When chicks sense you don't care, they're drawn to you. They'll do anything to get noticed. You have to legitimately not give a fuck though, they can sense when you care but are pretending not to. There must be no fucks emanating from your soul whatsoever. We know how bad women are.

Ever feel eyes on you, look up, and see a chick acting like she wasn't looking, but then looks at you a second time really quickly? You noticed her because she looked, but she acts like you looked first and that SHE CAUGHT YOU.

All this happens in about 0.5-1 second. Now she's got that smug fucking look on her face like you're checking her out (when you weren't - she just caught you in a "stare trap") and now she's all gassed up and feeling validated off a mere glance. Bunch of fucking narcissists, young girls walking down the street are the worst with that shit.

"Becky lets hit up Starbucks! Omg that guy was totally checking me out!!" They stare at you, catch you looking in response, then act like you were checking them out to begin with. It's even fucking more annoying when it's some ugly bitch pulling that shit, you wouldn't check her out - that's why she's running these games. Eye-fucking, that's fun, it's mutual, I like that, but the ole' stare trap? Annoying ass shit. As a wise female philosopher once said:
"Ain't nobody got time for that!"

Girl Reports Me for Inappropriate Behavior On Match.com for Getting Her Naked !

20 upvotes · 5 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I can't speak for other guys but I don't try very hard to get women. If a chick's interested I'll take it as far as it's enjoyable, when she starts causing me problems (and she will, let's face it, it's a matter of WHEN not IF) I'll put my foot down. If she gets back in line, cool, we can continue to have fun. If not, she can fuckoff. Next.

Women are learning TRP - and monetizing it. Also - suggestion to introduce TRP. Its a woman saying it.

20 upvotes · 4 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah I'm too much of a sexist for this shit. Like this for example:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=abNv3_OSky8

I forced myself to listen for about a minute, the whole time I'm thinking "why is it talking so much?" "her inflexions are annoying," "she over gesticulates," "the way she speaks with her eyes is fucking annoying, stop bulging," "she's not that hot but she's making the effort," "she's annoying even though she's trying hard to be helpful," "her lip gloss is too shiny, she's insecure about her physical appearance." Eh.. I sort of psycho analyse the fuck out of everybody I lay eyes on. Can't help it. It's like breathing to me. Anyway...

The way women talk, the way they communicate, the way they preach... it completely fucking annoys me. There is no sense of command in her voice. Nothing that makes me want to listen. I feel like I am being lectured at rather than taught. Women have this unique ability to say absolutely fucking anything but make it sound like they're telling you off. AND I KNOW that's all MY psychology, not her intent. But I don't give a shit. I DON'T WANT TO listen to her on a visceral level. There's too much emotion in her voice. I DON'T VALUE the word of a woman as much as a man's BECAUSE I KNOW how women work, and how they easily manipulate people/language. I won't set myself up for that bullshit.

Another thing, I don't trust women. Only woman I trust is my mother, and I know her limits - after all, she is JUST a woman. These youtube girls are doing this shit to make money. I respect the hustle, but not the plagiarism and inevitable purple pill dilution such shit leads to. As long as it doesn't have an impact on TRP proper, I guess it's harmless. Perhaps a few guys will find their way here when the videos use such obviously similar terminology like "approach anxiety" and said guys google that shit and it brings up TRP.

The biggest lies your mother ever told you (about the wall)

20 upvotes · 3 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Chubby chasers got fat girl harems like a farmer tendin' to his grazing cows.

"Invisible Mindy Kaling-Matt Damon" Super Bowl commercial a perfect representation of the double standard for low SMV men (bottom 80%) VS women

20 upvotes · 2 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

But really...this was just a farcical commercial and it's a huge reach to read into it beyond a superficial level. To say that it remotely challenges mens rights is ridiculous.

You underestimate the soft power of advertising and the effect that media has on shaping perception/opinion. There is a reason advertising is a billion dollar industry, it inculcates specific viewpoints and use subconscious manipulation to invoke a desire in a product. Normally this is done via positive association and tapping into ideas/value systems that are popular in the contemporary culture. Now the two base/primitive attention grabbers are sex and violence, so to sell you stuff they use sex/innuendo or suggestive/artistic sexual puns, seduction/sensualness (the sexy voice, the silk fluttering in the wind slowly etc) To make you hate things they can't really do that very well through an ad, so that's what school/college is for (imparting value systems which make you hate other value systems.)

Media taps into the current culture's values and then uses them to create positive associations between values which have mass appeal and the product being sold. In cultures which aren't conservative sex is used as the superficial glazing to grab your attention and make you think the product is "polished." It's like saying see this bottle of BBQ sauce and how it's shaped like Kim Kardashian's butt? Now look at Kim Kardashian. Yes. They're similar. The BBQ sauce is tasty because it's similar to Kim Kardashian's butt, and we know that butt is a good butt. Now buy the sauce like a good little lemming, and try not to bust your own sauce all over your hands on the way to the shop thinking about it.

To dismiss the power of media is folly. OP isn't saying it's a "men's rights issue" because evidently it isn't, merely it is an example of a feminist value system dominating the culture enough to be used as an advertising tool.

A picture's worth a thousand words so here's some media representing cultural values from a different era:

http://lh5.ggpht.com/_zoKJ77EvEc/TIex5s_rL0I/AAAAAAAAHa4/V1Aj5zC6fHg/vintage-sexist-ads%20%2815%29%5B2%5D.jpg?imgmax=800

Don't underestimate the media, especially the advertising industry.

Red pill briefly mentioned in a MSM piece on corporate psychopathy, this time for being a "colony of dark triad devotees." Interesting characterisation, but actually a semi-decent article too.

20 upvotes · 27 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Summed up in an adage: "Be moral when you can afford to be."

Plate, meet my other plate.

20 upvotes · 15 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

But wouldn't a dark triad character not care at all about leaving women in a better state?

Read my posts and look at my DT score, it's not as clear cut as you think. You can be DT and have ethics. As Professor Kevin Dutton calls 'em "the good psychopaths" (rarer than the batshit fuck everything up psychos, but eh, they exist) - <http://www.thegoodpsychopath.com/>

<http://i.imgur.com/E9Phf3R.png>

This might sound morally reprehensible, but having power over others in a way in which you own another person's very humanity is itself the wet dream of a darkly-inclined individual.

I'm dark, I'm not sadistic though. This is sadism. I understand what you're on about, it's unjustifiable in and of itself. It's actually your weakness. I can give you power over something you can't resist fuck you over and frame you for indulging your own perversions. Sadists need to find masochists to productively indulge their curse. It's a curse because it doesn't actually make you more efficient, it's your psychological addiction. Please read the synopsis here: <http://www.amazon.co.uk/The-Good-Psychopaths-Guide-Success/dp/0593073991> to get an idea of who I am (or at least what I self-identify with.) It's why a lot of my posts when compared by people who read almost all my stuff get confused. Guy writes about the dark triad, says some questionable shit, but then sounds moral in another post - what's up with him? Now you know.

So again, why should you care about how you leave these people? They are merely playthings.

I'm not going to convince a sadist not to be a sadist, that's a shit test. You will never give a fuck. I'll just tell you it's one of your weaknesses and can be weaponised against you if you get a real match and aren't just playing with prey all the time.

I understand where it is negative to society. But then again, society is at the bottom of my - and people like me - list.

That's why nobody likes you or appreciates you. It's why you have to try hard to hide and blend in. I don't have that problem because I don't fuck over decent people. Just people such as yourself, who would try to cross me (and you have the guile to try it, I know the type you claim to be very intimately.) Even psychopaths need a code of ethics if they want to be successful in the world. Recklessness and constant self appeasement are not virtues. Masturbating to your own power doesn't make you more powerful, it just makes you addicted to a dysfunctional type of emotional self-fulfilment.

[FR] She offered me her number just to fuck with me.

20 upvotes · 12 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

My man... you need to learn how to next a bitch. Also cut out the "I don't appreciate being spoken to like.." They don't give a shit and it makes you seem butthurt (losing frame.)

Her: What are you looking for?

I guess this was a shit test.

Me: Calm down! I'm only looking for your number to start with.

You lost your shit here for no reason. She was being reasonable enough at this point. This was your chance to build attraction but you blew it by being defensive. Alternative: "That depends on what you've got" - "I don't know, what are you selling?" - "A billion dollars and a Labrador named Fluffy."

Her: Im solely looking for friendship. Just so you know.

Me: OK well I have enough friends. Thanks but no thanks.

Ok that was fine.

Her: Oh good! Now both our problems are solved!

Her: Actually, my problem is solved, I am rid of you. You're still miserable and alone cause you're a cocky douche.

Me: What makes you think I'm miserable and alone? Because I asked a cute girl for her number on a dating site? :P

Yes she is a cunt that can't handle rejection but you're failing her dominance test here. Why are you pacifying your response with a fucking tongue smiley? Knock that shit right off. You get defensive again here, you're failing shit tests. Read this: <http://illimitablemen.com/2014/12/14/the-shit-test-encyclopedia/>

If you already read it, you need to read it again dude and really internalise this shit.

Correct kind of answer: Yeah but you like cocky douches don't be playing. (agree and amplify)

Her: You didnt even ask for my name

Her: Which makes you desperate

Her: Which makes you a loser

Me: I just wanted your number. I thought you were cute. If you don't want to give it to me then that's cool but I don't really appreciate being spoken to like this.

Terrible answer. Better: What's your name? She says "her name." See - that's why I didn't ask you your name, terrible name. DORIS or EUNICE now those are names that just OOZE sex appeal. Amused mastery up in this bitch. Be facetious, she's not worth treating seriously at this point.

Her: Do you still want my number?

Holy shit. Did I just pass a series of shit tests? It seems that way. Ok.

Me: Sure.

Nah it's another shit test son. She just called you a loser, shat all over you and now is testing to see if you respect yourself enough in spite of your protests to reject her number. Actions speak louder than words. You fell for it. The number was bait to see if you really are high value enough to reject her and if your game is tight, or if you're just fronting and she's managed to mind fuck you enough to want to associate with a woman who treats you like a cunt. If you don't respect yourself a woman won't. Better answer: "Well that depends, Eunice, can I save your name as Eunice? I think I'm going to do that. Do you fuck on the first date? I do. If you don't, I don't think you're going to be good enough for me."

Throw the bitch a fucking curveball with some shameless direct game. Make a bitch qualify. If she says "No" just laugh at her and move on. "OK Eunice, good luck out there." Then ignore her. Forever. Hasta luego puta!

Exception: the rare time they send a nude to re-engage you. Then you escalate to a meet-up because she's DTF.

Not even going to address the texts on the phone because it was just further downhill bullshit from there. But you don't text bitches asking them how their day is. You only text to arrange where you're going to meet. Don't be the dancing monkey that keeps the basic bitch entertained at her crappy day job at starbucks. Let the beta idiots do that shit.

Does rule (18) "Do Not Build Fortresses to Protect Yourself – Isolation is Dangerous" from The 48 laws of power contradict with the concept of monk mode?

20 upvotes · 26 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Got it in one. Succinctly surmised.

How TRP helped me avoid a race traitor Asian girl.

20 upvotes · 19 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That's the problem with women. Even when they're smart, they're still women. Therefore logically, dumb as rocks. Hamster gonna hamst.

How to know you are dating a slut. Source: I married one.

20 upvotes · 9 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

She is jealous at you more than you are jealous of her. This is a strange one. I had complete trust in her and always complimented her, seldom expression jealousy and insecurity. If a girl even smiled at me wrong or lightly flirted with me when she was around she would get extremely jealous turning it into a four hour insecurity accusation fest. It is ironic that the person most being afraid of being cheated on (My slut wife) ends up doing the repeated cheating herself.

This is a case of simple projection. She realises she is a shitty person of morally dubious, disloyal and unfaithful character and thus plays off her flirting with plausible deniability as "innocent, light-hearted banter." Which is a massive affront to your analytical and social intelligence, by the way. A sign of total disrespect (she didn't respect you enough to fess up and be honest.) Yet when a woman even looks at you, she goes full control freak. Why? Because she's allowed to have her cake and eat it too but you're not. Also, because she is fucked up from childhood, she has trust issues and controlling you is her safe bet. You're the "rock in her storm" but not in the "he's the alpha I can rely on" kind of way that RPWs see a rock in the storm. You're not the rock she will tie herself to as a pillar of strength because you're not stronger than her. You're the rock she will kamikaze herself into when the storm gets too rough. She will destroy you just so she can float along in her lifesaver, and she doesn't care that she's doing that to you because you're just a means to an end to her. She feels entitled to that because of her fucked up past, she is incapable of proper pair bonding or love and all the rage she feels towards men is being abusively channelled directly at you.

You're the "dependable guy so weak and in love with her that you'll never leave her." You're the guy that's meant to still be standing there when she's old and wrinkly and nobody wants her anymore and she's done fucking the local football team. She will give you none of her prime years, but she will contort that with spin artistry as "real love." She will tell you "love is deeper than looks, it's not skin deep, it's about a connection of the souls" yet when her skin is supple, her titties bouncy and her body tight, she wants nothing to do with you sexually. Not even "once a month duty sex to keep him around paying for shit and making me feel like I'm a person." You're her "cashing out prize" the one she branch swings to when she's too old and too ugly to carry on playing the game the way she did in her youth. You're the guy she would reject at 25 but marry at 35.

Like men harvest women for sexual favours, women harvest men for emotional intimacy/commitment/trust etc. Fucked up women manifest this very violently by treating you like property and reducing your ego to a size so small that you won't even feel like you deserve her. She'll make you feel lucky that you're even with her "how did I get a woman as smart and beautiful as you?" all the while she fucks with your head and all the alpha dick within a hundred mile radius. Female predators are full on Machiavellian.

Whether you realise it or not OP, you are a victim of mental abuse. I don't know what your wife was like but she sounds a lot like a predator type female - the dark triad woman. The doggy on the leash doesn't get to shit in other people's kennels. When she leads the relationship rather than the opposite, she views you as her property rather than the natural way - her being your property. This is her safeguarding her property and seeing the other woman as a potential thief. It raises your SMV a little bit but because you're such a bitch you can't capitalise on the potential dread that is there.

Cheaters always accuse their partners of cheating in an irrational and neurotic manner to misdirect the attention from themselves and justify to themselves that their own cheating is acceptable "I wouldn't have cheated if he wasn't cheating!"

This particularly, I find is a huge red flag and when a bitch starts playing these games I know she's beyond help, inherently toxic and not good for me. I'm noping the fuck out of that situation. Of course, being a massive billy beta with retracting blue balls only makes this shit 50x worse. Like most things between the genders, you inverse the polarity to deduce the behaviour of the opposite gender. So for example: whilst men take mistresses and treat them like shit, reserving all loyalty for their LTR, women take betas for an LTR, treat them like shit and give all their respect to the alphas passing through the night who fuck 'em in the ass and make 'em taste their own poop off his dick. It's as nasty as it sounds. If the genders had of been flipped you would have been the mistress trying to get an LTR who couldn't get one. Instead you were the sex starved beta who's slutty wife kept you on a leash for emotional validation.

Fucked up women have to command loyalty by heading fucking because they're too inherently fucked up to believe in love and give themselves over to it. The closest thing they can experience to love is to control a weak man and coerce him into subservience. Ironically, the extent to which they are fucked up makes them more masculine, as you have accurately identified. However, being women, they are still subject to the rules of the game that women are, which is why you weren't an FWB but an LTR. Only alphas gets FWBs.

As an FYI, the woman I wrote the Lucifer's daughter article about was about to marry a very high status beta whilst meeting up with me and offering up the pussy after she and he had argued over some random bullshit drama she had concocted. These bitches aren't worth the drama and it sounds like you took the brunt of her neurosis.

I'm sick and fucking tired of men who enable women and their "it's not my fault" bullshit victim complex

20 upvotes · 5 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Of course they are worse off.

But we have to be able to separate men's and women's issues and not have this fucking "BUT WHAT ABOUT THE WOMEN THOUGH, THEY HAVE IT WORSE!" rhetoric which seems to fucking invade and takeover any conversation about men's problems. Talk about it long enough and it always gets moved onto "how women have it worse, were historically oppressed and blah blah blah" the fucking narcissists. Again, this is why men's spaces are so important. If you have any gender-mixed space, it will invariably end up becoming all about the women and everyone will stop giving men the time of fucking day, including the men themselves. Sad as fuck that is. Most women are whiny self-centered brats. Most men are pussy begging white knights, whether it's a charmingly obnoxious guido or a big bang theory type beta faggot.

I've said it before and I'll say it again. I'm a man, I relate to men, I give a fuck about men and I relate to their problems. I understand men, I want to help men. When you help men, they are so fucking grateful. Why? Because they are used to doing everything alone, the sheer fact someone has shown genuine human kindness to a man means a lot to a man. Men are used to being mentally lonely, men are used to having their wants ignored. Most men are deprived of any sufficient human kindness, our society diverts all that shit towards women. As a result of that, it is my belief that men have a capacity for appreciation well beyond that of women's. Men are like dogs. You treat them well, you help them help themselves, and they treat you like royalty. They will enter a bar fight with you and go down swinging. Men have gratitude, they will put themselves out for you if you put yourself out for them. There is nothing but respect. You see them make huge gains, you seem them evolve into competent, confident, effective individuals. And It is rewarding as fuck. It feels worth it. Women aren't like that though, which is why they don't seem worth it to me.

Women, I understand, but I don't like what I've discovered and I don't enjoy sparring with the hamster constantly. It gets in the way of progress. I don't really give a fuck about women's problems. I don't need to, seeing as everybody else is so busy doing it I'm sure my lack of fucks given for women's problems won't make any real difference. Men need me more, and I am better equipped to help them, so that's where I put my attentions. I don't want to help women (in general, I can make time for specific women) but generally I don't think women can be fixed. Women are not autonomous, they need constant guidance and feedback. They are not natural leaders and they are not built for independence, they seek consensus and conformity. Most of their so-called independence today is a scam, a farce, it's wealth redistribution, quotas and other bullshit, nothing's really changed beneath the superficial veneer. I want to make leaders, I don't want to waste my time helping sheep be better sheep (which is what women are, essentially - sheep.) You should give no fuck about women outside your immediate inner circle. It's not my place to go all captain save-a-hoe and go around with a futile fixation to fix bitches, those kinda problems are for their more than willing daddies and boyfriends to deal with, not me.

Feminism has given them a need to feel like they're independent in spite of their 'get along gang' instincts. What a head fuck. It's not bullshit I wish to entertain. Women are women and always have been, I accept them for what they are, I just don't like what that is. With the blinkers off, you see they're not really anything special. Women are like cats. When you help women, they act like they are entitled to your help. That it is "your job" to help them. That you're doing what's expected and you shouldn't deserve a fucking reward for doing "what is normal" anyway. Why is it like that? Because they have spent their whole fucking lives being helped. If we reframe that, they have cried their eyes out and whined their whole lives and like a baby that can't feed itself their needs have been attended to in response. Bitches love playing the victim because it gets them what they want in life. When men try the same shit, people laugh in their face. Showing women compassion has you treated like you're just another idiot helping them get what they want momentarily, before they quickly become dissatisfied again as their contemporary wants evolve into some other random arbitrary bullshit. They are bratty and unappreciative. I like a little fucking gratitude when I put myself out for people. They have a concept of appreciation so limited they may as well be incapable of it. They don't respect kindness, they see it as weakness. Helping women is not rewarding or interesting to me, so I don't do it unless I like a specific woman.

You can fix a man, but you can't fix a woman. Women are inherently broken (too illogical, too easily influenced,) so all you can do is stop them becoming even more broken. I'm not interested in damage control, I'm interested in success. That's what I think, that's how I feel. My inner white knight died a long time ago. If she's not my mother, I couldn't give a fuck.

3 Reasons Why You Will Never Make Gains

20 upvotes · 20 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Personal opinion on eggs: eat as many as ya like.

Cheap high quality protein? Can't go wrong.

[48 Days of Power] Day 4 - "Always say less than necessary."

20 upvotes · 18 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Hahahaha. Yes. One time I let a girl talk herself to death, it was the Pareto principle in full effect, she spoke 80% of the time, I, 20%. Banged her 2 hours later. Fastest sober close ever. She basically did all the work for me. Doubt speaking any less would have hurt, either.

Edit: all you gotta do is hold frame, eye fuck her, and when you do talk, escalate/flirt. It's that easy.

The Path Natural Alpha's Took: Monk Mode and Approach Everyone

20 upvotes · 5 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

He should have used an ego destroying Patrice Opener. "Hey bitch your breath stink"

/r/TheRedPill and Manosphere.com are proud to Announce - #NoNothingNovember - a self discipline challenge to get rid of your vices for a month

20 upvotes · 29 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Can't have a self improvement month without mentioning monk mode.

<http://illimitablemen.com/2014/04/13/monk-mode/>

Reminder: Reading the sidebar and going to the gym doesn't make you "alpha"

20 upvotes · 24 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

"We're going."

"Where are we going?!?!"

"Come and you'll find out."

"Oh my god just tell me where we're going!"

"I'm leaving."

"Wait for me!!!"

Female co-worker inadvertently reveals TRP truths

20 upvotes · 4 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

She'll most likely have almost zero ability to pair bond, but if you want a booty call she sounds like she'll be pretty low maintenance.

Feminists' Deafening Silence on Rotherham | "What's 1,400 low-class white girls to them? Just the eggs you need to break to make a multicultural omelette."

20 upvotes · 31 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Every dog has its day. Everyone that's English and is right of the bell curve in terms of awareness and intelligence realises that the UK is a sinking ship. Funny I'm saying that about a nation that used to have the world's most powerful navy. The UK is right up there with the US in its decline to the path of collapse, but then culturally, we're very similar so it makes sense. Canada is probably the best of a bad bunch, IMO.

The UK has bad weather, police state, bad women, high cost of living, fairly high taxes, (property tax - council tax, sales tax - VAT, income tax), high population density so people are always in your way and property is small, expensive property/rents, and of course its perpetuates all this politically correct cultural marxist bullshit. Patriotism is also seen as being literally Hitler, you don't force foreigners to adopt your ways in your borders, you have to accept their unique special differences and all that BS. That is part of the reason these immigrant communities do whatever the fuck they like, because they're not integrated.

Gods be praised. A WOMAN explains the current trend on why men are opting out of marriage.

20 upvotes · 28 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Men as arrogant and clueless as he are, IMO, deserve it.

The best example of frame holding in my life.

20 upvotes · 26 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

If you don't supplicate to her frame she'll supplicate to yours (if not immediately, eventually)

'Back Got Back' at the symphony viral video proves there's a teenaged attention whore in every woman.

20 upvotes · 11 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I actually thought patrice had been resurrected for a second or two there.

Woman worried that her brother is too much into /r/theredpill

20 upvotes · 8 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women truly exemplify competition within the animal kingdom.

Yeah they're fucking ruthless. Men are the true romantics, there's another red pill.

Self-Respect and Crazy Bitches

20 upvotes · 23 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

She pleaded for the next few days to know why I'd done what I'd done, most likely as her hamster was going nuts wondering all sorts of shit. I refused to tell her because I didn't want to give her closure, rather let her hamster fuck with and let her think all kinds of shit, self-torture is sweet revenge, but no, she never thought to herself that perhaps the small little detail that she'd brought her ex along might have been what had caused the problem. Totally fucking oblivious. She was "smarter" than most bitches as well, her knowledge on the history of architecture and political theory was second to none for a chick. She was well-read, well-educated yet equally fucking idiotic. Guess this is a great example of a bitches college degree not meaning shit. Women are so illogical not even education can redeem them, it's hilarious and yet, disappointing too.

Lit a fire under her ass.

20 upvotes · 19 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You are telling this man to do the same thing that you don't want done to you.

It's already happened to him. He's getting even. If you need to reason it with morality, think of revenge, if that words hurts your sensibilities too much, substitute that for "karma" or "justice". Is it not just he seeks recompense for the damage she has caused him? She has used him, if the the power dynamics were to change and he was able to use her, would you really vilify him for such an act? Doing so merely holds him to a higher standard of conduct than her, and in essence, by holding him to a higher standard, you grant her the privilege of more freedom and deniability to look after her own interests whilst penalising him for doing exactly the same thing. That is social inequality.

How is it good for a man to spin plates but it's bad for a woman to do it?

Ideally we'd all have monogamous relationships and nuclear families like the old days, but feminism is here and those days are gone, quite telling how promiscuity comes into mainstream fashion and the nuclear family disassembles once women are allowed a say in politics, the media and popular culture. We can't change what's happened. TRP is adapting to what has happened. It is all well and good to make moral overtures from a philosophical viewpoint, but such overtures do not help us optimise our circumstances on a day to day basis. You have to play the game everyone else is playing, you cannot opt out and play your own game and think your "higher morals" will lead to a successful life. Women are running the social game by having their cake and eating it too, "spinning plates" is a response to that in a society where women have such social dominance, if you look back to when the west was patriarchal, nuclear families were abundant.

How can this behavior be acceptable for anyone?

The situation is what it is. We react in our own best interest, we have not set the rules. The feminists and the society they have created with their programming of modern women have set the rules. You cannot expect men to idly tolerate women having their cake and eating it without them trying to do the same thing. The feminine imperative is no longer kept in check, and thus men must maximise the masculine imperative to ensure they can derive any sort of enjoyment from this fucked up situation we find ourselves in. This is ultimately what characterises TRP as a philosophy and not a movement, we aren't trying to change society, we're trying to monopolise it as it is to maximise our own personal benefit.

And if it's acceptable for men then it has to be acceptable for women to.

More like the reverse, if it's acceptable for women to dangle the carrot and lead men on (as they are not punished for doing so in mainstream society) then by merit of equality why is it so wrong for men to equally dangle the carrot and do the same thing, except instead of friendzoning women they are fuckzoning them? Ideally we'd live in a manipulation free world, but ideals do not lead to success, only delusion. You are still holding men to a higher moral standard than women, expecting them not to engage in the same sort of manipulations that women do in order to maximise their own benefits, or in any case, are in denial that women even do such things and so cannot justify a man doing such a thing.

You don't win the game by "being better" in a moralistic sense, you win by "being better" in a machiavellian sense. This is why TRP is amoral, there are no claims here that this is "a good thing to do" only that it is an effective thing to do. It is up to OP to decide whether he is comfortable on a personal level with taking that advice, or merely considering it as a possible option, but one that isn't to his liking. Your morals won't bring you happiness in a society that says it agrees with your morals, but rewards the immoral, if you want to be moral, that is your choice, but I wish you all the luck in the world having success with that strategy. Western/anglosphere societies are breeding sociopathy. It's bleak.

Holding someone to a different standard than yourself is hypocritical to say the least.

I agree with you, which is why I advocate he does exactly what she and many women do and have done. In a way, you could say I'm helping to remove the social double standard for this fine gentleman and helping him attain some measure of equality, couldn't you? Anything can be argued, moral arguments won't get you far on here.

My question to you: Why should the burden be on the man to be moral when you won't allow man to have the power to enforce the rationale behind his morality onto women? If you want gender equality, you must accept the negative aspects gender equality brings, which is reduced morality as symptomatic of the hegemony of the feminine imperative. Without the ability to put controls on women's hypergamy and machiavellian natures, men must compete with these instincts to attain a measure of success. You cannot expect men to be moral AND successful in a culture where women hold most of the cards and any controls placed upon women to curb the negative aspects of their nature are seen as inherently misogynist/evil/oppressive etc, even when imposing such sanctions leads to an all around more moral and healthy society. If you want your men to be moral again, you better make it worth their while - that's where religion came in by making monogamy/marriage divine and imposing moral laws, but that's descending deeper into the rabbit hole and a topic all of its own.

When a woman gets older, she doesn't settle! She just, uh... changes her priorities! Yeah, that's it.

20 upvotes · 10 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Behold that double standard. Bitches are ridiculous.

Don't trust a ho!! My personal experience

20 upvotes · 17 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is pretty dark triad shit. I'll be watching this topic.

Are YOU Good Enough to Date a Pregnant Girl? | American vs. Foreign Women: Dating Profiles

20 upvotes · 5 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I wonder what the fuck some of these bitches are sniffing when their offering on the SMP (sexual marketplace) looks something like this:

- Has a pussy
- Is a 6-8 /10
- Slim
- Boring with no proper hobbies (watching reality TV and going for coffee with your friends doesn't count)
- Makes little money
- Isn't educated in a serious subject/at all

Looking for:

- Dick
- 6 pack and broad physique
- Interesting with hobbies
- Financially comfortable
- Is educated and/or intelligent

- Likes kids (even if they're not his, especially if she already has some from another man's ball sack)
- A gentleman that puts me first emotionally/psychologically
- Will provide for me
- Is at least 6'0 or maybe 5'10 if he fills all the requirements above.

I seriously think there is some kind of retardation that deludes them from seeing that as a business proposition, this is plain fucking retarded. It's like me offering a BMW for someones Lamborghini. Only a fucking idiot says "YEAH SURE, THIS IS A GREAT DEAL!"

There's this entitlement that somehow men are going to pick up the slack for where so many of these average at best women just FAIL, and that average has only declined in the past few generations, they bring the least and want the most MORE THAN EVER.

Society trains men to be BETA and WANT TO give these women chances, to feel like it's part of their duty and "they're more of a man" and "manning up" for doing so, but the hilarity is, in the other breath, supposedly everything's equal, she can do whatever you can, just apparently, you're meant to be able to do way more than she can and then use your abilities to disproportionately benefit her.. if you don't fit that bill, she's not interested, "you're not worthy" or "a real man." Shit if you don't do what women want, "you're not a real man" like apparently to have a gender identity, we need woman's express approval and validation of that. Get the fuck outta here.

I honestly find this shit fucking hilarious. How fucked up the dating market has become is so retarded it CAN'T NOT BE FUNNY.

Logical people don't have impossible standards, women for the most part reason like shit.

Shit, I don't even dislike women, but I wouldn't fucking blame a guy for hating one. There's a lot of justification for that kind of sentiment. What are they really bringing to the table, to society? A huge swath of them - fuck all. It's pretty sad when there's more shitty women than good women. Good women are becoming rare. The ladies need to up their game and quit slacking. I fear radical feminism in the media has had an adverse effect on these women, damaging far too many of them beyond any use other than a quick hit and quit.

Surprise: A health, happy man leads to a happy relationship, but a health, happy woman does not necessarily.

20 upvotes · 26 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

As Patrice O'Neal says:

Happy king, happy kingdom. Happy queen doesn't necessarily mean a happy king. She can be out spending all your money whilst you slave away.

Oldie but Goodie: Epic "Don't Marry" thread from FuckedCompany.com circa 2000

20 upvotes · 3 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is fucking brilliant. Thanks for sharing this.

Guys only like me for my pussy!

20 upvotes · 26 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Major part of my game is my wit hence why I suck in clubs (hardly any chance to talk.) Can't dance for shit (yet.) Day game all day every day.

[FR] Date with 30yo girl in NYC, she stays over at my place, semi f close. Major LMR. Could use some advice going forward.

20 upvotes · 21 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I paid per standard protocol

Don't pay for a bitch. This ain't 1950 she's a big girl she makes bank she can pay for her own shit.

so jumps straight into my comfy bed.

you: "I don't let girls I'm not fucking get into my bed. I haven't fucked you yet so stay out of my bed."

shit test: "Where do you fuck girls the first time then?"

you: "Against the wall"

I tried logical stuff too like how we were 95% of the way there anyway but of course that did jack

Don't use reason to appeal to women because women are inherently unreasonable. Use appeals to emotion and machiavellianism.

Rubbed up on her with my erect dick put her hand on it, still no effect.

She's not even attracted to you. That's straight up rejection but then you had a weak frame trying to logic her into a fuck rather than demonstrating you're high value.

In fact you've done a number of things here which demonstrate low value and communicate to her "you're better than I am"

Jesus christ just fuck a prostitute sex is nothing special and if it's fucking with your game/frame that much it'll be worth the investment.

EDIT: imagine how many hoes you could have fucked for all the time and money you spent on this one chick who's done nothing but dangle the carrot?

I crown you King of the Betas.

20 upvotes · 14 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Tea partier dumbass? Funniest ineffective insult I've heard in a while.

"Men Are Obsolete" - thought you might 'enjoy' this

20 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Bet she's a single mother as well. Single mothers are a fucking blight I tell thee, a blight.

Young doctor wonders why women are suddenly after him. Gets slaughtered by hamsters on r/askwomen. These are redpill truths in action.

20 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I love it when women buy me shit because of that. They're so averse to sharing resources with guys.

Fatty from that awful show "Girls" gets offended because people don't want to see her naked all the time

20 upvotes · 10 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

What the actual fuck are these people serious? How is saying "why are you naked all the time?" even construed as misogynistic. There's such a giant leap in logic there that it's like me going into the shop and saying "do you guys stock greek yoghurt?" and they say "no" and I say "why are you being racist towards the greeks?" it's some fucking troll shit, it's something a troll/prankster would say or do and yet you can tell these idiots are deadly serious.

I'd hate to be limited to the body of a logicless emotional pile of ego, the existence must be very restrictive.

this idea that you would talk to a woman like that Respect is earned sweetie, you are gassed the fuck up thinking your mere breath merits some iota of awe or some shit.

Translation: How dare you question my accountability? I'm a woman! You never question a woman like that!

Lol that fucking privilege and entitlement is just obnoxiously detestable.

Video Games, Porn/Masturbation, and Watching Sports: The Downfall of the Modern Man

20 upvotes · 4 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Porn is good if you're MGTOW or you need a hiatus from HO's to improve yourself.

Shooters are good for alleviating anger when you don't want to go to jail.

Don't sit there masturbating all day. Don't sit there playing games all day.

Keep porn/games to evenings preferably, getting all your high priorities done in the day.

Even better if you don't do these things every evening, but obviously go out and socialise or even keep working into the evening, don't become dependent on games/porn, that time is better spent on this sub, reading a book, reading RP blogs, going to an activity like a martial art class or something as such. Porn and games don't add lasting value, they're immediate distressors, that's it.

Always have things on the go, books to read, things to learn, money to make... fill up your timetable.. or you'll end up filling the void with video games/porn/watching tv.

TLDR: In moderation, extreme moderation. They are distressors, if you're not stressed you shouldn't be using them. You get stressed going for gold, these things take the edge off, that's it.

Most / least feminist cities / countries?

20 upvotes · 1 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The Muslims refuse to integrate because they perceive the host society as morally corrupt due and if it wasn't for that reason it would be for some other crap reason, any secular country islam "infects" has islam come out on top in dominance in the end anyway. Look at Turkey, no Shariah but its demography is 90%+ muslim (dont quote me, could be 99%). Look at countries like Albania which never used to be muslim and are almost 100% muslim now. Says a lot about Islam and how muslims use it, really. It's a religion intent on proselytising.

Those in love with the religion/political ideology would say "it's not the fault of islam, it's the people misusing it." Great way to deflect your religions problems onto the individual level... I think we need a "Not all muslims are like that" NAMALT. Honestly. It's the only way they defend the crazy shit they do. OMG you racist generaliser! Not all muslims are like that! - and you think... "STFU, all muslims in western powers pull the racism card to get their own way"

Here's something else funny for you, muslims in Sweden were saying they wont integrate because the swedes are racist... sweden got upset and said it had no colonial past unlike Britain so it doesnt understand where these unfounded accusations come from.

Here's a tip for you socially clueless swedes: they don't give a shit about fact, you white and you spend all your tax money on them reproducing in your borders but because you won't immediately turn your political system into an islamic based one... you're an inferior racist. AAHHAHAHAH. Third world muslim immigration is a bitch man. They respect nothing but power and they will BITE THE HAND THAT FEEDS until you can no longer feed them. Then they'll be mad the handouts stopped and riot/revolt/coup.

What I consider the main thing women have lost....

20 upvotes · 26 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Holy shit. Do I detect jealousy in her tone? LMAO. Fucking hell. Look at that hamster try to reconcile the differences between the quest for happiness and the diction of her chosen ideology. It's fascinating. It's hilarious. HA! Thanks for the TLDR.

Hot blonde chick gets arrested for shoplifting

20 upvotes · 12 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Words uttered by a fucktard with no iota of formal training in the law of the land no less.

Mangina I know posted this on FB. This guy has been friendzoned by a chubby girl for years.

20 upvotes · 11 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Bravo. You see guys, the manipulation, the attack on your world view, the forged perception these corporations/ideologies and institutions try implement into your psychology can be easily changed/morphed to fit whatever agenda is trying to be fulfilled. Stereotypes often contradict other stereotypes.

Call to Arms: Vasalgel baboon study

20 upvotes · 9 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

They'll do what they already did. Bring in people from the third world to replace us.

Western civilization has socially failed, you're asking men to sacrifice and forego happiness for the benefit of society, which is always the case, with no appreciation from society except of course people here are done helping this system. Marriage strike? Check. Tax avoidance? Check. You alienate men and treat them like second class citizens, don't expect them to sacrifice for you, there's no incentive.

You're forgetting most people here give no fucks about the system, we won't save the very thing that looks to enslave us. All caucasian majority countries are set to see a huge demographic shift in the next 50 years as they're replaced by third world immigrants. Whites are dying out courtesy of feminism, (slow genocide via ethnic replacement) in a perverse way its beautiful, the big evil ethnic majority are on a world wide steep decline thanks to feminism creating bi gender animosity and multiculturalism introducing interracial relationships/babies.

This is like Rome, fuck the system, they bite the hand that feeds (man's labour, tax, logic) so we abandon those motherfuckers mercilessly to our civilizations destruction. The system will survive albeit with a different complexion, third world immigrants replacing European bloodlines. In japan and korea they'll be replaced by chinese and filipinos as they too have ridiculously low birth rates.

Female CEO yells 'penis' at employees, says it can't be sexual harassment because they're white men.

20 upvotes · 3 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah, you can attribute that to feminisms social engineering efforts.

Your username is amazing btw.

Practising for the big leagues

20 upvotes · 28 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

How I read this is this chick is a practice chick until something better comes along.

Seddit mods are now removing posts that advise men not to date single moms

20 upvotes · 17 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm already noticing a lot of bullshit being posted here by people who don't have a fucking clue. I'm reading shit more and more lately here and thinking "wtf are you saying" people are challenging my opinions (which are RP) more and more with BP bullshit or just ignorance. One person in a thread the other day was saying "well women were oppressed by men in the past" and I just thought WTF? Is this TRP? It's already happening.

Far too many fucking noobs here now. The sub has gained 1.5k members in just shy of a month, the last month has been utterly terrible and the topics going up.. a lot of them are just fucking garbage.

Red Pill Saved Me From Pure Manipulation

20 upvotes · 8 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

While getting blown by her I make a move to push her down on the bed and she suddenly stops and says "My ex used to do that to me"

~~I literally stood up and went ice cold. I lost my frame a little bit and she ended up leaving anyways.~~ so I laughed at her and said "COOL, now I'm gonna hatefuck the shit out of you for making me think of men while I'm getting blown"

FTFY.

EDIT:

- I have met women whom had a boyfriend and went to another city to fuck another man.

Yep, me too, she came from like two towns away to fuck me.

- I have met women who were window shopping me as a higher ranking alpha and trying to snag me and trying to force me to commit before breaking up with their blue pill chump boyfriend.

Yep. Classic branch swing. Also experienced this. If you want to fuck her up, the best thing you can do is agree to be her boyfriend when you have no intention of it, let her dump the beta/lower alpha and then just say "LOL I WAS JOKING" and leave her to be single, she'll get off on the drama but it's what the disloyal ho deserves. Watch her pine and pander and try to get back in with her old guy.

If he's too beta to realise she's just using him you can record the convo where she says she'll dump him for you and just send him it. Some most betas need traumatic psychological pain to bitch slap them the fuck out of their disney indoctrinated delusions.

- I have met women who keep a boyfriend around as token social proof and meet up with me on the side.

Alpha fucks, beta bucks. He's the resource hog/validation giver for her ego. A lot of us have seen this dynamic in action, basically the same as the branch swing u mentioned.

- I have met women who have a loyal boyfriend of 5 years only to tell me about the dude they blew on the side because things just happened and her boyfriend giving her a second chance and her staying because of his large social circle.

LOL. Yeah. Bitches don't wanna be ostracized and be forced to latch onto someone else to hijack their social circle or otherwise build their own up. Only a beta accepts cheating and gives a girl a second chance, no matter how much you love the bitch and how much it hurts, you have to CUT. The world is rough. Very rough.

- I have met women that need constant narcissistic supply and claim orbiter victims left and right while they try to shame me into being another one of their victims

Social networks have made this shit worse, ugly girls getting internet dopamine/serotonin from their selfies and fucking shit. Fuck. Orbiter thing, yeah, bitches love orbiters. Bitches are like planets (say a small one mercury) and they want moons bad, you show that bitch you're a fucking bigger planet (like Jupiter) and if she wants to go there you'll go asteroid on her ass. (Figuratively and literally, take your pick.)

- I have met women that only live for instagram validation and had absolutely no personality developed.

Yep, social media revolution + beauty privilege = vapid as fuck.

- I have met women with daddy issues that went on the carousel only to dream about the one renegade alpha that ridiculed them constantly.

HAHAHAHAH DADDY ISSUES, THANKS FEMINISM CUZ HER MOTHER WAS A HO NOW THE DAUGHTER IS EFFED IN THE HEAD TOO DUE TO LACK OF A DECENT RELATIONSHIP WITH HER OWN FATHER AHAHAHAHAHA. Ok. Schadenfreude embellishment over.

In regards to the last bullet point, there's this girl right now and I'm not gonna fuck her because she's in some messy relationship with a guy (deep as hell from all the preaching she's done telling me about her bf - you'll learn why this has happened and why i've bothered listening to it in a minute) and I'd be shitting where I'm eating but needless to say I'm going to fucking ridicule the fuck out of this bitch for the entire duration we both have to work in the same institution (it's funny as hell), and let me tell you, it's making her moist.

It's funny, she's so scared she'll cheat (and I honestly believe she "logically" doesn't want to) that she's gone to the extent of trying to fucking convince me that her and her BF are solid as hell. I don't even care how solid they are. So I say to her "Who are you trying to convince, me or yourself?" she goes "you" I say "why? because I don't give a fuck" LMFAO.

I've deduced that how I tease her makes her doubt her feelings for him because she has feelings for me she shouldn't have, and she feels guilty for having them - but she can't help it - she's female - my "cockiness" and "being a fucking asshole" as described by her are qualities she finds attractive.

This is the force you're up against men, when you try to wife up a girl or otherwise commit long term, if she's around some motherfucker like me, she may not even want to cheat on you, but she can't resist her own feelings, if another man can make her angry/have extreme emotional swings, she's basically putty in his hand.

They are weak. Just a matter of time until this girls in particular rapes me, I'm not even trying to fuck her, I'm just being me (real - red pill) LMAO. Makes complete sense why the muslim world don't let women go out/mix with men who aren't family members or their husband, because they have no control over their emotions and what that subsequently makes them want to do in the moment. EG: "it just happened" LMAO.

Food for thoughts gents.

Few edits here and there because I was fucked when I originally wrote this.

What I learned from Narcissism and how it applies to women

20 upvotes · 6 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

They don't show their narcissism towards those who are strong.

No instead they schmooze up to them.

Unplugged 6 days ago - excited and sad - TRP is blowing my mind

20 upvotes · 3 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm commenting on the negative blue pill aspects here to help any blue pill lurkers/newbies who are reading this and trying to make sense out of a story that they self-identify with.

Its amazing what TRP has done for me in a week alone. Literally my reality has been shattered, Im unplugged, awake, and I can see the code. It happened over night, and its kind of freaky.

Haha sounds corny as hell. Welcome into the fold.

TV, music, movies, and all social interactions suddenly appear different. Strangely clear, but way different.

Yeah. I used to love big bang theory, I still do. Except I don't see how they all put Penny on a fucking pedestal as a "normal thing" anymore, in fact it kind of makes me cringe, and want to cringe hard. That show is so blue pill it's insane. Even her ex boyfriend Zach who had the height/looks/physique was framed by the show as some gormless idiot with no iota of intelligence whatsoever. Bernadette is an shrilly little bitch who has howards balls in her purse, and the show openly laments a double standard in their marriage between what she's allowed to do and what he is, basically she does what she wants but she keeps him on a short leash. She even says in one episode "you're lucky to even have me!" I don't wanna go on about this show too much, especially if you haven't seen it because you won't get the references, needless to say it's a strong example of bluepill/beta behaviour.

You can see it less pronounced in other shows, like in the simpsons bart and homer are fucking retards, lisa, madge and even fucking maggie are smart (maggie gets an episode where shes a child genius). In Fraser, the two brothers are hopelessly beta, one is a beta with no idea, the other is a total fag (not gay, just an extremely effeminate heterosexual.) Be careful for alphas in disguise as betas though (quite rare), like Gus from Breaking Bad who runs pollos hermanos but secretly works for the Mexican cartel. He acted really beta and clean cut but he was a dark triad red pill motherfucker with a beta glazing.

I was betaized early on.

Pussy ass father or a blue pill single mother? Rhetorical question, either one can be the answer.

My whole life is a tribute to white knighthood. Ive openly espoused chivalry as the way men should approach women.

The definition of blue pill, acting like you know your shit but you actually don't. If anyone challenged you on that stance you'd dig your heels in out of delusive pride, but really you know and anyone who's having success knows that what you were saying is pure bullshit.

I've openly agreed with every feminist ideal and never even questioned it (probably because doing so is immediate grounds for a total freak out on the part of all feminist women, men are not allowed to have or voice any dissenting opinion about feminism or else they will be labeled as misogynists).

There's opposing it and getting swarmed by the "anti-misogyny" crew, there's keeping your mouth shut and avoiding interactions about "differences between men and women" with the obvious women who seem like they have a screw loose, that's most of them, and then there's actually joining the wenches in their tirade of bullshit and holding up a tiny little white flag over your crotch. You were in deep my friend.

From the very first girl I was with I was a beta bitch. I asked permission for everything. I asked permission to kiss her. Its no wonder she said no!

Yeah not exactly confident or sexy to be asking to kiss someone. "Take the initiative" is paramount here. Demonstrate your value by being bold. If she's not interested, move on. Gauge a girls interest via her body language. If a random girls eyeballing you a lot, she wants the D.

My first girlfriend (the one I asked to kiss) cheated on me (big wonder).

LOL. She was using you.

My second girlfriend cheated on me as well (I did everything for her, was always compliant, clingy, spent all my time with her, had no other hobbies, insecure, and so forth). My third girlfriend cheated on me too (same reasons as above, less clingy, less insecure, but still really beta and pathetic). In fact by the time I got to my third girlfriend in my mid 20's. Need I even mention what happened with my fourth girlfriend?

Girl 2, 3 and 4 used you to validate their egos and pay for shit, probably cheated on you, once they used you up they prepared a next guy to be with before leaving you and then jumped to the next dick (referred to as branch swinging) funny how I know this without knowing anything about who any of you are. The chances it happened like this are so high we may as well hedge bets.

I expected women to cheat on me and had even rationalized that it was OK because most people are weak and unable to resist sexual temptation.

Well humans are not monogamous creatures unless the mate they are with is extremely high value, and even then a man has many many temptations if he's high enough value to keep a high value chick because all the other chicks want his dick too.

Aside from this, I had only been with three other women. One epic beta failure of a one night stand, one fairly awesome one night stand, and a short three day fling with a chick.

That's pretty fucking amazing for a beta assuming you're under 25. If you're older than that then it speaks for itself, girls have been using you your entire life which is what pushed you to seek out something like TRP.

Basically my only success has been with women outright looking for a beta-provider type.

Confirms what I said about women using you for emotional validation/money.

All other women shoot me down. Of course fat women seem to like me (in fact they seem to prey on poor betas) but I dont personally find large women attractive.

It's a matter of SMV, they think you're in their league/attainable.

My attitude towards women have been completely wrong. Ive been conditioned to feel guilty for wanting casual sex with women. Ive been conditioned to treat women like men. Ive been conditioned to always put all their needs and wants first to such an extent that I rationalized not getting involved with a great deal of women because I "didnt want to hurt them" as though anyone can enter into having relationships without it getting messy from time to time. Ive been conditioned to not go for what I want with them, the idea that basically just touching, kissing, and fucking a girl because I want to made me feel like I was a creep, bordering on raping a girl (which I would never do).

Yeah feminism does that if you ingest it fully. It frames you as the evil/needy/weak entity that needs to fit a bunch of requirements and quotas in order to be validated. The thing is, it's all bullshit. Women need men more than vice versa psychologically speaking, men just need to fuck - that's the reality, feminism tries to inflate the price of sex by denying the psychological element under the guise of equality, but end of the day despite their machiavellianism and ability to move on easily women need a relationship/male attention to feel like their existence is validated.

In short, my whole life Ive been a beta, betaized early on, I was conditioned to be basically everything a woman finds unattractive in a man.

Good thing you came to the realisation you weren't having success so you could start making changes in your life. And one thing from the post change:

The best part is I feel light hearted. I haven't fucked any new women yet, but this has been a great week. These results are great for someone like myself who has had zero success. I've been rejected a few times, just girls with no interest in me, and it didn't phase me. Its strange to suddenly and abruptly understand women, understand why they are saying what they are saying, and why they are doing what they are doing. I feel like Mel Gibon in "What Women Want". I cant turn it off.

Get rejected a lot. It's good stuff. It's medicine. It may taste like shit to begin with but it helps you. Once a woman has no power in her choice to reject you, an incredible amount of anxiety suddenly becomes absent from your interactions with women, the worst she can do is reject you and you don't even give a fuck about that now. Self-development is about more than notches, number closing, k-closing, successful flirting with co-workers or whatever, it's about being a more confident, fulfilled and more mentally stable person and that of course inevitably manifests by leading to the former. There's no rush at all, just be moving upwards.

Why Men Have Higher Social Capital

20 upvotes · 10 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Spoken with the ignorance of a true layman.

Field Report & Protip: Rooftops at night for spontaneous sex

20 upvotes · 9 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Fucking excellent field report man. Good shit! Two fucks in one go as well, damn son you couldn't of drank too much that's some peak athletic shit there.

Where Is Prince Charming?

20 upvotes · 21 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Abundance mentality!!!!

Woman in love with a Dark Triad asshole can't change him, goes on national TV to try make it happen.

20 upvotes · 13 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

He's dark triad, however he is alpha/red pill because he is realistic, he seemingly has no delusions. He's comfortable with the truth and he expresses this openly.

You don't have to be a charming asshole like he is to be alpha. You can be a "good person" and be alpha. Some people are good because they have a lot of power, and can use that power to help out of altruism other people are "good people" because they're powerless, and try to use their kindness deceptively as a kind of currency to get people to like them (and thus build their power through contacts.)

At the core level being alpha is about setting boundaries and going about enforcing them. Being red pill is about being realistic and realising the true nature of things and how they work, red pill is very logical - emotional reasoning is mocked as "hamstering" because it has no basis "to be" but "simply is" "just because" and the lack of structure such reasoning has leads to destruction and inefficiency, hence why it is mocked.

If you don't want a particularly whiny chick moaning to you all the time for example you tell her you don't listen to unproductive moaning, you only communicate if she wants to solve a problem, if she wants to cathartically rant she has her friends for that, you won't tolerate the negative energy in your relationship and you hold her to it - when she tests that boundary by violating it - you punish her, you withdraw attention, ostracize her, whatever - she violated a personal boundary you're not cool with. Alphaness is about asserting your boundaries, like this guy does. You can be an asshole and assert boundaries or you can simply "speak up" when betas are too scared to stand up and speak against their boundary being torn apart.

How do I respond to this 'just as mates' response?

20 upvotes · 9 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You're a really cool fella, but if we went for a drink it'd just be as mates, let me know what you think

So that's the rejection. She's trying to friend zone you either because she doesn't like you or as a shit test to see how interested you are, but it's the beginning of her trying to frame you as being a beta orbiter, and most guys in the comments here can smell that and they are all like "HEEEELLLL NAW SOOOON!"

You got multiple options now. Ignore or reject her then forget her. Or (my fave - because I don't like losing human resources and like having contacts/social proof) is that if she can get you access to other girls, or has connections of her own is that you reframe it that you're friendzoning her.

Now the reframe depends on her value to you. Aside from sex does she have value (access to her social group?) Reply with something like "LOL ur not the kinda girl I go for, you're just a friend" so u reframe it that u friendzoned her and even though she beat you to the punch, she'll feel the rejection - especially if she's single and looking for something serious (has ridden the carousel) she'll be insecure about her past sluttiness and the fact you somehow realise she's not a catch, she'll hamster over and over your decision there from the cesspit of insecurities she holds.

She might be up for going out still to throw shit tests at you after you friendzone her but I wouldn't bother, texting back a day later: "ah, me and girls name are doing something we'll have to make it another time" then keep your distance for a week or two and message her like "I need your advice" - chicks love giving advice, even though 99% of the time their advice sucks. Then start telling her about a plate pushing you for commitment, tell her it was casual but this plate "isn't the kinda girl I go for, she was just a friend" you're using the same line you used on her to describe another girl you don't consider commitment worthy.

Hell I go kinda crazy with this shit and start playing "girl game" on the girls, it's hilarious "she thinks because we had sex a few times that she entitled to a relationship but I told her from the beginning I didn't see her that way" this girl will now be so fucking curious about you, you may find it difficult to contain your own laughter as you say this kinda feminine sounding BS.

You're dhving a lot, because you friendzoned/rejected her when she mentioned the mere possibility of you going out "as just friends", you've also told her another female friend is trying to push you into commitment, but you aren't ready for it, which is more high value. (Other women like you, target woman finds u more attractive straight away) You can even leave in a little line such as "I'd commit to the right woman, but that's not her" if she pushes you why (to try and apply this info on her own strategy towards you) stay vague "she's just not that kinda girl" "i don't like her that way" or even you'll like this "it just doesn't feel right when I'm with her" "we don't have that spark" LMFAO. Oh man.

This girl may be interested by now. She may not. Who cares, you're having fun, you're friends but you're not in the friend zone because she isn't running the show and she didn't place you there, you placed her there and because u didn't supplicate you still hold an alpha frame in her opinion because you rejected her and demonstrated that other girls find you attractive (under the pretense of a friend getting advice from a friend, not as some beta attempt to impress her) so she sees you as alpha even though you're not fucking her, it's all about the frame. If you control the friendzone frame, it's kinda fun and what a lot of guys don't notice is that whenever there's a friendzone situation, it's normally the female who is controlling it - which is why it sucks for you - but it can be fun for you if you run the show. She's in your friendzone, you're not in her friendzone.

Then you say something along the lines of "hey you must have some cute friends, introduce me" and then get her to do the work for you, set you up with a girl, introduce you or w/e. You may meet new women, you may end up fucking her because now all of a sudden your dick is like a golden olive branch to her, you can say "let's go out for drinks" and go to a club/bar and pull women while you're out with her, she will help you open sets, as having a good looking girl with you disarms strangers, other girls will assume you're fucking her even though you're not and you can DHV to them and NEG her at the same time "HAHA NO, she's like a sister to me, she always gives me advice when women won't leave me alone" keep it jokey/light, if you pull another girl while you're out with her it's a DHV, if she gets pissed off you've pulled some other girl you innocently ask her what the problem is and say say to her "you should be happy for me you're meant to be a friend" there's lots of possibilities.

Yeah, I'm a head fuck. Sue me. I learnt from women. They are the masters of this manipulative bullshit.

Where have all the beta providers gone?

20 upvotes · 1 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Actually, contrary to what Elonine says, a sociopath is someone who feels no emotion or is good at suppressing it that they can harm people/manipulate/do terrible things, acts of betrayal etc and feel no responsibility or guilt for it, even if they know they're logically responsible they just do not care. You can't really manipulate their emotions.

A machiavellian is a manipulative person who can be manipulated emotionally like a non-machiavellian person can.

Sociopaths tend to be very machiavellian as they have no emotional inhibitions or consequences keeping their desires in check, but a machiavellian is not necessarily an unfeeling sociopath, just calculating. Different shades of grey.

I knew a very apt high mach female who was very emotional and felt massive guilt for how she had fucked people over. Didn't stop her fucking people over when she had to though/thought it was the right thing to do. That's the difference essentially, not the level of manipulation. that's the same - but whether you care you did that or not, whether you can live with yourself for doing it.

At her lowest points she'd hate herself for what she did, at her highest points she'd stomp all over people. Character conflict. Massively unstable.

A wise woman discusses how she feels about being "the most mature teenager in the house".

20 upvotes · 21 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Women are given the pleasure of not having to be stoic, then the feminazis attack us for being stoic, equating it with neanderthalism and emotional dimness, then the new emotional beta men aren't stoic and the women can't lean on them emotionally and then BOOM, he's not a real man, he's not attractive, blah blah blah. "Man up!" gets mentioned a lot and it's a proverbial circle of bullshit. Stoicism is a burden for men and a gift to women, I completely agree. Feminism, one clusterfucking shit test that made such ancient knowledge "new again."

Next time some women pressures you into a relationship, remember what's truly at stake. You men bring more to the table than many of you realise, more than many women or society as a whole would like you to realise. To realise the true value you bring.

what male escorting told me, and what I learned from my mistakes

20 upvotes · 6 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The power of preselection and jealousy is fucking insane.

Possible answer to: why are there so many bitter TRPs?

20 upvotes · 26 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Someone buy this guy a drink, preferably alcoholic.

So where did all the good women go?

20 upvotes · 20 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I think men changed more than women but women definitely changed too, they're less feminine and men are more feminine which is part of the problem. Women are also poisoned to see men negatively, not trust them etc, even the poor betas with no game who would overly respect, provide for and be loyal to such a woman are framed as assholes being nice to get pussy which we see with all these articles about how "nice guys are assholes putting kindness coins into panties for sex" or other such bullshit.

You're telling me any woman can be high quality if you're alpha enough essentially but I don't buy that. I believe a ho/bitch/solipsistic pig will offer you respect because she's attracted to your power but I don't believe that's "wife"/LTR/mother of your kids material, she's still a deceptive person and that isn't someone I'd invest myself into whether she values me because she perceives me as alpha or not.

The Realities of the 20 Year Old Hot Girl

20 upvotes · 25 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Reading that, I'm happy I'm male. Hard Mode bitches.

There's something I don't understand about this place

20 upvotes · 23 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminists are like white men in the 1800s who hate the concept of black civil rights. They hate the idea of men realising their worth in society and getting better treatment from our culture so they just spout a bunch of shit demeaning everyone who stands up for those beliefs and wants to see other men do well. They're oppressive to contemporary man because it goes against their desires which is essentially crushing the core of masculinity in men to replace it with feminine ideals and institutionalising female privilege with men picking up the social responsibility for their mistakes and errors, like slaves.

TLDR: Power hungry psychos that see masculinity as a threat to their system of control.

His Gf was fucking another guy, got an STI, and he is asking "If" he should call off the wedding...

20 upvotes · 19 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The beta hamster, protecting men's hearts from realising life is shit because women know no loyalty. Soul mate myth blowing up in a brothers face. I extend my empathy to this guy, it's raw.

Interesting discussion on why delusional female fatties seem to outnumber their male counterparts

20 upvotes · 21 May 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

To really simplify the essay the top comment has typed out, female looks mean more to themselves and to society than males looks do, so if they're fat to the point of being morbidly ugly, rather than accept their fate or do something about it, they will put their hamster onto the starship enterprise and engage that shit at warp factor 9 in order to feel good about themselves. A huge number of women rather pretend they're pretty and thus valuable rather than admit the truth that they're UNDESIRABLE and thus take active measures to improve their SMV.

A female's aesthetics are the majority of her SMV, ugly girls get ignored/friend-zoned, say aesthetics account for around 70-80% of SMV with the high quality females (she's smart, funny, laid back, submissive etc), but probably up to 99% of the SMV with your run-of-the-mill everyday self-entitled psychologically unattractive female.

Male SMV is much more diverse, meaning a lower contributing amount is derived from aesthetics owing to women looking for a wider range of attributes like status/money/humour/emotional stoicness etc whereas guys aren't subject to hypergamy and thus "only being attracted to someone better than themselves", they're only subject to reproductive urges aka "wanting to fuck" and thus only look to spread their seed, not improve their quality of life by latching on to a stronger partner via monogamy/marriage.

Another thing he didn't point out in his essay is that female friends are full of shit, they will tell you exactly what you wanna hear or what they think you wanna hear, so if a fat chick has normal weight friends or even fat friends, they'll probably all have some fucking delusional female empathising moment, berate men for being shallow and have a fucking epiphany about how men should look past looks. Whereas if a man is fat, his bros will be all like "u fat bro u need to get lifting" there's more honesty and thus the guy either accepts he's a fat cunt and incorporates it in to his personality by giving himself a nickname like "Big Mike" or "Fat Joe" or he gets the fuck down the gym and sorts his shit out.

Male delusion isn't supported, female delusion is aka "victim culture." This shit can get deep.

The Monetization of the Manosphere

19 upvotes · 27 November 2018 · /r/TheRedPill

Telling me to be the change I want to see when I literally do none of the things I'm criticising and all of the things I advocate for is moronic.

I have never said the red pill is for losers in any kind of demeaning context, and wasn't even aware "Rollo gave me a jab the other day" - if he did? Why? What's the point in that, and why do you feel the need to do what you claim he did now?

Likewise, speculating on my relational status is utterly irrelevant to anything - something I would expect from gossiping young girls.

You've always been fairly hostile, disrespectful and provocative towards me, and for the most part I have ignored you. I don't know what your problem is because I've never been indecent or untoward with you, but I do not care for it. Have a bit of decorum.

You don't have to like me on a personal level, but to deny I'm a net positive to the community and berate me in your typical hostile fashion is a weak take.

I suspect something I've said here has touch a nerved for you in order to elicit such a reaction.

If all you have is belligerent contempt, lies, gossip and libel rather than balanced criticism to offer me - don't bother talking to me. I'm not interested.

Feminist in "open marriage" decides that she has fallen in love with other dude: AWALT

19 upvotes · 17 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Allow me to confirm your suspicions with a blast from the (recent) past:

<https://twitter.com/IllimitableMan/status/664860546450239488>

<https://twitter.com/IllimitableMan/status/664890744616968192>

Basically, bitch is playing the victim when she's in the wrong. It's what they do. Machiavellian.

Psychologists are more likely to see a man as abusive than a woman when considering the same psychologically aggressive behavior.

19 upvotes · 24 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah. It's bad. A lot of doctors think that psychopathy is a purely male phenomenon. They are dead wrong.

BBC reports David Cameron is ready to "tackle gender pay gap" by "pressuring firms into boosting women's wages". Public comment section absolutely rejects gender gap as myth.

19 upvotes · 14 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Cameron's proposal could potentially turn the tide well in favour of women in the workforce by essentially forcing companies to pay women more for them doing the same job or forcing companies to pay a lesser performing woman the same as a man who works his backside off.

And I can see how this backfires. All of a sudden men are getting more jobs than women because it's actually cheaper to employ them. Because the pay gap myth has become reality by actually legislating and thereby enforcing "economic equality." Such is the flaw of the socialism.

Then they'll be saying companies are sexist, because, you know, it's good for a business' bottom line to hire the labour that costs less. Which under the proposed legislation, would be male labour. So then they'd have to not only force higher wages for women, but they'd also have to force companies to employ an x% of women, otherwise companies would simply stop employing/minimally employ women to save themselves labour costs.

And so by going on and on about something that didn't exist, ironically, perversely, fucking hilariously - they legislate it into existence.

Bravo, fucking bravo.

As someone with a heart for business, and a big respect for entrepreneurs, the government should keep its fucking nose out of how we do business. Big government is bad for business because of bullshit like this, not to mention all the bureaucracy that strangles the little guys from the hangman's noose, preventing them from even getting off the ground to begin with. I digress, but big government is bad news.

And you wanna know who is always voting for more government?

Women. The government loves women. It needs them and their voting inclinations to be big and powerful. The big governments you see today would not be possible without the female vote and feminism. Feminism has been fucking great for statism.

In light of that, should women have the vote? I don't think so. They enable and promote government to become more and more socialist, which translates into less laissez-faire economics and more statist interventional government bullshit. We have been culturally socialist and economically capitalist for a long time, but when the cultural marxism starts trying to fuck with our economics, that's when people will actually get pissed.

A website which women openly describe their tactics regarding getting what they want, hypergamy etc.

19 upvotes · 29 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Right there with you brother. Seeing how neurotic women are, I find myself feeling lucky.

How Many Corpses Do You Need To See?

19 upvotes · 23 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Sad, but undoubtedly incontrovertibly true.

That inexplicable 'gut feeling'. Trust it.

19 upvotes · 11 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

God I miss that fat fuck. R.I.P buddy.

I was asked to train a new female employee to do the promotion I got passed on.

19 upvotes · 21 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

hes so fucking smart he corrects our Russian physics professor.

Tell him to stop doing that because correcting your higher-up's will only piss them off, giving them no incentive to help you along. Tell him to read the 48 laws of power, and specifically, to read this:

<http://illimitablemen.com/2013/12/10/law-01-never-outshine-the-master-exemplified-and-explained>

Giant article called "Why it Pays to be a Jerk" Confirms RP Truths. Scientific studies cited.

19 upvotes · 21 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

People become obsessed with narcissists.

Ask IllimitableMan

19 upvotes · 30 April 2015 · /r/askTRP

That means you're doing the right thing, it's like being called an asshole or a jerk, it's a compliment. The fact that it's getting to you means you have inner game issues. Take it in your stride and keep doing what you're doing, but work on your self-worth so shit like this doesn't make you question yourself.

Married couple with 4 year old child have a poly relationship with a alpha 'bull'. Introduce him to child as 3rd parent. Aunt posts to /r/relationships about her being a little worried. Is torn apart, insulted, downvoted - its not of your business, you bigot.

19 upvotes · 14 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Guy-guy-girl poly is fucked up it doesn't work if both guys aren't BI (and most aren't) instead you get a sausage fest, with beta guy fapping to being cucked by alpha.

At least with girl-girl-guy chicks will eat each other out and do things, why? Because women have fluid sexuality, they're essentially all bi-sexual, when horny enough, girls who claim to be otherwise straight will go gay. Will guys? Not a chance with the majority.

Like I said, guy-guy-girl is really fucked up, it's less inclusive than girl-girl-guy. In guy-guy-girl the beta is going to feel very left out as his girl gets rammed, he will lose respect from his girl too. Cucks with a fetish for being cucked.. what next?

KirillWasHere's (a.k.a. The Slut Whisperer) photography website is just a friendly reminder what party sluts are doing.

19 upvotes · 10 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm no angel. I've dabbled, but I don't breathe it - it's not a lifestyle to me. It's a very limited and superficial way to live. If your dad dies, fine, go get high and fuck 50 club sluts. If someone just won the lottery? Fine, go get high. But doing it every day/weekend just because? Nah. I'm definitely not perfect, I've dabbled, and that's where my insight comes from. You see some messed up shit.

I haven't heard of the Hunter S. Thompson guy, so I'll go check him out on wiki. Thanks for the support, I appreciate it. Not sure if you follow the blog, but if you do, you'll get updates when I make new posts (normally 1-4x a month, dependent on various factors.)

Former prime minister of Singapore Lee Kuan Yew is red pill as fuck

19 upvotes · 29 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

He looks like an interesting figure, I look forward to researching him. Thank you for sharing this.

Estrogen feminists secret Allie

19 upvotes · 7 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Drinking lemon juice raw gives you good skin, it's sour as fuck but there's no gain without pain. It's healthier than using skin-care products and as OP points out, a lot of those products contain parabens. Before modern medicine, lemons were seen as a medicinal fruit. You should make them a fixture in your diet.

Eggs, eat loads of them. I eat as many as I like. Pre-workout and post-workout. Scramble the fuck out of them to make them easier to eat and digest. Some people like to eat egg whites specifically to help them cut, but the yolk is what has all the nutritious shit in it. Plus it's more filling.

Green tea is good. Drink lots of water. Warm water is really good for helping to flush out your body/aid your liver. Also good for the skin because by getting rid of toxins in your body, your skin won't flare up with whatever nasty effects said toxins are causing. People with great skin without cosmetics are healthy internally. Most people have bad skin. Why do you think that is? They are unhealthy.

Dark chocolate is good for enhancing your mood. You want as high cocoa content as you can get. I have to stress that high cocoa content is vital, the higher the cocoa the better the quality of the chocolate and the less vegetable fat/chemicals you're eating. High cocoa dark chocolate (dark is healthier than milk and white chocolate, which are not really healthy at all.) It does have a fair amount of sugar in it, so use sparingly. If you cannot moderate yourself to eat only 2-4 blocks per day, don't bother. For those with self-discipline, this is a great food for a quick energy boost and to enhance your mood. The military even agrees with me on this one:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/United_States_military_chocolate

Use grass fed butter, not corn fed or margarine/spread. Fish oil supplements are good, they contain omega 3 which is an anti-inflammatory. Most people have a diet high in omega 6 (which is very inflammatory) so you need the omega 3 to help counter-balance the over abundance of omega 6 in the contemporary food supply. Tuna is a high-protein food that's pretty cheap, I get it tinned in sunflower oil. Brine stored tuna is cheaper but it makes the tuna even saltier, the sunflower preserved tuna is tastier. People will moan about the mercury, but what are you gonna do? The planet's polluted. It's tasty, full of protein and a great snack. On the topic of oil, Extra Virgin Olive Oil is meant to be one of the best oils to cook your food in, so use that over things like sunflower oil, which are cheaper because they're inferior cooking aids.

Obviously, avoid soda, it's obesity-waiting-to-happen in a can/bottle. When you see that stuff, assume it will make you fat. Some people can drink lots of it and not get fat because they have an over-active metabolism, but don't gamble with your health and assume that you're one of those people. Drink alcohol in moderation, if you can drink it straight/on the rocks it's healthier than drinking it with mixer. Mixers are usually always a high-sugar artificial fruit juice or a soda/energy drink. So you're getting highly refined sugars that increase inflammation as well as a higher calorie intake.

Another thing, get fibre. Legumes are good for fibre, so think of the different kinds of beans and lentils. Green peas are a tasty, easy to acquire high source of fibre. Get them frozen and if you suffer from constipation, watch that shit clear right up (no pun intended.)

Broccoli is another great food, it is an aromatase inhibitor, meaning it inhibits the enzyme known as aromatase. Broccoli (among other foods, google "aromatase inhibitors") helps to prevent/lower the frequency of aromatase from synthesising estrogen out of your testosterone. This leaves you with more free testosterone in your body, and lower estrogen levels. Some people colloquially refer to foods that do this as "estrogen blockers." I try to add broccoli to every meal.

Naturally to keep T levels up, one needs quality sleep. Do not neglect your sleep!

Man paying 30k for someone else's child

19 upvotes · 20 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Man I've heard crazy shit about Sweden. How all the hot blondes exclusively fuck immigrant somalians because the swedish men are monumentally castrated pussies. The immigrant men can get away with being masculine because if feminists try to call them out on it? Racist! And nobody wants that label. They give the immigrant men more power than their indigineous men, in fact I think they rather mentally abuse their indigineous men. Shit's fucked up. Sweden is doomed. Unless those men find their balls and revolt, they're done. Cultural marxist capital of the world.

The Power of RP Language

19 upvotes · 11 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Friendzoned vs beta orbiter -- Were you oh-so-close to getting that cute girl in your English class? You guys talked and laughed, and had "such a great connection." You would text her just to see how her weekend was going? But then when you told her you liked her, she (gasp) said she just wanted to be friends? What you really are is a beta orbiter. Your best bet is to cut ties and go lift.

Women are very different to us. We fall in love when we feel a lot of comfort/trust with women. When I say "love" I mean sexually, we want them because we love who they are as people AND they aren't ugly, thus we want to commit and we want them to want our cock. We want serious shit. Women on the other hand feel like "you are a friend and don't want to jeopardize that." They got all the benefits already of your commitment and love, they think giving you pussy will cause them to miss out on the good feels they already get. So they friend zone. There is too much comfort and not enough arousal for them mentally. Whereas for you arousal is physical. You would have fucked her on physicality alone, but now because of the friendship you want to commit. The friendship only made her want to be your friend, you see men humanise women through relationships but sexually want them on physicality alone. Women's sexuality is very psychological. Weren't dominant? You're not an option, you can be great, but you're "just a friend."

The asshole alpha never made them think a genuine connection was possible, but he aroused them with dominance and mental pressure, hence af/bb. Yes, women are fucked up. Accept it or open a bottle of whisky. Cheers!

Machiavellian Thinking vs. Conventional Logic.

19 upvotes · 8 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah agree and amplify is pretty counterintuitive for rational men. Works like a charm in most situations though.

TIL that Barack Obama's wife once threatened to divorce him after he lost an election

19 upvotes · 2 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Both cultures had an emphasis on book learning and analytical data processing (Torah/Talmud, and the books of Confucious respectively). Being good at analytical thinking would actually help your chances to breed, whereas in much of the world that wasn't necessarily the case.

So in this sense we are attributing culture to popular philosophy/religion of the-then time which in turn has led to evolutionary adaptation over time.

My guess is that actually it's mostly cultural and economic - not really biological.

A popular view in the age of "egalitarianism." What drives culture and economy though? Genetics and natural resources. It's a chicken and the egg type deal I believe. Some people want to attribute a lack of success to "we just had shitty circumstances" and other wants to attribute it to "you should have made those circumstances better in order to flourish then." IMO, if it was a matter of circumstance, Africa should be the most developed continent on the planet. Instead it's the least developed, so when Europeans came to invade they were conquered because they didn't have the tech to fight back. If the Africans had developed a higher level civilization, they'd have defended against the invaders (much like Europe defended against Islamic invasions) and have their own high level civilization today among the great powers. Of course over generations, this problem compounds, as resources pour out of Africa and into Europe via colonisation. If the Arabs had been stronger than the Europeans in the past, the nations of Europe would not be what we know them to be today. Ironically, as an addendum, the most powerful nation in the sub-Saharan is an ex British colony, South Africa.

Of course, the Arabs sorta throw a kink into that, seeing as they had the same principles, and don't really have as many leading scholars today.

They're also the only people governed by the most politicised/destructive/intolerant religion to ever exist. Their faith overcomes their intellectual faculty much of the time. IMO, that's culture driving dysgenics and bigotry. Imagine being a high IQ critical thinking Muslim who disagrees with the status quo. You'd have to watch what you say and who you judge or before you know it there's a fatwa on your head and you're a "traitor of Allah." If you want to leave your religion, they will threaten to kill you. They suppress their own people, they do not allow their people to engage their full intellectual faculty (in case it offends God.) Before you know it, persisting generation after generation, you drive the mean IQ down through culture (the opposite of what you describe with the Torah and Confucius.) It's a very totalitarian religion. Most of the Arab countries are shit holes for a reason - they believe in a failed ideological dogma. Despite that failure, they want to import it to the west and have us concede to their way of life because Islam is inherently obsessed with religiously political conquest.

It seems to me the Arabs are more concerned with religious dominance than they are civilizational progress. At one time the Arab civilization was more developed than the European. Now they have been surpassed immeasurably, a true testament to the failure of Islam as a viable ideology for producing functional, thriving societies. Just my $0.02c.

Relationship Darwinism: AKA Why I Never Felt Bad Taking a Girl

19 upvotes · 28 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This has become a blanket phrase in substitute of "I'll do whatever I want, fuck morals!"

Yes sexual strategy is amoral. Does that excuse you from being immoral? I don't believe it does. If one does immoral things, they should at least own up to them.

The Bottom Line: Women Are Weak

19 upvotes · 24 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

♂

They have no qualms fully exploiting the victim position and playing the "root for me because I'm the oppressed underdog!" reflex either.

Law 22 comes to mind.

My Stance On Women

19 upvotes · 10 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I remember when I was doing my degree there was a gentleman in the lecture theatre from Malaysia there. He told me he was 50 at the time. I asked him what had inspired him to come to university so late in life. He said "I already have a successful business back in Malaysia, I want to improve myself so I thought doing a degree would be a good idea." The dude had made enough money to let other people manage his income stream for him on the other side of the planet whilst he came to England to study. Never too late buddy.

[48 Days of Power] Day 1 - "Never Outshine The Master"

19 upvotes · 15 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

At Law 17 now, and some of Greene's laws are obnoxious or simply lack integrity.

Moral criticisms are moot. The only reason a Machiavellian cares about how their morality is perceived is for the sake of safeguarding their reputation. In and of itself, morality is irrelevant to the art of Machiavellianism. To put it more succinctly, Machiavellianism doesn't care what your morals are, it works in spite of your or my moral beliefs. Machiavellianism is not chained to morality, that is part of its power.

£100,000 statue celebrates baby mommas

19 upvotes · 2 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It also, subliminally and tacitly shows a traditional nuclear family with the father replaced with another woman, which to the psychotic, lesbian, extremist feminists, appeases them very much so, as it looks like a lesbian couple raising two young boys. Funny how they didn't choose to put a single parent father up there, or a daughter, but specifically two women and two young boys, young boys suffer the most markedly from single parent absent father arrangements

There was a time long ago I would have seen that statue and thought "it looks weird, but I get it, it's a cute thing to do to honour mothers."

Now I'm not that naive I realise nobody spends £100k on some shit just to be cute. It's ideological symbolism, a power trip. It's just an expensive piece of feminist propaganda screaming "I've won!", it's sickening that shit is up in Birmingham. If the muslims made enough noise there, they could probably get it taken down, or get one of the women turned into a man, or covered with a veil. Now that would be hilarious.

Self-professed ugly girl on TwoX complains about her experience at the club--she was basically treated like a man.

19 upvotes · 25 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I remember that story going around about the Chinese guy who got a divorce from his wife because she had children with him and they were ugly as sin. Turns out she was like a 1 or 2 out of 10 and had about 50k worth of surgery to become an 8 or 9. His kids were so ugly he thought she had cheated on him with another man, turns out she hadn't, but the ugly genes were her own.

Redpill from 32 years ago. Alpha tries to explain frame to a Beta.

19 upvotes · 21 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I hear people say you need to be screwing other women for this to work.

Well it certainly helps build abundance but it isn't a necessary requirement to be outcome independent. You don't need loads of bitches on rotation to make it work per se, but you do need options. Having lots of hook-ups is just one way of acquiring "the attitude." For me, reading TRP, lifting, listening to Patrice O'Neal, and then going out and fucking about in clubs a few times was enough to make me permanently outcome independent. People notice your outcome independence too. I remember one time I approached a few chicks in the club, they were rude to me so I just laughed at them and moved on. My friend with me was like "IM, you're different" and I was, I didn't give a fuck about getting blown out, in fact I thought I was better than the chicks that blew me out and was kind of internally laughing to myself over how fucking dumb they were for being unable to appreciate that.

I've got very little tolerance for abusive female bullshit. There's shit tests and then there are women being cunts, I don't tolerate the latter I just nope the fuck outta there and move the fuck on. Too wrapped up in myself to really give a fuck about other people, shit extends to other men too. The only men I advise are my close friends (all my real life friends consider me an advisor, talk to me for strategy and etc.) I advise the odd guy here in the ask TRP forum from time to time and then there are the guys that take the time to read my website and send me an email asking for an analysis of a situation.

If your life is well built up then you're not going to pedestalise any one woman because you'll have a lot of options. This game is all about giving yourself loads of options and spreading them as wide as possible so that you're never too dependent on any one thing. The problem with keeping your dominos close is if one topples they all do, gotta space shit out so if one thing fucks up everything still ticks. I realise that last sentence was quite figurative so to put it in blunt terms: never make a woman the centre of your life (or everything will topple) and try to have more than one revenue stream (in case one collapses/you lose your job etc.) When you attain that level of freedom then an abundance mindset comes naturally.

Abundance comes from having a certain level of power, enough to be free and not dependent on others to get paid/feel valued/survive etc. Scarcity mindset is an outcome of low social status, poverty and lack of direction for the most part. When you're focused on building yourself up, you become quite indifferent to other peoples bullshit. Sometimes you even get a good laugh out of their shenanigans. Even before "you make it" the process of self-improvement is, in and of itself, quite cathartic and invigorating. A guy going somewhere who is working to fix his flaws is infinitely more self-assured and confident than a guy who is aware of his flaws but does nothing about them. Eg: assuming wealth and all other factors are equal, the 300lb guy who works out is more confident than the 300lb guy who doesn't.

Most of us are our biggest ally and our biggest enemy. We can help ourselves the most but we can also hold ourselves down the most. Gotta learn to get your mind on your side rather than fighting against you, eg: laziness/motivational issues. Correct nutrition, sleep, and working out are the keys to breaking out of the hazy brain fog that promotes laziness in most. A slap of ice cold tap water to the face never did a man any harm either.

Edit: seeing as we're on the topic this article is relevant:

<http://illimitablemen.com/2014/03/30/mental-models-abundance-vs-scarcity/>

The end of academia

19 upvotes · 21 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

From a machiavellian perspective, beyond any calculated acts of benevolence or sporadic hyperactive random good mood altruism, all people are self-interested and so therefore behave in ways that further said self-interest.

Women are inherently valuable to men because they have tits and vagina. They have sexual value. Men are inherently worthless and have to prove themselves in the world to build value. Even highly aesthetic men are for the most part, in all but the rarest of cases, not naturally good looking enough to command sexual value. They earn their looks in the gym rather than have them bestowed and cranked up to maximum sex appeal by mother nature itself. And even then a hot guy cannot get by as easily on his looks as a hot woman. He can get a lot of sex and maybe escort for a few desperate cougars, but he won't get the footballers wife experience, you know, actually get a high value person (attractive/young) to provide for your ass and make it all easy. Instead he's fucking grannies with SMV in the gutter if he wants to marry for money.

Anyhow I have digressed slightly, because women have inherent value it is in every man's self-interest to "white knight" or otherwise show bias towards a strange woman over a strange man because it means he could get laid. Helping strange men doesn't help you get laid and strange men could turn on you/pose a potential violent threat so men have it in their instinct to view women more favourably and be more trusting of them as they perceive them as less threatening. This backfires massively in contemporary society, but as we didn't evolve in a society where women were a credible threat our instincts haven't caught up. We live in a society where women are a credible threat now because they been enabled via social engineering to be a threat. Mainly through outlawing violence, but not machiavellianism, reduction in male T levels and propaganda demonizing men which only plays on all our primitive fight/flight response as well as competition anxiety.

On the "self-interest" tangent it was always pre modern civilization and pre-feminism in a woman's interest to attach herself to a man because he could do things for her that she couldn't. He can give her babies, bring her food/shelter and etc. In return for his labour and his physical protection, she was his sexual property. This is one significant (but not the only reason) virginity in women has always been highly prized. Woman's value was always between her legs. Man's was in his brain or in his biceps (for doing the laborious tasks required to keep civilization ticking over, especially pre-industrially speaking.)

Anyway again, avoiding digression, powerful men have always killed off/enslaved/puppeted or otherwise done unspeakable things to men because they have seen them as competition whilst viewing women as property. You don't destroy your property you look after it. If you see something you like you try to obtain it. That's the position women have always had, and although in circumstances where women didn't co-operate, they would be killed, men didn't even have the option of co-operating. Unless he was trying to raise an army and gave you the option to fight for him you would just be killed on the spot because you were seen as competition. What do you do with your competition? You try to control it/colonise it/puppeteer it (which means even fighting for him you earn your keep, you don't get to be a kept multi-orgasming sex doll) and if that fails, you wipe your competition off the face of the earth. You kill a man. This is why in wars women are used as sexual cattle, clamouring to their survival via the whole war bride process or, voluntary prostitution, whilst weaker men are just wiped out by stronger men looking to come along and have it all.

In war the men are killed and the women are raped. Whilst the men perish, the women just become war brides, form stockholm syndome and then fall in love with their captors. One can but assume natural selection has weeded out any woman who didn't have a hamster strong enough to deal with the kidnap and rape that historic wars led to, leaving only hamstering crazy bitches with no concept of loyalty's genes to survive. They're so quick to abandon their own men for the enemy men (eg: when french women went off with german soldiers and revelled in it,) that one wasn't a war-rape, it was the women recognising the winners in the german occupation and attaching themselves to the highest value men available - again hypergamy showing it's role in amoral (arguably immoral) war brideism.

It is thus that in terms of AWALT: all bitches are programmed to switch to the winning side at the drop of a hat. If it looks like a new player is in town and he can displace your position, she will leave you in a heartbeat and rationalise it all with some bullshit fluffy feelings talk (which she probably believes in herself.) A bit of "it just happened" here, and a "there's something about him" there followed up by a "it's not you it's me" and presto she's not quite aware of why she's doing what she's doing but she's doing it anyway, she's branch swinging, assuming he's available and interested in her. Women are quite primitive, they just run almost purely off instinct, how they feel, only using logic to rationalise behaviour retrospectively, rather than using it beforehand to make decisions. Yes women are capable of using logic to make decisions, but it's not their M.O and they're all using their rationalisation hamster reflexively most of the time. They struggle with logic and don't really respect it. Slaves to the feels and the pecking order.

Outside a war context, whilst men would get beaten, robbed and left to rot, women just become another man's property/fuck puppet. That's how it has always been. It must have been that way for so long until the modern age for women to actually fantasise about rape from powerful men (50 shades of grey) and have dark fantasies about rough sex, even so much that they view more hardcore porn than men do (According to that usage stats post the other day.)

My theory/contention (and this isn't fleshed out, it's late and I'm tired and I want to contribute quickly before I fuck off to bed) is that the reason women are more fucked up than men, so neurotic, so easy to switch sides, turn down to up, up to down, reverse blue and pink and everything fucking else is because delusion/hamstering/machiavellianism are maladaptive traits that women needed to survive in humanity's dark past of constant war, fighting, looting and raping. Likewise the male love of violence would be man's maladaptive trait, aggressive/high T/violent men would have survived in our past, whilst the equivalent of Obama's onesie boy would have been beaten and robbed at best, whilst at worst sodomised and decapitated with his head on a pike like his name's Ned Stark and the high T men are all sadistic Joffreys. For those who don't get that last bit, it's a Game of Thrones reference.

The reason men are less violent nowadays is because T levels are lower. If everyone juiced and juice was legal you would see more violent crime, brawls, murders and all the fucked up shit that came naturally in our past, and still comes naturally in places that are still barely out of the stone age such as the DRC Congo. Roid rage is real shit, and a lack of T is the opposite, it leads to all the passiveness and anxiety you see today. It seems we can't get a happy balance between guys who are fucked up and sadistically violent and guys who totally bitching it scared of their own shadow. I mean look at Zyzx, he's an example of what going from low T to high T did, not just physically, but psychologically too. Low T men look up to high T men in fucking awe, to a point where someone like Zyzx even had a cult following based on simply being high T/confident and aesthetic. High T correlates positively with male SMV, whilst low T, the inverse.

Edit: fixed typos and other shit, probably still some in there.

New anti-sexism laws in Belgium: catcalling could result in a fine of €1000 and up to one year in jail.

19 upvotes · 1 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'll say the elephant in the room. Europe is becoming more anti muslim not so much anti immigrant. We don't give a fuck about skilled chinese or whatever. It's these muslim parasites with no education that hate whites and are anti european who cause the most civil discord.

They come to europe, ignore common law (law of the land) and practice shariah/polygamy in muslim courts, fail to integrate, have loads of kids and live off the european taxpayer. They are disproportionately raping native girls/grooming girls under the age of consent (Feminists are completely silent on it - fucking fancy that.) These muslim scum rationalise it all as ok because the girls they abuse aren't muslim so they're unworthy of respect. They will use rhetoric like "if you cut off a pig's head because it is a dirty animal, you don't feel sympathy for the pig, because the pig is already dirty - white girls are much the same my brother!"

Rotherham. Malmö riots. Blocking streets of Paris with daily prayer to face mecca. Building mosques and wailing towers. Just slowly islamifying atheist/Christian countries without trying to fit in. Loads of areas natives can't go to because they aren't muslim. Nobody fucking likes them. Nobody. But everyone is scared shitless to criticize them or call them out. They are the parasites of europe. They give good hardworking muslims a bad fuckin name. All their conduct here is haram. As my muslim buddy from uzbek says: "they're not real muslims" they use religion as an excuse for evil." None of the moderate muslims call them out, probably because they are fucking scared shitless. So they are complicit. They will bitch when you say bad things about muslims, but they do nothing to stop the islamic extremists operating within their communities.

European countries with a "muslim problem" eg: islamist extremism:

- Sweden - Malmo
- UK - Birmingham/London
- Germany (don't know specific regions)
- France (don't know specific regions)
- Belgium (it's a small country, so I assume nationwide)
- The Netherlands (again, like belgium)

These are just the places I know of, having spoke to friends that live on the continent. Dutch guys, dutch belgie, swedes etc. They all hate it but are too scared to say a fucking thing. Note how all these countries have decent welfare states if you have kids (they always have many) and none of these countries are poor. Go to Poland and you will find fuck all of them there because there is nothing for them to leech off of there. Plus Poland is still pretty strongly catholic so they can't fill the spiritual void left by atheism by trying to proselytize unhappy atheists (there are many) into Islam. In the UK at least you get a lot of people converting to Islam due to its strong influence in certain areas of the country, as well as controversial in-prison conversions under the pressure of muslim gangs.

Winston Churchill hated Islam. I think you can see why from modern events.

Check this shit out, a guy was arrested here in the UK for quoting Winston Churchill on Islam:

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2614834/Arrested-quoting-Winston-Churchill-European-election-candidate-accused-religious-racial-harassment-repeats-wartime-prime-ministers-words-Islam-campaign-speech.html>

It's all fucking bullshit. Yes it's the dailymail. Find another source if the DM preciously offends you.

Here's the words he was arrested for, quoted verbatim from Churchill, FYI freedom of speech is not a constitutional right within the United Kingdom (of Great Britain and Northern Ireland):

'Improvident habits, slovenly systems of agriculture, sluggish methods of commerce, and insecurity of property exist wherever the followers of the Prophet rule or live.

'Thousands become the brave and loyal soldiers of the faith: all know how to die but the influence of the religion paralyses the social development of those who follow it.

'No stronger retrograde force exists in the world. Far from being moribund, Mohammedanism is a militant and proselytizing faith.'

Red Pill School HAS BEEN DOXXED

19 upvotes · 25 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I never tell women secrets. I always tell them shit I want everybody else to know whilst marketing what I'm divulging to her as a secret, or at least implying it's in confidence by the very nature of what's being said. Works well. Women can't resist a juicy secret, they'll go around spreading it to everyone (no pun intended) saying "keep this a secret, I'm not meant to tell anyone this but..."

"Arguing" with women

19 upvotes · 23 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Something really simple I've come across is when someone accuses you of loving to do something but in a negative way, eg: "Oh you just love to oppress poor wittle women don't you?!" and you reply "what's not to love? I love women" except you've taken out the negative word, that's it, it's literally a matter of removing the negative word and reframing with a filler question.

You can deflect pretty much all accusations like this "vandaleen is proud of being a cunt" (what's not to be proud of? I'm in love with myself) "vandaleen is trying to undermine me!" is a sentence where you can't use that style of deflection because there's no positive word to spin it with, so you just go simple agree and amplify "yes, I undermine everyone with my supernatural powers" blah blah blah. Once you master it dealing with peoples shit tests becomes really mechanical, it's almost like chess in a sense, it's purely strategic and you can win every time, in a way, it's a really crude guide to wit.

The worst thing you can do is try to make a logical case with women, they simply don't give a shit, don't waste your time or energy, you don't win like that.

FYI: if you use agree and amplify in a dominance shit test, you fail the shit test. You can't just go through life agreeing and amplifying on everything. It's the topic of my next article so I'll go into more detail with it there.

"Worrying about your body just isn't manly"

19 upvotes · 30 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Don't let a bitch distract you from your mission, it's a shit test in and of itself. She says "you don't need to workout I love you just the way you are" (you are the way you are because you workout durrrr) so you reply "yes I do so when I get bored of you I can replace you" mini-dread game, look her dead in the eye, smirk, kiss on the cheek and then fuckoff.

46-year-old mother of three wants a rich, tall man with a nice build.

19 upvotes · 23 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Almost all of us don't do it. Single mothers are a red flag, period. Very few women that are single mothers are datable, there are exceptions, but they are probably .0001% of all the single mothers out there. Why the hell would anyone read enough in TRP want to put themselves through the drama and bullshit of dating a single mother?

- You're always second fiddle to the kid and a lot of them will tell you that plain as day "the kid always comes before you." "I don't put anyone else before my kid" blah blah blah.
- Single mothers love their kid more than they love any man. Men who respect themselves deserve and demand better than that kind of treatment. From a man's point of view he's not only playing daddy to someone else's kid, but he's getting less out of it from the woman as a result. It's a bad deal versus a normal relationship because more is expected and less is reciprocated. Single mothers lose massive amounts of SMV because of this.
- You're not just a partner, you're a surrogate father, you take on two roles at once, double the responsibility. You don't just take her on, you take her baggage on, and her baggage comes in the form of another human-being with its own needs and demands.
- The kid will always pull the "you're not my father line" to fuck with you/disobey you in arguments.
- The kid is always HER KID, not BOTH OF YOURS and she'll remind you that every time you have an argument or familial disagreement.
- You get all the responsibilities of a normal dad, but none of the appreciation. Effectively you're an ATM for the woman and her kid, but you're never fully accepted as a family member. It's the woman and her kid and then you, looking in as an outsider, you're never a proper family

- Kids are expensive, single mothers are looking for a meal ticket/provider. Not an exciting relationship based on you and her, but one that is primarily centered around the needs of the kid first, then HER and finally YOU. How does that sound to you as A MAN?
- Single mothers typically have abandonment issues after being left to raise a kid on their own.

Now if you want to fuck single mothers then eat your heart out, you can fuck some pretty hot women who'd normally be unavailable because their SMV has taken a crash by having a kid, some single mothers are still pre-wall but date/love/marry them? Hell fucking no. They'll dry up your bank balance, ruin you and not even show any appreciation for what you've done for them and their kid. Not worth the fucking time of day. You may as well ask "has anyone got tips on keeping myself in poverty for the rest of my life?" because it's a fucking asinine exercise, .0001% exception aside, why the hell would you want to date a single mother?

That's rhetorical, you shouldn't if you respect yourself and your chances at happiness. Never be desperate enough to put yourself through that crap. Ever. You still on intent on wanting to know how to date a single mother? All those blue pill fem-centric relationship/psychology websites will tell you perfectly how to how kiss ass/accommodate and supplicate to a single mother. Bring plenty of cash, that's mostly what she's interested in. Looking after her kid is the main agenda, sucking your dick to do it is just a means to an end for her.

What Is A Recovering Beta To Do?

19 upvotes · 21 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Good luck with your new blog. I just finished reading "Insert Coins to Continue" and found it to be a fun read. I had a similar experience about 6 months ago when I was somewhat hungover. I'd been out clubbing the night before and I went into a clothes store the next day looking for a suitable belt. I'd slept at a friends house who lived in town and so had gone to sleep drunk with all my clothes still on. Upon waking up and walking straight into town I was dehydrated from intoxication (despite having drunk water), hungry as fuck, I still had the gel in my hair from the night before, my expensive denim waistcoat had got some crap on it the night before and my leather shoes had some dirt/other nightclub related crap on them. I wasn't feeling sharp, I felt like my clothes needed an iron and I needed to go and have a shower.

Instead of going straight home I decide to pop into a clothing store nearby, there I am in the store looking for a belt, all their belts appear to have been designed for fat people or the anorexic, you need a 28" waist or a 40" waist to buy a decent designer belt in this store, all the one-size and belts my size were poorly styled belts. So whatever, I don't get one, I rather have no belt than buy a crappy one as I already had a crappy one and it is that which I had came to replace. I end up buying a new shirt instead.

I go to the counter and take my shirt over, I get served by this chick, a solid 7.5, perhaps an 8. She's very friendly and flirty and we start conversing, she tells me "I look tired" and I tell her the previous night "had been crazy" or something along those lines, we're talking about partying and she says she doesn't party as much as she used to, she says it with something of a jealous tone, I tell her it's important to have fun and she should get out more, she compliments me on my height (I'm about 6'3 in formal shoes, she looked about 5'5) I reply by asking her how old she is, she says 28. She asks me how old I am and I say "old enough". She smiles and she's got that glint in her eye, the interactions going well, her eyes are a little googly like when someone is trying to eyefuck you but I feel like shit from the night before, I've got a bit of game flowing and I can see the signals she's giving off but I don't close because my frame is shot to shit from being hungry/thirsty/hungover and all I can think about is needing to go for a huge shit. She's obviously interested but my mind isn't in the game, I'm more concerned with sorting out my hair/jacket/shoes/eating etc than gaming this very receptive hottie behind the counter. I think to be honest, in the state I was in, I was in shock the chick was that receptive, normally women are very offhand with you where I live.

Next time I went in there and she served me, she barely spoke to me, no rapport whatsoever, she acted like the previous interaction had never happened. Almost as if by not closing the time before she had felt rejected. She was cute as hell as well, I would have loved to bang the shit out of that. My loss, I should have closed and if I had have done, we'd probably of at least had a date or a hook-up. Shit like that happens, typically, when you're not on point and least expect it. Always be on point, if you're not, don't leave the house until you've freshened up, bring your A game or bring no game. I went out with sloppy game being "a state" from the night before, and despite having an ample chance to close, fucked it up.

Tip for the blog: only way to see your archives/categories is to get an Error 404 page, the front page only shows 2 posts at a time, I found it irksome to get around, the only way to navigate as it stands is to keep clicking "older posts." If you improved the navigation it would keep people on your site longer and make it more user friendly. If you go into wordpress and add a search widget/category widget it would help a lot.

If you're on a budget, don't buy a girl's food

19 upvotes · 19 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The exceptions are beautiful but you shouldn't bank on them, it's the exceptions that lead to delusional blue pill idealism in the first place, the idea that "someone can change", it's nice when it happens, but it's an essentially non-conductive place in the mind to operate from.

GF cheated on me. AWALT.

19 upvotes · 13 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Then she went to Thailand on a girls holiday.

Recipe for disaster, fuck "girls holidays."

She claimed she only kissed but she probably fucked him lets be honest.

As you have no way of proving the truth, assume she's using trickle truth. Trickle truth is a woman's modus operandi when she is trying to justify bad behaviour. Eg: a kiss becomes a make out, a make out becomes a handjob, a handjob becomes a blowjob, you get the jist. She has no credibility, trying to tell a half truth as she thinks she can get away with her behaviour without consequences, you know "something happened" but not exactly what, so she exploits the wriggle room given by that ambiguity and plausible deniability. This is the assumption we have to work off when we have no way to prove their innocence, you weren't in Thailand yourself or there at the time, "giving her the benefit of the doubt" can and usually does come to bite you in the ass later on for having "ignored a warning sign" when her behaviour is in doubt, assume trickle truth.

I feel so disconnected here, I think when i'm with you/at home ill feel different, but i do love you.

"Whilst you're not around I need a replacement."

being here has just made me realise how young we are and how big this world is. I dont know cuz i can see myself feeling so different when I get back. but i cant lie and say everything feels normal.

She's discovered the cock carousel.

Her : Yeah i have. but only one guy i met that i kind of liked. He tried to kiss me and i pulled away, I cried all night with FRIENDS NAME and FRIENDS NAME cuz i was fucking confused and felt guilty for probably giving him the wrong impression, even though i said to him about you and that i loved you and I just wanted us to be friends.

Pure face saving bullshit.

Have you thought about about anyone in Sweden?

Trying to make some "we're just as bad as each other" bullshit. If she can paint you as the bad guy she won't have to feel like the bad party, that was the beginning of guilt alleviation for herself. At least she is feeling guilt, for whatever that is worth.

i really am but i wouldnt have done it with anyone. i really fell for him in that moment. i know this isnt what you want to hear but i want you to know i never ever wanted to hurt you

I was right about the trickle truthing as an assumption, it's gone from pulled away from a kiss to "really fell for him in the moment" already. Holy shit, it's scary how accurately you can guess this shit once you understand TRP with such few details and no intimate knowledge of the woman in question (they really all are so very similar.) Notably, the "in the moment" part confirms the transient nature of women that in the more philosophical threads gets discussed here, that is to say, women live more in the moment than we do, if you influence their emotions correctly they will respond in a specific manner "within the moment" basically, they are manipulated easily by their feelings and rationalise why they did what they did later on. Emotive reasoning makes them more malleable and thus far more likely to "act out of character."

You've done nothing wrong rise i just havent fallin in love with you. when someone truely falls for you which they will because your the most beautiful person. they will love you unconditionally. Never change for anyone please.

Holy shit, cringe. If you don't change you'll be waiting when she hits the wall to pick up the leftovers as a beta provider, fuck that.

her : It really hurts you have no time for me. I will always be here for you and i will always love you as my best friend.

Trying to force the friend zone rather than feel dumped, very solipsist about "feeling hurt", completely neglects how her actions have hurt you, typical. The whole exercise now is about her using the exchange to make herself feel better, as kind and friendly as she tries to make herself seem, it's just standard manipulative female bullshit, as soon as the guilt subsides she will forget you quicker than you can say "alpha cock."

her : You're not looking at these messages anymore im going to go. im here if you need me always,

Attention seeking, wants it to end amicably so she can get over her guilt. Never talk to her again, don't let the bitch have closure, it's the best revenge you're going to get other than leading a good life and making sure the next bitch is hotter than her.

Good luck dealing with the break up buddy, I empathise with you reading this shit, we've all been there.

Quit Being a Thirsty Pushover and She'll Try to Jump into Your Pants.

19 upvotes · 9 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Virgin sex is fucking shit. All the guys who talk it up have clearly never fucked a virgin (not saying that's you, but virgins are overhyped by many guys.) Blood all over your dick and a pussy so tight it feels like you're fucking moist sandpaper? How brilliant.

Women have an inherit and unfair advantage in the dating game. But dont be fooled

19 upvotes · 6 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Who needs protein shake when you can "swallow"

Beware of the deadly "you seem so mysterious" shit test

19 upvotes · 26 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

"I'm so mysterious sometimes I think I'm the bermuda triangle"

If you're chatting the girl up, feel free to drop in some corny shit about magnetism as a transition from that.

Bada bing, bada boom.

How Women Argue

19 upvotes · 9 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Bill Burr, Patrice O'Neal and Dante Nero all inspired this post.

I just gave it my own flare, I'm not the first guy to realise this shit and hopefully I won't be the last either!

Be a good person if you want but it won't attract women

19 upvotes · 3 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Be selectively decent, in fact if you're an asshole such as I and then randomly perform an act of kindness people appreciate it all the more because it's not expected, without expectation or entitlement comes appreciation. You can use that to control/influence people a lot. Machiavellian shit. Too late in the night for me to elaborate, go read some 48 laws of power.

Shitting on someone for no reason serves no purpose, if that's how you get your ego you're probably relatively high on the sadistic scale, some people are just fucking addicted to schadenfreude to clinically unhealthy levels. Sociopaths.

Women and Drinks at the bar

19 upvotes · 29 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yes, keep these laws of power flowing in the subreddit if you're not schooled in machiavellianism you're gonna receive one hell of a headfucking from the female gender.

Might make law 38 my next article actually, it's an incredibly relevant everyday law, especially for those without power.

I Tried Being The Nice Guy

19 upvotes · 27 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That should be every unskilled third world asshole who emigrated to the west and lives off developed world money. As for the skilled migrants, you need a cap on them - you can't allow a country to be swamped with migrants because hey, they all have degrees! What about the indigineous? Mass immigration IS ALWAYS BAD as it changes the demographic identity of a country to a point where it's a economic non-violent induced form of colonisation. Multiculturalism is a divide and conquer technique which results in racial tension and divided communities.

People will always play the race card, even here in the UK the polish/eastern europeans say "english people are racist to us" LOL when we're both whiter than a line of cocaine. The poles and eastern europeans are also known for being intolerant of non-whites, I think Poland has 1 black politician and that's it and when he was elected there was massive controversy and outcry. It's like oh shit sorry did our ancestors fuck up your countries and invent more shit than you and now you're mad your country is inferior? Survival of the fittest. The country you assign your heritage and pride to won't get any better if you all leave to go to USA and western/northern Europe, you're abandoning your way of life and culture that "you love" out of selfishness and blaming the white western man for it, the same people whose girls you fuck (because they're easy) and jobs you take (because it pays more than back home) and "there's no opportunity where you come from" and those places will never have any opportunity when half the populace fucks off to never come back and can't be assed to resolve internal issues, you all rather burden the fucking west instead.

Fucking lol. Globalisation is good for business because it keeps labour costs down but it sucks dick socially. Look at all that social mobility getting fucked up the ass!!! Wages that don't match inflation, working conditions getting worse and all so shareholders who already made a buck can make a buck doing nothing but masturbate over your labour. BYE BYE MIDDLE CLASSES!

Update from the guy whose fiance wanted to "end their relationship because of his dick size"

19 upvotes · 16 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Disagree with never self deprecate as its an integral part of agree and amplify

"Yeah I'm a huge asshole I'm full of so much shit I'm like a walking toilet"

And if she laughs you're basically raising attraction. Laughter is an attraction switch.

32 Year Old Virgin doctor shows that a job is no substitute for game.

19 upvotes · 2 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I think of her as less than me because she is cheating on her husband.

Hardly ever fucked a girl who wasn't cheating on another man emotionally by fucking me, either because she had betas in tow who were in love with her whom she'd toy with or the girl had an actual bf/fiance etc. England is full of sluts who fuck their beta orbiters once a month just to keep the validation and free shit coming but go out to clubs/meet random alphas and fuck them whenever logistics present an opportunity.

Respect yourself more than you respect her

19 upvotes · 21 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

1) In the event that some girl pulls this shit on you, do you walk? Or do you scold her?

If I'm really invested in her I'd punish her/reassert my boundaries. If I wasn't, I'd walk or slowly reduce my investment in her to the point where I'm just using her for sex, she's lost girlfriend status. My actions and level of effort are directly correlated with my investment in her.

2) What if the boyfriend gets hostile? Despite the fact that who he should really be mad at is the chick.

If it's an angry beta and he gets hostile I'd shut him the fuck down with machiavellianism. If it's an angry alpha i'd play beta game to diffuse the situation. Show him respect, self-deprecate, etc. Getting your ass kicked over a random chick, esp one you ain't even fucked ain't worth the BS.

To be fair, most guys are not confrontational. They rather take the bruise to their ego than a bruise to the face, such is the society of wimps the west has bred. Then there's the legal repercussions too.

Feminists get their reckoning: First MMA fight of Man vs Woman on Dec 20

19 upvotes · 17 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Ugh. Keep feminism out of fucking sport. It's one of the only remaining bastions of masculinity. Let's fucking keep it that way.

Ever doubt that TRP isn't a thing, and that women don't like it, just remember one simple fact: Most, if not, all the writers for Mad Men are female.

19 upvotes · 17 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Clearly the 5 males are oppressing the 10 females. LOL. /s

35 is the new 30 (NYT OP ed on hitting the wall)

19 upvotes · 14 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

LMFAO.

What you say is IRRELEVANT. Who you are is EVERYTHING.

19 upvotes · 9 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

OK if you entered a social group where you're a stranger, establish who the alpha is (won't be difficult) and don't AMOG. Befriend him, win his trust and validation, address him before everyone else and get his approval, win the alpha and you win the group. If he's a cunt and acts like he has no time for you then leave the group. Don't outshine people who in whatever situation, are in a stronger standing than you.

Another example, in the classroom you can be a good student but the teacher has an ego. If you constantly correct the teacher or call them on their credibility of knowledge you will fuck the teacher off and look like a dick to the other students. Don't outshine the master.

If you're at the gym and you're telling people bigger than you their form is bad, even if you mean well, they're bigger than you - they won't listen. Don't outshine the master. Get it?

Sometimes you can outshine accidentally by simply being naturally better than other people. I'm very articulate in person as well as in text, people get intimidated by that. I could inadvertently outshine an alpha of a group if I don't curb it in a specific situation when he uses the textbook "this guys using big words he must of swallowed a dictionary" level of neg.

I'm quite an intellectual person so I outshine the average person on a knowledge basis level which means when I'm around social groups with low academic knowledge I have to act like a fucking retarded idiot just so the group doesn't reject me. Again, can't outshine the master.

The japanese have a proverb for it "the nail that sticks out gets hammered" or some crap like that, don't know if it's even japanese but apparently it is.

Whenever someone is more experienced than you are, or higher up the ladder than you are, even if you're more competent than they are, don't outshine them. Don't correct them. You will inspire jealousy, fear and hatred. A machiavellian fosters a relationship with the master, they act stupid, they do something wrong and ask the master how to do it, the master gets off on showing the student how to do it correctly, the student then does it correctly and the master feels a sense of accomplishment for having taught the student how to perform the process to a satisfactory level correctly. This builds trust and comfort. The student can then begin to show more of their true ability but only with the approval of the master, make a friend of your master, not an enemy, for the master will learn to despise and fear your potential for power if you do not.

There is a leader/submissive relationship to the master/student relationship and as a student you need to borrow knowledge from the feminine playbook, perceived submission as a form of power, machiavellianism, the utilisation of slow systematic deception to win over your master and have them facilitate a total role reversal, or at least equal standing. Why? Because they like you. This is the same way smart women destroy great men, he gives and gives and gives as "the teacher" because "she's submissive" and she takes and takes and takes until eventually he has nothing left to give and she's superior to him. Oops. Bye! She kicks him to the curb for the next sucker.

Playing stupid is never a bad move, people do not fear the stupid, as long as you are not stupid and merely acting stupid, you cannot be exploited because your stupidity by nature of its illusion is inherently a manipulatively applied device. Truly intelligent people cannot become stupid, but merely feign it.

I believe Greene's example was to do with King Louis of France and his finance minister, the finance minister threw a party bigger than Louis with all the most important people there and being the beta that Louis was, got jealous and had him locked up. See if the finance minister had got Louis in on the party from the start, made him part of it, made him feel like this party wouldn't have been so good without Louis's approval, Louis wouldn't have feared him.

Machiavellians are the biggest threats going yet the most competent of them never seem like a threat at all. Generally those who do seem threatening are merely posturing, a skilled machiavellian, if they're manipulating you specifically, is more likely to be a friend than an enemy. "Keep your enemies close." although not all machiavellians are the same, there is the tactic of making an enemy out of someone so you can have them prove themselves to you later on, a former enemy is always eager to prove themselves to you under a truce due to the tension of the previous rivalry. Ah mind games, such fun.

Found this Blue Pill gem in the Fempire... Poor fella went to the wrong place for advice.

19 upvotes · 8 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I often wonder. I give no fucks what happens outside trp.

Why men are withdrawing from courtship.

19 upvotes · 17 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The article is great but it misses one very obvious thing, men are simply more sexually attracted to younger women because they retain youth which is equivocal to higher beauty.

Also don't forget to report all the stupid bp commenters in here, they get reported enough they'll be banned from the sub. Then when they come back on their latest throwaway to spy/lurk they'll think twice before posting shit.

An example for you gents how twisted a girls logic can become when hamstering

19 upvotes · 10 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

"You're her little time boy"

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=t9QOQNcpuiA>

SWEDISH CINEMAS LAUNCH FEMINIST MOVIE RATING

19 upvotes · 6 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Beliefs about women's roles in society are influenced by the fact that movie watchers rarely see "a female superhero or a female professor or person who makes it through exciting challenges and masters them,"

No beliefs about women's roles in society are fostered by their utter lack of logic, incredible ability to switch cause at any given time and the fact most of what they say, do and interpret is based purely upon the hormonal cocktail stirring around in their physiology at that specific moment aka her emotional state, something that makes women unreliable, easily manipulated, impulsive, irrational and in some cases completely fucking unstable. Basically - not someone you trust with too much responsibility because even if she has the skills, she'll handle her responsibilities poorly and bitch about them.

I'm tired of this shit that women are the victims, they're not. If women were so fucking great they wouldn't be victims would they? They'd be the winners due to their natural superiority and accolades. Feminism is a fucking paradoxical false dichotomy of bullshit in its rhetoric, I'm so fucking happy I don't live in sweden, yeah getting $1300 a month to sit on your ass unemployed must be nice, so must be the free healthcare and the free university education, it's a very cushy country to live in, essentially the whole populace is over-privileged and has to do fuck all to get any of the things other people in the world have to sweat their asses off for, but I think all that feminism would give my brain a hemorrhage - poverty or radical feminism? I'd take poverty every time.

Research in the U.S. supports the notion that women are underrepresented on the screen and that little has changed in the past 60 years.

To be quite crude, because women are fucking boring. If they did something noteworthy I'm sure some feminist bint would scream as loud as possible, making sure that what may be even the most mild of achievements is blown out of proportion to be represented as some epic undertaking and triumphed as some bullshit "victory for women everywhere!"

Honestly when I read feminist bullshit I often feel like I've slipped into a perverse chapter of 1984 where George got drunk and just thought fuck it let's have some fun!

Getting tired of these shit tests. Suggestions please

19 upvotes · 2 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

"Remind you of your dad huh?"

Personal favourite out of your suggestions. I will launch this shit like a soviet ICBM and watch the fucking lols unfold.

"Remember the bad times" - Dealing w/ depression due to ex-gf(s) and your former blue pill ways.

19 upvotes · 31 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

- If she's moving away without you for work or especially for uni/college - just dump her. No point going through the bullshit, you need to be strong to do that but you'll need to be stronger when she fucks up later on. By dumping her you hold the keys to power too. If she ever comes back to the area either permanently or temporarily, she may wanna hook up with you.
- You want to be the dumper not the dumpee, if she dumps you she thinks shes better than you. If you dump her you have the advantage of knowing why things ended without having it explained to you by someone else and she'll question your motives and hamster up tons of potential shit (guys hamster shit up in this situation too.) If you're strong enough mentally, friendzone her, flirt with her occasionally over whatsapp/facebook etc and when she's back in the area proceed to bang the crap out of her.
- Don't do long distance relationships, waste of time. You both need the intimacy.
- Never fully trust a woman, trust her as much as she's earned. Blue pillers trust a girl to be with them for the rest of their lives, be aware some day, week or year soon it could be over. Don't be insecure about it, don't be paranoid and crazy shit will end - just be aware of your relationships health and not fucking blind to it like most guys are, if things are going bad, you look down your list of priorities, you assess how important she is to you and if she doesn't make the cut, you cut her. You should always be willing to walk away if its for the best. Women are insecure and like to think you're so into her you can't leave her. You need the strength and integrity to use the take-away. If you can't leave, she has all the power EG: marriage.

- If you're not in control of the relationship, you can try to tussle back for it, fuck her harder, tell her what to do more, set boundaries etc. She will contest this and before she can mention your balls just pre-empt "I found my balls in a shredder bitch!" (bit of cocky funny/assertion) If it all fails, just dump her. Guys aren't happy being with a chick who acts like their mother, nag, nag, nag. Either you're her father figure or she's your mother figure, don't date your mother (like Howard Wolowitz in the Big Bang Theory, replaces his maternal mother with a wife who acts like his mother)
- Don't do love triangles and fight for a bitch, it's stupid. If you're in a love triangle just ice them both out and be done. Trying to out alpha some other guy is just... lame as fuck. Bitches love all the attention as well from the competition, it's fucking perverse and no good for you, don't chase - replace.
- When life is good go cruise for pussy, hit up parties, socialise and whatever. There's a time and a place for everything. If life isn't good, if you need money, you need to lose a lot of weight or otherwise you have a lot of improvements to be made then chasing girls is a waste of time, your value is too low, you need to just concentrate on yourself and then re-emerge in the scene once your value is high enough. By building value you're still in the game, just not participating in the BS mating rituals. When you give up on meeting new people AND you're not bothering with yourself, that's when you stop being a participant, but seeing as the game never ends - it means you're basically a loser. That's why people get called losers, you're doing bad at the game (of life).

Recently broke up with my GF because of alleged cheating, need help.

19 upvotes · 19 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Ok so me and this girl were doing great, I was really into her but I was also making sure to not smother her too much.

Good. If they think you care too much they stop caring and see you as low value, like cats.

She went out with her friends one night (a few nights) and I was aware that her ex was in that group of friends.

So you didn't set a boundary that her going out to party with a guy who used to fuck her wasn't OK. Major fuckup #1. I don't deal with girls who keep their exs around, I can't be doing with the trifecta of bullshit a love triangle creates, should of set that boundary here, if she resisted you should of said something along the lines of "OK, if seeing your ex is that important to you, you're dumped, so think fast" slap her with that ultimatum and take-away card at the same time. It also communicates that you can easily replace her, that she is disposable, which sadistically is a DHV women understand and respect in the attraction game.

We hung out the next night and I was curious as to what her and her text had been texting about all night. But I knew better than to ask her, so... I looked at her texts when she went to go to the bathroom. She had been cuddling with her ex for the past two nights. Now there was nothing else. I know this because I read the texts. I know people are going to say that there was, but there really wasn't.

Nobody here really cares about your girlfriend and her ex boyfriend, who are you actually trying to convince, us (we don't care anyway) or yourself? The answer is yourself. That's your gut nagging at you there and you're ignoring it like a blue pill chump. You shouldn't ignore your gut. Whether it happened or it didn't she's getting her emotional and possibly sexual validation off a guy who used to fuck her, wow, that's not dangerous is it?

I broke up with her, because I felt she violated a big line for me.

Thank fuck, you took your balls out of her purse and stood up for yourself, too little too late to salvage anything, but you always have the tactical advantage that you dumped her and not the other way around. That will fuck her off.

However, I expected her to realize her mistake and want to be back with me.

LMAO. Why would she? She has options, more than you, apart from her, what are your options? She's going back to her ex, you're alone. If you want to piss her off go to a place you know she'll be and make sure you're seen out with a hot girl (if you have the power to pull that off) otherwise there's nothing for you here. She sees the ex has higher value than you, if you were higher value her hypergamy would bring her back to you, you lost her respect by letting her do w/e the fuck she wants and not putting your foot down.

It's the same with parents who let their kids do what they want, the kids go crazy act out of line and have a dysfunctional relationship with the parents, same can be said in romantic relationships except instead of a kid its the woman constantly pushing the boundaries with what she can get away with, it's in their instinct and they will violate you only if you let them. You need to be more sure of yourself and sure of what you will and will not contend with, that is a learning process and you need to go through a process of mental and physical self-improvement to actualise that and not have this whole situation repeat itself in future.

After a week I have realized that I REALLY want to be back with this girl, but not she is sending mixed messages.

You want her because you realise you lost her and you're invested in her, but really you don't deserve her and she doesn't deserve you, you're not compatible. You're not strict/strong enough to handle her. She is probably more manipulative than you are (judging the little you've given us to go on) and therefore, she will run the relationship. That means the relationship is doomed to fail.

One night she wants to be with me and the next she is confused because she is worried about catching feelings for her ex.

Welcome to the world of women, what they want changes daily or even hourly because their logic is based on their current emotional state. She already has feelings for him because she's fucking spooning with the guy whilst leaving you at home. Man if I found my girl doing that (and I would have set boundaries that you didn't to minimise the risk to begin with), I'd bring her over, fuck her, and while my cum drips out of her vagina and she's in the "I want a cuddle phase" I'd tell her straight up "No, you go cuddle your ex, that's not what you do with me, this is an open relationship now."

Why are you so blind to wtf is going on? It's infuriating to see how bluepill some guys can be, where is your self-respect, your dignity, your fire? Why are you letting this bitch walk all over you? Why isn't there a chastity belt around your balls so that bitch can't keep massaging them in her purse for an ego boost on a day to day? Women don't respect or fall in love with guys who don't stand up for themselves and by not standing up for yourself they will grow to detest you, why? If you can't stand up to her - how can you stand up to your parents, your boss, a guy hitting on her, or anybody for that matter?

Forget this girl. You need to improve yourself and develop your mindset. Build yourself up, build your value. Your looks. Your game. Your view on women. Your view of yourself, all of it, you need to go through some self improvement shit and stop pussy chasing. Women don't care about the process, becoming a man, or becoming high value, they just care about the end product, the result.

I realise I sound harsh but fuck it this is all truth, you need tough love son, you're lost right now. /r/becomeaman

- Read 48 Laws of Power (need to understand the games women naturally play and get on their level or surpass it)

- Go to the gym (physical presence, self confidence)
- If you're an academic type you'll enjoy <http://therationalmale.com/> (loads of bio and psy theories on female behaviour and human mating, theories on why certain elements of game work too, as well as how they work - not overly pragmatic though)
- Start listening to <http://beigephillip.com/> (great advice on gaming women and understanding their psych, it's a podcast, will inculcate a red pill worldview until it becomes natural to you)

When "No" is a shit test

19 upvotes · 1 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha, girl used it on me yesterday, luckily I'm red pill enough to not get butthurt by that shit and identify it for what it is and understand why she's using it. I've ignored her all day, now so far since I began ignoring her she's sent me 4 SMS begging to talk to me. Well it went from "You don't deserve me, you're a bitch" to "I hate we're mad with each other, please talk to me! x" TRP man, trust me, it works, it's magic, it will improve your life, it doesn't mean it's easy, it doesn't mean it won't take some time, it doesn't mean it won't take some application of knowledge, some anxiety, some patience and some persistence - but trust me when I say, run with it and it will help you get everything you need and best of all... on your own terms.

Don't beat yourself up for not being perfect, just do YOU on YOUR terms and check in here with the men for advice and to share any of your own newfound wisdom, after all - that's what this place is all about. We have no space or platform to air our views in the real world, our opinions and mere existence is politically incorrect so we're pushed into the digital realm, where even still, people attack us with strawmen and attempt to sow discord. TRP is the best thing that can happen to any young boy or man in a western nation right now, honestly. It's gold. Share it with everyone you care about.

The Difference between TRP and RPW

19 upvotes · 19 September 2013 · /r/RedPillWomen

I wouldn't cohabit with a chick I thought would divorce rape me, that's silly. I'm in the legal profession, about as red pill as it gets when it comes to contracts, and this is not a contract any logical or objective person would sign, it's probably the most biased legal contract in existence because it's so easy to terminate the contract. Divorce rape is exactly what it says. Your economic progress gets wiped out. It's absurd.

So, my flat mate informed last night I need to get "educated" and shared this with me today...

19 upvotes · 28 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Three fucking cheers for this guy!

If you don't like Skyler White, you're a misogynist. (some sanity to be found in comments)

19 upvotes · 24 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

LMFAO. Fuck him. Skyler is annoying as fuck and Walt does everything he does for his family.

EDIT: although in more recent episodes she's been less annoying and more supportive, which makes the character less contemptible, but she did a lot of damage being a cunt in previous seasons.

Women Have Become Too Easy - great askmen.com article!!! - check out the comments (full of hamsters)

19 upvotes · 14 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Men wants sluts for casual sex. Men want non-slutty women as long-term monogamous partners.

What women don't like is men not wanting to marry sluts, women think when they're sexy and young and the worlds at their feet and their life is 50 times easier than their male counterparts because suitors are stumbling all over themselves, that they should be free, lap up being discriminant with sex, fucking only the best men, enjoying free dinners, favours, money, holidays and all the other shit she can get for just being an attractive young female and then when she hits about 30, her looks start to fade and her fertility dips and she's feeling broody for a baby that all of a sudden she has the inherent right to lock down a provider to service her and her child. That's selfish, but that's how women are programmed.

Men are programmed selfishly too, to not trust sluts, men won't invest their love and emotions in a girl they suspect is a slut, but they will use her sexually because testosterone makes men horny - a lot, that's biological too they can't help that. Men's emotions are valuable, because men are expected to be strong emotionally, stoic, a rock a woman can lean on, and strong financially. Women's emotion aren't valuable because they're allowed to portray vulnerability when it suits them to or improves their lives (read: victim card) and thus any conveyance of female emotion is just saturated, because we see it all the time, women cry over dumb shit and serious shit - men only cry over tragedy.

Men find slutty women as long term investments, unattractive. He's not going to "man up" and be the breadwinner/responsible guy when she's promiscuous.

Women find slutty men desirable because it shows he knows his way around women. Seeing as women have no intention to provide for a man or take care of him, they don't have to think past being provided for by him, they weigh up his wealth and status - two things men don't give a shit about in women because they don't expect women to elevate them in life, but the discrepancy comes about in that we're more stringent in who we pursue monogamy with, that's why women always lie about how many partners they've had, they think they're equal to men when it comes to sex but they're not, our sexual roles are different due to biology and thus what attracts us and how perceive each other sexually is vastly different. There's another post on here that highlights this, men value female virginity, women are disgusted by male virginity. This is the dynamic, that's nature.

See, monogamy benefits women more than it benefits men. When a man and a woman get together he makes a bigger commitment and sacrifices a lot more, often when this happens, what he values most from her, sex, decreases in volume. This is why in the old days men would have a wife and mistress. The mistress would be some slut who would give him his sexual fix, and the wife would be the woman he'd trust to look after his children and be willing to financially support and invest emotionally in. Women understood that back then and were compliant with many husbands taking mistresses, this was of course before feminism fucked up societal thinking, but women were valued by society as a whole more if they were married, because if they weren't married they were a slutty mistress.

So yeah, that pretty sums up the reality of things. Love it or hate it that's how it is, that's life. One theory is the reason men hate sluts is because before modern technology it was impossible to tell paternity if the pregnant woman was a slut and had slept around, whereas women don't have the problem of knowing their maternity and thus don't have such a worry. Obviously now we have contraception, but we've evolved for thousands of years under the premise that sex always leads to a baby.

My EX want to meet with me.

19 upvotes · 28 May 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

My EX had an IQ of 160, was HOT and had the capacity to be very feminine when she felt she could let her guard down (trust issues with everyone, so rarely)

And still like your girl, the hamster was fucking strong. She'd fuck me over and rationalise that shit, her concept of loyalty (which did exist) could easily be overridden by her hamster. When a girl fucks or tries to fuck you, remember she has no cock and being fucked up the ass by a chick is about as homo as it gets. Then move on, there are no special snowflakes, just women who are smarter and more beautiful than other women, but they're all women. And all women are the same, hypergamous and have a hamster where the logic center is so if you've lost their respect then the game is over there's no recovery route to successful monogamy. All women are like this, no exceptions. The NAWALT crew can't let that one blue pill fantasy go, it's sad.

To enjoy the decline, or to start a family, that is the question

18 upvotes · 22 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Genetically I think the only thing that matters is IQ, lower IQ = on average, poorer and less social status. The dumb celebrities you see today are pretending to be dumb, or the exception to the rule.

Tuition From Tragedy - Ben's Story

18 upvotes · 15 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Women aren't capable of gratitude. Not in the conventional sense. They're capable of future-gratitude, not past-gratitude. They will be very grateful for everything you are and everything you've done, as long as you're on the way up. You will seem like the greatest guy ever. Their hero. But if the future looks bleak, everything you did in the past just doesn't seem that important to them. Because you're a loser now, today, of course everything you are and were wasn't that great either. Their minds literally reduce the entirety of your life up to this point to something they can scoff at.

I like your take on Briffault's Law, very astute.

You can't expect gratitude from women. Besides, if you're looking for gratitude and appreciation, then you're doing shit for the wrong reasons. You should be doing your shit, for you, and maybe, if she's lucky, a woman can tag along while you do it. The second you start doing shit for her instead, it's the beginning of the end.

Completely agree, recommend your review of the complete piece (I say as much as in there):

Already this early into the story we can see the painstaking decisions that will eventually lead to the demise of Ben. What is Ben's crucial life-altering faux pas? He gave up his future for a girl. A man always needs a mission other than his woman, to put this mission first, and to entertain women solely as an accompaniment, never a goal.

A good woman is one who will not jeopardise the mission, an exemplary woman is one who will support it. A woman who expects to be treated with more importance than her man's mission unwittingly condemns them both to a most sordid misery, for a woman's conceit will destroy the relationship should it not be kept in check.

When a man has no mission other than to meet the needs of his woman, rest assured the woman in question will seek a man with a mission of his own. You see, women are so clueless and out of touch with what's really good for them, that left to lead they will ruin every relationship with every man they ever have. The success of a relationship thus relies almost solely on how a man harnesses his ingenuity to safeguard the relational arrangement from the vacillation of his woman's emotional impulses.

Thanks for the input Arch!

Honest question for this community

18 upvotes · 20 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Higher brain and ideological brainwashing = anti violence

Animal brain tingle generator = loves violence.

And tingles override ideology, because feels beats thinking in women

Violent men have no problem getting pussy, because women are wired to respect/desire them whether they consciously agree with that or not. Their animal brain beats their higher brain every time. If it didn't, women would be going out with skinny feminist metrosexual good guys not the chads, brads and thads of the world.

As if the dark triad didn't prove it enough, women are attracted to evil. Bitches be fucked up. Even if you explain it anthropologically/through evo psych as ensuring their survival, that "rational qualifier" doesn't make them seem any less fucked up.

Their attraction is out of date and unadapted to civilisation, the evolutionary logic of woman's attraction is predicated on the idea they need to fuck the bad guys to survive.

Teen 'Social Media Star' Quits, Discusses 'Ugly Truth' Behind Fame...

18 upvotes · 3 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Porn and social media attention both give shots of dopamine, so that makes perfect sense. Both are addictive behaviours.

Promiscuity & Civilization

18 upvotes · 26 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm sure a roman emperor never wanted to be equal with a peasant. We are driven by weak people in a direction that gives birth to weaker people.

The grand irony is that without weak people, there are no strong people. There are just people. And human nature is completely hierarchical and exploitative, therefore how could we even begin to construct an egalitarian civilization in the truest sense of the word (everybody is strong) without merely subjugating the powerful and elevating the mediocre? Let us not forget that if everyone is powerful, then said power has no edge - which begs the question if it is really power at all? Power must be countered by powerlessness to define itself. The strong need the weak, as much as they hate them.

Bookmark Our Offsite Backup

18 upvotes · 16 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

If it wasn't public, this community would go batshit crazy demanding something be done. Like people did here before, they would create 20 threads about the reddit admin, the implications for TRP, and make the suggestion that we move off-site. We've been there and done that as a community already. So it's public we have a backup to calm everyone down, and then apparently, by having this backup, we create a self-fulfilling prophecy. Sounds like we don't really win either fucking way. So fuck it. It will be what it will be.

Nobel laureate says women in labs cry and distract men - sparks "outrage"

18 upvotes · 10 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha, she replied with this:

"Ha. good point!"

<https://twitter.com/LynnCSchreiber/status/608717064090578944>

The Danger of Transgender/Gender Fluidity Promotion and Education

18 upvotes · 5 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

or this is more Machiavellian social engineering bullshit.

DING-DING-DING-DING-DING. Folks. We have a winner!

No one cares about low value males.

18 upvotes · 16 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

A low value male is, for all intent and purpose, equal in stature to that of the homeless man. He may share company with those like himself, he may not, but to all else, particularly the opposite sex, he is invisible; and when he is not, it is wished that he was.

I'm convinced that my condo is cockblocking me

18 upvotes · 15 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I've seen the change in women's faces the moment they found out my occupation... those gold digger eyes light up.

Not an acronym out there truer than AWALT.

The anger in TRP is nothing more than a male inability to adapt to change.

18 upvotes · 10 May 2015 · /r/PurplePillDebate

a male inability to adapt to change.

An unenlightened view. Men don't deal well with female dominated environments because they tend to be hostile to men. Even when they aren't, men do not enjoy these environments because they are limited and boring and emphasise safety over creativity. They have to watch what they say. They have to fit in. There is no space for originality or masculinity. By definition, women wanting to create "safe spaces" is anti-masculine. Men don't do safe. Men test boundaries and constantly challenge each other. To women, that lack of security and constant one-upping is "a hostile environment." Basically men don't value how women hold court in social settings, and women don't value how men hold court in social settings.

Men's emotions are never validated, they are just told to suck it up - kind of what you're implying here with anger. People, especially women and manginas hiding behind a keyboard (people with low testosterone levels who would be useless in combat) love to talk shit about male anger from a place of elitist self-righteousness because it scares the crap out of them. If there was an angry guy in front of you right now, absent a gun and the mindset to use it, you'd be the meek little thing that you are. You wouldn't dare talk.

I'm not trying to intimidate you, that is simply an axiom close to fact that will inadvertently intimidate a fragile mind anyway. Women comment on something (male anger) from a perspective of fear and then ridicule it. They don't actually understand male anger at all, and the functional purpose it serves as being a cornerstone of masculinity. They frame all anger as bad because that's the only time they give a shit about it. When your man is angry and uses it to earn money by being aggressive in negotiation, you don't give a fuck. You are selfish and only give a shit about it when it damages your sensibilities because you are self-absorbed and lack the capacity to abstract into a male point of view. Men are great at abstracting. It is how you can raise an entire generation of men to act and think like women and hold feminine values.

The equivalent is men constantly saying your tears aren't worth shit and invalidating how you feel. Let me tell you something. A man's anger is more pure and more righteous than the average woman's tears ever will be. When men use anger to manipulate, it comes from a place of truth. It isn't a deception. Most women can cry on command, like a switch they flip.

Men are angry for many different reasons.

- Laws biased against them.
- They hate competing against women because they want to just fall in love and head a family. Most men are quite romantic, but women aren't, they're pragmatists. We have a saying in the manosphere "men are romantics pretending to be realists, women are realists pretending to be romantics." Women have a penchant for jerks so many guys feel they have to become one to get laid. They hate all the shit they have to go through in changing their personality to get laid. Eg: become a jerk when all a woman has to do is "exist" and "be herself." The same advice women give to men, ironically. Terrible advice.
- How many double standards serve women that don't serve men. Assumed innocence vs. assumed guilt is a major one and it's used to manipulate to a woman's advantage A LOT. Men have to explain why they aren't guilty. Women have to explain why they are (should they want to, and they wouldn't.)
- Narcissistic mothers who didn't love them and had a kid for the sake of her own emotions, rather than giving a shit about the kid. This is shown in how she raised the kid (cultural stereotype is all mothers are wonderful majestic human beings, this is bullshit and many people can affirm that.)
- Lack of direction, guidance or positive MASCULINE male role models for men.
- Natural masculinity being named toxic masculinity
- Lack of opportunity for physical activity
- Single mothers and absence of fathers
- All mainstream spaces being female safe spaces, men fit in or fuckoff (or as you say "have an inability to adapt to change.")
- Economy more service-based which favours female attributes, rather than manual-based with favours male attributes. Doesn't mean men can't make it but again it means women have an environment that suits their needs, and men don't so they have to work extra hard to achieve similar levels of success.

Feminism along with globalisation changed the social environment of developed countries to have a female bias. Boys and men suffer because of it. You only pay attention when these guys get angry about it and basically want them to shut the fuck up because their destructive pain offends you.

I'm not trying to change a view here I replied because I was user mentioned. I take an elitist stance that trying to convince a person anything who asks to be convinced, automatically assumes that person is the superior and that I am lowly and must beg my case. That is not at all what is happening here. This is just my opinion. I don't care if it sways you or not, I gain nothing either way so I'm indifferent. It's fun to contribute. Hope someone takes values from the post. Bye.

Ask IllimitableMan

18 upvotes · 30 April 2015 · /r/askTRP

Theism of most kinds generally helps with the creation and maintenance of family. Family is the building block of any sophisticated civilization and is necessary. For that reason, and that reason only, I'm pro-theist. When a superior alternative to theism for creating strong families comes along, I will no longer support theism. Atheists always say to me "there has to be something better than religion, religion's not the answer" and yet, they offer no alternatives.

Also: old school Christianity was RP as fuck, feminism has corrupted the church in America and made it feminist-friendly.

A reason for women to want the dating culture to change - Sons who can't get laid

18 upvotes · 28 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Easy to caste judgement from the ivory tower whilst everyone else scrambles for spoils in the anarchy of the ghettos that lie below.

Found this RP Gem on answers.yahoo.com

18 upvotes · 4 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

"Oh my gawd, these clouds are totally ruining the skyline!"

An Actual Conversation About Marriage and Divorce Coming From the Mouths of College-Aged Women

18 upvotes · 31 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

True that, I thought college was going to be a melting pot of ideas and perspectives where people were open minded and willing to debate any topic.

Ah, I remember being as equally naive. And being MASSIVELY LET DOWN when I turned up. Critical thinking was so absent it was moot. College is more akin to an SJW liberal indoctrination centre than it is a centre of rational, critical learning.

NOPE! Just SJW liberal feel-good boys and girls who were there to experiment with drugs and sex before finding a job at daddy's office or in marketing.

Sounds about right. But that's because they let a lot of stupid people into university nowadays. It's a business now, it's not solely about academia/the love of knowledge/the advancement of knowledge anymore. The universities get rich letting people in who are too stupid to be there because of all the tuition they can collect, and the government pays all the student loans that the majority will never be able to afford to fully pay back because they want the population to indebt themselves with govt approved indoctrination. It's sad, dysfunctional, unpragmatic, pathetic, and bad for the economy. When something like 40% of graduates don't have a job in their educational speciality, you can see how college has become a joke and just makes little economic sense for huge swathes of the population. Not to mention the four years of lost earnings you endure whilst learning trite.

<https://twitter.com/IllimitableMan/status/560247549148545024>

Always hide your effort

18 upvotes · 20 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

A lot of the time as a man you will instinctually justify yourself as it is logical to back up your point. Men from academic backgrounds were taught to give supporting reasons/evidence for hypothesis/conclusions. And unlike women they let this academic habit become a social one. Women on the other hand rarely ever back up their points beyond "token bullshit reasons." Aka, it superficially sounds like a reason, but logically it is a non sequitur. Usually it's a lie based on whatever they could improvise within that moment. It is rare women put actual thought to their words, which is why they talk so much more than we do. They think before they speak far less than we do (as emotionalism is impulsive) which allows them more words per minute. Women have a propensity to communicate for the sake of communicating (noise) whilst man's propensity is to communicate for a purpose (signal.) Of course women are capable of depth and men are capable of vapidty, my point is simply that men gravitate towards/prefer/are more capable of depth whilst women gravitate towards/prefer/are more capable of vapidty.

I do believe women's lack of logic actually helps them conversationally in terms of power games and Machiavellianism. It doesn't make them superior long-term strategists, but unlike you or I, they don't risk justifying themselves out of logic. They do it out of ego/insecurity when one of your negs connects with a raw nerve (she's gained a few pounds, funny birth mark, pointy tooth etc.) So in terms of the social game, man's weakness is playing by the rules of logic rather than the rules of the game, and women's weakness is an inability to hold frame/take criticism (her ego/emotional self-mastery.)

You can believe you are superior to your opponent, but if you fall for this "logic trap" then you begin losing face/rep/respect/the argument. For the nerds amongst us, no technically you don't lose the argument on a fallacy basis, but for all intent and purpose, perceptively, you have. In "the game" logic will often work against you. If logic rather than deceit/bluffing/social theatrics dominated the game, then women wouldn't be as proficient at the game as they are. The reality is most women are far better at the game than men are.

This is where, despite it's many flaws, ego comes in handy. My logical response is to clarify my point (and hence justify it/support it) however since I developed more ego (as an effect of becoming better at playing the game) my ego will say "no, you don't have to even give them an explanation, they don't care anyway, it's a trap, as soon as you dignify them with reasoning they think you answer to them and that they have won." I can see loaded questions/insincere questions/sabotage questions from a mile away.

Be prudent when people ask you questions, rarely are they ever actually legitimate. People use questions as a way to fuck you over with your own opinions. It allows them to remain formless whilst they get you to take a position (shape.) Whatever you say, they are going to attack because they don't like you/have something to gain from fucking with you. I know to a lot of people, perhaps those new to TRP or somewhat sheltered from the world that this sounds over the top. But it isn't. That's just part of the way people work. It's a common psychological behaviour I've observed across all races/ages/genders/social classes etc. Don't justify yourself. Ever. If you are subordinate in a job that is probably the only exception, and it's probably why so many men, among other reasons, hate the corporate workplace. Because even though justifying is crucial to the job role, it's received just as poorly as when in conventional social situations. Instead of justifying in a work setting you could blame shift, but that means you need a scapegoat. Only women tend to get away with blame shifting.

If the frame shifts so they are practically begging you for the information, or they ask respectfully and demonstrate they actually want to exchange knowledge/opinion rather than just use questions as a tool to socially one-up you/put you down, then feel free to take things at face value. Even if there is an ulterior agenda for asking the question, you won't lose social respect in the moment. I find from people who do not know me, or at least, not very well, I get asked more insincere questions than I do sincere. It's part of how people shit test and instinctually, on some level determine whether "you get it" and if "you're better than them or not." At other times, if you have a reputation they are just heckling. They want to embarrass you. They think they can elevate their rep by outsmarting you verbally. Insincere questions are indicative of low trust behaviour if the context is non-humorous/banter. Generally, as trust increases, the frequency of insincere questions decreases (outside the realm of banter) and questions tend to be more legitimate in nature.

Whores & Daughters

18 upvotes · 11 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminism corrupted Christianity. Look at Islam. Exactly. FYI: not endorsing Islam. Don't misinterpret me, ENFORCED PATRIARCHAL religion is necessary. That shit you call Christianity in the states nowadays has been reduced to a fucking joke.

Older players (late 40s/50s & up), tell us what you would do differently if you could go back 20 years looking through the RP lens.

18 upvotes · 7 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Grab that morning after pill STAT.

Not just sexual strategy is amoral, everything is. Why? Because life has no feelings, no conscience or consciousness and gives no fucks about shit. That doesn't mean disregarding morality as a whole is a wise or even balanced thing to do.

18 upvotes · 29 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I am assuming this post is a response for an earlier post about "If i don't fuck this taken chick, someone else would so it might as well be me, and there's nothing wrong with that because sexual strategy is amoral"

That is hilarious. But no, I didn't see that, I haven't spent much of today on Reddit. That does sound like grade A hamstering though. Someone is taking on female psychological mannerisms and using it to justify their immorality. BOO! How I see it is this: if you fuck another person's girl and you feel the need to justify it with "WELL SOMEONE ELSE WOULD HAVE DONE IT ANYWAY!" not only are you full of shit, but you feel enough shame to bullshit people with shitty reasoning. If you didn't think it was bad, you wouldn't feel the need to justify yourself in this manner. If I fucked your girl knowing she was your girl, I would know it was immoral, and I would call it that. When you qualify your immorality as amoral, you are ultimately hamstering. The "if I don't X, someone else will X" argument is called diffusion of responsibility. I find it funny how people feel the need to justify their immorality and then come down as morally righteous on people who judge their immorality, it's a perverse irony.

The proper Monk Mode strategy for improving your SMV

18 upvotes · 27 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm getting tired of all these monk mode posts and all the retarded comments like the ones below. These guys are so focussed on the pussy they can't see past it. If all you care about is pussy and not the bigger picture /r/seduction is that way. These young naive horny guys wake up with morning wood and forget TRP is also a self-improvement sub. Pussy ain't the end game brahs, self-actualisation is. Pussy is consequential to success, if it's your reason for success I'll be sat there in my deckchair with a cocktail laughing away as your world inevitably falls apart. Lol at the guy who thinks Zyzs is the epitome of masculinity. Zyzs is dead from juicing mate. His lifestyle wasn't sustainable, he self-destructed. Nice role model you got there. His spirit is motivational, no doubt, but masculine role model? Not by a long shot. Arnold Schwarzenegger is superior, and guess what: still alive.

Coming soon:

<http://i.imgur.com/7DthVdI.png>

Relevant:

/r/TheRedPill/comments/2qfw0e/guide_to_monk_mode/cn5slh7

If you think monk mode means being an ant-social recluse because of the name, simply change the word "monk" to "mission." There you go. Mission before bitches. That should fix your misconceptions.

Remember, you are here because of a lack of male role models in your life

18 upvotes · 19 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

When you have too many betas and too many women in your life, there is no back bone. There is no way of learning or seeing how women really get the gina tingles.

It is this mental prison that many young boys and men have sought to escape.

How I ended up on TRP

18 upvotes · 10 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

having trust issues with gay guys

Shit dude I don't really trust 'em and not because I've been through anything like you have but because poor men such as yourself have been subjected to such things by people from that community.

See, they hide behind this "egalitarian fabulousness" and a lot of them are harmless, and those guys are great guys, but make no mistake, there are sick men in the gay community who hide behind it's "we're oppressed" image to do things like this. And you can't tell the difference between a predator and a harmless gay, the predators behave like the harmless gays with their upward inflexion and sense of fashion and do their best to fit in, but give them the opportunity and they will go fucking dark on your ass (no pun intended.) They will groom men, violate men, rape men, get teenage boys who are getting mixed signals from a culture that hates masculinity and play on their uncertainty to manipulate them into indulging homosexual acts.

And straight men have no recourse in this bullshit PC culture of ours. There is no justice. He can play his gay card, what card do you have? You're straight. What would you have to do to get justice? Pretend to be gay BUT raped? Maybe someone will take you seriously then? If you cry rape they'll play their gay card and say you're making shit up because you're a homophobe and spin the whole thing around. What then? Society will eat that shit up because "gays are harmless and fabulous." WRONG. Not all of them are. A lot of gays have a fetish for turning/fucking straight men too, the manlier, the better. They like the idea of overpowering a dominant straight man and fucking him in the ass. I've heard as much from gay men myself. It's the ultimate gay fantasy. When you hear shit like that, as a straight man, you have good reason to want to avoid that group of people. Personally I keep gay men at an arms length distance, there are too many predators within their ranks and I'm too busy of a guy to weed out the ones who would make good friends with the ones who want to colonise my asshole in some perverted rape dungeon, fuck that noise and hassle.

Welcome to TRP dude.

[Mod] Snark, sarcasm, and mocking...

18 upvotes · 6 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Ehhh sarcasm, parody, and mockery has been a tool of the disenfranchised to fight back against the establishment

We're a philosophy not a movement. We're about helping men become masculine, not fighting against the establishment. So your point is moot. This isn't mens rights. We're sympathetic to MRAs but we don't hold protests and shit. I don't care what your politics are as long as you're a masculine man. A masculine man is a man I can respect, a man I can get behind. Some unsure pedantic murmuring buffoon, aka the average complicit passive "modern" effeminate man? No fucking thank you. This whole sub is about becoming the epitome of masculinity, "in a culture that lacks a positive identity for men" nothing more, nothing less.

What does TRP say about sigma males?

18 upvotes · 2 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That's true, but a sigma and a psychopath don't, as separate concepts, share enough similar significant traits to be considered similar. I mean if you want to be pedantic, we could say we all eat, shit and breathe air and therefore are similar, but that's disingenuous, and so is comparing sigmas to the dark triad. They have absolutely nothing to do with each other. You may as well be saying because of Elliot Rodger, omegas are all dark triad. No, not really, omegas are usually very far from the DT, but Elliot Rodger just so happened to be an omega that showed some DT desires (desires he didn't actually act upon until he killed himself.)

To be really succinct: sigmas are introverted alphas, they despise people in positions of authority they don't respect, and they fulfil the archetype of the rebel. Sigmas are extroverted in the right company, but they are almost never in the right company because they are so picky when it comes to people.

They are often creative types with high standards for themselves, potential male friends as well as female concubines. They are incredibly ambitious people. They don't follow crowds, they tend to be strongly individualistic. And they tend to look down on the people who do find junk television interesting, or do follow trends designed to have mass appeal seriously. They are intellectually judgemental.

The sigma has the power to be the shepherd of the sheep, like the alpha is, but decides he does not and would not enjoy the burden of herding, so instead he watches from the sidelines, dipping into the pen now and again to have fun with the sheep, taking back anyone who arouses his interest to the sideline to discuss the state of sheep and simultaneously mock them. Sigmas tend to be intelligent, observant men, but men who are nevertheless underwhelmed by popular culture and it's banal lowest common denominator approach to everything. Sigmas tend to have an interest in politics and philosophy and be highly rational. Whereas alphas can be intelligent or stupid, plenty of dumb chest beating guys who would be considered behaviourally alpha.

A sigma has a rich emotional life, and in fact, due to how difficult it is for them to ascribe emotional value to people, they are probably the best balance between alpha and beta for a woman. You see a beta is loyal but he is often clueless. An alpha is often not loyal because he has so many options. A sigma limits his own options by being picky, but he is still powerful - perfect for a woman - and if a woman gets under a sigmas skin, that is going to be the most reliable LTR outcome for her. Sigmas, IMO, tend to prefer LTRs to the carousel because they want to be spending time on things they enjoy, and socialising with the sheep inebriated all the time loses its appeal very quick.

Due to the rich emotional inner life of the sigma, a sigma is anything but a psychopath. I mean yes you could have a psychopath who is a sigma, it is technically possible, but a sigma is not a psychopath because he is a sigma, that's an incorrect view/misunderstanding of what a sigma actually is.

The most powerful word and why you should start using it more often.

18 upvotes · 28 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Hey kingoftheassholes I need a favor.

Trying to get you to get her commission AND shit testing.

Women man, women.

Take the Edge off the Anger Phase with Hanlon's Razor

18 upvotes · 20 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Exactly why I think democracy is a terrible system of governance. The retard's vote is equal to the geniuses because "they are both people." Yes one is just infinitely better suited to making a political choice than the other. Most of the politicians are corporate bought now anyway, bi-partisan politics is nothing but theatrics, both sides are controlled there is no real opposition. Democrat? Republican? Who really gives a shit. You think their policies are oh so different and get the illusion of choice, but whoever gets in continues exactly what the last president was doing beforehand. I wonder why the fuck that is? Republic my ass. This shit is the same all around the world. I think perhaps maybe Switzerland has the best run democracy, and seeing as they are a highly educated country, it works better than in other democracies. But if you allow legal bribery via campaign donations and/or you have a population highly uneducated in critical thinking, democracy is a sham which amounts to nothing viable for the people.

Women Prefer Male Bosses Even More Than Men Do

18 upvotes · 16 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

In a 2008 study, women working for female supervisors experienced more stress than those who had male supervisors

This is because men on average are better at compartmentalising negative feelings/stress and keeping it to themselves. Whilst women, no matter what level of power they're at, can't contain all the pressure and bark reactively at everyone creating a shitty atmosphere.

Science of male and female brain - BBC Horizon Full Documentary 2014

18 upvotes · 5 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I watched this when it aired on BBC1 earlier this week and came to the same sort of conclusions that you did regarding the female opinion on the show.

the females (specially the presenter Alice Roberts) in the show are completely oblivious to the facts and keep forcing and rationalizing about how we don't know what causes the differences, how they're unimportant, controversial and that it's better to (nearly) ignore what science has to say.

Because if women are incapable of, or far less likely to in comparison to men to do society's hardest jobs and by extension the most difficult academic subjects (engineering, mathematics, architecture, physics etc) then they want to think it's because somehow society makes women dislike/incapable of these things and not because men are naturally better suited for these things than women. Or as subtly suggested, better adapted for these things due to a "male brain" which grows throughout adolescence (as male and female brains are identical in childhood.) Ignoring the role of testosterone flooding the male brain in adolescence, but instead favouring a sociological explanation. You couldn't hamster any harder if you tried.

They also sort of hinted at but failed to explore how testosterone affects things like mathematical ability and competitiveness. The autism test in there with Dr Simon Baron-Cohen (who is related to Ali G/Bruno aka Sacha Baron-Cohen funnily enough) which tested to see how quickly you can find a shape jumbled among a a distortion of other shapes was interesting. No women trying to distort the findings there (no pun intended,) and I had hoped the whole show would have followed a similar format but unfortunately Alice had to keep being mildly inquisitively outraged. In the absence of such a woman however Dr Simon Baron-Cohen was allowed to say women perform poorer on the test than men, and autists perform the best on the test without someone raising their voice in indignation.

Personally I think the fact the women on the show refuse to entertain the notion that any sex differences are biological is because none of them want to admit or realise they are, in many ways, inferior to and incapable of doing things that many men are capable of. It's an inferiority complex and none of them want to feel as if they're locked out of the boys club. That's what it comes down to. Their feelings. You can just see the fucking hamster wilfully looking for ways to conclude that something is a product of environment rather than biology, even going so far to justify biological differences as being caused by social variables.

It's inductive reasoning. They have already concluded in their heads that women ARE NOT BIOLOGICALLY INFERIOR to men and when the science suggests that actually, in fact, in some ways, they are - they have to find social reasons to justify those biological differences. Yet they need little science to conclude any kind of female espoused superiority. Hilarious. If seeing them try to hamster that shit doesn't make you mad, it'll make you laugh. It's kind of pathetic. Especially with the scientist lady. Always sad to see a scientist believe something for the sake of believing it and then look for supporting evidence for their personal beliefs. I mean not even pages full of brain scan differences could convince those bitches of gender differences, they're stuck between "we're not different!" and "we're different because of socialisation!" because admitting reality would be too painful for these little snowflakes.

Women are lateral thinkers, jack of all trades. Men are vertical thinkers, shitty at plenty of things but excellent at going deep into one type of thing at a time, to a depth far surpassing the ever-wondering glance of the lateral. This is why men are normally the top of every field, even when men are under-represented in that field. They have a focus of depth most women don't. And women can't handle that shit. They'll go on about how they can do a billion things at once, but hate the idea a guy can do one thing better than them by not being distracted by other things. Any perceived inferiority is an affront to the contemporary female ego. A bit off topic, but some women won't even admit they are physically weaker than the average man and thus injure easier/less reliable for work. Especially when it comes to political things like ObamaCare. In reality, they are FAR weaker and not just in terms of strength, eg: they get thirsty quicker.

Flipping the Script: If girls proposed to guys

18 upvotes · 17 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

They look like the most responsible teenager in the house.

Although some male teenagers are probably more rational. Haha

Stoicism- the most important aspect of holding frame

18 upvotes · 13 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Really it depends on your style. Patrice O'Neal was reactive as fuck and still alpha to the core. If you call people on their shit and confrontational rather than stoic, you're still masculine. How you deal is up to you.

General Housekeeping: Stop Direct Linking to Feminist Websites and Blogs. Seriously.

18 upvotes · 11 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Daily Mail, whether you like the paper or not, is not worth banning. If you're going to ban Daily Mail for being sensationalist you may as well ban returnofkings for being sensationalist. Daily Mail do pro-feminist articles as well as articles which make women look bad. In England its popular to hate on the daily mail and disregard it as right wing bullshit, but its about as biased as any other paper out there, not worth blacklisting IMO, it doesn't fit the same profile as the other sites on the list.

Girl loses her relationship with her "employed, Jewish, in his 30s and that's pretty much ideal" man.. After she goes on a show to find a man, "dating naked".

18 upvotes · 23 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Jewish miscegenation bad. Israeli homogeneousness good. White miscegenation good. White homogeneousness racist.

I'll never respect that leftist double standard.

Woman catches 2y BF cheating on her, goes on a rage on him. The catch? She had cheated before, but apparently her cheating was justified and his isn't!

18 upvotes · 7 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Must have been awkward as fuck in the kitchen when shes there in shirts and panties making a coffee and there's two dudes standing around who've both previously fucked her. That's taking shitting where you eat to new levels, damn.

"Is it illegal to lie to my boyfriend about being on the pill"

18 upvotes · 21 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

you take anecdotal evidence of one particularly shitty woman and run with it as undeniable fact about all women

Most women, not all women. You have to realise in societies where women are worshipped and can do no wrong, when men, especially young men, are able to expose the fact that women aren't everything sweetness and light unlike that which is usually associated with them just because they are women that these men tend to get a bit excited, as in "AHA, I always knew it was bullshit, women do fucked up shit too!" nobody is saying all women will trick men into making them pregnant, but a significant number will and exposing this gives an insight into the psyche of women who are desperate, getting older, getting baby rabies or for what other reason are about to hit the wall or have hit the wall and thus want knocking up - these are some of the extents such women will go to to ensure they get what they want, they will play manipulatively and dirty, dismissing it out of hand is as bad as claiming every woman does this.

Why should it be a taboo to say "women, unlike men, can become desperate to have a baby, and will go to deceptive lengths to get pregnant and trap you regardless of what your say in the matter is?" pointing shit out like this is educating men, making them aware of possibilities and allowing them to protect themselves from hormonal and/or predatory women. Simple as that.

I personally believe given the right variables/circumstances that ALL WOMEN would be predisposed to do this (he's earning money, she's getting older, losing her beauty and her biological clock craves a baby and thus AWALT) however at the same time I think any man can commit murder given the right circumstances. Does this mean I think women constantly go around tricking men into pregnancy or that men go around constantly killing people? No, no I don't - but I don't delude myself that women have the sun shining out of their ass and would never do horrible things like the societal narrative would have me believe. I believe I am balanced and realistic because I keep an open mind, whilst taking a position that best protects me and stands up to logical scrutiny (does she have anything to gain from X behaviour, if yes, what? will society punish her? if no what are the repercussions? etc etc) it's hardly like he's saying aliens did 9/11, he's saying bitches will trick men into pregnancy in the right circumstances and men who are all too often oblivious should watch the fuck out for that.

If a man grew up reading nothing but TRP posts about women and never meeting a real women in his life, and was then shuttled out into the real world, he would grow up believing that women are not to be trusted.

Well let's inverse that shall we? If a man grew up reading nothing but what society at large has to say about women, never meeting a woman in real life and were then shuttled out into the real world he would group up believing that women are ethereal, sweet beings that can do no wrong. You see TRP is just a counterbalancing force for mainstream opinion. Just like growing up being sold women are innocent sweet little princesses is a bunch of bullshit, so is being told that they're all evil and out to get you. The fact of the matter is, if the mainstream society had its idea about women correct none of these men would all be hurt and fucked up and sitting on TRP to begin with would they? It's a simple question of supply and demand, they need knowledge that helps them, mainstream society lacks that knowledge and is useless at educating men on women, saying ANYTHING BAD ABOUT THEM no matter how true or relevant has become a taboo (censored under the flag of misogyny) so men search the internet trying to find something that sounds like it makes sense.

You should trust women to be women, which is be very realistic about their natures and what they are capable of, how they are pragmatic in their love, hypergamous, more demanding than men, typically more entitled, easily affected by opinions of the group, impulsive, reason emotionally and etc. This doesn't mean they can't be any fun or enjoyed, it means as a general rule you can't show vulnerability and you can't rely on them and you shouldn't expect too much from them because if you think you're going to find "the woman of your dreams" or basically have a vested interest in the soul mate myth then you're going to find yourself tragically disappointed.

FYI: places like TRP are surrogate fathers for people who never had alpha dads or had absent dads, the shit that is taught here is meant to be taught to you by your father. Some people had crap fathers, some had no father in the picture at all, TRP is a product of a dysfunctional society. When you design society in such a way that fathers do not pass on vital knowledge to their sons you end up with a place like TRP.

The same thing can be done with men, nitpicking the worst of the worst cases and blaming the entire gender for it.

Yeah I find this shit annoying but these guys do it for their own sake not the sake of the sub, newbies who want to feel like they contribute and are a part of the community do the easiest thing possible to take part which is post an example of something and point the finger and circlejerk, it helps them to come to terms with some of the negative aspects in women.

What do you do when confronted with the fact that many people have happy, long-lasting marriages?

Out of all the millennials I know (quite a few) they were either raised by a single mother or their parents got divorces, I don't know what age group you're in or what culture you live in, but I can tell you in England people under 35~ have either never experienced a nuclear family or that nuclear family was torn apart. Your use of "many" is deceptive, this isn't 1950. The WW2 generation let the baby boomers do whatever the fuck they wanted and couldn't keep them in check, they spawned millennials who are dysfunctional beyond belief, and I shudder to think what the millennials are going to give birth to.

There is a difference between being servile and being of service (Or you're never to old for the friendzone)

18 upvotes · 29 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

For 55, not hideous and not broke either, just kind and caring to a fault. She has been savaging him for a decade, gaslighting and abusing him emotionally.

Ah, the dark triad woman, these bitches are fucking nasty. I feel bad for that guy. It's nice guys like that these dark triad whores love to sink their claws into the most. If you've ever been gaslighted then you know how mentally excruciating that shit is, it should be an arrestable offence. You know if a dark triad personality is being an asshole to another asshole, or shit, even me, that doesn't really bother me that much, in that case its a battle of wits. When they prey on nice guys without a clue that shit pisses me the fuck off though, that's not a battle, it's slaughter/rape/parasitism and that shit's ugly. In a way people who have no clue are innocent, fucking with them like that is the lowest of the low, shame he hasn't had someone looking out for him or at least, educating him on this shit so he can defend himself. Poor fucking guy. Anyone who's feeling particularly low reading this shit, realise there's a guy out there in the world who has had oneitis for 10 years and still not got so much as even a handjob. Holy fucking blue balls.

The Dangers of Isolation: Why Men Need Other Men

18 upvotes · 7 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The gym is the funniest one, in mixed gyms women often "get intimidated" by the men working out and get their own couple of hours/day to themselves to use all or a certain part of the gym (dependent on the gym.) You get ladies hour or ladies day or whatever. Reverse that and its a liberal crime. Fact of the matter is, men can meet other men, but often only with women present (sport being the one exception that comes to mind) and we're all familiar with how a woman's presence changes how men behave, that is, they are less candid, open and forthcoming and depending on whether they find the women attractive, they perform to impress or simply become less social and more detached.

Purgatory - Rollo: "If you want an example of the feminine imperative's fluidly reinventing social conventions[...] In 2014 it's 'Any guy who thinks he's in the so called friend zone is just a potential rapist because he thinks he's owed sex for his friendship.'"

18 upvotes · 21 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Emotional tampon, validation tool, dick in a glass case, comfort on tap.

Roosh's Cultural Collapse Theory

18 upvotes · 21 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Anyone with a brain that has spent time around poor people and multicultural hubs has probably reached the same conclusion.

Yep, if you're switched on, read a bit and can think critically you'll come to the same conclusions, european and anglosphere societies are collapsing/being replaced by other cultures.

Forget "alpha" and "beta", focus on value.

18 upvotes · 13 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

but aesthetics - well-dressed, low bodyfat,

Good teeth as well. Depending on your social class (especially if you're English, like me) perfect teeth may not be possible (LOL) but do your best to maintain your teeth, once you become a teenager/adult gum recession is very common and being too pussy shit to go to the dentist can fuck with your smile/oral health.

are really underrated on this subreddit.

I've had a draft blog post sitting on my site for awhile about the importance of looks and how despite anyone's handicap they should look to maximise their potential. Your aesthetics are a sphere of influence when it comes to power, and if you've ever read anything I've written you'll see I take something of a "power approach" to SMV, that is to say, women are attracted to power sexually, men are attracted to power to get women and to have the freedom to exert their will upon the world and effectively it is acquiring different forms of power which makes someone higher SMV (sexually and socially) anyone who thinks looks are irrelevant is a fool. Patrice O'Neal had all the game in the world but negligence over his personal health killed him. I'll see if I can get my piece published today and then bounce it off this post to reinforce the importance of looks and help increase the signal-to-noise.

distinct jawline

Part genetic part body fat, some guys have great jawlines but their body fat is hiding it. Other guys are low body fat but just do not have a distinctive jawline. If you have a low metabolism get into the habit of jogging daily. If you're a skinny little ectomorph who can't put mass on do very little cardio for the sake of keeping your body's endurance up and dirty bulk. If you're socially anxious listening to music on your jog will help, once you work up a sweat and your body releases chemicals you'll give less fucks about other people around you. Leave that comfort zone.

I feel like this sub is obsessed with being alpha, but should focus far more on being high value.

Those who understand TRP better and have been here awhile realise that being high value is the ultimate objective, whilst on a micro scale you have to apply alpha and beta behaviour to match the situation, we call this "calibration", you calibrate your demeanour to the interaction based upon the person you're dealing with and what you hope to accomplish, being recklessly alpha is almost as bad as being recklessly beta, guys who are pussies and guys who are permanently angry are not social butterflies, both are outcasts/frowned upon but for different reasons. You'd want the angry guy on a night out with you for instance, but you wouldn't want him sat next to you in a business meeting fucking up a deal with his short fuse.

Study: "Happy guys finish last". Women find happy guys significantly less sexually attractive than swaggering or brooding men

18 upvotes · 23 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

To further simplify "smirk, don't smile"

She Will Try To Make You Weak

18 upvotes · 18 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The freedom to show weakness without being punished for it? Yeah. Good insight there.

The Red Pill is Intolerant of Irrationalism and Equality

18 upvotes · 10 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It would only worsen in combat anyhow, cortisol spikes typically promote inflammation causing outbreaks. I'd recommend introducing more omega 3 into your diet as omega 3 works as an anti-inflammatory and thus mitigates the likelihood of outbreak.

You guys are so right

18 upvotes · 2 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's difficult to be a man. Being a woman is easy. If being a man was easy, TRP wouldn't exist and women wouldn't even dare with their rhetoric "where did all the good men go?" after branch swinging from one man to the next all throughout their teens and 20's as is so common.

Abundance Mentality (Alpha) vs. Scarcity Mentality (Beta)

18 upvotes · 30 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

As long as you're a work in progress with a goal and moving in a direction towards that goal it doesn't matter. Focus on something that will benefit you and work on it at much as possible and you will see results.

Social confidence is often a product of the actualisation of one's successes. It's hard to be confident and socially dominant when your mind isn't in order.

Beta husband falls for the "polyamory trap" lets other men fuck his wife. Guess what happens?

18 upvotes · 24 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Shit is so fucked up man, his dignity, he should reclaim it.

Red Pill Antibiotic Nuke, Come and Feed

18 upvotes · 23 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's best to fake that you have a girlfriend, even if you don't. Women don't tolerate single men in their circles for any length of time.

That's good advice, I wonder why that is? Too much of a DLV? I would think if you're good looking and earning bucks it wouldn't really matter which is why it fascinates me that they act this way. It's like a single guy is a threat if he's not a provider to them in some way or something. Fucked up, something I don't understand.

[Mod]Unless you're Endorsed - Instaban for Concern Trolling.

18 upvotes · 3 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Signal to noise is a legitimate concern however I agree that discussion about subreddit strategy and maintaining content quality and other such things should be done in private with the mods and not publicised. I had a legitimate concern with the direction of the subreddit a long time back and me and redpillschool resolved it amicably through personal messaging where we bounced some ideas back and forth.

There was no need for a public fucking shitfest - that is not conducive or beneficial to any parties involved. Not the mods, not the newbies neither the more advanced people such as the ECs who turn up to get their daily dose of RP material and keep on the path to building/internalising an alpha frame.

Publicising your concerns about the management of the subreddit only derails the subreddit further, if you guys ignored criticism or suggestions then it would perhaps be a problem, however in my experience that has not been the case and thus there is no concrete line of reasoning behind such a proposition and thus no reason to scream and shout out in public in hopes of getting your attention. If it's your attention that's needed, a simple personal message should suffice. It's for this reason I back the banning of such discourse in public 1000%, as in and of itself it decreases the signal, no matter how ironic that is - it what it is.

We want quality content filling up the sub, not internet politics, whether the internet politics has any validity in nature or not is irrelevant, it reduces the signal.

When it comes to concern, on a more broader note and not just in the context of subreddit politics, I'd like to refer you all to a topic I posted on the concept awhile back and how it links to machiavellianism:

/r/TheRedPill/comments/1ujs0r/concern_the_choice_manipulation_of_concealed/

EDIT: typo

Female Colonization Ruins Male Space

18 upvotes · 19 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Oh looks like we're being brigaded because this persons ability to cite outliers that are not representative of women as a whole has been up voted a shit ton.

It's well known men are at both ends of the bell curve, smartest and dumbest, genius is far rarer in women. The fact this even needs to be said is hilarious and your denial of womans intellectual inferiority throughout the ages smacks of delusion.

Reminder - she is not your shoulder to cry on

18 upvotes · 15 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I already knew this but it's incredibly insightful to read from the female perspective.

New report says millions of women at risk of falling into poverty, economic ruin

18 upvotes · 13 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Highly emotional + herd mentality + feelings of inadequacy + marketing aimed at women + sense of entitlement = hyper consumerism aka your average womans spending habits.

When women are truly attracted to you they want to please you.

18 upvotes · 13 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Honourless, selfish, deceptive and inherently proud for having a personal slave to "provide"

Feminists already scared of the mere concept of "sex robots"

18 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

but isn't this technically the same thing the other side does when they dismiss trp as creeps who can't get laid and just hate women?

Yeah it's ad hominem when used in an argument. This is not an argument (no debate going on here) and it's not being used in place of addressing an argument (by attacking the arguer) but rather this is a statement based on observation. Obviously there are some young pretty things that get caught up in it but the biggest extremists tend to have deeper issues eg: no beauty privilege whatsoever. A woman without beauty privilege is a very depressed/angry/bitter woman.

Why Is Wordpress Employee Kevin Conboy Threatening To Delete Blogs [Heartiste] He Disagrees With?

18 upvotes · 3 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I fucking hate when services put out the free speech propaganda bullshit but then end up censoring shit anyway. It's not like his site is child porn or animal porn is it? No, it just upsets feminists and when that's a reason to delete/block a site then oh boy, it tells you a lot about who has power.

33 year old woman sperm jacks well off 28 year old guy.

18 upvotes · 29 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

if it wasn't for me she was going to go to a sperm bank to get pregnant.

OH WOW. And they say trp is crazy, if reality is crazy, then trp is crazy, sure.

I asked her about if she was keeping up with the birth control, and she told me she was never on it to begin with

I fucking hate this shit words cannot explain.

She's completely selfish thinking about her desire for a kid over the quality of life the kid will have or the repercussions for the father.

Women are selfish cunts through and through. Especially those who have just hit, are about to hit or are in the process of hitting the wall.

She deceived this guy into impregnating her and she has no consequences for that he does. It's these scenarios where despite their bitchy approach, men's rights have a fucking point. WTF?!

Slimmer Women's Waist is Associated with Better Erectile Function in Men Independent of Age

18 upvotes · 22 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Oh the patriarchy, so much patriarchy.

Understanding Social Market Value

18 upvotes · 17 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I posted this a few days ago when the sub was getting brigaded and it was getting buried, so I deleted the thread so it could see the light of day when the assholes had all gone home.

The article is essentially an in-depth explanation of what SMV is, its aimed more at noobies, although those of you who have been here a while may find some of my insights or mentioned nuances to be of interest.

I hope you all enjoy the piece, if you have any constructive criticism I always appreciate that, so don't be afraid to leave a comment if it's not praise you're offering. Working on a dark triad article on psychopathy at the moment as well (see, I give to the noobies here, and then I give to those more interested in "higher level" shit later) the psychopathy article is taking a little longer than initially projected, however it will come.

Also got an article in the works for puerarchy, been a while since I contributed there. Busy, busy, busy!

Feminist Programming Language: I don't think this is satire. Comedy gold in the author's comments.

18 upvotes · 16 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Logic is objective. It's absurd to criticise something which is inherently objective and does not try to impress you, logic disregards opinion that is not grounded in solid reasoning. Logic is held accountable to itself, it's self-sustaining. To be honest this sounds like a great way to declare fallacies as reasoning and reasoning as fallacies so certain bodies can just do whatever the fuck they like.

My god. Someone stop these fucking loons.

A logical explanation on WHY agree and amplify works

18 upvotes · 26 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Example:

Silly bitches shit test: "IllimitableMan you don't have any friends!"

"I know I really should shower more often."

Ps: also works against bullies kids!

"You're a fat hunk of shit"

"Blame my mother honestly the crap that bitch feeds me is insane I swear I have like 3 stomachs"

Tldr: don't get butthurt or disagree when ppl try to offend you, that way you don't give your power to them.

Perfect TRP example in r/relationships. [29F] shocked her [29M] BF of 1 year loves her, doesn't love him back, yet wants marriage and to move into his house "to experience having her own place". Says "I know I'm not going to find anyone better than you and you're what I'm looking for".

18 upvotes · 11 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

And then she thinks she can branch swing to you when she's basically told you how much of an ungrateful and deceitful fuck she is.

Fucking silly bitches.

A woman's first love is real?

18 upvotes · 11 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha hilarious man

[rant] why do guys take dating/relationship advice from girls?

18 upvotes · 5 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Too many double negatives making a simple thing seem complex here. Women generally don't hunt. Men do. If you want to find out how to get a guy ask women who are successful at attracting men, simple as that. Generally the only advice you need is "be pretty" and "don't be a cunt." Also remember you can't attract everyone, that's not an entitlement either gender has.

Are most redditors female or are men becoming chumps today?

18 upvotes · 28 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Straight white non religious men are the only group in the radical liberal narrative who get no victim cards to play. No race card, no religion card, no homophobia card, no sexism card... so everyone rips into them as they're the only group its politically correct to offend. Apparently they're all bathing in privileges and can't be offended. These are the type of guys u refer to, with the removal of non religion in some cases.

My fiancée is telling me to fuck other women

18 upvotes · 27 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4F4qzPbcFiA>

The Most Powerful Girl-Gettin Technique of All Time

18 upvotes · 18 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Time for a mind fuck:

They're more attracted to moody faces but if they see you're having a good time with a group (which means obviously happy and laughing/smiling) they'll be more inclined to walk over and talk to you/join you or otherwise do the indirect move of staring the fuck out of you until you go ask them to do what they want to do which is come join you and your group.

It's more complex than how your face looks, it's about the social context too. If there's hype/good energy it can be happy or sad it doesn't matter the women are attracted they wanna come mentally feed on those feel good feels. In a place where there's no energy where nobody is out engaging in social time say a classroom or the workplace then you're better off with a grumpy face.

I like to just not give a fuck, it's too much effort to care about such small things that are so contextual. At least with something like upright posture it universally applies and is more of an absolute than a nuance.

Real life example of a girl cheating on her beta bucks, "coming clean" after feeling guilty, deciding not to cheat again... and then ironically decides to come back and fuck again. Hamster gymnastics!

18 upvotes · 14 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Wow that's deep. Can't upvote this post enough. Will come back and read it a few times!

[Example] Former hot chick describes life pre-wall and post-wall

18 upvotes · 9 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I was very naive about the depth of the beauty privilege until I experienced both sides

This old woman is dropping red pill, although when she had the privilege, self-admittedly, she was as blue pill as they came.

Beauty defines value in everyone, but even more so in women. Something we say here a lot, and that the opposition (feminists) refuse to accept. LOL.

Lesbian couples twice as likely as gay men to end civil partnership

18 upvotes · 9 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Sociologists are full of shit. It's pseudoscience pushing the liberal agenda.

Friend telling girl that i had a date with that Im nice but she doesnt trust me because I am a player

18 upvotes · 8 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

OK this is how I'd do things. If a woman is attracted to me and then starts getting flaky because a mutual female friend says random nonsense about me being a player i'd say to that girl "she's right, girls can't resist me, but she's also jealous, she's trying to cockblock you, how dare she do that to you?" DHV and tap into her victim complex and frame the other girl as a bitch all at the same time. (women do this shit all the time, they are good at this shit) the whole player thing is a shit test so just maintain frame, agree and amplify "You're a player" "yeah I am, tennis player" works too. Whatever you're more comfortable with, depends on your current swag/charisma in your sense of self.

Another example, a girl called me an asshole the other day (shit test to see if she can rock my frame) I immediately replied without thinking "I'll take that as a compliment, thank you" without an iota of snark in my voice. A minute later she was hugging me goodbye. Girls hug assholes lol.

Also, being a player is "high value" girls love guys who are experienced and get girls, so if a girl tells another girl you're a player, even though they openly show scorn, it actually raises her attraction levels for you, you need to maintain frame to see it through and escalate to intimacy/sex.

I'd then say to the mutual female friend "do u think I'm hot?" whatever her reply "yes/no" "Oh ok well it's just you tried to cockblock me with this other girl so I figured you had the hots for me" then maintain eye contact with the girl. See how she likes you now! HA.

This is how I'd handle shit. Fun and games. All ain't lost. Sounds like you don't believe in yourself enough though, need to work on maintaining frame, go lift some shit/jog/run get your testosterone flowing. Peace out and hopefully you'll be posting about how you closed this italian girl on field report monday. ;)

This is a good one: Self described female "writer" (gossip blogger) blogs about freaking the fuck out via text message over a 'insecure man' who had the audacity to politely decline another date

18 upvotes · 26 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Women handle rejection terribly, men get told to suck it up.

A lot of 'em could probably take a leaf out of the male playbook on this and just be a little dignified and move on when things don't go their way. Beats turning into a crazy bitch or sitting there on the sofa with a tub of ice cream that night watching crap telly by yourself. I guess that sucking it up does require a modicum of stoicism, not exactly a footnote in the female playbook of life.

TIME article on how American schools are becoming hostile to boys

18 upvotes · 24 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Sounds about right, they can understand through sympathy about someone they care about, and identify between women by delving into solipsism. But if you're in neither of those categories and you're communicating truth through logic and not rousing personal feeling in her on some level, she'll be unable to understand or refuse to believe out of arrogance. It's kinda retarded, seeing as a man I can understand and believe things both ways, through feeling and through logic.

OP's wife wants him to "be more manly in bedroom". /r/sex tells be scared and talk to her about it. (X-post /r/bestof)

18 upvotes · 23 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

How hard is it when having sex, to slap her a bit, ass, face, whatever, and tell her what to do. Bend her over, push her head down. Pump her like you're drilling for oil. C'mon man, has she got to do absolutely everything? She wants you to fucking dominate her. So do it. If you love a woman, you treat her like a slut in the bedroom, that's what 99.9% of them want. None of this soft shit. How's a girl meant to get off to 1kph an hour sex? I seriously wonder about some guys.

"If she says you're not having sex tonight, you're having sex tonight." Why?

18 upvotes · 2 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

He didn't ask how to catch her, just why sometimes she doesnt jump out of the water

"How can she slap?" meme captures the incentive women have to provoke and assault a man knowing they are protected by the collective white knighthood.

18 upvotes · 27 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Captain fucking save a hoes

Washington state gets rid of sexist language - Freshman is now going to be referred to as "First year student", Journeyman plumber will now be "Journey level plumber" etc.

18 upvotes · 4 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminism became Genderism and started caring about men, Womens Studies became Peoples Studies... yeah right. Just taking the word "man" out of everything like it's evil.

This is fucked up man.

"His" is now "his and hers."

LMFAO. Oh, how telling!

William 1 hour ago 0 117 Hmmm, based on their plan a woman just became a wo.

Bloody wo's.

After living with 2 girls for the first time, it's painful how they talk about men.

18 upvotes · 16 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

NAWALT - Nearly all women are like that.

EDIT: Guy below is right, this is a play on the acronym ;)

I am a giant fucking beta pussy, and I hate it

18 upvotes · 12 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

In 1970, women made up just over 20 percent of PhD recipients in psychology, according to the National Research Council. In 2005, the last year for which data are available, nearly 72 percent of new PhD and PsyDs entering psychology were women, according to APA's Center for Psychology Workforce Analysis and Research. And when you look even further down the line, graduate enrollment in psychology, including those pursuing master's-level degrees, reached nearly three-quarters female in 2005.

Source: American Psychological Association, posted 2007

How many of those women do you think are pro feminist, seeing as they're "empowered career women" remembering feminism takes full credit for that paradigm, hmm? And out of the 25%~ men left, how many of them do you think are blue pill betas? Heh, yeah. Counsellors are risky, there are good ones - but finding one that isn't automatically pro-feminine and gonna feed you blue pill bullshit is a task within itself.

What Is The Most Cutting Insult You Have Said To A Woman Infield?

18 upvotes · 18 May 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Just yesterday I was out with my boy and this woman tells me to "grow up and become a man" because her and her beta husband were eavesdropping on our conversation and took offence to my sentence enhancers because I like to swear to emphasise/describe things (yeah they were older, she looked in her 40's and he looked 50+) and I just replied to her "I am a man. What the fuck do you know about being a man? You're just a woman." in a very aggressively emphasised tone. Should of seen that bitches face. Her beta husband didn't say shit until I was about 20 paces away from them.

How To Stop Feeling Tired (if you're always tired as fuck, then none of the self-improvement material in the world will be enough - get your energy levels on lock first!)

17 upvotes · 23 February 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

5000IU is recommended, but sounds like whatever you're taking is poorly absorbed by your body. Would recommend a 5000IU oil-based form (better absorption).

[FR]Sister stabs Dad's throat and cuts my hand, not her fault

17 upvotes · 28 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah it wasn't smart of him, but end of the day it's really a non-factor in this whole scenario. Crazy bitch could and would have used any weapon regardless. If she's a collector she's got other knives, thus she would've just used one of them instead. Crazy will cry if you buy it weapons or let it buy its own.

Your top 5 books for men - in reading order?

17 upvotes · 11 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

My top 5:

1- The 48 Laws of Power by Robert Greene

Psychology, strategy and Machiavellianism. Discusses strategic gambits on an interpersonal level by presenting psychological insights illustrated through historical anecdotes.

2 - Meditations by Marcus Aurelius

A diary written by an introspective and inquisitive long-dead Roman emperor with a strong grip on Stoic philosophy. The most authoritative text in this niche to survive from antiquity. Helpful as a spiritual guide to dealing with, and perceiving life.

3 - The Art of Worldly Wisdom by Baltasar Gracian

A book of incredibly insightful social observations from the keen mind of a middle age Spanish philosopher. The proverbs are spectacular and still relevant. It's a great little book, very affordable, and as each proverb is self-contained and takes up only half or a single page, the book is easily picked up and put down. A great complement to the 48 Laws of Power, The 48 Laws of Power is rumoured to have been loosely based upon this text.

4 - Antifragile: Things that Gain from Disorder by Nassim Nicholas Taleb

This book is great for encouraging fearlessness and a love of struggle. Effectively the book is based on the philosophy and idea of antifragility, that by subjecting yourself to stress, you can become incredibly powerful.

5 - How To Win Friends & Influence People by Dale Carnegie

This book teaches you how to become someone who is liked, it answers the question: "how do I charm people to make myself popular?" Many, many men could benefit from this book, in a sense it is teaching social skills. Be careful to balance the methods given in this book with the Machiavellian tenets outlined in The 48 Laws of Power. Do not be frivolously charming, your charms should serve you rather than enslave you into the nice guy role. When you charm to appease rather than to control, your charm loses its power as it becomes your crutch. Where charm is necessary, use charm. Charm, like ego, should be seen as a tool – not a way of being.

My top 10: <http://illimitablemen.com/books-for-men/>

Man refuses blind set up date, every women who knows the people involved take the girls side

17 upvotes · 29 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

This makes sense if you ask for her advice/recommendation/to hook you up. If she does it from her own initiative and you aren't interested you are under no obligation to cater to her whim just to save her ego.

Your friend didnt ask her to, she took it upon herself and thus the risk he isn't interested is hers to burden. If the suggestion or imposition should annoy him, her assumptive initiative taking means the blame for the misstep is squarely hers. Doing something someone doesnt want and doesnt ask for and then berating them for their disinterest is the definition of childish. There is a direct correlation between woman's inability to burden blame and their inability to take criticism. Rejection would appear to be the thematic common thread linking the two.

Her saying its impolite is a way to save face and appear sophisticated instead of immature.

Marriage destroys small businesses

17 upvotes · 16 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

For example my uncle had formed a company with some of his buddies that had been a mild success. They were all good friends and co-operation was easy especially because they all had the same vision of what they wanted. It was profitable and was slowly buidling up for a few years. That was until the founders starting getting married. Apparently the wives would subtly demand more money or better furniture or cars. And they would be super competitive with the other wives. Whenever one family got a new car, the other had to as well. Eventually there were fights amongst the members and after a brief period it was decided to sell up and cash in. Apparently my uncle fought with one of his close friends so badly that they haven't spoken since.

Sounds like an accidental implementation of the honey trap strategy - purely through proximity. The honey trap strategy is effectively using women to sabotage an organisation with their sexuality by targeting a powerful male and reducing his focus to make him less effective, and/or using said woman to play on the insecurities and jealousies of a powerful man's woman. Sounds like wives in close proximity is enough to set off a honey trap without even deliberately sending a female spy into an organisation you want to dismantle. Crazy, but hardly surprising; women are quick to envy.

How To Be Happy

17 upvotes · 23 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

what routine you had to fight it

Cut out negative/toxic people, not eating shit food and keeping regular with lifting/cardio was enough for me. I drink a lot of green tea. Your mileage may vary.

did you ever take some meds?

No. The endorphins from exercise are medicinal enough for me. I'm very reluctant to touch pharmaceuticals.

An example of how to exploit the female-pandering world view to your advantage in business

17 upvotes · 2 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

With the knowledge we propagate here, by all comparison, you are a wolf among sheep. At the very least, you aren't a sheep. I will assume your colleagues are sheep. Alas, common sense is no longer common.

Anyone paid any attention to this "#wokeguysmakemewet" BS on Twitter?

17 upvotes · 11 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't think there's any level of bullshit a woman won't say to increase her social standing. It's all about reputation and trends with these hoes, principles don't mean shit to them.

The whole thing is a shit test. Buy into her narrative, and you lose. Be alpha as fuck and tell her to shut the fuck up, you win.

Watch what (and who) they do, not what they say. A tried and tested maxim as old as the cosmos itself.

A note on the backup forums

17 upvotes · 6 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Really, all transparency does is have people donating based on judgement of your finance rather than gratitude of your service.

For example, if you can't see the donations, but think "TRP really helped, I want to give money to help back" - you'll give money whether $1 or $1,000,000 was made.

If you think "TRP really helped, I want to give money to help back" but you see TRP has made $1,000,000, you're more inclined to go "well TRP doesn't deserve my gratitude, they already have $1,000,000." - but that doesn't change the fact TRP helped you get your shit together, it just makes you less appreciative and more judgemental of it's help.

The transparency is a gratitude killer. I wouldn't give a shit how much TRP made, I'd still want to say thanks because of how much it helped me. But I know not everyone thinks like I do, and many who would have otherwise donated will instead think "ah, well they've got enough." And I think that kind of sucks.

Why men and women should NEVER be friends

17 upvotes · 24 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

A wise friend of mine once said:

"Studying psychology actually makes you shit at it."

Because of this political crap they slyly (and sometimes not so slyly) inject into it which they then teach as fact.

Why men and women should NEVER be friends

17 upvotes · 24 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

And a man worthy of help doesn't need it.

This logic reminds me of witch burnings.

Github introduces "Code of Conduct" that "promotes equality", programmers react

17 upvotes · 23 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Their culture is a product of their genes, not the reverse.

Simply put: black people have lower IQ, but superior physique. That's why you see hardly any white men on the NBA court and hardly any black men in astrophysics or computing. 2% of whites have 130+ IQ. With blacks, only 0.1% of them have an IQ of 130+. The funny thing is, a lot of the smart guys who people will claim are black aren't even fully African. Neil deGrasse Tyson and Obama aren't hot-blooded Africans. They are mixed race.

It is what it is but bitches who can't handle reality are gonna cry racism because that's easier than accepting the unfair nature of reality.

Another fun fact: Blacks have the highest average testosterone level of all the races (explains the crime rate.) Google this shit, the data is there.

Fat woman posts selfie after feeling "fat-shamed" goes viral on the net and is described "an inspiration"

17 upvotes · 8 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm actually thinking this is some false flag grass roots marketing shit. That she was employed by Old Navy on the down low to manufacture a story and put it out there. Thing is, making something viral isn't easy and is kind of random - so could be legit and they're just happy for all the extra sales her inadvertent whining has gotten them. I mean the marketing budget otherwise needed to get that exposure is in the millions, such is the power of social media though.

She's a useful idiot, basically. They aren't sending her shit for being brave, that's just the marketing narrative. They're sending her shit because her viral whining just made them a boat load of money. Anything with 294,000 likes is going to make a fuck ton of money if its associated with a product that can be upsold.

But of course all the blue pill idiots will get sucked in and think "awwww, she's so brave! And old navy are so great sending her a gift card - they rock!"

Not only is it a great PR stunt for them to be seen rewarding this, but it makes all the other blue pill fatties think "Wow, old navy is a great place for me to get my clothes, I'll check them out."

And so now they have just accessed a huge demographic emotionally - who all have money to spend.

When you see marketing, when you see bullshit viral campaigns like this - think Machiavellian. It's always Machiavellian. It's always about money. Don't get sucked into the hype - because that's all it is - feeding off people's emotional states and linking in your product with that to extract cash out of them.

Every woman has a hamster, every woman wants an Alpha

17 upvotes · 3 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I am pretty sure that's some wicked form of the hamster and ASD.

Yep, that's what my newest article (currently stickied) is trying to really nail home. It's a core part of who women are and is a major pillar of "AWALT." Women dissociate so much that their logic is fucked, making trusting them foolish. They want your trust because it benefits them to be seen with credibility, but if you rationally sum things up, you will find them undeserving of your trust. Sure, everyone lies, but women are the master liars. Men do not dissociate with the efficacy nor frequency that women do.

Sex is important, but consider what you're bringing into your life before you date someone new.

17 upvotes · 25 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

These hoes aint loyal.

Psychoanalyse the fuck out of a bitch and stick her in a category.

Submissive girls are good for LTR, crazy bitches you fuck and chuck. Unless you crazy AF yourself and only crazy bitches do it for you.

Back to submissive girls: if your girl stops being submissive and/or starts bitching you up - drop that bitch, you're fucked - it's fucked. Once they lost respect you for they never really get it back unless you play some serious head games.

If a bitch blows up on you, flip the switch, she's dead to you, go ghost.

Or.. you can escalate past her escalation, go nagasaki on that bitch, ruin her rep, upload that homemade porno of her to her parents and friends facebook wall. Then laugh as shit hits the walls. Buy popcorn in advance. Eat that shit as they go wild. Post it as a response #IDGAF.

How you play that shit is down to you.

But hoes gonna hoe, and her rep will always come before yours.

It is what it is. Most guys have a problem accepting that women are shitty people. Because they want bitches to be the false image that women as well as the media falsely portrays them to be - something they're not - caring and sacrificial people.

It's all pretence. They only give a fuck about them. Bitches only give a fuck about guys who know how to head fuck em right and I don't just mean literally.

That's what game is hot-cold, push-pull, highs and lows. Bitches are histrionic you gotta play those feelings like a yoyo or she's no longer captivated.

Bitches are like cats. They will ignore the fuck out of you if you don't dangle a bit of string for them to try and claw at. If you stop 'em getting the string but keep it in sight, they dance for you. Fucked up metaphor I know, but the principle translates. Always be visible, always seem attainable, never be attainable. The moment she feels she's safely attained you, fuck it, you're not even all that to her. Dread should be normal and natural to you.

Just because you can have fun with 'em, doesn't mean they aren't shitty people either. Most bitches are shitty. Not even bitches like bitches, the only thing most of them have in common is manipulating each other for social capital and sharing strategies on how to best manipulate/lockdown men.

Because it's not like bitches have hobbies really, is it? Shopping? Bitch I go on amazon when I'm taking a dump. That shit ain't a hobby.

Of course nobody wants to hear that, it's all laughter and gooey eyes until a bitch backstabs you.

And it's not IF, it's WHEN.

When it comes to bitches you gotta keep it real. You start lying to yourself about chicks and shit, it's game over from there on out.

And trust me guys do it like it's genetic, they so easily begin to believe that maybe, just maybe.. NAWALT.

Because when a girl acts the way you want her to act and looks GOOD you just wanna believe that shit's for real even when it isn't. You wanna just enjoy the moment. The problem is, the minute you do that, you start to lose that (refer to my cat string metaphor.)

There's no such thing as NAWALT, there's an AWALT that's manageable, and there's an AWALT that isn't - and that's it. Hoes are hoes, get over it. Every woman is a hoe given the chance.

Sometimes you've just got to slap a guy really hard, give him a fucking aromatase inhibitor, get him to drop and do 40 pressups and then tell him to take a cold shower so he can snap out of his bullshit. That's "stop being a stupid fucking bitch" therapy.

Fuck the bullshit.

/rant

[ArousalScience] Observations on Tinder through the eyes of an attractive female. 4 types of profile pictures that will end with you getting rejected.

17 upvotes · 17 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It's all about the status. You could be a sewage worker, and if women knew sewage workers were treated like Gods because you live in a third world shit hole which only have a few pipelines for sewage that cover wealthy neighbourhoods, then that would be fine. You'd have more status than an office worker.

Of course if you know any of the wealthy dudes whose sewage pipes you maintain, be prepared for her to use you as a stepping stone to try and get it on with one of the wealthy guys. If he knocks her back, she'll come running back to you.

Gotta love women, only really give a shit about resources and reputation. And if you don't fuck with their heads, they'll upgrade whenever they can.

God that sounds bitter, it would be nice if I was wrong and just being bitter. Unfortunately, I'm not.

Love is war.

Nobel laureate says women in labs cry and distract men - sparks "outrage"

17 upvotes · 10 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It is sexist, but there is nothing wrong with it. It is rational sexism.

The gist of what he's saying "women can't take criticism, they cry when they fuck up, and that makes doing the necessary work harder"

Which implies: "men can handle criticism, and don't shutdown with tears under pressure."

This is truth. Nothing wrong with it. But because it makes women feel bad, or paints them in even a slightly negative way, it's deemed sexist despite it's validity.

So we all have to, like a bunch of idiots, for the sake of appearances, pretend that this is complete nonsense and that women do not do this and are just as capable as men and yadda yadda yadda because anyone not toting the "men and women are equal" pseudo-religious nonsense are immediately social outcasts. Truth? That's simply unacceptable!

Everyone is fucking sexist. Everyone. Women especially. They don't care when the sexism gives them a leg up in life, helps them get a job, gets them a lighter punishment for fucking up (pussy pass) or benefits them in any other way. In fact, women encourage these vastly unequal behaviours because they stand to gain from them. But when someone says something completely reasonable, astute and true - if it harms their reputation in anyway, if it makes them feel bad in anyway - BOOM, out comes the emotional terrorism and mud slinging. Your perfectly rational and fair sexism is demonised. Normally you receive the trumped up charge of misogyny.

Women in Education: A Reflection from my Career as a Teacher

17 upvotes · 28 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

What you suggest would cultivate better behaviour in women, but it wouldn't change their underlying emotional preference. There is a huge difference between a woman who can, with some effort, suspend her emotional preference temporarily (to her own distress may I add) and a man who actually prefers operating in the realm of reason and must be baited to leave it. It is a matter of underlying preference, or what I have called before the modus operandi, "the default." No matter how you raise a woman, you don't change "her default" you simply give her skills to vitiate it temporarily.

Cultivating women does not make them equal to men, it makes them better women (by valuing male traits they become a little masculine in a productive way.) They will still make for inferior logicians. This is why I think raising girls is harder/less desirable than raising boys. They take more work and the end result is more mediocre if you look past the fuzzy feels of how proud you are to see your daughter grow into an effective woman, but objectively compare the capabilities of a well-raised woman to that of a well-raised man. The woman gets blown out of the water. Anyhow, I digress.

Equality is a silly goal. Fairness with the greater good in mind is as close as you're going to get. In light of that, it will never be perfect. And "what the greater good is" is easily manipulated, which is why a strong visionary (usually a man) is necessary to enforce such a framework. Even in egalitarian utopia you'd need a man at the top calling the shots to make sure it doesn't all fall apart on itself. That, to me, is the greatest irony of egalitarianism.

A well cultivated woman is an inferior leader to a well cultivated man no matter how you cut it. In that sense, women will always be dependants if we want the best job done. If we make them leaders, we sacrifice efficiency and the overall "greater good" simply to assuage their ego. Giving the female ego a pat on the back and saying "you can do what any man can" is disingenuous feel-good hogwash. It rather, validates female emotion as being more important than societal efficiency. We've had 50 years to experiment with the "women can be just as good as men" initiative, and they have failed in this notion grandly.

This is ever evident today, where anything that makes a woman feel bad about herself is deemed misogyny if vocalised by a man. This aids greatly in the censure of free speech and the formulation of this politically correct culture of bullshit we're forced to operate in.

Women are designed to be mothers and caregivers, nothing more, nothing else. Once they leave this realm, they're in a man's world, and their capacity to compete is either vitiated, or extremely mentally taxing to a point of depression. Just because a woman can get a PHD and be very clever in one particular field, is it in society's interest for her to do this? Or should we give her affirmative action places all the way through university to a man and have her concentrate on being a great mother? I know most men would prefer the latter no matter how uncomfortable the truth. Unless the woman is a special case exception, eg: a genius, her eggs are more valuable than whatever intellect it is she possesses. She can read books at her home if she has an intellectual disposition, university is not necessary. Again, due to Dunning-Kruger and the female ego, many women like to think they're intelligent when they're not. With intelligence comes a certain prominence of logic, and a vitiation of emotion's importance as a mechanism for handling data/situations.

Unfortunately, a lot of men don't earn enough anymore to let their woman stay at home. And work presents opportunity for female infidelity, as well as her bringing the stress home and messing up the relationship with her man by dumping it all on him when she gets in through the front door.

As you have alluded to, treating women like men, or men like women, is folly. It was the thinking "of let's be fairer to women, instead of being cruel to be kind" that started the mess we find ourselves in now.

Edit: spelling

NAWALT - I found a snowflake

17 upvotes · 18 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Thing is, we don't rely on children to look after a certain part of society. We rely on women to raise our kids well and not burn everything to meet their own selfish desires. They are necessary for having family, so we have to hold them to certain standards whether anybody likes that or not.

Just because women are more limited than us, doesn't mean we should have identical expectations of them as we do children because they are not as limited as children, they just wish to appear childlike to activate our attraction/protection instincts. We should be able to rely on our women to a degree, they are not children, they are above children but beneath men, as such, their responsibility should reflect this as it did in time's past. Today's women are a shadow of what women pre-feminism were. Feminism has made men and women weak, masculine men today think being manly means expecting zero of women and rationalising any fuck up she does as being his own fault for not pre-empting it. Most women think acting like an idiotic cute infant means they can be children forever, avoiding blame and responsibility for their shitty decision making.

Instead, being as responsibility shy as they are, coddled, raised by weak men and single mothers, they try to get zero responsibility, duck and dive and wish to live in indefinite childhood long into womanhood. Men enable this when they recognise female inferiority and go "well, you wouldn't blame a dog for shitting on the carpet" and it's bullshit. No you don't hold women to the standard of men, but neither do you hold them to the standard of children. They must be held accountable, to not do so is to encourage more nonsense from them, meaning exploitation of YOU and you enabling it thinking "I'm the man, so it's all my fault" like an idiot, you blame yourself rather than attributing blame where it's due.

Women want none of the blame and men are too willing to take all of it to demonstrate their masculinity. It's perverse, really.

I did a relevant article on this awhile back, could do with some polishing though:

<http://illimitablemen.com/2014/08/17/the-three-rs-romanticisation-realisation-responsibility/>

[FR] I (28/m) went on a second Tinder Date with a Blonde (22/f)

17 upvotes · 12 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

How to beat LMR in a nutshell: hold frame, escalate when rejected, if she's saying one thing but her body is receptive to your overtures, it's token resistance so that she doesn't feel like a slut. When she's horny enough from your escalation she'll change her mind verbally and be DTF. Don't let the initial rejection piss you off/sadden you and think it's over. It's not over until she's out the door. It's a shit test. She would have got into that taxi if OP hadn't of kept escalating, then she would of thought less of OP for not closing the deal. These bitches don't make it easy, your game needs to be tight.

Why most of today's women aren't worthy of your commitment.

17 upvotes · 10 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

She was being what she thought you wanted, she was keeping the pretence up, once she thought she had snagged you - she stopped bothering. Luckily for you that's given you the opportunity to see who she really is and escape. If the veil hadn't of dropped until it had been physically lifted up at the wedding, you'd be fucked.

Starting Off Your Woman Right!

17 upvotes · 1 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Bonus: They make great wingmen.

Which is more than you can say for those cock-blockers known as jealous women.

How Men Love / Male Commitment

17 upvotes · 22 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Men who have many women vying for them do not dwell on a fantasy.

I understand where you're coming from, but I think it's something deep-seated in men that goes far deeper than merely "ego based on options/self-worth."

I know a natural who used to slay it, he got into a relationship, his testosterone levels dropped yes, this is a thing and despite his options, his girl's charm had him thinking she's a unicorn.

Mind you, this natural has a low psychopathy score (in my estimation.) Guys with high psychopathy tend to align more with your assertion, naturally, this isn't most men.

Instant grat and Delayed grat activities, how they can change your life.

17 upvotes · 18 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Relevant article:

<http://illimitablemen.com/2014/04/13/monk-mode/>

Making Up For Missing Out

17 upvotes · 17 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

you are still a fool for thinking she will be forever loyal and won't want to "make up for missing out."

All you can do is maximise your SMV and run head game/DT game on her. Constant soft dread and teasing will have her occupied with trying to keep you. Women all too easily take men for granted. She has to be inferior to you and a little anxious/jealous to really appreciate you. Never give too much commitment, don't allow her marriage or access to your financials and she's basically putty in your hand. Once she thinks she "has you" that's when you're boring and "I've missed out! I need to try other men!" becomes a big deal. A woman obsessed with staying in your good graces has no time to even let her mind ponder what other men's dicks are like. A woman obsessed with your validation is having her hypergamy kept busy. Of course, most men lack the head game necessary to keep women in this imposed limbo of loyalty. They won't be loyal by themselves, you have to tactically enforce it.

Guy's wife stops putting effort into their marriage and threatens to bankrupt him if he divorces her. Guy unknowingly lays down dread game while secretly preparing for divorce. Wife is now doing everything she can to make him happy.

17 upvotes · 11 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

You must have some interesting stories to tell. I look forward to hearing them.

Are you a "romantic"? If so, this way please ...I have a several thousand hoops for you to jump through...

17 upvotes · 2 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

because I want him to have a certain image of me.

"To believe I'm more pure/coy/innocent than I really am."

It's just a strategy they use, just like a million of our strategies. They ain't dumb.

They know what we want. Most guys from blue pill programming just don't know they [women] aren't that. So they [women] sell the same illusion to men on a relational level that society does on a macro level. There are very few women who are what we want, but there are loads of women pretending to be what we want so they can deceive us into giving them what they want. They're frauds. On TRP we help men become what women want on their own terms. Do women become what we want? No, not usually. They just refine their deception and get better at seeming like she's what the guy wants, without actually becoming it.

What brings guys to TRP? The illusion drops out of nowhere and the beta gets dumped when she loses interest in him. That shit is painful and completely blindsides the average guy. Women know the game all along but try to keep guys asleep because it makes it easier for them to exploit commitment/get comfort/resources and partner hop. It's like relationship date-rape, as a BP you think you're entering a relationship with one person, but she turns out being someone else completely different. At least with a bad bitch what you see is what you get. Maybe women who meet nice guys, aside being less attracted think the same. They think the nice guy act is a deception, or a ruse, because their nice girl act is bullshit. Projection. Unlike "nice girls" though you tend to find that those "nice guys" are legitimately kind if not misguided people, not predators pretending to be prey.

Uninterested in women.

17 upvotes · 24 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

However, at a certain point you can't just follow this cookie cutter lifestyle of "this is how alpha acts"

Perhaps we should add "have a fucking mind of your own" as an alpha trait, although one would think that's assumed. It's all well and a good having your life sorted out, ripped, rich, whatever. But if you have no fucking mind of your own, you're a beta. That fat guy with no money who does have a mind of his own? He's more alpha than you. He's not more successful, but he's more dominant, less conformist. A guy with all the trappings of success but no mind of his own is still a beta. Just a beta who did well following someone else's script.

Success is oft seen as a signification of alpha, but sometimes conformists get pretty far in life being someone's favourite bitch, following a script someone else has laid out for them, be that shit you read online or whatever your parents set you up with. Don't blindly accept shit in this forum, question everything. Who do you trust more, this forum, or yourself? Have standards for yourself. Decide on them. Stick to them. Run yourself, TRP is a crutch for the weak when you start out, but eventually you have to come off your crutches. You stick around to advise other guys or you fuckoff when you no longer need us. If you need guidance or get confused on some shit? We're always here. But not everyone here is your friend. It's a big forum. Pick who you trust, pick what advise you follow. And when you don't follow some advice ask yourself why, be honest with yourself: am I ignoring this because it hurts my ego, or am I ignoring it because I sincerely believe it's bullshit? Avoid hamstering, leave that to the ladies.

Red Pill Example Never let people walk over you

17 upvotes · 7 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Patrice O'Neal, the savant of bitch-related knowledge.

"Men's Rights Activists have missed the point of feminism " - Intellectually disingenuous article from The Telegraph writes a smear piece aimed at discrediting TRP and AVFM.

17 upvotes · 2 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I have it listed as Beige Phillip Rule #7, but Dante hasn't kept up with his own fucking numbering from what I can tell.

<http://illimitablemen.com/beigephillipprinciples/>

07 – If anything goes wrong it's always your fault (because she's a reflection of you.)

Anything that happens in a relationship that goes bad with your woman, if your woman's a bitch, if she's disrespectful, if she cheats on you, if she leaves you, if she takes your money – it's your fault. The way she treats you is down to the presentation you give her. There's no such thing as victims, just volunteers.

"You had best unfuck yourself, or I will unscrew your head and shit down your neck" or "How to improve AskTRP with these few simple steps"

17 upvotes · 29 January 2015 · /r/askTRP

Haha, "let's watch a movie" aka "let's have an excuse to be close to each other in the dark for a prolonged period of time" aka "I want to set up logistics to fuck you but need a plausibly deniable reason for doing so."

I've used this one myself so many times. The movie is playing tops 10 minutes before you're escalating and getting to fucking.

Man I swear "let's watch a movie" is the new "you should come in for coffee."

Reading TRP makes me depressed, if it's the truth then it makes me hate everyone.

17 upvotes · 10 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

One should strive for the heart of a warrior and the mind of a philosopher. Aggression is necessary, but so is reflection. A mastery of both is to achieve a mastery over the self. One shouldn't be too weak to defend themselves, nor too angry to think clearly. Balance is of course the eternal struggle, and certain aspects of the self will dominate in different situations. With practice, one can match their disposition to that which the situation calls for. It is this calibration that makes a fuller, more effective man.

/r/Tinder pats itself on the back for being "edgy" for discussing a 100% redpill Tinder profile

17 upvotes · 3 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Looks like the kind of girl barely held together by make-up, looks bad without it. Will look terrible post-wall.

Monk Mode has taught me the following

17 upvotes · 17 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That's the spirit mate. Remember if you need help - ask in /r/asktrp.

22 year old, first job since college and getting torn to shreds by my female boss and coworkers. Please help.

17 upvotes · 16 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yes, this is it. OP needs to play massive beta game. "Think as you like, but act like others" translated into a feminist working environment means "act like a total fucking faggot, try to stay RP mentally."

OP needs to build lots of comfort with these women, reward them for what they do right, ignore/starve them for what they do wrong. If OP knew what he was doing and played his cards right he could end up playing all these bitches like a fiddle. Personally I like female dominated environments because I have the game/machiavellianism to make 'em all do my bidding. It's so easy to turn women against each other. You find a woman who likes you because you validate her, then you tell her "X doesn't seem like to me, I hope she's okay!" (all false concern and shit) plant seeds of doubt, eventually "X" is seen as bad by "Y" because "Y" thinks you're adorable but you keep "showing concern" over how X behaves towards you.

Eventually X will cave to peer pressure and fall in line, or you can play both sides at once, depends on your preference/the logistics of war.

God, this shit is hilarious. I'd love to switch places with OP and just turn that franchise around.

The funniest shit is when they ask you for "a guy's opinion" but they want the feminist friendly hamster approved version. You can drop full on RP and then go "but that's just blatant misogyny" feed the hamster, give em those hits of dopamine and laugh your ass off inside as they lap it all up.

To women, compromise = lack of resolve = failed shit test = she gone

17 upvotes · 15 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You handled it just fine. Bear in mind most men do not come from a place of abundance when it comes to getting laid, so the idea of "delaying pussy" will seem absurd to them. Most men have a "fuck on sight" policy. I specifically like her reference to "being a rock," if it wasn't so RPW sounding and cliché, I'd laugh. To clarify: not saying she's an RPW, but the RPWs always go on about men being the rocks in their emotional storms.

[48 Days of Power] Day 28 - "Enter action with boldness."

17 upvotes · 12 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Reluctance and indecision make you seem passive, boldness makes you seem assertive and dominant. Do not be recklessly bold, you may weaken your position, be calculated in your boldness. If you're caught by surprise, suppress the sensation of distress, think quickly and clearly and react with emphatic precision.

It is better not to move at all than it is to make your move with reticence. The whole "go hard or go home" motto touches upon this.

I'm sick and fucking tired of men who enable women and their "it's not my fault" bullshit victim complex

17 upvotes · 6 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

the more RP you are, the less you want to be here.

I was with my buddy last night drinking whiskey and he was like "IM, TRP is shit now." He's red pill as fuck. I see where he's coming from. I see where you're coming from. I'm not giving up on this place though, it's not in my nature.

No. of sexual partners in charts, by country, age and sex

17 upvotes · 21 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The less feminized a country is the thinner those dark blue bars on the female side.

But again, women lie. Look especially at the African graphs. According to this data, virtually all women are one partner only. Yet Africans are known for having very high rates of infidelity

Conclusion: women are sluts who lie their asses off, and in feminised societies they're more likely to be honest/overt with that. In masculinised societies, they're almost totally reliant on men to survive so they have to master the sweet and innocent act to a T. This means less self-confession about how much of a whore you are.

Tale as old as time: Asian girl hops off the cock carousel and latches onto a passive Asian guy. Accidentally reveals that she only thinks of him as a provider. Shitstorm ensues.

17 upvotes · 6 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Oh yeah that sure as shit makes sense dude. Definitely a factor at play. Race talk is always a cluster fuck btw, too many people get butthurt, and I believe most people in the world are racist to some degree, just some more in denial about it than others. Most people hamster when it comes to race. The decline is what the decline is, no point moaning about the state of things, just gotta adapt, concentrate on yourself and not get caught up in the worlds problems. I take a simplistic view. If it makes you happy and you're willing to deal with the consequences of your actions, then do it. As we know women hate to deal with the consequences of their actions, so they pretend it never happened and try to have cake and eat it too.

NEVER EVER trust women who say/act like they are "one of the guys" and have "mostly guy friends"

17 upvotes · 3 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It makes no difference, it changes absolutely nothing. If she was a butch lesbian with a "masculine mind" then OK, fine, none of the guys even want to fuck her and she's basically a man in a woman's body so she's not even an option to them. But then you wouldn't be dating a butch lesbian if you were a man, would you? The only thing being bi means is that said woman is a great connector for threesomes. It doesn't change her relations with men and how men perceive her/orbit her, she still likes cock and guys still want to fuck her. To be honest, I think 99.9% of women no matter how they identify love cock. I mean a strap-on doesn't beat the real thing, but that's a whole other topic for another time.

4chan strikes again. Very simple explanation on feminism and "beta males".

17 upvotes · 24 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women's words are worth less not worthless.

You filter the trite from the actual gems. About 95% of what they say is bullshit. The other 5% is gold. Women often seem dumb as shit but the more intelligent ones have keen social insights. What she said seems reasonable. You're not beta because you believe a woman is consciously in tune with her preferences, which although rare, is not impossible. In fact if you get caught up on calling specific things beta and specific things alpha, you're probably too fucking concerned on what label you fall under yourself by being hyper conscious of the shit. That in and of itself is a sign of insecurity, a sign of a man who is unsure of his position so tries to quantify everybody else's so that he may work out his own by comparison.

Race to the Top: A Guide for Low-SMV Minorities

17 upvotes · 20 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The "race traitor" is a very specific type of carousel rider, with insecurity stemming from a place of racial self hatred.

So basically the girl is a racist, racist in that she hates her own kind and only settles down with her own race post-wall? Ah ok, I can see why you'd want to give that kinda bitch a wide berth. Makes sense. Thanks for clarifying. Who the fuck wants to date a girl who doesn't even like you because of your race?! That is all manners of fucked up.

"You have "the right to retroactively withdraw consent" from any encounters you had, at any point in the past, that no longer feel good or safe to you." (when feminists go full retard)

17 upvotes · 17 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You just defined marriage statute in a nutshell.

Excuse me. Why does everyone assume you guys are abusive assholes?

17 upvotes · 10 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

What are your thoughts on the importance of college for today's Generation Y's financial success?

Not worth going if you're not doing STEM. So that's engineering and medicine. If you have family connections, then it's worth going for law and/or finance. Law and Finance are great if you're connected, otherwise, go fuck yourself.

Everyone else is better off doing a blue collar trade or starting their own business (perhaps both) as that is where the money's at.

No point being $100k in the hole so you can go and work at Starbucks and earn less than the guy with no student loan debt who is self-employed. Most degrees are not profitable. Most trade courses, where you can become someone's apprentice and work your way up however, are very profitable. If you're going to call yourself capitalists, get yourself out of that cultural Marxist indoctrination centre raping you of your time (opportunity cost) as well as your potential future earning potential (liberal arts degrees are worth jack shit now they're over-saturated) and go and get yourself doing something that pays without financially enslaving you in the process. Become a builder. A chef. An electrician. A plumber. Do some shit with your hands. Hardly any feminist influence there either, bitches don't like breaking nails or getting dirty.

Did you guys know that /r/TheRedPill cannot be mentioned in a /r/AskReddit comment, because they consider it a "hate site?"

17 upvotes · 25 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Hate is, generally speaking, counter-productive.

"You need to learn how to deal with me"

17 upvotes · 6 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

He's not talking about the op, he's talking directly to the guy he replied to who said:

Can't tell you how many times I have heard something similar to that. And the old idiot me would then bring out a very reasonable and nuanced explanation as to how that was not the case, what should happen etc. etc.

The best example of frame holding in my life.

17 upvotes · 26 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

All women have a hamster, she sounds about as good as they get

The New trailer to "50 Shades of Grey" is the most blatant Red Pill example I've ever seen in film. (Link included)

17 upvotes · 24 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Which is very much in line with how women always blame the nearest male for any fuck-ups that occur.

Confession: my best friend is a Dark Triad

17 upvotes · 8 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Commonly rationalised/hamstered as: "I was immature and didn't know what I wanted then, now I know what's good for me."

Funny thing is they can convince themselves this is the truth, when the truth is, they used up their best years fucking the guys who gave them tingles and now those guys aren't interested in them, in the absence of validation and the void of inattention, they "shift their priorities" aka "settle" for the lesser men who will at least give them a portion of what they desire. Women are far more pragmatic in matters of romance than men tend to be and will, with some disdain, "settle" for men that do not meet the tier of man they once managed to snag in their prime years (this is why the younger you get them, the better.)

Granted, tingles are no longer on the menu and they don't like that (it makes them somewhat bitter) because the tingles were the major thing they enjoyed most about men, it's the icing on the cake, the cream in the ice cream, it's what really fuels their attraction. The attention and validation were important but secondary to that, and the attention/validation of a man who can invoke tingles are inherently more valuable than the attention/validation of a man who cannot. So now, settling for sensible beta men or "comfortable men" they can at least get a degree of those all important secondary things they look for in men as a whole, and once she's secured a beta man's commitment if an "alpha male" or "bad boy" happens to give her a cursory glance, she'll cheat in an emotionally-fueled lust-induced uncontrollable heartbeat just to savour some sporadic post-wall tingles, hilarious, really.

Women are addicted to dark triad personalities as well as the tingles that dominant (but not necessarily dark triad) men can make her feel. Woman's sexual desire is amoral, they do not discriminate between whether you are an absolute asshole alpha or an upstanding citizen running into buildings saving kittens, dominance is dominance they care not for the morality of such dominance or how it is achieved, their attraction deals in absolutes (weak or strong) it doesn't care about the nuances, which is why I laugh when men in their typical moralistic/honour-obsessed manner start to debate the morality of attraction. Female attraction does not give a fuck about morality, only power/status.

To quote a woman, "it's all about feeling endangered whilst knowing that you're safe" powerful enough to protect and endanger her, whilst committed and invested enough not to abuse that power. That is the ultimate female fantasy, the stuff of tingles.

The best advice reddit has to offer on getting females to your college party [askhamsters]

17 upvotes · 5 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women feel compelled to invade male only spaces.

Most people on TRP will agree with this, now the million dollar question: WHY?

What's the difference between a space open to everyone that is populated by males and a space open only to men that is populated by males? It's like in the first instance they think they're uncool because they have no preselection, but in the second instance they feel purposely excluded and that perhaps they might be missing out so like moths to a flame they want in. Funny how psychology works.

Got slapped by a fat girl last night and got told to leave. What do?

17 upvotes · 30 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Normally, I'm right there with you... but bouncers, at least here in Australia, will fuck you up quicker if you come across as high-T/"alpha" to them.

Like I said you can't go full bitch or full caveman. You show gumption/a willingness to challenge in a reasonable manner not outright violation. These cunts are annoying to deal with, I think most guys who've ever dealt with a dickhead bouncer have fantasised about fucking the guy up for being a cunt. Often enough it's easier to walk away and go find another bar or whatever depends how you view yourself, do you see it as hassle or a challenge you want to conquer? It's the best feeling in the world when some form of authority puts you on the spot and you defuse them like a seal team with a bomb disposal kit.

Mind you I'm a tall muscular guy so I have a natural advantage at seeming intimidating which affects the psyche even in conversation. Get comments on my size a lot from people and that's because simply by existing I intimidate people (without even meaning to.) That has both its advantages and its disadvantages. Off the bat people trust you less (you're a threat) but respect you more too (because you're a threat.) It also makes these bouncer types either A: more likely to fight/dislike you B: more likely to backdown/respect you (depending on how they interpret shit within the moment and how you play it), people in general feel more strongly about you. You elicit a stronger fight or flight response when you have a strong PHYSICAL and MENTAL frame. I personally prefer to fight rather than flee, but the fighting doesn't always have to be physical. How I see it is like this: I rather have my dignity and lose at something than give up my dignity and still lose. If you're in a lose-lose situation go out proverbially swinging. Only play beta when that's the only way to win. Most times people miscalibrate and play beta thinking they will win by seeming nice, when all that does is make the other guy think you're a bitch and solidify defeat.

On being "marriage material."

17 upvotes · 26 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

As maudlin as some of my writings are and as melancholic as some of my revelations have been both personal and societal, I have great hope for humanity. Evil will always have more power than good because its very nature is destructive, but evil cannot prevail without good, because evil is parasitic (it feeds on good), in the absence of good evil would be forced to feed on other evil which would lead to the volatile high octane eradication of evil, meaning there would be nothing left. Think WW3. Whilst good/altruism on the other hand provides the infrastructure we need to thrive and survive, the systems which facilitate growth. I theorise there is a kind of esoteric limit on how much evil a society can function under before completely collapsing in on itself. There is only so much sociopathy a culture can sustain before that culture is so distrustful of itself that it becomes an isolated police state that leads to mass depression (something I think the anglosphere is already experiencing, very sociopathic cultures.)

Good-Evil, Masculine-Feminine, Day-Night, there is a recurring theme throughout nature, opposites need each other. If daybreak never came then how would crops grow? Likewise if the sun never went down, how would the planet retain it's water supplies? These are fundamental mechanisms of equilibrium, that is to say, elements that take part in a balancing act. Equilibrium doesn't mean equality as much as it means complementation.

Example of equilibrium (efficiency model) - A is good at X so does X whilst B is good at Y so does Y.

Example of equality (subjectively perceived fairness model) - Posits the question why A almost always gets to do X? Insists that B should get to do X too so it's "fair", campaigns for change citing that excluding B from X is inequitable, acts as if "exposing" the lack of B doing X is some profound philosophical messiah-esque insight that has been covered up for eternity, then gets all hysterical and says there was a conspiracy for A to systematically undermine B, convinces B it's a victim of A and then makes B hate A, whilst punishing A for hating B (whether as a response to B's hatred after believing lies about A or not, it matters not for it doesn't discriminate.)

Such is the fallacy of ideology like feminism, it's destructive because it vilifies complementation in the name of diversity and "progressiveness."

This is why we've always had religion as a kind of natural law to make people moral (YES it was abused by the DT elite, just like capitalism is, but the MASSES were made to behave morally and religion was effective in making this possible) without goodness everything falls apart, even though goodness is weaker in terms of power dynamics than evil is. You can't have one without the other. They complement each other just fine, it is all a part of the natural balance. He who strives to be eternally good is a naive fool, he who strives to be eternally evil is a heartbroken naive fool. Balance is key to functionalism.

Being controlling is for losers!

17 upvotes · 18 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That statement is just baseless.

No it isn't. Less testosterone means they are more indecisive and risk-fearing, their hormonal balance also makes them emotionally erratic leading to poor judgements and emotional erraticism. These are bad qualities for a leader. A good leader is reasonable, fair (just) and well-grounded, these are not qualities that can be found with abundance in women, outliers aside.

Shit if women made good leaders half of these kids growing up to single mother head of households wouldn't be so fucked up. You're free to think what you like, I respect your right to disagree, but without a compelling counter argument then I don't see us agreeing (being pedantic by picking apart my argument rather than having a position based in your own reasoning doesn't constitute a compelling counter-argument, for the record.)

How an increasingly feminized economy is forcing more men into entrepreneurship

17 upvotes · 2 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah, feminism is really only to blame for the catty women in the workplace (female bosses are fucking nazis and lose their shit constantly!) and the increased competition/lower salaries/low birth rates/destruction of functional family. It's not responsible for the globalisation/outourcing of jobs in exporting manufacturing/industry to the third world so that economies like china and brazil can boom whilst the young men of the developed world who would have gone into those jobs a few generations back now find themselves unemployed. Such is the nature of greedy corporations. Neither is it feminisms fault that people are living longer and the retiring age is going up and that retirement isn't even mandatory anymore so that plenty of old timers just stay on into their 70s or 80s meaning again, less work.

Nowadays if you want a job and you want to enjoy it, and you want real progression you have to make a job/business out of yourself. Find a skill/something you like and obsess with it. You probably won't make any money, or at least decent money for ages, you may have to live off welfare depending on your background, but eventually you can make it with persistence. That's what I see this article as being about. This is quite literally the opposite of "the kid who is set up to work in daddys firm on a bumped up salary because its the bosses son."

Would there be any interest in a city/regional guide?

17 upvotes · 19 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Trp doesn't work without anonymity because feminism permeates everything.

University just sent me this email.

17 upvotes · 8 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

oppressive forms of masculinity

I want to know about the oppressive forms of femininity such as alpha fucks beta bucks, they got a class for that?

Male Bonding, Arousal Addiction, and Isolation

17 upvotes · 6 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

He's saying a beta dad is almost as bad as having no dad.

Clubs are a scam if you are average.

17 upvotes · 3 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Desperation is never sexy brother.

Last night I got one of the best compliments a man can receive.

17 upvotes · 27 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

They're in denial or confusing sexism with misogyny.

A misogynist hates all women purely because they are women, it is a blanket unjustified form of discrimination.

Sexism is realising the genders are different based on observation/experience and attributing contempt where it is reasonable to do so, being a woman should not make you immune to criticism or contempt, if you do things that are equally stupid and contemptible. Just as it isn't for men. It's funny as in politically correct society it is actually status quo to award women benevolent sexism, so nobody is complaining about sexism when its men who have to pay the price, but as soon as women are paying the price in the form of reputation and hearing truths they don't like? Apparently sexism stops becoming acceptable because it's not a type of sexism that benefits women.

If women aren't making the cut and are showing shitty attributes you have all the justification in the world not to like the women who show said behaviour. If you don't like sluts and 80% of women you encounter are sluts, you don't have to like those women. Yeah, sure, they're all women, but you don't dislike them for being women, you dislike them for being sluts. If a woman comes along and she isn't a slut, you're not going to dislike her because she's a woman. The fact she is a woman is irrelevant, a cunt is a cunt, a slut is a slut, an airhead is an airhead etc.

It is sexism, not misogyny. People get these words confused. Misogyny is like the word racist, it is just used to shut people up and stop legitimate observations about specific groups being made. It's how dumb/emotional people win arguments. Hating all women is fucking stupid, it means you deprive yourself of the ability to enjoy the rare good ones that are out there. However at TRP we call a spade a spade. If she talks like a dumbass, behaves like a cunt and fucks like a slut, she's probably not wife material. Pointing that out and laughing at it is our right, fuck sensibilities. These women will never learn to be better people if we go on telling them everything they want to hear just because we want to fuck them.

Edit: typos

Maximum Blue Pill: "Woman makes her fiance take a lie detector test every time he leaves the house AND bans him from watching women on TV"

17 upvotes · 19 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Holy shit looking at her makes me cry for the gene pool.

Is it our duty as men to report cheaters?

17 upvotes · 15 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's perverse, feminism has made it so that men are guilty until proven innocent when it comes to accusations of rape and sexual assault.

Abundance Mentality (Alpha) vs. Scarcity Mentality (Beta)

17 upvotes · 30 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The only thing that is lacking is the "how to get there"

It's not a step-by-step thing which is linear, everyone's journey is different because people have different extenuating circumstances which lead them to their sense of powerlessness. If someone wanted "a specific plan" you would have to find out an awful lot about them, come to understand their specific weaknesses and personally tailor a plan to suit their needs. It's kind of like a suit, shit needs tailoring to best suit someone, it's not a one size fits all type deal.

TRP self-improvement in a nutshell:

- Lift for extra T and a healthier body/more energy.
- Read 48 Laws of Power to understand the bullshit people do.
- Read How to Win Friends and Influence people to get the theory for charisma.
- Eat well/clean.
- Avoid negative energy, harness the positive.
- Hold frame/stoicism.
- Desensitize your fear responses with systematic desensitization (overcome approach anxiety by approaching so much it's no longer scary.)

Do even two of these things and you will see a massive improvement in your living standards. Do all of them and practice the theory from the books in the field and you will acquire a very strong frame.

It's all trial, error, sweat, blood, tears and all that arduous shit. You're basically trying to consciously recondition/reprogramme your mind to improve your quality of life. Most betas have really bad habits and deeply ingrained weaknesses can take ages to overcome.

If your SMV is low, EG: you're fat, poor, unpopular or whatever then forget women/socialising/doing pointless shit for a good year 6 months to a year - just be utterly selfish forget everyone else and go do your own thing.

17 upvotes · 25 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I was in my twenties and running in a circle of super cool musicians

Social proof isn't something most "dirt poor" guys have.

Anyone else come from a female only household?

17 upvotes · 21 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I am thankful for adulthood since my youth wasn't that great to me.

Because kids lack the autonomy to resist the indoctrination that is the bluepill, as far as I'm concerned feminist dogma beaten into kids heads is tantamount to child abuse.

The importance of not giving a fuck.

17 upvotes · 24 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Without the usual sarcasm attached to this line intended, cool story bro!

No really, enjoyed reading that. Haha.

French President's record low approval rating increases among only women after learning of his secret love affair with a popular actress.

17 upvotes · 14 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Everyone in power is a corrupt power-hungry sell-out. Guilty until proven innocent. If you understand power, you understand why I take this stance. Noble intentions alone were never enough to secure dominance even as a glorified overpaid puppet.

New report says millions of women at risk of falling into poverty, economic ruin

17 upvotes · 13 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminism is all about selling the idea women are victims no matter what, no matter how illogical or perverse whilst completely ignoring the male experience of humanity.

Comparisons are only drawn between men and women as long as it makes women look positive or weak/oppressed. If the comparison makes men seem more favourable it is kept quiet, ignored or disregarded out of hand.

Feminism is the ultimate pseudo scientific ideological bullshit of the 20th and early 21st century.

A listing of the truths TRP reveals?

17 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That makes sense. If you dominate her she's going to be attracted. If you get passive aggressive over something she said you're going to seem like a bitch and kill any attraction that may have been there.

Woman quits birth control, libido skyrockets... for alpha cock!

17 upvotes · 6 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Then I read up on how the pill kills many womens libido and decided to quit taking the pills four months ago.

The implant turned my ex from a raging nympho into a lifeless fossil.

You can get pills that don't kill libido, she has to experiment. Sounds like the OP on this redditlog had really bad pills as she said sex made her sore... wow, fuck that.. poor her (shit sex) and poor guy that has to have crap/no sex with her.

What to do if a guy at your girlfriends work is talking shit to her and saying inappropriate things?

17 upvotes · 5 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's OK man you're in the right place for changing your naivete, you'll either change the dynamic around in this relationship or end up nexting her based upon your progress of understanding.

Guy has read up on game and has girlfriend believe he is a player, when in fact she is the only girl he has been with.

17 upvotes · 28 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The younger you get jaded the fucking better. At least then you can live in reality and protect your assets rather than waste even more precious time in a blue pill reality fantasy.

Girl who friendzoned me nearly 10 years ago slammed into the wall and recently messaged me.

17 upvotes · 28 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The victorians had a better morality model than we do now. I concur.

No one gives a shit about you.

17 upvotes · 27 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

wow wtf. FUCK THAT. Not even my significant ex was that much of a cunt. That bitch nursed me and I loved her for it.

Feminist Snow Removal Program Introduced in Sweden, in Which "Female" Areas Such as Bus Stops and Preschools Must Be Cleared Before "Male" Areas Such as the Roads Leading to Them

17 upvotes · 15 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

No. It's retarded.

Feel Good Bullshit: What it is, why it's bad, and how to spot it

17 upvotes · 13 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If I respect the guy whose gf wants to fuck me, I'll bros before hoes and give him a heads up. If he rejects my advice, I'll fuck her and then tell him to save him from his own ignorance.

If I don't know the guy or respect him, I have no commitment to him and thus I'll fuck his gf, he's her problem not mine.

Addendum: Her being a hoe is not reason enough for me to disrespect him. Women will cheat on alphas too if another alphas got sharp enough game.

I think this sub is being trolled, and you rubes are upvoting it

17 upvotes · 1 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I can already see redpillschool saying: don't concern troll.

Hahahaha. Yes, he certainly will.

The thing is, even though there will be elements of truth to what OP is saying, it's being over dramatised. I still see lots of decent posts/topics on here sure there are more noobs posting crap, and a lot of people who don't post bad things per say, but don't understand something simple such as what alpha fucks/beta bucks means.

Honestly, noobs, read the fucking sidebar, I had to do it 6-7 months ago, I read the sidebar and rationalmale for a fucking week before making an idiot of myself, so put the time in or give up and go away.

Ignorance and sabotage are inevitable in anything that goes big unfortunately, it doesn't mean the organism due to some imperfections is doomed or some shit.

/u/redpillschool has very good reasons for why he deletes threads like this, basically you're undermining the entire sub out of "concern" and putting a huge downer on it by saying its already going to shit, when really ironically, posts like this demoralise the noobs/those who get taken in and don't have their own solidly formed opinions yet and you alienate people with a negative vibe.

To quote what redpillschool said to me when I made a thread similar to this and it got removed, don't bitch, be the change you want to see. Bitching in the sub about people bitching in the sub does not help the sub. So if you really care, stop making these fucking threads - downvote bad posts, upvote good ones - report trolls/dickheads/topics that go way off focus and contribute your own material of value.

If everyone would do that, rather than bitch, the sub would run just fine. There's going to be turbulence but that doesn't mean the sub's going to 9/11, threads like this probably get the bluepillers masturbating their genitals with glee as they watch you all bicker and encourage dissent with rhetoric that, although correct in some manner, does more harm than it does good.

Any legitimate and rationally founded concerns should be messaged directly to mods privately to prevent such demoralisation.

A Note on "Real" Alphas

17 upvotes · 21 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Incoming thread on bluepill "OMGZ SUPER ALPHA REDPILLSCHOOL COMES OUT OF CLOSET AS A KEWL GUY!" permalinks to this quote... lmfao.

Apparently "crazy" is now a forbidden word to describe women's behavior. This belongs here.

17 upvotes · 13 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I tell bitches they are crazy because they are. Simple.

And they need reminding they are crazy when they're saying some illogical incoherent nonsense in the form of an elaborate shit test.

My GF started comparing me to her friends BF

17 upvotes · 3 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Lmfao. I was thinking shopping bags. Fuck the handbag holding bullshit, one of the lamest shit tests going.

Real life example of a girl cheating on her beta bucks, "coming clean" after feeling guilty, deciding not to cheat again... and then ironically decides to come back and fuck again. Hamster gymnastics!

17 upvotes · 14 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Thanks. I've been thinking of starting my own blog lately to better compartmentalise the pill (essentially up the mg per dose) as since I first joined here, I've noticed that quite noticeably, the sub has become saturated with lower quality posts and on occasion, out right bluepill betaness (lots of new users from fast growth!)

Luckily for me as I became more red pill the decline in quality wasn't too sharp and didn't impact me as I had a good grounding from earlier posts (think I joined up on reddit in May just to join this sub, hadn't been on reddit before that!) but I think for newer people unplugging there's a lot of information to sift through, contrary opinion, and some things just aren't worth paying attention to, like the copious blue pill examples, some of the things some posters are saying are also just very off key and conflicting information is not good for a newbie. I mean I answered a post about alcohols relation to the red pill the other day, when I first joined up it was less uncertainty and more preachy.

I also have great books recommendations to share, podcasts and the like run by others - but I simply can't keep reiterating in every post "buy this" "watch this" it gets exasperating.

The subs still great, but the signal to noise ratio has gone down. I'll be sticking around, obviously, I owe this sub a lot - but if time permits, I may start a little side project soon and formulate my own red pill antibiotic, if you will.

Lesbian couples twice as likely as gay men to end civil partnership

17 upvotes · 9 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Oh shit he went there. LMAO.

Girl leaves her provider BF to fuck her ex when he complains about his day

17 upvotes · 6 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha. A guy I know gets his cousin (who's a girl) to slap up girls for him who're being insufferable assholes. In fact, a lot of the time she offers/does it for him without him asking, but he said she's nice to have around for that. It's actually insane that females can hit whoever they like and get away with it without anyone jumping in, but the opposite is met with huge punishment, both legal and social.

You Really Can't Make This Shit Up (Part 2)

17 upvotes · 1 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Heh, for reference she's been with him 2.5 years and has been pissed off with him for "quite some time" she even admitted to me she doesn't like to be single, literally the only reason she's with him is because she's waiting for something better. These hos man, they're fucking users to the end. Remember that next time a girl tries the old "you just used me for sex line" it's like "LOL, that's rich!"

How can I, as a woman, make my boyfriend happy and be marriage material?

17 upvotes · 30 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

What I value in women

- don't hate men
- intellectual/read, you can make a point well but don't feel like you have to impose it and always be right
- she likes to fuck a lot and doesn't make drama out of sex or weaponise it.
- She'll support my plans and help me execute them, she's not trying to mother or control but assist and enrich
- She sees us as a team, not me a target to discuss with friends
- I feel loved when a woman bothers to cook me something
- The shit tests are minimal after I cruise through the "getting to know you" stage. I won't deal with a woman whose so insecure that she won't let up shit testing.

Can't say I've found a woman who manages all this shit, hence plates. Notice the lack of desire for her to have a good job or provide or be high status and have lots of friends, those things are IRRELEVANT to men.

Most women self sabotage relationships and then wonder why the love of their life is gone. Other times hes beta you mother him and boom same outcome.

Help for a friend.

17 upvotes · 10 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

- 48 Laws of Power
- The Art of Seduction
- No More Mr Nice Guy
- The Manipulated Man
- Rational Male - Best of Year One
- Rational Male - Best of Year Two

You can't read all of that and still be blue pill unless your brain has the grey matter cell count of a metaphorical sieve.

I'm constantly looking at my copy of 48 Laws of Power, it's something that even when fully read you can go back to and refresh on and read multiple times, it's a bestseller for a reason. It will help any man build value in his life, although it can leave a bitter taste on the philosophical ponderings of human nature. It's a very red pill book, and very pragmatic, however if one is supplementing their sanity with blue pill fantasies, they may have a very adverse reaction to some of the shit written in this book. This book has been referred to by some as "the book of the devil" and no, there's no satanic shit in it, this is just the kind of reaction bluepillers have when reality and power dynamics are verbalised and explained. They shut the fuck down and stick their fingers in their ears.

Art of Seduction I also own, it's very verbose on the historical references which may annoy some, it allows you to identify different types of "alpha women" by laying out how they go about seducing you. It also identifies "alpha men" and how they go about seducing women. I'm currently on a hiatus from actively gaming chicks or even bothering to spin plates or any other shit that involves time and energy on women, I'm not MGTOW but I am busy building value and working on myself to be distracted and investing the time on strategizing to get tail so I'm on a hiatus.

I read about 20 pages of No More Mr Nice Guy and I knew I wasn't a nice guy, so I stopped reading it, it was boring me and telling me shit I already knew. I guess this book is for absolute betas/clueless guys. It gets recommended here when guys are "just too nice". Seeing as I didn't read much, I can't personally endorse this one, but other people here will.

I read like 50-60 pages of The Manipulated Man. If you are a man that has a pussy on a pedestal as a gender-wide mindset, this woman's writings (yes you read correctly) will rip you a new asshole in perspective. I didn't read it all because it's very negative and not very practical, essentially the book is an attack on feminism and reframes feminism in a way that men were and are exploited by society. Good book for men who think women are the superior gender and would otherwise consider being transgender and getting HRT due to cultural feminist bigotry conditioning them to view masculinity perversely.

Rational Male best of year one is a collection of articles from the manosphere writer Rollo in his first year, I've probably read about 50% of those articles featured (and a good number more not featured) that's a lot of theory that can be applied practically in his writings, he's a good writer and has some interesting theories.

Rational Male Year Two is essentially the same as year one, but newer articles and theories. I haven't read them (fallen out of touch of reading Rollo because I'm too busy with life/reading 48 laws)

When you've considered how little I've read from this reading list, and I'm RP enough to be endorsed, it should tell you enough. There's hundreds of thousands of words, and thousands of theories, concepts and examples to get to grips with here, if you had a month straight to yourself with nothing else to do you could perhaps read all this and begin to internalise it, to truly internalise you need to see the theories in the real world, at work, in a bar, with a friends situation or whatever. Just 20-30% of this shit should see you becoming pretty RP. This is practically a red pill atom bomb of content. Enjoy.

Generalised advice:

- Lift/run, it helps with confidence and applying the knowledge/getting motivation/helping you value yourself. Makes a prettier body too so increases your SMV.
- Get rid of toxic people in your life, change jobs, ditch "friends." This especially means diehard feminists and radicals who see the world through an ugly ass filter.
- Respect - Don't take feminist arguments seriously. Don't take anyone you don't respect seriously. Automatically put people on 0, their actions can raise their respect with you so you take them more seriously and into the green or they can lower your respect and take your respect for them into the red. Value your respect, it is power, don't undervalue it, don't give it away unless its earnt.
- Agree and amplify when shit tested. Everyone does it. Your family does it. Your friends do it. Girls you want to fuck do it and attack you with a barrage of shit tests like a re-enactment of the London Blitz. People tend to notice it when they're getting blitzed, but truthfully whenever someone tests your frame, it's a shit test.
- Build value, maintain it and defend it from shit testing/other agendas or face losing it, it sounds like "this friend" had a lot of his own personally perceived and/or actual value tied to his ex, and since she dumped him he's beside himself and feeling worthless/confused. Peace. Good luck to him.

Betas praise TRP then instantly shoot it down

17 upvotes · 9 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

No bros before hos means dont go poaching your boys love interest. Thats a violation of a sacred boundary. You don't fuck your boys EX, GF, WIFE or the girl he's "seeing". Whether it's alpha/beta, two betas, two alphas, doesn't matter - you don't value a ho over your bro, hos can be replaced, the friendship with your boy is worth more. In fact it's fucking beta to be some guys friend who will poach your chick and tolerate that, that's no basis for lasting friendship. Respect. Loyalty. These are things that are valued above all else in male to male friendships. You won't get that shit from women, That's why we have the bros before hos rule. A ho is a bang (or two, or three) and then she's gone. Your boy will be driving up to a hospital to see you when you're fucked up some time, winging for you, getting you out of trouble, covering for you etc.

If you don't respect this shit you don't deserve bros to conversate and bond with, go be an "alpha wolf" cuz it seems you value pussy more than anything else.

Hoes before bros is beta. Pussy on a pedestal shit. Priorities.

" I know if I hooked up with someone now it would hurt her. "

17 upvotes · 25 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

This my men is an example of when a chick just doesn't respect you.

The game is lost.

Now it's pretty fucked up, but if he went out, banged a couple of chicks and cut all contact with her and she heard he'd banged some chicks, she'd be mad as fuck but she'd be attracted again.

Life's a bitch.

AskWomen thread where srs use multiple accounts to circlejerk about dating TRP men.

17 upvotes · 12 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

This is why not giving two fucks is a hell of a drug. Caring what people think whom are purposely out to undermine your way of thought because it threatens theirs is a sure fire way to end up getting fucked up. I laugh at them when they bother to harass me with an IM or randomly comment on something I posted.

TRP to Feminism isn't a negotiation, it's a disagreement. TRP doesn't need feminism and feminism doesn't need TRP, they are in conflict, hence why the religious followers of feminism will never agree with the shit here even if you drop a metric ton of proof on their heads, close minded establishment brainwashed indoctrinated bints regurgitating incessant tosh is what they are.

"If you blatantly compliment my big boobs and I don't know you, then that means you're a potential rapist."

17 upvotes · 31 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

They see what they want to see, it's also a subtle way of bragging that she's attractive and is desirable because she gets attention without being overt with it (I'm raising a real, like, real important issue! Not bragging about my boobies! Honest!) The whole piece is lacking in substance and attacks no real tangible issue, it's just attention seeking and the "potential rapist" bs is completely unsubstantiated, it's just in there to stir in a little controversy and tow the feminist line by repeating it's droning monotonous brainwash rhetoric. All in all the article is a pretty unimpressive cliché of underwhelming diatribe constituting animal feces and cats bollocks for both entertainment and informative value.

the Relationship's subreddit to saving your sham of a marriage? "1. Be More Beta, 2. Be More Beta, 3. Be Beta, Damn it!"

17 upvotes · 22 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm so beta professors think I'm greek

How Last Relationship Red Pilled me

17 upvotes · 29 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Stories like this remind me why in the old days women weren't given sexual freedom. Female sexual freedom = unstable cuckoldry society and contraception pretty much facilitated all of that. Now it's just an alpha fucks beta bucks constantly, even a nice girl like this ended up turning into a whore because of the environment she was in. It's always painful to see a girl (any girl, not just your gf/ex-gf) turn into a fully fledged whore. All that self-entitlement due to overdosing on male attention etc. Heh, shits gonna crash and burn a generation or two down the line because women are simply allowed to do whatever the fuck they like, which means they end up jumping from cock to cock and being shit at the monogamy they ironically oh so crave. And they wonder why the kids are so fucked up nowadays... because you let women be whores, quite simply.

Girlfriend has male friend that has sexual dreams about her

17 upvotes · 26 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Sounds like she's friendzoned him in the most hardcore way, he's in the brother zone (assuming they have no sexual history together)

Naturally he's a man and if she's hot, he wants to fuck her. He can't help that as a man, we're visually stimulated that's all it takes. Neither you nor her can change that, if she's brother zoned him I'd say you can trust her around him as anything short of rape, she's not going to do shit with him as she has high comfort but low attraction for him. There love is platonic because despite his sexual urges she enforces that paradigm (he gives her emotional validation - beta status) and they have a strong attachment bond from years of knowing each other. However if they have any sexual history together even if it was a "one off" this shows she's capable of being attracted sufficiently enough to fuck the guy, which means if his game is sharp, she could do the deed! If it's indeed the latter, sounds like you've been pulled into something of a love triangle. In that instance I'd get the fuck out, you don't need the drama.

TLDR: He's a threat if they've fucked before, if they haven't it's a childhood friend in the most hardcore of hardcore friendzones known as the brotherzone

Boyfriend not paying enough attention to you? Punch yourself in the face, rip your clothes and accuse two people on Facebook of rape

17 upvotes · 7 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

My Britannia, you were alpha as fuck, the embodiment of cultural and political alphaness, USA was settled by Europeans because of your empire, you lose the colonies because you were fighting the dutch, spanish and french empires simultaneously and couldn't spare the forces on ANOTHER front, you ran close to one third of the planet and had an empire that lasted 346 years.

Now you are a politically correct, radically liberal shit pit with no spine that operates some hitler level feminism.

Wtf happened to Britain? Britain didn't lose WW2, the Japanese did though and look how well they're doing versus the UK (economically, multicultural and social identity etc.)

It's pathetic. To put into context, UK went from alpha male of the planet to developed world beta bitch post world war 2. I honestly wonder why UK didn't maintain it's dominance and let feminism among other bullshit ideology hijack its functioning culture and reduce it to what it is today, an island of mostly blue pill betas and undereducated idiots.

For reference: I'm English, born and bred - talking about my own country here and would love some serious analysis on wtf happened, no intent to thread hijack but this article just makes me wonder all this shit because of this excerpt in the linked article:

Britain pays crime victims, including women who claim they've been raped (some false accusers have been paid), substantial sums of money as "compensation." The alleged rapes need not have involved violence to trigger the payments. Britain does not compensate men for the harm they suffer after being falsely accused, no matter how egregious. We examined this stark double standard here:

<http://falserapesociety.blogspot.com/2010/06/it-is-official-britain-pays-women-to.html>

I keep doing things I don't want to do. I want you to know that I don't want to do the things, even as I do them. I am not the sort of person who does the things I keep doing.

17 upvotes · 28 May 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Female logic is quite limited, MEN and WOMEN know that, but few women will actually admit this universal truth. All humans have problems being real about themselves and trying to be introspective without eliciting any associated emotion that may cloud that perception, however women don't seem to even bother with proper introspection like we men do. It seems they just want to hear what makes them feel better so the hamster can be fed and they can go on their merry way feeling better. Truly, they are ultimately selfish creatures, for they give up the pursuit of understanding any legitimate psychology or basis of truth instead prioritising their own emotional well-being above the truth, their no.1 prerogative is to FEEL GOOD and satiate their hamster from sources of external validation.

If you'd told that chick anything she DID NOT WANT TO HEAR, she'd not accept that reasoning. It's like she knows "the answer" but has to hear someone else say it for it to become legitimate. So really "the answer" is not necessarily the truth, but something that makes her feel good. It's like you telling me the truth and me hating how it makes me feel, thus I disregard the wisdom of your truth despite it's intrinsic validity, simply because it just doesn't make me feel good. The truth is bitter and women seem most allergic to it's taste.

Ask me questions about TRT (Testosterone Replacement Therapy)

16 upvotes · 5 April 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

Honestly, I don't consider having to monitor your blood work every few months a good reason not to want to improve your hormonal health. Monitoring blood work is really not that difficult, yes, some may have more problems than others with it eg: they can't get their hematocrit down no matter how frequently they have phlebotomies and thus TRT isn't an option for them, but they are the unlucky minority. Anyone in that situation would quit TRT.

Another one people like to over blow is the prostate cancer risk (which has been overstated and is barely a risk) - what do you do if your PSA gets too high? You stop TRT and it goes back down. Most men on TRT have no issue with their PSA, yet it's constantly brought up as a reason NOT TO do something that can lend immeasurable benefit to the life of the average man. This seems like disingenuous fear-based thinking and doesn't stand up to scrutiny when one does a cost-benefit analysis.

If you want to unsubscribe over this, that's your choice and you are free to do so and I will nonetheless be thankful for the support you gave up until that point. I've done one modafinil article, and will do one TRT FAQ in tandem with an online American men's health clinic. It's hardly a central focus of my literature, and I can't allow the community to dictate what I do and do not write due to their own apprehensions, lack of knowledge in an area, personal taste, or general reticence. As an adjunct, my modafinil article urged extreme caution and gave practical tips on minimising the risk of side-effects - far more than any other modafinil article on the internet has done.

We are an unorthodox community and should be willing to push the envelope as much as is safely possible. Fear of what could go wrong is not a sufficient reason not to do something, it's not a masculine value in my eyes to not do something due to potential risks, especially when the risks are overblown and the benefits are downplayed.

I've been on TRT with a primary care physician, and he did a terrible job despite being better trained in that area than most physicians (default practice in the UK is 1000mg/4ml testosterone undecanoate every 10-12 weeks, which is a horrible protocol that messes most men up). Simply reading a book by a top TRT doc, I now know more than most qualified medical physicians do when it comes to TRT.

That sounds absurd and pathetic, because it is, but not because I'm talking out of my ass, but because most physicians truly know little in this area, and are incapable or unconfident in administering and managing a regimen properly (as you admitted in relation to yourself). So often, TRT patients have to find an open-minded doctor that they can actually educate on the current literature in order to get an optimum protocol, assuming they simply do not give up on the medical profession and self-medicate out of frustration with said profession's incompetence.

I'm not prescribing regimens or playing doctor. I am fully aware I am not a doctor, but I do not believe one needs to be a doctor to understand this topic and answers questions in relation to it. I will also be linking book resources in the FAQ that people can read from and do their own independent research with before they come to any finalised decision.

I am simply answering questions about something people have a lot interest in, based upon my personal experience and research. I see nothing wrong with this. These men will be able to go and see a licensed physician and will be well equipped with the knowledge necessary to have the best experience with said physician, rather than blindly follow the medical profession, who are unfortunately not all that skilled or up to date when it comes to contemporary TRT practice.

Sadly, most physicians will mess your body up rather than optimise you due to their lack of knowledge, assuming they agree to a protocol at all which is all the more reason correct and current knowledge in this area should be propagated. There is a serious lack of physicians who know what they're doing when it comes to male hormonal health. This is why self-education in this area is paramount, and I think the constant dissuading and hysteria surrounding the topic is well-meant, but ultimately foolish.

I will press on.

Polish grandma spits Red Pill truths

16 upvotes · 13 May 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Women are nothing if not pragmatic. Except when it comes to career shit. Plenty of average women with nary an intellectual bone in their body pursue a dumb degree and a job in human resources somewhere when pairing up and keeping house would be much easier.

[FR] It was something out of a Porn Scene.

16 upvotes · 3 February 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

I'll play devil's advocate here and say I think there's something to this. Some people have a small tattoo of something they love, their baby's name, a birth date, something symbolic - great, completely harmless and more sentimental than attention seeking.

But the majority of people with tats get them to seek attention or scream at the world "HEY GUYS CHECK ME OUT IM SO UNIQUE IM SO DIFFERENT I'M COVERED IN TRIBALS!" - this is some insecure ass shit and I think this accounts for the majority of tattoos done since the boom of generation narcissism.

So it's really about discerning someone who has a humble symbolic tattoo of something close to their heart from someone who has a stupid fucking design that they adorn in an attempt to garner attention.

When I see a girl with a nose piercing or a lot of tattoos or dyed colour hair (piercings, tats and brightly coloured hair being THE trifecta) I know the person is emotionally unstable/crazy/probably not somebody I'd want anything to do with.

This is not to say everyone with dyed hair AND/or tats AND/or piercings are crazy people, because that's bullshit, but you'd be lying if you said THERE WAS NO link between people fucking with piercings, tats and exotically coloured hair and emotional instability.

I have nothing personal invested in this argument, but I think if we're judging girls for this shit, it's only fair we say the blue haired dragon tatted pierced dude is an unstable freak too.

New York City Tax dollars at work: Study Shows Women's Products Cost More Than Men's

16 upvotes · 24 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

No shitlord, the patriarchy is funding its discounts on male products by overcharging women! This is institutionalised and systematic oppression! As if women didn't earn less as it is due to patriarchy! It's not that they work less or do easier college majors, the patriarchy just wants to pay them less and then charge them more so that they stay barefoot and pregnant! The patriarchy conspires to oppress all wimminz!

/s

Neil Strauss, author of "The Game", prostrates himself before womankind and begs for forgiveness.

16 upvotes · 11 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I think one of the misconceptions is that someone else can be tricked into doing something they don't want to.

They can't. That's why we don't trick them into doing things they don't want to do, we make them want to do them by telling them what they want to hear, showing them what they want to see - and that works. Is there anything different from "tricking people" and "telling people what they want to hear" not really, you see I said the same shit twice there if you're perceptive, but if you're not, you think I just made a totally cool and profound point that undermines what he said. And it did. Because I just rephrased what he said in a less negative and thus more rhetorically pleasing way. That my friends is the art of spin.

And you know what? "reframing things" and "tricking people into doing what you want" are things women do innately without any need for an online community. Know why? Because women are innately entire fucking magnitudes more Machiavellian than men are; their natural instinct for cunning dwarfs man's.

For every naturally cunning man out there, there are 100 equally cunning women. Women may be idiots in that they are easily fooled, but that is only because they allow themselves to be - because they want to be - because their emotionalism makes them wilfully blind to reality. It is not because they are insufficiently manipulating and innocent as society would have you believe. And yes, it is always easier to believe someone is innocent and sweet when they are immensely fuckable. The halo effect is a bitch.

Women don't need to be taught charm or manipulation, for both are the natural purview of women. But men, men are not so naturally cunning. They need help with that. Men have to study just to recognise manipulation. Women have it in their very blood to behave manipulatively, something that takes an order of magnitude more ability than mere recognition.

The funny thing is for every idiotic man out there who doesn't even know about communities such as this one, you have a woman who is completely competent in wrapping men around her finger getting advice from woman's magazines and girl friends on how to "play the game" with a man.

The double standards are sickening. Truth be told, "the oppressed class" ain't all that oppressed, being physically fragile and fuckable does not negate women's innate capacity for great mental violence. Something they are all too apt in. As is alluded to with AWALT, caveat emptor.

Men fail their relationships by treating women like their mother

16 upvotes · 23 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Quite right. As explicitly stated in the hierarchy of love, love flows downwards:

Men > Women > Children

UK Government Mental Health Expert is also a Feminist who is now pushing to ban male teens from gyms. /// Also: The Misandry Bubble's Pendulum at half-motion

16 upvotes · 23 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't understand why we just started granting everyone independence after expending all that energy on colonisation in the first place. And then after giving people independence, we invited Pakistanis, of all the people in the commonwealth, to come over in droves. I would have much preferred Indian Hindus or even Sikhs because they are FAR MORE peaceful people than Muslims. I mean for a book that says to deceive non-believers and slay them where they stand.. no thanks. I don't think we want to give you homes and jobs in a more technologically developed land just so you can undermine our culture.

What exactly were they thinking when inviting tribesmen from Kashmir to come and live in England? All of that was just the precedence for Rotherham and the muslim pedophile sex gangs grooming girls as young as 11 up and down the country, "sharia controlled zones" - where muslims try to impose their values on non-muslims passing through and all the bullshit Enoch Powell warned of in Rivers of Blood, but was utterly condemned for.

Islamification is a sickness that feeds on the dying corpse of western civilization. The future of Europe hangs in the balance when muslims are fertility positive and ethnic Europeans are not, because they've lost religion and replaced it with feminism (which is not compatible with ANY religion.)

Cenk gets put back in his place on the Young Turks

16 upvotes · 15 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I love the completely vapid and dismissive "sure" from the green chick around the 9:55 mark. That kind of uppity attitude is something I absolutely loathe in a woman, as I'm sure many of the men here do.

Women don't care about logic, they're not very good at it, and it's beyond the ability of most women to consistently and correctly use logic beyond the realm of common sense (assuming the woman in question even has that.) Average women only care about ensuring their collective self-serving victim narrative, logic be damned. Feminism taps into this, exacerbates it, and encourages it. As for the woman in green, she has all the sophist and aesthetic trappings of logic in her idiolect but substantively lacks reason. She can fool stupid people that she is reasonable, because she'll throw a word in like "intrinsic" but if you analyse her reasoning you will see it is disjointed. She regurgitates talking points she is comfortable with.

Cenk's reasoning was superior because he demonstrates a chain of reasoning via cause and effect. He then uses this to determine credibility. I don't think his reasoning is superior because I agree with it, but because the entire chain of reasoning is actually visible. You can't say that for any other person in that conversation.

The women just make emotional claims, ad hominems and strawmans and do not address the points in his argument. Rather, they address his argument by forming their own independent of his in an attempt to make his look silly. As for the other guy, he was pandering to the mob of harpies because their decibel level intimidated him, but he was agreeing with Cenk in secret. Only Cenk had the balls to speak his mind. Women respect a man (and so find attractive) a man who calls her on her bullshit. Cenk would get pussy, the other guy wouldn't.

Note how the guys lose because they constantly address the women's flawed reasoning, whilst when Cenk makes a valid point the women do not even address it. This is typical female shit, they will gloss the fuck over your home run and just keep hitting you with piles and piles of asinine bullshit until you just give the fuck up even bothering to get them to agree/understand.

It's just constant attack-attack-attack with the women, there is no back and forth logical discourse. Because even though they take turns to speak, they do not correctly identify any flawed element in Cenks argument. They can't, because it's a solid argument. So they have to manufacture bullshit extraneous of that to try and put a dent in it. They create bullshit assertions based on how they feel about the topic. Their retorts do not disprove any component of his argument. Not even once.

For example, if I say, a car drives because it has wheels and oil. You would discredit it by saying "but there were no wheels or oil, so it cannot drive." This is how you discredit an argument logically. What these women do is ignore what you're saying about the car, do not attack any component of your argument, but say something loosely related to a car to try and discredit, eg: "So are you saying we don't need roads for our cars?!?! Are you saying TeslaX can't make oil cars and that all cars really need to have wheels and oil? Do you really believe that?" and then they make all these exasperated and disapproving whiny noises like it's you being the cunt. When actually they're the cunts who don't get it, and are getting a huge emotional high off their own indignance and so want to continue to perpetuate the neurotic hell.

It's almost as if, women love drama so much, that they will purposely defy logic and frustrate you just to get high off your anger and their indignance. They absolutely and utterly feed on that. And the angrier you get in communicating your logic, the more it feeds her neurotic and wholly irrational resolve. They feed on it, like energy vampires. And if they don't like it? Well after frustrating you into being more aggressive with your logic they'll just use the "you're scaring me, why are you so angry?!?!" card and play victim. Honestly, taking women seriously in debate is a loser's game. You're better off making fun of her. The moment you take her seriously and let it get to you, she's got you by the balls.

When you argue with women, you enter their frame. Don't argue with women. Want a woman to agree with you? Manipulate her feelings, tap into her solipsism. Don't expect her to give a fucking damn about reason. She's not a man. She won't give a shit. Enough of the illogical bullshit you see in this video and you will start fantasising about suffocating her in her sleep. So don't do it. For both your sakes.

IM's Firstly Monthly Mailbag - Post-college life, how to use Narcissism, 10 books on personal growth and why I still bother with TRP

16 upvotes · 6 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Agreed on all counts, but particularly this:

Discussion begets discussion which often leads fo revelation.

A number of my essays came from discussions I had with people here. Not all, but a good number.

[ArousalScience] Observations on Tinder through the eyes of an attractive female. 4 types of profile pictures that will end with you getting rejected.

16 upvotes · 17 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah he had pretty bad diabetes. I'm betting that was a significant factor in his early death.

Put-Downs: An Art You Need to Master

16 upvotes · 3 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I love a good backhanded compliment. If you're too metaphorical, the dumb bitches won't get it though. That's a lot of bitches.

Women are not liars

16 upvotes · 2 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The point of this post is not to excuse women's bullshit, it is a viewpoint to replace anger with acceptance.

I'm a bit biased. I think you can accept women and be a little angry, but calibration is a thing a man must fine-tune which comes with age and maturity. Underlying anger is a good style, it commands respect/creates dominance/creates tingles. I rather be the guy that elevates heart rates than the guy who gets cucked. I know it's not that binary, but basically err on the side of asshole with acceptance, not the side of "oh isn't it wonderful how she doesn't even understand her own feelings?"

I don't think the vast majority of guys under 29-30 here are really going to take all that much value from this text. They still have a lot of growth to do and a lot of hoes to bang. Or they were raised poorly and are starting late on the grind to upgrade themselves. I mean young guys in poverty pursuing chicks have shit twisted. Get money. Guys need to see the ugliest of female nature before they can reach a level where they can give today's bratty women the patience and the paternalism that they all secretly crave but are too obnoxious and proud to publicly admit.

Also FYI: no problem with your post, the problem is David Deida's sugar-coating nonsense. Past all the bullshit flowery icing on top, the advice is solid.

No comfort- My experience treating my LTR like a plate

16 upvotes · 22 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

She is the most loyal girl I've had, always aiming to please. Likely the result of what I've done.

She is loyal to your ruthlessness, not to you. Women aren't capable of male loyalty, they love what you make them feel, not your person. In fact if you want her to leave you but you don't want to hurt her and you want it "to be her decision" then you will need to start acting all needy. Basically the opposite of how you are. Watch how fast she dumps you.

I suspect you're just keeping her around to farm her for sex. Sounds about right.

Today's middle-aged men inhabit a Neutered Uselessness

16 upvotes · 3 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

"Men are reactive while women are proactive."

I haven't heard a bigger inverted truth in a long time.

"I have seen how men react to each other. They cannot pull together. They can be very aggressive in trying to outdo each other. It makes them impossible to work with."

Tell that to every top of the league superstar sports team in the history of mankind, or the A team who went to the fucking moon and stuck a flag in it. I suppose they did that by aggressively outdoing each other the whole way there, eh? A sense of competition among men can push healthy rivalries and raise standards. I'm very shocked an SAS commander of all people would say such a ridiculous thing.

Roosh came across as an autistic man on Dr. Oz

16 upvotes · 30 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Roosh on the other hand is trying to appear more like a sane civilized man who wants people to understand his unpopular opinion.

That's his tactical error. To think these people respect the sane and civilized is a joke, for they are not sane nor civilized themselves. Amused mastery and mockery to keep them in line, laced with pearls of wisdom when they've calmed down and willing to listen for about 20 seconds would've been the correct route to go. Then when they think you're too sane and civilized and start giving you shit, you start making fun of them again. The media wants entertainment, this is fucking day time talk show nonsense for hamsters, not a fucking discovery channel documentary.

red pill conversation at a job interview

16 upvotes · 29 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The receptionist was a girl, 32 years old, who had two kids, one 13, one 10.

The first thing I did, almost impulsively, is figure out she had the 13 year old when she was 19 (and so was pregnant at 18.)

Then out of no where, she starts saying how shes upset that she missed the bar scene, never had the chance to, and I quote, "hook up with random guys",

Hoes gonna hoe. She kept a kid at 18 and probably had numerous cock between 15-18. She already hopped on the carousel, it was just cut short by the arrival of children. Silver lining: at least she actually hopped off, and wasn't one of these shitty mothers still riding the carousel, leaving 'em, home whilst she went out to fuck.

She also mentioned her boyfriend, but kept saying that he was too young for her, and saying basically she was going to dump him when her kids went to college, obviously shes using him to help her take care of and pay for the kids.

Well she already has him pegged as a chump because he's NICE STUPID ENOUGH to help her raise 2 bastard sprogs that aren't even his. Women are pragmatic to the point they can seem psychopathically instrumental and callous. Friend of mine says "all women are psychopathic" - I disagree, but I know where he's coming from. They can be so cunning and meticulous and flip a switch on how they act toward you, that I wouldn't blame someone for thinking that. Most definitely have superficial charm and glibness down.

She also opened up about her alcoholic father, and her intense fear of public speaking. I'm really not sure why she felt like telling all those things to someone she literally just met, but I got the job so I suppose i'll be hearing much more redpill confirmation from her in the future.

She's not really red pill. She's a train wreck that sees you as a shoulder to cry on. Do you have a soft look? Bitches never tell me shit like that because I have an unwelcoming look about me. Facial hair, tall, broad shouldered etc. Makes them feel fear around me - command presence - rather than "oooooh he's one of the girlies I'll tell him about my drinking problem!" (like I give a fuck anyway!)

Feminists on whatsyourprice.com

16 upvotes · 28 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Who is your market? The gay community? Hard to believe the heterosexual female community has that high a demand for cock.

How Men Love / Male Commitment

16 upvotes · 22 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I believe eastern women are different, even though AWALT still holds, there seems to be meaningful difference.

They are not so far along the spectrum of AWALT. (I need to do that AWALT post because so many people seem confused by this concept and need cognitive dissonance reconciled.) But essentially, say western women are 9/10's on the AWALT scale, eastern women will vary between 3-7 (depending on family.) They're the same at the fundamental level, the same rules apply, but how harshly those rules come into effect vary. Basically, they allow you more mistakes before they ditch your ass. She had good family and wasn't too pretty (6.5 = less options, so more grateful and will put up with more from a guy.)

To claim that a man's love is better is a bit disingenuous in my opinion.

You're thinking heavily with emotion, and I will respect the sanctity of that because it sounds like you've been through a lot (and probably aren't over this girl) - however unfortunately that doesn't stop me from disagreeing with you on this point. I won't argue your emotions, because that is futile, they are yours to process and I do not wish to disrespect them. It's probably for the best we agree that we disagree on this point and leave it at that.

It doesn't get more beta than this: I believe my ex provided the nurture I needed to heal from the emotional wounds that my mother inflicted upon me from years of neglect and verbal abuse, particularly during my childhood.

You've proved my point that men can't "look for their mother in a woman, have their cake, and eat it." She loved you in the way that she could, she helped you heal, she is a good woman, but ultimately she's still just a woman. Not even her sensibilities were enough for her to transcend her nature - you were weak - she healed you and left instead of just leaving you without helping you, but she still left you for being weak. A man doesn't leave a woman he fixed because she was weak and "shouldn't have needed fixing." We make women what we need them to be, women hope they just "find the right man." That is the difference in our love, men go further.

Women only reproduce with the top X% of men: it's an OLD rule

16 upvotes · 19 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Remember this the next time you read that women will only fuck the top 5-20% of men: it is not an exaggeration, there is indelible genetic proof encoded into each one of us today of that selection pressure in the past, continued even into the present day.

It's funny because both men and women so desperately want to believe in "egalitarianism" and yet with such a REPRODUCTION GAP anything BUT is the reality. When men are more advantaged it needs "to be redressed by egalitarianism" when women are more advantaged "we'll ignore that, or it's so biologically ingrained enforcing it requires a society that restricts female civil liberties, eg: conservative religion, and religion is evil so NO to that!" Pick your poison. Lots of social freedoms and women flocking around the top, or a more conservative society that enforces monogamy?

Our advanced civilization was built on the back of religion/monogamy, not female sexual preference acting as a selection pressure. Western Europe/North America were the most advanced civilizations for a long time. Why? Christianity. What's happening in the decline? The fall of Christianity. I wasn't raised religious, but I'm not turned off to the idea like most people seem to be who weren't raised in a religious household. I think there's a lot of bullshit in religion, but IT DOES SERVE a useful social function that things like atheism do not.

An intelligent man realises religion isn't all what it's cracked up to be, a very intelligent man realises that the bullshit is necessary bullshit (acts as a form of natural law for governing the impulses of amoral animals) and that this doesn't mitigate the utility of religion. Sure extreme religion, zealotry - religion out of hand - that's bad, and when they clash with other religions - that's bad - but for the family unit? It's brilliant.

Growing up Beta: Dealing with Disrespect from High School Friends

16 upvotes · 18 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Validation seeking passive behaviour is symptomatic of low confidence.

Making Up For Missing Out

16 upvotes · 17 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

And that's a tough pill to swallow. Most men here, at some point in their naiveté, probably dreamed of having a confidant. A female best friend who was also a lover they could share their lives with "till death do us part!" Such love is rare, and far more conditional than it appears to be. Alas, men are, in spite of all their logic, the irrational romantic ones when it comes to women. It takes a cold hard slap from reality to wake them up.

Continue improving yourself but let go of the idea that the hot girls who passed you up are going to suffer.

16 upvotes · 6 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Psychologically I find the uber-rich to be fascinating people. Usually always Machiavellian as fuck. I like Machiavellians. You're going to be paranoid as fuck when you're worth that much, there's always that "is this person only talking to me because of my money?" thing going on and yet, if a person has little money - the chances the rich person with that fear/paranoia will invest any significant time or mental capital on someone who isn't in their economic stratosphere is low. It's bad for their reputation, they offer no socially intelligible benefit. They're dead-weight. You're closed off to them, almost instantly. Exceptions apply (say the person is insanely smart or talented, but poor - you may see them as investable human capital if narcissism hasn't totally taken over) but as you insinuate, it's a very closed-off world. To be honest, I don't blame the rich for wanting to incubate themselves from this cultural collapse. It's the daughters being raised in that environment who need watching the most.

Indonesia is about to start producing a male birth control pill.

16 upvotes · 25 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Many of our more cynical members will say that you can't trust a woman to tell you the truth about taking birth control.

Cynicism or not "pulling an oopsie" is an actual thing. Women consciously and knowingly do it but don't give a fuck. It's a gambit to keep a man around who otherwise, would abandon them. That or her "biological clock is ticking" (she's aged 27-33 and not had a kid yet) and so as soon as she can get some quality alpha sperm swimming up her cervix she's obsessively intent on carrying out her biological imperative and having a baby. Logic be damned, she feeeeeeeeeeeelz compelled to have a baby. Regardless of if that ruins any career, gives the child a bad upbringing struggling in poverty or whatever, that's what women do. Ruled by instinct with no agency in doing otherwise. Women who once decried how they are "childfree" and "never want a baby ruining their body" are now infected by the ole baby rabies and desperate to get pregnant.

A lot of kids nowadays weren't wanted or planned by their fathers. They were brought into the world via deception. They were brought into the world because a man thought he was having recreational no-strings sex, the woman led him to believe that, but her intent was to have a child. Many children are the product of a woman's impulse to carry on her genetic code, the product of a brief ONS where the woman spermjacked so "she could have her baby she wants." That, or she's being a manipulative cunt bringing life into the world just so she can exert control over a man. "If I'm carrying his baby, he won't leave me, so I'll stop taking my pill." How many kids nowadays are actually wanted by their fathers before they're born and planned vs. the products of spermjacking and manipulating a man into commitment? We live in fucked up times and feminism promotes/facilitates/sustains this kind of behaviour. If you trust women to be anything other than selfish and manipulative you're an idiot.

Plate, meet my other plate.

16 upvotes · 15 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

And to reinforce this decision, leaving a girl better can avoid a psychotic retaliation.

The only thing that will get most of the "amoral" (read: immoral) fucks on this board to listen to you. Telling them how it affects them. They have no concept of common decency and view it as "weak" or "blue pill" because they're fucked in the head. Might is right, but if everything is amoral then that means you have a choice to do good or to do bad. You can be moral or immoral and whatever you pick depends on your own survival (is it necessary for me to be immoral here? no? ok I'll be moral then.) These guys don't understand the concept of being powerful enough to be altruistic. Instead they see power as way to be exploitative/sadistic. Apparently that's a norm that's meant to permeate TRP. I'm strong as fuck and I don't adhere to this bullshit. All the dark shit we talk about it? USE IT WHEN NECESSARY (one night stands / getting jobs? - fine) helping bitches ruin their families? Nah don't be an accessory.

If it's not necessary, it's pointless and you're just making the world a shittier place by endorsing being a cunt. I don't endorse this shit for a second. Real tired of people hiding behind amorality to be assholes. I already made a topic on it before. Not going to argue with the same fucks again, there's nothing for me to gain from that. I'll have a bunch of people like me and a bunch of people hate me for my views, not really bothered either way. Disagreeing with my stance on morality doesn't make me blue pill either, it means you don't understand me or don't care about my reasoning. Cunts will be cunts, don't have to like 'em or support 'em in that behaviour though.

I failed to maintain frame boys.

16 upvotes · 5 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Nothing hurt me more than when my ex told me that she had to think of herself first and foremost.

Their love is so conditional that you have to soft next them when shit goes down. They'll insist on being involved, but they'll make everything worse. Women demand psychopathy in intense situations. They respond well to it. I've experimented around with flipping emotions on and off and I've found heartlessness is interpreted as strength by them, and normal emotional responses no matter how mild are interpreted as weakness. Women rely on us so much that when we have problems they're thinking "shit, who do I rely on now?!?" and it becomes all about them and the shit they're in. They completely ignore your problem, they're focused on the fact that you having a problem causes them a problem because they are so reliant on your strength/ability to provide physically/emotionally. So rather than actually help you through your shit, they lose their shit instead. Take the "most responsible teenager in the room" principle and apply it to this. If you were a little kid (teenager seems too generous to be honest) and your parents were crying, you'd freak out and cry too. That's how women treat men who are showing weakness.

I believe women are pathologically selfish to an extent men are not. This is the darker side of their weakness and dependence, they're too weak to afford loyalty. If you think about it from an evo-psych perspective, it makes sense. Men are the experimental sex and stronger/superior to women in most ways, they can afford to take risks, are inclined to take risks and will probably survive if they fail. Men take more risks than women and are more likely to survive when taking a risk, hence men developed loyalty as an experimental mechanism. If betrayed, men would probably survive and have the logic to reason things out emotionally. Yeah they'd be damaged, but they could fight physically and reason psychologically and survive to see another day. Basically in a cost-benefit through man's evolution - loyalty turned out to be something worth keeping. Something that worked more than it failed (hence why we're not all DT and DTs are tops 2% of the population.)

Women on the other hand have less T so take less risks, they would have evolved in such a way that risk taking women would have been weeded out via natural selection due to their physical fragility. Being faultlessly loyal and risk-taking would have led to more women being killed by predators/men from enemy tribes because shorter legs = cannot outrun predators, weak musculature = cannot overpower predators. Hence women evolved not to take risks and to play it safe, to stay in groups (as we see them when they all fuckoff to the toilets) and they didn't develop loyalty but in its place "pragmatic trust." They developed "attach yourself to the strongest man in the area and play it safe as fuck." If there were no strong men, they'd befriend the women and form a group, the bigger the better (safety in numbers.)

Note how most women are more superficially charming than men too. You need that kind of skill when you're weak as fuck and want powerful people to like you. You have to be able to "woo." Really, looking at women, that's what they specialise in. Women don't specialise in strength, they specialise in appealing to the likes and desires of those who are strong. They win people over and get on the winning team and keep a close eye on ensuring they stay on the winning team. Modern women only know how to "woo" with their bodies, but women of the past knew to "woo" with their personalities too. Again I think this is why women put so much energy into being fake, most women past their bullshit persona just aren't likeable people. So to get people to favour you, you have to pretend you're likeable. Do your shitty upward inflexion, pretend to be sweet and care about crap and yadda yadda. Woman's intrinsic need to make herself at least SEEM desirable both physically and psychologically is a survival mechanism, women aren't built to hunt/do life alone. WOMEN NEED RELATIONSHIPS, ESPECIALLY WITH MEN, TO SURVIVE. Please refer to the RPW hinting of this: "the rock in her storm."

A tiny minority of RP women will suck it up and help you back on your feet emotionally if something bad happens. Even they can only manage that for a short period of time though. They don't enjoy it, they hate it, but they do it because logically "they know it's the right thing to do." Those are the keepers, but you can't lean on them, the moment you lean on a woman due to emotional weakness sand begins trickling from an hourglass. That's measuring the amount of time you have left until she leaves your ass. These women will fuckoff too, even though they are quality. Bitches want an alpha, if you're down for too long you're essentially not alpha anymore. You can't lean on any woman who isn't your mother and some mothers are cunts too.

It's sad. It's sad because as men, we are inherently idealistic and because we are capable of loyalty, we believe women should be too. But they're not, generally speaking bar the few anomalies out there. It's fucked up but it is what it is. Very very few ride or die bitches out there. Women are opportunistic to a fault. Their love is completely conditional, conditional to the point that you should treat it like a job contract. It could all blow up tomorrow if you can't continue to be what you were when you first got the gig. This is why marriage is a scam if she's not legally locked into it. This is why you need a tight knit circle of bros, they won't look at you as lesser for going through shit and not dealing it with like a psychopath. That's where you'll find human compassion and support. From other men. Funny how we're taught all our lives men are the cunts and women are the soft ones. Haha, what perversion. They couldn't be more wrong.

[48 Days of Power] Day 38 - "Think as you like but behave like others."

16 upvotes · 22 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The whole "always be yourself" despite the consequences thing isn't productive if you have to work your way up from the bottom.

It's why as magnificent as he was, Patrice O'Neal didn't reach the heights of fame, wealth and power that he truly deserved. His stubborn loyalty to the truth meant he sacrificed potential power merely on principle. You can admire that if you like, but from a Machiavellian perspective it's foolish.

Remember in this life, it's about 30% merit, 70% politics if you want to get anywhere. I'm being generous with that 30 too.

The Red Pill Handbook - an free e-book of TRP posts

16 upvotes · 22 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Some excerpts would be nice before one chooses to commit to a download.

Edit: thanks for including some.

To women, compromise = lack of resolve = failed shit test = she gone

16 upvotes · 15 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You're projecting.

I see a lot of guys doing this in here lately. The amount of times I've been sat here either not giving a fuck or laughing my ass off over some dumb shit I've read and some guy clearly butthurt is purportedly psychoanalysing me by describing me as being the product of how he feels (because he is projecting) is insane. It's like introspective psychological analysis projected onto another because you're mad they made you feel that way but can't admit you're fucked up due to ego.

When people project they are pretentious and act like they know you better than you do, even when you're on the other side of the planet and they have never met you. On the internet everyone and their dog reckons they have the ability to psychoanalyse you based on your posts, its hilarious, because out of all the times I've had someone do it to me (quite a few times it's happened actually) not once has anyone come mildly close to identifying "what I'm really like" or said anything profound enough that I didn't already realise whatever truth about myself they are trying to weaponise against me. When you're pretty self-aware it's hard for other people to make deductions about you and then weaponise their observations against you.

Never underestimate a man's ability to go all female on your ass and start hamstering out of ego. Shit's ugly and rarely leads to a productive exchange but if you take it all in your stride it can be quite humorous.

$52,000/year in child support isn't enough -- exwife wants access to the kid's savings account

16 upvotes · 10 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's a vicious fucking cycle. Courts should do what is best for the kid, not the feminist ideology/the corrupt family court system that take a commission of child support payments.

Co-inventor of the birth control pill now predicts having sex will become obsolete for purposes of procreation

16 upvotes · 10 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

As soon as women got the pill they quickly indulged in the freedom to be whores without having to deal with the consequences of falling pregnant and never looked back. Funny how it was nothing but the fear/risk of being pregnant that stopped women from being notorious sluts. Once that factor was out of the equation, mix that with a bit of social propaganda (known as women's lib) and BOOM we have an entire civilization of whores.

It used to be most women were ladies and a few were whores.

Now most women are whores and a few are ladies.

I assume a woman is a whore unless there is proof she is not. Her word means very little to me. AWALT.

Social obedience will be your downfall.

16 upvotes · 28 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Become machiavellian. Beat women at their own game.

So I'm now paying double for my health insurance due to new laws to stop gender discrimination against woman in health care plan costs

16 upvotes · 16 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I post this because I guess this is what society expects of us. To be the provider even when we elect to be alone.

I would go as far to say that this is a kind of stealth bachelor tax. Even though it affects married men, you will now quite importantly have millions of single men subsidising woman's additional and extensive healthcare needs. Now a man who already looks after his family may not mind paying a little more. An older gentleman who has washed his hands of women however is going to be fucking pissed. Why should a bachelor be obliged to help fund woman's healthcare? He already pays income tax, sales tax and all the rest of it.

15% of women at executive level or above admit to having slept with their boss.

16 upvotes · 15 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I came here to say this but you already said it. Kudos. The operative word in OPs title is ADMIT remember fellas, that hamster is strong.

"The Female As Enemy" - Of all the things, a red pill Amazon book review I stumbled upon.

16 upvotes · 12 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

In regards to your "1a theory" this is taken from the wikipedia of the book authors page:

One notable aspect of his theories is that he claims that it is the male instinct to be racist, because this has evolved as an evolutionary drive to try to prevent females, who are evolutionarily inclined to view alien males as having high biological fitness as they have penetrated a territory without being killed, from engaging in miscegenation in the presence of males of other races, which would be genetically disadvantageous to the males as a group.

"The Female As Enemy" - Of all the things, a red pill Amazon book review I stumbled upon.

16 upvotes · 12 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Really? Where does it say that?

4chan user gets a taste of female hypergamy

16 upvotes · 1 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Don't particularly give a fuck that it sounds vengeful, but you're dumb if you're revealing your intentions like that to an enemy. Under no certain circumstances should the guy in OP be telling her how he plans to proceed. Element of surprise and all that shit. Play nice but stab her in the back. She's earned it. And she won't know what hit her.

She wants to know your SMV, and she will try to figure it out by getting you to reveal it. Don't let her. Stay mysterious.

16 upvotes · 14 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

"what do you do for a living?"

"I invest"

"I don't do much, my employees do all the work"

"I watch trash tv in the early hours of the morning waiting for my unemployment to go in" (say sarcastically)

"That's classified, official secrets act" (espionage act if you're american)

"I sell art"

"I used to be an astronaut but then I became afraid of heights"

"Former bank robber"

"Shit"

"I don't need to work" (implication: you're rich)

Be creative.

'wedding in 6 days, and my golddigger just admitted to being with me for my money' AAAAAND SHE IS PREGNANT

16 upvotes · 26 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Your insights into the female perspective are eerie. It almost sounds... rational. gasp

Oklahoma oil tycoon may split 17 billion in marital assets.

16 upvotes · 17 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women/feminists and the system they support are incredibly pragmatic. They are opportunists first and foremost. Whatever strategy enables them to acquire as many shiny things as possible is the strategy they will adopt. Whilst men will still marry they have no incentive to change the system, in fact they have every incentive to keep playing the game, relationship trapping men, escalating to marriage through ultimatums/dread game/guilt trips (manipulation when we do it to women to get laid, but apparently fine when they're looking for commitment) and then waiting a few years to divorce rape and clean up. Generally they get a child support double whammy and fuck up the life of some poor kid whilst they're at it too. Sometimes its a conscious process in a woman, sometimes it isn't. For the women and blue pills who truly believe in NAWALT it doesn't matter whether you decide to meticulously plan this shit or not. If you don't keep your oath UNTIL YOU DIE and with your emotions as impulsive as they are, you won't, shit will hit the fan. And a gigantic ugly natural disaster-esque storm of shit it will be - a shitstorm. As a man, no matter what a woman's intention is, the result is the same either way. Women are too fickle to be held to their word. A woman's word versus financial ruin is a high-risk low-return investment. No amount of beauty is worth that.

Only when hardly a soul will collectively marry the female demographic in spite of their beauty and they're left to fend for themselves will they become incentivised to make the law more favourable to men. And if/when the law does become more favourable to men it won't be to help men (as they may frame it as an act of oh so mighty benevolence or play it off as a concession on behalf of the men's rights movement,) but rather as always it will be enacted in the interest of women. That's what feminism is - woman's advocacy. If all the feminist divorce lawyers and judges decide to make alimony laws more lenient, it's because there is a belief that firstly: they will increase the amount of money going through their hands/courthouses, and secondly that women as a demographic will benefit from enacting such a judicial change. It will be nothing more than an elaborate ruse to encourage men to sign their balls over on the dotted line rather than avoid the institution completely. Whilst the divorce industry is profitable, this system is here to stay. When men start dropping out and divorce lawyers are going out of business we'll see a change.

Married men on here hate to hear it but marriage is farcical bullshit and you're living under nothing short of contractual slavery. Marriage is a pretence for wealth redistribution. You don't need marriage for kids, cohabitation will do just fine but to be honest you don't even need that, you can just visit/stay at her house all the time and have your own place to get away from her. In fact I would argue as much as she would hate the distance you create between yourself and her, the relationship may last longer because you have your space - a place to go no contact when she loses her shit and suddenly the dread causes her to acquire appreciation for you. What happens when you share a bed? This is self-entitled cunt is telling you to get out of your own bed and go sleep on the sofa. Wow, honestly. Wow. Being married is like having an anvil hanging off a cliff above you that follows you wherever you go, and should the wind blow in a way that pisses the woman off, that anvil will descend from the heavens upon you like the righteous wrath of god himself; only to desecrate and annihilate everything you've ever worked for and leave you a shell of your former self. Have you seen the male suicide rates caused by divorce? Fuck marriage.

FYI: never been married, luckily I've learnt vicariously from other men's pain to not need to make the mistake that they have to acquire the opinion I possess. You can tell when a man has been divorced. You can see a unique kind of pain in his eyes. That's his soul wrought in torment.

Women will Beauty/Swole-shame while Men offer Praise (How men & women differ in their approach to higher status entities)

16 upvotes · 26 July 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

The amount of power/money/popularity her physical appearance is capable of commanding alone is absolutely astounding. She could be a massive thundercunt and it wouldn't stop people obsessing over her, if she turns out to be a decent person that "good nature" will be pedestalled and praised ten-fold because of how beautiful she is, eg: she donates $100 to some kazakh charity and everyone's talking about how she's the next mother teresa, she plants a tree and people think she should get a serious and well-paid position in greenpeace. You get the idea. Sex is one of the core themes behind everything that happens in life, everything fundamentally comes back to sex or leveraging sex appeal to acquire resources, shit, even when it's not a conscious process (and for most people looking attractive is a conscious process because they are not naturally attractive) you will benefit from being attractive whether you like it or not via the halo effect, whether you want that power and attention or not you don't get a choice, the only way to rid yourself of the power of attraction is to become unattractive.

Attraction is one of the key cornerstones of power, alongside money/status and raw Machiavellian skill. With this woman, judging the way the article is written, it suggests she never specifically sought out the power of beauty but was blessed with it, just "being her" when all of a sudden some media exposure sent men crazy over how beautiful she is, and thus there was no intent or conscious consent for her to attain this power and wield it to make money/get famous, but simply by winning the genetic lottery and maintaining herself she has the beauty she has and people are obsessing over it; the women, negatively, as she's perceived as competition, the men, positively, as they're viewing her as an object of desire and most likely all fantasising about how tight her vagina would feel and what she looks like staring up at them naked in missionary. Women will boycott her, men will pedestallise her, that's what the power of beauty will do, that's no real problem for her, wealthy men propositioning her and betas lining up to orbit and "be her friend" will take care of every need she could ever imagine. She could have a guy that grabs her morning coffee, a cuddle buddy, a few other guys she goes out with to the movies and other shit where she's the centre of attention, an alpha fucks and a sugar daddy, guys could be like louis vuitton bags for a woman with that kind of power, different guys for different occasions.

Attractive women are immensely powerful, men will put them on a pedestal, other women will wish they had that power and hate them because they don't, nothing new at all. Shit I even think with swole men who are considered 9's and 10's aesthetically, have the best jawlines and bone structure, good skin with no stretch marks/acne/skin disorders, little hair covering their muscles get a fair amount of (unvoiced) jealousy from other men, sure some men get inspired to lift and dress well by high smv guys but the betas and omegas are massively jealous of the top 20% alphas getting all the pussy, plenty of them see the competition and just lose all confidence by feeling so immensely inadequate and inferior in comparison to such a guy, they're the people who rather hang out in places where people are fatter/uglier than them so they don't feel so inadequate with themselves, guys who are physically high smv and aesthetic get shamed by other men behind their backs for being "pretty boys", as "well-kept guys" generally wax/laser/shave a lot of hair off their bodies using tanning beds (if they're white and in a non-sunny place - it's common here in the UK) and get their eyebrows done or in the case of most asians, just don't have any hair to begin with. Yeah I don't think it's as bad as it is with women and more men than perhaps women will up their game as a result of what they've seen rather than just get jealous and self-loathing, but jealousy is a universal human trait and although "swole shaming" isn't really a thing, it doesn't stop other guys feeling like crap next to Mr. Aesthetic Adonis Chad McThunderHung.

Agree & Amplify Proven Scientifically

16 upvotes · 24 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Shit Test Example: "I bet you use that line on all the girls."

Shit test trumping mechanisms:

- Agree + Amplify: Yeah I literally wake up in the morning covered in bitches it's that effective.
- Disagree + Amplify: No you're the first girl I've ever spoken to I used to be a mute.
- Pressure Flip: I bet you think everything's a line because you've got trust issues.
- Agree + Pressure Flip: Yeah, I'm sorry, did you think you were a special snowflake?
- Disagree + Pressure Flip: Nah you're too ugly for me to be dropping lines on (carries a double meaning if she sniffs any crushed up substances - strippers, hookers, dancers, those kind of chicks)
- Ignore: Either silence or you change the topic entirely providing no acknowledgement of the shit test.
- Ridicule: Your face looks like a 9/11 crash site when was the last time you had a boyfriend? (major asshole game aka Patrice O'Neal Game - use it to bring narcissistic/angry women off the ego pedestal, don't use it on timid chicks)
- Pseudo-Gaslight: What line? Are you imagining things?

Pressure flips are what you use to deflect/reframe scrutiny/social pressure in an interaction. All pressure flips are reframes. In fact everything here is a reframe.

Hope that helped. I'm working on a shit test article so I'll post it to the sub when I'm done.

Is there anything more privileged and entitled than a beautiful woman?

16 upvotes · 13 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Attractive female traits are ascribed, male attractive traits are attained (with hard work.) Women are depreciating assets (lose the elements that make them most attractive as they get older) whilst men are appreciating assets (many start out with nothing and as they develop personality/wealth/physique/dominance over the years they become more attractive)

In a nutshell women are born into high smv, and only need work to maintain it (don't get fat) men are born with low smv and have to struggle/toil/compete for success in order to become high smv. Of course you get some devilishly handsome men who likewise win the genetic lottery, but it doesn't yield the benefits for them that it yields for a beautiful woman, a handsome man can't just attach himself to a woman be provided with wealth, provisioning and an easy life in quite the same manner. Hypergamy would dictate a rich woman wants an even richer man, assortative mating is an absolute bitch. Three cheers for rising social inequality!

Red Pill advice to the women of a graduating class

16 upvotes · 11 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

While it is obvious that her advice is to avoid balance and do whatever it takes to be successful

Law 23 - Concentrate Your Forces

<http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-23-concentrate-your-forces.html>

No man could say that and be respected for it.

Sad but true. The bitch shields don't scream misogyny as a reflex when it comes from another member of the so-called oppressed class.

An Honest Discussion on Good Girls

16 upvotes · 28 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

but you have a huge vested interest

He's married, his donation page leads to a dog charity, he sold his book as cheap as possible so people could afford it and he runs no advertising on his blog which would probably easily bring in hundreds of dollars a month if he never wrote another article ever again. So if he has "a vested interest" as you call it, it's certainly not monetary.

A good girl is a girl who hasn't been corrupted yet, she's prone to all the behaviour any other girl is and it's typically a matter of WHEN not IF. Like others in the thread have said, they tend to be from closed upper class communities and not generally available on the dating market. There's no such thing as a unicorn, they're all wired the same.

When a woman gets older, she doesn't settle! She just, uh... changes her priorities! Yeah, that's it.

16 upvotes · 10 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I sadistically enjoy the fuck out of the wall.

[X-Post from r/psychology] The difference between a slut and a stud - skill and effort.

16 upvotes · 19 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

"In a time of universal deceit - telling the truth is a revolutionary act." - George Orwell

"All political thinking for years past has been vitiated in the same way. People can foresee the future only when it coincides with their own wishes, and the most grossly obvious facts can be ignored when they are unwelcome." - George Orwell

Several things that might be Holding you back

16 upvotes · 9 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Do NOT even think about relationships before sex. If you do I will bitch slap you.

You sound like me after I've lifted. Going around high on T threatening everyone for bitch behaviour. Hahaha.

Sociopaths can spot a pussy by the way he walks

16 upvotes · 9 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

because they don't like the other ethnicities

What's the line between preference and racism? Love them shades of grey.

That "creep vibe" that guys give girls is the same thing as not liking fat chicks who try to look seductive.

16 upvotes · 5 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

prince charming fallacy

Would make a good article.

Guy's GF meets a rich guy. Guy's GF plans on going to dinner with said guy. Dinner gets canceled and girlfriend ends up going to a hotel with rich guy at 10:00 PM so that they can "chat" (or "mentor" as the title says). GF spends 4 hours (over alcohol) at hotel "chatting" with said guy.

16 upvotes · 4 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's sexist not to question them, you'd question a man. That irony though.

If your SMV is low, EG: you're fat, poor, unpopular or whatever then forget women/socialising/doing pointless shit for a good year 6 months to a year - just be utterly selfish forget everyone else and go do your own thing.

16 upvotes · 25 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Sounds like you need to develop your wit. Join a comedy club/watch stand-up and try to hang out around witty people. Wit is like a muscle, it needs to be developed. A keen wit is the difference between an awkward guy with nothing to say and the guy who pulls the cutie giving him indications she's interested. Also, on fear: don't be afraid to escalate. Tell her to put her number in your phone if you want her number, she says no? Oh well, the sun's still in the sky and your hearts still pumping who really gives a fuck.

BBC realises men kill themselves more than women because nobody gives a fuck about them, derides a vague definition of "macho culture" and then transitions into waffle about mental health illness without making an explicit connection to feminism. LOL.

16 upvotes · 13 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Having the mentality that these people did it because they are "weak" or didn't "man up" is quite frankly an over simplification at best and disgustingly ignorant of mental health issues at worse.

I agree, there are US medical published studies which show young boys raised by single mothers are more likely to suffer from behavioural disorders and mental illness.

What facilitates single motherhood? The welfare state. What is much expansion of the welfare state a product of? Feminism. What made women think raising boys without fathers was a good idea, and allowed it to be socially acceptable? The sexual revolution aka feminism.

The correlation may not always be completely direct, but I think a lot of you fail to realise just how much power they have as well as the amount of influence they've attained and the damage they've done with that influence in the short space of 50 years. Feminism is a society destroyer, increased prevalence of mental illness and suicide are merely symptomatic of a very large equation in what amounts to a degenerating society.

TLDR: Destroy the family unit and you fuck people up, they're going to get mentally ill, some will kill themselves.

"Ban Bossy! Encourage girls to lead." Another feminist campaign that completely ignores Red Pill realities.

16 upvotes · 10 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

There's a fine line between outspoken thunder cunt and "dropping shit tests flirtatiously like it's 9/11"

I hate the prior, love the latter.

We are gaining mainstream attention. RedPill mentioned in feminist rant in BC paper.

16 upvotes · 10 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

LMAO, ironic you say this. Some woman on RT spoke out against Moscow, when RT offered her a flight direct to Crimea to meet the people there and get an unbiased on the ground interpretation of the situation for herself, given such a great journalistic opportunity, she turned it down and said "I stick by what I said, but I'm not going to the Crimea."

Yeah, fucking typical. All talk no action. War is bad! There should be no war! I understand nothing of the situation! Want to understand the situation better by meeting the Crimean people? Hell NO! I'm not putting myself in danger! War is bad!

Silly bitch.

Stories of sadistic bitches, got any?

16 upvotes · 8 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's good training. On the plus side it will be hard for any bitch to ever trump that performance. Damn son. I knew a bitch with MPD, they're fucking nuts. Words cannot explain how fucked up they are.

What is TRP's criteria for getting married?

16 upvotes · 7 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Why is Canada enforcing marriage upon people? That's not very liberal. In fact one could say its quite totalitarian.

America's jobless men: Decline of the working man. All time low of US men aged 25-54 are in the workforce...20% are not working

16 upvotes · 7 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

But the women always feel like they deserve more and fuck shit up because anglosphere culture promotes female empowerment at the cost of family stability. Women tire very easily of a provider doing an average job, they always need a guy more powerful and better than they are or they will cheat. Their love is based on adoration of superiority of their mate, being "equal" or having an inferior mate does not attract them or turn them on or make them feel love, if anything it activates contempt and abusive behaviour (from her.)

Religion really was a good system of control for ensuring monogamy and thus, healthy nuclear families. Today's marketing and social norms actively fight against such notions, sex is everywhere and on everything, it's a hypersexualised society. The family unit is in tatters and society as a whole perpetuates it's continued oppression by not imposing any social restrictions on women.

When in doubt, hit the gym.

16 upvotes · 27 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

We're all gonna make it brahs.

Think you (or your friends) captured a unicorn? Think again.

16 upvotes · 16 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

However I am Generation X so perhaps things aren't so bad this generation.

The decline began with your generation, baby boomers had pre-feminist values for the most part.

I do think a lot of the red pill community has a very bitter attitude

Perfectly acceptable when you find out society has been duping you your entire life, it would be sociopathic to immediately and instantly accept and not give a fuck about the elaborate deception which has caused the bulk of plugged in men the pain they've had to deal with. Don't delegitimise pain by framing it as "bitter", pain is anecdotal experience like any other, it has legitimacy in truth despite its subjectively biased nature.

and that bleeds through with the assertion that all women are like that

Not at all, I'd assert this and I lost my "bitterness" sometime ago and accept women for who and what they are. I believe holding them to a standard that most of them cannot meet is not conducive to one's dealings with them. I truly believe women by design will prioritise themselves over their man when push comes to shove, there's nothing bitter about it, it is simply reality. She will always put herself first.

People think a unicorn is different somehow, that the love is unconditional, but it sure as hell isn't. Her loyalty is completely conditional and thus ironically doesn't fit the male definition of what constitutes loyalty "unconditional alliance", not just on things like hypergamy but your ability to keep frame too. Sure with a traditional chick another guy coming along may not be enough to cause her to cheat like it is with almost all chicks who didn't have a father figure or traditional upbringing, but DOUBLE THAT UP with a husband who's lost frame over the years and grown weaker in his old age and you'll most definitely find your special unicorn doing a nice rainbow coloured shit all over the welcome mat.

Why it's not useful to be angry at women - brought to you by Buddha himself

16 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Hence why I inquire. :)

THIS IS RED PILL STYLE FOR THOSE WANTING A GOOD WIFE ,How Ultra-Rich Chinese Men Find Their Wives

16 upvotes · 28 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

rather than treating them as equals.

LOL. The delusion is hilarity inducing. Yeah. The average woman is really equal to a fucking million/billionaire building a financial empire. Get over yourselves. No matter what, he's bringing more value to the table by being the ultimate provider. Bitching he has any standards at all is the quickest way to throw yourself out of the running.

What I consider the main thing women have lost....

16 upvotes · 26 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Any TLDR for that article? I have a policy of not giving Salon the pageviews as a matter of principle.

All the pain of years of betahood unloaded on my dad. I feel terrible (drunk, sorry for grammatical errors)

16 upvotes · 25 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I know it's the man's fault for letting women do this to them

Men have hearts and feel compassion/sympathy for anyone/everyone, especially those close. Women do a good job at seeming like they give a fuck when they actually don't, whereas men do a good job at seeming like they don't give a fuck when they do.

This is why you have to practice stoicism, sometimes a mans love can get the better of him, he'll give in to shit and it sets a precedent for the grown-up child aka the woman to just shit on everyone because ultimately, unless they have a small child they give no fucks about anyone more than themselves. They feel inherently entitled to shit and when shit fucks up for whatever reason, they hold the grudge against the man who didn't meet whatever standard was expected for eternity, women don't get over shit.

Men never get a break, literally, ever. If you're in a relationship with a woman, married, got kids and all that jazz its your responsibility for the rest of your life to make sure that shit stays put together. The kid leans on the parents, the mother leans on the father, the father has nobody but himself. Being a man takes skill, it's a bitch, we need whiskey, good male friends, time to relax/laugh.. men need time for themselves, men get put on, it aint easy being a man, even the most stoic of badasses get their times of weakness. Your dad sounds like he was an alpha in and of himself, but he didn't know the games women pull because your mother managed to get him under heel. It's sad, but it is what it is. I kinda pity the guy, he's clearly tried his best.

You have every right to be mad, fuck I would be as well, even though its his fault, he's not the one being a cunt though, your mother is. Red pill example of how women are the second sex, she provides begrudgingly (your dad has to beg her) it's fucked up man, fucked up. I feel for your situation.

Women on the other hand just disrespect you for being weak, their compassion/sympathy is limited to small children. They are cunts. They respect/love nothing but strength and small children. Everything else they are insufferable assholes to. All their sensibilities and "sensitivity" is selfishness, much of their kindness is completely superficial and overly dramatised. There are some loving women out there, but they are fucking rare. Most of them are hollow creatures and the ones who are full of love? Generally they're being kept in line by a guy on top of his shit.

A womans love is conditional on the premise that you are stronger than her mentally, if you're not, game over - she will fuck your mind and fuck up the family, hence the divorce rate. How anybody can think such selfish, illogical, irrational creatures are "equal" or even half what the fuck a man is, is fucking beyond me, truly.

You and your pops gotta bond and shit man, don't beat yourself up and don't blame him too hard. Do man shit together, you're lucky you even have your dad, he may have not fit the standard or ideal you'd like but many people here had no father at all, I mean, never even met the guy because they're the spawn of an alpha fucks. Think about that. You guys need to help each other, he may be your dad but he's only human too. He shits and bleeds and cries just like you do, not that your mother gives any fucks. Bitch.

I see a lot of complaints here about easy it is for women. Here's a reminder of why we should feel bad for them.

16 upvotes · 23 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The article raises some good points however I don't feel sympathy for those who are biologically designed to manipulate and extract resources/time from me. A man is good at abstract things, women are good at controlling men and thus get shit by proxy, this is why I always encourage machiavellianism in men, to level the playing field so to speak, so that they do not end up answering to a cunning woman. Even the smartest men if they should lack in the art of machiavellianism will fall to the whims and devices of your typical woman.

Women control most of the worlds spending despite not earning even half of it. The worlds richest women got all their money through divorce and inheritance aka profiting off the fruits of men. Tells you enough, really.

Feeling bad for women is contemplating your own failure, it's not something I suggest to anyone, inferior or not. I also think that, for the truly talented women, to pity them is to cut your nose off to spite your face, sure they will never be rational to the level a man is, but to hold her in such contempt with such a thin veil of pity is just bad game.

Fuck pity and sympathy, this shit is war.

- Beige Phillip Rule #1 - We are at War
- Beige Phillip Rule #2 - All bitches are crazy

A lot of you need beige phillip in your life. <http://beigephillip.com/>

EDIT: typos.

Respect yourself more than you respect her

16 upvotes · 21 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Your question adds nothing of value to the discussion except thinly veiled contempt.

Feminism in action: Woman provokes guy and attacks him, when he finally fights back, she wants to take him to court for hitting a woman

16 upvotes · 19 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm not from the USA, so if that is the case, forgive my ignorance on the gender element, however gender or not - this is still absurd. "Logic: you endured a beating for 45 mins, but didn't leave, so fighting back makes you guilty"

Absurd.

"5 Reasons You Should Date A Single Mom"

16 upvotes · 17 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

By Kate Anthony

So many men are often put off by dating a single mom, and I have to say it's a little mystifying to me

You're a woman, says a lot. You couldn't possibly see it from a man's point of view, but proceed to educate us with your ignorance anyway. Blind leading the fucking blind here.

Low Drama

Wrong, most women are dramatic due to their hormonal make-up. Even old women can be dramatic. Age is nothing to do with it, chances if you've always been an irrational impulsive dramatic bitch you will be until the day you die.

Great Sex

I'll give you more experienced. Great sex for a man is with someone who isn't wrinkled or covered in stretch marks.

No Biological Clock Ticking At You

And that's a reason for me to date a single mother why? I can have a vasectomy or put tabasco in my condoms. You're trying to sell me her biological problem as being my problem. LOL. Wrong. I can bypass her deceptions using my own agency, thanks.

We Are Powerhouses

Yes I really want a woman who isn't submissive. /SARCASM

No Whining, No Games

LMFAO. Your article is borderline whining about why men don't want single mothers so you've already contradicted yourself here, Kate. No games? Bullshit. All women play games. Never met a single woman who didn't, it's in their DNA. Even the half-autistic chick I know plays games.

What a fucking retarded article, it hurts people believe this crap. This is just propaganda to get some shmuck men filling the pockets of some low quality single mothers so the government hasn't gotta pay for 'em. Call me a cynic? Gay as fuck article.

Self-Improvement is Masturbation

16 upvotes · 12 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Because in a way, getting ripped, getting more money, attaining knowledge, skills, hobbies — all of these are easier than going out and facing rejection.

Not for me. Working out and shit is way harder. I couldn't give a shit about getting rejected by some random hoe.

What you say is IRRELEVANT. Who you are is EVERYTHING.

16 upvotes · 9 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Just went Tesco (supermercado bitches!) saw a guy in there, same height as me (6'2) chiseled, broader than me, bigger arms. Had instant respect for the guy. Clearly he'd been working in the gym and his SMV/work demanded respect.

I was behind him in the queue, he went to pay, his interaction with the cashier (female - 5/10 at best) was terrible. Looking down at the ground, mumbling/unclear shaky voice. Exuded insecurity and a lack of confidence.

Point being his physical SMV was way higher than mine but his mental SMV/game/charisma was way lower than mine. If he had my charisma or I had his physique (working on it) that combo would be a killer.

Fact of the matter is, physicality will help you and open doors initially, but if you're a bumbling bitch people will find themselves going "oooooh" and being disappointed when your personality's size does not match up to that of your physiques.

Have an all or nothing mentality. Don't go hard in the gym like this guy does but refuse/be to afraid to work on your character. Go out. Live. Enjoy yourself. The gym is a starting point but its like some guys get comfy in the gym, get into a rut, have a great body but don't develop any other parts of themselves. You need to develop

EVERYTHING. Your life should BE BUSY. Value yourself and value your time, ironically building value will be time consuming and increase the value of your time, which increases the value other people perceive of you not just because your SMV is going up but also because your availability is limited which infers you're important and hence high SMV

Positive feedback cycles bitches, get on your shit!!!! NOW~!!

Why is r/theredpill so loathed?

16 upvotes · 25 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Why is r/theredpill so loathed?

Because almost the entire population has been brainwashed/socially engineered with the ideology of feminism.

It's like asking why atheism is loathed in Saudi Arabia, you offend their belief system.

Beta's GF wants an open relationship to fuck his best friend. Hates it, but may allow it because her "sexuality was trapped by the conventions of our monogamous relationship."

16 upvotes · 16 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You can do that without getting your dick wet

The Rape 'Epidemic' Doesn't Actually Exist ("1 in 4 women have been raped myth" comes from govt online survey)

16 upvotes · 6 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

By those standards I was almost raped the other night myself.

The Guinness ad for beta males

16 upvotes · 30 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=lRqZ7JebPQ>

Storyboard: Raining. Pretty brunette in Iris & Ink trench and skirt sufficiently above the knee comes out of a Lean In and, oopsy, she has no umbrella. Oh my God, that's so hysterical. So she runs to a passing salaryman and huddles underneath his. He's surprised, obviously, the last half-Asian to come up on a white guy in the rain was The Ring and we all know how that ended. (Code for "Asian" by walking by a Chinese restaurant.) She gazes into his eyes. "We're headed the same way, right?" she NLPs. "Yeah!" he responds, but five steps later you can see his pacemaker go off as she blue balls him for another umbrella that crosses their path, this time a basketball player's. (Everybody still with me? Let's keep going.) A few steps later, she froggers off towards the next passing guy, and when she settles in their eye contact lingers for longer than this married guy has had in a decade. "After you," she says in some kind of way that means some kind of thing. Three more steps, and she dumps him and his thrifty tote bag for a luxury SUV. She closes the door, a sigh of relief. She made it.

So? How do you feel? Here's the tag line: "it's all in how you get there." Well, how did she get there?

Here's one interpretation: she's a cunt, by which I mean a woman. The commercial represents a reality about women, hopping from guy to guy, taking, taking, taking. And that sigh at the end was what she really thinks of men. =choads.

You'll observe that this harpy never said thank you, she never even said excuse me. She just assumed it was ok, she was entitled, the world belongs to women, and when she got as far as his five and a half inches could take her, she was off to the next guy, black guys and homewrecking. Even better, she is proud of how she pulled it off, because getting to her car isn't the only goal, learning how to manipulate emasculated men is just as important, note she never used a woman. The tag line reminds women that they shouldn't feel to guilty about it, men are dispensable. As an aside, buy a Cadillac.

LMFAO. This guy needs a fucking award.

Feminism poisons my workplace

16 upvotes · 29 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminism put them in the work place and sexual harassment bullshit means they don't have to behave like decent human beings. Sure we can thank feminism for this.

Shit test: "I'm fine"

16 upvotes · 20 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

- "You're not fooling anyone, go home." (if you're out) if you're not out together, drop the go home bit.
- "OK I'm fine too" (mirror her and piss her off with it until she reveals her deal, but don't actually get sucked into her emotional state, you want to parody her to infuriate her into talking)
- "Yes and I like being lied to, so keep feeding that bullshitting girl." (call her out)

You get the idea, call it out if you wanna resolve it. If you don't, withdraw your attention "OK, you be fine by yourself then" and then just GO. She may come crawling back, you may never see her again, whatever. You have to be willing to play the takeaway card, if you're avoiding conflict she's controlling you with the pussy.

Real life example of a girl cheating on her beta bucks, "coming clean" after feeling guilty, deciding not to cheat again... and then ironically decides to come back and fuck again. Hamster gymnastics!

16 upvotes · 14 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

She claims she gets checked regularly and is clean, but I know her words amount to fuck all. I'll get myself checked soon, just to make sure I'm A-OK. If that bitch spread me anything I'll drop her like hot shit.

Mother hopes her daughter will ride the cock carousel:"I have a daughter, and one day she's going to discover that there's a whole sea of dicks out there to go swimming in. I hope she uses protection and enjoys every second of it."

16 upvotes · 5 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

So he's gonna teach his daughter to be a HO. Great father.

Girlfriend of a bluepilller "found a job" in Seattle -- he even encouraged her to "follow her dreams"! He sells his car, quits his job and follows her a few month later. The inevitable happens.

16 upvotes · 1 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Playing victim to the very end. What an evil piece of shit.

Purple Pilller grows a pair, confronts his cheating wife, and plans to divorce her

16 upvotes · 24 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminists selectively pick their truths to contest, the ones they think they can win. An intellectually dishonest group of people.

Purple Piller grows a pair, confronts his cheating wife, and plans to divorce her

16 upvotes · 24 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I feel pity for the guy, but I don't sympathise because I'm not in these compromised BS situations. I howled with laughter when she said "she sucked his dick because the guy bought her drinks" that was fucking hilarious.

If you laugh at the shit hos are pulling on "good guys", you're pretty damn red pill my man.

Hos don't deserve marriage no matter how much they want it. In the words of dre: you can't make a ho a housewife!

Female finance student whines about how hard it is to be in finance, blames it on the lack of female mentors available to her generation

16 upvotes · 20 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

THE HILARIOUS THING is on the reverse foot "never having known your father" is not a good enough reason to be a fuck up in life (when you're male), yet not having a female mentor supposedly is (when you're female), to the point forbes publish an article on that BS. Well guess the fuck what, plenty of boys have to go their whole life without a "male mentor" known as "their father" and they're told to man the fuck up about that (Oh how ironic?!)

Feminism and the cultural behaviours that stem from it are fucking poison. Raising boys without men is poisonous.

Who here is generally happy with their relationships (present and past) with women?

16 upvotes · 15 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

To redefine for anyone on the "what is a shit test" thing:

It's a woman fitness testing you to see what your boundaries/capabilities are and how you react to her when she oversteps (to see if she can shift your frame and rob you of authority), it's also a way for her to see how interested you are in her. Generally the more eager you are, the lower value you are perceived (dating wise) - little kids fitness test in the first way also (authority) but obviously not in the latter (that's just sick.)

Shit tests in dating - sexual attractiveness:

- "I know I said I'd see you tonight but it's my friends birthday so I'm going out with her and my friends instead, see you another time!" (she doesn't conceal why she's flaking, so it's a shit test to judge your reaction)
- Bad response: You're selfish blah blah, I'm disappointed, blah blah - any legitimate emotion you feel in response to her shit test is an immediate failure. She's taken you out of your frame, you demonstrate (in her mind) little preselection or options so you're low value.
- Good response: "Have fun ok" or text the next day "just read my phone, last night was crazy"
- Best responses: "Silence" - Don't reply, she'll hamster why you never got in contact and assume you don't care anyway - passive
- "You got any cute friends? I'm great in bed." - aggressive

Shit test in the workplace - authority:

- "Oh John Smith never listens blah blah blah talks about you in your presence to another colleague like you're not there"

Vague open statements: I don't listen if it's not important - "are u saying i talk nonsense?" - I didn't say that.

Agree and amplify: "I never listen, I don't even know what you just said I think I need my ears cleaned out"

Ignore and forget: Don't do this too much or she'll keep shit testing till you react, you are allowed to let some shit slide tho, sometimes you don't even entertain the BS.

I got a bit indignant after reading "April's" slave labor rant.

16 upvotes · 6 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

23 here. There's a few things I don't do with women

- Justify myself
- Argue with them
- Marry them

Let it all burn.

If I didn't believe in TRP before..."I want to marry him and be with him. I just want to have sex with someone else"

16 upvotes · 1 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Sounds like the kind of chick I'd love to hate fuck.

"When you make $5 a minute for laughing at some guy as he jerks off, do you really want to go back to making $10 an hour slinging coffee?"

16 upvotes · 30 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Man, I can't click any more links to salon.com. That site is full of utterly vapid shit.

Girlfriend has male friend that has sexual dreams about her

16 upvotes · 26 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

She would say that if it was true and if it were not because it's in her interest to keep you around. If his SMV is higher than yours she's probably lying. If you're a better catch than him, she's probably telling the truth or she's just upgraded to you (from him and other men) over the years. Anything short of a lie detector you won't know for certain. Not trying to make you doubt her, just being real, she's a woman so she looks out for herself first. Never be afraid to walk away if she gives you cause for doubt.

The word "rapey"

16 upvotes · 15 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I find it quite rapey when feminists try to control masculinity.

Guy breaks up with girlfriend over text, the normally calm and civil /r/intp shames him with downvotes, insults him, and calls him a coward. Top upvoted posts are women.

16 upvotes · 13 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm very interested to reword all the she's and hers to he's and hims and then post this on another sub just to gauge what the general response is when it's a female breaking up with a male in the exact identical way. Will they support our fictional female? Will they disagree kindly with her? Or will they hurl abuse at her like the guy posting this got? Let's see how this goes down with blue pill society, essentially the exact same situation but with the genders reversed. It'll be a fun experiment even if we here at TRP already know what to expect. BRB, making a throwaway.

Oneitis is strong with this one, yet he still makes a good point.

16 upvotes · 10 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

This is red pill not blue pill because he's basically saying that chicks branch out. Sure he has oneitis, but his advice is that hot chicks have more options due to high smv and that this allows them many many branches and thus you cannot allow yourself to love beautiful women as they can and will replace you on a whim or when shit hits the fan.

He is right.

Guy on OKCupid subreddit needs emotional support, displays vulnerability in front of his girlfriend. Guess what happens next.

15 upvotes · 8 May 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Indeed, and this is why the red pill exists - to dispel all the harmful bullshit society teaches you.

Women's low self worth is the reason they are the way they are

15 upvotes · 22 February 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

The lower a female feels on the social hierarchy, the more she wants an alpha boyfriend to help balance this.

Except because of hypergamy, alpha females want alpha males too. If this theory held, we'd see more powerful women falling in love with beta men to balance them, and we don't.

We see super feminine and passive women wanting their polar opposite to balance them, but we also see super masculine, ball-busting yet physically hot women wanting an alpha to tame them. No matter the woman's personality, she wants a dominant man - this is all women respect - dominance. Not logic, not intellect, not anything else - just dominance.

This is why narcissistic guys get laid regardless of if their self-worth is really as high as it appears - doesn't matter if internally their self-worth is high - as long as it appears to be so they will do well with women and in the workplace.

This is why women never stop giving shit tests.

Indeed. I wrote about this briefly back in 2014 in Shit Tests Ad Infinitum but I will go into some additional detail here.

Women have a hard-wired subconscious state of anxiety that compels them to check the men they're romantically entangled with are dominant and therefore by extension, respectable and desirable. A shit test is a dominance check. In the ancestral environment a man becoming passive would mean less protection and resources for a woman and her offspring. So women are wired to check to ensure the man they're mating with is "still dominant enough" - should he not be, he is evolutionarily unfit, and although she does not realise it is for this reason she stops feeling attracted to him.

You can have a woman who is successful by every major metric in life, and she will still have this insecurity embodied in her fiber, it's a core part of the female character. It's function is as previously stated, a dominance check to test the viability of a man - which serves an evolutionary purpose of ensuring a man's ability to protect a woman and her offspring.

Remember that being the physically weaker sex, women feel scared and threatened more easily than us men, and are thus more obsessed with safety and acceptance as a result of their relative weakness. Shit tests are simply a way a weak creature checks to see the strong creature she's partnered up with is still strong enough to physically protect her.

This is deeply instinctual stuff, and most women do not even realise (or if they do, understand why) they do these things - yet as men we see these traits as universal among women, leading us to conclude that women's shit tests in particular must serve a beneficial evolutionary purpose. I think men shit testing men likewise serves an evolutionary purpose, but that's a similar albeit distinct topic and I wish not to digress here.

One assumes women who did not shit test did not reproduce as well as those who did, and hence this tendency has persisted.

Addendum: the more insecure and needy the woman, the more regular and severe the shit tests - borderline women are the worst for this. On the opposite end, the most self-assured woman shit men to deduce their dominance - this is a basic mechanism in which a woman gauges a man's attractiveness. Men who pass shit tests are attractive because they "have game", men who don't are unattractive and thus "have no game".

Mother rapes 1 yo son, gets no jail time.

15 upvotes · 1 February 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

This makes sense, a girl gains status from being seen as a victim, but a boy loses it. Raped men have been laughed at, some don't even believe it's possible. Ignorant and sickening.

New York City Tax dollars at work: Study Shows Women's Products Cost More Than Men's

15 upvotes · 24 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It taps into her hypergamy, gives her status in girl world. Her friends see she has a product which is an indicator of high status, and that in turn gives that woman more social status among her friends. Women compete with one another for social status via branded products, there's probably something to do with entitlement and narcissism involved too. Oh, and feelings, can't forget feelings. Bitches are so suggestible and emotional the advertising probably has them feeling like Coco Chanel shirts are comfier than generic brands made from superior material.

How lifting helps you get girls ? I see so many jacked guys standing alone in bars/clubs

15 upvotes · 31 October 2015 · /r/askTRP

If she thinks you're a player she thinks you're attractive. The opposite is the problem. Bitches see three kinds of men:

- Player
- Beta getting scraps from girl out of his league
- Incel

I wouldn't bother fighting their perceptions of you as being nothing but attractive. Makes your life easier. It's only when you want commitment with one of them that this positive attraction bias can turn into insecurity.

An example of how to exploit the female-pandering world view to your advantage in business

15 upvotes · 2 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Makes sense. The groups you described are most likely to accept help.

"A new book answers why it's so hard for educated women to find dates" - Hidden RP Gold

15 upvotes · 27 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I know what you mean. Vapidity is the female status quo it would seem, however. Female self-absorption is so great it seems to effectively kill any sense of curiosity. IMO, curiosity is a mostly male quality. Women are happy with mediocrity. There's no curiosity for curiosity's sake. Even the somewhat smart women I know were just thrown into some sort of private education, their range of interests always seems vastly limited. Women are on the whole, quite boring.

Solipsism, Emotion & Arguments

15 upvotes · 2 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I'll certainly consider it. If anyone is interested in this being written, let it be known. I do want to do a dark triad piece though, as it's been awhile.

Hats Off to the Bull

15 upvotes · 6 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Betas need to get laid and not get cheated on so they prop up civilisation instead of going MGTOW. Lots of MGTOW = social collapse. Just look at the herbivores in Japan.

The Red Pill is Not PUA

15 upvotes · 26 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

And yet such an unreasonable man must possess a rather developed faculty of reason to be successful in such unreasonableness.

The Red Pill Handbook

15 upvotes · 11 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

What do you think of the suggestion as outlined here /u/redpillschool ?

The Red Pill Handbook

15 upvotes · 10 June 2015 · /r/AlreadyRed

The whole project can be funded on Kickstarter and each hardcover book will cost around $2- $5 to print in China.

Even cheaper to print with Amazon print-on-demand on I think. Wouldn't need a Kickstarter. Think amazon is paperback only though so if you're intent on hardback Kickstarter would probably be for the best.

The minimum price is $2.99 to get 70% royalty, they print your book for FREE if you choose the right options. They make their money back on the sales (but only print a copy whenever there is a sale, so win-win.)

<http://www.sellbox.com/how-much-cost-produce-print-on-demand-book-createspace/>

The only question is, what to do with the money raised from sales of the book? Put it all in a pot for a dedicated server for the worst case scenario? One of us could do all this ourselves (although IMO, the handbook could do with some heavy editing/grammar cleanup) although really, if the intent is to support the community, it makes sense for RPS to do this.

the teenage ADHD crew snubs quality advanced material and reading on a monitor for long periods of time sucks dick balls.

Fuck, it takes longer to write that shit than it takes for you fucks to read it. Hahahaha. But yes it's very true, anything either "long" or "deep" (no innuendo intended) doesn't equate to upvotes in the forum. But then upvotes on TRP aren't really taken too seriously since the sub got filled up with a lot of clueless/new guys. As one of the guys who writes long ass shit making you read a monitor which sucks balls (no clickbait or 500 words essays,) I don't do too badly for pageviews all things considered. 6 figures a month, low end.

The first girl to ever dump me is a single mother and waitress.

15 upvotes · 1 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

She and her friends started spreading rumors about me and acting really messed up in general toward me. Accusations of stalking (I never even called, not even once), accusations of trying to get back with her (I found a new girlfriend), etc. Basic high school bitch stuff.

That basic high school bitch stuff never goes away. Disinformation campaigns are one of the prime pieces of equipment in the female tool-kit. Bitches be Machiavellian, yo.

People were telling me that I fucked up, that I let an amazing girl get away, etc.

Lol those schmucks bought into her narrative and got played, naturally, you were the scapegoat for her "I'm so amazing he's a jerk!" narrative. Textbook, but effective.

Her relationship with her baby's daddy went south

I've been neglecting my crystal ball recently, however I'm getting a premonition that this is perhaps because she is indeed a cunt.

I said that I didn't get at least a little satisfaction from watching her life add up to nothing after she treated a very young version of me so badly

She hurt you when you were vulnerable. Most young guys are pretty innocent in matters of love. Women corrupt us and only then as we get older, when their love means less to you - can you get it. By that point, you may not even want it.

Most importantly, I think the lesson I want to leave you younger guys with, especially if you've recently been dumped, is that as long as you invest in yourself, your life will constantly improve and so will the women in it.

Us men have a much larger canvas to work with when it comes to life. Most girls aren't smart enough to cash in on their youth in any lasting manner. They spend it all on the carousel.

A TRP professor is followed on FaceBook by special snowflakes to find something to be offended and get him fired. Does not go as planned as Professor sued school administrators earlier on free speech and won.

15 upvotes · 1 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I got suspended for 2 semesters for falling asleep in class, doing a poor presentation and drink driving into a chicks car.

It sucks and maybe the penalty was too much but you fucked up. Either way you cut it you're fucking it up. Now you are paying the price for fucking it up. Don't blame the college, blame yourself for doing this dumb shit.

Successful Men Are Warriors.

15 upvotes · 30 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

If you're happy with what you're doing ~~nobody~~ is I'm certainly not going to judge you for it. Most men want to get laid and have the respect of their peers. If they're willing to put in the work they can have that. Nothing but inheritance is free in this life. Maybe you should check out the MGTOW sub.

For the Girl Writes What fan boys, Karen Straughan lays down her opinion of TRP

15 upvotes · 21 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

You can't blindly trust anyone. I think that goes without saying.

Ask IllimitableMan

15 upvotes · 30 April 2015 · /r/askTRP

Though I kind of understand TRP (or at least think I have), I often have doubts about putting in all the effort working on myself (currently low-smv) just for the result of having sex more.

Sex is a bonus and a benefit, not the end game. The end game is being a man you can look at in the mirror and say to yourself "this guy is badass." It's about cultivating your masculinity and becoming everything you were told is patriarchal and evil. It's about being a man in a culture where being a man is frowned upon, and the social infrastructure to become such a thing is limited (a father who is present and not henpecked to death, male exclusive spaces etc.)

Any recommendations on what I should do when these mental states keep coming up in my mind?

Have a bit more self-respect, take the pussy off the pedestal, and realise that as much of a horny bastard that you are, that you're doing this for you and only you and that if you don't nobody else will. That if you don't do this, if you choose to be lazy, play another video game, watch another porno and just hide from life that the only person you're doing a disservice is you. Lift or do sport, you need to be physical, you're a man - your testosterone demands it. No exceptions.

Every time you shy away from doing what needs to be done to be a man, or shy away from building yourself up, you deprive yourself of something nobody else can give you. Confidence, consistency,, courage, self-worth, fortitude, gumption, self-discipline.

Men don't become great sitting there in their underwear, fapping and eating junk food. That's how you become lethargic and boring. Time to leave childhood behind, now you're becoming a man - something better - and you're not doing it to please your mother or "man up" for the whores out there who want somebody to pay for Chad's baby, you're doing it because you want better for yourself in this life and don't want to end up a complete fucking loser at 35, 45 or 55 with no friends, a bad job and a beer gut.

You need a mindset shift, work on yourself and look for like-minded men, men who want to kick ass at life. They are few and far because most men have been trained to be weak and idle, but they exist, and when you find them you'll have a blast. The thing is, weak men have weak friends, these guys won't want to know you if you're a fucking bum, so there's another reason to get on top of your shit. All women are temporary but a good buddy will be there until death calls for one of you. A true alpha buddy is the light in this world when everything else is fucking bullshit. Good luck hunting.

Why most of today's women aren't worthy of your commitment.

15 upvotes · 10 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

No anger phase here, but I do like to use anger to convey points and hit the nail hard, it's a good tool and men can relate to it - which is what matters.

What do you think of "Creep" Shaming?

15 upvotes · 27 March 2015 · /r/PurplePillDebate

A creep is only a creep because he's undesirable. If Brad Pitt was being a creep, a girl wouldn't call him a creep. When I say creep, I'm not talking about socially awkward people here with nervous ticks and what not who make people feel awkward with their crap social skills and terrible body language.

I'm talking about guys making sexual overtures to chicks, those chicks not liking it because he's not hot enough - and then them making a big ass fucking deal out of it and bullying the guy by trying to take any sense of self-respect/dignity/self-love he has, rape it, ridicule it - and then make him want to kamikaze like his name's Elliot Rodger. Creep shaming is a way women brag to the world that they're desirable and bully a man at the same time for "daring to have the gumption to even talk to her!" It is glorified bullying. If a guy is annoying you and you're a chick, tell him to fuckoff - there's no need to make a big deal, bully him or turn into a thundercunt. Especially with younger guys/girls. Ruining a teenage boy's self-esteem who is simply trying to learn how to approach women (not like they're going to do the work is it?) is unacceptable.

The key distinction is, if the same guy saying "hey sugar tits wanna get fucked like the puppy that you are?" wasn't some man boobed fedora wearing neckbeard, but was this guy instead:

http://4.bp.blogspot.com/-U_POTSvsCbA/VK6r5vP8kXI/AAAAAAAAAEE/UNzj7nIXid0/s1600/Chad%2BProfile%2B2.jpg it wouldn't be creepy, it would be hot. That guy can literally say WHATEVER THE FUCK HE LIKES - and will never be called a creep. Hot people don't get called creeps, even when they're rude, direct, disrespectful - or whatever. That's the premium of the halo effect in play.

To see creeps not being even seen as creeps due to how hot they are, check this out, these guys are slaying pussy on easy mode due to their looks alone:

<http://tinderrage.blogspot.ca/>

Why you should listen to stand-up comedy

15 upvotes · 13 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Since implementing this change, I've noticed a huge change in my mood. I've gone from being a boring, lethargic lamer to a much higher energy state.

Endorphins are one hell of a drug. It's why lifting works too (not to mention higher T levels, but that's not related to comedy.)

I'm now more easily able to make people laugh

You watch enough routines and it enhances your improv/wit IMO. If wit is a talent for metaphor delivered well with speed, then comedy is great for developing that. Probably one of the only passive activities that adds any value. Some real losers pulled themselves out of social obscurity via comedy. You can tell with some comics, before they got famous and into comedy, they were losers.

(wait, can we discuss feelings here?)

Don't ask permission. Of course. Just don't whine. Rant, by all means, but don't whine. Rants are valuable, violent, entertaining and often elucidating. Whining just pisses everyone off. Notice how comics rant rather than whine? Heh.

Literally, I now find myself laughing at just about anything.

I've been like this years. I get angry or I laugh at shit. Gotta direct that emotion somewhere.

I'd highly suggest this to anyone looking to 'make themselves funnier' or see the world in a less pessimistic light.

Yeah I've been asked a few times how can I handle knowing all the dark things about humanity that I do. Well that's because despite all the bad shit, there's loads of fucking good shit. Most people obsess on the bad and let it dominate their worldview. You don't want to do that. You become a nihilist, a cynicist, a fucking arrogant sceptic that nobody wants to be around. You fester in the "specialness" of how much of an outcast you are and have a misplaced sense of arrogance. You confuse other's optimism for stupidity, when really it's your negativity fucking up your mental health that's stupid.

Girls dig guys who make them laugh and guys like other dudes who are able to joke around. Win-win in my book.

Yeah just be careful not to become the dancing clown. I'm almost naturally funny when I want to be (watched stand-up for at least a decade) but being an asshole has got me laid way more than being funny. Don't cater to women, inspire the kind of respect that makes them want to cater to you. Being funny is a skill, but it should be secondary to the frame of being an asshole. When you're a funny nice guy, you're a clown. I always give bitches shit and then turn it into a joke. That's how it's done. Not coming from a place of weakness such as "oh if I tell enough jokes, she'll like me" - fuck that.

Relevant material: <http://illimitablemen.com/red-pill-comedy/> (I need to fix some of the video links, although most are fine.)

Think Patrice O'Neal funny, that's what you're going for.

Manipulative use of humour: In highly strained situations, humour is an excellent tension diffuser. Can override anger and get you out of trouble. Hard to hate someone who is making you laugh. Think of the court jester.

Went out on a tinder date tonight. Bailed halfway through the first drink.

15 upvotes · 14 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The key is to not overreact and if a simple 'I'm out of your league' and leaving in the middle of the first drink after a woman deceives you is overreacting then I fear feminism has done far more damage to society than I thought.

We may have some blue pills/shills in our midst. Be vigilant. Report these faggot toe-ing-a-line "moderate" kind of posts. Smells like purple pill to me.

User of 4chan explains the difference between men's and women's accomplishments.

15 upvotes · 9 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Next time you're in my city and either one of us feel like divulging what city that is, a round of bourbon is on me.

Sounds good to me man.

Machiavellian Thinking vs. Conventional Logic.

15 upvotes · 8 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It would be worth reading if it had more advanced material.

What is "advanced material" to you? More dissection of the laws, more DT concepts, nuances of narcissism, that kind of thing?

Women are learning TRP - and monetizing it. Also - suggestion to introduce TRP. Its a woman saying it.

15 upvotes · 4 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

What a beautiful use of the English language. You see how different your way of writing is from her way of talking? We're funny, they're patronising.

How Tinder facilitates SMV/RMV price discovery, or Why "No Hookups" is the funniest, most common phrase on Tinder plating single moms actually becomes preferable to plating childless women for a myriad of reasons.

15 upvotes · 28 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I intuit a spectacular spermjacking tale behind this.

Plate, meet my other plate.

15 upvotes · 15 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

She can't get promoted. She fucked OP and cooked for him to show her motherly/relationship qualities but he's still not interested. All I could add is "make yourself available, but not too available, tell him no sometimes, make him long for you by standing out and not always being available - but don't piss him off by always saying no or he'll next you." Also: "don't whine all the time, don't be vapid and arrogant, be pleasant, show humility, be soft and sweet." These things matter a lot when a guy is considering switching a plate over from plate to LTR. These are the psychological aspects that separate plates from LTRs. Also, if you try to emulate these qualities simply to get a man to commit, your mask will slip. When it does, he will abandon you. Don't try to fake it because you're lazy and want your own way, actually become what men want - they can have the kind of man you want.

Sometimes you can get almost everything right as a woman, and if the guy is at a time in his life when he's not ready for an LTR or he just wants to go out and be a stud, there ain't shit you can do about it. Trying to make him settle with you is wrong just like trying to force a woman to remain a plate is. But people are selfish and try to impose their control to the detriment of both (drama and bullshit galore!) In these situations, a woman needs to know when to cut her losses and look for a man who does want an LTR with a lady who has demonstrated some measure of quality.

Unfortunately, most women are drawn in only more when a man says he doesn't want anything more and he's all too happy to let her continue to make a fool of herself because he's getting fed and fucked. In this way women only make it tougher on themselves chasing unattainable men who only want to fuck them. Get too obsessed over the man and this is how men get spermjacked, because women think forcing him into fatherhood is a way to reassert control and get the unattainable man. This is very wrong, just not on the man, but on the kid too. Women need to stop this fucked up shit and trying to beat men at the game, because they'll never win the war. They'll win a battle here or there but they won't win the war because you can't force a man to love you. Even if you somehow did - the prize you wanted would crumble, he would hate you and neither of you would be happy. He won't "learn to love you" if he doesn't like you after he's fucked you he never will.

If you aren't what he wants, you aren't what he wants. The "delicate" female ego needs to get to grips with that. Just because you choose if he fucks, it doesn't mean you get to choose if he loves. He does. Women need to know when to cut their losses and realise "this guy will never love me the way I want him to, now I need to find a guy who will."

As for general strategy for women to bag RP men /r/redpillwomen is where you want to go. Although I don't really lurk there, too estrogenic for my liking. In that regard shoot me PMs (rather than pollute the main board with RPW shit.)

Plate, meet my other plate.

15 upvotes · 15 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah cuz he already let it go on too long / she got attached real fast. Now its damage control mode.

Redditor's fiance goes with "mutual" friend to "gym" for four hours and sends bathroom snapchats at 3am.

15 upvotes · 8 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

two weeks later she admitted cheating, but she still didn't want to move out

That's why you throw the bitch out. Chuck her shit on the street, leave her without a key and tell her to get fucked. She doesn't get a say after doing that. Fuck what she wants - it's done.

What exactly is this perceived 'Rape Culture' some Women talk about?

15 upvotes · 30 December 2014 · /r/askTRP

It's where women (but especially ugly women because they get little male interest) fetishize being taken by high value men (eg: 50 shades of grey) and so fabricate a reality where lots of low value men want to physically force themselves upon, and take said women, because said women are just so desirable and important that men lose their collective shit around them. It's ravishment if he's high value. It's rape if he's low value. This is effectively the distinction between ravishment and rape.

Basically, you get a huge amount of narcissism/self-grandiosity and mix it in a pot with feminist delusion (fear, insecurity, groupthink, inferiority complex, victim complex) and what you get is rape culture as the end product. I like how in their statistics for rape, they consider all sexual assault no matter how minor in nature to be rape. Their definition for rape is so wide, that most of the things these lunatics consider rape you wouldn't. This includes completely innocent things such as "kissed a boy but was uncomfortable afterwards" and other such retarded banalities. Feelz > realz. Just because hooking up goes wrong or gets uncomfortable, that doesn't make it rape or predatory. It's to be expected with teens and people who are inexperienced. That's what these retarded feminists don't get. They're hysterically histrionic.

Jk Rowling is mad that her female readers are tingly for Draco Malfoy.

15 upvotes · 24 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Don't take this as gospel but apparently Orwell mingled in political circles and they were planning the police state in the 1940's, hence all his predictions. They're not really predictions when you have confirmation/declared intent from important politicians, more like insights. A lot of people think he had profound insight and somehow just saw into the future, but in reality (if what I heard is correct) he had much more concrete knowledge to work from for constructing his classic dystopic novel.

My Stance On Women

15 upvotes · 10 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

But half of these female celebs we know about got there by being the girlfriend or concubine of a man. Hilarious, really.

Best man catches cheating wife, shames her online

15 upvotes · 12 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Understand, women are not your competition, there is nothing to compare to. We are your competition. I am who you should be trying to be better than.

I see your point but as it stands women are subversive elements with a sexual strategy that opposes your own and hence pose a credible threat to your well-being. "Sleeping with the enemy" is a phrase that comes to mind which perfectly describes the nature of the relationship between modern men and women IMO.

#WhatElliotRodgersShouldHaveDone - Guy Goes To Mexico To Kill Himself, Spends Week Doing Coke And Banging Hookers, Decides To Keep Living

15 upvotes · 7 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Cocaine and hookers are a wonderful way to indulge in some casual hedonism. Just don't get swept up in the life and get addicted, and you will be fine. There's more to life than fucking pussy and feeling like a superhero. Like anything, moderation.

Tale as old as time: Asian girl hops off the cock carousel and latches onto a passive Asian guy. Accidentally reveals that she only thinks of him as a provider. Shitstorm ensues.

15 upvotes · 6 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Looking at that pie chart, asians of all kind are nearly 55-60% of the world. Africans are around 20%~ if we include USA/Canada, whites about 10-15% of the world. But not even all that europe/usa representation is white anyway as you point out, so the number of whites is actually lower than what that chart would lead one to believe. White nations projected to dip further in reproductive rates, africa/blacks predicted to grow exponentially. I think it was Nigeria that will be one of the most populous nations in the world within the next 50 years and you can be assured they're not a multicultural society. Imagine that lot trying to reach Europe and the USA, as so many from third world countries endeavour to do so either legally or illegally.

Here ya go, found this: http://www.pewresearch.org/files/2014/01/PG_14.01.29_agingFacts_7_US-Nigeria.png

When you display it in a pie chart like that which shows race distribution on a planetary level, whites seem like the actual ethnic minorities out of all the major races globally speaking. Obviously the truly small races are native americans, inuits, aborigines, etc. However, yes, these "minorities" in white societies are just overflow from societies which already have more people/reproduce a generation quicker than whites do anyway (women have kids younger, and have more of them.) It's ironic we'd call non-whites minorities in white societies, when on a global level it is the white person who is a minority in comparison to say africans or asians.

I don't think any other race has its governments throwing their gene pool, way of life and culture under a bus like that. It's really sad. And it's sad a lot of people think it's a good thing, too.

To preserve their culture and race either white countries need to start breeding more, or non-white countries need to start breeding less. Which goal do you think is more attainable? The sad thing is, the more money you earn and the smarter you are, the more disincentive there is to have kids. Most the white people having a lot of babies (say 5 kids) are retard single mothers riding the carousel who get an economic incentive in welfare benefits to have kids. And for every woman doing that there are a few highly educated women who never have kids, or only have 1 or 2, creating a dysgenic effect on the white gene pool as women with inferior genes for intelligence (and/or a lack of education) have more kids than women with better genes (and/or a higher level of education.)

EDIT:

And this - http://www.pewresearch.org/files/2014/01/PG_14.01.29_agingFacts_8_popRegions.png

Norwegians up in arms about female soldier ordered to bathe nude in a survival exercise

15 upvotes · 4 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

She should be dishonourably discharged for disobeying a direct order.

Understanding How a Dark Triad Psychopath Operates

15 upvotes · 2 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Stoicism is basically self-control, reducing fear response and etc. Your morality is still yours. It's just a tool. How you use it is up to you.

RSD Julien demonstrating aggressive escalation in Tokyo. Tumblrites furious.

15 upvotes · 2 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

What you've got to remember about Japan is that they are not only xenophobic (no multiculturalism there, good for them,) but also a culture that places massive emphasis on politeness, deference to elders/higher-ups and etiquette. Even their language has different terms for the same meaning based upon your social position and the social position of the person you're speaking to. In that regard, Japan is a conservative and uptight society. That guy isn't just "taking their women" but he's disrespecting their cultural customs as well by using obnoxious westerner asshole game. I bet a number of guys wanted to beat the shit out of him for this behaviour because in Japan, acting like that is pretty provocative. The girl at the counter at the end for example, from what we can see, looked positively uncomfortably. If he just met her, that escalation was miscalibrated in as much as it was too much, too quick, and he looked like he was chomping at the bit on her neck like a rabid vampire.

Redpill from 32 years ago. Alpha tries to explain frame to a Beta.

15 upvotes · 21 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

"The attitude dictates that you don't care whether she comes, stays, lays, or prays. I mean whatever happens, your toes are still tappin'. Now when you got that, then you have the attitude."

Outcome independence, as it's known in the manosphere.

Nude selfie celebs were 'dumb', EU commissioner says

15 upvotes · 2 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminist powertalk doublespeak. It's fucking everywhere.

Shit test: wife fills the cupboards with crap food

15 upvotes · 26 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

These blue pill/ex beta married guys are so scared of living out of their car and not ever seeing their kids again, they are effectively on permanent dread themselves by merit of even being married. The elephant in the room is she has tremendous power to fuck you over, and you're trying to game her/change her viewpoint of you so that she doesn't, and perhaps even turn that shit around and make it prosper. It's the fucking worst spot you can possibly be in. And you can see from stories like OPS exactly what married men have to put up with by not having their shit together from the start.

More Rules for Men - GQ Magazine Social Engineering: How to Be Polite to Women Without Pissing Them Off

15 upvotes · 17 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That's how it's done. Like a boss.

"We're not going to have sex every day any more."

15 upvotes · 16 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Real men do cocaine! /s

IQ distribution plotted by degree type vs % of female students in each

15 upvotes · 16 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The fucking feminist bullshit really runs deep doesn't it. That pervasiveness though.

SportsCenter Host on Ray Rice: We Need To 'Reprogram the Way We Raise Men'

15 upvotes · 14 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Ha, if a man needs a woman to allow him to do anything, he's doing it all wrong.

A nation of clueless men...

2xC: "TheRedPill is causing me to self-harm, as I become more depressed by what women must really think of me. "

15 upvotes · 1 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I agree. I read some research a while ago now, I think it was around when I first found TRP about how women are better at disassociating from reality than men are. I believe it is disassociation which is the mechanism that sustains their ability to rationalise copious amounts of conflicting bullshit without becoming aware of how any of it conflicts, and thus driving them to insanity questioning the paradoxical nature of their reasoning.

Their lack of self awareness saves them from themselves, but this is why as a man it's dangerous to listen to them too much - you don't have that same level of protection from their bullshit that they have. You're at risk of actually trying to make sense of it all. Your logical faculty and your male obsession for "things needing to make sense" is what will undo you here (Dante Nero describes it as trying to make sense out of nonsense - don't!) - the major mind fuck here is that you're using rationalism to try and understand irrationalism, it's a faulty premise and rationalism cannot reconcile irrationalism, irrationalism disobeys logic via sheer randomness, it doesn't constrain itself to rules or reasons, but to the esotericism of feeling and impulsivity, it is freer than logic.

Unlike logic it has no system, no chain of reasoning, just random bullshit. IMO, if you have really bad logic, you need to be able to disassociate just to be mentally stable. That's what it takes for their personal reality to be plausible to themselves so they're not eternally lost in the depths of their own bullshit. Disassociation would appear to be a good cognitive dissonance avoidance technique. When men try and connect the dots, and call a woman out on her inconsistencies, she loses her shit and tries to sustain the disassociation because she begins to feel cognitive dissonance. This is characterised in popular culture as putting your fingers in your ears and going NUR NUR NUR. Close-minded. And that DOES makes sense, we can't be upsetting the feels now, can we?

Alerting all single males: This town of beautiful women wants you

15 upvotes · 28 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha the comments are golden and echo pretty much everything I was thinking when I read this. They want "men" but "men" who live by their rules... right. Yes, I'm sure that'll work just fine, not like a woman's love is based on respect or anything. This whole town is founded on misandry and a disdain/bitterness towards men. They all deserve each other, and any man with sense will stay the fuck away from that living hell. If they need/want/lust for men that much, they're going to have to leave that feminist utopia and enter real civilization. Plus side: probably a lot of virgins there for those who consider it important for marriage.

Some of the comments:

Once again women whine about a problem they themselves created.

1. Throw all the men out of town.
2. Tell men how they are worse in you in this and that.
3. Declaire that your point of view is unnegotiable rule.

4. Wonder why no men want to live the life that offers them no respect, no authority, no freedom, just obligation.

Move to a town where women order me to do what they say, live by their rules and I can't live or work there? Why would I do that when I can do what I want and date who I want and live my life according to my rules? I hope they have fun "wooing" each other.

Telling men they may "woo" them (only on weekends) but they have to live and work somewhere else and do what the women tell them to do isn't sexist? Maybe these women should "woo" each other.

ITP: 29 year old woman hits the wall. Wants her AF/BB

15 upvotes · 31 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Honestly when I read that I thought "this is a vapid woman of low intellectual depth that needs constant entertaining" literally all her hobbies are consumptive rather than creative or productive. That doesn't matter for plates but it's a hard no in an LTR.

Guy's wife spits into his bedside water. When confronted by the guy she accuses him of insulting her. What is TRP's view of this?

15 upvotes · 30 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women high on the crazy scale rather force someone else to buy into to their false reality than admit to doing something socially unacceptable, it's a defence mechanism. Dark triad women are particularly guilty of this.

So we get into bed and I say I want to talk. I said point blank... "Last night when I was coming up to bed I saw you spit into my water, and I want to know why you would do something like that?"

She sat upright in the bed quite fast. In a tone that I thought was maybe too forceful she said "Are you accusing me of spitting in your water?" (or something to that effect).

I stressed that I "SAW" her spit, and that there is no accusation - its a fact. She got pretty mad pretty quick. "Why would I do that" (she said). "That is why I am asking you" (I said). Back and forth a few times. Well she just got up out of bed and went downstairs (after maybe 3-5 minutes of talking). Normally we dont bolt if we are arguing (though we rarely argue). I thought she was just going downstairs to cool off, but I heard the garage door open and sure enough she took the car out for a drive.

Well I am still sleeping in the spare room and the cold war continues.

Last night we spoke again after kids went to bed. It went something like this ... all conversations have gone something like this...

Me: I need you to tell me why you did that.

Her: I am disgusted you would even think I would do that, and now you have taken it to the level of sleeping in the other room. I am offended/pissed/hurt too, that you don't trust my word that I've said I didn't do it, and you still keep on insisting you saw it. Why don't you believe me?

Me: I did see it, please just come clean and lets put this behind us.

===== So we are now at this stand still. We have planned to take kids to water park this weekend (stay over in hotel there). She 'wants an apology' or she/we are not going. Totally unfair to the kids, but honestly I don't want to be in a hotel room with her for 2 nights.

I was a little dumbfounded why 'she wants an apology'... but she explained it like this.

I have accused her of a disgusting act (insult to her). I have not trusted her word that she said she did not do it (insult to her). I have escalated it to sleeping in the other bedroom (insult to her).

Unless she is somehow unaware of her actions she would appear to be gaslighting him, which is a common behaviour found in dark triad woman who not only seek to avoid accountability, but avoid it entirely by spinning the burden of proof around onto the accuser and weaponising that to guilt trip them into questioning their own sanity. Basically, it's a neurotic bullshit-filled REFRAME and is psychological violence of the HIGHEST KIND, you see detectives use it in crime dramas with people they want to trick into incriminating themselves or with lawyers on the prosecution cross-examining defendants in the courtroom, making up all kinds of crazy shit in order to elicit an emotional response and frame the person as being guilty regardless of whether or not they actually are.

Let me give you an example, say that woman sliced his wrist with a knife and he said "why did you just cut me?" she would completely deny ever having cut his wrist and get incredibly indignant, frustrated, he would show her his wrist and say something along the lines of "Look the cut is right here, it's fucking bleeding!" and she would look at him horrified, as if HE was the monster and respond "I can't believe you actually cut yourself just to accuse me of doing something I didn't even do! - You are so spiteful and crazy oh my god I demand an apology straight away, you are a wicked man!!!! BLA BLA BLA" spinning and inverting everything to guilt trip her victim, making him feel like HE IS the bad guy "oppressor" stereotype and she's an "innocent victim" being exploited by his derangedness. Honestly women, but especially dark triad women, love to play the "damsel in distress" trope, they fuck people up, convince the people who they fuck up that they're evil/guilty, play the victim and use the power of the victim to further justify more psychological abuse until they absolutely destroy the person they are effectively bullying/psychologically destroying, and then move on to do to the same old crazy shit to the next person.

Obviously I have not met this woman and thus have been able to analyse her so I can't say with 100% certainty that she falls into the category of "dark triad woman", she may just have a mental illness or have been "sleepwalking" (people can do all kinds of crazy shit in their sleep and not know, including driving cars, jumping out of windows, making food, all kinds of shit) but extreme extraneous circumstances aside and using Occams razor it's more likely that she's a crazy bitch rather than someone unaware of their own actions.

Girlfriend is overseas and wants to party and go to a "topless" (nude) beach. What should I do?

15 upvotes · 30 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is a huge red flag. Party girls are not relationship material. If Mykonos is like Ibiza or Malaga or any of those partying tourist resorts then people just go there to get drunk and fuck, it's literally a fuckfest, even the guys who normally can't get laid get laid with pretty girls, it's a pussy buffet over there. Even if it's not her intent (which I seriously fucking doubt), she's willfully putting herself into a sexualised environment where drugs and drink are abundant which will massively increase her chances of cheating on you.

FYI: Her friends will encourage her to cheat on you if they are party girls, peer pressure, drugs/drink and horny drunk men on a hot greek island = recipe for cheating.

And this: "think about my feelings and how you would feel if I did the same to you," is nothing but bullshit manipulation my friend, she knows you're not comfortable with her going (because of the implication of what this entails) and even still despite your feelings she is going to violate your wishes anyway and go full steam ahead in attending the fuck-a-thon.

She doesn't consider dancing with other guys cheating, and it's really not, but most modern "dance," is grinding.

Unless she's fucking ballroom dancing and he keeps his hands off her ass she's basically saying "I'm fine with strange men I don't know rubbing their dicks against my ass/crotch" - HUGE RED FLAG, a decent girlfriend would realise this behaviour is not conducive to the relationship and would respect this is not the sort of boundary you cross if you do not want to be perceived by ANY MAN as a slut, much more so if that man is your BOYFRIEND and you're in a long-term relationship, come on now SERIOUSLY.

These are your options:

1 - Tell her if she wants to party, that's fine, you hope she has a great time there, but you and her are done. Lay the rules down, don't sound butthurt when you say it, seem cool/calm and assertive. Whatever she says, don't show emotion, be very "OK" about things. If she asks "why" and tries to "reason" (read: manipulate) you back around to being accepting of her going, be very stubborn, refuse to engage in her bullshit emotional reasoning and stick to the original assertion "if you want to go to the party that's fine, but I'm not interested in being in a relationship with a party girl." stick exactly to that, don't justify it, don't give reasoning for it, this isn't an academic debate, you haven't got to justify jack shit - all you need to do is stick firmly to this rule/desire.

Don't fall for tears/water works, don't give in, stick FIRMLY to this point and refuse any kind of compromise or negotiation, opting to frequent the grounds of the cock carousel is a non-negotiable choice, you give her an inch and she'll take the whole damn mile so lay the motherfucking law down in this manner and force her to choose - you will not let her have her cake AND eat it. If she values your LTR more she will cancel, if she values partying it up on an island of adulterous hedonism more, she'll go anyway, sacrificing the relationship, which will tell you a lot about just how much she valued that relationship to begin with in as much that a vacation meant more than whatever it is you guys have together. Better she goes and you're not sat there at home wondering if some other guy is balls deep in her throat, rather than you begrudgingly agree to let her do something you're not comfortable with, laying in bed awake staring at the ceiling losing your shit pondering sending her an angry text whilst she's drunk/high as fuck having the time of her life only to find out later on down the line that the inevitable went and happened.

2 - Keep stringing her along making her think she's your girlfriend, be charming and all that bullshit, but in your mind demote her from girlfriend to plate for showing this kind of behaviour, emotionally detach yourself from her but do not be overtly cold unless you want her to get all suspicious and uppity, spin it around that your "emotional unavailability" is the cause of all the problems, frame you as the bad guy and end the relationship on those grounds. If you want to keep fucking her then you need to be charming, seem like you give a fuck, but stop giving a fuck since she's betrayed you. I call this "moral duplicity", seem like one thing, be the psychological opposite. If you have that in you to do that (and I realise not all guys do), then you can keep spinning her as a plate whilst letting her think you're still a couple, if you're too hurt/nice/moral to do something like that, then keep with option 1, give her the choice and see where it goes. Be prepared for her to choose Mykonos over your LTR.

Whatever happens man you can't be afraid to walk away. You cannot be afraid to lose this girl, if you are afraid to walk away and can't stand the idea of losing this girl then she has all the power, you're fucked, and if you don't leave her she'll eventually end up formalising leaving you and let me tell you one thing, if you ever want to fuck this girl again or have the upper-hand you want to be the DUMPER not the DUMPEE. Women who dump you move on very easily and never give a shit, they are totally sociopathic about it, they rewrite history to make you seem like you deserved it to both themselves and their friends/family and they believe all their own bullshit, they remember all the bad shit and convince themselves that you're a piece of shit. If you dump them it fucks with their ego by replacing the pedestal they put themselves on with a 6ft ditch, they find it hard to get over you, they think about you, they wonder "what if" and purely because you've hurt their ego it makes it easy to hook up without committing in the future. This effect of post-relationship regret amplifies even further if she cant find a guy that is better than you (richer/sexier/wealthier etc.)

To be honest when a girl is going to a partying island with her slutty friends/cousins to club and get drunk around horny guys that's a sign she's already mentally checked out of the relationship. Perhaps you should give us more background on the context of your relationship. Do you get regular sex? Is she submissive? Other than this, does she respect you? How long have you been together? Do you lift/are you considered attractive? Etc.

Ultimately realise this whole thing is a power game and you are playing TO WIN, ignore anyone who appeals to your morality here. Nothing matters but winning, fuck the pleas to morality as the only moral thing this girl will be doing is providing a public service in the form of quenching beta thirst on a horny greek party island.

Older guy just got his 1st plate

15 upvotes · 9 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

In my beta days I managed to land myself an FWB. Beta with an FWB you're thinking? that makes IM alpha! When the truth is, it didn't. What happened was I turned an EX-GF (like OP) into an FWB. The thing is, I couldn't keep the plate spinning long, we fucked on about 3 separate occasions but I lost too much frame/went so beta that rather than be FWBs or work back into an LTR with me she wanted to friend zone me instead. An LTR wasn't even on the cards (which if you are morally duplicitous, you could use as an angle to keep getting sex.) This is the thing: if you are an alpha and you split up with a girl, she will be down to go FWB as a way to keep you around, until she tries to renegotiate an LTR. They will rationalise to themselves that they just enjoy the sex, but this is normally only a half truth, the other half being they will seek commitment again because they desire you, giving you lots of sex is the bait to lure you into making that commitment. This "luring" isn't even always premeditated or conscious, it just seems to be something that women inherently do, perhaps due to evo-psych reasons.

Whilst men like FWBs as full-time and seemingly permanent arrangements, particularly with women who do not meet their quality threshold for commitment but do meet their quality threshold for sexual release, women will use the FWB arrangement as a transitional phase to try and renegotiate commitment. Thus it stands to reason that if you are a beta or an alpha that turned beta due to a relationship and you split up with a girl (it's more likely she's pulling the plug rather than you) then she won't even try to LTR you because she no longer desires you, instead she'll try to friendzone you to mine you for comfort & validation, worded euphemistically as the feminine idea of "friendship", where you do all the emotional giving and she does all the taking.

In case that last section was not clear, from my experience if there is a break-up this is what will happen:

- If you dump her: she will allow herself to become a plate as a way to try and get you back into a long-term relationship with her. Dumping her tells her you think you've got better options than her so she's renegotiating your desire by making herself sexually available to you.
- If she dumps you: she will try to turn you into a beta orbiter and desexualise you (even if you'd both fucked like rabbits in the past) and place you firmly in a chaste friendzone. This is because by dumping you she thinks she's better than you and has better options, renegotiating her desire when she is going out of her way to desexualise you is not impossible, but it is an uphill battle.

It's funny how men despise going backwards sexually (from LTR to friendzone) whilst women have no problem with losing sexual relations (from LTR to FZ) but instead despise going backwards emotionally (from LTR to FWB).

Anecdote: I knew this beta guy at university back in the day who did the whole "I need to find myself thing" with his girl. He doesn't even read TRP and is a massive bluepill and he ended up having her as a plate, she'd drive to his little studio apartment 3-4 times a week just to fuck him and watch movies in the evening, and no he wasn't insanely attractive/popular/rich or anything else either, he was her first serious boyfriend (they were both 18) and she had huge oneitis for him. It was pure psychology at work there. The funny thing is, most people in our class back then thought that she was out of his league, yet he accidentally stumbled on dread game because he wanted to "be free to fuck girls at university" even though he didn't have high enough SMV to go around being a cad at university. I guess hilariously enough, this is a tale of an ambitious beta whose need for sexual variance had him stumble upon dread game and come out on top. I never did find out what happened with him, I suspect she got him to recommit to her.

Edit: typos.

Why are British girls so fat?

15 upvotes · 11 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Well the UK is a 60+ million population (not counting illegals, so far more) island the size of Oregon. Space is at a premium. That's right, imagine 60 million~ people living in Oregon - that's the UK. Insane population density. Now imagine trying to house those people and feed them at the same time within that space sustainably.

The Dangers of Isolation: Why Men Need Other Men

15 upvotes · 7 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminism and its influence on the average woman (even those who are ignorant to feminism) has caused a lot of doublethink to be perpetuated on an almost daily basis. For those who are not particularly logical, imbuing them with doublethink is not a particularly difficult task.

We are strong/independent/equal! (bullshit, but many have come to believe it)

Is believed alongside...

Men are scary and physically stronger than women so women need their own exclusive gym time. (which I believe is true)

So what you have is bullshit and reality mixing together, you claim inferiority under the guise of victimhood in the face of reality to retain privilege/exemption which is validated and acted upon by an innately gender-inequal mechanism possessed by society (men and women caring about and wanting to protect women whilst not possessing the same care for men - thus their concerns are addressed), but then you claim bullshit to simultaneously elevate status by repeating it so much it becomes an act of inculcation "we are equal!" "we are equal!" over and over again for years and years. Then you reconcile these two facets together by saying "we are just as equal BUT we are victims, we are victims because we are oppressed and our inferiority is due to oppression, not due to biological differences that makes us inferior, thus we are only inferior due to factors outside of our control, but innately we are equal and demand to be treated as equal" thus denying the very biological reality of women being shit scared of men pumped-up on T in the gym and going into some debate about nature vs nurture, which we know of course under feminist rhetoric, nurture is the cause of everything and that basically nothing is caused by nature because patriarchy and other ideological rhetoric and blah blah.

So the conclusion: you are not strong/independent/equal because if you were you could share a gym with men without bitching it. Counter-argument: "we are different but still equal" which again, is fallacious. You could say a computer from 10 years ago is different but equal to a computer from the present, but the computer from the present has more processing power/functions. The difference in and of itself creates inequality, that is the correct and truthful logic. That doesn't mean you cannot have an equal baseline of respect for everyone that you meet, but the notion of equality and sameness is a lie. It also, as an act of doublethink, flies in the face of the "celebrated diversity of multiculturalism" so basically, we have to celebrate the differences of race, whilst saying races are equal, and denying there are any differences in gender/sex, whilst saying the sexes are equal, whilst men of every race have been fundamentally aware over the eons that there are significant differences between men and women, as are women, who under feminism only admit this when they stand to benefit (talk about opportunistic!)

To call that a shit test is to do it a disservice, what it really is IS A MINDFUCK.

Then there's "women are irrational and tend to have higher machiavellian intelligence" - misogyny causing feminist outcry.

But if you reword that to say

"Women are intuitive and have higher emotional intelligence thus they maneuver around people better" - it becomes feminist friendly, which is essentially saying the same thing in subtext by wording it through a different interpretational means, they rely on emotions and can manipulate people, but it's sugar-coated to not be offensive.

It's like Machiavelli himself said in The Prince, vices get spun into virtues to justify immoral behaviour and this alongside doublethink creates an ideology that is not only outrageous but almost unfathomable to the logical mind. The complexity of its contradiction is truly mind-fucking. It does not surprise me some people get mentally ill trying to even comprehend and live out this absurdity. I swear my mind was doing somersaults even trying to put this bullshit into words.

I'll close with this: "All animals are equal, but some animals are more equal than others." - George Orwell

Things have changed. Took the red pill a month ago - married with 2 kids

15 upvotes · 30 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Honestly, your "hot action" can be replaced with a fleshlight.

Should be the slogan for the MGTOW movement.

Lit a fire under her ass.

15 upvotes · 19 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I am not completely sure how far to push using dread method. Any suggestions?

It would be somewhat poetic to keep tiffany at a sexual arms length by essentially "dangling the carrot with the possibility for commitment" and "reminding her subtly you have options" when she had made you her little beta orbiter for so long. How you calibrate is up to you, if you're not sure about "how to do dread game" then:

<http://therationalmale.com/2013/05/13/soft-dread/>

If she has a few drinks, you are a rapist

15 upvotes · 10 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

They're equal or superior when it benefits them to be, and victims when too, it benefits them. Machiavellian to the max. They don't need consistency to get what they want. Sometimes they're agentless little infants who are just overpowered by patriarchy, other times they're strong independent women outperforming men at whatever BS it is they declare. Female accountability = ZERO.

Feminist subreddit made new default

15 upvotes · 8 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Funny women are fucking hot. It's like 50 shades of grey for men without the rape, a fantastical ideal.

It's been said before: Maintain Frame

15 upvotes · 7 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

just do it because it's the best base to build your value off of.

I just want to chime in and say the best way to hold frame permanently and not have to bother exerting effort into the endeavour and slipping into involuntary reversion of betatitude is to get fucked over in life, alot, preferably have failure after failure, disappointment, betrayal, a little bit of poverty never hurt in fucking someone up, in fact one would argue its the seasoning for someone looking to become strong, if this sounds like you? Great, that's more delinquency to work with! I sound sarcastic but that's my humour, I'm deadly serious (thought I'd clarify that for the sake of Poe's Law.) Then take all that painful energy you feel and turn it into a calm, controlled, intolerant rage by applying your anguish to learning about the dark triad. You'll be fine. You won't feel like you but the original you was getting fucked up the ass in life and unless you're gay I doubt that was an entirely pleasurable experience. Your choice.

PS: On the dark triad thing, reading+pain are a good combo and may be enough for some, however if you haven't experienced enough BS what really helps is being around naturals, after all they do say you are the sum of the 5 people closest to you, naturals will keep you on your toes, like a professor mentoring a freshman you will be in awe of the fucked up mechanisms behind how they operate and will subsequently learn a lot.

The hamsters think they've found their heroine. Alamuddin (soon to be Mrs Clooney) somehow believed to disprove Princeton Mom and TRP.

15 upvotes · 1 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Shes probably got some serious game when it comes to flirting and head fucking. Most women are terrible at it.

This popped up on my feed "6 Things Men Will Literally Never Get"

15 upvotes · 26 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Society is sick, if we can help in whatever small way it is, that's a pleasure.

Regarding "Monk Mode" and The 48 Laws of Power

15 upvotes · 24 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Not all laws apply to every situation. There are contradictory laws. Greene also likes to inverse the laws or turn them on their head so to say, it is up to you to understand your situation through analysis and apply the correct laws to the situation at hand and what you want to achieve from it.

The thing about the 48 Laws of Power is that there's a lot of profound information in there, but it's like a cook book without the methodology. He gives you the recipe for power, but it's not complete, there's no methodology he doesn't give examples and say to you "in contemporary and relatable situation X, you could apply the law in this way" he doesn't teach you to analyse the situation you're in and link it to a law, he doesn't teach you how to apply laws based on the scenario at hand and give common examples, what he does do is tell you what the laws are, gives historical examples of them and opens your eye to a realm, to a game of power which you wouldn't have been able to comprehend so lucidly without the book. This is why I've written a few (and need to write more) exemplified essays on the laws (which I will probably compile into a book at some point, but I'm very busy.)

The 48 Laws of Power is fucking useless if you don't have the mind, the experience, the ability to observe and the analytical logic to essentially remember all the laws, remember many different ways of applying them, see the situation you're in, understand your own plan/desires and then draw correlations between all these variables so you can play a sort of chess game with the laws to tip the odds in your favour, and shit, if you're really good at it, you will get your way 9 out of 10 times. Unfortunately the book doesn't teach those skills, it doesn't teach the vocational side of machiavellianism, it gives you theory based on observation and the experiences of very smart people, which means in practice, the knowledge is very sound, it is knowledge that can be applied directly to your life and you will see a real difference within your social interactions, how you negotiate and how you view people.

What the book doesn't do is take a position. It doesn't take a position that says "right, now we're going to manipulate people, here is how you could manipulate people with this at work, here is how you can manipulate girls with this and etc and etc" Greene himself says "I'd rather the book be used for defence against natural psychopaths rather than be used to hurt people" as well as "psychopaths don't need this book, most of this stuff is innate for them" (or something along those lines, those aren't verbatim quotes) the book also doesn't take the mind of a person who is an active machiavellian and gives you their methodologies, it encourages analysis, but not proactive analysis, merely theoretical/passive analysis. I believe this neutral stance the book takes in not actually giving examples of victimising people with machiavellianism and encouraging you to develop machiavellianism as a vocational skill is Greene's decision in not trying to provoke readers into becoming practicing sociopaths in the making, but rather help people to recognise sociopathic skills. If he gave you all the keys to the kingdom, and went into much more relevant detail, it's going to enable the less intelligent who couldn't make the connections by themselves to be active successful machiavellians who are likely to abuse their vocation and get drunk on power.

You don't literally apply all 48 Laws of Power to each and every scenario, some laws will be used commonly, for example, I make ample use of "always say less than necessary" and "conceal your intentions" because I don't like people knowing what the fuck I'm up to, not because I'm doing anything particularly bad but because I don't really trust people to keep their mouths shut, I don't trust people to not use information I give them to their own advantage if someone else leverages them or incentivises them, so I don't bother giving that information away freely in the first place. If you want to shit test by the way, give disinformation and see how far it goes, that's a nice little shit test to see who you can trust.

The other thing is people have a tendency to gossip and twist the truth, people may hijack your plans or reduce its effectiveness by making things known before you're ready for them to be known, it robs you of your power when you can't launch what it is you're doing on your own terms because someone couldn't keep their mouth shut or overheard you talking or whatever and pretty much everyone knows your next move before you've even made it, no, fuck that shit. Delivery is everything, being robbed of your delivery takes away the effect of many things. It stops being on your terms when everyone expects it from you to begin with. What kind of freedom is that? It's not freedom at all. Especially when people say "I thought you were going to do X, why didn't you do X?" and you're like "how the fuck did you even know about that?"

As for monk mode if you're physically out with your friends, as in, people you value, then that's social time. Monk mode is about minimising social time, but if you're with friends you should be socialising, not reading. You can read at home, on your commute or whenever you need to kill time.

I read a book in the presence of others when I cannot be bothered to socialise, as in, I would enjoy the book more than talking to the people around me. Often back when I was university in class the people around me were going to offer me no value, no stimulating conversation, no good sense of humour or whatever, it'd just be moaning/bitching or phatic conversation about inane shit "who did what at the weekend" who got drunk and whatever drugs.. yeah whatever I couldn't give a fuck, when it gets like that I get a book out, read, and ignore everyone. Naturally that gets those sitting/standing near me asking "what are you reading" "oh that book looks deep" (usually a philosophy book) and all that kind of shit.

Point is, if I'm having fun and people are bringing value I'm going to immerse myself in the interaction, the people I consider to be decent friends in my life I would never turn up at their house reading a book, that's rude. Reading a book around friends is basically saying in subtext "this book is more interesting than you are" and even if it's true because they are boring or you've outgrown them or whatever, if you want to keep those friendships alive for potential future favours or whatever the circle brings as a whole, you have to conceal your contempt for them.

I think its time you ask yourself how you feel about your social circle and what they can offer you. If you're outgrowing them, branch swing from them to newer circles and meet new people. If you're in monk mode though, that shouldn't be an endeavour. Monk mode is about self-improvement, as in getting on top of yourself and your own skills, being a socialite is the total opposite of monk mode. Socialite shit is for people who have already made it, trust fund babies and all that ilk. I wouldn't go out and socialise with people in non-mandatory settings more than once a week in monk mode, obviously mandatory being work/school or whatever social obligations you have which require you to go and expend time on others.

Study: A woman's sex drive begins to plummet once she is in a secure relationship

15 upvotes · 12 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Dread game.

Male stripper on reddit declares he gets a blowjob from nearly every bride-to-be at bachelorette parties.

15 upvotes · 4 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Give a bitch an inch of power and freedom, she'll run with it and take the whole fucking mile.

No sense of self-control. No accountability. Shit, with some of them, not even guilt.

Funny how guilt only applies in retrospect to so many of these broads, and "beforehand" it is completely absent from the decision making process. So emotional, so transient.

How much is too much?

15 upvotes · 2 April 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

Divorce rapes, hypergamy and all that shit is hardly imaginary. Somehow I don't think we have much to worry about. TRP encourages critical thinking and self improvement and places a lot of emphasis on the truth. What this post is saying "what if that truth isn't an objective truth, but a subjective truth of the philosophy itself" the hilarious thing is, that even if stemming upon an objective truth or "a flawed interpretation of the original truth", which would become a subjective self-sustaining truth despite its roots, ultimately it has its origins in observations of a civilization that fails males at every level, the key focus is always about male betterment while noticing the flaws of women that society actively chooses to make excuses for or not even acknowledge, much to the disadvantage of males.

Society does not encourage men in the same way that it encourages women. It does not protect men from hardship in the way it protects women. Some of this is social, and some genetic. It is often thought men have an instinct to protect women/children and this is culturally reinforced also. Does the reverse apply? No. Male disposability is both culturally and genetically reinforced.

To me a philosophy (way of life) is not the same as an ideology (blind belief in a system of concepts because they're theorised and occasionally backed up by questionable case study.)

The great thing about philosophy and ideology is some of them are compatible. Eg: I can go out today and see both capitalism and socialism (due to taxation) same with TRP I can go out today and see RP and BP attitudes.

The Blue Pill is not a "counter philosophy or ideology" either.

The Blue Pill is the product of irrationalism and feminisation which has taken over a post-war (on home territory) feminist gynocentric society. The Blue Pill is all things emotional over logical, idealistic over pragmatic, dream over truth, it is political correctness, an inability to think critically or debate fairly (shaming tactics et al)

The Blue Pill society has no place for men, it gives men nothing to aspire to, it does not facilitate their needs. There are very few male spaces or pro-male propaganda in the media. Society questions and even demonises the development of men. Male suicide rates are higher. Men have less legal rights than women in family court. Socially more is expected of men. Current affairs are a combination of traditionalist expectations of men which fall in with RP theory (be alpha/strong/resourceful) along with feminist expectations of men (she can do whatever she likes, be an alpha or beta female, and still get herself a high value male)

Feminism in the contemporary is a greedy hypocritical ideology that is so incredibly easy to pick logical inconsistencies in, primarily because its largest benefactors and supporters (eg: Oprah Winfrey) are probably not particularly logical themselves. Feminism wants to place all the traditional burdens of men firmly onto men whilst removing woman's, granting them additional rights and elevating their social position through things like quotas. While the radfem department is teaching women through media and the single parent family structure to despise men and have kneejerk reactions to the idea of men coming together without female intervention (all male spaces are DESPISED BY WOMEN - they see it as an immediate threat)

The Blue Pill sub has no ideology or philosophy, it is merely a group of people who were so indignant and upset about the emergence of a pro-male group, that they have created a sub designed to subverting it (vote brigades, sometimes comment brigades) and skewing its image to outsiders who take an interest in it. They dedicate their time at attempting to dismantle the red pill philosophy, but their counterpoints when apparent are usually along the lines of "do you have any scientific evidence for that? if not - it's not true" and this is the entire basis for all refutation, an appeal to science as the mighty holy grail of truth. They do not attempt to engage whatsoever on a philosophical level, quite likely because they're incapable of doing so and too biased to think critically about something such as gender differences.

Which then brings me to the topic of how modern day academics, especially Gen X and millennials would deny the truth perceived by many simply because it hadn't been incorporated into a study. They can not measure likelihood based on experience, they do not think for themselves. They cling to the idea that scientific study shows higher validity (when some studies are so terribly biased and containing small sample sizes that a higher sample size of corroborating anecdotal data would be more valid) because they want to look intelligent and sophisticated, yet the acceptance of feminist dogma and inability to question their own beliefs, as well as TRPs, with critical thinking suggests this is not a level of brain development they have reached. Feminism a sham, many of its studies are incredibly weak, yet we're meant to believe their bullshit points because they can cite a poorly done study, rejecting the truth in favour of this so-called "proof" this is the major problem with feminism, it hijacked academia for its own ideological pursuits and it has disrupted the bonds between academia and truth, trying to present feminism as a type of truth because "hey, look, look rad fem Ann Oakley (1972) found that....." and blah-de-blah. It's all bullshit hiding behind an academic veneer to try and look credible and win hearts and minds.

Even in the case where a study backs up what TRP says, they often reject the study, saying it is flawed or non-representative or some other BS disadvantage of research methods they learnt in their humanities class at college. These people have already decided that the post-WW2 way of life is what they're interested in, and they self-sustain by being an echo chamber. Society itself/TBP does not have a critical review or debate of what gender roles are, why they are what they are, what works best and yadda yadda, TRP does REVIEW these ideas but in and among themselves, not with feminists. The feminists have shown time and time again they do not engage well with critical debate, we know better than to debate them or give them a voice within our own space. Their space is everywhere which isn't TRP, so it hardly seems fair to let them damage the integrity of a fledgling philosophy. If you want to challenge TRP you can challenge it in your own life and see how it changes incorporating RP ideas into your life. Arguing with a feminist is a waste of time, it's like telling a muslim Allah is not real, just don't bother they don't want to hear it, their minds are not open to the idea feminism can be wrong, any debate they have is merely an attack upon your ideas out of an emotional need to silence/conquer such ideas.

They cling to science to seem intelligent, but the very act of putting all your intellectual and spiritual faith in academic study is a naive one. Critical thinking is the most important of all the cognitive traits within a decision making process. Logic. Logic can be wrong, but at least if it is, it's not in bias, it's in ignorance that does not allow said logic to develop enough maturity to be factually coherent.

Whenever you see a gender debate in the public sphere, say on tv, it's always from a PRO-FEMALE perspective and typically being discussed by a bunch of women (who have been confirmed by study, ironically, to have an in-group bias - women stick together if the alternative is helping men) they'll have one or two token manginas agreeing with all their bullshit to make it look like some fair debate representing all sides, but really it's just a group of feminist/feminist leaning people giving feminist views on gender. If there was a non-feminist view of gender publicised in such a way, the threats/shaming/bullying would come quickly after whoever dissented against feminist dogma in such a public manner had aired these views.

Advertising can not be anti-feminist, as to be anti-feminist is to be politically incorrect. It's not profitable to be anti-feminist, so companies tow the feminist line. At least at a consumer level, at a worker level feminism harms companies with quotas, but again, another topic. Feminism rules the social landscape and it is a key contributor to all the bullshit idea that the ideal (for some) of egalitarianism is actually a truth. If anything, these are the people stretching reality to fit their view of the world, trying to convince themselves despite innumerable differences we are all equal, whilst the reality is quite the contrary. TRP recognises differences, it does not try to rationalise them away and shame dissent into silence.

The major failing of blue pill society is that it thinks, thanks to how mainstream radical feminism has become, that you can't be pro-male without being anti-women. There is a failure to make this critical logical distinction which highlights the distinct lack of critical thinking that pro-feminists are typically incapable of. There is most likely fear that allowing men to unite will weaken the feminist dominance on social rhetoric at a status quo level, whilst on a micro level individuals feel irrational fear over the idea, equating ideas of male union with the feminist concept of "patriarchy" that doing so would oppress women.

Most people who oppose the red pill, actually do so not because they see it as helping men, but because they perceive it as a threat to women. Which goes to show how culturally ingrained it is to care about the needs of women whilst not giving a remote damn about men. Men are having problems en-masse culturally and make their own group on the internet. The response from mainstream society is to demonise it because it could be damaging to women. Tells you a lot, they don't care if males have problems, if their attempt to fix their problems could negatively affect women, they don't want them to fix those problems.

To me, that there in and of itself is very telling of the position of the average day man. He gets much lower priority.

The great thing about a philosophy based in realism is you always have reality to check your ideas against. Feminism/Bluepill has to jump many mental hoops to reconcile bullshit with what can be perceived as "reality" RP ideas need no such hoop jumping, as many have said "it just all falls into place."

This whole discussion feels like it belongs in purplepilldebate, not alreadyred.

Tits or GTFO

15 upvotes · 21 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Men = capitalism

Women = socialism

George Carlin on Soft Language

15 upvotes · 3 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That's a brilliant quote. The wall of text initially had me thinking I'd just read a few paragraphs but the brilliance of it kept me reading until the end. Good find!

Author claims Red Pill Theory is "void of masculinity"

15 upvotes · 2 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's like taking advice from a sexless testosterone devoid alien. Retarded. He went full retard.

Guy needs to read some Freud.

How Trickle Truth Works: "With you I'd have the life I've always dreamed of. But he has the condo I've always wanted, so I have to go." She left and I haven't heard from her or seen her since.

15 upvotes · 27 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Simple. If you're getting laid count how many of those chicks are already taken. You won't like the result.

For guys who do LTR: Be selfish. Make sure she is submissive & that YOU are the special one

15 upvotes · 14 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Your appreciation is most kind. I have a blog.

Fatty from that awful show "Girls" gets offended because people don't want to see her naked all the time

15 upvotes · 10 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The hamster knows no fucking bounds.

I'm sitting in a Women's and Gender Studies Class RIGHT NOW

15 upvotes · 9 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

In order of difficulty from the beginning to the end of the course:

Module F501 - Introduction to Critical Thinking

http://www.amazon.co.uk/OCR-Critical-Thinking-Introduction-Paperback/dp/B00FOT24LK/ref=sr_1_15?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1389353094

Module F502 - Assessing & Developing Argument

http://www.amazon.co.uk/OCR-Critical-Thinking-Assessing-Developing/dp/1844895548/ref=sr_1_1?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1389305555

Module F503 - Ethical Reasoning and Decision Making (this goes heavy into philosophy Nietzsche, Bourdieu, Immanuel Kant etc)

http://www.amazon.co.uk/OCR-Critical-Thinking-Reasoning-9781444104677/dp/034097382X/ref=sr_1_1?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1389305692

Module F504 - Critical Reasoning

http://www.amazon.co.uk/OCR-A2-Critical-Thinking-Reasoning/dp/1844895564/ref=sr_1_4?s=books&ie=UTF8&qid=1389305501

Goes without saying but warning: very heavy subject matter.

Also, they're all English books, so non-english (non-brits) are shit out of luck unless you're going to get them sent internationally.

Course was taught over 2 years, F503 was my favourite and probably the hardest.. that's when you start looking at philosophy due to the ethical components of reasoning. EG: ethics are subjective and violate utilitarianism, a well argued for philosophical viewpoint which advocates efficiency over equality.

I'm sitting in a Women's and Gender Studies Class RIGHT NOW

15 upvotes · 9 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

People often called strong debaters are usually just good at using logical fallacies effectively.

I agree with that generalisation ;)

Power comes from persuasion, not logic, I value the power to persuade like any power so the compliment is hardly meaningless in my opinion, it only elevates my social position - however I don't disagree with your viewpoint either, both are equally valid points. Despite the art of persuasion, I do value logic, I only utilise fallacies when I'm going up against someone who is being intellectually dishonest eg: an illogical person/weak debater. The intellectually dishonest are impervious to logic as they constantly utilise "shift and reframe" to try and get you on the defense but don't actually address the argument. They will just try to bully you with machiavellianism, so you have to fight fire with fire in these cases. At that point its about reputation and credibility, not learning or truth. The outcomes of argument is interesting, it's something philosophy/logic doesn't teach - the psychology behind argument and its connection to ego.

Edit: typo

What if we're right?

15 upvotes · 20 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

They all have the potential to be that way, doesn't mean they all are that way.

A woman who isn't that way can become like that later on if your game slips or she is corrupted by feminism (eg: moves from Eastern to Western Europe)

Yes, I like reconciling shit. Blame accounting.

People on Reddit really do hate TRP

15 upvotes · 15 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Problem is, you can't seriously discuss anything with people as deluded and low as you are

Looks like he's projecting.

The fact that women aren't rational and need babysitting from their own bullshit is reality. Anyone who seriously thinks women have the same amount of logic as a man has their neck up their ass with their head peering out into fucking narnia, no homosexual innuendo intended.

Women aren't equal in ability (inferior reasoning, inferior strength, biologically disposed to being risk adverse etc) and they never will be, they're not meant to be, equality is a perversion of nature, they've evolved different, nature has assigned them a different role and it's these idealistic idiots who want to nurture them into something they're not with their stupid fucking delusions and deceptions.

Deal with it. Get over it. Realise it. Accept it. Go through the stages of acceptance, it is reality, and if you deny it for the rest of your existence you will find yourself continuously unhappy as the world fails to match up to your expectations. Specifically, you will never understand women and they will fucking rape the shit out of you mentally, exploiting your naivety for all its worth.

Maybe one day this fuckwit will get fucked over so badly he'll come to realise, until then, he's a delusional bigoted keyboard warrior.

Saving the Best - RationalMale on recent /r/sex post of guy finding old sex tape of wife.

15 upvotes · 11 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You can be an alpha with money and commit to a woman. They settle for provider betas when there's no provider alphas around. Most alphas will not commit to the average woman, quite simply. You could say an alpha who sticks around is the female ideal of a "male unicorn." Ideally, the apex of her hypergamy is to have an alpha who she not only lusts for, but can provide for her too. This combination is rare, so often she fulfills her plurality through more than one male archetype, the testosterone fuelled adonis with strong character gives her the crazy sex and the boring beta making close to six figures raises her children, pays the mortgage, takes her on holiday etc.

Chinese Man Fed Up With His Girlfriend's Shopping Spree Jumps To His Death In Mall

15 upvotes · 10 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I kinda feel sorry for him and those like him. Not out of elitism but sincere pity. That's incredibly sad.

Call to Arms: Vasalgel baboon study

15 upvotes · 9 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Oh you're sperm jacking me girl? That's nice, no sperm in there.

I can already envision the carnage.

Bitches going fucking nuts they can't trap men with a baby he doesn't want by manipulating the birth control and pulling a fucking "oopsie."

TRP Most of the Time, But TBP Turns On, When I Start Loving Her...

15 upvotes · 6 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Men dont have the privilege of getting caught up in the whirlwind of love (even though we are more than capable of it), this is a gift that we, as men, give to women and they want to take that. If you can't handle your feelings for a woman, if you're feeling hopelessly in love, as fucked up as it sounds "I love you too much to be with you" is a great way to dump her.

That's why when they act like their pussy don't smell and get on this self-entitled shit I have no time for them.

Men bring a fuck ton more to the table than women do, and women act like they're the prize. Pffffft. Hilarious shit these crazy bitches be thinking.

A womens response to how women view men as parteners

15 upvotes · 6 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

This is brilliant, excellently written, to the point, and raises valid points on the contradictory nature of today's double standards in society within the gender dynamic.

I think a round of applause is in order, written by a woman no less, bravo.

What to do about this 'type' of alpha.

15 upvotes · 23 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Ditch this guy have some dignity.

Wife wants to ride the cock carousel and demands open marriage (11 other dudes). Beta husband cries but then mans up & snags 19 year old, wife is stunned and begs to be exclusive again

15 upvotes · 6 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha bitches can't handle shit can they, she fucked 11 guys, he fucks 2 girls and because one's prettier than her all of a sudden she pipes the fuck down and begs him to end the arrangement.

If this guy cuts off the 19 yr old he's a fucking idiot. His wife was fucking greedy wanting other guys when she made a commitment to one guy.. what do your weddings vows mean? Nothing? Who wants to bet this bitch fucking begged for the commitment of marriage if not damn well manipulated to get it? And women wonder why so many men don't want to commit to them - the depreciating beauty asset prone to bouts of irrationalism with a genetic predisposition to be on the look out for an upgrade? LMAO. Women are fucked the hell up. All bitches are crazy. Beige phillip principle motherfuckers, no exceptions, the caveat is the level of crazy varies from woman to woman.

I have no compassion for this bitch. None. These are women who fuck you over and when you get them back they put on the water tears and play victim because only their feelings matter to them, when she was fucking guys earlier on and he was telling her how shitty he felt she didn't give two shits she wanted her cunt pounded by some random guy like the fucking HO that she is. So who gives a fuck what she wants or thinks now? The fucking audacity bitches have amazes me, this is full solipsism on show here.

The guys not getting off easy either, he's a fucking idiot for agreeing to this in the first place they should just get divorced and be done with it and stop using each other due to a fear of loneliness, obviously he is a beta, he should have been going 50 shades of grey on his wives vagina/asshole and keeping a strong frame throughout the marriage, surprised it lasted as long as he says. Weird she asked for permission and didn't just go behind his back, that's the only bit I didn't get, maybe she fucked first and asked for permission after saying "for the future" wouldn't fucking surprise me, women are slimy as fuck like that.

The 11 differences between women and "red pill" women

15 upvotes · 5 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Lucky man they're rare

Advice for those who have already placed their woman on a pedestal?

15 upvotes · 13 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

- Take her off the pedestal. She will shit test the fuck out of you and you need to start slaying those tests like you're buffy and she's a vampire, just bluntly say "look I can get other girls, if you're gonna be a bitch about it consider yourself dumped" imply the threat you can and will leave if she doesn't start being more respectful. If she calls your bluff you'll have to follow through, dump her and tell her "I don't do relationships with controlling women" she'll probably ring you up like mad and try to reconnect, ice her out for a few days then ring her and tell her to come over. Fuck the shit out of her, turn all that hate and bitching into enjoyable sex, hate fuck the crap out of her and re-establish boundaries. Make a point of her doing a sandwich or grabbing a drink afterwards. Say really cliché shit like "as you may have noticed, things are gonna be different from now on" not only does it seem somewhat humorous, it conveys the message clearly, it sets boundaries and she'll find your masculinity sexy as fuck.
- Start building value for yourself if you're lacking it already. Set boundaries all the time. Look after your body. Keep a nice haircut/shave. Dress better. Don't pander to her whims.

My method is extreme, but I'd rather risk having no woman than be with a woman who "wears the pants in the relationship" I don't care how good she looks naked, I'm also extremely confident the amount of balls it takes to conduct my plan and the shock factor it will offer will give her a much needed psychological slap to the face.

You've got to be a man, especially if the person testing you has a cute neonatal face and some nice jugs.

Wife goes to wedding alone. Gives handjob to groomsman.

15 upvotes · 12 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Very astute!

BLUE PILL + RED PILL EXAMPLE: Beta gets married to malleable atheist/catholic polish wannabe girlfriend

15 upvotes · 9 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Holy shit she went nuclear on him, dug her claws in (went round his house when he wasn't in and let herself in, what the fuck?!) and using her feminine charms, she got him to stay around. Why? Because the bitch wants a baby and she's attached to him.

Holy shit.

This is going to end badly. He's too much of a pussy to realise the stunt she just pulled. By letting her win this, he sets the precedent for the rest of the relationship. She got her way. You lose ground with a woman, good luck ever getting that shit back. She violated a major boundary of his and he's cool to go along with it now because hey, bitch blew him, cooked him food and said how much she loves him whilst hugging the crap out of him. Soft power, hard power, whatever, it's all manipulation.

Now she has control via soft power, she'll sabotage the relationship, the best relationships have a woman trusting a man where she relinquishes her control to him because she feels safe and he has the strength, integrity and credibility to lead. Letting a person who is inherently devoid of grounded logic run a relationship is a bad idea and inevitably ends in disaster. This little stunt firmly puts her in the seat of power, but because it's so cunning, he thinks he's still calling shots, tip my man: you're not, you just got got.

Now he's hamstering why ignoring his instincts and letting her get her way is a good thing and he wants people to validate his hamstering in the comments. God damn.

Big fucking disappointment, this guy will never live this shit down. He's set a fucking precedent now, he gave away his commitment on her terms, not his.

Man, I hope he's just trolling because this is pathetic.

Sexual double standards.

15 upvotes · 9 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The purple pill is a fat waste of time. Don't waste your time. Read everything here about the double standard and shit and it's all on point.

Men need skill to get sex women don't. Period. Equality is an idealistic myth of the indoctrinated, emotive thinkers and idiotic.

If you're an emotive thinker your opinion basically means jack shit as its backed up by fuck all reasoning, you end up with an argument based on flaws such as strawmen and assumptions, which means your opinion is so deluded it isn't credible. You may as well write a fiction with it, because it isn't true.

Problem with purple and blue pill is the people there talk like any old bullshit they come up with is credible because they say so, they're not critical thinkers or open to a well made argument, they're basically extremists who are set on their ideology and look only to spread and defend that (like a militant muslim) they don't give two craps about other viewpoints.

Don't debate with extremists you're really wasting your time. No matter how much they pose about not having made their mind up, it's just bait, you'll find their minds are more than already made up. Fuck 'em.

[Mod] Reminder: No participation on links

15 upvotes · 8 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

This seems like a preemptive bs reason to delete red pill, idk but the majority hate us, rightly or wrongly. I'm surprised the subs still going they're so biased, for the record I love this sub it's helped many lost souls.

What the hell is going on in r/askmen?

15 upvotes · 4 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

TLDR: OP is fairly red pill. Comments are massively blue pill. Lots of people shaming him and calling him sexist/immature, whatever. Wow these guys are a bunch of clueless bitches. Couple of good comments in there, saw one of our own "pachan" who dropped a good comment but damn, the threads mostly a clusterfuck. AskMen? more like AskBitches.

Let's make a baby

15 upvotes · 3 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

That was fucking creepy as fuck what did I just watch. Ho-lee-shit.

31, former party girl finally ready to settle down. Comments are pure Redpill

15 upvotes · 1 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

People like to attribute value to everything, including opinions. The points quantify the value of the opinion. It's a form of validation, everyones biochemically addicted to validation, dopamine.

Becoming more apparent every day, almost all adult women are just teenagers, in regards to maturity.

15 upvotes · 25 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't hate women, I hate bitches and hos. I FUCKING LOVE WOMEN. Haven't met many women in my life. Most of them never woman up. So many girls call themselves women when they never even made the mental leap of crossing into womanhood. And no, shitting out a kid from your genitals does not make you a woman psychologically, it makes you a mother and if you're not a woman, probably a bad one.

Birth control sabotage by women is normal

15 upvotes · 10 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Brutal to read. Be astute fellas.

Why Nice Guys Finish Last...

15 upvotes · 4 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Bitch is fucking retarded, someone slap her dumb face with a dick.

"The Western World has quietly become a civilization that undervalues men and overvalues women, where male nature is vilified but female nature is celebrated." -The Misandry Bubble

15 upvotes · 15 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Was that word... Misog... VOLDEMORT?!

Hypergamy and Black Women

15 upvotes · 10 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm fucking speechless, not even the race card can trump hypergamy.

Hypergamy > Everything

Ask me questions about TRT (Testosterone Replacement Therapy)

14 upvotes · 4 April 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

You doctors don't even know what you're doing most of the time. The vast majority of you are vastly uneducated in TRT, misdiagnose, and run horrible treatment protocols. Maybe if you were more competent in your jobs, people wouldn't have to self-medicate or look to the internet.

You are ignorant flouting your alleged professional status. Nobody cares.

Oh and because you're a credentialist cunt, for what it's worth, I have the support of a specialist TRT doctor to run this FAQ. So kindly get the fuck out of my thread.

A Sensible Beginner Guide to Getting in Shape for Summer

14 upvotes · 11 April 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

1g per pound of body weight = eat 200g of protein if you are 200lbs

1.5g per kilogram of body weight = if you are 200lbs, you're 90.7kg so halve that (45.35) and add it to the 90.7 = 136.05gs of protein

In case you got lost there, eating 1.5g of protein per kg means you'd eat 136g protein a day if you were 200lbs. If you ate 1g of protein per LB, you'd eat 200 grams of protein at 200lbs. With OPs formula, you eat 64g of protein less per day than if you follow the conventional 1g per LB advice.

I think you thought he was saying to eat 1.5g of protein per LB, but he isn't, he's saying per KG. There's 2.2lbs to a kilogram, which means this formula works out at consuming less rather than more protein Arnie consumed.

Arnie was on roids anyway, I wonder if that affects the amount of protein necessary to gain mass. If I had to guess, I'd assume you could build more muscle with less protein if you were on roids.

feminine and masculine.

14 upvotes · 25 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

alpha.. beta.. sigma.. omega. what a load of crap.

Not at all, they describe men of different dispositions and levels of social dominance in the hierarchy of men. Each varies in how masculine they are, how they channel their masculinity and how well they do sexually and socially.

Other than the alpha/beta division which effectively is used as a classifier for whether a man is dominant or submissive, nobody really needs to know all these different subtypes, it's not integral to sorting out your life, so if by "what a load of crap" you mean "knowing about these things is not necessary to being a complete man" then we agree. But if you mean "these archetypes pertaining to different men don't exist" then that's where we would disagree.

It actually goes more complex than simply alpha/beta etc as there's a positive and negative version of each variant, for example a positive alpha is a patriarch with a family, your general good guy who behaves dominantly despite retaining a classically religious morality; this is a leader who believes in honour, virtue, protecting the weak and bla bla yet doesn't needlessly exploit people, would only use Machiavellianism for defence etc. It's virtue from strength without giving into romantic idealism, a rare mixture but it does exist.

Whereas the negative alpha is the gangster/dark triad/hood guy subtype. Fucks lots of different women, doesn't believe in honour, virtue or a duty to protect the weak, will exploit people, will use Machiavellianism to attack etc. This is more common than the former and more easily employed as we live in a period of decline and thus the environment is more conducive to a negative rather than positive alpha personality type.

Already without fully going into each category, I've effectively disproven your dismissal of these ideas being a bunch of crap, because they're observable phenomenon.

I question your endorsement when you so glibly dismiss pre-established concepts without presenting a compelling counter-argument which accurately deconstructs the falsity of these ideas. If you're going to dispute something, at least come up with a counter-argument for it, that would give a moment for pause.

Is your thread meant to be a counter argument for why these classifications are useless? Because it isn't a counter-argument purely on the basis you fail to explain why any of these ideas are untrue or incorrect. You dismiss these classifications before writing out a thread that basically goes into the nuance of yin & yang, so to someone looking at the logic of your post your dismissal and subsequent espoused ideas seem completely disjointed.

Basically, what you're saying is not mutually exclusive from the behavioural classifications of different men, both are true.

Those classifications are just psychological tools used to better understand the varying personalities of men as measured by social dominance, morality, level of intellect and sociability. Men are far more diverse in both aptitude and behaviour than women by merit of our wider IQ variability (which affects behaviour INTIMATELY in all manner of ways)

Otherwise good post rehashing the basics, but be clear this is in no way a cogent refutation of why "alpha, beta, omega" and all the other classifications used to describe different male stereotypes are in any way untrue, false or useless.

Stick it out, be patient.

14 upvotes · 24 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Difference between a woman and a gun is a gun can't spontaneously decide to shoot you because a better gun owner came along, you actually have to shoot yourself.

When you stop putting women on a pedestal, not only will your life improve, you also quickly realize how boring they really are.

14 upvotes · 27 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Women like the behaviours of men that hate them but hate the idea that men would hate them. Disconnects like this are why I don't encourage a woman to think, her intuition will always win.

Woman doesn't understand why her white boyfriend has a problem with the fact all her exes are black.

14 upvotes · 26 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Everything is always a guys fault. Even people in trp believe if your girl is a cunt it's your fault.

"In praise of the beta male"

14 upvotes · 10 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Hitting the wall means she's uglier than she used to be and can no longer be a female 6 or 7 that gets to fuck alpha male 10s. Doesn't mean nobody will have her, of course they will guys are thirsty. Pre-wall she can fuck outta her league, post-wall she can't.

Single mothers are delinquent subhuman scum who you should avoid at all costs.

14 upvotes · 3 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Women don't know what it takes to be a man, so they project their blue pill desires of how a man should treat them onto the young boy. Telling him this is the successful way to attract women. As a result of her solipsism, her son ends up with an ineffective sexual strategy, getting fucked up by women because he knows very little about handling them and then stumbling on TRP.

I don't think it's as much the fact that mothers want beta sons, they just don't know how to raise alpha sons. How does a woman teach a man how to be a man? She isn't a man. She has zero experience of dealing with women from the shoes of a man.

Guy finds out that his girlfriend settled for him because Chad wouldn't commit to her, gets RP advice from his (female) cousin, decides to kick his girlfriend to the curb.

14 upvotes · 30 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I love and appreciate my readers.

Solipsism, Emotion & Arguments

14 upvotes · 2 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Thanks for tagging me, or I probably wouldn't have seen this.

My preference is to explain rather than instruct. I don't like telling people what to do or setting myself up as some sort of leader; I merely like to explain "how it is" and let the reader come up with their own ideas/plan/way of doing things. I rather talk about ideas and how things work rather than "how to specifically perform an action and the effect said action will have." I do, to a degree, find talking about actions more mundane than discussing "the why."

I don't want to be saying "DO THIS, DO THAT" and having people hinge on my every word like I'm a guru who can fix all their life problems. I want people to think for themselves (sadly, a dying quality) and think really hard about what I've said - and then come up with their own way of doing things. I like to write things so you think "okay, I need to read that again to really understand it." Not just copy/replicate as if you're reading a set of instructions. The whole point of the writing is to make you think and come up with your own ideas.

I have no problem giving examples/scenarios/actionable advice if people really want/need that (aka: the truth alone isn't enough to help them, they need examples of the truth to be able to apply it.)

Why am I like this? Well, it's a manifestation of who I am. I don't like instructions myself, I have always preferred formulating my own way of doing things - taking ideas and applying them in my own way. And I assume that BECAUSE I do that - that other people can/will given the same knowledge/ideas. I'm the guy who thinks the example normally sucks and comes up with his own way of applying the same concept.

But it seems many people prefer this format: [idea - example - instruction] often with the example acting as an instruction - so they can just copy it.

Really that puts me in a spot where I think "I don't want to tell people what to do/have them not think and just copy by leading them through example - but at the same time I want them to understand what I mean when I say what I do."

See my aim is to create a knowledge-based blog, not a "follow me, do as I say, adore my personality" type blog.

I could do an actionable follow-up post, however, as I like to explain things thoroughly and don't like going beyond 2,000-2,500 words, I'll have to (part 2) an essay to give examples of its ideas. If I included it all in one essay you'd end up with 4,000 - 5,000 words. In fact, I think the examples are the easiest part. Explaining it is the real pain. I thought I'd done the hard work for you, and all you had to do was apply the knowledge.

I guess not.

/u/Birdoftruth - I'm glad you enjoy my writing, and your criticism has been duly noted. Thanks.

All you need is a hot girl to cry and pretend to be emotional and everyone will believe her and go on her side...

14 upvotes · 2 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

If they cant fuck for it, they'll cry for it.

"Men rarely catcall me anymore, I hate that our culture makes me miss it."

14 upvotes · 21 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The Guardian is a lefty paper so it makes sense.

The Nature of Women - Alternative Title: "Understanding Hamstering"

14 upvotes · 30 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Ah, the voice of sanity. So glad you could drop in.

Man shares a particularly brutal example of AWALT. "The amount of power mothers have over fathers is simply disgusting. It is a horror show."

14 upvotes · 23 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

They don't want the burden, but they want to lose control less.

The MASTER KEY to Understanding Women

14 upvotes · 18 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Sounds like you need monk mode.

Work on yourself, and your self-esteem will follow.

If you sit at your computer all day in your underwear surfing the net, gaming and fapping, you will feel like shit because you know you're a waster.

You've gotta earn it. At least you can. A woman is born with all her value, which maximises around 18-21 and then diminishes over time (beauty.)

Invest in yourself and others will too.

Remember, the extreme male brain is the autistic brain.

14 upvotes · 13 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I mention this in a piece on psychopathy I did. Empathy is understanding why somebody feels the way they do, and realising the fact they feel it. Sympathy is feeling what another feels because they feel it, or otherwise feeling compassion/connection to another because of how they feel.

Autists have no sympathy because they struggle with empathy. Psychopaths have lots of empathy, but it doesn't result in sympathy.

For the Girl Writes What fan boys, Karen Straughan lays down her opinion of TRP

14 upvotes · 21 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Accepting men are unfairly treated does not lead to a victim mentality unless it becomes your base viewpoint for looking at everything in life; your main way of identifying your relationship with society.

"I'm a man, society is hard on men, poor me." I think this is why MRAs have a bad rep with other men, as this is how they seem.

It's as simple as knowing this to be a fact, but striving even harder to win and overcome society's prejudice. You can do that without thinking "oh, boohoo, society is harder on men, I'm a wittle victim."

How you cope with the knowledge and let it affect you is your responsibility to manage.

Accepting this element of reality does not make you a victim, and won't make you think like a victim unless you find this truth too overwhelming to cope with positively.

The alternative, denying that society is harder on men, is still having one foot in the matrix.

Don't get it twisted.

Don't blame women. Blame yourself.

14 upvotes · 14 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

If the latter, then you are responsible for cutting dead weight.

Exactly. This is something most guys don't see. They just self-blame and push themselves to ever higher standards of masculinity, figuring that this will solve everything. In a way, it's a "beta" mindset. That you must meet a certain level of masculinity in order to "keep a woman in line." To a degree, this is true. But it's as simple as: "be aware of what's going on and take charge." No more, no less. The perversion comes when you're already pretty masculine and on top of your shit but you're being sold the narrative by her and her sycophants that you're not (which is effectively a form of gaslighting) because she's insatiable and unappeasable. She's insane. And you're trying to jump through hoops. Be careful of these traps. It's hard to keep a clear head when you're stood on the page you're looking at. That's what advisers are for. Have trusted confidants.

Ask IllimitableMan

14 upvotes · 30 April 2015 · /r/askTRP

Women give many fucks about height. Women are scared meek little things that have a big bark, but when it goes down scream and have not a clue what to do. In that regard, they have evolved to be attracted to men who demonstrate a capacity to protect, eg: height and muscle. If you are a small guy, I think women will make you work harder. Basically, you have to compensate for your height by being better in other ways. It sucks because it's something you can't change and nature has just lent you a bad hand genetically, but that's the way it is.

TLDR: height doesn't define you, but a lack of it will make you less attractive and thus one must compensate in other areas (especially in attitude.) Small ripped well-off guys who don't take any shit get laid. Simple.

"The hypothetical woman with an IQ as high as mine is out of luck. She can either marry down, which women hate to do, or compete for a small pool of men that has been reduced by one."

14 upvotes · 7 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

They really are different people.

Too much abstraction to be good socialisers. Note how dumb women are, and how excellent they are at socialising. Super smart men are extraneous variables, genetic accidents.

The primacy of your body

14 upvotes · 7 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Testosterone increases productivity if you can focus it (and don't get on a mad ADHD-esque hype from lifting.) Otherwise, you have all this energy, but don't channel it right. When not lifting, test just isn't high enough to make you "Mr. Productive." That's probably the biggest benefit to lifting, the aesthetics are nice, but it's the mental productivity and energy boost that's the real prize. When you feel like shit, drop and do 20 of your best.

Woman on r/deadbedrooms is completely turned off by her beta husband, thinks he's a pervert for wanting sex.

14 upvotes · 30 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

In China, they arrested 5 feminist activists the other month (still being detained) for distributing sexual harassment flyers, so there's that.

A recent quote from Jaromir Jagr (currently the oldest player in the National Hockey League at age 43 and 5th highest career goal scorer of all time.)

14 upvotes · 28 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Care to elaborate? Otherwise this just seems like you're moaning and not adding any value/insight.

Manipulative women will award you for being weak.

14 upvotes · 16 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Woman's nature beats her nurture every time, especially in matters of relationships and romance.

"Is Britain becoming hostile to blokes"? Food for thought

14 upvotes · 16 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I followed @Milo after watching that, he kicked ass. He was just agreeing and amplifying with some amused mastery thrown into the mix. It was hilarious.

For more shits and giggles, he started trolling the "comedian" (@cruella1) on Twitter after the show as well.

<https://twitter.com/IllimitableMan/status/577214052683923456>

Heads up, @Milo is aware of the manosphere and reads us on the down-low. He was, essentially, our "representative" on their panel show, in the sense he was most tuned in to the needs of men/problems faced by men more than anyone else sitting there.

Kill your ego

14 upvotes · 12 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

When I want criticism I turn ego off, when I need to perform/socialise I turn it on. Selective narcissism. Allows you to be egotistical when necessary, and logical when necessary. Both qualities are highly useful when properly calibrated to the correct situations.

Signs of the Decline: Japanese Herbivores Revolt

14 upvotes · 13 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Let me guess, you came out of seddit. There's a reason seddit is a dead pile of shit - it's because chasing bitches is not the meaning of life.

If you're a PUA fag, the MGTOWs actually leave more poon for you (assuming you're sorted out in life and not just some nerd who mass approaches/fixates on women because he defines himself by his success with women aka Elliot Rodger.) MGTOWs increase your SMV through supply and demand. They reduce the supply of men available to women, leaving more bitches for you. Why shit on them? Leave 'em to it. They're actually leaving you more tinder hoes and club sluts. "More women for me brah, hit me with a shake!"

Edit: In before you quote the sidebar description on sexual strategy.

TRP and depression

14 upvotes · 10 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Succinct, relevant, magical. Hemingway would be proud.

How far does the concept of AWALT go?

14 upvotes · 4 February 2015 · /r/PurplePillDebate

Just going to chime in and say that due to solipsism and what we call "believing she's a special snowflake" (every woman likes to believe she is special and different from other women - out of ego) that most women think THEY AREN'T LIKE THAT even when it's obvious to external observers THAT THEY ARE. I find it equally interesting that a woman would have a problem with "being like most women" enough to DENY she is anything like the typical woman and "isn't like that." It suggests that, on some level, conscious or not, women don't like the idea of "being your typical woman," which leads me to think not even women really hold the average woman in very high regard. If someone said "you're an asshole like all the other men, promiscuous and want to be in control!" I wouldn't say "I'm not like that." I'd say "fuck yeah, although you're only scratching the surface." When someone generalises me as a man (even in a negative way,) I don't find it offensive. When women are generalised as being typical women, they're offended. To me, that's quite telling.

"Men's Rights Activists have missed the point of feminism " - Intellectually disingenuous article from The Telegraph writes a smear piece aimed at discrediting TRP and AVFM.

14 upvotes · 3 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

You want to see a hamster in action? Just ask a feminist what their 'win condition' is where feminism has succeeded and is no longer necessary.

Genius. Gonna have to do this.

Short and Sweet Proof of TRP at Work

14 upvotes · 16 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

They lose their virginity young these days.

FR and illustration of exactly why to keep red wine in the house

14 upvotes · 8 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Rose/red made an ex bitch of mine horny as shit. If I was trying to get her to drink that, she knew what I was after. Funny as hell. Never seen a girl guzzle a cock down so quickly though. She was usually horny without the wine, but with the wine? Holy shit. LTR guys: try it on your girl.

Not just sexual strategy is amoral, everything is. Why? Because life has no feelings, no conscience or consciousness and gives no fucks about shit. That doesn't mean disregarding morality as a whole is a wise or even balanced thing to do.

14 upvotes · 29 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I agree. You have my support with that stance. Civilization is a male abstraction actualised.

[48 Days of Power] Day 42 - "Strike the shepherd and the sheep will scatter."

14 upvotes · 26 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Law reversal: if you do not "crush the shepherd totally" within your opening moves, the shepherd will be able to "gather his forces" (his followers) and use them to send you packing. He will not even need to "dirty his hands" (law 26.) In fact, most shepherds do not even tell their sheep to attack the wolves, the sheep will attack out of instinct, to preserve their faith. When they see a wolf attacking their shepherd, they will form a collective and overwhelm the wolf, forcing him to retreat. When you strike, you better hit hard, or you will out yourself and become overwhelmed by sheep. Sheep are harmless individually, but very powerful when they unify to protect a shepherd. There is no quicker way to ostracise yourself then gun for the group alpha (outshining the master - law 1 basically) and find nobody likes you anymore. If the shepherd survives your attack, you're fucked.

You must vanquish utterly in one move. Humiliation works best, remove confidence in a leader and they lose their power to inspire. Without the ability to inspire, the sheep become disenfranchised, disillusioned, they will defect and ultimately stop feeding the shepherd power. Of course, where a shepherd is removed there is a power vacuum, and a number of sheep looking for a new shepherd. That's where you step in. Now you have to defend against the likes of yourself. Know yourself so you may know your enemy.

Women and Intellect

14 upvotes · 26 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's secondary to her looks though. You're not going to give a landwhale a chance because of her economics degree. But if you've got two hot women, one's done economics and actually understands her degree inside and out and the other is an air head, you'll prefer the more educated woman because her intellect makes her more interesting. Even then, that's something you consider in a potential mother/long-term mate. In the club, it's pretty inconsequential and irrelevant. Her degree is also secondary to her beauty as beauty is what female SMV consists of. Everything else is a superfluous preference. I like girls with certain hair colours, it doesn't mean I date them exclusively though. SMV is defined by "what makes a woman attractive" universally - that is beauty regardless of intelligence. A woman doesn't need to be smart or even tolerable to be fuckable, she just needs a nice body/face. You would still bang her without her degree if she's hot, so she doesn't need to be educated to have high smv.

It seems pretentious and deliberately missing the point to say "Well, I get turned on by girls with an economics degree." Like really, what does that add to the conversation? This is not something most men are going to get hard over, it's superfluous unhelpful information that seems to wilfully (through pedanticism) miss what through_a_ways was trying to say: THAT FEMALE EDUCATION IS IRRELEVANT TO HER SMV. If you disagree with that, state how female intelligence factors into SMV, not that you personally have a penchant for bitches with economics degrees, we don't care about that. Personally it is my opinion that such things are relevant to breeding/genetics and motherhood, but it's irrelevant to who you bang for recreational purposes. In that way you could separate "mother SMV" from "women I'll date/have sex with SMV." Seeing as the latter is more common than the prior, it makes sense that "sex SMV" (being all beauty) will dominate the conversation more than "mother SMV" (the type of woman you want raising your kids.) You missed that point entirely and just stated your preferences instead. Poor post.

Move to that big city you've dreamed of. It will CHANGE your life. Part 1/5

14 upvotes · 23 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The only trick is that its extremely hard for canadians to get a visa there - we are excluded from getting green cards, and at a price point wise, H1-B visas are hard as well.

I don't get it. They block you guys from coming in yet Enrique can jump across the border and get full welfare for his kids in California whilst he mows lawns and Sandra stays at home with Pedro, Juanito, Enrique Jr., Alejandro and Anastasia.

Mexico is far less similar to the states than Canada, so what gives?

Red Flag: Girls who give "disclaimers" telling you they "aren't interested in sex"

14 upvotes · 8 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women are narcissists which is why ignoring them works so brilliantly. Obviously for gays/women or anyone ignoring men for whatever reason, if said man is a narc it'll work on him too. Non-narcs won't feel offended, they'll just think you're weird or they upset you somehow, they won't get angry like narcs will.

[48 Days of Power] Day 2 - "Never put too much trust in friends, learn how to use enemies."

14 upvotes · 17 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

There's an element of "bait and switch" where Lyndon thought he was being promoted (and thus would be acquiring more power and more prestige) when really the entire point of said promotion was to strip him of his power and his future potential for power. In a way, it is akin to a figurehead who is a monarch or leader only in name, but in practice is marginalised or exercises very little power. They have high social status, but none of the power that assumedly should come with it. A really good example of this (of a figurehead with little real power, not of someone being bait and switched with a "false promotion") would be the 2008 - 2012 presidential term in Russia. Dmitry Medvedev was President, but it was actually Vladimir Putin pulling the strings from behind the curtain. Looks can be deceiving, a promotion isn't always a promotion folks.

To relate this back to something more mundane: if your manager offers you a promotion to supervisor at work, but you only get $0.20c more per hour, have far more responsibility and are more culpable for things turning to shit - is that really a promotion? It's not in the same vein as "you have less power by being promoted" but in this case - will being promoted really benefit you? See things for what they are. There is a difference between being promoted because you're the right man for the job and will be rewarded accordingly (an honest promotion,) being promoted to get you on side/get you out of the way as a threat (duplicitous promotion: co-opting the opposition) and being promoted because it benefits somebody else to have you do the heavy lifting (duplicitous promotion: useful idiot.) Remember, if you cannot destroy your competition, then the best thing you can do is absorb it/own it so it loses its effectiveness.

Big companies buy smaller companies, presidents employ prominent senators in the opposition as a VP. It actually makes a lot of sense if you really think about it. On the surface level it sounds counterintuitive, but on a Machiavellian level it makes perfect sense. This is exactly what is meant by "LEARN HOW TO USE ENEMIES" in Robert Greene's description of the law. You must learn how to turn your competition into an asset, to control it by vanquishing it or by owning it. This is especially true when your competition is incredibly powerful/influential and thus ignoring it is an act of foolishness rather than intelligence.

To use an example about figureheads from popular culture (SPOILER ALERT), it's like in Game of Thrones after Joffrey dies, his mother becomes the Queen Regent (the acting Monarch) and is acting leader until his younger brother "The King" comes of age. The King is the head monarch only in name, because of his age. Even when he comes of age though, because his mother would have been Queen Regent for such a long time and be far more competently Machiavellian than he is (he is as a character, very naive to the ways of manipulation,) it is his mother Cersei who will be the real power in King's Landing long after he is declared acting king. She will rule through her son, he will be a puppet ruler. Things like this naturally happened in our own history, Machiavellian queens ruling through the authoritarian legitimacy of their kings be it a son or a husband. Alas, it is women who have always typically been far more naturally apt in the art of Machiavellianism than men, and they will use "the love connection" to rule, in fact they are dependent on it. Female leaders rarely rule independent of men, but instead, through men. There are exceptions, and of course they prove the trend.

This law is particularly useful for men in middle/high positions of power who need to stop rival underdogs (people who are violating law 1) in their tracks. For people low on the totem pole, using your enemies has far more limited application, the stakes are so low you can usually afford to ignore them instead.

A word of disclaimer about ignoring enemies without much power: people have long memories, especially if you make them butthurt. Especially doubly so if they are psychopathic. If they ever get power, they will not forget how you disrespected them by refusing to validate them. They may seek revenge. If you make an enemy and do not use them effectively early on, make peace with the fact your enemy will be a hater bringing attention with a negative spin to everything that you do, rather than an asset.

Who the fuck posted this on couchsurfing?

14 upvotes · 9 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

more connections than a spider web

I'm gonna have to steal that. Great post.

TwoX user does not like how her brother decides to make money. Complains.

14 upvotes · 28 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I am getting tired of reddit and its butthurt meta politics. Scour this sub you wont find a single post brigading you 2x. Its all bullshit, framing trp, plants and mind games to try and make the sub seem like it breaks reddit rules. All because women and effeminate men feel threatened by a successful, positive and productive form of masculinity. There's a reason we don't allow links to other sub reddits, framing us for shit we didn't do is one of them.

I'm fat, 40 and single - and I've been getting laid like crazy [fat acceptance movement]

14 upvotes · 21 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Her sex is cheap and only the lowest SMV men will give a woman of that calibre any iota of commitment.

So apparently women are free to do porn, but men are NOT free to want nothing to do with women who do porn

14 upvotes · 21 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

"Feminism" is not the enemy, it is just a working female strategy.

I wouldn't even say it's a working female strategy, many women can't get a guy to stick around so they sperm-jack a one night stand and then try and lock the guy down with child support threats out of the desperation to have a family. Usually the guy disappears and they end up raising a kid on welfare who in about 15-20 years will end up on TRP fucked up.

In the happiness surveys women are unhappier now than they've ever been.

So to amend the block of text I've quoted from you it's a working female sexual strategy based on a cartel/union for women from teens to about 30~ From then on feminism fails them. I'll emphasise that again, feminism works great for young women, but it does so at the expense of guaranteed family and security in older age. It's all in the /r/redpillwomen sub about how feminism has fucked women up and left many of them on the shelf, spinsters. I also disagree "feminism is not the enemy" (that's some purple pill bullshit) but I'm not going to state, in TRP of all places, why feminism is negative and etc. A read of the sidebar would make that obvious, particularly: the misandry bubble link.

[FR] First night out since taking TRP

14 upvotes · 18 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The thought crossed my mind too. Great minds think alike and all that shit. Bitch pretending to be sick so she can redirect the attention to her and control the situation. Jess sounds like a cunt. Instead of befriending her neg the shit out of her and when she gets angry you can spin it "I like it when you're angry it shows you care and it's kinda cute" then just escalate and make out with her. "See I knew you liked me really." If you can't get her out of the picture you need to deal with her and stop her fucking up your threesome fuck kittens. None of this "I'll try to be her friend bullshit" because that's not going to work. Nobody wants a fucking spanner in the harem.

What I've learned from the women in my family.

14 upvotes · 18 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm interested in your view of having children.

Do it outside the west. Make your money in the west, hoard it and use it as starting capital in say Eastern Europe or southeast asia. Possibly south america. Try to get location independent income (move your business online/subcontract) then fuckoff to a a mid level country where american/developed world minimum wage lets you live like a king, let alone middle class income. Where they earn $100 a month and you're earning $1000 a month you have 10X their wage but benefit from their cost of living. If you're middle class you'll feel like a millionaire. Have your kid(s) there, have a huge economic advantage over the local men and have your pick of the hoes. Vet one girl for motherhood in terms of intelligence, appearance, family etc and make sure the family court in that country favours men, or at the very least, doesn't unilaterally favour women.

Choosing a mother will never be an easy task, and there is risk, but at the very least you should tip the odds in your favour. If you have a house in say Brazil and one in the Philippines and the filipina fucks you over, what's stopping you from taking your kid to Brazil with you? You've gotta check on extradition policies and all that shit but you can make things work in your favour. Lawyers will be cheap in these countries for you and there is less chance they have state mandated legal aid (to help her) like rich countries do. Oh no evil man kidnapping his own child. Bitches do that shit all the time. Do you really want to leave your kid with a single mother? I wouldn't. Ideally you want custody. But say you reach a moral conundrum where she gets custody but you have thought deeply and believe you would provide a better life for the child. Your morality, your call.

Edit: don't let labels like misogynist be applied to you because you want to live life on your terms/have negative opinions of women. Don't allow other peoples words to have power over you via shaming language. Part of having a solid frame is being somewhat immune to shaming language. I don't take arbitrary labels seriously. If you cannot rationally articulate your opinion, it's worthless. If you can and I disagree with your perspective, I won't accept the label. Part of being a man is moderating your self-beliefs. Agree and amplify is good for throwing off the sheeple: Yeah I'm a misogynist I oppressed 3 women in my basement last week courtesy of Josef Fritzls stellar example. No point taking anyone you don't respect seriously these days. Idiots get rebutted with humour.

Sheilas' Wheels unveils PinkZones - Women only lanes.

14 upvotes · 27 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

How many people would have heard of this company prior to this piece? Genius.

...anybody who's English and had been near a TV circa 10 years ago knows of this car insurance company due to their shitty but catchy ad campaign they ran for the best part of a year in peak times on the most popular non-cable tv networks:

WARNING, THIS VIDEO IS ANNOYING AS FUCK:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=yrKaQRIXPNw>

Irony is "they make the safest drivers" (in their own words) and then at the end all of them have their hands up in the air... so nobody's got their hand on the wheel. LMFAO. Not a great example of superior female road safety is it? No. It is hilarious though.

The single biggest misunderstanding between men and women. How to go from a Beta mindset to an Alpha mindset in minutes.

14 upvotes · 21 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That's the way this works folks, men can die for their kids + women, women can die for their kids and only their kids. Thus why men can love unconditionally, and women can't.

I put this in the red pill anti biotic nuke, they reposted it on /r/redpillwomen and the chicks there were all disputing this point. Not even they want to admit it/believe it. Women don't want to believe they're incapable of agape for men because the combination of their love that is eros and philia just makes them feel so good for loving you like that. It feels so good to them that they believe it is the ultimate form of love, that there couldn't possibly be a higher form of love than that and to admit there is would be to vitiate their ability to love. Of course there is a higher form of love and it's what women can only comprehend from the perspective of how they feel about their children - agape. That's how emotionally committed men love their women (LTRs.) It's also how a man can no longer be sexually attracted to a woman but still love her/sacrifice for her, whilst the reverse is not true. The bitch stops getting tingles and she's off into the sunset/friendzoning you. "I'm in love with you but I'm not IN LOVE with you" kinda bullshit.

How I see it is all these women want agape but at best you'll get eros/philia in return, without the unconditionality she always has more freedom to walk whilst you don't. Plating chicks is the equivalent of just saying "you're only worth eros too, you're not getting my agape." And they can't stand that.

In case you're confused reading this, they're greek words that more accurately define different types of love: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Greek_words_for_love

The Three R's: Romanticisation, Realisation & Responsibility [TRP X-Post]

14 upvotes · 17 August 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

"Love" as it is best understood is inherently blue-pill. It is an ideal based upon a lie that needs an entire culture to support the lie for it to function. Men romanticise women out of idealism, but without enough power/masculinity to maintain the ideal (or as in the days of old, a society that socially pressures women to maintain the monogamous wishes of man, in spite of his attractiveness or SMV) the ideal collapses and we end up with a lot of short term relationships, hook-ups and general hedonism. In the face of freedom and the absence of order, there is little incentive for people to create families and thus delude themselves to culturally enforce the concept of love as a truism when in reality, it is an idealism. I think "love" as men expect to be loved from their woman is only enforceable in a society that culturally pressures women to conform to monogamy, be chaste, concentrate on cultivating their feminine energy and most importantly of all, suppress their hypergamy.

Women are not naturally loyal, they are pragmatic opportunists. Men are the romantics who project their desires on women creating institutions such as the church to try and reign them in creating the ultimate hypergamous authority - God. Even in such a society, the loyalty and love of your woman would be a facsimile. Women are incapable of loving us in the way we desire that they would (past sex, spiritually speaking) but it takes culture to create love and loyalty anything close to what a man expects in a female partner, with some strength, integrity, power, wisdom and vitality on his part. Women don't fall in love in the sacrificial way that we do, they simply feel lust/get tingles/form attachment to a man's power. That's the cold reality.

You ask a difficult question and I fear there is no definitive answer. At least, not one that is fathomable. "What is love?" is like asking "Where does the universe come from?" they are philosophical musings which remain unsolved for the duration of human existence, and men smarter than I with far less intellectual resources than I could not solve the complexity that such a question presents. In the shadow of men far greater than I, I too cannot definitively answer this question. The first and second paragraph of this post is my abstract rationalisation of the love paradigm and is the best answer I can give without being irrefutably correct.

Almost-alpha tells girlfriend his work is more important to him than her. She goes NC for a week, he breaks frame. He is now her beta provider.

14 upvotes · 13 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Pathetic how she probably actually believes her own rationalisations. It's not about stability it's about having control. Now she has a foot in the door she has a grip on his balls outside the bedroom.

What are some unethical/dark triad/Machiavellian life hacks you know?

14 upvotes · 30 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's basically narcissism and psychopathy in powder form. The machiavellianism is still something that's learnt, although it's much easier to execute machiavellian techniques when you're in love with yourself and not scared to engage in high risk behaviour. You could know all the machiavellian techniques under the sun but if you don't love yourself/have extreme confidence and are scared to take action then how are you going to apply it?

Machiavellianism is the strategy, narcissism is the fuel, psychopathy is the ability to execute (without feeling guilt/regret) so to be successfully DT you need to not only be able to strategize/analyse but also EXECUTE.

How I'd describe it to someone who's never done coke is it's like being high from a workout except the effects are far stronger and don't last as long as a workout high does. Like a workout to keep the heightened energy levels and sense of self going you need to workout again (the next day), if you don't workout for 2 days you feel like your normal crappy self again, same can be said for guys coming off TRT/steroids, it's not simply withdrawals (I've never had coke withdrawals) but the benefits you've taken for granted from the altered biochemistry have now left your body, reverting you to your "factory setting" biochemistry. With coke 30 minutes to an hour later you'll need to do another line as although the effect has not entirely worn off you can feel it beginning to wear and you don't want to lose the buzz/sense of control you have over yourself. If you don't do another line it stays in your system for 3 days but you stop feeling ALL effect within a few hours.

Media reference: The Wolf of Wallstreet, the protagonists entire success is built on cocaine.

As a friend of mine says: "coke is the only drug you can run a country on."

Edit: going to leave this here for people who have never done drugs (and so are bigotedly judgemental) but place massive trust in academia - <http://www.amazon.co.uk/dp/1400078792/>

Main and plate find each other, manage to keep both.

14 upvotes · 20 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm in awe of how great this machiavellian play went. Others are condemning you saying you weren't alpha enough and other crap, as if alpha is associated with being moral and straighttalking and forthright. Wrong. This is closer to dark triad game than it is "moral upstanding patriarch game" or whatever the fuck you want to call it. You told the plate what she wanted to hear and she bought into the "bad guy turning good because of her" fantasy that you put in your analysis, whilst selling "main" that plate had effectively "stolen her man" putting her into dread game mode. I think this is fucking excellent management of both women, now the plate will not feel guilty for fucking a taken man whilst the main girl sees the plate as the antagonist rather than you. Brilliant. Fuck what these other guys are saying about you "doing everything wrong", the only thing I would say you did wrong is having them both on facebook to begin with, you shouldn't have a facebook as social media ruins everything and like your plate did when she went nuclear they use that shit to fucking stalk the living shit out of you and insert themselves into your social circles by friending up your social network. If you don't think you can get rid of facebook you should at least have the plate on some sort of limited profile. Oh well, lessons to be learned, otherwise, well done.

TechCrunch groups TheRedPill with Stormfront as a "misogynist hate site"

14 upvotes · 19 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

We were infamous way before that Elliot Rodgers kid lost his shit. Mentioning him is a passive aggressive way of conflating/associating his actions with TRP without expressly stating TRP was the cause. The funny thing about that little manipulative device is its total bullshit because Elliot Rodgers never posted here and was never a member here, he was on PuaHate, a site that has nothing to do with this site. His fucked up views of the world and women thus have nothing to do with us. I have it on good authority that a few posters here in the past who seemed somewhat deranged and advocated things such as "locking up women and killing them off" are reported/banned quicker than you can rub one out. If there's one thing these bullshit pseudo internet journalists realise though its that in the absence of a conspiracy the truth all too often doesn't make a good story so it's better to just make shit up and serve your lies as juicy outrage porn instead.

After years of analysis and experimentation, here are my cliff notes on having a fun, pleasurable, fulfilling life

14 upvotes · 10 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Balancing wisdom vs. experience is a tough call, most people fuck it up. Most people think if you haven't experienced something directly you're not qualified to talk about it. Under that logic, as I've never been divorced, I'm not qualified to talk about divorce rape. It's close-minded bigotry really, there is an assumption someone dumb enough to get divorced in the first place is smart enough to analyse it and disseminate wisdom about it, whilst equally someone who (in this example) has never been divorced is not qualified to talk about something merely because they didn't experience it. The rather funny, and smart thing about this is, I like many others knowledgeable about divorce do not need to get divorced to know how it all works because we've learnt vicariously through the mistakes of other men and made our deductions based on their situations as well as their direct communications, wisdom is fucking memetic, if it wasn't then this subreddit wouldn't exist.

Old implies experienced, young implies inexperienced, but that's all they are: implications, not all old people are wise, not all young people are stupid, generally speaking though, old people are wiser on average, young people are not so wise on average, blah blah blah. Some people also distrust wisdom that comes vicariously from secondary or indirect experiences (such as learning from your father/a book etc) rather than from direct first-hand experiences (you got divorced/you were there physically etc.)

Wisdom is wisdom at the end of the day and whether someone really even understands what they're sharing or not, it is still only as valuable as the person reading said information can derive utility from such knowledge. People would prefer you are older (35+) and have learnt a lot of your lessons from fuckups and failures to ascribe anything you say maximum credibility.

There is a certain sentiment that repeating what you've read from another man means you may not truly understand what you're saying but just want to seem like "a wise guy", here is where seeming smart often backfires on a guy, it can lead to the interrogation of "just how are you such a wise guy?" it puts peoples backs up when someone young is wise, there's an element of counter-productive pride that stops many older people learning from younger people "I'm old enough to be your father, you can't tell me shit!" but then dumber people tend to lack critical thinking ability and the ability to judge things purely on merit and interpretative analysis and rely on argumentum ab auctoritate ("appeal to authority") to trust any knowledge they hear.

Personally I find it all hilarious, if I find the knowledge useful I don't give a fuck about how it was obtained or who that person is. I don't have a "why should I listen to you" stance because the knowledge does all the talking for the person, fuck how rich, old, young or popular they are, they said something useful. Then again I am something of a critical thinker and take everything openly and assess it individually, I do not focus on the reputation/status of the person per se but judge the knowledge on its individual merit. Most people are more concerned with where the knowledge comes from before ascribing it any value because that saves them the effort of actually having to weigh up whether the knowledge is valuable or not, a lot of people follow knowledge blindly based on reputation alone, it was a human trait designed to save time but it's often fallacious. Sometimes even people with great reputations and worldly experience fuck-up and give bad advice, we're all fallible after all.

As for this thread, it's solid information, you wouldn't go wrong with living by it that's for sure.

LTR Game - Why We Need a New RedPill Sub

14 upvotes · 3 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The reason you don't see a lot of LTR game mentioned is because a lot of the guys here are anti-LTR and anti-marriage. Some guys are ready to leave at a moments notice that is to say, they'll girlfriend a girl up but they're ready to ditch her if the going gets tough. That's not really what you're looking for is it? The tone of your post is "I'm already a committed a guy, I want to know how to maintain a relationship without giving up my dignity" the fact of the matter is once you're committed as a guy, you're already compromising, you've already given up part of your power/freedom and if you're married your ability to affect dread is far less pronounced than if you are not.

LTR game is also essentially TRP and life on hard mode, many guys don't think the sacrifice required is worth it, you're having to deal with a woman "be the rock in her storm" and all that shit non-stop all the time, committing to a woman requires tremendous sacrifice, you've got to reign her in, apply some beta game so you're not a total cunt but then not being too beta, constantly calibrate, communicate, which much of is "just getting" what she wants/means (analysing her behaviours rather than her words), setting boundaries, blah blah blah, it's like learning to be a parent except it's not a kid you're dealing with, it's a woman and the onus is on you - she's your responsibility and if it fails it's YOUR FAULT, that's a lot of pressure, a hell of a lot of pressure, it's a lot to ask and women ask it with expectation and entitlement, many of them don't realise it, but when they ask a guy to commit this is essentially what they're asking, that he endure the temerity of their shortcomings whilst giving up a lot of his own freedom. It's a full-time effort.

You're so invested that if she cheats it will actually fuck with you, then you add kids into the equation and you see just how vulnerable you are without the establishment backing you up (they're backing her up instead.) A lot of guys here on TRP and perhaps from the tone of my post you can deduce myself simply can't be fucked with that which is why they say spin plates and be a bachelor, that is not to criticize your choice, personally I'm not opposed to LTRs per se (as long as you establish the LTR with a position of dominance, choose a quality woman and not just any old chick near your age, and keep marriage out of the equation), but it does explain why there is a lack of discourse and advice on LTRs here. In my honest opinion, trying to improve an already fucked marriage is not so much LTR game (which I think is preventative to begin with) as it is trying to undo a lot of blue pill bullshit that permanently stains both of your memories and thus is infinitely harder (trying to cure something that is already sick.)

I agree with you that there is demand for space and expertise on LTRs, but the expertise in that area are much less prevalent among the experiences of the men here, a lot of guys here don't want to find themselves in that situation, much less become good at maintaining that situation. The only guys who can give helpful advice on LTR game seem to be the older married guys who have settled, whilst the majority of this subreddit is of a younger and lower smv demographic that has no desire or knowledge to settle down quite yet. An even larger proportion than that are at the beginning of their TRP journey and are simply working on self improvement and don't have the smv to get an LTR, self-improvement can take years depending on your starting point in life.

The lifecycle of sexual strategy through TRP looks a little like this:

Improve smv to get laid/enjoy life > decent smv achieved, getting laid regularly and enjoying life > find a woman who is bearable and has some redeeming non-sexual qualities, attempt something serious.

Most guys are in the first stage on this subreddit. Some are in the second stage. Very few are at the final stage. The guys here at the final stage tend to have found TRP when they were married/committed already and thus were thrown in at the deep end, they didn't get to enjoy being a bachelor or working on themselves for a long time before getting serious and starting a family, they had to do all that shit whilst their woman made demands of them and their kids needed them, that situation is TRP-HARDCORE, which is why the younger you find TRP the better it is for you, finding TRP as an already married man in a dead bedroom of a marriage you have to multitask like a motherfucker, coping with all the demands and responsibilities of being a husband whilst trying to be a better, more well-rounded effective man yourself. You're not going up a hill you're trying to launch yourself into space with a fucking rocket.

/u/trudatness and /u/Archwinger are older and in LTRs so they are good people to talk to about LTR game, there are a few other users who seem to know their shit about LTRs as well, but their names escape me and you can probably count the total number of people who truly have any specialised RP knowledge within a monogamous relationship framework on this subreddit with both hands. Most guys can't give you any more specialised knowledge beyond "keep frame." because the reason they are here to begin with is they could never get an LTR or they had LTRs but they collapsed, deemed women are too much work as a full-time option and so opted for the part-time option of just fucking and chucking.

What you're looking for is essentially a male counterpart to redpillwomen, they're all trying to be wife material, you want to know how to be a good husband/partner and effectively live happily with a woman whilst most of TRP is against the idea of even being a husband to begin with. You can probably learn a lot by reading what they write there and reversing it. So they say learn to cook and dress sexy, the reverse is earn a lot of money (relative to her) and workout a lot. They say ask your man for permission, so the reverse is ask her what she thinks of the decision you're going to make, gauge her response and factor it into if you go ahead with what you were going to do. I do think as TRP becomes more mature, LTR game will become more prevalent, it's part of the evolution of the philosophy, for now, the knowledge is scarce, and a number of RPer's I've spoken to have said in no uncertain times Athol is a bluepill fuck and MMSL is overrated crap for desperate husbands trying to salvage already dysfunctional marriages. Personally I have no opinion or knowledge on MMSL/Athol, it's irrelevant to me.

Treating yourself like a human

14 upvotes · 1 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You always find out who your true friends are in a crisis. Those guys you get along with and joke with... many will disappear in a hot minute. Some because they don't care, some because they don't know how to communicate/behave, others because they're wrapped up in their own problems. Momentarily we have companionship, ultimately esp. as men, we're alone, the only people who will perhaps give up their own sense of well being for us is our parents, not friends, not women. Some are unlucky enough to have shitty parents too. Most people like us and love us when it's easy to like us and love us, but when we need help and it becomes difficult, they look the other way, repulsed, awkward, avoidant.

I don't expect much of people, when I find myself disappointed I scold myself for being so naive to think someone actually gave that much of a fuck. I'm rarely disappointed. On the flipside, live in the moment and enjoy the shared moments, laugh with people as much as possible, life is pretty inherently shitty so adopting amused mastery is a great coping mechanism, just realise in your heart of hearts you've got only yourself "when the chips are down" third party sacrifice and help is in short supply for a man.

The year is 2032...

14 upvotes · 27 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The parallels I can draw from this short story:

It's like 1984, except the story is set in 2032, it's something of an update on modern dystopia.

Instead of the ruling party being a communist party, it's a radical feminist one.

I especially like the attention to detail in the languages of the elevator giving a multicultural globalised implication to the state of affairs.

There is capitalist criticism with the economy segment, the banking/financial crisis in recent memory making failing and unsustainable banking and economic policy as well as national debt a real worry for both current and future generations.

This was a nice piece of writing, great piece of fiction.

I sold my panties to men on Craigslist—including a cop

14 upvotes · 22 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women's sexual power is the reason there will never be social equality, it is a commodity in and of itself that gives them the advantage, which means if you're equal on paper, socially people will take her word over yours, like her more than you etc etc. Don't see anybody "white knight" for guys do you? Exactly. To be equal to a hot woman you need to be better than her on paper somewhat and to truly have higher status than a woman you need to be significantly better on paper than she is. You can say "yeah but guys can go to the gym" and blah blah, but it's not the same, it doesn't bring free cash prizes and social mobility. How many ripped guys are there versus hot girls? How do girls get hot? Genetics/Makeup/Dont get fat. How do guys get ripped? Some genetics, mostly insane gym ethic. Shiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiiit, the benefit of being a woman for all but the ugliest is plain to see everywhere.

Miss Nevada suggests women learn martial arts to help prevent being raped; Feminists freak out at idea of effort and accountability

14 upvotes · 10 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

My wife knows how to operate a variety of firearms and i'm going to get her to learn a martial art.

I hope for your sake she never turns on you.

The Dangers of Isolation: Why Men Need Other Men

14 upvotes · 7 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

that meets in secret.

Yeah, exactly. It has to be informal or underground in some manner as the mainstream institutions, except perhaps boys only schools (note: boys, not men), will not tolerate male only institutions. I wonder why that might be? Male exclusivity is always inferred as misogynistic, there is an irrational fear surrounding men gathering together whom exclude women from their practices. An exception that is mainstream would appear to be sport, although I have heard some ridiculous things about adding women to your team in the U.S. Even on the internet we see people wanting this subreddit shut down because "they're a bunch of misogynists" it's quite funny really to see so many people tar men with a black brush and openly covey opposition of their congregation via a precedent of fear.

The MRM is a terrorist group!

14 upvotes · 27 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Rodger is being celebrated as a martyr and hero by the movement, which will likely cause other MRAs to emulate his crimes.

Flatout perjury.

/r/MensRights/comments/26exai/official_mras_blamed_for_ucsd_mass_murder_thread/chqdzyl

Christopher Hitchens - Gender Differences + Argument with a Feminist

14 upvotes · 26 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

After watching that first video "shit test passed" comes to mind. He doesn't back down and despite her anger she respects him for it. Pay attention to the body language cues and non-verbal communication, it contradicts her verbal communication.

After my own personal experiences and a dose of TRP I find myself having virtually no interest in women anymore. Is this normal?

14 upvotes · 8 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Convince yourself to jog or lift something. Cut out the bad crap in your diet. Drink coffee/get stimulants. Find something to work on, anything, a little website, a pet project, whatever it is - you need something to live for. Best of luck brother.

Last night I got one of the best compliments a man can receive.

14 upvotes · 27 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I suspect it gives them permission to be weak and give into their emotions and be swept up in the drama.

Bang-on, women are emotional junkies. Any excuse to indulge in drama and have someone else clean up the mess.

We all know women aren't funny. But, where did females come up with this idea that sarcasm is funny?

14 upvotes · 26 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Answer me this, what's the difference between sarcasm and banter? Sarcasm can be a shit test, sure, but bitch-sarcasm and jovial-banter-sarcasm are not the same thing.

I love sarcasm as long as it's for the lols and there is no actual conceit behind it. Bill Burrs style, for fuck sake, is making sarcastic sounding punchlines out of irony "so what hunny, that ass kicking just landed out of nowhere? you weren't even A BIT annoying?"

Sarcasm can be funny and it can be annoying. It's funny when you use it to create good feelings. It's obnoxious when you try to use it to put people down and avoid taking responsibility for your words.

Bill Burr on women and marriage

14 upvotes · 5 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Bitch clearly wore him the fuck down. Even Bill Burr. Marriage, not even fucking once.

You guys are so right

14 upvotes · 3 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah, women innately have value by being able to bring life into the world.

Men have to demonstrate their value by getting good at something.

One type of value is ascribed (being born female)

The other is attained (becoming competent enough to be valued for something)

For women to be high value they have to be born with the right genetics and maintain their appearance.

For men to be high value they have to not be born with bad genetics, prove their masculinity and attain success or prominence in some area.

It's the main reason behind why women get a pussy pass, but men get no dick pass. Having a pussy is a privilege, having a dick means extra obligations to those with pussies. Never hear about deadbeat mothers do you? We (society) always assume that women are great mothers, fathers on the other hand: totally open to being vilified. It's toxic as fuck out there.

Female acquaintance hitting the wall and settling for beta bux. I fucking cringed at how accurate TRP is.

14 upvotes · 1 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

She's a textbook bitch hitting the wall.

He's a textbook beta raised to be taken for a ride like this.

The whole blue pill sham of an idea of what relationships are about is fucking pathetic. She's using him and when she gets something better, she will divorce rape him and move on.

He put a ton of kindness coins into her and now he thinks he's won the lottery. Poor sucker.

Shit is vile.

He needs a backbone. She's doing what any chick hitting the wall does when she's out of money. Attaching herself to the nearest available dick offering financial incentives.

She must have really hit rock bottom to "cash in the balls in her purse" now she's cashed in her suckered friend zone chump it's a branch swing all the way back up the tree of romantic bullshit and thus the cycle continues.

Fucking honestly.

10 reasons for young bucks to get a bar job

14 upvotes · 27 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm dating another bartender at the same club who wouldn't have given me the time of day if it wasn't for this job.

You OK shitting where you eat? Don't really need the job? Got any exit strategy?

Red Pill Antibiotic Nuke, Come and Feed

14 upvotes · 25 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You honour me.

Great comments on Cesar Millan divorce in a surprising place

14 upvotes · 20 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This just adds further support to the argument that feminism has fucked up women and ruined society.

They would go so far to steal the money of an injured soldier and abandon him? If you were that guy and some silly little self harming bitch on reddit told you "nawalt you're just bitter" I think you'd feel justified in being a little fucked off. The word "little" being a sarcastic euphemism here, the SJW bitches being completely insensitive to the sheer level of injustice going on here (how ironic, social justice - but only for protected classes) because hey, they'd do exactly what the women in question here would do to a man and also give no fucks, hence deflecting attention from the behaviour of the common feminist indoctrinated woman by claiming there is something wrong with the guy and not their collective sense of immorality.

I'm sorry but when its a commonplace in a society that wives are stealing the money of their injured at war husbands and abandoning them to rot penniless, that is truly the sign of a decaying, decrepit, dysfunctionally immoral society. Fuck feminism and fuck all the women who are a product of it.

Feminism - reinforcing and incentivising female primal instincts rather than suppressing them into civility (as was done pre-feminism) women's suffrage is not worth the fucking fallout we have now, truly it isn't, look what freedom has done to them - they're corrupted monsters. Robbing crippled soldiers of their savings? Just fucking wow.

Evolutionary reasoning for Archwinger's "I've been hurt in the past" topic.

14 upvotes · 19 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is a great post and written very clearly.

The takeaway here is that as men you should realise the value of your prospective emotional commitment the same way a woman realises the value of her vagina, because she is aware that as an end-game guys want to fuck her pussy, being aware of that she can use that as leverage in her awareness of the dynamic between the two of you. The female end-game however is your emotional attachment and a lot of men don't realise that by giving that away straight up they give her nothing else to strive for. The reverse is a girl who fucks within 20 minutes of the first date, if she keeps giving you sex on tap whenever you call up is there any reason for you to give her what she wants, emotional commitment? Of course not. Your needs are already fulfilled, well it's the same dynamic here when a beta is freely doling out love, emotional support, gifts and ego validation - she's getting everything she needs so she feels no need to give you anything in return, her needs are being met so why is she going to fix what she perceives as not being broken?

There's a fucking line many of you betas/ex betas have heard from chicks before which goes something like: "I like you so much I just want to remain friends because I don't want to ruin the relationship and I think doing [things] together would ruin the special thing that we have" which is womanese (candy coated bullshit) for: you're giving me everything I need already I don't need to fuck you to get what I want out of you. By giving her everything she wants straight off the bat you've become non-sexual to her and unless you're an incredibly attractive man you're probably not going to be getting any pussy, you've done fucked up.

Ironically even if you plead your desires she'll be "afraid to mess things up" because whilst the beta tolerates her lack of sexual receptiveness to him she is receiving everything she wants. Perversely these women will then go and get fucked by guys who give no damn about them, because a guy who gives up all his love, commitment and time to a woman who he isn't even fucking isn't attractive to a woman, she'll enjoy his services but she won't respect him, she'll think he's pathetic and a pathetic man is not a fuckable man. If a chick doesn't respect you she can't love you and she certainly cannot be attracted to you, don't equate respect with hate, a chick can hate your guts but still respect you.. resulting in the best hate sex ever, however I digress. Chicks respect assholes because they have boundaries and don't needlessly give away their time like it's an infinite resource, you can learn a thing or two about being an asshole.

There is a trade-off between successful liaisons between men and women and emotional attachment starts with your attention, followed by taking up increasing amounts of your personal time then with sufficient attraction and logistics it culminates into emotional commitment and its this which forms the basis for a relationship. By that point you should have already fucked her, if she wants to escalate commitment without escalating sexually, you're getting a bad deal. You are being used as a "wallet" "shoulder to cry on" or some other arbitrary instrument for HER NEEDS and she is not really interested in YOUR NEEDS as a man at all. Dump her ass and get the fuck out because she's non-reciprocally selfish.

To explain further, falling in love easily/quickly or otherwise being ready and capable to commit your time, energy, resources, attention and romantic passion into a woman as a "friend" fulfills her imperative without her having to give you anything in return, it's a one-sided transaction of which only she profits and such inequitable transactions ultimately lead to men being positioned firmly into the fabled "friendzone", orbiter guys are fulfilling her sexual imperative by validating her psychologically and perhaps even assisting her materially without requiring any contribution on her behalf. Some women have a fucking platoon of orbiters, it's the female equivalent of having a fucking harem. If she is one of those kinds of women and you are friendzoned you are nothing to her, if you try to leverage her she'll just drop you and get another beta to take her to her alpha fucks or help her with her homework or go shopping with her or whatever bullshit it is she has betas doing for her.

Her imperative fulfilled, the woman is happy to have men around like this to give her free stuff and boost her ego, it is narcissistic as it leads her to believe she is simply special for existing and not being ugly, it creates a monstrosity of a woman via the gluttony of selfishness, but she is happy because she's getting what she wants out of him, you may have heard a woman say before "if he wants to do stuff for me who am I to stop him?" she isn't lying she'll use the fuck out of you for FREE if you let her.

By allowing yourself to be an emotional or material doormat you do not just do your sense of pride a disservice but also your integrity and the perception of your value too.

I see these posts got a shit ton of upvotes and i think its due to all the beta newbies who signed up recently who identify with being effectively friendzoned because the bitch wont put out despite having a history of being a whore. Rule #1 for you guys - treat your time, attention and commitment like a vagina because she wants that shit as badly as you want her vagina if you don't make her work for your commitment, she'll take it from you GLADLY for free and then give away the vagina to some asshole who doesn't give her any of the commitment she wants. That's why she'll be crying on your shoulder when he refuses to commit and the realisation slaps her in the face that despite all the pussy shes given him, he's not going to stick around.

It's a fine balancing act and both genders can get burned, naturally here we care about the male perspective. If you want to be the asshole then you need to hit all the attraction buttons and not many of the comfort ones, you want her comfortable enough to keep fucking you but not so comfortable you become this over familiar friend, that however is another topic for another time, this post is long enough already.

You're all fucking naturals

14 upvotes · 8 February 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

When bitches have to put as much effort into self-development, skill-building, social/psychological understanding, and etc., as we do, then I will give them some time of day.

Even if they did and could they'd be a slave to the tingles. The untold opportunities feminism has provided bitches with has proven that premise. Ships fucking sailed. Shit test failed ladies. People always say feminism is a shit test, I say yeah.. it was a shit test for women and they failed hard. They couldn't transcend their biology via social conditioning, they're limited as fuck.

BITCHES BE TINGLE CHASING YO

What is TRP's criteria for getting married?

14 upvotes · 7 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I got my high school girl friend pregnant.... So I joined the Marines and married her because "it was the right thing to do". How utterly misguided I was.

You got that right. Misguided is a soft way of putting it.

Anyway, during my 5 years in the Corps, she ended up cheating on me three times

Those are just the guys you know about. If she's saying it's 3 I'd assume it was about 10.

took my daughter to another States, saddled me with what debt we had (car payment etc)

Thinks the child is her property, takes no responsibility for her debts, typical.

You know, honestly, if she were to get into a flaming car accident, my reaction would be a smirk.

It would be some perverse sort of justice.

Long story short, we have been dating for two years and she is the light in my life, which scares me. In our two years+ of being with each other, we have never fought, not once, we are both heavily interested in sex, both have the same morals and interests, blah blah blah.

People change, women are very changeable. They will go against their morals and change their interests if the right man feeds them the right emotions. They are reflections of the most powerful man in their social circle, that's where their sense of self comes from, ironically, other people. Women are slaves to their emotional states, you cannot put any faith in her credibility that she will always be this person. Enjoy it while it lasts, just don't expect it to last forever.

Finally, I told her I wanted to get my phd in computer science (I'm a cs major) and so I told her that it doesn't pay well initially and she told me that she just wanted to support me in whatever direction I wanted to go.

Supportive chicks are rare, she says that now but how well will she handle you earning fuck for a while? See in practice it can put unnecessary strain on the relationship and it's as your responsibility to lead if it fucks up she won't feel guilty in the slightest. You can't do something because your girl said she'll support you in it, it's nice to know she won't actively go against you but whatever you decide has to be done because you think it's your best bet, you're the risktaker she's just along for the ride. Tip the odds in your favour so that the gamble plays off. Also, look at what they do, not what they say. Their words are quite meaningless.

So TRP, I fell for this girl hard.

Sounds like she's doing all the /r/redpillwomen shit. That's what those girls specialise in, making you want to commit. You can commit LTR, but there is literally no logic or benefit to a formalised marriage. If you're even asking "why" despite all the reasons given here, you are beyond help.

I've never clicked with anyone so hard in my entire life, and it scares me.

I've had the same shit with a chick (together 6 years) and it all ended epically. That's why I'm here. Don't think it can't happen because I and people like me are living proof that it can.

Eventually I do want kids with this girl.

Don't marry. Have kids outside marriage, that way you'll at least only be paying child support if she fucks you over. Instead of asking people why you shouldn't marry, the real question you should be asking is why the fuck should you marry?

What is TRP's criteria for getting married?

14 upvotes · 7 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

So I guess if you're planning on living with her then might as well pre-nup and get married.

Or move somewhere where these laws don't apply. Or move out after 6 years, live away for a year and then move back in for 6 years. Rinse and repeat. Don't be tricked into marriage.

Where there are men making money, there are women selling their pussy. Easier than actually working.

14 upvotes · 1 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Lol, wow, saw this:

As for law enforcement, Freeland says officers need to stop treating prostitutes as criminals. "I don't care how willing they look," she says. "They're victims."

Thought "Law 22: Surrender Tactic: Transform Weakness into Power"

<http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-22-use-surrender-tactic-transform.html>

Single and Educated: China's "Leftover" women

14 upvotes · 1 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I wonder what in the world may have caused him to have those mental issues...

Petition to add r/redpillbooks to the sidebar

14 upvotes · 23 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's a pretty good sub. Keep it up!

edit: love the arthur schopenhauer thread. That guy even dead is an absolute boss.

For guys who do LTR: Be selfish. Make sure she is submissive & that YOU are the special one

14 upvotes · 15 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You got dumped once

2 billion times.

and immediately decided all women are evil didn't you

Yeah I'm the kind of person who immediately judges a whole group of people based on absolutely nothing. I don't bother with trying to reason that takes too much effort I'm pretty small-minded and it's easier for me to live my own sad pathetic neckbeard life just spreading hate.

Don't feel sorry for me or even waste your time talking to me, ignore me and move on knowing that your views are superior to mine.

A listing of the truths TRP reveals?

14 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

If you get angry, defensive,

How does this explain women who are addicted to violent men then? Being angry doesn't always mean losing frame. If you can channel your anger to focus on the task at hand, being offhand is normally fine, in fact it reminds her who the fucking man is. If she's a head fuck who uses that anger as an example to further hit you with tirades of bullshit you next her, women in the top 10% of manipulators aren't worth the hassle for an LTR.

I'm sitting in a Women's and Gender Studies Class RIGHT NOW

14 upvotes · 9 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I studied philosophy and logic mixed into a course called "Critical Thinking" (and I was naturally a strong debater anyway MBTI - ENTJ... not the MBTI is scientifically valid anyway) and learnt in academia all about fallacy, assessing the credibility of an argument, weighing up evidence.. all skills useful in the legal profession or in any debating capacity and the hilarious thing was our professor was an absolute boss, I mean this guy could topple governments with his political prowess.. anyway he told us that the British government found our subject to be "controversial" and they had considered removing it from the syllabus.

Hilariously it was quite a difficult course... most of the chicks couldn't handle it and all dropped out (logic not their strong suit) and it was probably personally my hardest course in college.. considering I'm a logical guy considered by all my peers to be a very strong debater, that says a lot. The kind of skills you talk about are very valuable but very difficult for the average joe to get their head around.

Alpha careers

14 upvotes · 6 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Dont worry about downvotes sometimes you get downvoted for fucking senseless reasons.

What to do if a guy at your girlfriends work is talking shit to her and saying inappropriate things?

14 upvotes · 5 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

A girl I know uses my existence and our flirtations to fuck with her boyfriend all the time, there's a good chance that this is what this girl is doing too. When she talks about this guy look at her body language and listen to her tone of voice, does she sound fond or faux-disgusted? Or does she seem genuinely distraught? Is she actually complaining or is she disguising her bragging as a complaint? Are you even capable of telling the difference?

If you wanna get even OP start talking shit about girls flirting with you trying to get your number etc etc.. fight fire with fire. If she's disrespecting you like this you're losing power in the relationship.

If there is a legitimate problem tell her to fucking do something about it. I'm cynical, I suspect she's just playing games.. typical of women.

I'm currently witnessing my 70 year old grandmother friendzoning a guy.

14 upvotes · 4 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

A lot of old people can't use the internet, the advent of the computer age has made has all a lot more knowledgeable than our predecessors, we have access to volumes upon volumes of information at the drop of an internet search that would have taken perhaps weeks months or even years to find scouring newspaper articles and brick and mortar libraries back in the day.

The internet is a truly beautiful thing which is why we need to protect it and keep it free.

Digression aside, fuck being a beta in your 70's!

Survey: What things does your RP woman do that triggers masculine and dominant feelings in you?

14 upvotes · 2 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

- When you're in bed together do not take up the whole bed - this creates dominant feelings of the negative kind, as in, bitch, I'm bigger than you - stop being a space whore.

- In bed put your head on his chest rather than on a pillow, sure you may both move in the night, but I'd fall asleep with my girl with one of my arms around her and her head on my chest. That always made me feel like a fucking king (As well as protective as fuck) like if I heard the door or some random noise while my girls head was on my chest then I'd jump out of bed and get ready to smack someone in the face out of pure instinct no logic about it.
- When you hug, assuming you're smaller than him in height and you probably are/should be, stand on top of his feet (better not have big feet girl!) and hold him tightly.
- When you hold hands out and about, hold on tight, makes him feel responsible for you.

Have fun ladies best of luck in your endeavours.

Lamborghini pickup yields negative results

14 upvotes · 2 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is blue pill as fuck.

So fucking painful to watch.

No one gives a shit about you.

14 upvotes · 27 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Always. This is a pro tip.

No one gives a shit about you.

14 upvotes · 27 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Then she gets closer and I can see the grains of paint all over her face

Legitimately creeps me the fuck out.

These girls are actually lowering their attractiveness

How ironic!

Why is this working?

14 upvotes · 24 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Sociopaths don't feel empathy, they may emulate it for superficial reasons, however, but won't actually feel it internally.

Uber-beta lets girlfriend bring a gay man in their bedroom, accepts to do 'really homosexual acts' with the guy while she watches.

14 upvotes · 23 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm finding it peculiar the responses here are to get me to prove my claim its been proven with science that men are not sexually fluid, rather than anyone bat an eyelid that what the person I questioned wrote seemed very fucked up. The lack of receptiveness to that, and the imposition of proof to back up my point is very worrying to say the least.

This guy said he uses a hot girl (that's your STRAIGHT BOY BAIT) to help him fuck STRAIGHT GUYS. That is manipulative however you want to cut it, I know what manipulation is, I'm a manipulative fuck myself, however I don't try to get people of orientations who wouldn't fuck me, to fuck me. Ain't my kinda power game.

I would love to see the scientific proof as well. I've always been under the mindset that there is no gay or straight, but more of a spectrum. You do what you do, in each individual moment.

No. Sexuality is not fluid in men unless you are a bisexual, which is very rare. Gay movement says they are born gay and it's nature not nurture. To suggest it's nurture would be to undermine their special status as an oppressed group and give up the power/privilege which comes with that. Wouldn't surprise me if men were tortured/brainwashed into doing gay shit though, never underestimate the power of nurture, there are some sick motherfuckers in this world who would abuse people for their own pleasure and this is how I construed what the guy I actually questioned was doing. Think the catholic church with the popes fucking little boys in the ass.

One thing I'm thinking if is it seems much more common for men to convince women to "go gay" for each other, such as when a man convinced a gf to being another woman along in sex, but I think a lot of that can be attributed to TRP gender roles, power, etc.

Agreed.

I don't think you can say women are more fluid, as men go through "experimental stages" in college or whenever just as women do.

This study proves otherwise, full PDF at bottom:

Meredith Chivers is a creator of bonobo pornography. She is a 36-year-old psychology professor at Queen's University in the small city of Kingston, Ontario, a highly regarded scientist and a member of the editorial board of the world's leading journal of sexual research, Archives of Sexual Behavior. The bonobo film was part of a series of related experiments she has carried out over the past several years. She found footage of bonobos, a species of ape, as they mated, and then, because the accompanying sounds were dull — “bonobos don't seem to make much noise in sex,” she told me, “though the females give a kind of pleasure grin and make chirpy sounds” — she dubbed in some animated chimpanzee hooting and screeching. She showed the short movie to men and women, straight and gay. To the same subjects, she also showed clips of heterosexual sex, male and female homosexual sex, a man masturbating, a woman masturbating, a chiseled man walking naked on a beach and a well-toned woman doing calisthenics in the nude.

While the subjects watched on a computer screen, Chivers, who favors high boots and fashionable rectangular glasses, measured their arousal in two ways, objectively and subjectively. The participants sat in a brown leatherette La-Z-Boy chair in her small lab at the Center for Addiction and Mental Health, a prestigious psychiatric teaching hospital affiliated with the University of Toronto, where Chivers was a postdoctoral fellow and where I first talked with her about her research a few years ago. The genitals of the volunteers were connected to plethysmographs — for the men, an apparatus that fits over the penis and gauges its swelling; for the women, a little plastic probe that sits in the vagina and, by bouncing light off the vaginal walls, measures genital blood flow. An engorgement of blood spurs a lubricating process called vaginal transudation: the seeping of moisture through the walls. The participants were also given a keypad so that they could rate how aroused they felt.

The men, on average, responded genitally in what Chivers terms “category specific” ways. Males who identified themselves as straight swelled while gazing at heterosexual or lesbian sex and while watching the masturbating and exercising women. They were mostly unmoved when the screen displayed only men. Gay males were aroused in the opposite categorical pattern. Any expectation that the animal sex would speak to something primitive within the men seemed to be mistaken; neither straights nor gays were stirred by the bonobos. And for the male participants, the subjective ratings on the keypad matched the readings of the plethysmograph. The men's minds and genitals were in agreement.

All was different with the women. No matter what their self-proclaimed sexual orientation, they showed, on the whole, strong and swift genital arousal when the screen offered men with men, women with women and women with men. They responded objectively much more to the exercising woman than to the strolling man, and their blood flow rose quickly — and markedly, though to a lesser degree than during all the human scenes except the footage of the ambling, strapping man — as they watched the apes. And with the women, especially the straight women, mind and genitals seemed scarcely to belong to the same person. The readings from the plethysmograph and the keypad weren't in much accord. During shots of lesbian coupling, heterosexual women reported less excitement than their vaginas indicated; watching gay men, they reported a great deal less; and viewing heterosexual intercourse, they reported much more. Among the lesbian volunteers, the two readings converged when women appeared on the screen. But when the films featured only men, the lesbians reported less engagement than the plethysmograph recorded. Whether straight or gay, the women claimed almost no arousal whatsoever while staring at the bonobos.

PDF FILE FULL STUDY:

http://www.researchgate.net/publication/5775304_Gender_and_sexual_orientation_differences_in_sexual_response_to_sexual_activities_versus_gender_of_actors_in_sexual_films/file/79e4150a3ab732d478.pdf

The Red Pill Best of 2013

14 upvotes · 19 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

- This guy is obnoxious, often attacking other people like a rabid feminist rather than defending his points with logic. -1 point.
- This guy was exposed for telling some fake story, then deleted it and ducked out of the sub. Credibility is a huge part of who you are as a man. -10 points.
- You're all enamoured with how much of a fucking absolute cunt this guy is like a bunch of teenage girls getting played and then nailed by the high school jock. This guy is definitely not best submitter considering his track record. There are far more rational, intelligent people posting here such as /u/Archwinger or /u/TRPSubmitter.

To quote RebuildVer1 from:

http://www.reddit.com/r/TheRedPill/comments/1roa61/please_stop_with_the_bitching_and_crying/

While I'm all for keeping this sub to a high standard of content, I don't think you're really one to give instructions or pass judgement on what defines "real men".

I remember only a few days ago, you posted a preposterous revenge fantasy and tried to pass it off as the truth to everyone here. It was ironically named "Non Alcoholic Beer Sorority Girls and the Truth" and you can revisit it here:

www. reddit. com /r/ TheRedPill/comments/1qnffg/nonalcoholic_beer_sorority_girls_and_the_truth/.

I'm sure that you'll recall that in that thread, you were called out by a number of people for inventing the entire story. When confronted, you responded by redoubling your lies and insulting everyone who called you out. Then days later it appears you deleted the thread and all your comments from it to hide your mistake. As far as I can tell, you've never owned up to your mistake or apologized for it.

You tried to gain validation here in a way that showed a serious lack of character and when called on it, you responded in a childish and dishonorable way. So with all due respect, I don't think you have the authority to judge people in this sub for "throwing tantrums", "crying", "not being a man" and posting good content as you clearly have a lot to learn about those areas yourself.

Oh, and your post here is just a concern trolling attention grab. So again, you really lack the moral high ground on this issue.

Do you believe a woman's "number"?

14 upvotes · 16 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If she's a whore she's not getting the ring, that's why men care. Too many whores trying to enter the marriage market when they belong in the mistress market.

If you've fucked double or triple digit men, you have no ability to pair-bond with men. You are broken. You will make a bad mother/wife. Nobody wants you.

Now you know why your number is important.

Woman feels no remorse after treating her blue pill boyfriend like shit

14 upvotes · 13 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The blame always lies on the guy, it's a beige phillip principle.

That's why we don't believe in equality here, women do not share equal blame or accountability to men therefore they cannot be expected to have the same level of credibility that a man does. As you know, fucking up generally carries consequences, women want power without consequences and thus are not credible.

Not all women are dark triad, some women would at least feel guilt for what they've done to a guy, even if he was weak - because they know it was wrong, it's called a conscience.

She has demonstrated no such thing. Women are inherently manipulative, not inherently dark triad. What you've just said is tantamount to saying "all women are slightly psychopathic" (as part of the dark triad) and that is an idea I would completely disagree with. All manipulative? Hell yes. All psychopathic? No, but this particular bitch is.

Saving the Best - RationalMale on recent /r/sex post of guy finding old sex tape of wife.

14 upvotes · 11 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

It's incredibly profound.

Girl rapes her unconscious boyfriend, "sexxit" commenters exercise the usual double standard

14 upvotes · 2 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't believe it will ever change.

Sweden, the most feminist country of them all...

14 upvotes · 28 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Holy shit that mans face.... are they pumping the water supply with fkin estrogen over there? !

BBC News - Clare's Law Expanded to England and Wales - Women are now Allowed to Do Police Background Checks on New Boyfriends to see if he has a history of violence.

14 upvotes · 25 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

This is wrong on so many levels. Men can't check woman's police records but women can check mens now. Pathetic.

EDIT: appears either gender can do the checks.

"I might go out with some friends that night...not sure so I'll let you know!" [shit test response]

14 upvotes · 21 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah if shes running the shit test olympics she can go try her luck with Usain Bolt. Bitches need to know the limits of their power when dealing with guys who know wtf's up.

Money > TRP

14 upvotes · 16 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Let's not delude ourselves into thinking that money isn't #1 when it comes to dating.

The term is alpha fucks beta bucks.

Just because she's dating some $100k uneducated beta doesn't mean she won't be fucking alphas for free.

I know what you mean about chicks being waaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaay into your bank balance. Essentially TRP is about male power, money comprises part of that power structure, if you're making a ton of money but you don't know how to handle a woman you will be a beta just getting fiscally raped and abused for your resources. Women are cruel like that.

Girlfriend leaves boyfriend in public for Ferrari driver

14 upvotes · 6 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

b-b-b-buuuuut GUYS..... not all women are like that!!!

There are special little snowflakes moisturizing their unicorn horns everywhere if you would just look hard enough!!!

- "Clearly you've just been dating the wrong girls"
- "Sounds like you're a bitter little man"
- "You're just a misogynist"

Damn that blonde was tacky, her ass was hanging the fuck out.

Hypergamy and inevitable divorce, because once she divorces you for your ferrari you can go fuck yourself.

The Rape 'Epidemic' Doesn't Actually Exist ("1 in 4 women have been raped myth" comes from govt online survey)

14 upvotes · 6 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha, look at the comments:

Alex Nic · Top Commenter · Oh yeah, boohoo for all the men who are wrongfully punished by "false" accusations of rape. Excuse me while I go dry my eyes off over the shattered lives of actual rape victims (of which even one is too many). False accusations can be unproven, but the trauma of rape lasts a lifetime.

Piotr Gorczynski · Top Commenter " boohoo for all the men who are wrongfully punished by "false" accusations of rape" you do realise that this man lose almost everything, jobs, friends even family as there name is published everywhere. So even one falsely accused is to many. Enlighten me what punishment woman receives for false accusation? Rest of you comment I will not bother to address, it just simply stupid. You a bigot!

Taylor Beauvais · You obviously have a lot of experience as a woman who has been sexually assaulted so of course you know what they are going through and what they think.... Oh wait... no... You're just a silly little boy whose idea of bedside talk is whispering "I'm sorry for the Patriarchy". Men are not the problem, women are NOT (yes I said not) the problem. People who lie, are the problem. People who speak without proper knowledge of a situation are the problem. You, are part of the problem.

Good to see some fucking sense being spoken to these prejudiced bigots in a comments box outside TRP. I've always said feminism is a bigoted supremacist movement that uses victimhood to reinforce its position of elitism and I stand by that. Good to see other people are beginning to recognise that too.

Situational help. Forgetting a 'prearranged date'

14 upvotes · 2 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

"I must have confused you with one of the other girls I'm seeing at the moment"

She says "blah blah blah"

You say: "I'm kidding, girls don't even like me, I'm so lucky to have a date with you that I must have forgotten in all the shock."

Push and pull. I'm a strong proponent of asshole game.

Oh and your voice, it should be deep and sarcastic, if you sound like you genuinely believe the crap you're talking you'll come off as... I shudder to use the word "beta"

An Analysis of "The Red Pill" - Dissecting The Red Pill

14 upvotes · 27 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Lately I've noticed a lot of confusion around what TRP is, I've seen and heard all kinds of lunacy being thrown around. We've had an upsurge in new members and many of them seem quite clueless about what the nature of the red pill is. I've tried to be concise, however I realise it's not easy reading and to those of a lower education "may seem a bit heavy" however for those who fall under that category, if you can look past that and just google any words you don't know the meaning of, you'll find the article to be concise. Remember, TRP is not a movement - it is a philosophy, a train of thought, not a political entity.

Study: Young, Single, Childless Women Earn More Than Men

14 upvotes · 27 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

A woman's earning potential is not biologically determined, it's a social construct influenced by a factor which is both biological and social (her sex appeal.)

A woman's innate physical inferiority is biological in nature.

Personally I believe women should be held responsible for the consequences of their own violence and when they instigate violence they should be hit back without any white knight intervention, I don't think they should be immune to the repercussions of their own violent behaviour because society will facilitate this terrible behaviour on their part, however that has absolutely nothing to do with young women out earning young men, that facet is a manifestation of a woman's beauty privilege working for her economically.

field report. my last 5 years>transformation>success

14 upvotes · 25 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

im trying not to catch oneitis

Remember how it felt when a woman ensnared you, had you turn BP with her feminine wiles and then violated you by dumping you for the next guy who was RP. Hold onto that feeling. She's fucking married to a guy she doesn't respect and talks shit about him to you. If you became that guy by catching oneitis you'd be that guy and she'd do the same to you. She ain't worth shit. Hate fuck and leave. Thing is you work with her... shitting where you're eating... you're going to have to keep total control or that could blow up in your face "sexual harassment charges" anyone? She will try to make you like her. I wouldn't even deem it a possibility with a ho like that. I know how they make you feel, but its deception, ignore it.

About the debatable logic of women: meet my ex

14 upvotes · 20 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Once upon a time I was a beta. The best way to learn is the hard way, always.

The Misconceptions of Red Pillers

14 upvotes · 6 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Indeed it is

My Endorsement of Negging

14 upvotes · 6 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You'll be amazed how fast her hamster dons its battle armor, even with the second statement.

http://www.zhuniverse.com/sites/zhuzhu/files/imagecache/zhu_product_image/battle_armor_thunder_strike.jpg

This redditor is forced into chastity, shamed, threatened, and emotionally abused by his wife. What does he do? Accepts his shitty fate.

14 upvotes · 1 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

And she used it tactically to lure him back, dread game. Damn. He's a loser. I pity and laugh at the same time, it's a fucked up mixture. Part of me thinks "if i was that guy" the other part thinks "I'm glad I'm not as retarded as this guy"

How can I respond to "Why are you so quiet? Say Something!"

14 upvotes · 31 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Oh she's doing obnoxious kino, she clearly wants to escalate. That IOI there.

LMAO.

Washington state gets rid of sexist language - Freshman is now going to be referred to as "First year student", Journeyman plumber will now be "Journey level plumber" etc.

14 upvotes · 4 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yes the romance languages are very specific about masculine and feminine. There's absolutely nothing wrong with it. Extremist feminism will ruin the beauty of those languages.

Female Logic: "Why is it that I'm a bigger slut when I slept with 63 guys once or maybe twice when my boyfriend slept with his 1st girlfriend 100+ times? That's the same amount of sex!"

14 upvotes · 14 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If you wanna go there, I've probably jerked off more times than she's jerked off and fucked different men combined. The number of orgasms are irrelevant, it's who you have them with that is.

"I bought myself a nice fucking ring....Because I fucking can and I am tired of not getting jewelry just because guys won't buy it for me and I am also tired of my mom shoving her $6,000 rock in my face every 50 seconds because my dad would rather waste money on her." Xpost XXChromo

14 upvotes · 7 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

She sounds jealous of her mother because her mother has a beta provider and she doesn't. Damn that electra complex.

Women don't want an emotional man...

14 upvotes · 29 May 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah, fuck the fact he was down and suicidal men CAN NEVER be victims in a woman's eyes, no, VICTIMHOOD is strictly a card stacked in the WOMAN DECK. When a man is victimised he is seen as weak and thus in need of punishment for being so inferior, however whenever a woman is seen as weak she's perceived to be in need of legitimate help and often men, being the suckers they are - want to help her, they want to be used, to fulfill themselves and by extension the perception of their gender role by aiding a damsel in distress, in part I think this is why many men (mostly blue pillers) hate women who are independent.

These are the gender expectations, men are meant to look after women like mothers are meant to look after children. If a man can't look after himself or a woman he's not even a man, if a woman can't look after herself or her child then she needs "the right man" or less suitably, the government to step in. They get to be victims because of inherent biological and social gender expectations, men do not. Life is tougher as a man, no doubt, you are charged with the burden of responsibility that women literally fucking SCREAM AT when they even get a touch or snuffle of the stuff, you need to be more skillful, more stoic, you have no victim card, no pussy card, you cannot manipulate effectively through a veil of weakness (which most females are naturally good at) but through a show of strength (which requires power, skill and strength.)

Imagine if a guy said to his friend "What the fuck son? you wanted to kill yourself? imagine HOW TERRIBLE I'D FEEL AS A FRIEND if you'd do that, how much I would've felt like a failure for not being there to keep you up! You selfish, selfish boy. You should've thought of me when you couldn't handle life anymore and wanted to kill yourself!" except a guy wouldn't say that because luckily, guys don't have fucking hamsters spinning in their brains - BUT IMAGINE IF WE DID - the world would be such a fucked up place, everyone would be a delinquent, there would be no sense of justice and no emotional support because everyone would prioritise their own emotional sense of being over yours, a total lack of empathy. Ironical as women are meant to be the empathic gender, supposedly. It's also ironic how crazy it seems a man would behave that way to another man, yet when you change that to a woman behaving that way to a man who isn't her offspring it suddenly becomes a fuck ton more credible. Bitches be selfish and we all know this deep down.

If men were like women the world would be fucked up, their solipsism and selfishness limits their ability to be compassionate. We're told women are the soft ones but despite physical appearances, it's definitely men who are the soft ones. As Rollo says, hierarchy of love: Men can unconditionally love women and women can unconditionally love Children - Men>Women>Children but it's one way love, women can't love men in the same unconditional way that they can love children, or a man can love her. Many admit prioritising their kid over their husband, in fact most do. That loyalty for the man is not there unless you're a 10 on her personified hypergamy scale (the best she can get) and then truly it's not even unconditional, but the loyalty is the end result of both of your conditions collectively, you trumping her by a minimum of 2 SMV points.

Banned on Twitter

13 upvotes · 10 June 2018 · /r/TheRedPill

All men should lift as it's good for mental and hormonal health. People shouldn't think about meatheads. Meatheads are obsessives who take too many steroids and live the gym to the max rather than just making it an integral component in their lives. The average man lifting will never look or become anything close to a meathead. Will just get broader shoulders, bigger biceps and bigger calves.

Meathead is a silly stereotype for anyone not obsessively working out on steroids lol.

Wake The Fuck Up! See women for who they are, not who you want them to be.

13 upvotes · 20 September 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Got her later to tell me how the purpose of a relationship is to control a man and in a divorce she will take as much as possible because she's entitled to it.

She sounds like a grade A cunt, but actually dumb enough to admit this to you. How did you get her to actually say that? Intriguing.

Another 54 Machiavellian Maxims for your reading pleasure.

13 upvotes · 2 May 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

If you like simple stuff I don't recommend reading my blog.

To enjoy the decline, or to start a family, that is the question

13 upvotes · 23 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm honestly still looking for the best way to leverage what I have into a larger overall benefit to me.

Machiavellianism, start with this article as it applies most to your personality type:

<http://illimitablemen.com/2015/02/08/machiavellian-thinking-vs-conventional-logic/>

I promise you, if you're as intelligent as you claim to be, you will become an absolute powerhouse once you master your understanding of, and execution of Machiavellian thought and behaviour.

Buckets Story

13 upvotes · 14 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Betrayal is common in these packs because, socially, many never really graduate beyond a high school mentality.

Is indicative of women's general immaturity vs. that of man's, as caused by low testosterone, solipsism and an evolved female mating strategy for befriending and tearing down the competition with plausible deniability. Female strategy = ruin everything around you so you're the best option, male strategy = be the best you can be so you have the most options.

Man refuses blind set up date, every women who knows the people involved take the girls side

13 upvotes · 29 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Guess it depends on the chick. Some women get off on rejecting dudes.

Reminder: Tinder is not secure, sloots can find your private info

13 upvotes · 9 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Women are perpetually childish and thus salty as fuck. Nothing screams bitter like trying to get a hook-up fired after the fact. The main takeaway from AWALT is this: treat every woman as a loaded gun and you will prepare yourself accordingly.

Start lifting and just observe the world around you

13 upvotes · 5 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

In fact, it's a myth that any type of food makes you fat. Getting fat is 100% a question of Calories In > Calories Out.

Why is it then you get 170lb dudes with a calorie maint of 4,000 and 230lb dudes with a calorie maint of 2,500? Let's assume both eat processed crap, one is fat, but the other isn't and that both get similar amounts of cardio. I've known of people like this in my own life that I can compare, it's fucked up.

People say calories in, calories out, but fact of the matter is, some people can eat a lot more calories and be smaller. Others eat less (and even healthier) than skinnier people, and get fat.

Joke however is people who eat 3 big meals a day plus snacks big enough for many bodybuilders to consider meals in themselves (the 4,000 calorie skinny crew) struggle to put any muscle on, and the guys who can't cut have muscle, but it's hidden under layers of fat.

I know of big guys (not fat lazy guys, but guys who lift) who have to almost starve to death (fast) to cut. Otherwise the fat wont fuckoff.

I know calories are relevant, but if it was that simple, you would not have people in this world eating 2/3 or double more than others whilst retaining a lower body fat than them at a lower mass with the same level of exercise. Fact is, some people seem to have a predisposition to gain body fat/mass and others don't. Some people have to binge on food to gain mass, others have to starve themselves to not look like a fat fuck. Genetics dominate.

A Most Solipsistic Nature

13 upvotes · 4 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

You've gotta love how kids have no filter and say it like it is before the state education system utterly indoctrinates them.

The current state of affairs and a taste of what is to come. Single mother parenting.

13 upvotes · 2 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I hear your pain bro. It's fucked up that bitch put you through all that shit. How the fuck are you ever expected to trust a woman when your own mother did that? At least you discovered TRP.

Do not underestimate the scope and effect of what you write on TRP

13 upvotes · 22 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

A holiday is Tenerife or Malaga or Ibiza or Crete or some party shit where you go bang sluts in hot weather. You're on an adventure, something else entirely. It's funny how people can only see "going abroad" in the context of partying/doing dumb touristy shit and can't see it from a "self-growth" aspect. People just cannot imagine willfully downgrading in comfort and making life harder on purpose as a lifehack to help yourself grow strong - QUICKLY.

You're gonna get experiences you could never get in the comfort and prosperity of this little Northern European island that we all take for granted. Good shit. May your adventures prove fruitful.

Be sure to do your own post when you get back (observations/things you learned etc.) That would be cool.

A man presents only facts to dispute gender pay gap existence. Wins against feminist.

13 upvotes · 16 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

He knows how the SJW system and the greater FI both work and how to exploit his status in them for the betterment of men.

Which is fucking brilliant. It's like having an insider on the opposing team.

My Black Phillip Show Takeaways & Notes

13 upvotes · 13 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Funny how they spend all this energy on "not looking like a hoe" when it'd take far less energy to just stop being one.

Cheating wife tells her lover (me) how loyal she REALLY is.

13 upvotes · 19 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

By not opening your mouth, you gain power by remaining noncommittal.

Indeed, this is a general law of power no less:

<http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-4-always-say-less-than-necessary.html>

And this:

<http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-20-do-not-commit-to-anyone.html>

The future of Feminism is bright: Woman to take the place of Hamilton on $10 bill by 2020

13 upvotes · 18 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Brace yourself for a future of even more women empowerment and feminism.

Women realise men are dropping out, so rather than change themselves, they double down on the feminism. The very thing that causes men to drop out is the very thing they're going to call for more of because men are dropping out. It's hilarious. They do not have a fucking clue. Women are, generally speaking, fucking retarded.

[META] Reddit rolls out first ban wave of "Harassing Subreddits"

13 upvotes · 10 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

If it's a pretext for something they already want to do than whether TBP campaign or not is completely irrelevant. It would just make a convenient cover story for justifying what they want to do regardless. Kind of like when the American public were told "Sadam's got nukes" as a pretext for invasion. If they are actually investigating a false flag and have no pretext for banning us, they'll see TBP are trying to frame us.

"Greece is Fucked Because of it's people". A short dialogue with my now ex Greek GF.

13 upvotes · 8 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I would advise you never discuss highly intellectual topics or conduct any form of arguing with a woman, unless you don't plan on sleeping with her (Most times not even then). I have only met two exceptions to the rule. It usually bores them to death and gives them the 'Sahara Snatch' or delves into a battle of logic vs. feelz. Not productive whatsoever.

Very true. Sadly enough, many guys just can't accept logic is wasted on women. So they drive themselves insane banging their head against the hamster rather than leveraging it. Going to drop these two links here for guys dumb enough to think arguing with women is a good idea:

<http://illimitablemen.com/2015/02/08/machiavellian-thinking-vs-conventional-logic/>

<http://illimitablemen.com/2014/03/09/how-women-argue/>

I was asked to train a new female employee to do the promotion I got passed on.

13 upvotes · 21 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

the losers, the clueless, and the sociopaths, and it fits TRP pretty well. Not sure if its true or not, but it seemed solid on my first pass. You will have to google for it though.

Yeah the Gervais principle; it was posted here ages ago.

Ask IllimitableMan

13 upvotes · 30 April 2015 · /r/askTRP

what helps to keep sane?

Stand-up comedy, clowning/bantering with your bros, bust out a few push-ups for a buzz. Don't forget to treat yourself. All work and no play makes jack a dull boy. Also: if a chick is more hassle than she's worth, next that bitch.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WK98XzEM97Y>

Bear Grylls the Island (keeping you guys updated)

13 upvotes · 24 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

All women are red pill, it's the hamster that allows them to believe in the blue pill whenever it's useful. If she has to lift a heavy box, all of a sudden, she has no problem admitting men are stronger than women. If she needs you to do her maths homework or take some measurements for decorating, all of a sudden, she doesn't mind saying men are better at maths. Women are blue pill when they need to be (coping mechanism) or when it benefits them to be, does she want to earn lots and lots of money? Well all of a sudden, men and women are equal because she has to believe in that to get what she wants. Does she not want all the responsibility in the relationship? Well all of a sudden, "she's just a girl" and "you need to be a man." Her ideas of equality disappear pretty fast, in fact, whenever equality doesn't empower her, she doesn't believe in it.

Women are full of shit, there is no consistency in their narrative AT ALL. To address your question, most good looking women abuse their sexuality, it's in their nature. You need a fucking religion like Islam to invalidate such a tendency.

A lesson in SMV from the one and only Rob Gronkowski

13 upvotes · 5 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Bitches throwing you pussy because you knew Gronk? Ah, gotta love bitches. "If I fuck his friend, maybe he'll introduce me." Bitches be treating their pussy like it's a fucking skeleton key that unlocks all the doors.

red pill conversation at a job interview

13 upvotes · 29 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Or in the words of Little Wayne, why give a bitch an inch when she rather have nine?

Feminist mother on a mission to raise a "perfect" daughter.

13 upvotes · 18 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

bet this is a complete one way street, especially on the 'no emotional abuse' front.

I had the same exact thoughts myself. A whole lot of bullshit being said there.

To all the weak pathetic fucks who "need to see the best in women"

13 upvotes · 17 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Solid post. Sounds about right.

To all the weak pathetic fucks who "need to see the best in women"

13 upvotes · 17 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Totally agree. Take a man born in the 40's, a man born in the 60's and a man born in the 90's. All raised differently in completely different worlds. Different standards of education, religious dominance, father prevalence, feminist ideological influence etc. The younger they are, the less self-controlled and aware of the world they tend to be. There are a multitude of reasons for that. Older men received vastly superior life lessons than younger men, and in many cases, lessons that younger men just don't get taught period anymore.

The average man from about the 70's onwards is a complete bitch today.

Women will shame high SMV men who refuse to commit. Women believe they deserve those resources.

13 upvotes · 17 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

If you cum in her mouth, make sure she swallows and opens her mouth after. It has been known some bitches crazy enough will actually inseminate themselves by taking your cum out of their mouth, putting it on their fingers and sticking it inside themselves. I'm not saying it's common, but why leave anything to chance with a woman? If you think "oh no I'm being paranoid there's no need for that" and then the next thing you know you're getting child support-raped by some whore you don't even love, well, all you're gonna get is a "told you so."

Machiavellian Thinking vs. Conventional Logic.

13 upvotes · 8 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Relevant: <http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-4-always-say-less-than-necessary.html>

Rationalists blab. A lot. Too much.

Fuck your ego: A field report from a night out.

13 upvotes · 28 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I would love to hear /u/illimitableman [+2] thoughts on this.

It's simple, really. Where you must "deliver" or perform some kind of display, ego is beneficial. Where you must think, analyse or introspect, ego is debilitating. In analysis, ego clouds your ability to perceive yourself and situations clearly, it's like adding fog in the room because you like how powerful you feel. Ego can supplant confidence, but when all you have is ego, letting go of it can cause an otherwise unconfident person to feel anxious. For those who are not truly confident, ego is a crutch for confidence. A way to perform without being confident. A way of bullshitting yourself into doing things you otherwise couldn't.

Ego helps with performance, which is why it's good for hooking up, it allows you to dazzle the chick. By being egotistical you demonstrate insincere value through social display that convinces people you're higher value than they are. That's why chicks logically hate egotistical guys but emotionally feel attracted to them, because he is able to make them feel like he's better than they are when he's with them. It doesn't matter if that's an objective truth or not, as long as you can make people (and women in particular) feel like you are better than them, they will believe that.

Ego is bad for relationships on the other hand because it makes you resistant to change and to do what needs to be done to fix problems. You take criticism as an insult rather than as useful input that can be used to improve yourself when you're ruled by ego. Ego aids superficial social prowess at the expense of awareness. Ego has something of a short half-life, that is to say - when you first meet an egotistical person you will be dazzled and they will create a strong, positive first impression. However as time goes on, if they continue to demonstrate the same obnoxious levels of ego you'll find they grate on you. You may even dislike them, such people will almost seem like caricatures devoid of actual substance, just insecure annoying attention seekers full of bullshit that are actually empty, hollow and annoying. Ego is effective in small doses. Kept up continuously it inspires contempt.

IMO, ego is a useful tool to have, but it should be something that you tap into as necessary. Something that can be switched on and off at will. Ego always helps make a grand entrance, and it's good for demonstrating value in the early stages. But if that's all you have to offer, as in, you can't turn it off and you can't humble yourself or be objective where necessary, then people end up eventually being repulsed because there's only so much ego one can take before it becomes unpalatably annoying. Humility is ego's counterpart and is likewise a valuable skill to be used at the right time. Ego is for grabbing attention and opening up new people who are pulled in by the gravity of the obnoxiousness like moths to a flame. Humility is for mitigating jealousy and keeping your sense of self-awareness in check. Suffice to say, the ego can consume the self, and if it does, you lose the ability to not only take the advice of others but to analyse yourself, see where you fuck up and make the necessary adjustments.

Like yin and yang, ego and humility must constantly dance, mitigating each other and manifesting as situations demand in order to yield the most desirable social outcomes. Calibrating humility and ego to what a social situation calls for is how one psychologically avoids ruining the self and maintains peak effectiveness. Most people, upon discovering their ego, cannot turn it off - and they become nothing but their ego, clinging to it, scared, incapable and weak without it. Confidence on the other hand, self-belief devoid of anxiety, that's more passive and concurrent, and ego or not, should always be part of who you are and what you're doing. Ego can be a potent manifestation of confidence, or simply it can be shoddy fabrication, a theatrical performance, backed by absolutely nothing but a desire to woo and impress.

Redditor's fiance goes with "mutual" friend to "gym" for four hours and sends bathroom snapchats at 3am.

13 upvotes · 8 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Call me an idealist. I don't hang around bitch boys so I'm not used to shit like this flying. I'd disown a friend if he didn't man the fuck up in a situation like that. Haven't got time for men too afraid to be men. They only add to society's collective problems and enable feminist bullshit with their idiocy and passivity.

Not just sexual strategy is amoral, everything is. Why? Because life has no feelings, no conscience or consciousness and gives no fucks about shit. That doesn't mean disregarding morality as a whole is a wise or even balanced thing to do.

13 upvotes · 29 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't necessarily always agree with the ethics and perspectives of other endorsed contributors or posters. I don't read GLO's posts anymore, I realised his shit was mostly theatrical a long time ago and lost interest. I am not his target audience. That's just my opinion about the intellectual content of his contributions, it doesn't mean I harbour personal ill feelings. In spite of that, I don't shit on his or any other EC's posts. We don't need to be a merry band of fools to be a fucking community. Take what serves you, discard what doesn't and all that shit. Obviously people take some kind of value from people like GLO because his threads are normally upvoted massively. If those people provide value, even if it is different from mine, and it helps people, then it belongs here.

I do not value conformity and sameness as much as I do reasoned discussion. I believe differing perspectives can co-exist within an intellectual vacuum, eg: I do not agree with you, but I understand your point, therefore I do not feel compelled to emotionally attack you. If you can show me the same courtesy, we can co-exist. If you cannot, I will be forced to plot your downfall. I'm a pretty rational Machiavellian. I often allow people the first move (to go as white in Chess, and attack me - thus tipping their hand) but rarely is such an attack an ambush; I am aware of how different personalities feel about me and other such political bullshit. People don't really surprise me.

This place is far less of a circlejerking echo chamber than our detractors would like to think. I doubt everyone likes me either. I'm pretty sure I have pissed off other ECs (like /u/trpsubmitter is pissed in this thread.) It's a good thing I couldn't give a fuck how they feel or what they think. I like to stimulate a higher level of discussion, I will step on fingers and toes to do that. The concept of "they provide value, therefore, I tolerate their existence" also works in reverse. I provide value, so they have to tolerate me even if they don't like what I say or how I approach things. If "what I say is just my opinion" and "everything is amoral" then that works in reverse. It is easy to infinitely stalemate people - thus preserving the peace and causing them to leave you alone out of exasperation. In that way, you can use people's self-interest against them. "I gain nothing from this, therefore I quit."

The great thing about respect is you don't have to like someone to respect someone, you only have to appreciate them. If you are rational, you can appreciate things you don't like as an abstraction. I appreciate many things I don't like because I have a nuanced view of utilitarianism. EG: Glo's posts are comical/ironic and obviously TRPSubmitter has a lot of experience with night game. Do I want to adopt either of their personalities or approaches to life? No. Do I think there is a certain modicum of value to what they say? Definitely. Dumb people are more black and white than I. I'm sure many people have a favourite EC based on their approach/style. Diversity is good intellectually speaking.

What would you do if you were to get gaslighted? (Devil's Daughter)

13 upvotes · 26 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Seems to be a Christmas pastime to reminisce over all the crazy fuckers one has met.

So what would you do?

Play dirty. Feign ignorance to her accusations and reveal/fabricate things about her which would ruin her reputation. Give your lies (or her legitimate weaknesses) perceived credible legitimacy by pretending they are secrets you "shouldn't really be saying" but have let slip carelessly. You will need to master your delivery for such a device to yield the dividends you seek.

When you play with pigs be prepared to stink of shit.

Monk Mode has taught me the following

13 upvotes · 17 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Watch what they do, ignore what they say. Do you see many Dutch women dating short men, or are they all high 5 ft and into the 6ft+ range? Their preferences as shown by their mating choices are more valid than anything they verbalise.

Height's not a personal problem, but Asian guys consistently lament it. If you are a tall guy like myself you're going to be completely oblivious to the amount of shit women give short guys.

Keep TRP to yourself

13 upvotes · 14 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women are really good at determining "what you're useful for" and then pigeon hole you into that role, not letting you transgress the borders that said role implies. They have "buys me shit guy," "cuddle guy," "does my homework" guy etc etc. This is the female equivalent of a harem, a legion of willing beta orbiters to validate her every need and whim, all jealous and hateful of one another. Women will keep you on the hook with their sexuality, a bit of light flirting here, a smile/bit of praise there, but they know if they fuck you they lose control over you. And if like most men, you are sexually starved, this works ridiculously well.

Women are nature's Machiavellians. They know how to play the billy beta average like an instrument. Like Pavlov's dog, they will have you slaving away for them feeding you pellets of implied sex as a reward, but never yielding and giving you what you really want. They will use you up for favours. Some men are so low self-esteem that this goes on for years and he never truly gets over the chick even when he manages to escape her control. This, this is the life of a beta. If you're "lucky" you get the occasional duty/pity sex. Men are tired of this bullshit and the culture that reinforces it, encourages it and perpetuates it. And so here we are on TRP.

Girlfriend started talking to another guy over txt, need advice!

13 upvotes · 26 October 2014 · /r/askTRP

Pretend he doesn't exist. Start working out if you don't already. Don't say "I love you" first. Ever. Start mentioning other girls to her and actually talk to other girls. Get a selfie with you and a few other girls and whack it up as your main picture on social media. Flirt, but retain plausible deniability, get some numbers but don't escalate unless you plan on cheating. Then you can say that "you're just friends" and "she's being paranoid" and that "she has male friends too so what's she so upset about."

Make her realise that you have options too and she will become more attracted to you and cut that shit out.

Alternatively, you can lay it all on the line now and tell her to cut it out or you'll leave her. And if she won't, you'll have to make good on your word. If she does, you'll have to be mindful she's not just lying to you and now doing it in secret. I opt for the method in the previous paragraph, dread game. Once a bitch realises you can be happy and functional without her and that other people like you too, it makes her re-evaluate you and assign you higher value, get jealous, and want you more.

It sounds like this other guy is higher SMV than you and she is planning to upgrade to him (branch swing) so you must be mindful and enter damage control mode. Dread game, dread game, dread game and start improving your SMV. Lift, get a cheap but decent hair cuts with your welfare cheque and all that shit. Also, do not let this girl see you are insecure/thrown off, as that only makes matters worse. I advise spending less time with her to concentrate on yourself, and when you do see her, fuck her brains out every time and mention your new female friends. It's like magic.

PS: You always have to be willing to walk away from a relationship. Your bitch is nothing special, you cannot be afraid to lose her, you have to be willing to walk away. If you're not, and she is, she has the upper hand.

Race to the Top: A Guide for Low-SMV Minorities

13 upvotes · 20 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha you think I'm PC due to a difference in opinion, that's hilarious. You couldn't be more wrong. You don't get endorsed on TRP being PC mate.

Be a full glass.

13 upvotes · 16 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This shit doesn't invalidate what OP is saying, OP is right, but so are you.

You must have, on some level, known about preselection and dread to pull that off.

Your post simply reveals what I have known for a long time now: That with knowledge of how your opponents operate, perfectly executed Machiavellianism trumps everything.

Dave Chapelle is onto something

13 upvotes · 8 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'll have them back soon. I'm also missing a few, which I hope to add.

EDIT: may message Dante asking if he has a list or a notepad so I can add the missing ones. There's no official list anywhere and the show is well in excess of 100 1 hour episodes now. There is a lot of chatter on there which makes finding the principles something of a chore and although entertaining, misses the meat of what TRP is really interested in - bitch wisdom - the beige phillip principles themselves.

Cut her off - K Camp

13 upvotes · 6 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Man that bitch prancing around the vid looks legitimately cray. Yet, so familiar. LMAO. Damn. Really encapsulated something here.

"Inferior music for inferior folks." -You're must be listening to it to if you're commenting.

Good to know some of our female defending folk out there are closet racists.

350 year-old short story "Bluebeard" was a parable for AWALTS and for Men to never give their wives the keys to their kingdom or they will take it all

13 upvotes · 22 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That's a good shit test to see if a chick respects boundaries. Guaranteed 99.9% of them will fail it.

The Art of Fishing: If you want to get good at catching fish, always ask a fisherman, never a fish.

13 upvotes · 16 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is a superb comment. I would delta point you but the bot's broken.

According to my sister's friends I am an asshole, am I doing this right?

13 upvotes · 31 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Older chicks love assholes too they just chase the provider first and then cheat on him with an asshole once bank's coming in from the other guy. Even if they're professional women, they do this shit despite the financial independence. It's like a fucking script. They all love tingles its just that younger girls have more time to fuck about before trying to get themselves a human ATM. Older women are in panic mode and can only go back to slutting once they've secured access to some poor cunt's bank account and unconditional commitment (making sure he's physically lower SMV.) Younger girls ignore the nice guy providers and just exclusively fuck assholes unless something really fucked up happens to them and they need an incessant amount of validation just to feel normal [enter Todd the eager beaver nice guy with flowers, cuddles on tap and a good validating, listening ear.]

Edit: you know what's relevant to this? "Michael's Story" on the sidebar.

According to my sister's friends I am an asshole, am I doing this right?

13 upvotes · 31 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women are counter intuitive, as a guy you gotta do what works not what they say they want. I put very little stock in a woman's words. Her actions tell you everything you need to know. "You're an asshole!" but she can't get enough of you? Better than being the guy who gives her lifts back from the club or is there on the phone hearing her bitch about her current fuck interest. Women call you an asshole when you don't do exactly what they want because they said so. Women call you an asshole for passing their shit tests. Who's the real asshole? Women shame men into compliance and get frustrated when their shaming doesn't bring a guy in line, frustrated yet often, simultaneously aroused. Funny how that works.

Giving gold in here

13 upvotes · 24 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

If all the money for posts I wrote that were gilded had gone to my pocket rather than reddit I could go down the "liquor store" (off license) right now and courtesy of TRP even with this ridiculous 20% sales tax we pay in England I could buy a litre of vodka and some mixer (Coke or Schweppes lemonade?) Instead, my insights apparently contributed to the server time of a wealthy corporation. It is what it is. I agree with OP. One of the laws of power is to "get others to do the work for you but always take credit" (I might do an article on that soon but I have so many article projects on the backlog its surreal.) - the reddit gilding system is primed to do just that - to feed off the insight of others and redirect your appreciation of someone's thoughts to benefit their bottom line.

Basically when one of us here writes some shit that inspires you to open your wallet and you go and pay reddit, reddit are claiming credit for our ingenuity. I much rather you get me my vodka or you keep your money in your pocket and just verbalise your appreciation.

EDIT: or donate to puerarchy.com, redpillschools site. That's where you'd go if this sub ever got shut, and he'd need your donations to afford a private server.

LTR Theory & Tips MEGATHREAD

13 upvotes · 18 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Definitely agree to disagree. Women are complicit yes, but I wouldn't go so far to say they're incapable of decision making (like a non-sentient object is), they're just extremely poor at it. Hyperagency is simply extracting variables until you can spin her mistake/error into being symptomatic of something you did. To actualise hyperagency you have to be perfect. Not even one mistake. That's not realistic. Men no matter how masculine will always make mistakes.

Regardless, your mission is always your #1 priority so you just cut your losses and move on.

Totally agree.

Woman catches 2y BF cheating on her, goes on a rage on him. The catch? She had cheated before, but apparently her cheating was justified and his isn't!

13 upvotes · 7 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah I wouldn't leave some chick with all my belongings, wouldn't trust her not to set it on fire. Bitches be crazy. Fuck that.

I don't hate women, I just don't respect them, and unless many changes within their gender come about, I never will.

13 upvotes · 16 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

To be honest OP, if you did hate women, you'd have plenty of logical reasons to do so. It's funny how you berate all these things which you hate that plenty of modern women do, but then conclude with "I love women." It almost seems like you're conflicted with how you feel about them. I'd say judging the somewhat confusing conclusion, you hate what women have become but are in love with the carefree side of femininity. Rightfully as you have said, some things you love about them, other things you hate, but as a whole package they cannot be trusted or respected.

Personally I think hate is nothing but destructive unless you can use it for productive means. Hating others rarely accomplishes anything, but if you can pour any hate you feel into bettering yourself you'll live a happier life for it.

Clooney verifies SMV graph

13 upvotes · 29 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Any decent lawyer worth their money is a Machiavellian on steroids.

Classic case of Beta guys wife falling for Alpha boss...and admitting it!

13 upvotes · 22 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Shit is so fucking brutal. I'm 24, I refuse to marry. Ever. Even if she's perfect. If I had the "ideal woman" and she blackmailed me into marriage with an ultimatum then I'd take the L. Fuck marriage.

Classic case of Beta guys wife falling for Alpha boss...and admitting it!

13 upvotes · 22 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Ah the lucid voice of reason, I always look for you.

Exit Strategy - Beta Radiance

13 upvotes · 19 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is a great topic, I hope it gets more attention.

Beta Radiance aka Neediness Weaponisation.

Theory: How natural alphas are made, and why ugly guys have to learn the game.

13 upvotes · 15 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

has anyone else noticed almost all female stand-up comedians' material is either about a) sex or b) being a woman?

Yep. Solipsism.

Is it our duty as men to report cheaters?

13 upvotes · 15 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

They're all out for themselves, they only care about their own skin. A woman will send an innocent man to jail if it means she can get away with being an adulterous slut.

Guy from 4chan gets laid off and replaced with incompetent woman.

13 upvotes · 14 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

No, he's making valid deductions about how women use machiavellianism to get ahead, and how manipulation can often make more money than raw talent in many companies and fields, I know this might be hard to comprehend, but just think about it. She has a role much like that of a programmer, but it's different. She's the closer, the salesman. The programmers and such are the real artistic vision, they have to make the product and are the raw bones behind the company, but they don't see the majority of the money, why is that? Because like all forms of labour, skilled or unskilled, they have no power, they are replaceable, speaking from a machiavellian viewpoint they have little leverage and are far removed from actual power, they're not fucking the boss, they're not huge assets making big sales, they're just the abused peons who make the whole system tick to begin with. Unless all the programmers protested at once, their defiance of the unfairness of the situation would have little to no social effect.

Like all women, she abuses her sexuality to have a man reason with his dick rather than his logic and in that way she can make sales for the company. All in all, it's a step above prostitution. Some guys say "all women are prostitutes", I don't like this statement as its distasteful, but to a point, it is true. Women engage in what is known as "transactive sex" that means, not having sex for the sake of orgasm like men do, but to gain something. To make money. To gain influence. To control people. For women, sex is often weaponised, and in the informal side of socioeconomics this is what women are doing in such companies, weaponising their sex to secure big contracts. Naturally, when she hits the wall her use to a company starts to evaporate quickly. This is why I always say "dont shit where you eat" and horny guys with thirsty dicks have a proclivity to ignore this wisdom. Shitting where you eat is giving a woman power to have leverage over you, to control you or end your career. This is how women operate, controlling men with sex, whether its to make sales or further their own agendas. Fuck that noise.

Some advice from my TRP grandpa on how to start a relationship out right.

13 upvotes · 6 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah, set a precedent but with actions rather than words "this is how it's gonna be"

Reg D Hunter - Womens Morality

13 upvotes · 30 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This guy is a top comedian. Have his newest DVD. Great guy. His comedy tends to be observational and mostly about race relations between whites and blacks (oh shit, you never would have guessed would you?) but he's great, very witty and has great delivery. Love this guy.

Abundance Mentality (Alpha) vs. Scarcity Mentality (Beta)

13 upvotes · 30 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Frame internally is your mental direction and emotional state within the moment.

Losing frame means allowing yourself to become overcome with someone else's transgression and becoming counterproductively emotional as a result. Losing frame can also mean to "become weak" in the moment, usually you lose frame if you're tired, you don't carry yourself well and your aura is low energy.

Frame externally is social dominance, it's your sphere of social influence. A person who is hyperactive/energetic often leads the social frame as everyone falls into their energy and goes along for the ride. The most energetic and/or aggressive people lead external frames/social groups, internal frame is all about self-control and how much effect others' behaviour has on you.

Caveat on aggression: there are limits. Being a complete cunt will not do you any favours, you have to be able to calibrate, suffice to say that your aggression must be 'stylish' for lack of a better word, if you are just abrupt and unable to take criticism this isn't a good form of aggression, it is combative and repelling. Challenge people, don't go out of your way to rip them to shreds. Aggression without malevolence.

Contrary to the status quo rhetoric and ideal, aggression is an inherently masculine trait.

If your SMV is low, EG: you're fat, poor, unpopular or whatever then forget women/socialising/doing pointless shit for a good year 6 months to a year - just be utterly selfish forget everyone else and go do your own thing.

13 upvotes · 25 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

A lot of feelgoodbulshit here.

An offhand remark with no substance. Seen you say this in the past though, you're of a cynical disposition. If you're going to discredit me like that, give good reasoning or don't bother posting.

By all means improve oneself, but nearly all of us have a SMV threshold that is capped by genetic

Most people have not even got close to their personal threshold, that's what TRP is for, actualisation.

Most guys will not "make it".

Making it is reaching the limit of your potential, not necessarily being the top 1% on Earth. Obviously not everyone can be in the top 1% of anything. Genetics are bottleneck, most people have a decent bottleneck and aren't anywhere near reaching it. Genetic arguments are a weak excuse for not bothering with anything.

or social variables beyond our control.

Risk takers violate social boundaries and get to places they don't belong with audacity. Eg: drug dealers. Learn the dark triad, fearlessness can be conditioned.

Beta husband falls for the "polyamory trap" lets other men fuck his wife. Guess what happens?

13 upvotes · 24 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Is that the voice of experience I detect? Your use of the second person tense suggests you've had a woman tell you these things from her own point of view, or, abstractly, based on a woman's behaviour you have the ability to go into her head and draw solipsistic (from her POV) conclusions from externally observed behaviours. Nevertheless, a valuable post, I think this should be explored in more depth.

This is probably something for one of the intelligent older guys to explore, my approach is far less personal as I lack the direct experience of a woman's scorn to such an extent that marriage would entail, a guy who's been divorced could add far more emotional depth than I, out of me you'll get far more objective sounding/unemotional deductions which although true, lack the insight of someone who's actually dealt with the wrath of a woman from a very serious relationship firsthand and then come to understand it from her viewpoint.

The emotion is very important in communicating the tenacity of this female behavioural trait because their scorn/indifference is what crushes so many men.

The Ultimate Truth Of Our Age: There Are No Consequences For Women

13 upvotes · 15 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

History has an ironic tendency to repeat itself, when the fuck will we learn? LOL

Stop me if you've heard this one before: Man moves across the country to please GF. She immediately leaves him

13 upvotes · 4 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

LTP - Long term plate

Singaporean girl complains about modern men. Ends up demonstrating everything wrong with modern women.

13 upvotes · 20 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's the power, they see themselves as superior to everyone without an education which is what makes them more arrogant.

An education can fill a womans head full of knowledge but it wont change her neural pathways to make her logical.

Feeding an illogical being that rationalises its way out of sticky situations lots of knowledge is a dangerous task that does more harm than good.

Stories of sadistic bitches, got any?

13 upvotes · 8 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Silver lining is she's got another man to pay for the kid so she won't be chasing you for money.

For all you know that baby could be your sperm, maybe he was firing blanks or some shit.

It seems to me that even non-sadistic women act sadistic when they're upset/fucked off. They hold grudges for a long time. A woman scorned and all that shit.

In a way you dodged a bullet, but next time a girl tells you to take the wrapper off you should see a big red flag, keep it on, flush the condom and next her hard.

I'd say this is as actually more atypical of your average unsatisfied woman than it is an indicator of sadistic personality traits. Take that as you will, says a lot for the fucked up nature of women really.

A harsh truth: The Red Pill will only get you so far

13 upvotes · 6 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Now 3rd wavers want to end "slut shaming" and "fat shaming" - so women can act like whores and drown themselves in high fructose corn syrup.

This is fucking gold. Drown yourself in high fructose corn syrup? LMAAAAO!! Funny, yet true. Ah man, thanks for that. Made me crack a huge smile.

Play On People's Need to Believe – 48 Laws of Power/Dark Triad

13 upvotes · 29 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I am actively harassed/pursued by a dark tetra bitch (triad + sadism) at university. It's an incredible string of unlikely events which results in this series of posts being even possible for me to write. Special thanks owed to the guy who introduced me to the 48 laws in the first place and the very machiavellian queen of crazy bitches who actively keeps me on guard 24/7.

Swedish feminist radical describes what kind of men she dislikes

13 upvotes · 28 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

She's a fucking idiot. The feminarchy hurts women too!

Goodness gracious feminism, honestly. Look what you've done to what could have been a perfectly loveable swedish chick, you've made her a fucking walking quarantine zone.

Married woman impregnated by alpha male, who then proceeds to dump her

13 upvotes · 24 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I see your point. It helps reinforce the nature of women to men without them having to get burned first hand. Vicarious learning. It's medicine.

Vladimir Putin is an excellent role model for masculinity.

13 upvotes · 21 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Ex KGB, one of few who remains from the cold war era.

He's a fucking boss, although of course, dark triad as fuck. Haha. Go Putin!

Long Term Inner-Game - You can't be dependent on her love and you can't share your weaknesses with her if you want to keep her, among other nuggets of wisdom (bullet pointed)

13 upvotes · 15 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I remember reading this, I could never do such a thing to a woman I purportedly care about. Heinous shit but if you've swallowed the pill, to be expected.

Something that finally clicked with me

13 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Archwinger consistently drops solid comments.

"The indirect exertion of power through manipulation is part of the traditional female role" – 'Love and Power' Psychology Today article – a more mainstream view on power dynamics within inter gender relationships of intimacy

13 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yes, I can only say this so many times..

Women invented machiavellianism, men adopted it and refined it as their own natural advantage (physical strength) became outlawed and resulted in social ostracisation.

You see women are natures machiavellians, very few men are naturally apt machiavellians - sociopaths and the related outliers aside. Men have to fucking study/read and practice hard to become good machiavellians, women tend to be born with the skillset although give a chick 48 laws of power and you're only going to help her feed her hypergamy even more.

The difference being that armed with logic a male machiavellian can out manoeuvre a female with ease. A womans complementation to her machiavellianism (source of power which aides it) is her sexuality which has an expiry date. A man's complementation is his logic which won't ever die unless he gets a neurodegenerative disease. Men however can also employ sexuality (six-pack abs) and they can also employ fearlessness. Women can employ fearlessness with more difficulty (due to their inherently emotional neural makeup) but it tends to have lesser effects than male fearlessness and conflicts with the power that comes from their sexuality by hurting her sex appeal - fearless women aren't perceived as sexy to most men, but domineering.

Logic can be weaponised and a successful male machiavellian will do so much of time, creating irrefutable assertions and thus dominating social situations to his favour by winning the "game of credibility"

To conclude: women are natural machiavellians, most women are apt manipulators, most men are not natural machiavellians and most men are suspect to female manipulation, however a man trained in machiavellianism can easily outclass a female machiavellian in the long run as he has more varied complementing sources of power at his disposal and can bend his rationality to be an asset rather than a weakness that women use against him. A trained machiavellian (most males) knows what they are doing and why, they can explain it and adjust it. A natural machiavellian (most females) are just running on a default setting and cannot explain how or why they do what they do, some aren't even aware they do some of the things they do (to get what they want) because it's just nature to them.

Women have to use up their beauty while it lasts or otherwise it's a quick jump over to the feminist movement to try and get what you want and forcibly take from men what you couldn't get by yourselves. Clocks ticking ladies.

dat realization: "im thirty three years old and i realize my options are scarce when it comes to finding a well rounded,normal man to settle down with."

13 upvotes · 11 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's like the sky being blue on a sunny day

Perception is Reality: Dating Poor Girls

13 upvotes · 9 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Dating poor girls requires high level frame, as a lot of these girls have had tough emotional experiences and are on the defensive 100% of the time, as opposed to spoiled brats who live a sheltered life.

This is straight truth. Rich bitches are way easier to mindfuck than poor girls because they're dumber/have less wisdom, adversity brings knowledge and wisdom, privilege protects and results in ignorance and weakness. Weakness because privilege fosters dependency on a certain quality of life and if that's gone, the persons shattered. That's why that mexican girl may seem like a good bet but trust me, she's probably smarter than your average american girl due to a harder life. Smarter = more of a threat, more shit tests, more bullshit.

Gotta weigh it all up.

Vasalgel getting traction in mainstream media! Do your part and support this.

13 upvotes · 9 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

the world is becoming worse because we let it get out of balance

Yeah shit gets normalised so that the system works on behalf of women. When you emancipate men from women and have the system work on behalf of women you get a self-destructive society where women don't need to trust men and thus exploit them by getting the government to oppress them... divorce laws, family law etc. Feminism makes sure their opinions are the only ones portrayed in a positive light in the mainstream media. It's a cluster fuck. Too much irrational female opinion "driving" western society today.

Respect yourself more than you respect her

13 upvotes · 21 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I speak English but I have no idea what you're trying to ask. Try again?

Do men want to be fathers anymore, or has society conditioned men to avoid fatherhood like the plague? Ask Reddit

13 upvotes · 12 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'd only want a son.

Can't be fucked to raise a girl, too much work and too little reward versus raising a boy.

Knowing one day your daughter is on the cock carousel whoring it up is not a fucking notion I'd like to ever have to contend with.

Don't want to raise any kind of kid in a society where my girlfriends/wife opinion is de facto carrying more weight than mine in the legal climate.

The west is completely anti-family by making it a matriarchy, it does nothing but alienate men.

What you say is IRRELEVANT. Who you are is EVERYTHING.

13 upvotes · 9 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Women are the fucking masters of illusion, which is why I attribute each and every last one as inherently manipulative. AWALT. Some are not so malevolent with their choice of perpetuated image, but needless to say, who you see and who they are is VASTLY different.

Women act like their shit don't stink and they're better than men, but it's all an ironic elaborate facade.

Bitches, machiavellians of varying skill levels the lot of them.

Women make terrible friends

13 upvotes · 3 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

guess it depends where u live my city is lacking.

I can find nice girls occasionally in a place like London as its so diverse, but smart or funny? Not really. The only smart chicks I seem to find are fucking cluster Bs, its annoying. Where are the smart chicks who aren't psychotically predisposed to being cunts?

I understand why women prefer "assholes" over "nice guys". But is there any type of man they would prefer over "assholes"/Dark Triad?

13 upvotes · 24 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

No. The dark Triad is the pinnacle of female emotional and sexual attraction. There is nothing that affects them more than the dark triad.

Shameless excuse to advertise my own website:

<http://illimitableman.wordpress.com/2013/11/17/understanding-the-dark-triad/>

Beta's GF wants an open relationship to fuck his best friend. Hates it, but may allow it because her "sexuality was trapped by the conventions of our monogamous relationship."

13 upvotes · 16 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If the best friend doesn't oblige then she'll just find another cock.

Yeah you're right but fucking your best friends girl/ex girl because if you don't she'll go fuck another cock is not a good reason to fuck your best friends girl/ex girl. It'll hurt his feelings, as a close friend you have to respect your boys feelings, not worth jeopardising your friendship for the ass/pussy. Pussy is so overrated, it's the anatomical equivalent of Call of Duty, completely overrated.

Friendships can last a long time if you maintain and foster them, many favours/good times can be had. How long is the pussy going to be about for? Until whenever the plate inevitably crashes. As guys we're all competitive, but you need to show respect to those close to you, sometimes I can be amoral but only to those I give no fucks for, a lot of guys on TRP try to hamster why its OK to fuck your boys girl/ex girl, that shit is never OK.

The guy failed to establish and enforce rules for that relationship, he failed to train her and he failed to keep a reasonable level of alphaness. Nothing to do at this point but end that relationship.

All true, it's dead.

Girl gets drunk and fucks guy, but can't handle her slutty behavior so looks to Reddit to justify her ONS as date rape [xpost r/redpillwomen]

13 upvotes · 9 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You can change the term-rad feminist for "female" and this sentence still holds true.

They hate responsibility, love power.

EDIT: notice these career women, they love their power/money but they deal like crap with stress and constantly bitch about their responsibilities to cathartically lower their cortisol via off-loading their stress onto whomever is listening. Stoicism simply isn't a womanly power.

I Had An Epiphany Today: Woman Are People On The Internet

13 upvotes · 6 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

"Oh look it's Miley Cyrus and her entourage everyone let the special snowflakes through... oh wait... get to the back bitches."

Red Pill Fatigue

13 upvotes · 28 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I got it pounded into my head to see the good in everyone.

So did I but life forced me to readjust my thinking, as clearly this delusional and idealistic mental model was not leading to positive outcomes.

Be a cynic, expect little, but give people the opportunity to demonstrate themselves to you. If their performance is poor, you won't be surprised and thus nothing is lost, if people pleasantly surprise me, that's a bonus but I'm not dependent on that and neither do I expect it as de facto. In this mindset, I manage to live very healthily.

Everything I want I have to work for... like a motherfucker. ME. If I don't get where I want, that's my fault, I wasn't good enough, I couldn't adapt to the perversities of my environment to see it through. One must give up mediocrity to evolve, it's difficult because mediocrity is familiar, but this familiarity lulls you into ineptitude.

This is why when people tell me my cynicism will make me unhappy if they're worth addressing (as in, I respect them enough) I'll inform them that the lack of entitlement or expectation I have actually allows me to live far more happily in life than someone who expects so much that they live in a state of near constant disappointment EG: feminist women.

Cynicism gets a bad wrap, people see it as negative, but this connotation is ill-formed, cynicism is realism/clarity, if it's negative in a specific situation then it's because the environment surrounding that situation is negative in nature, not because the mental state of cynicism is inherently negative itself - cynicism is about the absence of desire which stems from the expectations of external factors outside one's own control. If you want better self control you can't give so much power to other people by making them responsible for your happiness. People will eventually fail you as a statistical inevitability, even the best of them.

Buddhism incorporates something about a detachment of desire as unfulfilled desire is ultimately the cause of all unhappiness, I have desire like anybody, but it is aligned with a detachment of expectation, I expect only of myself on a personal level, not of others, so the fulfillment of my desires is down to me and nobody else. You can call it male hyperagency or whatever you like, I personally find this resourcefulness and mental strength to be incredibly useful.

Completely lost my frame with this girt and went all out beta. How do I recover?

13 upvotes · 25 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Do what you were doing before. Aloof/nonchalant/charismatic.

If you've actually got oneitis you need to move the fuck on or you'll find yourself on a one way trip to betahood... becoming the bitches bitch.

I'm a dick to women, I'd whack out a ouija board and tell the bitch the other night I was possessed by the ghost of a middle aged virgin and she shouldn't mess with that shit because it can scramble your personality.

WHATEVER. You can't be afraid to lose. If you lose this bitch, who cares? What's her fucking value? She's a depreciating asset, a bag of tits, some ass and a vag. Guess who else has these things? Only half the fucking planet.

Don't sweat this shit, sounds like you're getting oneitis.

Sluts vs studs: The Definitive Guide

13 upvotes · 23 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The problem nowadays is the % of whores is too high and too many women behave like whores or feel entitled to be one, like it's their right and that's OK and there's no adverse effects to it, it's shortsighted, naive and plain destructive. All the girls I've met who have a low partner count (and I believe them) have been foreign (non-western.)

Most girls will fuck any guy to get ahead. Especially in the jobs market.. I don't want to even put numbers on the amount of girls who are fucking to get a job placement, promotion, favour.. whatever. That's their trump card, sex.

But guys remember, they're not sex objects.....unless it's on their terms!

About the debatable logic of women: meet my ex

13 upvotes · 20 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If his game is tight and he's steering the relationship she'll be a good girl to him. Women treat alphas like gold because they overcome all her illogical bullshit. They abuse betas and that's where their potential for evil manifests. Any woman has the potential to be "a good girl" but there's no such thing as a good girl in and of herself, she's a reflection of the boundaries her man sets. Whether she's good or not depends on YOU. Thinking about your ex won't help you get over her, that's some unproductive thinking you're engaging in, keep busy.

Read this: <http://illimitableman.wordpress.com/48lawsofwomen/>

And this: <http://therationalmale.com/2011/11/10/good-girls-do/>

TRP for an ugly man

13 upvotes · 19 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

^ even they get laid male standards can go ridiculously low.

Doesn't drink alcohol, how does this affect TRP theory?

13 upvotes · 13 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

- You don't need alcohol to be red pill.
- Alcohol has nothing to do with the red pill.
- You're confusing logistical things, such as regardless of whether your BP or RP, where all the hos are at on weekends and in evenings if not at home - which are places where blunts are being smoked, lines are being snorted and drinks are being drank.

- You can approach women on the street, in coffee shops, at bus stops, customers at work (if you have that kind of job), on the beach or wherever. Personally I think bars and clubs are the worst places to go to get women, in many places you can't hear yourself or anyone else speak, the hos have their bitch shields up, the men have their chests puffed out and its an environment that puts all the power in the hands of women. If you do decide you're going out to a club, go with a large group whom can all banter and have a good time together, often when you're in a group women see the fun you're having and they want to be part of it, generally though, it's sucky.
- Reminder: You don't need alcohol with women, you need game. Caveat: Being a little tipsy can help take the edge off for beginners.
- Tip: Flirt with all your female friends but don't escalate it to sex with the ones where it would create a mess or otherwise fuck with your life, use that attraction as a portal to her friendship networks and bang her friends.

Friend telling girl that i had a date with that Im nice but she doesnt trust me because I am a player

13 upvotes · 9 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Endorsed shit is random. You come online one day, and it's there, staring at you in the face. Mods assign it to you. If you make enough high quality posts and get noticed, you'll get it. It means relatively little, users can be more demanding of you and debate you more because of the little badge which is annoying because all my contributions are voluntary, whereas a lot of newbies will act like they're self-entitled customers and I'm the fucking clerk as they demand some sort of explanation out of you, when truth is, I don't owe anyone shit.

Onto frame - frame is not esoteric.. frame is really your "self-certainty" women both knowingly and unknowingly test you all the time, (you'll find male friends shit test you too, but in no where near as high a quantity as women do) they mentally poke at you to see how strong you are mentally, for example, if a woman can get you to change your stance on things or "surrender" by manipulating language, insulting you, shaming you or whatever then you have a weak frame and she won't respect you/be attracted to you.

If a woman says you're a misogynist you'd say "I know but girls love it" or "We can't all be perfect" if she said you were manipulative you'd say "Give Machiavelli my number then" (if she doesn't know who he is and she probably won't) - you can neg her and say "wow girl, use Google" if she calls you a cunt you say "I do try" if she attacks you in anyway shape or form you basically never disagree, but your response is always confident it's the concept of agree and amplify, agree with the accusation, then amplify it into absurdity.

That's frame right there, no matter what the fuck she says you don't shift from yourself, you don't suddenly become scared, or anxious or uptight or angry you're just like "OK" frame is about self certainty. Notice the theme here, a sort of "disregard" for her opinions, it's referred to in TRP as "amused mastery" a strong frame means you value your own opinions over those of others. This doesn't mean be ignorant and close minded, but it means don't treat women and the shit they say seriously. When you can identify how a woman tests you, you'll find yourself becoming amused by her tests rather than "shaken up" and that's when it gets fun.

I don't buy into the whole PUA shit, deangelo, straus or w/e I've never seen/read any of that kind of stuff. I'm not a natural either, but I've learned to build and maintain frame. If you build your frame up, you essentially become "A natural" I really don't recommend routines and all that other shit, or even specific lines (unless YOU REALLY LOVE a line you heard and can own it yourself) all of that shit is counter-intuitive to TRP and building frame. Frame comes from you, is natural, and is basically egocentric, it's all about you. PUA shit is some master-teacher relationship where some guy basically tells you to copy him rather than teach you to be able to do that shit by yourself, they don't teach you to become the best version of yourself, they teach you to become a copy of a specific style they use. It's expensive and it's sad and I really think in this economic downturn it's a huge waste of cash to get anything from the PUA industry.

If you want a red pill book, and I mean red pill as fuck, it may even scare you with the amount of manipulation that's in it then get 48 Laws of Power it will help you learn how to play the games that people play with proficiency, essentially. It teaches you how to identify and how to incorporate such elements into your own way of life.

Don't plan conversations, don't plan what to say or even think what to say before hand, I used to do that - it doesn't work and you make yourself more anxious at the time (you get performance anxiety trying to remember your lines like it's your first christmas play - LOL) you go in with a strong frame, which means you won't be swayed or hurt or otherwise fucked over by her opinions, she'll respect you for that and the banter builds attraction. If you ever get stuck and your wit is failing you (and it can happen to the best of us, esp if you're rusty, etc) you can easily just say "I know", it won't allow you to build attraction but it's better than losing your frame entirely, it's quite a neutral response and sometimes I use it when someones testing the fuck out of me and I'm fatigued or otherwise mentally unavailable.

Also, silence, be comfortable with silence. If the silence lasts longer than a minute say "I'm really comfortable with silence" she'll probably get insecure and say some shit like "do you think I talk too much?" and then boom, banter again. If there's lots of silence try to hold eye contact and look at her with intent, let your body do the talking.

Reason we say a lot here to go gym is because you need to build narcissism (self-love), in the western world females are inundated with narcissism and entitlement from feminism whereas males aren't, a lot of guys don't have a strong father in their life either and thus there's many guys who just get left behind and are socially clueless, this means they don't value themselves enough and get insecure. Insecurity is the one thing that will get you cockblocking yourself for the rest of your life, that shit is like a repellant to anything with a vagina (and high value men too.)

To maintain frame you need a high enough level of narcissism to value yourself over the people around you. If the gym isn't building enough narcissism for you then you need to add activities that will. Find something you're good at and excel at it, a sport, an instrument, fuck even a competitive online game. You need to be able to derive enough ego from what you do to love yourself enough to value yourself. Something competitive that pushes you and you can gain some proficiency in, most people just go nuts at the gym and try to lift the heaviest crap without breaking their backs, but like I said, if it's not enough you can add on top of that.

When you value yourself and don't doubt yourself very much, your frame holds up to bullshit women throw at you. Again, this is why we say don't put the pussy on a pedestal, if you act like she's better than you, and she's already been taught by society she's better than you then she won't fuck you because HYPERGAMY (women always want men who are better than them, if they perceive you as inferior then they won't be attracted or date down because they're assholes like that)

Ok I'm gonna stop there for now before my fingers fall off lol.

How Liberal/Feminist University Admissions Policies Increase White Male Privilege

13 upvotes · 2 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Im using privilege in a narrow sense. Wealthy white males play the mating game on easy: that's privilege over non white males and white males who just so happen not to be wealthy, which is most of them - but they don't even get to university because there's no affirmative action policies for them and they come from poverty.

FTFY.

Don't make this a race thing when it's a class thing. Women are hypergamous they care about money. Wealthy and middle class black men are also more privileged than poor white men, it's the way of the world and the way of women. Resources. Money.

"Five Reasons To Beware Of Feminist Men" - Honesty from a female columnist

13 upvotes · 29 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I do the same, however I note the guys more often seem more thankful, a lot of hos just expect it.

MONDAY! Field reports ahoy, as we missed it last week

13 upvotes · 23 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Women get away with shit like this all the time. Alpha fucks beta bucks right here. Most women are playing the game like this. I bet the next guy hasn't got a clue.

Davos man discusses sexism in gaming in The Economist

13 upvotes · 9 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Anything guys excel at, feminists attack. The military, men only gyms and golf courses. Gaming/competitive gaming. Sports. They're a bunch of misandrist bigots. All the feminists who weren't bigoted became post-feminists because they see the ideology as pointless now. That just leaves the radicals left at the reigns, it's ugly.

U.S birth rate falls to record low

13 upvotes · 6 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah women putting off child birth to 30+ are engaging in dysgenics. It's bad for the species when it becomes a culture wide phenomenon.

It's hard watching family ruin itself

13 upvotes · 6 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Nobody needs 5 grand sterling a fortnight to survive, even with 2 kids, esp with no mortgage. Property is most of the expense nowadays, esp. in a place like London. She's taking the piss, royally.

Robin Thicke's Blurred lines parody (gender swap) Men don't give a shit, Hamster wheel spins in the comments.

13 upvotes · 3 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Must. Escape. The. West.

I got into debate with a feminist who founded a feminist alliance at my university. Faced classic slut shaming and white knight anger; I've think I've learnt my lesson, but I need to let it out.

13 upvotes · 3 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

She's pretty fucking cool. Very logical woman.

Meanwhile, over in /r/relationships, some poor guy finds out that his two-year old daughter isn't his...

13 upvotes · 22 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Paternity fraud SHOULD DEFINITELY BE ILLEGAL. It's insane this kind of fraud is not punished. I think the thing here is if it was legal it would definitely expose female infidelity, not just because we'd see how many kids don't belong to their supposed fathers, but women would be forced to face themselves - to admit to themselves they're contemptible irresponsible sluts because they have no idea who the actual fuck the father is from all the dick they've had.

Then they'd have to get every man tested just to find out who the actual father is, way more hassle than just finding a nice guy, lying, latching on and telling him it's his, which is what these no good lying hos have been doing for centuries.

Feminism's place within the Redpill mentality

13 upvotes · 17 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminists don't get alphas and lead fulfilling lives past 30-35. They get left on the shelf after divorcing a beta because nobody is willing to put up with their shit. Unequal expectations in a paradigm of supposed equality? Ok delusional bitch. That's so equal, like totally. My money's ours and your money is yours? Yeah fuckoff.

I'm starting uni soon, a bastion of feminism. I don't take anyone whos on feminism and blue pill shit seriously. I laugh, ignore, agree and amplify. Whatever. I don't care about their deal, they care about me treating their deal seriously. Which I won't. So fuck them.

Ashton Kutcher: When your a fetish object no one can hear you scream

13 upvotes · 16 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Right on. I'm waiting for someone to call this guy out as beta because he says being generous is one of the most important things. Of course these are the guys who think in literals and don't think outside the paradigm of pulling women/getting laid, as if life is only about getting laid or as if getting laid is the #1 universal priority, which it isn't unless you can't take value from anything else in your own subjective reality.

You have to get your agenda straight before you call something out as blue pill guys, calling this out here because I'm seeing it more and more, people calling shit blue pill, me understanding where they come from but disagreeing with that shit because ultimately, they don't get the guys agenda/angle, they don't understand it so they hastily conclude "it must be blue pill".

If your only goal is "get laid with women" then yeah being generous is pretty beta/blue pill.

If you want to attract high quality people into your life, friends and associates and form lifelong connections with people then you have to be generous. Other men won't see you as "bro material" when you're a selfish cunt living behind a great dark triad wall. Dark triad is great for attracting women, but if that's your end game in life you're probably not too smart, there's more to achieve than getting laid. Anyhow, I digress. Generosity goes beyond the physical providing, but mental. Being a decent person and showing love, compassion and care to those you respect. People here severely conflate handing those out at all versus handing those things out to people who have earned your admiration, which is okay - you have to have some people you can trust.

A lot of people really herald the whole sociopathic model for becoming powerful/getting success and I don't disagree with that methodology however I think if you're not an actual clinical sociopath and you're just adopting their ways to enhance your life you'll fall flat when you have enough self awareness to find yourself truly alone and detached from those in your circles. You don't need to be dark to be alpha, but someone who can stand up for themselves and not get walked on. You can love and be loved by people and be someone respectable.

If you want pussy and to be good with the ladies then be dark with them, if you want love and good people around you, being dark won't attract that, you'll attract others with those traits and people who value power/allure, not an actual intimate persona aka "loving/liking you for you" but loving you for how you manipulate them. It's like wielding a dual personality. Dark with the ladies you wanna fuck, alpha but not dark with everyone else. Pussy won't mean shit to you when your family is dead and you're all alone, you'll value companionship be it a lover or more likely, very good decent loyal friends who you can call on whenever and vice versa. That brotherhood bond. I know some niggas gonna read that and think "hey endorsed guy is saying blue pill crap" but whatever, I disagree, I'm just on a deeper level than you textbook pussy chasers.

I've said a lot of shit, I'm out for now. Peace.

In response to "101 Everyday Ways For Men To Be Allies To Women," I bring you "101 Ways To Revive Masculinity"

13 upvotes · 2 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

No morning wood = need a diet change/to workout!

Beware of the Blue Pill Tip's for being a Man

13 upvotes · 24 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

"You are so immature, be more mature"

I hate it when you don't take me seriously because you're not validating me.

"Do things for others, don't be selfish"

Give me what I need (your power), don't cut me off (especially when said by a woman)

"You are being rude"

I'm a little bitch who follows the cult of euphemistic bullshit called political correctness, you don't and I don't like that.

"Just go up to her and tell her you think shes beautiful"

Put the pussy on a pedestal

"You got to make more of an effort with e.g. family, these people, etc,"

Family/friend politics.

"You are getting bigger, but its not thin,"

Retarded drivell.

"You should be more cultured and watch films starring Channing tatum and co"

Appeals to social class.

"You like to be single? When you going to settle down?"

Lots of bitches will be hitting the wall and need their beta provider, start providing.

"No wonder you don't keep women around long, you are an ass!";

Being an ass is why they're interested in the first place, I make them moist.

"I think maybe we should meet up, and talk, are you happy? Is everything ok in your life"

Something a girl says when she wants to reframe your relationship with her to her terms. "Let's talk" means "I'll tell you WTF is up and you need to accept the frame I set for this to work"

How Last Relationship Red Pilled me

13 upvotes · 29 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I second this.

I'm Afraid I Might Be More Bitter Towards Women Than I Thought...

13 upvotes · 27 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Wanting family is a natural thing, I'd love to have sons and be a provider idealistically but most women aren't worth it and just throw "mindrape" at you all the time. They know no loyalty, they play mind games, are not forthright, lie/omit truth and the first sign of trouble you get in with a LTR they begin to flake on you and lose attraction, they're completely unreliable and the burden is always on you. As a man I don't mind having to take more burden as I see it as part and parcel the responsibility of being the more rational human, but I don't trust people I can't lean on who won't support me when for whatever reason I become vulnerable (when times are tough.) If I can't be vulnerable with you, I can't trust you.

Natural alphas I know who aren't on this TRP shit say to me I need to find an intelligent woman and believe it's just the dumb ones who do this shit, the thing is, I know that's wrong, my oneitis was a highly intelligent woman (academics and street smarts) and she was no fucking different with her psychology. Women are women and in a feminist culture they are unworthy of commitment. If I ever commit it'll be in a non-feminist society, I simply cannot trust western women because they think it's cool to take on masculine behaviours. I know what I like in a woman, and it's not masculine behaviours (promiscuity, a good career, confidence abundance etc) In fact, all those things in a woman just come off as bitchy and masculine to me.

Helen Smith: 8 Reasons Straight Men Don't Want To Get Married

13 upvotes · 20 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

They are shooting themselves in the foot but they're all too high on "feeling liberated" to give a shit.

Interesting reading: A trans woman talks about losing "male privilege" and GAINING "female privilege"

13 upvotes · 20 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Basically male privilege as defined by the tranny is that nobody really gives a shit about what you look like and thus there's no real societal pressure to look good.

Female privileges he listed were:

- You can socialise with people without them being wary of you.
- People help you more eg: lifting bags.
- You are allowed to express emotions, you don't have to repress/be stoic.
- Women are more trusting of you.

But apparently none of those female privileges are really privileges. Feminist fuckwit is deluded. I'm going to enjoy my raging testosterone levels and sense of masculinity I have as a man (and I encourage you all to) instead of effectively becoming a woman like this man because he couldn't find a sense of self fucking acceptance. This my friends, is what a self-hating man does to himself when it goes too far. Shame the fucking red pill couldn't have got there first. In other news, apparently female babies are more popular than male babies among adopting couples in the states now. Says enough, feminazism has gotten out of hand. Feel sorry for this man, I guess on the bright side, at least he's found a way to be happy - pretending he's a woman.

A great way to deal with the "BF" Mention

13 upvotes · 18 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You sowed seeds of doubt in her mind by framing his commitment to her as negative and weak, effectively you're poisoning this girl and she's dumb enough to be inculcated by it.

[science] The Decline- Fatherhood & The Male Identity Crisis

13 upvotes · 14 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Well no shit. You give boys no man to teach them to be male and their whole life fucking sucks as they have no idea how to "fit in". Meanwhile, their female companions have their mothers and are taught exactly how to "fit in". Finally, the kick to the balls, the girls have no sense of responsibility and have society to support them when the boys despite their position of disadvantage are told that they need to support girls and have far more demanded and expected from them, with far less leniency.

Girls get it easy, lots of support and less expectation beyond being pretty, boys are run ragged in all aspects and are barely supported by anyone, they're meant to fire out of the womb as fucking superheroes. Girls get away with murder, boys are punished. This society is fucked up beyond measure as a result and for that alone - I'm surprised it still functions.

Male Virgin: Pathetic <-> Female Virgin: Desired

13 upvotes · 14 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Vouch for this personally. When I lost my virginity I told the girl I'd already slept with 3 girls. Did the trick.

Guy suffers domestic abuse at the hands of his wife, is wrongly arrested but flips the script when he makes bail.

13 upvotes · 14 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

^ This is complete gold.

When girls go into a whining spree

13 upvotes · 6 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Summing up professor:

- Tease them by gently mocking them if the chick whining is hot
- Ignore the fuck out of them if the chick whining is ugly

I worked with an ugly chick (both physically and mentally) before and if I ignored her she would persist until she got a response and not give in until I reacted, saying my name intermittently in a stressed voice and just staring at me so I could feel her eyes. If you come across a chick like that I suggest just telling her straight you're not gonna put up with her shit, EG: "I don't care about your issues(so shut up)" or "stop whining and I'll stop ignoring you", some places you can get away with telling a chick to shut up, other places you can't and it'll be some feminazi HR session coming around when she complains, use your discretion.

Equality is making women miserable

13 upvotes · 6 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The second strawman is that feminism is not synonymous with civil rights. Feminism is not the same thing as "women's civil rights" if it were just about that the ideology would not exist as men do not have any rights women do not, but due to feminism women do have rights that men do not. Feminism impeaches on male rights and robs men of masculinity by building a society that does not facilitate their growth, it promotes the feminine at the expense of the masculine via media and the support of single motherhood which leads to boys growing up without a male role model in the house to teach them masculinity, thus they learn femininity from the mother, or the mothers feminised view of masculinity.

Feminism upsets the balance between the sexes and harms gender relations. Feminism destabilises the family unit by making marriage an unfair deal for men and incentivising divorce to women, essentially transforming marriage into a machine of empowerment for women and a machine of oppression for men. Feminism contributes a net negative impact to society because it demands more and more restraints on masculinity whilst letting femininity run free, the results of rampant femininity without sufficient masculinity to counterbalance it is the society you see in front of you today, increased suicide, crime, rudeness - a moral and social breakdown versus the society we used to have pre-feminism.

Women don't want an emotional man...

13 upvotes · 29 May 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah life isn't fair, there are disparities between the genders and even feminism can't stop the slut shaming because it's hard wired that females being promiscuous is bad for the species.

- Women get to be emotional and not lose respect.
- Men get to be promiscuous and not lose respect.

People believing in fairness have not fully swallowed the red pill. Sexual relationships are not inherently equal, you're whipping or being whipped and within that paradigm, essentially, most responsibility falls on the man, to be responsible is masculine, women do not take responsibility for their actions which is why women who have attained any kind of power in any form via feminism make TERRIBLE fucking leaders. Look how fucked up Argentina is with that Cristina chick who ironically, hypergamously fucked her way in to the presidential palace (she was married to the old president) it says enough really. Anyhow, I've digressed.

The Monetization of the Manosphere

12 upvotes · 27 November 2018 · /r/TheRedPill

I wholeheartedly concur.

Where the quality bitches at?

12 upvotes · 20 March 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

Ah, the old AWALT debate, a debate as old as time itself.

This should clear things up: <http://illimitablemen.com/2015/12/16/the-awalt-misconception/>

Master Monk Mode With Modafinil

12 upvotes · 26 May 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

These drugs are crazy addictive and dangerous (FDA).

The fda file you link says:

PROVIGIL is a federally controlled substance (C-IV) because it can be abused or lead to dependence

However, this is them just covering their asses from being sued, addiction potential is quite low. If it had high addiction potential, it wouldn't be schedule IV, it'd be schedule III or higher. The fact it has low abuse potential is reflected by it's scheduling, as shown here:

Because of the relatively low risk of addiction, modafinil can be more easily prescribed in patients without a clear, biochemically defined central hypersomnia syndrome, and is also easier to stop, if needed. It is also a schedule IV compound.

<https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC3480574/>

As for the lack of negative comments, perhaps, but this thread's sitting pretty on 0 votes.

I appreciate the criticism.

Tips for getting the most out of your time and avoiding bullshit.

12 upvotes · 28 April 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

I get where you're coming from, but when being low IQ makes you statistically more likely to end up in prison, die earlier and earn less money... yeah, not such a great deal.

Believing in male supremacy will make you more attractive to women.

12 upvotes · 20 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Glad you called out the post, it really goes to show how important the role of senior members is in unplugging the men who come here.

Honestly there's not enough time in the world to hand hold everybody who walks in here; even if I tried, I'd fail and have no life of my own, regardless I do what I can where I can.

The natural propensity of the modern man is to deviate towards egalitarianism rather than gender realism.

TRP Saved me, Whats next?

12 upvotes · 2 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Food for thought: some people use religion as a disguise to distort their true nature, refer to number 55 of the Machiavellian maxims.

IM's Machiavellian Maxims

12 upvotes · 27 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

There's more than one way to skin a cat.

Likewise, it depends on context.

If you suspect your shortness will be used against you, self-deprecate "I'm that that annoying short guy insecure about his height" (you don't actually have to be insecure about it but appealing to people's negativity bias endears them to you - Milo Yiannopolis and Russell Brand do this all the time)

So if you are in a conflict, yes, it's worth pointing out your weaknesses first. Absent conflict there is no point and people will wonder why you're mentioning it. Me? Short? I never noticed it.

Like I said, there's more than one way to skin a cat, try each strategy for yourself and use what you find works best. Personally, to be less predictable, I'd use both stratagems with no pattern.

Even self-proclaimed feminists admit they love assholes. Solution? Learn to be the asshole women love

12 upvotes · 13 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

More specifically that's af/bb, a quirky yet omnipresent optimisation of hypergamy.

A Message to Men's Rights from Red Pill

12 upvotes · 19 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It's the Beta's who are the meal ticket, and who women truly cannot live without.

This doubly so in an era where gainful employment becomes harder and harder to come by unless you have some very obscure and niche high-end speciality. 1970-2000 was probably the best time to get a lower middle class wage with a soft degree. As unskilled/low skilled labour becomes less and less in demand due to outsourcing and technological advances, the betas that manage to stay in the middle class are going to command more power in society. What's the alternative for your typical college girl with a nonsense degree? She's lucky to beat the other 500 applicants for $10 an hour as a barista at Starbucks with her 2:1 in Psychology.

Attaching herself to a high IQ guy who managed to break into a corporation and takes home even a humble lower middle class income is going to make sense. To some people $40k is nothing, but to many, it's more than they can ever hope to earn in a year. $40k in reality isn't much, but the poor are getting poorer and the middle is shrinking. As a function of economics, this will affect the SMP in favour of beta bucks.

Is this the new norm now? Letting strangers finger you on the plane? Times have changed...

12 upvotes · 8 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

To the blue pill masses it's incredibly new. They were raised their whole lives to see women as nothing but noble. They find that hyper-extroverted make-upped laden face and high pitch voice to be the very embodiment of the heavens itself.

Basically a lot of people think women's shit don't stink. Naturally, we know better - it stinks the most.

Promiscuity & Civilization

12 upvotes · 26 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Can another social order keeping mechanism as effective as religion be made? It is clear that manipulation en masse is to some degree paramount.

I've been asked this before. It's a good question. Unfortunately I don't know the answer. I speculate that a philosophical system is perhaps in order, but believe that among the less intelligent such philosophy would devolve into religion. Indeed, for a philosophy to be treated as a philosophy it requires self-awareness and conscious critique. Without this, it becomes dogma. The reason religion works is because it requires little thought, only obedience and inculcation. Another flaw with a universal philosophy would be in how it is interpreted, but then I suppose religion falls victim to that same flaw.

But yet I can't keep but get the feeling that as civilization grows and we cross several boundaries of thought and intellectual precociousness that chaos is an inevitable state; a transcendence will be eventually be necessary.

I share your sentiment.

Joint account joke

12 upvotes · 18 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

And so the mind games begin.

when I asked how much it was she said "don't worry about it we're going to have a joint account soon anyway".

For me it felt like it was something that she was trying to push onto me to get the upper hand. (I earn significantly more than her)

Despise the free lunch.

I mentioned that to her and she said that she said it in a joking way and now I've upset her.

She's playing the victim. She's noticed your suspicion of her intent, so, like a typical woman in an argument, she's trying to deflect/shift focus on to how you've upset her and need to be more sensitive blah blah blah. She's weaponising her weakness (comes innately to women.) If you buy into that narrative, guess what the next move is? "I felt like you didn't trust me, if you did, you wouldn't mind sharing accounts" and then the next "if you trusted me, we'd have a joint account, but if you don't trust me, I'm not sure where this is going." Or something to that effect.

Total fucking manipulative bullshit - standard girl flavour. A lot of chumps fall for this shit too. What a shitty, underhanded, insidious way to try and get at a guy's money. Fucking incredible. You don't even have to be surprised to be amazed.

She's trying to score brownie points, guarantee in future when shit hits the fan she'll go "I got your dry cleaning and this is how you treat me!" The thing is, she has the plausible deniability of saying it's an offhand comment and that she just wanted to treat you. We can only chime in based on what you've told us. But you were actually there. Follow your instincts. What are they telling you? Is this some sleek power game or is it harmless? Jokes tend to be based on truths/half truths, and women aren't funny.

On the Bitterness of single women

12 upvotes · 21 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Man, that woman sure is a detestable cunt isn't she? Seen this before. She doesn't grow on you, let's put it that way.

If there was ever a case for Euthanasia, here it is.

Post asks women how their SO reacted to their 'high' sexual partner count. The responses are priceless.

12 upvotes · 19 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Women will whore and then play noble. If challenged they will misdirect/attack or do anything not to be caught out as anything less than a paragon of virtue. Women always have to have the moral high-ground, it is a fundamental part of how they attack others and defend themselves - manipulating perception/reputation. We know whoring dirties a woman psychologically, they know this too, so instead of not whoring, they just hide their number. If they don't hide it, they will control the narrative and redefine the meaning of the number. Most simply accept it lowers their SMV so hide it/attack/misdirect. It's more efficient than trying to convince someone an inherently negative value lowering thing is a good thing.

If you really want to know a woman's number, pretend you're not judgemental and that you've slept with hundreds of women yourself. The truth will out.

There are guys out there with a multiple thousand notch count bedding all these women, whilst the average guy is less than 10. Think about that for a minute.

My cousin's wife came onto me. My cousin is 12 years older than I am, and is doing better on all metrics in life than I am. Catch? We're from a third world country, and I'm the first one from my family to go abroad (US/Europe) for further education.

12 upvotes · 16 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I am 100% behind your advice. However, reading between the lines, it seems like OP is weak, damaged, and will continue to drink from the poisoned well because "at least I'm quenching my thirst, even if the water does have cholera!"

He didn't come here to fix himself, he came here to make himself feel better by telling strangers his problems. He isn't going to change shit. He is going to continue fucking up because even though he knows he's fucking up, he's enjoying it. OP will design his own epitaph if it feels good. So whatever. Some people are hopeless and can't be helped until they fucking destroy themselves. OP is one of those people.

The Nature of Women - Alternative Title: "Understanding Hamstering"

12 upvotes · 2 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Honestly, this is the main reason why I'd argue women have no place in politics or even voting.

You can't trust women and you can't trust politicians, but you really can't trust female politicians. It's laughable Hillary is even a presidential candidate.

Final Warning: Keep Your Damn Morals To Yourself

12 upvotes · 21 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Appreciate you stickying the link to my newest article it will help the topic get seen more. Some good book recommendations at the end I urge you all to check out. Thanks!

How To Talk To Everyone You See.

12 upvotes · 13 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Luckily you subtly hint at it with your name. Apt.

Men, even TRP men, love women very much.

12 upvotes · 12 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Maybe its a thing with younger girls who still have this fairytale idea of romance in their head.

Women's maturity is incredibly limited. (read here: <http://c.feministvictims.com/9>)

Women love you as much as they perceive you to be powerful, any appreciation for your depth or quirk of personality comes after that, and even then, that's not love, that's liking something you do, that's infatuation. If a woman does like your quirks, it's built on the foundation that you are powerful. If you lost your power, she wouldn't still love how you scratch the side of your head, or whatever. That was only a cute mannerism when you were powerful to her. Now you seem powerless, or less powerful than her, it's not cute, it's weird. Female perception changes very quickly based upon your power as a man.

This is the limitation of women's love, they lust for you from a position of inferiority. Women fawn, they don't love like we do. Their love is inferior to ours, that doesn't mean we can't enjoy their love, just be aware of it's extreme conditionality. They don't love downward, they love upward. The minute they feel superior to you, because you are weak, the pussy dries up, the lust dies, and they either "love you like a brother" and friend zone you or they don't give a shit at all anymore because your weakness repulses them. No point hating women for being like this, it's just how they're built. Men, on the other hand, are built to innately pedestalise women and will love them in spite of their flaws.

At the end of the day, women only love men they perceive to be superior and their love is entirely predicated on the hypergamy of lust. No women out there loves a man she perceives to be inferior to her, whether he objectively is, or isn't. I guess in that sense, it is possible for a woman to love a man inferior to her, but she has to at least believe in her own mind that he is superior for this loophole to be successful. Simple briffaults law and hypergamy at work there. Put that out there in case any of you thinks "I know an amazing women who is in love with a total slob." No matter what you see, in her head, she thinks he is better than her, that's why she sticks with him. It's the same with women who stay with guys who beat them and make excuses for the guy.

Also see this: <http://illimitablemen.com/2015/06/01/the-hierarchy-of-love/>

Chad Thundercock succeeds at online dating.

12 upvotes · 9 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Women never stop dissimulating. All the time. Almost non-stop. It is instinct as much as it is irrational with them. Assuming the opposite of whatever she says to be true is generally a good rule of thumb.

Why Do People Have Children?

12 upvotes · 6 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yet many families have a son and then have a daughter and pay the second child fine. From that we can deduce that social security isn't the only reason they chose to have children.

The point is that more is expected from a son than a daughter. It's pretty rudimentary in TRP that men have to be more objectively valuable to be valued as much as a woman who simply exists. Women, stay thin and don't binge eat! Men, you need to hit the gym for a year. You get my drift.

Eggs more valuable than sperm. Wombs are the bottleneck on reproduction. And as men also have a higher libido than women, pussy is more valuable than cock.

Anyway, I feel I'm missing the point slightly so I'll add this: parents expect their sons to be more successful than their daughters, girls just have to marry well and not be sluts (and if they fail at this, as many do, they are rarely ostracised anyway.) Sons have gotta earn big bucks, look after everyone and blah blah.

This notion of maturing annoys me, there is no objective metric for "mature"

This is plain retarded. Maturity is observed physically from height/muscle growth. Mentally it is observed through the acquisition of wisdom, thoughtfulness and diligent behaviour. If you say maturity is stupid or simply doesn't exist because you have no objective metric for it, you may as well say the same about most other things which are cognitive, and thus, unseeable. I'm sure some clever scientist out there is able to see the difference between a mature and immature person's brain structure in an MRI if they really tried. There's the "objective metric" for you. A lack of such a thing is not proof that it doesn't exist anyway. I'm pretty sure most societies across the world fundamentally agree that maturity exists as a mental construct.

A mature person is someone with profound insight and who is not afraid to take responsibility for their own actions. An immature person says things like "the notion of maturity annoys me." A mature person would feel no need to be annoyed or offended by the concept of maturity.

Yes, feminists bastardise the concept of maturity to call every man a boy, whereas all women are women regardless of how bottom of the bucket they are, but that's a separate issue. That's about how standards of masculinity are higher than standards of femininity (thanks feminism,) and how women use shaming language to manipulate man's behaviour. It doesn't mean maturity doesn't exist, but the concept is abused by women. A LOT. AND THAT is what is annoying. Not so much having to grow up and realise life isn't just one big party.

Also, just because you are mature, it doesn't mean you need to be serious all the time, be a prude, and have no fun. It means when shit hits the fan, you can handle it. If you want to "GET SO STEWPID DUMB BRAH LOL CHUCK ME A JAGER IMMA TWERK" then you can do that shit on the weekend. Nobody is stopping you.

The immature person is the person who is only about fun, is a dumb fuck AND HAS NOTHING ELSE ABOUT THEM. So that's most women, and many guys.

I believe that happens mostly in the lower class, not the middle or upper ones. And those are the people that usually have the most children despite not having time or money for them.

Tell that to all the neglected rich kids whose parents left them with the nanny. This isn't an issue of class, it's an issue of narcissism. If you're raised by narcissists, you will never feel loved. They are in every class. It's not a "poor people are shitty people" kind of thing. Not all poor people are hoodrats or trailer trash, just like not all rich people are corporate psychopaths.

Chapter 17: In which PPD wets the bed, then triumphantly declares itself a sailor.

12 upvotes · 25 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Any time you detect a hidden agenda, stop debating and starting mocking. Because debate only happens between honest men.

Right you are.

I feel like I should leave these here now as both are relevant to the root of principle of what you're getting at. Know when you can be logical and fair, and know when the debate is not really one at all, but is a pretence for attack, point scoring, and reputation destruction. It's a matter of civilized debate vs. Machiavellian warfare. Most of the time with most people, especially the irrational, you find yourself engaging in the latter.

<http://illimitablemen.com/2015/02/08/machiavellian-thinking-vs-conventional-logic/>

<http://illimitablemen.com/2014/03/09/how-women-argue/>

If you are a guy, whether you accept it or not you are in an "open relationship."

12 upvotes · 23 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

"Don't make a ho a housewife" in graph format. Nice. Haha.

Warning: Prepare for Subreddit Shutdown

12 upvotes · 8 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

/r/TheRedPill/comments/2rb3nh/now_availablethe_red_pill_handbook_2nd_edition_a/

The first experience of girls competing for attention

12 upvotes · 29 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Definitely territorial marking, so if you fuck other girls they know that you're taken. Quite clever if you think about it.

Settling down vs the Hoe Phase - Amber Rose claims women should be going through their hoe phase in their 30's.

12 upvotes · 25 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Eh, women + self-reports = flawed data.

I'm not sure how much I can trust academia on anything sex-related, it seems far too politicised to favour a pro-feminist female-positive ideological narrative. I'm not disagreeing, but I'm not agreeing either. I'll keep my stance open on this one.

fucking married women

12 upvotes · 24 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The first time I kissed her, she put an innocent teary-eyed girl act, saying she shouldn't be kissing me since she's got a boyfriend. I ignored, and kept plowing. Within seconds, boy, did she pounce on me like a slobbering dog! There were times when her boyfriend would call her up while she's in my arms, and she'd shamelessly tell him she loves him and call him back later. That was quite an eye-opener to me as how vile and conniving women can be.

I've seen that. I've been "the other guy," but not with a married woman. Anyhow, yes, once I saw how effortlessly these chicks lie and effectively manage a double life there's a certain part of me that's just become utterly incapable of trusting women in a way I once did. Some would be quick to say "it's just that girl!, you can't judge all women on the actions of one!" and blah blah, however it's not just that girl is it? It is a great many girl. I think and feel it's something they're all capable of given sufficient motivation.

There are too many men out there who can corroborate my accounts to reasonably assume she was an anomaly and not representative of the general nature of women. No, it's far more prudent to assume she's representative and that anomalies are just that, anomalies, and most women who think they're "not like that" are exactly like that but simply cannot see as such, or refuse to admit as such. Unlike most people in society, I'm trying to see women for what they are, not what people want them to be, and thus unduly idealise them as. I don't want women to be duplicitous, but that's like saying I don't want the sun to blow up in a few billion years - it's outside of my control.

The funniest part is even though she was effortlessly manipulating her boyfriend SHE WAS TELLING ME SHE COULDN'T KEEP DOING IT and that I had to girlfriend her up. She started saying she felt guilty and blah blah. It was total bullshit, she just wanted to branch swing to me, I could see she had no problem managing her beta boyfriend AT ALL, she was just trying to spin me a line to lock me down "commit or I'll have to stop spinning" essentially. Eh, women.

Now I absolutely feel no guilt in fucking another guy's woman as long as it's not one of my close buddies' girl.

The silver lining presents itself. Some guys will do this, by the way. Most guys won't show self-restraint if the guy isn't his buddy, but some guys will fuck their bro's girl so they feel powerful over their "friend," as if they have a nice dirty secret they can hold over them to control them "she's no good for you bro, even I fucked her!" All this fucked up shit is about power and ego. Guess I'm talking more about DT guys here though, don't believe most guys would fuck their bro's girl unless they were half cognisant and pumped up on drugs/drink.

Found a website of women admitting that TRP is true, and it's in their nature and they can't help it.

12 upvotes · 20 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

You're missing the point, psychopaths are closer to women in manner of mind than the rest of men (they are highly Machiavellian and narcissistic like most modern women) - this doesn't mean they want to hang out with old ladies (unless he can mess with her and get at her husband's money or something.) Psychopathic narcissism means you can use game you'd normally reserve for a woman on a psychopath and get great results, whereas if you tried that with most guys they would just think "there's something odd about this guy, I want nothing to do with him" if you were to start talking to him in the way you would a woman you want to fuck. No, strangely enough, psychopaths react better to and prefer the company of narcissists, they respect them more. Try not to wilfully misinterpret that as them respecting women more, because that's not what I'm saying.

There's a reason psychopaths struggle to have long-lasting friendships, when they're not head-fucking someone into being their pawn, people, especially entire families/pre-established groups can sniff out their dysfunction "there's something odd about that guy, he's not welcome around here." Most psychopaths are obvious as fuck that they're psychopaths. This brings me back to the point about how fucked up and anti-civilization women's attraction is. Men would want to be immoral mind-controlling head-fuckers if it meant they could get at a woman's "true love" eg: enthusiastic female obsession, fear of him, total deference/submission etc.

It will piss off the ego of the psychopath, but as someone who has spent a lot of time analysing and deducing such things throughout the course of my life it is my most definite contention there are many parallels between psychopaths and modern day women.

Seduction is Sales

12 upvotes · 14 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Relevant to OP: /r/TheRedPill/comments/319ouk/want_to_jam_the_pill_down_your_throat_get_a_job/cq04504

"The hypothetical woman with an IQ as high as mine is out of luck. She can either marry down, which women hate to do, or compete for a small pool of men that has been reduced by one."

12 upvotes · 7 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

below causes several problems, e.g. a lack of self-control, not understanding that men won't be around her once she hits her late twenties, not understanding that actions have consequences, etc., i.e. generally lacking the ability to think long-term.

These dumb bitches are what I call "monkey women." Great for a fuck, terrible conversation. Impossible to love because she's too far gone upstairs.

Said No Thanks to the Starfish last night

12 upvotes · 29 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Can a dude be gaslit? A smart man doesn't believe what a woman says anyway.

Anyone can become subject to it, it's a matter of susceptibility. If you're tired and you live with someone like that, they're going to catch you off-guard a lot. Vigilance is key, most men lack it when it comes to women.

red pill conversation at a job interview

12 upvotes · 29 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Tells me she's used to being treated like shit by men she respects - and she respects you - which is why she's telling you her problems. Funnily enough, the beta boyfriend she has probably treats her like gold, but because she doesn't respect him, it doesn't count. Women only value your kindness when they respect you, otherwise you're a pathetic chump to them. To be clear: sounds like she respects you at the moment, but don't let her close/use you. Keep a HEALTHY distance.

"Is Britain becoming hostile to blokes"? Food for thought

12 upvotes · 16 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

They will deflect, shame and emotionally attack anyone who challenges their bigoted beliefs with pure horseshit and clap for each other no matter what.

A most accurate evaluation. Rhetoric gets more applause than actual cogent logical thought. Anyone who sounds indignant, morally virtuous and good with words basically hogs the applause even if their actual argument is a load of horse shit. Women tend to be jumped up on their emotions, so more often than not they excel in this sort of audience pandering rhetoric espousal.

On marriage and family

12 upvotes · 12 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Good luck with your marriage when you're divorced and your wife doesn't let you see little Michael. Haven't thought that far ahead, eh? There's a reason some men end up in cars running a hose from the exhaust into the car with all the windows up, and it's because they go all-in with family-building only to have the woman decide you're not going to be part of the family anymore. Her boss, he's better looking than you, makes more and makes her feel a way you used to. You're boring, you listen to all her problems, because you're hubby. He teases her, he ignores her, he's above her in the company. He's better than her, you're not. He's better than you (in her eyes.)

You're a man building a nest in a tree on the edge of a cliff. I understand your sentiment, I do, truly, but really, your whole "people who disagree with me are just immature" sentiment is juvenile in and of itself. Plenty of older guys would love to get married, but they're not willing to risk everything they've worked for on doing it. Give men rights in family court, protect them from frivorce, and men will start marrying again.

Kill your ego

12 upvotes · 12 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Ego is a filter. That's quite perceptive, most people don't realise this. You must meditate. Meditation is very therapeutic, even if the lotus position does make one of my legs numb.

Solvemygirlproblems.com site shut down

12 upvotes · 6 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

We need some paragraphs up in this motherfucker.

[PSA] Self-Pity Race/Age Whine-Posts = Banhammer

12 upvotes · 21 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

As each trend of noise grows (tone-policing, bro-knighting,

I get accused of bro knighting by some of the members/ECs because I say shit like "don't fuck your best friends girl, the pussy isn't more valuable than your friendship" their response: "sexual strategy is amoral, if his girl wants to fuck you, it's fine. Nobody is forcing her. It's her choice. You can't control her sexuality!!!!" Hamst. Hamst. Hamst.

Different set of moral values. Doesn't make me a bro-knighting faggot, it makes them untrustworthy cunts you don't want around your girl. These fucks try to shame me with their bullshit hamstering. Not a guy worth a shit alive wants anything to do with you if he can't ascertain your loyalty, rely on you when push comes to shove to have his back and effectively put his trust in you. That of course includes leaving you with his girl, and you keeping your dick in your pants. It's a matter of principle and respect to your friend. You don't shit on people you respect. There's nothing fucking blue pill about that. Some of the guys here are so obsessed with getting laid they haven't learned how to form meaningful friendships with other men and then retardedly copy and paste the "sexual strategy is amoral" excerpt from the sidebar as if that's a fucking valid or cogent argument. Which it isn't. Don't fuck your friend(s) girl(s) if you want to keep your friends. Guys who do that shit are snakes and don't give a fuck about you. /rant

Signs of the Decline: Japanese Herbivores Revolt

12 upvotes · 13 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

No, I didn't come out of anywhere on Reddit. I wasn't a Reddit user before the Redpill and I don't really post to any other subreddits.

Same here.

It's basically saying, "I give up. I will never be successful. I'll go masturbate and watch videos online" MGTOW typically implies a lot more than just lack of success with women - it implies a total defeatist mentality. In rare cases, maybe you're a 55 year old divorcee whose ex-wife has taken all your money and you just want to relax in the years you've got left and give up on women - I don't agree with that perspective, but I understand it.

Or they just don't trust women, earn shit loads of money and go fuck third world hookers on their own terms and dime. Patrice O'Neal was a slayer and even that motherfucker was tired of bitches and their shit. Nigga was flying out to Brazil to fuck third world hookers because they were more pleasant than normal bitches back stateside.

Western women just aren't likeable. As much as PUA types like to say the man is the problem, even when you sort yourself out, if you still find yourself not enjoying female company, that speaks volumes. Bitches be cumbersome.

I see MGTOWs as non-committed bachelors who don't enjoy the social dance and bullshit of plate-spinning (shit tests, manipulation, AMOGGING and all that other crap) that some people get off on and so instead opt for an easier way to get laid. They seem to be exasperated by women and their bullshit. The hyper-narcissism, the 6's acting like 9's, the masculine, rude, unpleasant disposition that the common woman shows. I think they've given up on trying to form actual human connections with women and written them off as unlikeable. I think they just see 'em as holes to be fucked to satiate urges and rather pay to fulfil that biological need rather than go through woman's bullshit to make it happen.

The state of bitches today has got to be pretty bad IF A WHOLE SECT OF MEN IN SOCIETY FEEL DEALING WITH THEM IS JUST NOT WORTH THE HASSLE.

But most of the men on here are younger than 30 - hell I'd guess the average age here is lower than 25.

They just need to raise SMV to be visible to women and get laid later. To me TRP isn't about primarily getting laid, it's about finding your masculinity, refining it, and exuding it. Seduction is a part of that, but dealing with women and seducing them is only one masculine skill. I think some guys see TRP as a tool to get laid. I see it as a way to become masculine primarily, and a way to get bitches as a secondary function. I doubt most guys on this board are getting laid. If they were, they wouldn't need help raising their SMV and understanding women. Sure maybe some guy lucks out in the club or bangs a tinder hoe because "he held frame" "acted aloof" "put a pic up with him and a chick that showed preselection" and bla bla, but most guys aren't swimming in poon unless they've already made it in life. SMV > hypergamy. Game only raises one's SMV so far.

And as for age, yeah I think the average age dropped like fuck with all the new influxes. We never used to get posts back in the day saying "I'm 20" "I'm 18" "I'm starting college" "I'm in my senior year at high school" now I see them come up fairly often. These fucking kids don't just need to know how to get laid though. They want to know how to be men. They want guidance from older men. They want the fucking fathers they never had.

Going "MGTOW" at their age is absolutely batshit insane. It's giving up without even trying. Women aren't hard, getting successful with them isn't very difficult if you put the effort into it, and unless a guy is a full-on Tesla, he probably won't reach peak happiness without fucking them.

I agree. I think money has a lot to do with it though. If you're a middle class american with middle class net worth, game is all you need unless you're fat and need to lose weight. If you are from the gutter though, you have to work on your finance. You can't fund a social life on nothing. Socialising is expensive. In fact, most of the working class can't afford it. In the UK most of the working class don't socialise because they can't afford it. They sit at home and watch shit on TV. They can't afford money on travel, drinks, drugs and blah blah. If you have no money and all you do is approach bitches for "day game practice" that's time wasted chasing pussy (which won't stay around when she figures out you're dirt poor, unless you're DT or VERY GOOD LOOKING) which should have gone on improving your lot in life/making money/reading books etc. Poor men don't get laid, it's simple as that. I believe in the ethos: "nobody got money chasing pussy, but plenty of men got pussy chasing money." Obviously you want game so it's not just your money she's fucking you for, but I think you can easily deduce where I'm coming from.

Fine by me. I like seeing other men doing well.

Same, that's why I stick around. Some guys just came to get laid, I came for the male space/brotherhood. I could get laid without TRP, I didn't need to read shit on the internet to get pussy, I needed TRP to realign how I saw life in general, and women only to a lesser extent. In fact I think most of the shit TRP taught me about women helps mostly with LTRs, casual encounters are not all that difficult if you have money and aren't fat.

MGTOW just comes off as the exact opposite of that.

I thought they just fucked hookers because women are full of shit and act like a hole worth $60 for half an hour translates to hours upon hours worth of collective psychological bullshit.

Edit: typos

My Old Coworker Hung Himself

12 upvotes · 12 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

If you're a very strong and responsible man and I emotionally destroyed you, would you say it's your fault for not being strong enough to defend against me and absolve me of any blame in my choice to fuck you up "IllimitableMan is a DT, DTs do that, I should have known better," or would you say "IllimitableMan is a piece of shit." Because really, both are true.

Food for thought. I say there's blame on both sides. Most men put all the blame on the chick or all the blame on the man. I'm never going to agree the woman has zero blame and the man has full blame on this shit. The self-accountability for your own responsibility shouldn't leak out onto the actions of others. You cannot fully control what women do, only mitigate damage/improve your odds.

User of 4chan explains the difference between men's and women's accomplishments.

12 upvotes · 9 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Norah Vincent, the lesbian chick who lived as a man.

Obligatory link: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Ip7kP_dd6LU

[Meta] SJWs are reportedly working with admins to develop a stricter "no harassment" policy at Reddit. We should have an action plan in place for when TRP is banned

12 upvotes · 4 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Illumintable

Great fucking name! Looks AND sounds amazing. Illumintable. We need to get this shit in dictionaries.

The position of FUCK YOU!

12 upvotes · 2 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I have found monk mode extremely difficult to do, specifically because of my current situation with women.

If one were to be constantly surrounded by harpies I imagine monk mode nigh impossible as their collective henpecking subjugates one into mediocrity. Women are dream killers.

First week on Tinder after taking the red pill - 100% success rate

12 upvotes · 22 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

If his wife's not been fucking him for years then she's been fucking somebody else. She's already checked out. OP is finally seeing the light of day.

The UK is seeming to value men in society more

12 upvotes · 4 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

This should compliment OP's post nicely:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NEao02xkXKk>

Warning: Strange accent at the start of the video you may struggle to understand. Put captions on if you do (they aren't perfect but eh!)

There's a blue pill woman on there mouthing off as well, you can see she's barely containing her hate for men. Jerky head movements, bitchy tone, total disregard for cogent points. Evasive hamster. That shit's funny as fuck I could sit here for ages laughing at women like this. Unfortunately, duty calls!

"You give me a neighborhood with majority single mothers, and I'll give you a shole neighborhood"

12 upvotes · 2 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha this guy is awesome. Basically he's saying if a woman doesn't need a beta bux, she doesn't need a man at all. I'd amend that statement to read the following: if a woman doesn't need a beta bux, all she needs is tingles. If you want her to stay around you have to keep providing tingles. If the tingles stop? You're done.

Aren't MOST women basic bitches, though?

12 upvotes · 30 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women are the carrots that are dangled in front of betas to keep society moving. That's their role. To show up and fish resources.

When you realize this, you begin to wonder why one spends so much energy chasing them.

But brah, TRP is about sexual strategy. You don't improve for yourself, you do everything to get laid and make chasing pussy your mission! Pussy is the meaning of life, I'm high on pussy while I type this because I can smell the HB8's cunt juice from across the room! /s

PUAs, fucking hate 'em. PUAs are basic motherfucking men. They have no real hobbies. All they give a shit about is getting laid. All the hobbies they have other than getting laid, were only taken up to help them get laid. You know those women who hang out in libraries and golf courses because they want a beta bux but are dumb as fuck and hate golf? That's what PUAs are like. EG: he does salsa dancing (to get laid) he reads books like art of seduction and how to make friends and influence people (to get laid.) He doesn't actually have any interests in and of themselves, a musical skill, a physical hobby (martial art/welding) or anything, everything he is interested in is a fucking extension of getting laid. To him, everything independent of getting laid should just be a way to boost your chances of getting laid.

Because PUAs are small-minded, sex is their primary focus, they don't give a shit about anything else. And if you aren't a PUA or some frantic plate spinning club rat and instead you regulate your libido with porn hookers/one or two FWBs or just have a low-maint LTR, then because being an international playboy/lothario isn't your style, you're clearly a faggot of some kind who "doesn't get TRP." Seduction has it's place and is necessary no doubt, but it doesn't need to become "the main thing" that you do in life.

That's why I fucking hate puas, they're always pushing their bullshit priorities of "pussy over everything" onto everybody else. They're like crazy incels, except they're high on the whiff of cunt because they're drowning in it and can't see out of it. Cunt theory: when the absence of cunt or an excess of cunt drives you totally fucking bonkers. PUAs, the successful ones anyway, are the stark raving opposite of an incel. I've never respected men who had pussy high up on their list of priorities, it's just not that important once you have a way to get sexual release. It's why I was never a part of the predecessor communities like seddit, because dedicating your life to pussy acquisition always seemed like a very retarded priority to me.

Sure if you can't get ANY PUSSY you may need the tips and what not, nothing wrong with game/becoming attractive. But dedicating your entire lifestyle to that? That's not for me, that's why I wish the guys who dedicate their lives to that would stop pushing their ethos/way of life onto others (they're usually the most vocal at shouting down guys who give way less fucks about pussy than them.) They particularly give MGTOWs a hard time, who tend to just fap and fuck hookers. In my opinion getting off is like eating or drinking, it doesn't need to be this thing you centre your life around. Maybe some guys are basic enough to enjoy centering their life around that shit, but the smarter among us want more out of life. There's a lot more to masculinity than simply getting laid, and although that's a central point it's not the sole point. PUA's don't seem to get that. They want to define your masculinity as your ability to rack up notches and that's it. They're done. They are the basic bitches among men.

Not just sexual strategy is amoral, everything is. Why? Because life has no feelings, no conscience or consciousness and gives no fucks about shit. That doesn't mean disregarding morality as a whole is a wise or even balanced thing to do.

12 upvotes · 29 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm a huge fan of you, IM. But all you're trying to do is play to the crowd here.

Thanks dude. Yeah I'm a bit of an asshole but I do believe I educate with my assholery. I also love a good rant.

Really, dude? No one has said that ever.

They don't need to say it. Everything runs along a slippery slope. When we abstractly determine that science/survival of the fittest gives no fucks about morality, and use that as a basis for doing what we want in the SMP, it opens up a pandoras box for doing all kinds of destructive and unnecessary shit. EG: fucking/fetishising married women.

I've even explicitly said morality is important, but just not in the sexual marketplace.

Well I disagree when kids and families are involved, otherwise, sure. Also, rape: obviously, avoid that. Not trolling or being condescending, but again, someone could read too much into your statement, so I'm covering that base.

But your premise is faulty, because no one is saying "go around and ruin other people's lives on purpose because there is no such thing as morality!"

Refer to my paragraph 2 response. My premise can stand on it's own as a rebuttal to a hypothetical yet very plausible construct. Or basically, we don't need to wait to let such an attitude take hold in order to disdain it and talk shit about it. Prevention is worth a pound of cure and all that shit.

This is a terrible analogy. Murder and theft are non-consentable crimes. The very definition of theft and murder means the victim didn't consent to having their life/stuff stolen away. When you sleep with a married/engaged woman, that woman DECIDED to do it. You're relating a victimless (cheating) action with a victim (murder) action.

This is a terrible interpretation of my analogy. How can the woman be the victim when she consents to the crime? If we are going to go down analogy street, the woman is the accomplice to your murder, she's the insider in the bank helping you with your theft, because she is betraying her family. She is not a victim, you are quite right. The people her actions affect are the victims though: her husband/other half, her kids and possibly her family if they rely on her marriage for political reasons. You enable her bullshit by conspiring with her.

So what my original point is all of this was simply: While you may make a moral decision in your sexual behavior, don't expect women (or other man) to do the same.

I agree.

There are no victims in cheating; the only "victim" you can possibly have in that situation is the cuckolded guy. And even then, he's not a real victim...because no one has the "right" to fidelity/honest marriage. It's not an inherent right like physical safety you are taking away from someone.

That's why I draw the line with marriage. As I said, I have fucked women in LTRs. Marriage expressly stated a legal right to monogamy, although that has been reduced simply to a superficial implication through feminist legal vitiation.

There is no such contract if I sleep with a random woman who has a wedding ring. First, she herself consented to the action. Second, you have no obligation to someone (the man) you've never met; that man doesn't get to imbue his moral expectations onto another man.

You have no obligation to him because you don't know him, you are correct. But she does, and you are enabling her, so you are an accessory to her immorality, you are immoral through association. You diffuse responsibility because "you don't know them, it's not your fault" but you enable her anyway because you want to get yours. If your SMV is high enough there are plenty of other women out there, beautiful women, unmarried without such bullshit, yet you opt not to pass up her pussy specifically, even though you could without any harm to yourself. Why not "let someone else" do that, why be an accomplice to her bullshit? There is really no respect in that, it is an unnecessarily risky and destructive attitude. What is the cost-benefit of married pussy vs. unmarried pussy? There is none. Hence my point on sado-narcissism. It's the only logical reason I could deduce one would specifically seek out/enjoy/not pass up these women assuming they have other options sexually.

So where do you get off rationalizing another's position as "needless destruction partaken in only to satisfy sadistic-narcissistic urges"?

See previous paragraph.

Why does it always have to be some rationalized bullshit like "nihilistic tendencies to engage in destruction"? What does that even mean beyond pontification to sound good? I don't go around saying refusing to cuckold is beta...so where do you get off saying engaging in cuckolding is "immoral destruction"?

I wanted to address this but I don't fully understand what you're getting at, so I can't.

TL;DR If your premise is that people who cuckold are actively trying to hurt other people and ruin their lives and/or only do it because they derive some sick pleasure from it, then yeah your post is 100% true. However, that's not the case, at least for me.

That was part of my point, and I never thought that specifically for you. This post is a lot less personal then you have been led to believe. I tend to keep personal enquiries/disagreements private, eg: over PM.

Sometimes you can't trust family

12 upvotes · 28 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The crab bucket mentality is practically instinctual to them.

[48 Days of Power] Day 41 - "Avoid stepping into a great man's shoes."

12 upvotes · 26 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

TRP equivalent: don't wife up a bitch that's been alpha widowed.

Got a dark triad in her past that used to tie her up and fuck her senseless whilst constantly providing an intense journey of emotional rollercoasterism? Don't get involved. All he has to do is click his fingers and she'll go running quicker than you can even blink.

If she dated an abusive dark triad guy before and "fell in love" avoid that shit because you'll never "be better than he was" and all he has to do it is show up and whatever you think you have with her is gone. Even if he doesn't show up, you'll never be "her true love" you're just the piss poor replacement.

If her father is some top dude, you'll never meet the expectations she has for men because her father was SUPER successful. Avoid those spoilt princesses with the super alpha daddy. You'll never fit into the gigantic shoes daddy left empty.

There are lots of examples of this law in play.

Female hypergamy is the leading cause of the rise in US income inequality

12 upvotes · 24 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Smart people separating themselves from stupid people to go live in gated communities is definitely a factor at play here. Hypergamy is part of a much bigger equation.

Few short advices from me. Cheers

12 upvotes · 19 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

They are more perverted then you.

Massively masochistic. Especially sexually. War Brides.

If you are anywhere outside of America, forget AMOG-ing. You are gonna die.

Works well in the UK too. Or any feminised country for that matter.

World is a harsh place. Be ready to have and use your dark side as well.

This is why I write about what I do. I find as a result of it that there are many who were raised in a cotton cradle too privileged to fully understand the importance of this point. Instead in their ignorance they are reactionary and viscerally butthurt by the sheer notion of "having to have a dark side when necessary." This in turn leads them to find what I discuss disdainful, and usually ends up in some inane illogical word vomit pointed as some psychological attack at me. Which is of course, always amusing.

Remember, you are here because of a lack of male role models in your life

12 upvotes · 19 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

- Jason Statham (Actor)
- Clint Eastwood (Actor) - Obligatory mention: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=NeIBNtNm8l0>
- Patrice O'Neal (Comedian)
- Elliot Hulse (Youtube star)
- Will Smith (Motivational)
- Vladimir Putin (Russian President/Dark Triad)
- Arnold Schwarzenegger (Motivational, former actor, bodybuilder and governor of California)

That's just off the top of my head.

Everything you need to know about shit tests

12 upvotes · 15 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's funny you mention this, dark triad shit tests have a heavy loyalty component too. So do some nuclear shit tests. Perhaps loyalty should be added alongside dominance/compliance/fitness as a "shit test theme." What do you think?

TRP is a REALITY, not a Methodology

12 upvotes · 13 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Ok for the sake of pedanticism: pseudo-philosophy.

A discomfoting realization I had about male SMV based on Rational Male's chart.

12 upvotes · 11 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Edit again: fuck, I just thought of this: late 20s girls (immediately pre-wall or post-wall) are a fucking gold mine of casual sex. They're old enough to have done it a few times and gotten comfortable with it (less LMR, from my anecdotal experience) and still young enough to be hot, provided they took care of themselves. If they refuse to accept the wall and still just want to get laid, they're easy. If you know where to look, 30 is the perfect age to score with these girls.

Just be wary of baby rabies and spermjacking and you're all good. It's like fucking a dyke, some bitches want a baby so bad they're trying to use you as a sperm donor on the sly without you realising it's not sex she really wants but a baby.

Don't Get Married

12 upvotes · 8 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

We gave them a little freedom and they wanted it all and more and more...just like a woman always wanting more and more and like suckers we gave it to them, everything they asked for they got and they still want more. When is it ever enough?

Nothing is ever enough for hypergamy. Think of Eve in the garden of Eden.

Thoughts on what a RPW "Monk Mode" would be like?

12 upvotes · 3 December 2014 · /r/RedPillWomen

If the mods in this sub like (paging my favourite mod, /u/phantomdream09), we could collaborate on an RPW version and publish it here/to the blog. Much of it will be the same, just with specific amendments, eg: avoid the cock carousel, take cooking seriously and take pleasure in feeding the men in your life (family and boyfriends alike,) learn how to apply your make-up, don't smother your self in the stuff it can look outlandishly frightening. Be appreciative of what your man does for you, don't smother him with your needs, let him see his friends and don't be a jealous cow (monopolising every ounce of spare time he gets) etc.

Really it will be a monk mode concentrated on improving a female's SMV, rather than be a generalised one vaguely applicable to anybody like the one I have up is. My blog is, as the name suggests, aimed at men, but that doesn't mean men in LTRs couldn't do with a foundation for helping them "train up their women" and get them into shape. I imagine this kind of stuff is invaluable in helping marriages and similar arrangements where conventional "wisdom" would suggest the man needs to bend ass over backwards, but completely ignores any flaws on the woman's part. I know a lot of the attached guys moan all the 20 something players dominate the conversation and that LTR tips are hard to come by, thus I think a female tailored monk mode could prove useful to both sides.

Edit: You'd need a whole fucking "toxic friends section" for the RPW version, too. Nuking all those bitches who try to slyly pull you down with crap recommendations that they call "advice." Which I call "sabotaging my friend because she may get prettier/move up in life etc." Yes, men do get "toxic friends" but you girls take that crab bucket mentality shit to a whole new level, the emotional violence is vicious. The jealousy is rife over in girl world. Just like you don't want your girl friends doing that to you, if that sounds like you, you should strive not to do that your girl friends. You should have friends, not frenemies.

All relevant to female self-improvement/female monk mode.

Leave your thoughts, thanks.

I have seen the scam known as love play out right in front of my cousin. Now he's left heartbroken. Immediately turns red pill.

12 upvotes · 2 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is what happens when you listen to women, do what they say, and try to "be what they want think they want."

They end up hating you for being a spineless, directionless sack of shit that slaves away to subsidise their shallow, parasitic existence. They gaslight you, they mentally abuse you, and they exploit you until you fucking crack up. And seen as a beta, if you dare retort, you are the one painted as the predator, the bad guy, and everyone eats that bullshit up. Nobody will believe the bitch is in the wrong, and even if they do, they rarely give a fuck. It makes no difference. No matter how much of a cunt she is, you're always the "big bad man" and she's the "poor innocent little thing." Then they dump you on the street and tell everyone you're not fit to even breathe in their presence and that you deserve less consideration than maggots on a decaying body. All because you were naive enough to "try to be what she said she wanted." Women's words, worth close to jack shit they are.

Luckily this cunt had no power to dump him on the street and the landlord mother isn't shitting on him. Note to your cousin: be wary of the landlord, when her daughter tells her her shit was on the street she may try and fuck with him.

If anyone reading this thinks I'm being dramatic for the sake of it (not in my personality, fyi,) go get hurt because you're a naive chump who needs to learn the hard way. OP's story is by no means unique, but it is indeed eye-opening for those of you naive to the ways of women. Likewise, women don't have to put up with women like this, so they are totally fucking oblivious to the bullshit they put lesser men through. Sure they're aware they're callously unfair to an extent, but they don't have this level of insight, they only see it through their own solipsistic lens. Women who lurk this sub learn a lot about how fucked up they are because they can rationalise it off as "I'm not like that, but I know other women who are" (basically every woman, out of ego self-preservation, believes NAWALT applies to her, HAHA!) Women are shit introspectors.

Show no mercy to these unappreciative hoes. Build your fucking empire.

How you know you're Alpha

12 upvotes · 24 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I agree. Way too much butthurt. Emotional people get caught up on the presentation rather than the substance, as is evident by the numerous whiny/ad hominem comments. Not like we need or even want these kind of people here anyway.

External SMV Hack: +1 Through Proper Facial Care

12 upvotes · 23 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

1) Hot shower - do not wash face to leave oil on face for shaving

If you have dry skin this is a terrible idea. It will rape the little oil your skin has anyway, and even moisturising will not help undo the damage (you will have to keep applying the shit to mask your lack of natural oils.) Do not do this if you have fair skin. This may work great for people with more oily skin, but for a dry skinned dude this will only make your skin problems worse. Dry skinned people need cooler showers to avoid their skin flaking off and losing essential oils.

Woman from Norway sentenced to pay $50.000 for false rape accusations, after the man recorded their whole date.

12 upvotes · 19 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Oslo District Court believes audio recording shows that there occurred some rape

That there occurred some rape? How do you half rape a chick? LOL Furthermore he was found NOT GUILTY of rape and she was found to be making the shit up due to audio evidence. Something lost in translation, perhaps? Reads very oddly in English.

On topic: good to see a woman not get away with trying to ruin yet another man's life. A woman in her 20's in modern Norway? We can assume the psychological maturity of a 16 year old girl in that case. "So like, I'm totes gonna press charges." Ugh, please. Pussy pass denied, bitch.

Never Take the Couch

12 upvotes · 14 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

320 dude? Shit, hope you're lifting or you'll do a Patrice and die in your 40's.

From September to October 2014 there was a job surge of 538k 90% of the jobs went to woman.

12 upvotes · 9 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Although TRP is a branch of MGTOW

Other way around buddy, MGTOW is a branch of TRP.

Don't be fooled by the new non feminists!

12 upvotes · 9 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Not everybody had shitty moms.

The double standard, females on Twitter calling 12 year old Romeo Beckham hot

12 upvotes · 6 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Hypergamy discriminates, but not on age it would seem. Hot fucking damn.

Cowardice

12 upvotes · 27 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Hear, hear! Hear, hear! Order. Order. We will have order in the house!

So apparently women are free to do porn, but men are NOT free to want nothing to do with women who do porn

12 upvotes · 21 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You have to be RP not to take feminists seriously. Feminism is a shit test at the societal level that's gotten out of control. Now it has real political and social clout so no matter how much you make fun of it it will affect your life and how you interact with people. It's a founding ideology of the west's modern neoliberalist religion. In the sexual/cultural "revolution" of the 70's they threw out religion and all the old ways for fervent beliefs in socialist egalitarianism, and hence the parents of today's SJWs were born.

A Red Pill take on "Why is men feeling entitled to sex is being discussed while women feeling entitled to friendship is not?"

12 upvotes · 8 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Damn you give me karma out the ass. Now I need to find a Bureau de change (money exchange) so I can cash this shit in.

Science of male and female brain - BBC Horizon Full Documentary 2014

12 upvotes · 5 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I wouldn't use the word inferior

I would. Inferior bodies (weaker,) inferior reasoning capacity etc. Men are inferior in other ways, but I personally value the things men are superior at more than the things that women are superior at, so to me, men are superior. And they have to be. Women demand it of men. Women don't find men who are inferior to them attractive. This means men have to be superior, or at least perceived as so, just so that we can reproduce as a species. You have to be better than them. Equality is a myth that doesn't work in practice.

The engine of the car is more complex than the wheels, but you can't drive the car without both Agree. But the engine is harder to replace and infinitely more complex. Without the engine those wheels would need a hill and some gravity. Without wheels that engine wouldn't go anywhere. I see your point. The engine is still far more advanced than the wheel as a piece of tech. Just because an engine needs a wheel doesn't mean it isn't better than a wheel.

Female brain is just wired differently and "smart society" would use that to their advantage, rather than ignore it.

Agree.

Raising children is extremely important for healthy society.

Agree, but women have been socialised to undervalue child-rearing in feminist societies.

Also there are many jobs that need people with higher social intelligence (reading feelings etc), creativity etc, where female seem to excel. And let's not forget the most important factor: giving birth to new people.

Agree with all of it. Nobody says those things aren't important. It's the contradiction that when you want to say a guy is generally more superior at anything, that it must be socialised or somehow otherwise vitiated. You can't let guys just have their advantages. Whereas you say "women are better at X" and everyone blindly believes it/likes it/accepts it as if it's perfectly natural. So anecdotal evidence is fine for saying "women are better at X" but when you use that same style of evidence to say "men are better at X" people reject it. It's pathetic. I'll give you an example.

Women on average are superior at socialising than men - nobody bats an eyelid.

Men on average are more rational than women - fucking shitstorm kicks off.

Both would be anecdotally true for the vast majority of humans in the absence of any scientific study.

Immediately observable. Yet we live in a culture where despite what we perceive, if it's not proved by science, it may as well not be considered truth. People like to cherry pick their truths. And people hide behind science to reject things that are seemingly evident to the layman.

FR: I've come to love hamsters, they are honestly the most amusing thing when it comes to women.

12 upvotes · 29 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Is that all you've got? Disappointing. I'll leave my post up for others to read. Perhaps they'll take something from it you didn't/couldn't/wouldn't.

FR: I've come to love hamsters, they are honestly the most amusing thing when it comes to women.

12 upvotes · 29 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

As we become more educated and affluent apparently we become more willing to hear feminist bullshit.

Well yeah man, feminism is parasitic and needs a strong host to thrive of. Note how none of the shitty countries, shit being defined as being poor, is blue pill/experiences high immigration/feminist or whatever. Those societies are all conservative/patriarchal because they don't have the wealth to throw away on idealistic blue pill nonsense. Powerful empires/civilizations are what give rise to ideas which although beautiful on paper, are fucking ridiculously flawed and unworkable in practice eg: egalitarianism, radical feminism and etc. A good historical example of that would be Roman Civilization.

To say that this is a black America thing is racial tension.

Tbh if you could be bothered, you can probably find statistics for incarceration rates, education rates, criminal convictions, average income and all that shit which correlate "black america" with higher degeneracy, higher poverty and lower quality of life indicators on most significant scales. If you need research to accept that, because the phrase "black america" offends you, then that is what it is, but it doesn't change the reality. Whether you wanna blame biological differences, the legacy of slavery or whatever is a personal call, but it's an objective reality that this is the way things are. Personally don't think it's red pill to take on a victim mentality, if you're doing shit in life blame yourself and move on up. Own your pain and misfortune and forge something worthwhile out of it. Play the hand you've got the best you can. I remember talking to a black guy the other week on here about not being chained to race/class consciousness if you want to make it to the top but that you have to form your own identity/uniqueness and be a maverick. If you dig through my history you'll probably find the post somewhere. In England it's not really white/black. It's more posh/poor. As an English comedian said "classism is kind of like racism, but it's what's used to oppress people who look like you!" Some people can't socialise outside their social class or race. Which is a huge character flaw. Those are limitations that won't get you far in life. You have to be a social chameleon to move on up.

Also it's funny you mention Eminem, he got a lot of shit for being a white rapper, called wigga and all kinds of shit. Then when he was finally accepted by hip-hop fans because he's incredibly talented, any other white rapper to come along has been called "an eminem wannabe" implying that Eminem is the only white guy who will be tolerated. Racism is everywhere man. Before blacks hated on whites and whites hated on blacks you had english hating french and one african tribe hating another african tribe. People hate whatever is most dissimilar to them. Newsflash: most people in the world are racist to varying degrees, it is only in rich countries they pretend not to be because it's a social taboo. A lot of people aren't COMPLETELY racist and will make exceptions for individuals that they like/value but by the by, dislike or view entire groups negatively. People bemoan racism like they bemoan sexism but you will never get rid of the shit. And people will always be sensitive about racism, like they are religion and all the other individual differences you can think of, but use race/sex/religion/victim cards to seek advantages and win arguments/perks and all kinds of shit. Some people are so defensive and close-minded and easily offended about race you can't even talk to them. It's like engaging a woman's hamster or a radical feminist, but with a different kind of ideology, they just shut down and get mad.

Just the nature of the game man. Personally, I take each person as I meet them and whatever stereotype has been preset into my mind they can either prove to me, or disprove to me with their conduct. Everyone gets a chance. Not everyone is like me though, I know that.

The Hardest Job in the World

12 upvotes · 23 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

turns out mistakes are critical for actually learning... who knew.

The feedback gained from mistakes is far more valuable than the asinine pretence that is facilitating ignorance through the preservation of one's pride.

Always enjoy your posts BTW.

Thanks man, 'preciate it. Follow <http://illimitablemen.com> if you haven't.

FR: "Why did you dump me?" "Because you wouldn't fuck"

12 upvotes · 16 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

she was just trying to appear to be in charge

Find me a bitch that isn't manipulative.

Spoiler: you won't.

If OP's machiavellianism isn't tight, he's fucked. She's already framing it as if she's in charge, no matter how subtle. All relationships are a war between the masculine and feminine imperative.

/r/TheRedPill enters TOP 400 subreddits

12 upvotes · 3 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Welcome, I recommend you read the following in the order they're listed:

- <http://illimitablemen.com/2013/10/27/dissecting-the-red-pill/>
- <http://illimitablemen.com/2013/11/10/dissecting-the-red-pill-part-2-q-and-a/>
- <http://illimitablemen.com/understanding-the-red-pill/red-pill-constitution/>
- <http://illimitablemen.com/2013/11/25/feminism-family-destroyer/>
- <http://illimitablemen.com/2014/04/10/the-red-pill-is-intolerant-of-irrationalism-and-equality/>

All of this stuff is aimed at newbies.

EDIT: and this one - <http://illimitablemen.com/2013/12/13/understanding-social-market-value/>

New alimony laws in Singapore. (News paper clippings included)

12 upvotes · 24 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's not about equality it's about women holding all the trump cards. Getting to whore themselves out to alphas and win the beta provider jackpot too. The feminine imperative is institutionalised in many societies and in its raw hypergamous untamed form is absolutely fucking sickening in its arrogant temerity.

Russell Brand is red pill as fuck.

12 upvotes · 17 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That's incredibly inspirational. I consider him an RP role model despite his quirks. Him and 50 Cent are there at the top of my head. Curtis Jackson (that's 50) likewise came from nothing. They walked different paths but they paid in sweat and blood to be where they are. They didn't luck into shit like Paris Hilton or do some sex tape with a celeb like Kim K, but they deserve their prestige as they earned it through their own creative talents and social intelligence. IMO I'd argue Russell had it even harder, being English it's far harder to break into the American market. American's like to complain the English accent sounds funny. Russell's accent isn't estuary English anyway, it's more of a cockney accent, which is incredibly rare nowadays. Notice how despite his vocabulary he doesn't enunciate every letter. Like he won't say both the t's in better for instance, but pronounce just the first t. The fact most american's know who Russell is is a testament to his success. A lot of our nationally famous celebrities are nobodies in the states.

Woman catches 2y BF cheating on her, goes on a rage on him. The catch? She had cheated before, but apparently her cheating was justified and his isn't!

12 upvotes · 7 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't believe it. All chicks love dick. Too many stories of so-called lesbians fucking guys who had enough game. Women are ridiculously sexually fluid (basically, bisexual) despite whether they prefer chicks or guys more, they will go both ways in the right circumstances.

TRP, you've all helped me understand the nature of women, but now that I understand, I'm not really interested anymore...

12 upvotes · 4 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Who the fuck preaches that? You want pussy then you approach.

Women will Beauty/Swole-shame while Men offer Praise (How men & women differ in their approach to higher status entities)

12 upvotes · 27 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

My post is so spot-on it's fucking scary, I didn't know who this Gisele chick was so I wiki'd her and look what I found:

In 2008 Bündchen and Brady dished out turkey and all the trimmings unannounced to over 400 job trainees in Roxbury Massachusetts for Goodwill Industries International.[131] On 20 September 2009, she was designated Goodwill Ambassador for the United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP)

What did I say?

eg: she donates $100 to some kazakh charity and everyone's talking about how she's the next mother teresa, she plants a tree and people think she should get a serious and well-paid position in greenpeace.

It's so sickening I wish I was just talking out of my ass about this kind of crap. I would actually love to be wrong. No normal person gets to be a UN ambassador by just giving 400 workers turkey for lunch. I know of a rapper who built a fucking school in Africa with the proceeds from his mixtape sales I'm pretty sure that trumps buying a few people their lunch as a measure of "goodwill". I know a guy who worked his ass off at a top uni doing law, he's a top student, he wants to work as an ambassador for the UN, but competition IS TOUGH. Yet some pretty bitch who drops some dollar for 400 workers to eat turkey? She's in right away. She got it because she's famous within her industry and she's famous because she's pretty. Even the U.N rather have some token celebrity/model who does some good shit for publicity rather than someone actually dedicated to a specific cause. You've always got to be sceptical when celebs do shit, is it a publicity stunt or do they actually give a fuck? It's not like we'll ever know.

FYI: I don't even find the Gisele chick that attractive, the kazakh volleyball player is hotter, the Gisele chick has a weird facial shape that's very distinct, perhaps that's what the modelling agencies were after? I don't know. Pretty sure I saw hotter chicks out in town today. I find this with a lot of "models", they're just simply not attractive, I'd consider that Gisele chick uglier than my ex-girlfriend, the whole skinny white chick with long blonde hair and weird facial features standard of beauty doesn't do it for me at all, it's like everyone else is high on some shit I haven't taken and gets obsessed whilst I just don't see it.

r/OkCupid, redpill theory confirmed

12 upvotes · 20 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

One of the main themes here at the red pill is that only women shit test

No, everyone shit tests.

only women apply hypergamy to who they are attracted to Male hypergamy is "how hot is she" that's it. It's not the laundry list of things women have on their list. To man's discredit, a 7 with a great personality will often be sacrificed for the mere chance to fuck a 9 with most guys. Personally I'd stick with the 7 but then I'm wiser than most. Male hypergamy is more subject to reason and less insatiable than the female. Men aren't constantly looking to upgrade in the same way that women are.

only women are attracted to the top 10% and ignore the rest and so on.

Men will date down if necessary to get laid, women date up, men aren't hypergamous in the truest sense of the word, but have a sense of hypergamy attached to their beauty standards in women.

"Portals and Flags": Venkatesh Rao on winning arguments and 'seduction'

12 upvotes · 15 July 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

Tldr: Decide what's more important to you, speaking the truth/using logic and potentially alienating people (who could be of use to you) or charming people/being liked/popularity?

Flag is a metaphor for ownership, so getting people on your side. Portal is a metaphor for magic which is what he's insinuating charm is.

Didn't appreciate how he worded this, its very vague and open-ended.

The Nuances of Rationalising the Dark Triad Personality Type

12 upvotes · 8 July 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

Right, to quote myself:

Women are addicted to dark triad personalities as well as the tingles that dominant (but not necessarily dark triad) men can make her feel. Woman's sexual desire is amoral, they do not discriminate between whether you are an absolute asshole alpha or an upstanding citizen running into buildings saving kittens, dominance is dominance they care not for the morality of such dominance or how it is achieved, their attraction deals in absolutes (weak or strong) it doesn't care about the nuances, which is why I laugh when men in their typical moralistic/honour-obsessed manner start to debate the morality of attraction. Female attraction does not give a fuck about morality, only power/status.

How to ruin a good RedPill advice with just one BluePill point.

12 upvotes · 4 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Girls are so much better than guys, guys just sit in rooms fantasising over porn and video games. Girls make shit, and write and read, they are brilliant.

This is generalised bigotry, plenty of girls sit around fantasising over knights in shining armor, reading cosplays, going for coffee to gossip and all kinds of dumb unproductive vapid crap, plenty of women fail to produce anything meaningful to society and pretty much anyone who's ever been in education has wrote and read, I mean we're doing it right now in order to communicate. In your mind men are wasters and women are wonderful, this is the same kind of horseshit they show in media like on the Simpsons where Bart and Homer are fucking wasteful idiots who produce nothing and have no talent whilst the sunshine shines out the ass of Marge and Lisa, fuck even the baby Maggie is apparently some kind of genius developing a morse code with her pacifier or some shit. In the real world men do all the jobs that maintain civilization, factories, construction, oil rigs, all that kind of shit, whilst women account for the highest consumption/spending

My dad is a cunt who left his newborn baby and didn't speak to him for 17 years, letting him grow up in an ALL female family.

This would explain your negative view of masculinity, and your falsely attributed sense of worship towards the feminine, multiple feminine influences have been shaping your worldview your entire life. I'm sorry your dad was a cunt, there are plenty of people on this board who've never known their dad, fact of the matter is everyone has their reasons for what they do. If your mother pulled an "oopsie" on your father who would blame him for saying "fuck that shit" ?? It takes two people's DNA to bring a kid into the world but it only takes a woman to decide whether it lives or not, men get no say, some women have a kid with the specific intent of doing it to make a man stick around, some men get trapped by the woman, others say fuck that shit and unfortunately some poor kid is raised without a dad, plenty of them on this board, in your neighbourhood and practically everywhere in the dysfunction that is modern western society. If your mum pulls an oopsie and your dad decides he does not want to be trapped and you hate your dad for leaving, you may as well hate your mum for making the dumb decision of still deciding to bring you into the world, knowing full well you will never know your father as it was she who made that decisions on your behalf, and you will have to live with that for the rest of your life.

If there was no oopsie and the family fell apart, well shit happens, why don't you keep in contact? Did all the women of the family poison you against him and keep him out or did he randomly decide to cut his bond with you he'd developed over the years? The latter is less believable, the former is more believable, fathers generally value their sons but nothing is clear cut.

The girls I've been out with are brilliant, maybe you're just into cheap sluts?

My standards are so high most girls don't even reach girlfriend level. FYI: most girls are cheap sluts, these nice girls you talk of are hilarious, there's no such thing as a nice girl, there's a girl who is so inexperienced she is timid and easily malleable and then there is the girl who puts on a front of seeming nice which is basically "girl game", seeming sweet and innocent and shit so nobody is suspicious of her true intent or capability, it's a mask a lot of women wear, especially damaged women with acting skill, they wear this mask to date men way out of their league who are dumb enough to fall for their deception thinking "she's different." Do you know how many guys I've heard say a specific woman "is different" because of this bullshit? HUNDREDS, if I were more sociable and whored out my time and attention more I'm sure that'd go easily into thousands too. Do you really expect us to believe you've bedded multiple high value non-slutty women, but for some reason the relationship never goes past 6 months despite how amazing they are? If these women are as great as you say they are then why are they all ex's? Something smells like horseshit.

"All girls have an Attraction Threshold below which the men are insignificant and might as well be furniture." [Krauser]

12 upvotes · 16 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is one of the exact reasons I made the monk mode article, some guys are so low value that they're wasting their time even bothering with women, they need to better themselves before they can even be eligible to start playing the flirt-banter-bullshit-get laid socialite game focused on popularity and superfluous superficiality and social capital.

Being low smv and trying to get respect and girls is like trying to go to another country without a passport, you're not ready. Work on yourself before you work on other people.

An Honest Discussion on Good Girls

12 upvotes · 29 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's a sweeping generalization. They are rare, but that's why they are valuable.

A lot of TRP theory is a sweeping generalization, the exceptions prove the trend. Looking for one is a fools errand. Every time this topic comes up you always have a few people still plugged in who hold onto the idea that one day they will find their unicorn, and each and every time, those of us who don't still hold onto that last bit of "soulmate myth" blue pill idealism cringe that people have the audacity to basically say "NAWALT."

There are those who use TRP to "get that one girl" (they're not fully unplugged) and then those of us who realise that "there is no one perfect chick." A belief in unicorns is synonymous with "there is a girl out there for me" or "there's this one girl I know and SHE IS PERFECT", now high value women less likely to fuck up, I agree with, but unicorns aka "good girls?" No. Keep taking your medicine.

Last time this topic came up /u/TRPSubmitter set the record straight.

http://www.reddit.com/r/TheRedPill/comments/1vcdcy/think_you_or_your_friends_captured_a_unicorn/

Girl is seeing my friend, has sex with him, texts celebrity ex boyfriend immediately after

12 upvotes · 21 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Sounds like a footballer. If you're not born into it, you're young and you're worth a shit load of money in the UK you're probably a footballer.

Why Did Kidnapping Girls, but Not Burning Boys Alive, Wake Media Up to Boko Haram?

12 upvotes · 11 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I was told was to express every single emotion because apparently it's healthy to whine about your problems to women in charge of you (teachers, mum).

You watch what they do, not what they say. They say to you to express your emotions, you express them, and what happens? Mothers don't know how to cope, get crazy, want to take you to specialists and make everything worse. Girlfriends leave you because "the spark isn't there anymore", teachers say "you've got behavioural problems" want to just write you off with some bullshit like ADHD, medicate you and/or sit you in a room with some dumb bitch social worker or attendance officer and condescend you for the best part of 45 minutes on how you need to make your mother proud and a bunch of shit like that. Basically it's one big glorified "suck it up" "this has got to stop" "you must change" "this is not acceptable" it's bullshit in the guise of support. They lend a listening ear but they don't help you, none of their "help" actually helps, it just makes shit worse.

So yeah, they say "share your feelings" but any male child who isn't remotely retarded quickly figures out, and is conditioned that, by doing so, he actually makes himself worse off.

Whereas a crying female has everyone flock to her to meet her needs, people bending over backwards and an entirely different approach is taken.

The assumption with boys: "if your feelings are bad/negative, something must be wrong with you"

The assumption with girls: "if your feelings are bad/negative, something must be wrong with your environment"

It's kind of like self-improvement, guys blame themselves, women blame everything around them, I believe it stems from childhood because of how kids are treated.

To make matters worse, when it comes to showing emotion, pretty girls don't even have to use tears, their existence is a commodity in and of itself so they can be as nasty as they like and because they're hot people will let her get away with it. Hot guys? Yes more freedom with girls but other guys won't put up with their shit just for being attractive.

Suppressing emotions that are detrimental to you is an essential tool, that's why TRP endorses behaving stoic(stoically?).

Stoically is the correct word form. As for suppression, I'd rather "channelling" that is to say, strong emotions are better channelled into productive means. You shouldn't be reactionary or impulsive to provocation, so in the moment, yes, you are suppressing, however whilst that energy is being suppressed it needs a release, so you channel it into productive means. Working out. Getting shit done you need to get done. You harness the energy of the anger to help you rather than letting it wreck you from the inside out.

Use sex as a gauge of your relationships

12 upvotes · 11 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah women project their insecurities, preferences and dislikes onto others a hell of a lot. They mask it as "caring" and "advice" but basically they are trying to get you to agree with them/do what they want.

Case in point we were looking at property the other day, chick with me hates a certain type of shower, I didn't care. She kept saying "I know what you're like you won't like those showers IM!" I said "I don't care" she's like "No, I know you, I can picture you in that shower complaining" I reply "No you know I don't care and you don't care that I don't care, you're just saying this because you don't like that shower, but rather than just tell me you dislike that type of shower you're trying to convince me I don't like the shower so that I don't pick that house."

She was trying to get me to adopt her preferences subliminally. It's not even a conscious thing for women I believe, it's not insidious either, it's just how they operate. They're naturally underhanded, it's in their M.O. I don't miss a trick. Classic projection.

PS: No I'm not moving in with a chick, she was just around when I was looking at properties on the internet.

Old but excellent. Maddox has been wrecking feminists since the 90s. "26 things a perfect guy would do and other propaganda.."

12 upvotes · 11 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You do what you wanna do on your own terms. Guys who are asking "is this ok?" "is that ok?" up on reddit are just looking to TRP to tell them what to do instead of a woman.

You direct yourself, you're leading your own show. You set your own boundaries. You know what you like, you know what you dislike. You develop the skill of knowing what's real, and what's bullshit. You distinguish the bullshit from the realness. Once you can do all that you won't ask questions based upon preferences as you'll know your preferences and understand your surroundings.

If a woman wants to hold your hand but you're not ready to show that kind of commitment in public do you hold her hand? NO.

If a woman is bitchy and wants to lead you around holding your hand do you hold her hand? NO.

If a woman tells you to "hold my hand" do you hold her hand? Depends. Do you want to? Yeah? Do it. No? "Hold your own hands"

Guys need to start strengthening their inner-game otherwise they come and ask stupid shit like this. If I can detect it over the internet imagine what a womans intuition picks up. Weak frame, beta as fuck. I don't mean beta as an insult either, just submissive/passive rather than dominant. Women want a leader. Know where the fuck you're at in your head, be sure of who you are, what you want and where you're going in the big picture and then you can apply that frame to all manner of minor interactions with people.

How do you dodge questions about your career situation (if you have a shitty job)?

12 upvotes · 4 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Or do you think you're not ready to step up to 8,9,10's unless you really have a high SMV job worth being proud for?

If you're not in the upper middle class or elite of society, born into it or not, just don't waste your fucking time with people out of your league (goes for your own gender). People who are in a better situation (and hot chicks who trade their looks for social mobility) literally look at you like some kind of parasite, they're not comfortable being near you because you're of different social class/success. I welcome anyone who disagrees or dislikes this notion to debate it with me and punch themselves in the throat while they're at it because that red pill is clearly getting caught in your esophagus on the way down.

How people treat you, how people look at you, whether they invite you out or whether you do all the chasing, whether you find it easy to make friends or find people never seem to want to know you is all completely based on your SMV, and as a man, your wealth, negatively predetermined for many men due to the family they were born into/country they were born (third world especially) factors into said low SMV. Exception: if you are ridiculously good looking, even as a man, your sex appeal will allow you to date/make friends with rich/successful people. This is why we often say get down the gym, people judge so much on superficials that you need to master your superficial appearance to get anywhere, especially if you're working a crap job. Take a leaf out of the female playbook on this one, that shit works (it's known as the halo effect - google it.) There are studies showing an attractive person makes on average $200,000 dollars more in a lifetime than someone of the same qualification level but who isn't attractive.

You know how you look at a homeless dude sleeping in the subway with disgust because that guy is basically a 1? That's how 9's and 10's look at 6's and 7's.. you're scum to them. You get the odd person who is not materialistic/superficial and looks past looks/money and searches for a mental connection, but its rare, most people will decide how much they like you within about 30 seconds and if they deem you as being beneath them, they won't even try to mentally connect with you. How many average people try to mentally connect with a homeless dude to see if they'd get on? Exactly. I find the higher status the person, gender regardless, the more they care about status and the quicker their judgement calls. Successful/high value people tend to be ruthless because they see themselves as the prize, a certain arrogance comes with being in the top percentiles of the social hierarchy.

TLDR: self-improve and dominate the level you're currently at to monopolise social capital and position yourself for elevation.

FR: The RP Salvage Mission (or: How Treating My Wife Like A Child Is Saving My Marriage)

12 upvotes · 28 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women handle power worse than men do. Too much emotion.

Mastery level hamstering: 'My Husband Went Out For A Coke And Never Came Back'.

12 upvotes · 7 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Beige phillip!

03 – Repeated favours become obligations.

Anything you do more than 3 times is no longer a favour, it is a habit and an obligation and you need to understand that's how they (women) think. To an extent, men are the same. When people come to expect things, it's no longer a favour but an unspoken duty.

PSA: Do not give an "I like virginal girls" vibe to plates or prospective LTRs.

12 upvotes · 7 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha, I've been told that getting eaten out and giving head in a taxi "doesn't count" I just laughed and said "that doesn't count to you? I bet it counts to him."

Hahahaha. I love how guys will count anything from a handjob up to hardcore fucking as "had sex" (basically anything that gets them off) but women can have an anal gangbang out in Cancun and because it was in Cancun and she was drunk... doesn't count!

"Nice guy" pays for girl's tank of gas ($70+), she boasts about adding carwash to boot. BP friends feed the fire.

12 upvotes · 6 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

He still did the right thing, who gives a fuck why.

Stop Eating Like a Bitch

12 upvotes · 18 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Cut the snark, back up your assertion.

Stood up a girl for the first time in my life.

12 upvotes · 18 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's just that most guys don't have the balls needed to tell girls truths that they don't want to hear.

And that shit is what gets them exploited, she smells blood in the water and so she tries to rinse him as a beta bucks because she sure as shit isn't get moist over the kindness he exudes.

I don't know what I hold more contempt for, the man socially programmed to be a bitch or the woman following her nature to exploit his weakness to the utmost maximum.

Guy in LTR with 29 year old "on birth control" who demands that he cum inside her. Guy doesn't want kids and continues to keep pulling out. Ask "men" promptly shames him for "not trusting her"

12 upvotes · 16 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha I don't care if that never even happened, it's fucking brilliant. Pure magic.

A Quote from Nietzsche

12 upvotes · 28 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminism was around in the 19th century but didn't gain power until the 1960s as a serious ideology, before then they were a small faction. Now they are de facto institutionalised and their ideas are enshrined in institutions everywhere to the point where society itself is shaped by feminism.

Queen Victoria herself disparaged the concept of feminism, which she described in private letters as the "mad, wicked folly of 'Woman's Rights'".[41][42]

1. Crawford, Elizabeth (2013). Women's Suffrage Movement: A Reference Guide, 1866–1928. London: Routledge. p. 10. ISBN 9781135434021.
2. Grayling, A. C. (2007). Toward the Light of Liberty. New York: Walker & Co. p. 212. ISBN 9780802716361.

Asian girl considers getting married to her older alpha boyfriend, and goes to r/askmen for advice. Top commenters tell her to break it off and start riding the carousel.

12 upvotes · 21 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

And that younger women thing is bullshit - because even if you get married now, you'll still age eventually.

This person really has no clue whatsoever. Yes, old aged women really have it as good as a hot little 20 something don't they? Fucking idiot.

Why Dating feels Like Flappy Bird

12 upvotes · 10 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Since 'liberated' women have redefined their own role to be 'do whatever the fuck I want, you are the one that must keep up', there's no sense in us playing that game.

Exactly this.

A female cardiologist explains how feminism is ruining heart research for men.

12 upvotes · 8 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You are absolutely correct. Women claim they are mentally stronger, but I am willing to bet one of my balls that if a woman had to go through the daily stress of a guy for a few months, she'll turn mental.

Meet lesbian journalist Norah Vincent who did exactly that, she convincingly posted and lived as a man named "Ned" for months, the experience of living like a man traumatised her so much she ended up in a mental hospital.

Vincent asserts that, since the experiment, she has never been more glad to be female.

Her most recent book is Voluntary Madness, about her experiences as an inpatient in three different mental hospitals. Suffering from depression after her eighteen months living disguised as a man, Vincent felt she was a danger to herself.

No shit, it's easier, she should know. She lived 18 months without the pussy pass. For science. Good on her, she made the effort.

Stories of sadistic bitches, got any?

12 upvotes · 8 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

One night stands shouldn't be liable for child support. Clearly there was no intention to create familial relations, just sexual. If she keeps his genetic material, the responsibility should fall on her for making that decision and not using any number of contraceptive her options. Her body, her responsibility, she should look after herself. Obviously in many cases, these women realise they will have few opportunities to get pregnant as they are so insufferable, so unable to get pregnant to a stable beta provider they end up going it alone with some alpha sperm. If I was ever in power I'd legislate that shit, just like feminists in power legislate no fault divorce and lifetime alimony and all that preposterous family law shit that favours women.

You're all fucking naturals

12 upvotes · 8 February 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

Don't you mean something like: It doesn't matter if she is a 6 or a 10, treat her the same?

Pretty much. Don't pedestalise beauty, treat her like she's inferior because she is.

Reality show shows massive RedPill example

12 upvotes · 8 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

How he's looking at her in the bed at the end is so fucking cringe. I call that shit "beta face." DAMN.

<http://i.imgur.com/QCUQNUM.png>

Stop being so fucking angry at women, its not helping you.

12 upvotes · 31 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

manning up

And rp women is about the little girls who call themselves women walking around with a princess complex to woman the fuck up.

Shame judging by RPWs tiny subscriber count that most bitches are perfectly happy to flick their bean to feminism.

Swedish feminist radical describes what kind of men she dislikes

12 upvotes · 28 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Is that even fucking possible? Idealistic fucktard.

"As a 'Red-Piller' I am sorry." or why we need to keep the language strong

12 upvotes · 27 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Estrogen sweat is kinda sexy.

quick reminder: beware the FWB girls

12 upvotes · 15 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Got yourself a stalker buddy that ones obsessed. If she keeps pursuing you in a moment of weakness you may let her in.... and if she's bad LTR material you'll regret that.

Life is like chess, look at future possible outcomes and try to preempt such drama.

quick reminder: beware the FWB girls

12 upvotes · 15 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

10 – Agreements with women don't mean shit.

Don't think that if you're honest and they agree to it, that they'll agree it to later, there's no binding legal agreement. Women have integrity amnesia, whatever you decide the relationship will be in the beginning doesn't mean a damn thing. What she wants in a relationship changes based upon her emotions because her reality stems from her emotional state (See #16.) Whatever they agree to in the beginning doesn't mean shit later on, they haven't signed a legal contract, you have to police that, you have to hold firm with the rules, you show you're a real man by sticking to your guns. If you establish something as a pattern, that pattern can't change just because she chooses to complain about it.

Unplugging, and realizing I've been on the right path all along, or why I should have been here sooner.

12 upvotes · 10 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

We now have to give this pill to the new generations and stop the shit storm.

My son will be a fucking boss.

Opening paragraph from Mike Tyson's autobiography "Undisputed Truth". Hypergamy at its finest. After being convicted of rape Tyson spends the month and a half before his sentencing fending off women who want to sleep with him.

12 upvotes · 9 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

He quotes Aristotle, Sun Tzu and Shakespeare for fucks sake.

Anyone who knows these people to even a mild degree is someone who does their share of reading/mind expansion.

Woman quits birth control, libido skyrockets... for alpha cock!

12 upvotes · 6 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I see what you're getting at but taking hormones (which is what the pill is) can ruin sex drive too.

Help me understand why women are incapable of love. Yes, I've read the suggested reading.

12 upvotes · 4 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Agreed, the more I try to hear it, the more I realize you don't hear much from men in regular everyday society.

Because men will argue from a point of fact/logic when they're giving their opinion because they've been asked for it (but not always when they're reacting to something.) The problem is, if you say one thing anti-feminist you will upset most of the women, this then results in a fuck-fest where they all start reasoning with emotion (as fallacious as that sounds, it's what they do) and they just shame the shit out of the guy until he shuts up calling him a misogynist or whatever, they're complete and total bigots.

Where can men speak their mind? Maybe in mens' clubs? Is that still a thing? Or like poker night? Or something?

Before feminism it would be in academia and at work as women were in very small numbers in both, now academia is a feminist social engineering hub (hence all the female overachieving) and with work it very much depends on your industry.

Golf clubs are good, gym works, all-boys schools when you're young, sports teams.... a part from that I can't really think of any place that isn't female dominated, most social spaces are female dominated.

And how often do you hear DON'T MESS WITH US WOMEN! WE'RE FIERCE! Only everywhere.

It's all bravado, women are irrationally fearful, this is why when they're given a platform by feminism and they're backed 100% of the way by the society around them they project aggression so easily at the drop of a hat, I'm probably bigger than 99% of all humans (6'2, about 95kg) and could literally knock the shit out of most people I come into contact with based purely on mass and muscle, but I practice a little known thing such as self-control and know if I go with my natural urges then I'll end up in a jail cell. Being an irrational cacophonous detestable harpie carries no such penalty, no jail time, no shaming from the people around her, nothing. A woman has no consequences for going out of control in public, people may even pity her for her loss of control - there are no sanctions.

In fact, I'll tell an anecdote of something to that end - one time I think it was maybe close to a year ago I was out shopping and the fire alarms went off, everyone was forced to evacuate. We were at the entrance to the store and there was this woman with a pram and 3 kids, I assume a single mother judging her by her appearance/social class and she was rather boisterously bitching at the store staff, illogically blaming them for the alarms going off and just generally throwing a shit fit.. they were placating her bullshit and being all apologetic and crap.. the crowd around was silent listening to the interaction with the alarm going off in the background, I got pissed off with how NOT A SINGLE PERSON THERE was moderating this bitches behaviour, nobody shamed her for her outrageous conduct, NOBODY at all so I shouted from the crowd "Look at this lunatic, bitches be crazy!" and everybody laughed man and woman alike, it's as if everybody knows deep down how it is, but they've got all these socially conditioned sensibilities that make them too scared to speak up.

but the voice of YOU DON'T NEED A MAN is very loud within feminism.

They're selling you a lie. Most women over the age of 30... even worse by 35 and a definitive by 40 are absolutely miserable if they don't have a man. I find it funny how women spend much of their life making themselves look sexually appealing to get men interested in them (basically market themselves) and simultaneously believe they don't need a man, if you didn't need a man you wouldn't spend so much time and money on talking about them, dating them, fucking them etc - feminism suggests women are asexual by saying you don't need a man, it's TOTAL BS, women need men for emotional stability and guidance, I feel pity for all the women who believe this dreadful lie that feminism feeds them.

It's not a huge leap between "we don't need you" and "you are disposable". I can see how this logic follows.

Plenty of women are bitter man haters, feminism only encourages it by feeding them BS that men are evil patriarchal misogynist privilege checking rapists. It's fucking insane.

Men who brag on this subreddit about being a player or being promiscuous haven't burned out yet, and will.

12 upvotes · 29 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'd post about girlfriend game but I'm a dick about handing my commitment over. I just don't trust 'em enough.

Mixing attraction building with beta game = girlfriend game.

Female OKCupid users find 80% of males to have below-average attractiveness

12 upvotes · 29 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Fuck looks I can talk my way into pussy. Unlike women we're more than a bag of bones. HAH. Fuck what they say. Look at what they do. Girls will fuck anyone WHO DOESN'T GIVE A FUCK and tells them what the fuck is up. Real talk.

If you're a male 9 or 10 then don't even open your mouth, show a muscle and fuck her, different attraction switch.

You few have changed my life in less then 7 days

12 upvotes · 19 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I've rarely had a girl initiate sex without some power play.

That shit there, it's like a religious commandment. Always. The. Fucking. Case.

People on Reddit really do hate TRP

12 upvotes · 15 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah feel free to expand on my posts, its just an internet comment not an intricately researched thesis (not saying you were insinuating that) however many DO have that ridiculous expectation, even RPer's, especially when you've got the endorsed badge. That everything you say will be fucking biblically esoteric and have 58 studies/citations and cover ever angle. They forget this is a public forum and that I don't owe anyone shit. My opinions are just as capable as being limited as anyone elses. In fact, I appreciate when people expand upon what I say and show their reasoning, I like to learn things, it's nice to be taught sometimes and have the opportunity to shrug that burden of expectation.

35 is the new 30 (NYT OP ed on hitting the wall)

12 upvotes · 14 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

She's lonely though, gotta consider the entire context.

Woman feels no remorse after treating her blue pill boyfriend like shit

12 upvotes · 13 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If not a troll she's a dark triad bitch. Not only she is unemotional for him (psychopathy) but she went to the fucking extent of stalking this guy and setting up an elaborate ruse just to discern information, not because she cares but to feed her own narcissism. Cunt.

She shows all 3 signs of the triad in her post here from what can be deduced.

She's disturbed.

A text I wrote to my gf...

12 upvotes · 11 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Holy shit I swear I'm tripping balls you're all on this weird inane female argumentational ventriloquist bullshit. LMFAO.

/r/MensRights was included in a list of twelve websites in the spring 2012 issue ("The Year in Hate and Extremism") of the Southern Poverty Law Center's Intelligence Report in a section called "Misogyny: The Sites".

12 upvotes · 8 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Not sure if trolling or legitimately stupid.

Act As If Every Girl Is A Slut - some TRP meat and potatoes for you

12 upvotes · 29 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Tldr: bitches aint shit believe it or suffer and get got.

We need a purge of a distinctive blue tasting attitude from this sub.

12 upvotes · 27 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If you're offended you shouldn't take part in any debate, your rationality is impeded by your emotional brain and you'll make a gargantuan insufferable ass out of yourself resultingly.

How far will women go? Here is what happens. Reason #345 to maintain frame.

12 upvotes · 24 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The +15 comment thinks having needs and being an overbearing needy lacking any semblance of control or power little bitch are both the same thing because hey, vague truth: "everyone needs their needs met"

No shit I like to shit, eat and drink too.

Fucking idiot.

A Note on "Real" Alphas

12 upvotes · 21 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah a bit too much effort for an internet website.. gotta be pretty unemployed to care enough for that shit. Haha!

Feministic Indoctrination from a young age and "masculinity shaming"

12 upvotes · 14 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Stoicism is expected from men. If you are not stoic, women and men alike scoff at you. Men don't get to work through their emotions, they just have to get over shit.... we're expected to be fucking rocks.

I'm a great fan of stoicism, however I do think it's pretty cold hearted that nobody essentially gives a fuck about a guys emotions, male emotions have no legitimacy in public discourse, only female emotions do.

One caveat: You can show anger, you're allowed to be angry, or really happy - anger gets you respect, happiness draws people to you - everything else is basically untolerated whether you convey it or try to discuss it.

Girlfriend of 10 Years Cheats on an "Amazing Guy"

12 upvotes · 13 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

When he's healed to the point where he's not contemplating suicide send him to <http://beigephillip.com/> it's a great podcast that will help him adjust a healthy, productive mindset towards women.

Beginner field report, almost had it

12 upvotes · 9 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

determined to have fun and not give a shit about women.

Lol.

If you're trying to not give a shit about women, going out to a place where there's lots of women won't help you instill the mindset and deprogram/reprogram yourself to not give a shit about women. Obviously you still care about your lack of success with women.

You need to raise your SMV to fix that, not go out "as you are" and hope you "get lucky" or otherwise fool yourself "I'm not here to get laid I'm here to dance" this is the kind of shit girls say to hamster why they were in the right place and right time and then "it just happened" you're being intellectually dishonest with yourself. Your intention is to get laid but you're not confident of your skill to make it happen, so you're giving yourself a crutch of plausible deniability to rationalise away your lack of success if you don't end up balls deep in a whores orifice.

Mistake #1. She wanted to get some water. I said alright let's go. Who the fuck gets water in a club? You can't. We couldn't find any.

If a girl says "I want to get water" I'll say "OK, bye" if you don't have her number say "Wait, put your number in" if she goes she goes but you have her number you can go back to her later. If your interaction was good enough she'll beg u to come with her or she'll just stay. The problem here is you're letting her lead the interaction, by pandering to whatever need she has eg: "water" you're basically being accommodating to her. You honestly can't do these tiny little things, it's quite pathetic really that anything u do for a chick you lose respect for, but that's how it is. Only do things/favours for your close guy friends, everyone else is just shit testing/trying to exploit you (guys included) but women are the worst for this shit. They act like they have a fucking fundamental right to have shit done for them and if they're not sure if you're alpha they'll be giving you hoops to jump through. Jumping through hoops does nothing but destroy attraction for you.

Mistake #2. She wanted to find some pizza. I said alright lets go. And basically let her lead me to wherever she wanted to go. At this point I had given up my role as the man. We were doing whatever she wanted to do, and it was because I wanted to have sex with her. My instincts are to be NICE so she will fuck me. I totally gave up my needs (which was to put my penis in her) in order to make her happy. I ended up leaving soon after this as I realized it was probably going nowhere and cause I was drunk as fuck.

OK so now we're in the paradigm where the girl was allowed to lead the interaction and dictate where you go. Now you're with her and her friends so you're the outsider, unless you had a good effect on her or were able to perform well socially with her friends you'll be seen fast as the "creepy guy" and won't be accepted by the group. That in and of itself a DLV (demonstrates low value) and thus your chances of fucking her go right the fuck down. Not good, but this is what happens when you let girls take charge doubled up with an inability to win her group over.

We were doing whatever she wanted to do, and it was because I wanted to have sex with her.

Yeah you let her pimp you with her pussy that's why you didn't get to fuck her pussy. She can instinctually smell the beta on you from your actions.

My instincts are to be NICE so she will fuck me.

Those aren't your instincts, your instincts are to talk shit to her, escalate physically, command her to undo your zipper push her up against a wall and spontaneously fuck her. Your blue pill social programming has told you that chicks are just guys with vaginas and equal to us spiritually, mentally and in their cognitive ability - which anyone who's ever lived an unsheltered life knows is blasphemous motherfucking bullshit. Still got more pill to swallow my friend.

"When are you going to grow up?"

12 upvotes · 3 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha, she'll come back for round 2 in future (shit test nuke in a vie for commitment.) If she was smart she'd just be ultra feminine to ensnare you. Haha, silly bitch.

I had an "Idiocracy" moment with a fellow female coworker

12 upvotes · 1 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Don't forget nutrition used to be taught in schools, it isn't anymore. That's a major factor, there's massive ignorance.

Operant Conditioning: How to train your woman

12 upvotes · 31 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

But you sound so submissive in /r/sex

Hello BB I am submissive also, I am also very highly sexed so waiting for my SO to decide when and where isn't enough. I assert myself while still being sub, for instance I will make dinner serve it to him get him nice and relaxed and maybe mention that I mbated earlier in the day while thinking of him and that I still feel super horny. Sometimes I sit him in a chair and put some music on and strip for him I'll give him a lap dance and this usually makes his Dom side spring into action. I always like to tell him that I want to be HIS filthy slut for him and he should use me accordingly. Sometimes I'm embarrassed doing these things but he likes the fact I could push through that for him. I might take the initiative but I'm never the one with control I leave that to him x x good luck

Bipolar? Sounds like you're trained well!

Beige Phillip rules. It's like an open book test.

12 upvotes · 30 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You're missing a few:

- "The things we like most about girls is the fact that they like us" (He says Beige Phillip Rule #28, EP 17 around half way through)
- "You must be credible" - "If you're trying to sell her something you don't have, she isn't gonna buy it."
- "Women pretend they don't want sex - It's easy to control a woman's body, but takes a real man to control a bitch's mind. The power you're going up against is so huge. The reason it's difficult is because women have a natural aptness in mental manipulation. Women's sexuality has been repressed by 2,000 years of religion which is why so many feel they need excuses to have sex now, to have plausible deniability in situations where really they do in fact want to fuck." (don't think it's a beige phillip rule per say, but very useful information they covered on one of the early episodes)
- "Never have a woman be indifferent about you. Have her love you, have her hate you but don't have her be indifferent, indifference is the nail in the coffin. If you piss a girl off she's more likely to fuck you."
- "There is information all around us, it is our job to interpret it and use it to our benefit. Look for clues. If a woman fucks you over, there will be clues beforehand. "
- "If a woman leaves you then praise that because it gives you time to be inside a new woman that's more worthy."
- "Don't chase them, replace them, remain unaffected. A pimp's best friend is himself. You've gotta like you, so that when these women make a decision that goes beyond your scope of patience you'll be ok. You don't control a woman, your patience does. You have to be consistently inconsistent and unaffected, understand the emotions that she's giving you she's just bouncing off you to get a rise. You have to be kinda robotic "this is what we're doing? OK I'll drop you off" being consistently inconsistent is what keeps her off-balance, it creates interest and keeps her interested in you. In poker, if you keep bluffing or raising then they're gonna catch you, you have to mix it up."

I'm compiling Dante's wisdom here: <http://illimitableman.wordpress.com/48lawsofwomen/> - It's unfinished, if you have anything to add, let me know. I'm going beyond the simple principle and adding any follow-up they give to it on the show as well.

Why does TRP get so much hate from other men? You would think they would be grateful that there are groups who are standing up for their rights...

12 upvotes · 28 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Makes my recent blog post seem even more relevant now people are still asking. Look in post history. To answer your question, no it doesn't.

EXAMPLE: Women are malleable -- they will change their beliefs to adapt

12 upvotes · 8 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

War Brides

EXAMPLE: Women are malleable -- they will change their beliefs to adapt

12 upvotes · 8 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Addendum to topic title "women are malleable if shes perceives you as alpha" otherwise, you're the malleable one.

FTFY!

I'm tempted to say betas will give up their principles for a piece of ass too, but if anyone challenges it I cant be assed to argue on the internet today, so just throwing that out there.

AMA with girl who worked at "Gentlemen club" (she was a stripper) clearly distills womens' attitudes towards bluepill guys

12 upvotes · 7 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

A thing a guy should do, is honestly be respectful of the girls and understand what they are doing and I guarantee they don't like their job. Honestly sit and have a conversation with them and they will actually grow on you and not see you as a piece of meat. Girls WILL judge you on your appearance (we notice the shoes you wear).

So looks matter and your shoes indicate your economic status and thus tick the hypergamy checkbox. Nothing red pillers didn't already know here, good that among her hamstering, she is dropping some RP.

An ask reddit post of "Men are so privilege, women have it so hard"

12 upvotes · 5 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Amen. Don't fucking concentrate on things you can't change, like your genetically given gender.

How I Screwed Up and How I Fixed It

12 upvotes · 22 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

LMFAO. I bet third world money this will be quoted out of context, eh, they need something to bitch about don't they.

In other news girls, I'm in the feminist society at uni, it's amazing. Enough blue pill examples to make a hamster OD.

The Difference between TRP and RPW

12 upvotes · 19 September 2013 · /r/RedPillWomen

The consensus in TRP is get a vasectomy so she doesn't try to get pregnant to trap u by lying about taking birth control "OOPS!" is bullshit, cohabit, but don't marry.

Women are far too incentivised by the divorce system to basically ditch you and leave you with nothing. She'll defend that position while she loves you, but love is oft temporary with the feminine ruled by their emotion, if a better guy comes along you're fucked, win-win for her, lose-lose for you. She gets an upgrade (branch swings) and you have to pay out the ass for her. Whilst your life goes into serial downgrade and the money you've given her now makes it harder for you to get another woman and move on. It's clean for her, dirty for you.

I want a family, I'm not going to have a formalised legal contract that allows me to be divorce raped though. Might have a ceremony, but you won't catch me signing marriage papers. That's strategically stupid for a man, the feminists made it so.

People believe sluts are condemned when in fact they are simply devalued.

12 upvotes · 1 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah doesn't apply in the UK. Women just drop hints FOREVER and last time I checked, this is Europe.

His girl is about to start turning tricks, and this beta has no idea how it will end and or what to do next.

12 upvotes · 28 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Most of the chicks are fucking the guys at the top due to hypergamy, leaving average guys, above average guys and guys at the bottom with nothing. The guys at the top get all the sex. Whereas all women under say 30 can get sex no problem, if they flirt with enough guys.

TLDR: The average woman has more opportunity to cheat/get sex than the average man.

Why Sluts Make Bad Wives

12 upvotes · 23 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Male power lies in non-participation, starve them of our attention and resources, women very much desire male companionship, although ironically they're trained to hate the fuck out of us, the cognitive dissonance between biological and social forces is insane.

They have little a positive thing to say about us nowadays, the majority of women are man haters in the west, there's some cute girls out there, and they will fuck you because of their libidos, but they have a lot of hate for men/masculinity and that's why the climate towards men in family and dating is so hostile. That's why women are so untrusting of men, they were trained not to like you or view you as a person with character and quirks, you're not really a person to them, they just view you as a personified symbolism of evil on a subconscious level, "men aren't people, men are patriarchy" is probably the association going on in the subconscious minds of most women, even if she doesn't know the word patriarchy, replace that with a word which is something bad/negative/evil in it's superlative form. Because women have dehumanised men, they find it easy to exploit them, just a cock she fucked, just a cash card that can be potentially divorce-raped etc. They don't care about your hopes or dreams, they've lost that loving femininity, they've had that innate nurturing side beaten out of them because of "equality" and this very reality disgusts most of us men, we don't want to marry men in women's bodies, it's ugly.

When men stop participating in big enough numbers, when a woman can't have her cake (the carousel) and eat it (divorce rape a beta/land a beta provider) and the fertility rates get even lower, the women will cry even louder how men are dropping out (lets face it, even if guys spoke up, nobody would listen, men are giving no respect or legitimacy as a group, we are actively discriminated against, nobody gives a fuck about our complaints and complaining alone is seen as unmanly so many guys rather suffer in silence) maybe then, someone, somewhere with some power will say hey, maybe hating on men to the point of vitriol, ambivalence and hostility isn't good for society, maybe we should give the entire gender we demonised it's position back, hey let's go crazy and admit we even need men let's show some fucking appreciation? Let's give fathers respect, authority and relevance and stop feeding the masses bumbling jokes like Peter Griffin and Homer Simpson as examples of everyday men. Maybe this crazy day will come someday but probably not in my lifetime.

TLDR: feminism ruined the most technologically advanced civilizations of the world by creating social ruin via the destruction of family, marriage doesn't work under feminism xPost [Swedish] Girl calls into radio show called "Breakup Call" to breakup with her boyfriend on air. It doesn't quite go as expected... I'll post translation/comments in thread.

12 upvotes · 21 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I laughed nefariously listening to this shit whilst reading the translation in the thread.

She really just wants to fuck the guy up "because he plays computer games" hahahaha wow, and they say it's us guys who're immature? LOL! OK.

5 Men Every Woman Needs To Meet, But Not Marry.. leaving her choices to ZERO.

12 upvotes · 20 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Allow me to counter then, I have no idea how you came to that summation for #4, the other points you basically inverted but your #4 makes no sense, in #4 the girl is objectifying the man as a success symbol, not the other way around, men generally don't give a shit about a woman's success, just her beauty.

- #1 Get what you can't have the moment things become less exciting, less overwhelmingly amazing between the two of you (and the moment will come), he is likely to have second thoughts. And that will make you feel awful. Maybe you'll sense it happening, in which case you'll probably try harder, to do whatever you can to make sure things don't get less exciting. But that's a basis for a performance, not a marriage.

I'm sure the plethora of betas out there can attest this works in reverse too. Women get bored of them because they're not creating drama and getting her to tingle, OK. It's ironic because if he wasn't alpha she'd be the one getting bored. (textbook hypergamy) (dark triad)

- 2 Use the guy with connections to better your life, these guys can be alpha or beta. Don't give him sex, but make him want to set you up and help you improve your life. This is a guy you want to orbit you. (textbook hypergamy)
- 3 Date a "greater beta", he's got a bit of swag but he'll concede to you and open up to you, this isn't the guy you want to marry because he's a pussy, but you'll learn what it's like to be emotionally intimate with a man and feed on his strongest source of validation until you're satiated and get bored. [ego validation]
- 4 Date a status symbol so you can rise to the top in girl world. Gain status yourself by jumping on the back of a man's. (textbook hypergamy)
- 5 Use younger man's naivety about your nature for ego validation. Don't marry him because you'll resent him for liking you too much. LOL massive hamstering at the end:

By choosing to let him go, you'll have done the right thing -- acting in the best interests of two connected people -- which is exactly what's required when you meet the man you so, so, so need to marry. (ego validation)

How a year of one-night-stands led one woman to the man of her dreams

12 upvotes · 15 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If you act like a man as a woman don't be surprised when men don't find you attractive. Men want a counterpart. Plus the average man can't simply decide to get laid every weekend with little to no work, the paradigms are different.

Interesting Data from OKCupid. Females really don't care that much about looks

12 upvotes · 3 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

- Alpha fucks - looks matter
- Beta bucks - looks don't matter

You think the guy in the meme is alpha? That guys a fucking 1.

Why you MUST work on your body.

12 upvotes · 19 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Fat dude is beta bucks duty sex; ripped dude is alpha fucks lust

Any other Redpillers living in a non-English speaking country? What are your observations?

12 upvotes · 10 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I need to leave the west...

How do you deal with feminist family?

12 upvotes · 29 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Your sister has essentially stalked you down on the internet and betrayed you to expose you to your family, a sister who loves you more than feminism wouldn't do that shit. What a fucking bitch. Hope she doesn't get any presents/advice/positive shit from you for the foreseeable future for causing you this shit. Even if you handle it well and your family calm the fuck down, her behaviour isn't acceptable, it's disrespectful. No loyalty. Bitches be bitches, even sisters.

Girlfriend has male friend that has sexual dreams about her

12 upvotes · 26 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Excellent summation! She may be dependent on this guys emotional validation and thus be unwilling to cut him off however. Free male validation for women is like a 99% off sale on shoes, they're fiends for that shit.

"why do guys come on so strong for the first few months and back off at the mention of a relationship?"

12 upvotes · 24 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Hahahahaha! Excellent reversal of the friend zone line.

"Women think emotionally, therefore can't be trusted"

12 upvotes · 19 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Woman's logic does not really surpass interpersonal manipulation. Man's logic is abstract and good at innovation, invention, understanding the intricacies of things etc, but naturally most men suck at manipulating people. There is very few overlap between the two. Men control the world around us, women control the men (with few exceptions) - it's that simple. It's all in the manipulated man by Esther Vilar, a woman may not know how to fix something, but she'll always be able to get a man who does know to do it for her. To women, men are tools, women do fall in love but it's conditional, fleeting and rare. Men are the true romantics, even alphas I know want a woman they can confide in, a confidante, a soul mate, men are the true fucking romantics... and they get pillaged.

Ed Snowden: Alpha male.

12 upvotes · 11 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

One word: Solipsism.

cock carousel, punjab style!

12 upvotes · 9 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Reminds me of that article about "good girls" Rollo at Rational Male wrote.

<http://therationalmale.com/2011/11/10/good-girls-do/>

"I bought myself a nice fucking ring....Because I fucking can and I am tired of not getting jewelry just because guys won't buy it for me and I am also tired of my mom shoving her $6,000 rock in my face every 50 seconds because my dad would rather waste money on her." Xpost XXChromo

12 upvotes · 7 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Thats feminism for you. Fucking up women mentally since circa 1960.

How I lost my virginity by being raped

12 upvotes · 27 May 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Rape is legally defined as a penis entering a vagina/ass/mouth without the consent of the person being penetrated, she consented to the penetration and therefore it's not defined as rape.

Legally speaking what she did was sexual assault as women cannot be convicted of rape (because they do not have a penis to penetrate with), thus leaving only men as "rapists."

That's how feminist the law system is. If you don't believe me, research it. It's fucked. According to the law, women are incapable of rape because they cannot penetrate without consent (I'm not sure if she says puts a dildo up a guys ass, it would probably be jury dependent.)

Rape hasn't had it's definition spread to encompass a woman penetrating herself using a mans penis without his consent but it should.

Rape carries heavier sentencing than sexual assault, so even if successfully convicted she would be treated less seriously and get a lighter sentence due to this insane legal classification.

The Monetization of the Manosphere

11 upvotes · 27 November 2018 · /r/TheRedPill

Don't agree with your take, but this was better than the first post.

I have no problems with Rollo (I literally compliment him in this thread so I don't know why you keep reiterating this) and Hotep Jesus tried to troll me for his self enrichment.

Honestly, you couldn't be any more biased if you tried.

As for random twitter girls begging you to start beef with me - that'd be a bad look for you. Don't act like you're doing me some kind of favour, because if you were, you'd have come to me before and said "look, this person is talking shit about you, but I got you"

To be honest, all these interactions should be had over DM and not in public on Reddit, but if they were done privately - there'd be no audience and it'd be meant in earnest as opposed to being performance art.

Soap isn't helping anyone unfuck themselves, but not going to lie, that commercial is hilarious.

Christian McQueen and I shoot the shit on his radio show

11 upvotes · 1 May 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Hahahaha not how I meant it, but I see what you did there. Clever.

Feminist writes article about cock carousel filled with red pill truths

11 upvotes · 15 February 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Laurie penny is a pathetic perpetual victim. I have no time for that sad sack of shit, David Starkey owned her ass as well, is available on YouTube for lols.

Woman attempted to ruin my life.

11 upvotes · 11 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Anglo women are the most narcissistic in the world.

Illimitable Men in 2016 - Where I'm At & Where We're Going

11 upvotes · 8 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Post before this was fire, post after this will be too.

[FR] Beta white knight set on fire

11 upvotes · 15 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

3) Play Nice and be the victim - I was extremely nice to the guy all night because I knew it was getting under his skin, and I also knew that the group I was in was watching my every move. He exploded on me losing his frame which sent the group to my defense.

You implicitly isolated the dude giving you bad vibes. By being nice to everyone but ignoring him, you're isolating him. This made him worse, which led to him blowing up. Is passive aggressive as fuck but that's the game these days so I believe it was the best thing to do. If you don't play the victim, they will. Kinda gay the game is played like this now, but alas, the game is the game.

If this bitch is your plate, why are you meeting her with all her friends and beta orbiter? That dude needs fucking TRP - 5 year friendzone? That's fucking commitment rape for dudes.

Europe's Immigration Crisis

11 upvotes · 20 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The far right is growing across Europe and nationalist/anti immigration parties are cropping up everywhere.

"Women Don't Want The Truth™, They Want To Be Lied To"

11 upvotes · 13 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Experience makes men but breaks women. Her prime is in her youth, yours is at the end of a road of pain and self-improvement. Men are anti-fragile, pain builds them; women are fragile, pain ruins them. Men who cant channel their pain and overcome the odds aren't even considered men.

Teen 'Social Media Star' Quits, Discusses 'Ugly Truth' Behind Fame...

11 upvotes · 3 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Not like we don't have a few dudes online on the "OMG feminists are horrible, look at this sick shit they said here #gamergate" dollar. Some of the anti-feminist youtubers have built their entire careers on that and make some tidy bank.

Most people smart/aware enough to understand Machiavellianism, 48 laws, advertising and how they all link in are on this kind of game. They either completely hijack a community for their own profit, or they care about the community but still do this dumb tabloid shit to drive their own profile/profit anyway.

It reminds me of these lyrics from Jay-Z:

I dumbled down for my audience to double my dollars

They criticized me for it, yet they all yell "holla"

The ones getting the most attention and have the biggest followings IN ANY niche are doing one of the following:

- constantly mocking others [superiority, comedy, outrage]
- doing really stupid outlandish stuff [pranks, comedy, shock, outrage]
- being really sexual/revealing/slutty [arousal, desire]

Then there's the veneer/engine for why you do all these things: adopting a social cause so what you do seems noble when it is overwhelmingly about profit, also serves to target a specific groups wealth and favour. Most internet personalities are fucking charlatans, they pretend to give more shits than they do, sometimes they give no shits at all and they're just gaming everyone.

Basically it's all about shock value, standing out, and creating a cult of personality. This is the world of business and how it monetises personalities. "Just creating good content" only attracts people who can appreciate good content, you would be surprised how small a % of the population that number is.

The people worth the most fucks innately and not in $$$ (provide the most value and whose business model does not rely on manufacturing drama constantly) never have the biggest followings for exactly this reason, because they don't "play the game", they can't compete with jokers posing as critics, comics or social activists whose every minor move is calculated to cause butthurt and command attention.

Assume anyone doing anything for any social cause is a complete fucking fraud. Especially if they weren't in a movement or community from the start, had their own thing going, and then switched to something like anti-islamism later. That's nothing but a change of branding.

A dude with say a fitness blog who starts saying lots of anti-islamic shit on social media, pissing off as many muslims as he can by mocking their religion and winding them up is just self-promoting, anti-islamism is just a convenient vehicle for him to do that and as a bonus the original anti-islamism community will look up to him as brave and powerful ally due to seemingly aligned ideological interests and thus start following him.

Now replace "fitness blog" with "self improvement blog" and "anti-islamism" with "anti-feminism" - does it make you think of anybody? If it does, I'd think twice about trusting or following that guy, lest you get caught up in his orbit of PR bullshit. If it doesn't, good for you, you're either too stupid to realise you're in somebody's orbit of never-ending drama, or you don't subject yourself to nonsense.

People reward outrage and shock more than things which are interesting outside how they feel about it, sad as that is.

Dumb outrage/drama and sex appeal sell better than providing raw value, most people rather masturbate to porn and outrage porn than bother to read something with more substance. People who dislike and avoid that kinda content are a small market, even in TRP (look at some of the absolute bullshit people upvote here, and look at some of the great stuff that gets almost totally ignored).

This girl is just playing the game, many people are playing the game and if you place a premium on your attention and time you will want to avoid people on this game. Any "evolution or big change in direction", especially on social media, is more than likely nothing other than a brand shift looking to consolidate a new market into a pre-established following in order to increase the cult of personality.

Of course I could just be a far too cynical Machiavellian bastard that is completely wrong and needs to shut up, there's always that.

The Harvard Business Review suddenly discovers that dark triad men experience more career success and satisfaction

11 upvotes · 3 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yes, I run on a principle of justifiable destruction. Simply put, I don't needlessly harm people, but if someone opposes me and is a big enough threat, I suspend my conventional morals in dealing with them and anything goes. Morality should be an indulgence, never a weakness. Being unable to harm (can't defend) is as useless as being able to do nothing but harm (can't build trust). Calibration in all things.

*2015 UPDATE - "Lucifer's Daughter" - Introducing The Female Psychopath

11 upvotes · 12 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Ahhh, yes, you've caught me.

It's a slow process, I'm putting out less newer stuff to make time for revamping old content and there's only so many hours in a day - but I do think it'll be worth it. I've been asked variations on the question "do you have a book?" for at least a year now. Thought it time I did something about that, as obviously there is a demand.

I will make an announcement on the blog at some point, but if anybody's interested in designing the cover they should shoot me a PM.

Decided to not get a degree in the US? Tech Apprenticeships are a very new opportunity for you

11 upvotes · 13 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Apprenticeships are like diamonds in the UK. Honestly, if anyone gets the opportunity to do one, they should grab it with both hands. Paid to learn. Good prospects afterwards. Get good at what you do and you can open your own business. No fucking uni debt from a 12 hour a week course that awards a degree that is saturated to shit in a jobs market you probably can't break into unless you went to oxbridge/an ivy.

I know guys with economics degrees who work in starbucks for fucksake. A lot of fresh-faced 18 year olds who go to UNI think they are the shit for getting in (you're not, they just want your money) including dumb pouty ass bitches who look down on the "grubby, peasant like" lads who work in the trades and do a hard days graft tiling, painting, fixing cars, or whatever. Ain't no blue collar guy good enough for her, he's gotta be white collar. But at the end of the day, that chef, that plumber, that sparky, they're laughing to the fucking bank.

Uni kids are crying to the bank, extending their student overdraft. Most have no future and they're saddled with debt. It isn't so bad in the UK because the taxpayer absorbs the economic failure of all these unintellectual cretins going to UNI to party and skip the few classes that take up that "full time" 12 hour week anyway. That is, the govt will write the debt off if you never earn beyond a lower middle class income (basically down the line they're going to raise all our fucking taxes to service this debt bubble) but it sounds like a fucking nightmare stateside. I hear you have to begin paying up 6 months after graduation there.

The kids who blew their student loan on jagerbombs, got a degree in a humanities subject (English? History? Business?) and now work for minimum wage just wasted 4 years of their life with fuck all but debt to show for it. They also get insecure old people without degrees telling them they're overqualified to do shit jobs when they can't break into their profession. So they're actually in an even worse position than somebody who failed school. Because not even the unskilled job roles want to hire them (fear if they break into their profession, they'll leave the company.)

Trades come with the plus of being male dominated environments (women are physical labour adverse, they want cushy sit on your ass desk jobs,) so you don't need to listen to bitches whine all day like you would in an office. You just have to be willing to get off your ass too. If you've been lifting, this won't seem so bad to you.

So apprenticeships? Fuck yeah. This is the sort of shit that should appeal to a young red piller. An actual prospect. A future. Not the dicking around that university is for people who aren't at a top uni or doing STEM. Get on it.

I would have killed for this knowledge at 15, the year before I was leaving school and figuring out whether to take A levels or do an apprenticeship. Shit even at 20 this would have helped. Nobody told me shit and I made my own fair share of mistakes when it came to further education. Learn from my fuck ups without wasting those years yourself.

Expat business man is utterly destroyed and drained out of his entire life savings by a sweet feminine thai woman.

11 upvotes · 2 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Hahaha, I like the cut of your sadistic jib.

Be Confident & Decisive - Notes on Law 28 "ENTER ACTION WITH BOLDNESS"

11 upvotes · 23 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Sun Tsu said "a cornered army fights harder"

You're referring to death ground.

If you know a fight is for fun, you will fight to "your conscious best" but not "your ultimate best." When your body thinks it's going to die, or lose something it cannot go without it imbues you with exponential determination, fearlessness and strength. Basically, it's the fight aspect of "fight or flight" activating.

If you know you will die if you do not win, or at least think you are doomed if you fail, your desperation will summon strength you didn't know you had and you will enter a state of frenzy, effectively your mind and body will go into complete overdrive to ensure your survival.

On the beaches of normandy, as the soldiers came out of the boats being fired on, they fought harder because they knew they couldn't retreat, it was just water behind them, so they had TO WALK TOWARDS GUNFIRE to live. That is death ground. Not just literally in the sense that it's risk being shot or drown, but in the sense that this situation forced those soldiers to overcome all their fears and stare doom right in the retina.

You have more power than you realise, but it goes untapped because you feel safe.

How engineering helped me socially.

11 upvotes · 20 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The lack of male spaces

If I had the time and capital, I'd start making male spaces. Guys need it. Maybe one day...

CMV: the opinions of /r/TheRedPill moderators, Endorsed Contributors, and Vanguards can and should be seen as being in line with the overall /r/TRP thought.

11 upvotes · 19 June 2015 · /r/PurplePillDebate

Either you misunderstand the posts or you understand them but don't like how they make you feel, thus you disingenuously mischaracterize them. That, or perhaps you are a troll (not accusing, weighing up the possibilities publicly.) Really, it's hard to tell the difference between outright stupidity and emotion-based indignance over the internet. Oft it's a mixture of both. You can't really have a sensible conversation with someone who (mis)characterises you so satirically (as a caricature misogynist.)

All I can suggest is that you do not continue to read things that you find so morally disgusting. Of course, I do not believe you will take that advice. You will probably continue to read everything. Framing an argument or number of positions a person holds you disagree with to imply they are "the aggressor" (and by implication, your position, the nobler "victim") suggests a number of things:

You feel a certain way about my posts and so mischaracterise them with rationalisations, you haven't presented them without strawmanning them, but they bother you enough to bear mention. This suggests you have heightened amygdala sensitivity, eg, you are easily fearful, prefer to feel your way through things rather than think about them - you are probably female.

Nobody forces you to read things you don't like that you have already decided to be WRONG or BAD in your mind. The only time I read things I don't like is when I want to decide if they are useful or not to me. So I will subject myself to something that doesn't reinforce my narrative to see if there is any value in it, eg: my mind anticipates your posts will be negative and serve no value before I click them, but I click them anyway to give "the benefit of the doubt." Initially, the benefit of the doubt and curiosity will allow me to subject myself to things which are questionable, but eventually, after a number of valueless posts, your credibility will wear thin if you don't produce a strong argument, and I will just flat out ignore them.

I avoid material I think is going to waste my time, I've got better shit to do than seek out things I know are going to annoy me or provide me no value. I try to maximise my time. The reason I'm rarely in purple pill, and practically every post I make here is due to a username mention, is because I don't really give a fuck about defending my positions to people who are opposed to what I say no matter what anyway. If I do post, I do so purely to add value to the discussion. I know enough about human psychology to know that - you will continue to read my posts - and you will continue to not like them. You are predictable.

Regardless, logically speaking, if you have decided my material is a waste of your time, you shouldn't read it anymore. You have made your mind up. Any continued reading of such things is masochistic in nature and suggests a histrionic or dramatic disposition. That you seek out things that cause you distress because you like the strong feelings and having something to ridicule gives you a sense of moral superiority in lieu of any actual intellectual basis for ethics. Again, indicative you are probably a woman.

I would honestly love you to debunk this comment piece by piece with strong cogent rebuttal after strong cogent rebuttal with no fallacious mischaracterisations thrown in to prop up your "arguments" but then again a part of me wishes Santa Claus was real too. We can all dream, can't we?

The MASTER KEY to Understanding Women

11 upvotes · 19 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

but why alphas would be the prize for women?

It all comes back to evolutionary psychology. Within a modern context, it's difficult to understand why women like bad boys/like men who can elicit fear in them.

But at the fundamental level, women trade sex for

A: protection (alpha/tingles)

B: resources (beta/necessity)

Now in modern civilization both protection and resources are abundant and assault is rare (compared to in our history) but female evolutionary instinct still has a highly tuned fear response in spite of recent social changes. This makes sense, women are physically weak and if someone wants to attack her, chances she can talk her way out of it in a tribal context are slim. A few thousand years of civilization is not going to undo multiple thousands if not hundreds of thousands of years of evolution where there was no police or social welfare, where women were almost entirely dependent on men for their material survival and were likewise entirely dependent on men for safety from predators and other tribes. A lone woman surrounded by animals or an enemy tribe was basically dead (or in the case of enemy tribes, if she developed stockholm syndrome, she'd live.) The home (or cave) was actually the safest place for her. So men were (and still are) simply protection and resources to a woman at a primitive level. That's the trade: Protection + Resources = Pussy

In poor countries, women still have LTRs with betas for money, in rich countries like the US and UK, we see betas are either abused or don't get any play at all unless they make monumental amounts of money.

Ultimately, women are always fearful. You can put a woman in a rich society that's very safe and she'll still have an irrational fear of rape and assault. This is because women are physically weak and have evolved to be fearful as a survival mechanism. Woman's fight or flight instinct is almost always to flee, whilst man's is more oft to fight. It is woman's irrational fear that causes her to sexually emphasise alpha traits, aka aggressiveness. An aggressive male can protect her and her child and will be able to earn or steal resources with his aggression. Aggression is a good indicator of status and therefore, a capacity to provide as the aggressive WILL TAKE if they cannot earn or otherwise "honestly accumulate" what they need.

A less aggressive male with resources is more a means to an end. He may have resources RIGHT NOW but he has not demonstrated a capacity through temperament to continue to secure such resources. Think in more a caveman context than a modern context, and this makes sense. Less aggressive men can make lots of money nowadays, they wouldn't have been able to kill the biggest juiciest animals pre-civilization, though. Arguably, woman's evolution hasn't caught up with civilization, it's prejudices and preferences are still based upon what was optimal in a tribal environment.

This is purely an evo psych argument. It doesn't even get into the philosophical aspects of how a woman's love is based on respect, and how a ruthless man is more respectable than one with a milder disposition in the eyes of women as a matter of pure sentiment - regardless of the implications of evopsych. Women know what logically they should want, but biologically, the feelings win every time - they want the dominant aggressive male even though they think they should want a nice guy.

They deny it to us, they deny it to themselves, feminism shames them for it - but this is their nature, and rightly so, for they are female. It would be more perverse if they did not want such things.

Women's psychology makes a lot of sense in a pre-civilization context. Within the confines of civilization, women are not well adapted to complementing civilization, and therefore, their nature opposes the very essence of civilization. It is why successful prosperous civilizations have always devised systems to keep female nature in check, primarily, religion, which then seeps into the social consciousness and allows ubiquitous shaming and threats to reputation to artificially impose "more beneficial" preferences on her. EG: preferences that are good for the maintenance of civilization, and not what her caveman seeking genetics desire - the psychopath bad boy. Without such social forces in play, we get a regression to what you see today. Women always truly desire alphas due to genes, but without social forces to suppress those desires and promote coupling with betas, we risk the stability of civilization. The current state of affairs is not good for civilization. A decline is certainly what it is.

[ArousalScience] Observations on Tinder through the eyes of an attractive female. 4 types of profile pictures that will end with you getting rejected.

11 upvotes · 17 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Astute evo psych observations about the realm of hypergamy. It truly is a powerful driving force, probably THE driving force (behind female intention) for most if not all female behaviour. Sounds all perfectly logical from a survival standpoint until you touch upon "the solipsism of status markers." Essentially, the unreconciled difference between what increases a man's status, and what a woman believes is good for his status. As you have alluded to, these things don't always match up, that is, a woman's idea of what is best, and what actually is best. A woman's customised, but unrealistic hypergamy seems to trump a more rational hypergamy. But then when we consider the inferior capacity for reason, a diminished preference for reason (women's emotional preference,) and solipsism - it seems congruent with female disposition.

I would postulate that this seemingly neurotic element of hypergamy (and thus maladaptive or otherwise evolutionarily detrimental) has survived as a symptom of women's larger dissociative personality. Basically, the hamster is invading hypergamy. The hamster from an evo-psych viewpoint would have evolved for a few different reasons:

Women didn't need to invent tools to hunt animals or plan/coordinate their execution, so logic would be underdeveloped over time vs the "genetic memory" or "evolutionary traits brought about by" the Y chromosome.

Women had to find a way to mentally cope with being raped (hence rewrite history in their minds, Stockholm syndrome - fall in love with your rapist etc) - As a man, I do not have a primal fear of being raped. Before I found TRP, I wondered why women would say dumb shit such as "I don't want to go out in the dark to get to the shop, I might get raped." Whereas I, personally, wouldn't give a shit. Back then, I put it down to woman's general histrionics. Since finding TRP a few years ago, turns out there may be an evolutionary reason for this fear. It is part of female instinct. Also on histrionics, acting crazy has probably helped women ward off attackers/get help. On something of a tangent, what's a woman's instinctual reaction when trapped? Scream for help. What's mine? Summon anger and kick ass.

What I said in my previous post about "overriding hypergamy with head fucking" draws on the power of a woman's solipsism/coping mechanisms. Stockholm syndrome love, relationships we would characterise as being unhealthy or codependent are actually emotionally stronger than purely rational hypergamous relationships where the woman will upgrade whenever she thinks the ship is sinking. These women stay on the ship no matter what, because they are obsessed with the man.

This is the kind of loyalty most men want to be an innate part of women without the whole fucked up Stockholm syndrome aspect, but it isn't. As a man, unless you "bypass hypergamy" in this way, her "loyalty" is contingent on your performance, and thus, isn't really loyalty. When a woman falls in love with someone who treats her very poorly, believes she deserves to be treated poorly, and that "she can do no better" she becomes obsessed purely with him. She sees him as her only option, even if, rationally, she's very beautiful. Honestly, I see Stockholm syndrome as the hamster rewriting a woman's personalised hypergamy so that otherwise more rational options are off the table for her. What we see today is the opposite of this. Women have TOO MUCH self-esteem, so hypergamy is out of control. If women's mate choice was a stock market, there would be more trades than ever. Obviously the lack of social elements suppressing hypergamy play a huge part in this.

The hamster promoted solipsism to deal with reality. Hypergamy is rational if you are in a tribal setting and completely dependent on others, but it is also innately solipsistic. Machiavellianism becomes instinct when male anger could see you killed, raped or starved to death. You combine all these things together, and you get modern women, operating on ego assuaging, instinctually Machiavellian self-serving pseudo-logic.

Whereas men have none of this shit going on their head. I suppose that is the difference between the gender that evolved as a dependent pre-civilization, and the one that didn't. We have had civilization since Sumeria, 6000BC, and in 8,015 years, we still haven't managed to select for women who aren't so neurotic. I suppose that gives credence to the idea humans are hundreds of thousands of years old, and 8,000 years isn't enough to see any real change in female evolutionary psychology. Remember that next time someone tells you men and women are equal, so you can laugh in their face at how wrong they are.

Machiavellian Bodybuilder/Miscer has faked high status on Facebook and is now reaping the rewards

11 upvotes · 13 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

lol @ the sloot giving her # right in front of her bf

This slut gave me her number in the club once whilst her BF went off to get drinks. When he came back he started being all passive aggressive giving off that "why are you talking to my girlfriend" vibe so I said "is she your girlfriend?" he says "yeah she is" protectively, so I proceed to show him her number in my phone and said "I didn't steal that, whilst you're off buying her drinks she's giving out her number to guys. You can't trust this bitch."

Hoes gonna hoe. It's funny as fuck. When I detonated and exposed her in front of her BF you should have seen her eyes. She was moist over my boldness but pissed for being exposed at the same time. Girl was a soft 8 but I don't give a shit. Taking your beta bux to the club with you and then giving your number out to guys you see as alpha whilst he's there is fucked up. I wasn't down with that shit. I bet that dumb faggot didn't dump her though due to a scarcity mentality.

<http://illimitablemen.com/2014/03/30/mental-models-abundance-vs-scarcity/>

"By age 18 I pretty much had a DENNIS system together for high school girls." Over 1000+ upvotes on Red-Pill logic re: Obtaining plates

11 upvotes · 12 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Obviously this post is full of basics, which I agree with, but this irked:

Be stoic, funny, and the guy people want to be around. SMV.

You can't be stoic and funny at the same time.

stoicism

'stəʊɪsɪz(ə)m/

noun

the endurance of pain or hardship without the display of feelings and without complaint.

apathy

'apəθi/

noun

lack of interest, enthusiasm, or concern.

The difference between apathy and stoicism is the reasoning for showing no emotion. One shows no emotion because it doesn't care, the other does not show emotionally that it cares, but it does. If anything, you're encouraging people to be apathetically dismissive whilst having a lot of fun by joking around. That isn't stoicism, not even close.

Being funny is a display of feelings, so by dictionary definition, if you choose to handle negativity by laughing it off, the emotions you are employing are not stoic. Stoicism doesn't employ any emotions, not even positive ones. Stoicism is about the rational deconstruction of emotion, the destruction of emotion. A funny joking man is not a stoic he's a dismissive egotist who reframes negativity by applying spin to it so that it compliments his ego. When his ego is happy, his feelings feel good despite the negativity. That is an effective coping mechanism, but it is not stoicism in even the slightest. So if you are enduring pain or hardship and you deal with that by joking around, you are no where close to being stoic.

Do not confuse "not showing you're butthurt by laughing shit off" with being stoic. They are fundamentally different things. If you endure pain, hide the pain and pretend to be happy, you're not being stoic. You just get along with it. You pretend nothing is wrong and get on with your shit. You are "anti-emotional" yes - almost robotic. Stoics are logically interesting but emotionally boring because they're not giving anything. That doesn't make them apathetic, it just makes them emotionally underwhelming.

You cannot be a stoic who displays no feelings whilst laughing those same feelings off. It sounds absolutely absurd. Pick a coping mechanism and stick with it. Stoics tend to rationally deconstruct and focus on a feeling so hard that it disappears. Being a funny guy means you mock a feeling until your ego feels superior to it, therefore the feeling no longer bothers you.

Funny stoic? God, there's an oxymoron if I ever heard one.

Also someone in the comments here said Russell Brand is a stoic, that's laughable, he is not stoic at all. Yes the guy has game, and sometimes seems alpha as fuck (strong ego) but at other times he seems like a whiny bitch. I bet a lot of you have only seen him in that news interview with that bitch in the blue dress. If you'd seen him on Question time against Nigel Farage your view of him would quickly change.

This man is not a stoic, I recommend watching the whole thing, but if you want to just see Russell being pathetic skip to 1:50. Nigel Farage is far more stoic (in general, and in this clip) than Russell. Nigel holds frame like a boss.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=tXKQ6eeyhhU>

"When unattractive men have hit on me, I have honestly been insulted. It's sort of like having an amazing degree and work experience, and someone seriously asking you if you want a minimum wage job."

11 upvotes · 8 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It's not about novelty. It's about ego. Most women are incredibly narcissistic because they live in a delusional self-important princess world. Negging them causes them to feel vulnerability, which leads to feminine behaviour instead of the usual dismissiveness and pumped up boisterousness. Negging is the only way to get the respect or attraction of a narcissistic girl. Sad but true. Women whose ego isn't sky high are becoming increasingly rare. The neg will always be necessary. At least in our lifetime.

Women are always talking about how they find confidence important in men. You never hear guys saying "I love how much self-esteem she has!" do you? No. Bitches with too much self-esteem are more annoying than the whiny ones who are always worried about every tiny little thing. Balance in all things. Unfortunately, we've got too much of the delusional "I can do anything, I'm so special, I can get any guy I want" bullshit going on these days.

Bitches are far too self-important and gassed up these days. Insulting them, making them doubt themselves and penetrating that thick narcissistic confidence is necessary to getting laid. Otherwise, she immediately thinks she is superior to you and therefore, you're unattractive/unworthy of her highness. Women don't make an effort to be feminine or demure anymore, they're stuck-up, bratty and entitled for the most part. When you realise you are dealing with cunts like that, you realise why insulting them generates attraction. If you can insult someone who is that much of a cunt, you communicate in subtext "I have even higher confidence than you, and therefore, I must be superior to you." Superiority real or perceived generates respect and attraction.

Feminism/society, betas as well as the girl's hamster itself have placed them on such a high pedestal that they think they're better than 99% of the men they meet. When the fact is that once you disregard aesthetics, most women are inferior to most men that you meet. They are less talented, less interesting, and whatever. It's all looks charm and ego with bitches, very little have any real depth to them. You have to ruin that self-esteem, or at least lower it, to get them to learn humility, give themselves a more accurate self-assessment and thus assess you as superior. The game is real fucked up these days but once you adapt, it isn't so bad.

By comparison, I find most guys are incredibly unconfident and have huge self-esteem issues. Just walk down the street and read the body language of the most guys you meet. Heads down, avoidant, unassertive. Generally submissive body language. Whereas the bitches swan around like they're the shit.

So the bitches are all gassed up and the guys undervalue themselves. Fucked up times we're in. Neg, neg, neg. Feel no remorse. Ignore her beauty, good chance she's actually not very hot and is extremely reliant on make up anyway.

"You need better makeup and your tits are small, why are you talking to me?"

^ Negs like this are how black knights are born.

Successful Men Are Warriors.

11 upvotes · 30 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

A good question trying to stimulate higher level discussion, but also a tricky challenge. I appreciate this post because it gave me pause for thought.

For a start, the word "knowledge/expertise" is very vast and ambiguous in it's definition. If you mean knowledge in the sense of Machiavellian expertise, then yes, that is, IMO, the ultimate form of power. If you mean you're very good at advanced algebra but have none of the foundations of power as outlined in this post, then no, your expertise is not one of the ultimate forms of power. You are misinterpreting Greene. If Greene thinks being an expert plumber is an ultimate form of power, then he is wrong. It's maximum value is its utility and how that can be leveraged. Without Machiavellian ability, eg: "you are a nice guy" you won't leverage your plumbing skills as "an ultimate form of power." You will be fixing everyone's toilet on the cheap and will be pulled in all directions like an idiot.

I see where he's coming from and I'm inclined to agree in an abstract sense, but I don't agree with how you're interpreting this idea and using it as a counter-argument. Effectively, in terms of the social game, abstract knowledge without an ability to weaponise it is not power, it is knowledge for knowledge's sake and it only has as much power as you can leverage the skill/ability that comes with it. Even that requires some degree of Machiavellianism (see how Machiavellianism is a foundation which all other forms of knowledge rely on to leverage themselves?) Your abstract abilities cannot escape the confines placed on you as an animal in a social paradigm.

Absence of Machiavellian ability your knowledge makes you highly exploitable to those who covet your expertise. They can exploit your abilities and you have no way to defend yourself from them. So just how powerful is your expertise when it can be accessed and disregarded on another's whim? To weaponise knowledge, you need Machiavellianism.

If you look at interviews with Robert Greene you will see he is not exactly a paragon of masculinity. Sure, he is a smart and shrewd man, he is worth listening to, but he is not a role model for masculinity by any measure of the word. Some of the things he says make sense from a purely abstract/strategic point of view, but will harm you if you do not interpret them correctly in your quest to MASTER your own masculinity. Greene is an expert in the theory of strategy, not the cultivation of masculinity.

With that in mind, having the knowledge of the cosmos but not being able to defend yourself mentally means you are a repository. You are constantly giving your power away, you aren't leveraging it, you aren't getting respect or social capital for it. You are squandering, rather than capitalising. You are exploited. This is how I see a lot of computer programmers and the like. Their lack of social intelligence fucks them up like this. People abuse their skills like a buffet, there is no power in that.

If knowledge is power, but you're simply a battery anyone can plug in to and access, are you really powerful? I'd argue not. I'd say you're smart, but I'd also say you're a fool.

Don't think the knowledgeable are necessarily smart, and that the knowledgeable cannot be foolish, that is foolish thinking. We are all capable of great foolishness.

Hence my original assertion: Machiavellianism, alongside physical prowess, is the foundation for all other forms of power. Especially in social and sexual matters.

Ask IllimitableMan

11 upvotes · 30 April 2015 · /r/askTRP

you could work on some sort of daily affirmation men could take, tell themselves, read in the morning, etc.

Are you saying I should write things that men can read on a daily basis that reminds them what it is to be a man/how the world really is and how women really are? To an extent, my twitter feed fills that function, although that isn't it's intent per se.

If I've misinterpreted you, I'm going to need you to elaborate more.

Ask IllimitableMan

11 upvotes · 30 April 2015 · /r/askTRP

It will get you jacked, it will pay your bills, it will teach you discipline, you will have little to no overhead (expenses) and you will have a couple of years to save some serious cash. Afterwards (remember I'm not American) I think you have something called the GI bill which means you can go to university for free. So you will have a fuck ton of bank, and you can do a degree with virtually no debt whilst all your peers are balls deep in debt.

I'd do that if I was a young 20 something with no other prospects or qualifications. All you need is your health to get in (so hopefully you've taken care of yourself, or Chad lent you some of his genetics.) I hear the Marines is the least feminised corps. If you want to push yourself the most, that's what you're aiming for. No half measures in this shit.

Other randomness:

- Stay away from military women, too much nonsense, sexual harassment bullshit and bla bla. Maybe you won't get accused, maybe you will. Don't play Russian roulette with your career, stay the fuck away.
- Don't tell women you're military in case they try to use for your benefits (health insurance and all the other crap that comes with it.)
- Remember if you're in a combat role there's a chance you may die, change you may see shit that will give you PTSD. Sum up the potential risks with the potential benefits. I hear the navy is the best for non-combat roles, but then if you're in a sub you may not see civilization for months at a time. No matter what you do, if you're in combat, you could die, so it's all hazard pay.

I have no military background, these are my opinions (you asked) so if anyone knows better, take this all with a grain of salt.

I cannot believe the shit I heard today. "UK government's aim to have 25% of women in FTSE100?"

11 upvotes · 25 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Men, especially young men, are desperate to have outlets for masculinity here/male mentorship. I can see it in their faces, at least those who didn't go to college. College boys have been completely brainwashed that effeminacy is good, the only ones who buck the trend so to speak are the gym bros or the really rich guys with DT fathers, they got enough test in them to viscerally know everything they're hearing is all bullshit, unfortunately though, they're a minority.

AskReddit gives hundreds of examples on how women will hide things until after marriage

11 upvotes · 25 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Even if I do everything perfectly, AWALT.

You're not wrong, this may give you hope though. Out bullshit the bullshitters.

/r/TheRedPill/comments/2ww4aq/what_women_really_mean_when_calling_a_man_an/couxtl

FOUNDATIONS OF STRENGTH 1 - Ignite the ego i.e. wake the fuck up

11 upvotes · 20 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Part of why lifting helps so much is that higher T = more ego-based/dominant in your interactions. Higher T causes less reflection and more action in my experience.

FOUNDATIONS OF STRENGTH 1 - Ignite the ego i.e. wake the fuck up

11 upvotes · 20 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Nice excerpt OP, can we get a link to the book/source of the text? Thanks.

My Old Coworker Hung Himself

11 upvotes · 12 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't think any woman or man has ever used that excuse when they crashed a car. No one would use such asinine reasoning. Maybe adjusting the seat, but never because you allowed them to drive.

Your pedantic optimism tells me you're new here. Hold back on posting until you've read the sidebar.

I am truly fascinated by a females natural ability to create an assemblage of orbiters, betas and alphas to tend to her different "needs".

11 upvotes · 10 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

They create an "interest" from these guys, a sense of hope. They convince them that it's possible. These relationships work in an emotional level. Females love attention. An it's an ego boost to know that they are desired by so many males.

She was doing this:

<http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-27-play-on-peoples-need-to-believe.html>

Also check law 27 from the 48 laws superthread on the sidebar.

Quick Study On Body Language - Why women don't listen

11 upvotes · 7 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Where does this take us? Frame Structure. "When a person's words and body language are in conflict, women ignore what is said"

My favourite part of this thread.

As long as you as a man is confident (or at least fake it, pull it off and she'll be blind to the difference) with your frame and your words, She will listen. Any conflict in the two and she will sense your weakness.

There is nothing a woman hates more than a pseudo-alpha. The thought of being tricked into consummation with a man of lower tier, a non-dominant male, who in his ruse, fooled her into thinking he was a higher tier man of dominance utterly disgusts her. The deception is akin, I believe, to how we feel when we find out "you're not the father." Personally I am not one for the charades of PUA nor the fakery of superficiality. For my own mental health and likewise, her well-being, I rather struggle to become that which I wish to be, than pretend I already am exactly what I want to be. And of course I am by no means beta, and yet, the standard I set myself is so high that I do not yield to comfort and mediocrity - the slow acting poisons that they are.

Delusion has it's place for many, and indeed, I do not mock those who make it work for them - but for I, my reasoning faculty is too prominent, and as such - I must take the long path. As must all of my intellectual brethren. Wilful self-delusion works best when one has little rational faculty to overcome to begin with. For the intensely logical, such an internal conflict is nigh worth the pain and confusion that it causes. The logician always knows when he's lying to himself, regardless of how he is able to trick himself into feeling. And so likewise, the ever perceptive female will glean the reality of your true nature from the cracks in your appearance if you too are such a man. For such a man, being honest with yourself and confronting your demons head-on is the answer, not pretending you're already the man you wish you were.

TLDR: for some, pretending to be someone else is easy, effortless, enjoyable even. For others, the facade is a mentally exhausting ordeal. Your mileage may vary.

Womanese: "You better not come over here right now." Translation: "Please come over here right now!!!"

11 upvotes · 7 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Sounds like you're putting a lot of thought and energy into your game, having a welcoming bachelor pad and refining the nuance of things to maximise your chances. Good shit. I respect a man with an eye for detail. The small things add up and it's these finishing touches that can close the deal when you have all the big things sorted out (good income/lifting etc.)

Thanks! To all the exotic dancers, escorts, and ladies of comfort and compassion.

11 upvotes · 6 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The owners of Louis Vuitton bags everywhere thank you most profusely.

There's an AskReddit going right now about how it feels to have "settled." A lot of AWALT going on in there.

11 upvotes · 22 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Hahahahah and people try to rationalise bitches aren't Machiavellian? Get the fuck outta here...

I'm interested to know what this "The Rules" book is. Sounds like a "how to manipulate men" howto.

Depression and women in power

11 upvotes · 20 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yes, I believe this to be correct. They want power, they love power, but they hate responsibility more than they like power. Responsibility and taking blame makes women absolutely miserable. It's not the power of their job per se that makes them miserable, but all the blame/responsibility that comes with said power.

Women want power, they don't want the responsibility/pressure/bullshit that comes with it though. Maximum power, minimum responsibility = idealised female fantasy.

Explains why female bosses/leaders are almost always horrendous, delegating blame along with their orders.

Plate, meet my other plate.

11 upvotes · 15 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I want to develop a philosophical system based on Nietzsche/Confucius and Machiavelli in the future. I agree with your premise.

You know how we mock posters about the whole "Her husband might hurt you" observations? Yeah... about that.

11 upvotes · 11 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Here's a link if anyone's interested.

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/femail/article-1035804/Sleeping-enemy-New-book-claims-Frenchwomen-started-baby-boom-Nazi-men-Vichy-regime.html>

Reddit's fiance goes with "mutual" friend to "gym" for four hours and sends bathroom snapchats at 3am.

11 upvotes · 8 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Not everything she wants. She got AF. Don't be her BB by letting her live in your house rent-free. Should be a no-brainer.

/r/Tinder pats itself on the back for being "edgy" for discussing a 100% redpill Tinder profile

11 upvotes · 3 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

You're rightly sensing elevated T levels in her facial bone structure. Probably a lot of prenatal T in her mother's womb. Probably also means she has a high sex drive/is a massive slut because she's a high T woman. Probably also explains why she's on Tinder looking for dick. Analysis is a bitch.

Some TRP nuggets from my Russian Grandmother.

11 upvotes · 25 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Greed and promiscuity. No impulse control on either. No deferred gratification or honour. Total lack of family values. Not the things that made America great to begin with, may I add. It's just one civilization's decline being amplified onto the world via it's media influence as it slowly crumbles. I'm English, I love America. It's in my best-interest to see America do well, similar cultures, language etc. Better bet for me than China or Russia ruling the world. With them I'd have to adapt to new ways of thinking, learn a new language and bla bla just to access the most powerful economy and communicate with those people. Neither of those languages are close to my native tongue and I'm not a child, so achieving that will be immensely difficult. However just because it's beneficial for me to "be on team america" it doesn't mean I'm blind to the flaws of american culture. You shouldn't be either. Don't let nationalism obscure your objectivity. You can love something and realise it's fucked up at the same time. I feel the same about my own county. I love my people, but I realise this place is fucked up beyond measure. Usually it's the fault of government and the shitty ideology they're peddling, "the people" are just casualties in a cultural war they don't even realise is taking place.

[48 Days of Power] Day 35 - "Master the art of timing."

11 upvotes · 19 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Timing is crucial to the punchline of a joke. But the same mechanism likewise applies to war. Why? Basic human psychology. Timing is based on your environment, that which is immediately visible and on the extraneous variables which pertain to the scenario. I'll give some dumb comedy based examples. Making a farting noise randomly may be funny, it may be seen as immature or annoying. Making a farting noise precisely as someone sits down has far more chance to be perceived as funny rather than annoying. Why? Because it is at least believable that said person farted as they sat down. If you walked past a dog in the passenger seat of a car and you said "look that dog's driving a car" people would look and see it in the passenger and think you're an idiot. If you were on the other side of the road with the same people and the dog stood up in the passenger looked, from a distance, as if it was in the driver's seat and then said "look that dog's driving a car!" it would be hilarious. Why? Because it's believable and relevant. I realise I'm giving really dumb examples here, but it's a simple way to highlight an intricately vast and serious point without going full essay mode.

Related laws: enter action with boldness - create compelling spectacles (both are elements of theatricism)

Feminist CEO tries to emulate Steve Jobs. What could go wrong.

11 upvotes · 17 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Then again, since I live off investments, it would be hilarious if all of my wage & salary slaves were women.

I can almost taste the schadenfreude from here.

Everything you need to know about shit tests

11 upvotes · 15 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah I like that, I do it occasionally myself. I suppose that specific strategy would fall under "Misdirect" in the "shit test passing" section. Good post dude.

TRP is a REALITY, not a Methodology

11 upvotes · 12 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

In before some faggot says "my reality may not be the same as your reality, how do I know that your reality even exists?" and all this useless misdirecting philosophical shit. TRP validates itself a thousand times over and is largely corroborated. The denialists should fuckoff. Got no time for blue and purple pillers and their inability to reconcile their programming with the findings presented by TRP.

Chinese man moves to Ukraine and lands a 17 year beauty.

11 upvotes · 12 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Cultural bullshit affecting attraction cues. Asians want to be whiter, caucasians want to be darker. Personally think southeast asians have great fucking skin.

A discomfoting realization I had about male SMV based on Rational Male's chart.

11 upvotes · 12 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

When you're a bitch's best chance of a guaranteed pay cheque for 2 decades because she has no marketable skills, just sexual value that is depreciating.. this shit gets serious. Most women are only good for fucking, and spermjacking is how they try to fuck you over. Gotta be shrewd out there!

[48 Days of Power] Day 22 - "Use the surrender tactic: transform weakness into power."

11 upvotes · 7 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I understand where you are coming from. I agree. However fabricating weakness and actually being weak are entirely different things. Pretending to be weak does not make you weak. It just paints an illusion of weakness. It allows you to get a free pass where you shouldn't or catch an enemy off guard because they underestimate you. Likewise too much aggression can be perceived as posturing and insecurity. You have to calibrate to your social surroundings, be a chameleon. If you are inside a government building full of beta office drones, that is not the time to go gorilla mode. You will not impress, you will intimidate. And by intimidating people in a higher position than you, you don't get anywhere, you raise their ire.

Gorilla mode is for when you're out with your bros tearing up the town. Typical male pride does not like seeming weak, or even exploiting legitimate weaknesses for self-gain, however a Machiavellian isn't held back by such things. They say "pride to the side" and do what needs to be done to get it done. The "average alpha" compromises the mission for his pride, but he won't compromise his pride for the mission. His pride, his sense of masculinity that his sense of self is tied up in comes first, and strategically that can undo him. It can be exploited against him. Because all it takes is one person who doesn't give a fuck to come along, and he's out manoeuvred, paralysed by his own pride to respond. Men often stay silent out of pride, but men have feelings, they just deny their own feelings for not wanting to seem weak. In fact, I find it really easy to provoke men who are "loud and proud types." These type of men lack basic self-control and are easily provoked into a scrap/a loss of frame. For example, as much as I loved Patrice O'Neal, he was so reactive it was hilarious. He was like a dog waiting to chew on a steak. Anyhow, you don't have to "obey" every law. They're not "laws" in the strictest sense, more like guide points for clueless people on business and social strategy.

To rephrase this into TRP lexicon, basically sometimes you need to play beta game, if you seem too alpha people get intimidated and assume you're guilty/bad when you're not, they just can't handle that much testosterone. This is what this law is getting at. It may seem or "feel" alpha to fight every battle that comes your way, but the Machiavellian argument is that behaving in such a way is energy inefficient, time consuming, and basically not worth the hassle. Better to act disadvantaged and get what you want rather than hold onto your pride and be none the better for it. Like I said to OP, won't go down well here, although strategically it's solid. In a society of constant victim Olympics, I'd say this law is even more relevant to everyday dynamics actually.

Loud and proud men don't make compromises. Machiavellians make them tactically. Different types of alpha forging their own paths in different ways. There is no "right" way. As long as you don't go full hamster and start acting like a bitch all the time for no real fucking gain, you're cool. Also, if you find this working for you, don't get addicted to acting like a pussy. It's despicable and will cause pussy to dry up faster than you can say "hi."

The Sexodus, Part 1: The Men Giving Up On Women And Checking Out Of Society

11 upvotes · 5 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Really good post dude.

Were it that I could effect some change on society I'd be all on board, but I honestly feel that the decline is inevitable due to the number of women and idiotic men on board the progressiveness train. What else can one do but fuck lots of women in the meanwhile?

Build a bunker to survive the fallout.

That said, I feel where you're coming from. I've lost a lot of respect for women during my time in TRP. I accept them for what they are, but they'll never have the respect that I bear for other men, with a handful of exceptions like Camille Paglia.

Completely hear you and agree 100%. I feel the same way about women. Feminism is this strange societal level shit test where women try to achieve the level of respect that men inspire without having to go through and meet the same levels of personal growth, strife and expectations that they do.

Share your monk mode experience

11 upvotes · 20 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I am still struggling with building a more masculine appearance and more extroverted nature

Got to believe you are better than women and be visibly arrogant. Pass shit tests. Join the local comedy club/watch a lot of stand-up, this will help you come out of yourself.

Who the fuck posted this on couchsurfing?

11 upvotes · 9 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Spergs are annoying as hell. Can never see the forest for the trees. It's all about the details with 'em. If you're reading this Boscop, this includes you.

Edit: Boscop claims it wasn't him.

Understanding How a Dark Triad Psychopath Operates

11 upvotes · 2 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah psychopaths share Briffaults Law with women.

Understanding How a Dark Triad Psychopath Operates

11 upvotes · 2 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Ah grammar, my arch nemesis. You should see some of my old shit, it's horrendous. I'll have my own editor one day. Until that time, tough shit.

David Deida's The Way of the Superior Man is a treasure trove of Red Pill Wisdom.

11 upvotes · 30 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

A good book is easily forgotten when it has been purchased, but not started. However find both the time and will to read the thing, and that same dusty collection of pages so easily forgotten now becomes absolutely unforgettable.

"Over 75% of women prefer FLAB to abs" says sex therapist

11 upvotes · 28 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Quite right. Comfort breeds complacency, complacency breeds mediocrity. Hardship will always be necessary. In fact, to actualise masculinity, men need it. The fact modern life is so comfy and easy is part of the reason modern men are as effeminate as they are.

Take the Edge off the Anger Phase with Hanlon's Razor

11 upvotes · 20 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Lots of beta males are very smart men they have just been indoctrinated their whole lives to see the world in a way which is not true to the reality of human nature, hence they don't "understand the game" and are easily exploited. In fact the smartest beta men earn big bucks and then get exploited as beta bux. They are smart enough to earn huge bank but brainwashed to misunderstand sexual dynamics, the very real art of machiavellianism and the implications this has both for them and how society operates beneath the surface. The rabbit hole is invisible to them. Whilst we here navigate the rabbit hole analysing and deducing as we go, sharing our insight with one another, they never enter the rabbit hole because they cannot even see it. They are brainwashed to believe in the blue pill narrative. Unaware? Yes. Stupid? Not necessarily. You don't gain 50 IQ points for discovering the red pill, you simply start deprogramming all the neoliberal propaganda you've been fed by media/the education system, your mothers hamster and etc for your entire life.

"The Female As Enemy" - Of all the things, a red pill Amazon book review I stumbled upon.

11 upvotes · 12 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

His wikipedia page says he's literally Hitler.

Anyone Start Getting "Alpha" friends after Swallowing the Pill?

11 upvotes · 2 October 2014 · /r/askTRP

Yep. I have one beta friend and I see him the least of all my friends. Most are alphas/sigmas. Then again I'm something of a sigma, very selective who I friend up. Rather spend time alone than spend time with people that irritate me. Unlike most, who seem to value company at all costs. I'm not an introvert, either.

"Males achieved significantly and substantially higher scores than females in general knowledge"

11 upvotes · 23 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

They're quite literally trying to manufacture equality of outcome at the expense of talent or ingenuity.

How to maintain frame: don't take anything women say seriously.

11 upvotes · 19 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Totally agree, so many women are terrible cooks, not to mention terrible lays.

#WhyIStayed Case Study, Attractiveness and Domestic Violence

11 upvotes · 12 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Being dark triad is the equivalent of being an asshole on steroids. We all know women dig assholes for their ability to serve as an unending supply of drama. DTs are interesting to chicks because they're either doing some crazy shit or fucking with her to get her to hamster/emote. The whole time they do it, they hold frame like a boss. For DTs holding frame is like breathing air.

That aside, most men hate DT men. They make shitty friends.

BBC documentary: "The Century of the Self" - How those in power have used Freud's theories to try and control the dangerous crowd in an age of mass democracy

11 upvotes · 2 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Sounds immensely interesting. I'll endeavour to watch this.

Edit: actually already seen this, it's a good documentary. Makes me think of Noam Chomsky's Manufacturing Consent which I've been told about in minor detail, but not read for myself (yet.)

So with a lot of young men moving off to college, what are some general college tips that TRP can give that generally others will not?

11 upvotes · 18 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Or you can just point out that feminism actually isn't about equal rights at all, point to the DV research there is to support that position, and watch her stop calling herself a feminist.

I talk about feminism with other guys. Talking about feminism with women is a clusterfuck, I'm not going to validate their vapid self-serving opinions (this is not always the case, but usually is.) If you take it seriously you'll end up finding yourself infuriated. Going into an argument/debate with a woman expecting her to logic and play nice rather than make dominance plays / mind games is naive. If you're going to get into it go into it with total outcome dependence and amused mastery (so going in with the mindset of a troll would work.)

Russell Brand is red pill as fuck.

11 upvotes · 17 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Co-signing cocaine. Made a comment awhile back on how it increases DT traits.

Edit: Read this comment thread - http://www.reddit.com/r/TheRedPill/comments/2c402x/what_are_some_unethicaldark_triadmachiavellian/cjbx9bb

Looks and Labor: Do Attractive People Work More?

11 upvotes · 9 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Passive symptoms:

- Less attractive people are less likely to have the confidence to go and work in areas where they deal with the public as they are less likely to experience the feel-good positive feedback cycles that attractive people experience.
- The interviewer is less likely to hire them based on any sexual attraction to them. In customer facing roles attractive people give the company a good image and may increase sales or encourage repeat custom. I've worked in places where men would come in and buy shit just so they could see one of the chicks working there and chat to her for a minute.

Unattractive people have to prove themselves as an asset in ways that aren't immediately discernible (and thus someone who considers themselves to be perpetually busy won't bother taking the time to find out such a person's worth) whilst attractive people immediately upon a glance are seen as having value.

Further related: the halo effect

MGTOW Questions.

11 upvotes · 3 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

How do you "ghost" and survive without the system?

- Expat to another system.
- Live in the countryside on your own small farm with solar panels/a generator. I guess you'd need "the system" for water unless there's a way to sort yourself out with an independent water supply.
- Find a great tax avoidance scheme so you don't exit the system but can legally avoid paying your full liability into it as not to feed the system. Some very creative schemes in some jurisdictions can leave you with a liability as little as 1%, usually involves giving up your job (on paper) but having your wage paid into a charitable trust in a low tax jurisdiction and then loaned back to you at 1%. That one was working in the UK for a long time, not sure if that's still how it works. Find yourself a machiavellian accountant who understands the system in your jurisdiction.

Women & The Death of Femininity

11 upvotes · 20 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Great insight. Your first definition of hardening would appear to be the only one where women can become stronger without sacrificing their femininity in the process, this is more akin to self-improvement rather than "hardening", sure in a way they lose some naivety, but this is not necessarily becoming "hardened" aka increasingly masculinised and bitter from experience. Unfortunately this type of hardening is absent in developed nations, which of course being an Englishman is the perspective I talk from. Even women in poverty here would fall under definition 2 or 3 due to the feminist influence and relative wealth they are surrounded by.

Ask Women, what is most important when it comes to ONS/Casual Hook Ups... RedPill Confirmed.

11 upvotes · 4 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The fact women are so shitty nowadays is the reason I've come to appreciate my mother more than I ever did before TRP. I know that's a woman who unconditionally loves me, and will do so regardless of who or what I am. No other woman is going to have that kind of loyalty or compassion for me and make the same level of sacrifice that my mother has and will do for me.

A mother will almost always put you above herself in terms of priority, a wife or girlfriend will not, they will always put themselves first and expect you to do the same, unlike your mother, these women are selfish and out for themselves completely and utterly and perhaps most heartbreakingly of all, they are incapable of that type of love. A mother sees you as her baby no matter how old you are, she will always love you in the way that only a mother can. Mothers are a real treasure because no matter how old you get you're on the receiving end of maternal love. A lot of guys look for this same kind of love in their romantic lives but it is short-sighted, any woman other than your mother cannot love you like that, romantic non-familial love doesn't work like that. Romantic love in women is far inferior, it is utterly conditional, fleeting, and opportunistic without loyalty. None of the loyalty or compassion of motherly love is there. They don't want to give you motherly love, they want to receive strong paternal love (loyalty, makes her feel special, makes her feel safe blah blah blah.)

You see another way women "win" is they look for a man that was like her father, strong, makes her feel safe and etc and they can have that when they find it in a guy who has those traits. If a man looks for the kind of love his mother gave him, he will be utterly disappointed because no woman will show him those traits and even in the obscure scenario where he does manage to find a simulacrum of such a thing, the relationship will quickly degenerate as he "failed to take charge", unlike your mother, you can't be vulnerable with these women without being punished, they will detest you for weakness, they will find you unattractive and at the very worst a woman scorned will hate you for it.

Being a man is fucking hard and underappreciated shit. I salute all the husbands and fathers out there basically giving up their happiness for the greater good, most of them are fucking miserable because they're always in last place. A woman is only expected to put her children first, as a man you're expected to put women and children first. You're the least important person in the equation and that hits home most at the emotional level where like any human you have psychological needs that nobody else is there to fulfil. We're taught by BP society that relationships are mutual and reciprocal, that you should share these things with your significant other, but the men here can all attest doing that spells disaster for the relationship, these women aren't really interested in your weakness, and even if they do care about you like that, as soon as you show that side of yourself to them a switch flips and the hamster starts explaining why they "don't feel the same about you anymore." I've said it before and I'll say it again, you are the end of the line, the kid can look up to its parents, the woman can look up to her man but who do you have? Nobody but yourself. It's a tough red pill to swallow. This is why good male friendships are so important, they can relate to where you come from without immediately disrespecting you for showing human weakness. When it comes to a women you need to be solid as a rock, stoic to the end, slaughtering shit tests, basically you'd be very sexy if you had the emotional resilience of a robot, ironically, something many women project onto men as a caricature of our emotional complexity, little do they know...

Be selfish, dismissive, amused, and communicate less -- the keys to success

11 upvotes · 13 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha, great, negative reinforcement to elicit a desirable pavlovian response.

Catching girls mirin'

11 upvotes · 4 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I didn't read a single comment through all that scrolling that even mentioned how "creepy" it was for those girls to snap shots of his dick. It's only wrong if a guy does it

Because even BP world knows women are the gatekeepers to sex whilst men are the gatekeepers to commitment. Thus, if a woman is showing you unwanted sexual interest, it's not harassment because she's offering you something that is in demand, it is just an invitation in poor taste. Whereas when a man shows a woman unwanted sexual interest, it is only unwanted because he is low SMV and thus labelled "creepy."

It's like saying, people think you're desperate when you try to sell your goods down the pawn shop, but when the pawn shop tries to sell you things, it's OK, if you don't want their crappy second hand games and used televisions, someone else does. Apply to men and women. People think men are desperate when they want to fuck a girl, but she's not interested. Inversely when a woman wants to fuck a man but he's not interested it's fine because unlike a rejected man, there is an assumption she can get sex elsewhere. A man who gets plenty of pussy but is rejected by one girl would not be seen as creepy either, it's just that most guys don't fall into that category. If a guy is high smv and he is rejected, rather than be labelled as creepy the other girls would look to snap him up, enabling preselection, and probably triggering jealousy/regret in the girl who originally rejected him.

This is simply the matter of a "buyer" being creepy because "he is not good enough to buy" but a seller (a woman) is not creepy because there is always someone else for her to "sell" her goods to, the problem is not what she's offering because lots of people want it, the problem is what the buyer wants. To sum it up, the rejected girl couldn't get one guy to fuck her but there's an inherent belief she could easily get another to fuck her so she isn't "creep shamed." Most guys getting rejected can't get laid anyway and everyone can see that. Women who aren't ugly are all inherently blessed with a certain amount of value just for being women, that is, they are sexually desirable [to a point] for all men to want to fuck. Even a male 10 will fuck a female 6 given the right situation. Are female 10s fucking male 6's (without it being considered high-end prostitution?) No.

#yesallwomen

11 upvotes · 28 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Also, unfollow those women who make those huge generalization on your twitter feed. They aren't worth your acquaintance.

Listen to this. She's demonstrating she cannot separate herself from the herd and assert her own opinions independent of groupthink, if she had legitimate arguments to make she should be capable of doing so without jumping on a media hype circus, the only exception to a woman using the hashtag in an acceptable manner of course is to use the hashtag to undermine the people utilising the hashtag to be misandrist, or otherwise whine about how difficult their overprivileged lives are. Overprivileged does not mean they do not face difficulties, we all do, life is inherently difficult for everybody, but it is less difficult for some than it is for others, and for those who get the most assistance and support to stand on ceremony and complain loudly so those who are helped less are forced to listen is nothing short of arrogant and small-minded. I think a more apt description of #YesAllWomen is #FirstWorldProblems, a lot of the things moaned about are so small-minded in nature that they aren't even worthy of attention, such as how you do not like how people look at you. That's something you'll never change and it applies to both sexes, yet I bet if you were to explore that hashtag, you'd find a number of women using the hashtag as an excuse to moan about this minor contrivance, amplifying their innocence and victimhood whilst decrying the evils of the glancing man.

Roosh's Cultural Collapse Theory

11 upvotes · 21 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

No idea why you're talking about black people, race isn't the issue, the way of life is, which is that it isn't sustainable due to cultural/moral decay. Blacks in the UK make the same mistake as whites and any other non-muslim culture living here, they gave up religion or at least stopped practicing it as strongly as their previous generations did and at the same time they accepted feminism, the blacks in the UK, without immigration, will dwindle in number just as the whites have because they have adopted "white culture" as their way of life, that is, anti-religion, hook-up culture, and women putting education before family etc. The only race/culture/peoples of any kind replacing itself are those who still believe strongly in religion and reject feminism, eg: the majority of muslims in the UK who are of the pakistani offshoot.

I'm disappointed when I see such blunt statements as London & Birmingham being "full of muslims"

The irony of this is, if the muslims had actually integrated with the rest of the country and not built such a strong wall between secularism and islam to highlight the differences between themselves and everyone else, they'd be experiencing the same cultural/moral decay that all the non-muslims are in society. Instead, they are thriving. What I think of their culture or whether I like it is irrelevant, they are growing whilst the rest of us dwindle in number without immigration. Don't make a race issue out of a cultural issue, any race that becomes anglicised will experience the same problems that whites are, like I said, it's mostly a white problem because anti-religion and feminism started in the white world, but non-white cultures are not immune to the problem, eg: the hispanics in the U.S if they were to become less catholic within a few generations and adopt feminism. If non-white countries import the problem, they will experience the same social decay seen in the commonwealth and EU.

The point to take from this is not that minority cultures are a problem per se, all cultures have their problems, but that white culture in itself is the huge problem when it comes to cultural sustainability. I thought I made that clear in my first post when I said "white culture was not sustainable." I would call it "English culture" but then the French and Germans etc are experiencing the same problem, so much to my distaste I've had to use the racially charged term "white" to explain exactly what I mean which makes you think about race when I'm trying to discuss culture, it is an issue shared throughout the developed world and is mostly a white problem, but the Japanese and South Koreans are experiencing it too so perhaps we could call it a "developed world problem."

The South Koreans and Japanese are breeding below replacement numbers (each couple producing 1.24 children in 2011 in SK), but they haven't taken on multiculturalism so THEY ARE dwindling in number rather than replacing themselves with other races/cultures through immigration. All things considered and in that respect, western europe is probably one of the most racially tolerant places in the world, save a few disenchanted often undereducated indigineous and some sporadic extremism, everyone gets along quite well, or at least well enough to live in harmony. Very few people approve of or practice racism here, it is more taboo than sexism, however that doesn't stop people using it manipulatively to control discourse and refute arguments rather than try to see if there is any merit to the argument. It is far easier to just refute someone as racist rather than analyse the basis for their argument and see if it holds any merit. Unfortunately in British politics between minorities and the white majority I see the race card being applied far too liberally. It's sad really, calling someone racist is like calling someone a misogynist, it just ends the conversation by defaming someone, you cannot learn or get along with someone when you're going to apply such derogatory labels to them like that.

Edit: spellings/typos

I don't hate women, I just don't respect them, and unless many changes within their gender come about, I never will.

11 upvotes · 16 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Gotta stay sharp! <3

Last night I got one of the best compliments a man can receive.

11 upvotes · 27 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I won't look out for a chick unless she has something to offer. Most chicks aren't likeable they're just fuckable. Being fuckable isn't enough for me to invest emotion and mental energy into a bitch. I'll only be the stoic for a chick I actually like. Most chicks are incredibly annoying people to be around, I can't be fucked with their bullshit. The hotter she is, the more annoying she will be. Hot bitches don't have to learn to think for themselves.

Inside the mind of a female CEO. Hint: much hamstering

11 upvotes · 24 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Undoubtedly she fucked up, briffault's law alone will only take a woman so far. She didn't have the intelligence to look further ahead and cover her own ass, instead she's blogging on linkedin like an idiot. Hah.

Machiavellian books?

11 upvotes · 24 April 2014 · /r/RedPillBooks

Strategy: 48 Laws of Power

Charm: How to make friends and influence people

Seduction: Art of Seduction

Can you imagine 18 years from now?

11 upvotes · 13 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

other diseases (some of them purposely released by governments made in military labs)

You talking about things like H1N1? I got that because our state college was forcing people to COME IN WHILST IT WAS STILL HIGHLY CONTAGIOUS, they were actually threatening expulsion if people didn't come in, naturally, I went in fearing for my place, caught it off someone else who was ill but likely also scared to lose their place and thus not absent, but present to spread the disease and hence I quickly became sick. Since I caught swine flu I noticed I get ill far more easier than I used to, in the past I could go a winter without a cough or cold, since I caught swine flu, every winter without fail I get a cough/mucus. Looks like it permanently weakens the immune system.

This shit sounds kinda conspiratorial but I wouldn't put it past them.

Quit Being a Thirsty Pushover and She'll Try to Jump into Your Pants.

11 upvotes · 9 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah the idea you're taking someone's innocence away leads to a power fantasy.

In reality the pussy feels like shit and the sex sucks.

[Norway/Bulgaria] - I've lived in both and here are the main differences between Western and Eastern women.

11 upvotes · 7 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Let's put it this way. If they integrate, nobody will care. If they do not integrate, expect the holocaust or something equally chaotic and evil to repeat itself due to the ensuing religious and cultural clash.

The middle class educated muslims are not a problem, they integrate well and do not engage in extremism. The uneducated muslims that come to Europe to live on welfare are the issue, and they breed like rabbits. They are the ones who riot and hold racist attitudes towards non-muslims and especially, white Europeans. Double this with the fact that since feminism, the indigeneous breed less than they do and the population projections for a number of European countries means within the next 30 or 40 years they will have Islamic majorities, especially in the smaller European states (Swedens pop is like 10 mil, Belgium's is just a few mil too).

Most reactionaries are able to see what's happening to Europe via mass third world immigration and specifically what effect muslim peasants (not the middle class) have on their host nations.

Sweden, and Belgium are set to have muslim majority populations by 2050-2060~ with Germany also being significantly influenced. Europe's due another war, I'm sure we'll all see it somewhere towards the end of our lives (our kids will have to deal with the mess they've been left with)

All of this is causing the rise of right wing anti immigration nationalist parties to spring up around Europe and year by year they're getting more of the vote as people who were previously unaffected by said "islamification" are now seeing the effects and changing their vote preference based on "who will do something about the problem"

If it's not solved through politics, it will be solved through bloodshed and civil war, mark my words.

I wish you were right about their integration, but there are enough Europeans who will tell you with the sternest face, that you are indeed wrong. Too many of them DO NOT.

Google "muslim riots in france" or "muslim riots in sweden" to see what I'm talking about. They've even rioted in Australia.

Also, check this: <http://www.gatestoneinstitute.org/4130/islamization-germany>

I'm not going to say anymore about it here because I don't want to derail this poor man's thread any further.

Introducing a girl to TRP

11 upvotes · 5 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

when what you say gets misinterpreted.

Which with woman's reasoning faculty and hyper emotionalism you can guarantee it will.

TRP knowledge from older generation of women.

11 upvotes · 31 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You should post this on /r/redpillwomen too.

My own sister, is a perfect example of a woman who hit the Wall HARD.

11 upvotes · 30 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

From my community, dating a white guy is high status for a woman of color.

Why?

If your SMV is low, EG: you're fat, poor, unpopular or whatever then forget women/socialising/doing pointless shit for a good year 6 months to a year - just be utterly selfish forget everyone else and go do your own thing.

11 upvotes · 26 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I consider this my best post on the sub:

/r/TheRedPill/comments/1ypnv3/red_pill_antibiotic_nuke_come_and_feed/

If your SMV is low, EG: you're fat, poor, unpopular or whatever then forget women/socialising/doing pointless shit for a good year 6 months to a year - just be utterly selfish forget everyone else and go do your own thing.

11 upvotes · 25 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm a cynic myself but I believe in self improvement because it has a basis in reality, growth exists - it's not made-up bullshit. I'm not saying everyone is going to be an alpha male in 6 months, I'm saying if you take time out to improve yourself in 6 months to a year you'll be in a much better position in the social game. No matter what your bottleneck is, self improvement leads to rewards. The simple thing being advocated here is go and put the time in now, fuck being distracted and bothering with the social game while you're in such a poor position, go and invest in yourself, then later on you can reap the rewards with the increase in your value. Nobody said anyone was going to become a celebrity within a year now did they?

I don't understand why you disagree so strongly and you haven't really articulated why that is, (assertions without solid reasoning) but whatever, I don't really have the time or inclination to explore that shit. Catch you later man.

"What do women do they think is attractive that is actually unattractive?" question thread leads to a lot of revealing male insights that just proves we're all living in an RP world, just no one DIRECTLY admits it.

11 upvotes · 24 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Faking beauty reminds me of that story where a Chinese guy sued and divorced his wife when she gave him ugly babies, the babies were so ugly he thought she had cheated on him and demanded a paternity test, turns out she didn't cheat but because she had $50k of cosmetic surgery to make herself look hot that's why the babies were ugly.

http://sharing.abc15.com/sharewews//photo/2013/11/11/plastic-surgery-1_20131111084307_640_480.JPG

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/news/article-2223718/Chinese-man-sues-wife-ugly-court-AGREES--awarding-120-000.html>

Man receives $567K in damages after being forced to motorboat boss's breasts. That's $283K per boob.

11 upvotes · 24 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

They're so saggy she has third world servants maintaining their latitude.

Beta husband falls for the "polyamory trap" lets other men fuck his wife. Guess what happens?

11 upvotes · 24 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

He should start lifting, he'll probably get his erections back.

Stood up a girl for the first time in my life.

11 upvotes · 18 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't take such a zen approach to destructive behaviours. I'm far more no tolerance. There's always a way to diffuse responsibility if you're creative enough.

You simply re-educate the both of them.

Yeah if you have both the time and the inclination AND they actually want your help, that can be an option. Typically these people will live out their own self-fulfilling prophecies of failure, can't save 'em all.

I hold destructive behaviour in contempt, no matter who the fault ultimately lies with, there is always a modicum of blame on the person perpetuating the destruction. Typically men will take more responsibility than women do, but it's hilarious how men will find ways to blame themselves for really bad shit that a woman has done, because if he'd hypothetically done X there's an unsubstantiated assumption that she never would have done such a despicable act, and it's funny how a woman complements this with saying he should have hypothetically done X and automatically agrees with the unsubstantiated hypothetical scenario that she would have acted far more moral and not committed the heinous act had he behaved in such a manner and therefore we reach the slippery slope conclusion that the fact SHE ACTUALLY DID Y is not her fault even though SHE DID IT, nobody else.

It's fucking hilarious, honestly. Totally hilarious. I understand the dynamic fully from a relationship point of view, I understand why it is this way and why it works like this, but it is not rational at all, and the acceptance of this is one of the most irrational TRP ideas that men widely accept, that shit is always their fault. I think there's a limit to how much responsibility we should really be taking, I mean if you're setting boundaries and doing your bit and she's still being a cunt, ain't your fault, she's broken, fuck her, but she'd abuse your idea of "being a man" to get away with blue murder. If you trust a woman to be a woman, trust her to exploit your sense of duty and your rationalism to never be held accountable for jack shit.

The topic of agency is often a funny one. If you argue enough you can quite literally diffuse all destructive behaviour in the world as simply being "is." I can fuck over everybody important to you and then say well the works of machiavellian texts and my upbringing caused me to have those abilities and I was only acting as a conduit for the impressions of my nurture, and therefore it's not really my fault I'm a total asshole, don't hold me in contempt, I'm just a product of a set of variables, perhaps you can "re-educate" me. See that's where I disagree, if I'm an asshole I'm going to own that shit. I'm not responsibility averse, but then neither am I hyper responsible, taking responsibility for shit which has nothing to do with me simply because I'm fucking a person who is averse to keeping a lid on their own shit.

You see where I'm going, it gets kinda pathetic, the whole men = hyperagency and women = hypoagency bullshit.

Mans responsibility is to look after women, women exploit this sense of duty to not be held accountable in any way at all for their transgressions, even when a man was sufficiently alpha or otherwise on his game and thus not even indirectly responsible for her BS. Guys blame themselves and take on "hyper responsibility" which for a machiavellian by the way, is simply some fucking delightful shit. She never loses when you blame yourself for her shit rather than call her on it. I'll hold her in contempt and call a woman on her shit everytime she tries to cross a line. We tend to accept the pill differently, I expect women to take the piss if you let them, and even when you don't, they'll occasionally find a way to go around you and take the piss anyway. It's in that situation you're an idiot to think it's your fault she bypassed you, despite unequal levels of rationalism, she has a fully functioning WILL and way of instigating that WILL and I hold a bitch personally responsible for any such WILL she chooses to exercise, fully and unconditionally.

When I do choose to "take responsibility" its a tactical move, I don't truly actually fucking believe I'm responsible for her laughable ineptitude unless as part of the relationship contract I failed to set a boundary or back up my words with actions. Basically if I'm being shit as a man I'll own it, but I won't be convinced any shittiness she displays independent of any such slip-up as being the fault of myself. Fuck "hyper responsibility" it's bullshit.

5 Things Women Need To Do In Their 20's (Or Else The Suffragists Died For Nothing)

11 upvotes · 16 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

LMFAO.

Me and my girlfriends have a mantra, "If he makes you tingle, let him eat you like a Pringle." This is something to live by for all twenty something women. Sure, he's not gonna buy you any nice gifts, send you cute texts that make you feel like the only girl in the world and you might burn your feet on the hot sand of many exoduses of shame, but lord is he hot. Sorry (#notsorry) to all the creepy, short guys who come up to me and my girlfriends at the bar, the library or in the street, you don't have a chance, so do us a huge just leave us alone.

Women in academia are less likely than men to cooperate with lower-ranked colleagues, study shows (xpost from /r/psychology)

11 upvotes · 4 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Social "science" departments can be the biggest collectives of fucks.

Which is why when some redditor accuses me of "not giving studies enough weight" I scoff because he gives unproven "science" if you can even use that word way too much weight.

Social sciences are as unabashedly biased as they come from a position of towing a politically correct feminist viewpoint, coming from such a place such studies are pseudoscience at best, science in the truest sense of the word does not care about the sensibilities of popularly held ideology, I mean shit, it was going up against catholicism in medieval Europe, feminism is that new catholicism, can't be openly opposing those with power and hope to get away with it. Social sciences are in a fucking dark age thanks to feminism. Fuck your feelings and your funding for women's social initiatives, we want objective truths, I'd go as far to argue feminism due to its political power holds back much of the study into sexually dimorphic social psychology, that norwegian documentary "brainwashed" is a great example of how a whole nation of academics are citing "it's all culturally constructed!" whilst having no proof to the contrary, how ironically unscientific of them.

Academia honestly needs to start making critical thinking mandatory, especially when people want to use "science" as an argument for their agendas and then devolve the scientific process into the lowest common denominator by playing a political game with how studies are funded, thus shaping what actually passes for funding and thus what "discoveries" are made.

Women who have nothing to offer

11 upvotes · 4 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Your value to other people is determined by their need for what you have to offer them (intelligence, advice, support, etc.).

When it comes to female to male relations the big one you're missing here is male validation aka FEELS or "emotional validation" that women inherently desire and value. She needs to feel desired and pretty and blah blah blah.

All relationships are an exchange of what you have to offer. Your value to other people is determined by their need for what you have to offer them.

That's business. Invest in yourself, we're all one man businesses in the social market.

women have very little to offer men that they either can't get themselves or can't get from their close male friends.

Men charge other men far less for comedy and advice in the social contract, there's less emotion involved and its dispensed in a way we understand and appreciate.

While it has been established before, alpha men typically have more of these things to offer in their relationships with others, which makes them more valuable to the people around them.

Yeah they've invested in themselves the most. The gym and your physical shit is a passive benefit that leads to increased sexual success and bonus social stature (quite literally) but thats it. There needs to be a lot of personality investment and skill investment to really have social leverage, to give an example I know a few guys in far better physical shape than I and they clean up in the clubs, but socially outside a drinking atmosphere they do terribly because they lack the wit and inner game to befriend people in formal or less sexualised settings where their major asset isn't being accentuated and the crutch of alcohol/drugs isn't available or encouraged. This isn't me describing all guys who are ripped, that's me describing a certain type of guy, one who worked his ass off in the gym but still has far to go psychologically speaking. Most people equate alpha with gym body, but that's not enough in and of itself you need to be well-rounded.

It has also been stated here that typically, aside from sex and maybe cooking

Many men are learning to cook, especially MGTOW alpha bachelors who don't want anything other than harems and thus cook for themselves. Sure chicks may cook for you, but plenty of them can't even cook anymore and furthermore it's a strategic weakness to be dependant on anyone, especially a woman, for a good meal in your belly if that's the life route you've taken (MGTOW), even if you're not MGTOW, plenty of guys learn to cook simply because they enjoy cooking. Really all they have is sex. Takes a smart bitch with individual personality and some masculine traits (can discuss philosophy/politics and isn't overly emotional) to get some real personality interest.

I know one thing, their bachelors degrees don't make them interesting, funny how despite all that education the majority are simply vapid as fuck, academia doesn't transform women (or people for that matter) into having intellectual minds if they weren't already intellectual to begin with. Intellectual women are fucking sexy and it's rare.

Holy fuck, everything just kind of clicked.

11 upvotes · 14 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

If women wanted "nice guys" there would no fucking short supply to go around, that's a given.

On TRP's "concern trolling" and a few other things.

11 upvotes · 12 February 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

I can't speak for /u/scottishredpill but I myself am of only moderate narcissism, I refer you to this dark triad test I took which used standardised industry psychometric tests designed to test for dark triad personality traits, it is a streamlined test consisting of questions from the NPI (Narcissistic Personality Inventory) the MACH-IV and the SRP (Self-Report Psychopathy Scale)

- <http://i.imgur.com/5oiO7oU.png>

Happiness is important, fucking women is well... fucking women. To achieve happiness is what everyone aims for.

Women can form part of your personal happiness but they should not be the central reason for it. A foundation built on sand is going to fall apart eventually, all women are sand. They are not credible, reliable or accountable in anyway, even the best of them are not with any level of consistency.

Serious question as a 1st gen American from Africa

11 upvotes · 10 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Being PC definitely benefits the delicacy of female sensibilities.

Men used to be RP with each other in the workplace, once all male spaces were invaded by continuous female presence men found themselves self-censoring, euphemising or omitting certain words or trails of thought as to not offend the little snowflakes who would eavesdrop on them, this is how political correctness outside the establishment began, then the government started backing shit like unsubstantiated sexual harassment laws and before you know it guys were trained like pavlovs dog to shut the fuck up and learnt that speaking bullshit was the way to get by.

If you've got a woman at work and a woman at home, a man without "man time" or "time with the guys" will go crazy. We need other guys because other guys are usually the only ones we can discuss reality and ideas unapologetically with. They can reciprocate logic without derailing things into the realm of emotion. I genuinely believe it's a male need to vent/discuss things without filters or censors and that's impossible in the presence of women as conversation quickly becomes all about her and pandering to her feelings (solipsist bitches). Again, this is why male only spaces are so important, men need breathing room for sanity and ultimately from the cacophony that is nagging and whining which emanates profusely globally from women, women bitching irrationally with the persistence that they do make men sick in the head and encourage him to just abandon the fuck out of her. They need an escape, or at least respite, and that is found in male spaces (where they remain.)

Model dates convicted killer (The Dark Triad)

11 upvotes · 7 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Nah he's saying to avoid women who are so unbalanced they're not mentally healthy.

Now I'm supposed to find women over 60 attractive, not just obese women.

11 upvotes · 2 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Listen up people, this guy is telling it how it is.

Facebook bans RooshV and deletes associated pages including RoK's Facebook page

11 upvotes · 30 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah fuck that kinda crap.

Facebook bans RooshV and deletes associated pages including RoK's Facebook page

11 upvotes · 30 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

How long is it before other blogs get killed by domains that allow "free speech."

Don't intend to keep my blog on wordpress much longer, don't trust 'em.

Really tired of low quality women thinking they're 10s

11 upvotes · 30 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Hear, hear!

Guys only like me for my pussy!

11 upvotes · 26 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'll put the time in.

TRP and how it applies to a man's relationship with his mother

11 upvotes · 25 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You realise as a man that like any woman she's a burden on you and you're charged with putting up with her/looking after her.

She has her good points, the unconditional love is probably the saving grace of a mother, otherwise shes comprised of all the shit any other woman is - nagging, manipulating you to do "whats best for you" and generally being an illogical overbearing nuisance.

Despite all that, love your mum. Once she's gone, she's gone and no bitch is ever gonna replace your mum. When your mum manipulates you it's out of care/compassion, when bitches do it its out of selfishness. Saying that, some people have really shitty mums. I know its not popular to put mums down, but some women really shouldn't be mothers as they're shitty human beings.

One thing I've noticed about mums as well is no matter how terrible they are they always need to hamster that they are in fact a good mother, its almost as if its a measure of what it means to "be a real woman" like we're always told to be "real men" and "man up" a woman can neglect her child, raise it in poverty and give it the worst life and at the end of it she'll hamster she's a good mum because it could have been worse, eg: she could of had a drug problem, but she didn't, so she's a good mum, not like those mothers who are junkies etc etc.

A mother of low station will compare herself to the lowest common denominator in order to convince herself she isn't a bad mother. Motherhood is a huge deal to women. They invest a lot in you even if they're crap - eg: bringing you into the world.

A bit of love and respect for the only woman who'll ever truly sacrifice for you can go a long way.

"My wife's male best friend has moved in with us – and he won't leave"

11 upvotes · 24 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You have a solid self-respecting frame, this idiot doesn't.

Congrats guys. You once again made it into an r/Askreddit front page question. Keep an eye on subscription counts

11 upvotes · 15 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

TRP is a like wealthy country taking in unskilled immigrants who want the benefits of a well constructed and highly developed nation but have little to offer in return other than their presence. Some will integrate well and become competent citizens, however a significant number will just drain the system by getting whatever they can get out of the place (picking and choosing what to believe to an irrational and even hypocritical extent) whilst increasing crime (if they don't want to get banned, invisibly downvoting rather than making shit posts that are reportable.)

There are a lot of redpillers I remember from TRP who don't participate here anymore, son-of-man, social83, some guy with "moon" in his name... this place is constantly changing and I think I found it around the 4.5k mark. I'm of the personal opinion that an open door policy is bad in all respects, be it mass immigration into a successful nation or an internet community, it does not allow enough control for sustainable development, however this is merely my opinion - I am not one to judge the efforts of those who worked so hard to bring you what you see here today and despite how much it has changed and will continue to do so, I'm confident this will remain a brilliant community you can derive benefit from, although I must add, you may now have to weed through some bullshit to get to the good stuff, especially every time there is a mother fucking influx - eg: some asshat bitches about TRP on AskReddit, it gets upvoted to fuck and a bunch of randoms then emigrate over out of curiosity/intrigue.

Go out of your way to look for endorsed badges next to usernames.

I had a user message me saying as such recently - he just looks for endorsed badges because he notices a lot of users are just talking out of their assholes and their opinions aren't red pill, they're just learning shit and throwing ideas around etc, now although this is part of the process reading other peoples confusions doesn't help a new person - they need solid information and grounding to apply the process to themselves.

Trust me, countless moderation and countless contributions from users who care about this community have made it what it is today, back to the country metaphor, TRP wouldn't be shit without happy, willing taxpayers. If TRP provides well for its user base, it's user base will be willing to do so in return out of gratitude. It's an organic and mutually beneficial relationship. It's this balance we must be careful not to upset.

Again, this is e-politics and on a bad day you'd get your post deleted for concern trolling, internet/meta politics is fucking gay, it detracts from the actual learning process by filling up all our time with needless unproductive fluff. Beurocracy, politics, you can just never fucking escape them.

"Don't get married at 23, be selfish, cut your hair, get tattoos and ride, ride, ride that cock carousel!"

11 upvotes · 9 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

pseudo intellectual sluts

Hahahahh these sluts are fucking hilarious!

Internet dating? If you're 25 and female you'll get luckiest but men's age irrelevant - as long as they're rich! - says new survey

11 upvotes · 6 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

And when they're on the decline they turn into bitter feminists and blame men for all their problems, boo-fucking-hoo!

A woman past the wall actually admits it exists, found it downvoted to controversial in a women's subreddit.

11 upvotes · 31 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Reality isn't woman's strong suit (they thrive on idealisation and euphemism), hence why they can never beat me in an argument, despite all the mental gymnastics, the power plays, the machiavellianism, the baiting and switching, the half truth, all that bullshit... I always have logic and truth on my side, all she has is her butthurt ego and her emotions driving her to try and sabotage me. A woman scorned is a crazy fucker but a woman scorned is also incredibly limited in her ability to be effective. #soemotionalthey'recrippled

A message to all the RP noobs about text game and "shit tests"

11 upvotes · 24 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If you're already socially awkward, then you can't just all of a sudden become masterful at text game, let alone face to face game.

Haha, ironically, my face to face game is great, over sms I'm a retard. My mannerisms dont translate over text, I'm sarcastic, if i said what i said in person over text i'd just seem like a cunt.

You still have to be congruent with the social norms so that girls won't think you're a creep, a sex-crazed maniac or just a fucking nut job.

Spend no fucks on what they think of you, if they dont like you, your fault, their fault, their dogs fault?

Whatever. Next 'em, don't chase 'em, replace 'em.

The Essential Difference Between Blue and Red Pill Mating Advice.

11 upvotes · 23 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

keep trying the same thing over and over again, hoping for different results

Insanity: doing the same thing over and over again and expecting different results. - Albert Einstein

Even Einstein would have laughed at the post 60's liberal dogma and this is a guy talking about theories of relativity. Muahuahua.

Respect yourself more than you respect her

11 upvotes · 21 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I absolutely am racist. I had thought before that you might be a nigger.

Maybe you should stop fixating over people on the internet and work on yourself.

So why are you reacting like a mad little bitch to a simple question? You're pretty pathetic.

Yes I am, I am a mad little bitch and a nigger. You are superior to me in every way imaginable. OK. That placated your ego enough, or is it still in pain? Anything else to add or are you done randomly taking out your personal issues on a stranger on the internet?

And you call me pathetic. Haha. Delicious irony. You're funny.

Why Sex?

11 upvotes · 17 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah. That's it. Weightlifting is emotionally difficult for beginners. It requires a lot of motivation, self-discipline, you need decent enough base-health to not kill yourself trying to start it off. It needs to become routine, part of your lifestyle, and to start off it will feel like you're going out of your way to do something that simply takes it out of you. Weightlifting is a form of deferred gratification and we live in a society where we all seek instant gratification (food, masturbation, video games etc)

Western society is covered in illicit dietary temptation, so much junk food, energy drinks, sweets, ice cream... whatever. Many people are in actual fact addicted to sugar due to the mass amounts of it they consume, thats an addiction which directly contributes to obesity and an inability to build muscle mass or at least reduce body fat % so that it's noticeable.

I deduce that's why if you can overcome all of that you will be top 5% in muscularity or whatever within a year.

When it comes to wealth, there's family wealth going back centuries, lots of nepotism, corruption, drug dealing etc. Things that require simply being born to the right person or some risk, but not skill. Those who take the risk are rewarded. Those who are simply lucky are well, lucky.

As for intelligence, the internet has raised the standards very much. A lot of people are addicted to sitting on their fat sugar addicted asses reading crap online all day, learning lots of random general knowledge in the process. Then there's those who genetically possess eidetic memories, something you can never train yourself to have but simply an ability that you're born with or never able to have, hence again, further disparity. The most knowledgable have eidetic memories, generally speaking. The wisest/most logical people either suffered incredible hardship or were rich people who had logic/philosophy/critical thinking literally rammed into their head at private school.

I've digressed a lot, I agree with you.

Young women 'now earning more than men'

11 upvotes · 9 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Effort gap.. great concept. May pinch that for future use. Great post!

Something that happened when I was out

11 upvotes · 9 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Its almost tautological, oh the intellectual masturbation!

You could be Orlando Bloom, happily married with kids and still get traded up...

11 upvotes · 1 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

She gets her just desserts. I love the wall.

"How I bend Reality to Live Each Day to the Fullest"

11 upvotes · 1 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Top post! Saved.

Perception creates reality. This is why I avoid Facebook: people craft these wonderful lives on Facebook, tricking your perception into thinking their lives are actually that great, even though they suffer in their own ways. But you don't know that, so your distorted perception of them is the reality you believe.

Too true. I use it minimally.

This story will make you cringe. Guaranteed.

11 upvotes · 24 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

My wife and I are both PhD students. Normally she was the one leaving on research trips, while I stayed at home. I ended getting a (insert first responder job) to help pay the bills for the bigger apartment she absolutely needed when we got married a few years ago - and to help pay for my preliminary research. She got her trips funded through professors. My job was nice, but dangerous. There was a gym and I could work out on the clock, always keeping in shape for the combination of hard work and academic pressures.

So this guy puts the effort in to be high value. Good.

The marriage had issues. There was very little action in the bedroom, and she chalked up to having a low libido. I kept fit, worked hard, and handled things. I got attention from other women, but turned it down. I tried really hard to do things to get things moving in the bedroom, but nothing worked. I once went 7 months without sex from her. After complaining about this, she ended up giving me sporadic grudging duty sex just to keep me from losing my mind.

A classic bitch is unappreciative of what she has dynamic. "you can never please a woman"

Attraction has been lost between them and hence she ignores the value he has (physique/money.) He demonstrates low value by letting her not fuck him for 7 months and get away with it. If it was even a week with me I'd be fucking bringing her up on it. "If you don't want to fuck me I'll go bang one of the hundred girls who does" she doesn't control your dick if she's not even fucking using it. A woman who won't fuck you has no entitlement to what you do with your cock, that's part of the reason marriage is a big fucking scam for men but I'm not gonna digress off onto that tangent.

Well, finally I came through and succeeded and got the big grant. I was going to go abroad in one stretch. She had been abroad for a similar amount of time, but broken up in chunks. Recognizing the unfairness in this, I arranged for her to visit me halfway on my dime. We had a good time, then she went home.

They had a good time. Did he fuck her though? No. Or he would of said he fucked her. Subtext: He's pissed that even in another country with the spontaneity and drama of it all, she still doesn't fuck him. The attract-o-meter must be reading a resounding fucking ZERO. She turned up for the free holiday/because of jealousy.

A few months after going home, and while I was still in my research location, she flew abroad and went to her research location. She "felt alive there," and her libido opened up. Soon after this, she met "D." Very soon after they met, the first kiss happened. She withdrew, but they were making out within a few more days. This led to making out in the bedroom, which of course goes to where the panties slip to the side. Sometimes this led to a finish, sometimes it didnt.

So she met a guy who can make her feel attraction and romanticises it all with feeling talk, basically she wants to fuck this guys brains out but not her husbands because the husband didn't maintain attraction with her (it's always the guys fault when the attraction fails, women do not take responsibility for attraction being maintained other than by merit of having a body that is fuckable - psychologically it's all on you to maintain attraction.)

She became very attached to him, and to the dopamine high she was on. She cried when she left and confided in one of her friends on how much she cared about him. She wasnt sure whether our marriage or this relationship with him was going to go on for about 2-3 weeks after she went home. Their relationship fizzled, and she decided to try to make it work with me. She was not going to tell me about the affair.

Alpha fucks, beta bucks. This guy I'm quoting is obviously mr. beta bucks. If alpha boy had taken her she would of ditched this guy in a heartbeat (branch swung) divorce raping him in the process, however the alpha did this guy a favour by basically telling her to get fucked (she would have pushed him to commit, he would of denied her) she was upset by this so she goes to her backup beta until another alpha is on the scene.

The problem is, I suspected something was drastically wrong. You can see in the previous posts some of the erratic demands on "having to move right now," and refusing to compromise with me. She was also, in hindsight, making her lover more of a positive, and, as a result, I had to have more negative attributes. She gaslighted me when I asked about him, considering she peppered her page with pictures of him, some in some loving poses. I was no where. She also found me a nuisance when I would call. My work was dangerous, and I really wanted to hear her voice. I had a suspicion something was wrong, but I had no idea.

Yeah because she doesn't give a fuck about your needs because she doesn't respect you, she doesn't respect you because she's not attracted to you and you don't lay the law down. If you try to have any relationship with a woman where you as a man do not lead the dynamic and set the boundaries then the woman will never truly respect you, she will scoff at you, violate you, abuse you mentally and put both of your testicles into her oversized purse and tiny handbag. This guy replaced OP as the focus of her attractions.

So, it was time for me to go home. Our homecoming was awkward and strained. She was just not really into it. Further complicating things, the next day we discovered we had to move because the landlord was losing the house and not able to renew our month to month lease. I was super busy before abroad with research, and instead of coming home and relaxing, I became super busy again. I had no time to explore my conflicted suspicions.

Shit logistics means she gets away with shit for longer than she should, partly true but OP doesn't really want to end it because despite shitty logistics he could still go tell her to get fucked.

That was when I discovered a pus discharge from my firehose. They don't test for all bacterial strains that cause this, but the medication for chlamydia and gonorrhea cleared it up. My tests for 4 bacterial STDs came back negative. Now I wasn't sure what I had. I was in a disturbing grey area, and I was about to leave the country again for a few months to finish my work. It could have been another bacterial STD, or not. This is when I discovered she had been misleading me on her student loans. I found it was, in fact, $170,000 dollars.

So his wife passed him an STD. Wow. If that's not evidence of cheating wtf is? And she's hiding $170,000 of debt? Fucking hell. Being married to a woman with $170,000 of debt is not something you ever want to do because who has to fucking pay that when the biased legal system gives her her divorcey divorcingson? YOU. THE STUPID BETA BLUE PILL FUCKING CHUMP.

During the move, I first got a lawyer to draft up a post nup agreement to leave her debt to her. When I wanted to talk to her about her financial plan for paying the loans, I was put off by her statements that the loans were hers and she was just going to take care of them. She didn't want to hear how this was going to impact the marriage.

She doesn't want to be forced to switch into "fuck this nigga over" mode from "hide shit from this nigga" mode because of the time her PHD is taking up. Again she doesn't respect OP enough to mention she has a metric fuckton of debt, instead there's no disclosure and she does not even have the moral fucking decency to let OP know she's a financial train crash waiting to happen.

A Note on "Real" Alphas

11 upvotes · 21 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Continuous Blue Balls

LMFAO.

Some "person" the other day was like "I don't know how this guy has his endorsed badge" (referring to I) I said "clearly you've been not around here long" he's like "I checked your post history, they must just go for quantity over quality"

Apparently being endorsed means all my posts need to be essays, I can't post when drunk and I'm not allowed to act stupid. Nah fuckoff, I'm my own man I do wtf I want. Some of these noobs act entitled with endorsed contributors, it's perverse. We don't owe you shit. I don't need to advise people on the internet if I don't want to, show some fucking respect. I've spent many man hours selflessly advising people, not all perfect advice but generally pretty good shit. For every person who gilds your post you get 3 more self-entitled little pricks who spam up your notifications with bile.

Welcome to Manginaland UK - where you need your wife's permission to watch porn.

11 upvotes · 19 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

This guy gets it, it's like SOPA but with a pornographic approach.

Understanding the Dark Triad

11 upvotes · 17 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You can learn narcissism and machiavellianism but not psychopathy. 2/3 isn't bad.

Does My Virginity Have a Shelf Life?

11 upvotes · 15 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yes. A 60 Year old virgin is just hilarious, not sexy. You getting old at 35 girl, maybe your virginity can claim a pension too?

Women hate to be dominant: ~75% of new converts to Islam in UK are women.

11 upvotes · 12 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The functional word is technical. People interpret the book at will to commit atrocities. If the book was a person you'd say it's bipolar as you can use it to justify and interpret anything to fit your agenda.

Dissecting The Red Pill (Part 2) - Q&A

11 upvotes · 10 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I think it's important to keep the message clear and reduce the level of noise and bullshit that surrounds TRP as the dip in quality as the user base has gone up is noticeable to those who were here when the subreddit was a lot smaller. I love to discuss game/dark triad/self improvement/fitness etc like the next guy and I will blog about such things in the future, however for now the basis of my blogging is about defining and eloquently articulating just what red pill philosophy is actually comprised of for the influx of new users that we have. If everyone's got the basics down, we can collectively self-sustain and bring up the value of the majority of our posters. If you have any constructive disagreements or any nuances to point out in my thoughts then please do not hesitate to share them here with me. Speak up. Thanks.

An example for you gents how twisted a girls logic can become when hamstering

11 upvotes · 10 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Lmao she's trying to dread game OP.

Telling her she can't fuck her BF = shit test failure!

Old but gold: Tracy McMillan throws some RP advice to women in liberal HuffPoof

11 upvotes · 5 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

"Not All Women Are Like That."

<http://www.urbandictionary.com/define.php?term=nawalt>

The urbandictionary statement is hilarious. Look at all the hate its getting lmfao.

I am somewhat confused about TRP and how it views sex. [Serious replies only, please.]

11 upvotes · 5 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Are you seriously going to say the sexes aren't equal in the face of 1000s of years of yings and yangs?

Yes I seriously am. Make a better argument than some vague "yings and yangs" and I'll give you a decent rebuttal. Tip: cohesion is not synonymous with equality, that's confusing causation with correlation. Rejecting hierarchy on the basis of cohesion is hilarious, I guess everyone in a business is equally identical in value as they all work together to make profit. LOL.

Reporter goes looking for Amazonian Feminists in the Ukraine and doesn't like what she found. (vice.com)

11 upvotes · 24 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The american GIRL is actually sad the far more intelligent ukrainian WOMEN realise it's better to complement rather than fight them. I don't think I ever hear western women sound quite so intelligent, even the well educated ones talk complete fucking crap and live in delusion, rather than just BE REAL ABOUT SHIT, like these women are. Wow. The contrast is huge. Brb, learning Ukrainian.

News Flash: 1 hamster vs 9 grown up men

11 upvotes · 21 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I can echo the whole don't take them seriously sentiment. Taking craziness seriously, is crazy.

Feminism is Socially Accepted Bigotry | Men and the Red Pill

11 upvotes · 20 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Thanks /u/redpillschool for giving me permission to share my first post from my new blog with you guys.

Foreign Woman & Pre-nump = Fail

11 upvotes · 19 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I was talking to a good friend of mine on the phone the other day, me and him don't take shit from people (women especially) and "understand the game" better than 99% of the other men in society. He was saying to me how basically men like me and him are the few men left who have a opportunity to try and keep things going and try and actually reproduce rather than drop out, or otherwise, in his opinion in like 50-100 years humanity will be so fucked. Feminist bullshit will be more extreme, more globalised, logic will be even less common, and absurdity/chaos will just push humanity to the brink despite it's current technological progress (his words.)

My words: We're always developing in technology but post world war 2 the world has regressed socially via the destruction of the family unit and the feminisation of man. Humanity is really doomed if it continues on this trajectory of giving preference to feelings over facts.

Real life example of a girl cheating on her beta bucks, "coming clean" after feeling guilty, deciding not to cheat again... and then ironically decides to come back and fuck again. Hamster gymnastics!

11 upvotes · 14 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Most of it was flirting. I don't remember a lot of it, I was in "slay shit tests mode" and not consciously going out of my way to remember what she was saying.

After icing her out for a bit and acting like I don't really care (in real life for about a week and a half outside the phone convo) she asks me in the phone convo "how can you just detach so easily?" now this is a sincere question, but it's also a shit test (and if you were new to this shit, you wouldn't see the shit test part of it, but basically what it is is a shit test under a blanket of sincerity) I simply replied "that's life, I don't expect too much from anything, I'm a cynic, if something good happens then I get pleasantly surprised, it's a bonus" she said "I'm disappointed in you for not expecting very much from me IllimitableMan, you should know better!" (LOL, please) I replied "Well I'm disappointed you don't realise that's my worldview, it's not specific to you, you're not special." (yes I threw in a neg because she pissed me off.) Which she replied with "Ooooh that's harsh" and I said "I know, but it's true." After that I laughed at her and said "it's good to know you care" because obviously things were getting a bit negative and I didn't want to go too far with shutting her down.

You see that one shit test is a string of probes, and not a simple one liner. Girl is a nuclear shit tester. She even tells me "nobody can usually handle me the way you do" as if she's aware on some sort of level of what she's doing even though it seemingly comes naturally to her.

I'm a girl and I recently started visiting here to see what TRP was all about and I guess I have some questions.

11 upvotes · 13 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Do you think marriage is ever worth it?

Not for men. Cards are stacked against them. Marriage for men is basically saying "here's my commitment on a plate, forever." and with that there's no higher level for the woman to aim to escalate the relationship in terms of commitment any further she knows she's got him, she basically owns his ass now.

The equivalent in terms of what men and women want from each other would be a woman signing a document where it makes it impossible for a man to rape her, and he's entitled to fuck her for the rest of his life, in fact it was impossible to rape women in marriage a long time ago. The only thing that's changed about marriage is the responsibilities that women had in marriage were taken out while the male ones were kept in, marriage in 2013 is a privilege for a woman and a burden for a man because of this. The one power a man has in the relationship is when a woman starts getting crazy and unreasonable he can say "OK" and walk out on her.

Marriage takes that power away from him, giving the woman all the control, her choices are backed by the government and a parasitic divorce industry to the fullest, if he wants to use his take away card now it will cost him the Earth. Marriage is the proverbial equivalent of signing your balls over.

Can you believe in love and subscribe to TRP at the same time?

I believe in love I realise however it's extremely conditional and entirely dependent on the power, status and psychological aptness of a man. I'm not likely to find a woman I'd deem suitable for love, most women have what I'd call a deal breaker, sad as that is. I do believe love is a symptom of choice, you fall in love when many RP things fall into place.

Is shit testing conscious or subconscious or a little of both?

Both, women do it subconsciously all the time, I believe they're wired that way to find strong men. Men shit test as well, but generally more out of banter, to establish social hierarchy and test boundaries, women do it for the prior and also to see if you're fuckable/attractive or not.

Is shit testing bad or is it necessary?

Both, some women shit test so much you cannot be fucked with them. These are generally women with huge issues. There's so many women out there that if one woman's shit test regime is more like the great wall of china rather than a garden wall, she's welcome to keep her vagina to herself, there's a few billion more out there who don't have a marilyn monroe complex. You learn a lot about a person by shit testing, it's necessary. It's also necessary that EVERYONE learns how to beat them. Some shit testing can be very malicious, I don't approve of that. Eg: publically humiliating someone and see how they deal with it.

Is every compliment I give my boyfriend a shit test? Is there a way to tell?

No. It depends why you're complimenting. If you're complimenting to get him to do something for you then you're manipulating him. If you're complimenting him to elicit emotion from him then you're shit testing him, you want to see how strong his frame is and connect with him emotionally covertly. If you're complimenting him because you honestly like something, then cool - don't expect him to show a fuckton of appreciation though, appreciating compliments too much can show you don't get them much, which tells you subconsciously that he's a low value guy. It shouldn't be so perverse and complex, but it is.

SALON.COM – "5 Ways America Tells Boys Not to Be Girly"

11 upvotes · 9 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If he's immune he knows someone with power or he has power. Feminism got a nasty stronghold in Scandinavia, really feel for you Vikings, getting your balls ripped off, they even teach in the schools you guys came to England and kicked ass anymore? Wouldn't surprise me if they didn't, Lol. Women don't need men in Scandinavia because the government is the ultimate provider, govt replaced the roles of men in the biggest way there. On a plus note, you get free university education and excellent free healthcare, people in other parts of the world can only dream of that. Also bilingual nations, scandinavians tend to have terrific English!

Got opened by an 8 on the walk home! I see now that frame building is key.

11 upvotes · 2 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

OK due to the formatting and southern american slang (I'm not southern, or american) I found this difficult to read in some sections and had to really analyze it to derive the meaning, anyhow, that aside what you did right:

- Made your intentions clear - sexualised your frame, shows gaul, which is very masculine and attractive to women "Come on I'ma walk you across cause you got a fat booty girl!"
- Showed you won't pander to her whims/frame and asserted your own frame "Her: " I need someone to protect me." Me: "The fuck? What you talking about?"
- Took command and lead her - didn't ask for permission: "Gimme yo' number" another one that works with an almost 100% success rate "Put your number in my phone"
- DHV: Told her you had drugs, if a guy has drugs and can get drugs easily, people (including women) are impressed, to infantilize it a bit it's like "you're one of the cool kids at school" they're also hoping they can get some of that shit for free from you because hey, she's an 8. You also let her know you had other girls on your radar "You like my up north ways girl!" (if I'm right in assuming this means you're telling her she reminds you of girls you know from the North)

The beginning was weird with her following you/slowing down behind you and all that shit, I'd think I was being set up for a robbery and she was the bait/decoy for the switch (always have a healthy paranoia), but I think you handled it well. Only thing I can see really changing is you approaching her first rather than her approaching you if it was so obvious through body language and eye contact that the two of you were having an unspoken conversation for a period of time, I'm not sure if she was stalking you or just very interested and then got frustrated and approached first with her BS about needing protection, that aside when the interaction went down you passed it no sweat.

My boy is a club house DJ, you can drop that shit on a girl and panties start dropping quick, but be casual about it like it's nothing, if you gloat "I'm a DJ here, here and here" - it's just bad game, if you drop it right though - it's a huge DHV and of course as you know, it's a DHV in and of itself when you're in the club, you don't need to say shit - staff know you and you're up in the box, obviously to make it work for you outside the club she has to know it's something you do. EG: "I'm playing in a few nights, you should come see what it's about!" "her: playing? what? where?" "at name of known club that plays house" "her: You're a DJ?" "yeah didn't I say?"

A list of desirable traits in a woman.

11 upvotes · 26 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminism shamed the shit out of proper ladies, and created vapid hos as the norm. Hah.

My Friend and his Mom

11 upvotes · 17 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Your question's not legitimate in nature, because you purport to accept my assertion, but then ask a loaded question which indirectly disputes that. Inference being "if fathers can be shit like mothers, then feminism can't be the cause" clearly you do not understand feminism, you believe in equality and you're looking to challenge a TRP view deceitfully rather than with honesty, which says a lot about your own nature and won't win you too much respect around here.

Anyway, despite your disposition to view this sub through filters of hatred, TRP is nothing more than analysing reality, your dad who treated u badly like the OP describes his mother is probably dark triad

Women can also be dark triad, and this also attracts many weak men.

As for feminism, it reverses gender roles so it affects men within themselves, but it also affects how women treat men, including how they raise their own boys. They tend to raise their boys to fit their ideology. from the loving side they coddle them make them weak and teach them values which don't result in success, if they have hate for the young boy, they are emotional terrorists, bullies, violent. Feminism makes women masculine and domineering whilst men meek and passive, it says it doesn't believe in gender roles, but it's practical effect is to actually reverse them.

The reason the ideology makes women more aggressive and men more passive is because of how it frames the genders, women as fair and innocent, men as calculating and predatory, when the reality couldn't be further from the truth. Women are always framed by feminism as victims and men are framed as perpetrators, whenever there is a female aggressor and male victim, the ideology does not respond or it attempts to suppress it or rationalise the female behaviour in mainstream media (which is feminist friendly) EG: "oh he probably did something to upset her" as if all of a sudden, she's not a human being responsible for her own actions, how fucking convenient.

Females are taught they need to prove themselves, and become more aggressive, to compete with boys and see them adversarially which essentially leads to them exploiting boys and being untrusting of them, it teaches them to have a negative relationship with men. Whilst males indoctrinated with the ideology are taught they need to be apologists, not to embrace their gender identity or be too aggressive, not to be too competitive, not to speak their mind (the opposite of what they teach girls) and ultimately to accommodate the sensibilities of women. It is perverse in it's double standard, and I find it quite humorous so many are brainwashed to believe that it really represents some form of equality, especially the males who feminism actively undermines.

Feminism is a form of gender segregation, it promotes hostility and misandry. [b]It is the racism of genders[/b], and it's an unrecognised bigotry which needs to be identified for what it really is. It is an ideology of superiority, conceit and elitism. It is anything but egalitarian, perhaps it once was but the radicals have corrupted it, it is bigoted, it is vile, it is an ideology which hides it's odious insipid hatred for men by winning sympathy, by playing the victim, and the irony of playing the victim is it creates power, it wins support, hearts and minds.

Relevant link: <http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-22-use-surrender-tactic-transform.html>

You have much to learn fellow man. Good luck on your quest for actualisation.

Hypergamy got me.

11 upvotes · 14 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Law of Power 30 - Make your accomplishments seem effortless.

<http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.co.uk/2011/05/law-30-make-your-accomplishments-seem.html>

It's difficult for me to accept the fact we're the minority and we're maligned when we speak our views.

11 upvotes · 5 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Help people when you want to and it doesn't harm you to do so. Altruism should be conditional on your own condition, not absent. If you're doing good and people you like have a problem or two, see if you can lend a hand.

If your life is in shit and people you know are in shit, you can't really help. You gotta help yourself before you can help others. You need power of some degree. A job/money. Connections. Status. Skills. Knowledge. Confidence etc.

I always dispense advice to people who are sounding off to me. If they start arguing, bitching or sending any negative energy my way I'll just say "OK" and stop responding. I'm not gonna engage people who want to get combative over some shit that ain't even my problem. You can't help most people but you don't know until you try. Some people will respect your advice even if they don't follow it and then eventually they'll ask you again and make a more serious effort to listen to any pearls of wisdom you've got up in your head. People are stubborn even when they need you.

Just kicked a 5 year Incel period - a field report

11 upvotes · 30 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

9 hours sleep = morning wood.

I do hate sleeping for that long though, I sleep that long and I feel like there's tons of shit I could of been doing, but instead I was just unconscious.

Dr. Phil asks: "is it ok to have sex with a drunk girl?" and gets thrown under the bus by his uppity audience.

11 upvotes · 21 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=dopOg78E4Ow>

Porn. And how it makes lesser men.

11 upvotes · 21 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Accepted by the ignorant majority as nature, in academic science it's not accepted to be either nature or nurture, the debate still roars on. So whatever side of belief you're on, the burden of proof lies with you.

- <http://allpsych.com/journal/homosexuality.html>
- http://www.integrationsociopsychology.net/homosexuality-nature_or_nurture.html
- <http://www.bu.edu/today/2010/nature-vs-nurture-the-biology-of-sexuality/>

BU Today: Has your research found that sexual orientation is biologically determined? Pillard: I think so. But nobody knows for sure what causes a person to be either gay or straight. It's one of the great mysteries of science, at least of biological science.

See liberals likes to think "it's genetic" but there's no proof there's a gay gene.

All Girls Are Cheapskates

11 upvotes · 16 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I liked the article, it exemplifies the sense of entitlement many women have which is a red pill truth in and of itself. I know it may not be positive or "self help" or productive but it's relevant, I don't get why the article is getting such a bad rep from commenters. If you need happiness, go get drunk and have a party, TRP isn't always a positive place, truth can be pretty damn negative sometimes. There's a reason so many people are blue pill, it's easier, it feels nicer in some ways (eg: girls will really love me unconditionally) and sucks in other ways (eg: girls never notice me), it may not lead to great success but it won't bring the pain of reality, it will bring about a medicated, incubated type of existence which is what most people live in.

TRP is for "extremists", people who would rather be their best than settle for what they are, which is painful, hard and full of bullshit like this article. TRP is not for everyone, don't complain about the truths you don't like or question their relevance, marriage game isn't relevant to me but doesn't mean it doesn't have a place on TRP.

This is for you young guys on TRP. Your college major should be based on what is going to give you job security, not on what feels good or seems interesting. If your major isn't based on a sober appraisal of supply and demand in the job market, get a new major. Now.

11 upvotes · 15 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

TLDR: if you suck at maths and can't do stem or computing you may as well not bother with life.

Update - my advice:

Do anything that isn't a social science. If you insist on following your passion/art, you need crazy motivation to be successful but be prepared to hustle if you're going to take this route.

Swallow the pill so hard you seem like a maverick to those plugged in around you.

Watch this: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=q5nVqeVhgQE>

And don't forget to keep your energy levels and motivation up by doing cardio and lifting. Just do it. Overcome your fears.

Nothing but peace and love for my brothers.

How a year of one-night-stands led one woman to the man of her dreams

11 upvotes · 15 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

And now the bitch tryna make money out of her experiences as a ho. This shit should be called "the ultimate manual to being a ho"

Olivia Wilde to 30-year-old women: "Enjoy your sexual prime. It's finally your turn to act like an 18-year-old boy"

11 upvotes · 10 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Irony is poetic in and of itself, but the poetry goes into a clusterfuck when someone who doesn't get irony is being extremely ironic. That fucking antithesis of being ironic whilst completely oblivious to it is like an artistic and retarded manifestation of ignorance and innocence. Oh my, this is getting rather intense.

8 Signs She's A Keeper

11 upvotes · 9 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Maybe they should spend more time improving their own lives rather than expending their time and electricity on downvoting anything you do. Bitches be petty.

Twitter implements Report Abuse button -- due to abuse of feminists

11 upvotes · 3 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

No, we don't. The UK is infected with feminism just like the US. Bunch of cunts. We have this MP Dianne Abbott, a rad fem single mother talking about a crisis in masculinity in Britain (was posted here months ago) wtf does this bitch know about masculinity? She's a fucking racist too, she was caught tweeting racist shit about white people (she's black)

"If she says you're not having sex tonight, you're having sex tonight." Why?

11 upvotes · 2 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminists don't deserve dick. One of the few things I do when talking with a chick is analyse if she's a feminist, and it's pretty hard to keep that one hidden as it manifests so profusely in their behaviours, mannerisms and general attitude. No such thing as a "pleasant feminist" after all. Sometimes I straight up ask, sometimes I dance around it "what do u think of equal rights?" (why?) "i'm curious about you" other times I don't even need to ask you just know the bitch is a feminist cuz of that abhorrent princess complex.

Why the Red Pill Exists, Exhibit A:

11 upvotes · 11 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Completely vapid drivell. I should print off that inept "writer's" picture and use it as a dart board.

Easiest way to cross become Redpill? Read your Woman's electronic communications.

11 upvotes · 5 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You orbit a woman if you want to fuck her but don't escalate to a point where you actually fuck her and thus without sexualisation give her lots of attention and make her feel good through idle banter, gestures and small talk. Essentially you're a validation monkey. You're not orbiting a chick if you don't want to fuck her but talk to her anyways. Usually the only reason to not want to fuck a chick is if she's ugly, there are things like her being your friends girl, but that doesn't mean you don't find her attractive it just means you exercise self-restraint and are forced into socialising with her via your circle. If your so-called female friend is "just a friend" and she's hot but you've convinced yourself "you don't want to fuck her" unless you're gay, you're probably lying to yourself and thus orbiting. Don't be the moon, be the planet.

19 year old woman, who has ridden the cock carousel with 27 partners already, asks if her partner count is a deal breaker!

11 upvotes · 1 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Sucks to be wrong, but I'm wrong. Fucking elasticity...

"How to Get Chicks Without Being a Jerk"

11 upvotes · 30 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yes, all women are sweet innocent beings and all men are just predators looking to exploit their sweet natures. That's not misandrist, that's the tr00th!

Facebook, delete it now.

11 upvotes · 26 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Because women use facebook to eye a man up, not being on it means they have to work their hypergamy the traditional way with all the intrusive questions which you can spin/deflect, when they've got lazy and are used to just going through your pics looking for fast cars, holidays or other indicators of wealth, six packs and shit for indicators of health and crowds of 10+ friends for indicators of social proof.

Facebook is perfect for women, it not only gives them validation but it allows them to eye guys up as potential monogamy material they literally can't live without it, we're better off without it unless we're top of the game and running game

"why do guys come on so strong for the first few months and back off at the mention of a relationship?"

11 upvotes · 24 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah Monroe, fuck you bitch! Haha. Love the twist.

Pro-Tip: If she has a tramp stamp and 2 kids from different men, don't believe her when she says she's monogamous and serious about long-term.

11 upvotes · 21 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

WTF that's fucked up. That is completely unjust and exploitative to legally mandate such a heavy burden of responsibility to someone who only dated the child's mother as a romantic interest. In the UK you have to be on the Birth Certificate for them to chase you for Child support (as far as I'm aware, if anyone knows better, feel free to correct) however I've always thought single mothers are a bad choice, not because of this (I didn't know about this until now) but because they will always prioritise their child over you and you'll always play the "insignificant parent" if you do decide to commit. It's just not worth the bullshit, being a surrogate father, putting in the money and getting ZERO appreciation for that shit.

The ten richest women in the world all inherited their wealth

11 upvotes · 15 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'd agree social mobility is extremely low from the middle to the upper class.

There used to be a fair amount of social mobility from the working to the middle class when a college degree was worth something, but now the degrees market is saturated and the world economies have taken a hit due to the banking scam in '08, mobility into the middle is pretty tough too now. Then consider most of the middle pay their taxes and most of the upper don't, the middle class tax base is being squeezed to a point where we're returning to a 2 class upper and working class, the middle class is dying and will continue to shrink if opportunities don't come around soon which allow an honest hard working person to do well for themselves from the bottom.

The Monetization of the Manosphere

10 upvotes · 30 November 2018 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm good man, hope things are well on your end.

We should catch up soon!

On the myth of lifelong love

10 upvotes · 21 April 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

Oneitis is really just a pair bond. If you ever settle down and have kids, you're going to get oneitis for your girl. Doesn't mean you shouldn't be aware of her nature and yadda yadda, but pair bonds are pair bonds. I don't even think pair bonding is bad per se, what is bad is when you're a shit judge of character, don't know very much about women, and end up bonding with a piece of shit excuse for a woman. That's when it spells trouble. If you're going to fall for a chick, you have to ascertain her quality from the bat and keep your leadership ability. You never get to just love them, you have to lead, can't get too soft, have to be mindful and retain pimp hand.

But yeah, oneitis = pair bonding and I don't think it's really all that bad unless you pair bond with a crazy whore or something. Better to have a deep and meaningful relationship where you feel connected to the woman than some soulless detached shit IMO. Some men prefer quantity and soulless detachment, others prefer quality and a mental connection. Men have to ask themselves what they really want where they're currently at in life, just sex, or more? And if more? Remember, it's always in the confines of female programming - but more is available. LTR game is way harder than just banging whores, because you actually feel deeply for the chick you're dealing with.

"Would you still date me if I was fat?" -- Squashing one of the biggest shit tests

10 upvotes · 20 March 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

It is a sign of weakness to say what you expect from her, it makes you seem like you are so invested in her that you fear her getting fatter.

Boundary setting. Doesn't matter that they're testing, you have to set boundaries. Ignoring tests all the time isn't the best way to handle then. If they break the boundaries, you punish/next. If they respect the boundaries, you reinforce it with praise/more attention. Lots of overthinking in this thread and it really isn't rocket science. It's this simple.

DON'T GIVE UP! - We're gonna make men great again!

10 upvotes · 27 January 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

What an excellent post. Don't have the time to go over your points at any length, but print screened it + put it on Twitter. Good job.

The lies women tell nice guys.

10 upvotes · 5 August 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Adding onto this bread crumb of thought: Just because women hang out with older men and fuck them doesn't make them mature. It just makes them a groupie.

They do mature faster in puberty, but by around the age of 20, perhaps a little sooner, perhaps at 17 or 18, they're infinitely more immature than their male counterparts. Girls mature quicker than boys at around 10-13 instead of 14-16 and go their whole lives thinking they're the more mature sex because of it, only to be completely eclipsed just a couple of years later once a boy has hit puberty and gained some life experience as a young man. As they say, the greater the organism, the longer it takes to mature. All inferior organisms mature faster, but to a lesser extent. Faster maturation doesn't mean greater maturity, but the poor little imbecilic flowers don't seem able to grasp this.

I just left my girlfriend. I am so fucking proud of myself.

10 upvotes · 14 June 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

You do good deeds, and she will eventually hate you for it. It goes completely against logic.

It's because they conflate kindness with weakness, and weakness revolts them. The man who came up with "no good deed goes unpunished" was probably thinking of a woman when he came up with it.

Introducing Married Red Pill Flair

10 upvotes · 5 May 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Not at all, in fact going by the feedback I've had I think everyone's reading my shit in my accent now. Pretty fucking hilarious actually. Those flairs sound.. yeah.. fuck that!

Donald Trump teaches us something very important. Never bow down when put on the spot in front of a woman.

10 upvotes · 28 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

he is certainly a Virtuoso of the 48 laws.

I'll throw my weight behind this, 100% agree with this comment.

1000 migrants in Germany sexually assault, rob and rape women at one train station on New Year's eve. Feminists actively are trying to cover it up.

10 upvotes · 5 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

You're comparing hair colour preference to race/skin tone because you didn't like what I said, hahaha - check your emotions bro. Nice username by the way, bonus points for irony.

Two reminders for newbies: 1) money won't get you the sex you want. 2) Identify your buffers and slay them.

10 upvotes · 16 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Makes perfect sense, I agree with this wholeheartedly.

"The Machiavellian Approach" Part 4

10 upvotes · 12 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Don't need to be a master wordsmith to start a blog, and by blogging, eventually your writing will improve as a cause of habit (I can attest to that, just read some of my earliest articles.)

If you have an audience and they like your shit, it makes sense. Look at it as a portfolio of your writings. You can even monetise down the road and make a little coin to just basically write about shit you would love to write for your own sake anyway. This is what I did. I used to just post threads here too. Then I started a blog. Now the people want the blog in a book. It's very rewarding.

Rollo got his start on sosuave.net, at one point we were all just forum posters. Whether you rise to blogger and stay there depends on how much you've got to say and if you've got the time to say it.

Best of luck whatever you decide.

The Suffering of the Lost Boys

10 upvotes · 9 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

"It's not the father's job to show his son how to attract girls" - My father

Sounds like your father is an idiot. If not the father's job, whose is it? Exactly. At least you have TRP.

Today was the day that Reddit almost swallowed the pill. On the front page today: Guy finds out soon-to-be fiancée is cheating and sets up an elaborate proposal to dump her.

10 upvotes · 28 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Considering UK guidelines just came out which put the burden of proof on the accused to prove a woman consented,

Is this really a thing? Fucking hell, honestly.

Let a woman's honest perspective destroy your Blue Pill Fantasies

10 upvotes · 7 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It's true I'm rather asperger-ey and therefore have a more "male" logical/detached personality.

I suspected from what I'd read you had an empathy disorder of some kind (and it's this which affects your ability to pair bond coupled with your promiscuity, not the fact you're a woman.) It looks like my suspicion has been confirmed. Your aspergers is probably what attracts guys to you on a mental level, because they think "you're different from all the basic bitches." And in a way you are, you are probably more interesting to talk to than most women. I suppose you'd make an interesting intellectual confidante, but your inability to pair bond and empathise makes you a poor candidate for mating. Note my matter of fact turn of speech, empathy deficient types appreciate emotionless candour more than anything remotely sentimental.

Do this and try not to lie to the questionnaire:

<http://personality-testing.info/tests/SD3.php>

Start button, bottom right. If you have aspergers the results should prove interesting. My estimate: you'll score medium Machiavellianism, high psychopathy and medium narcissism.

Your struggle and pain? Women neither understand nor give much of a fuck.

10 upvotes · 3 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I would have kicked that bitch out of the house and reported her to her bosses (the daily telegraph) for a clear privacy breach. Make that bitch cry tears of regret. The deceit, eye-rolling and dismissive attitude embodies everything wrong with modern women. What noot were you experimenting with by the way? You can PM me if you don't want to publicly discuss it.

Chateau Heartiste Maxims (Updated from 17/09/2014 to 19/09/2015)

10 upvotes · 19 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

CH used to be written by a guy who went by the alias Roissy. Roissy stopped writing and handed the CH blog over to another guy. This guy focuses predominantly on "race realism" rather than game. That's why the blog changed so much, it's a different person running the blog entirely.

Imagine if I handed my blog over to a dude interested in Christian fundamentalism and didn't announce the hand over to anybody, when you used to come for the dark triad articles. That's what happened with CH.

AskWomen reluctantly admits they can't control their tingles when Chad approaches

10 upvotes · 12 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

They have to lie to themselves that it's going somewhere because otherwise they'll be unable to forgive themselves for squandering their sex and admitting that they're dumb sluts. So they have to do this. Then they can say the guy lead them on by saying PROBABLY and that HE WASTED HER TIME. That way she doesn't have to take responsibility for being a dumb slut who wasted her own time by opting to be an alpha's cum bucket rather than a beta's princess.

They rather share an alpha than monopolise a beta.

And when the sharing is purely sexual and non-commitment based, they rather dissociate he led her on than admit she just wasn't good enough to get his commitment.

Women, avoiding responsibility and preserving ego wherever possible.

If she can find a way to blame a man for her decisions, she will. If she can find a way to avoid guilt, she will. Oft these two intertwine.

Single mothers are delinquent subhuman scum who you should avoid at all costs.

10 upvotes · 4 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Truth be told I'm not really in the anger phase, I don't walk around on a daily basis shouting about this stuff. I workout, read, enjoy my life etc. I just love a good rant now and again. It's cathartic and I think it's good to say things that nobody wants to hear, but know that although perhaps exaggerated is to a large extent completely and utterly true. I think it's also really good for guys who are in the anger phase to read this stuff and vent here on something, rather than do something crazy in real life or spam the sub with their own subpar threads. When people know they aren't alone with a socially unacceptable hostile sentiment, they benefit psychologically. It's not cool that as the community has grown, people have become more intolerant to rants. We have a rant flair specifically to vent. If a guy can't say this shit in TRP, where he is going to say it? This is a male space. Anger will be expressed.

Single mothers are delinquent subhuman scum who you should avoid at all costs.

10 upvotes · 3 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah, Stefan Molyneux talks about a book called "Absent fathers and socialism" from the early 1900's in the video I link at the bottom.

And as you allude to, why wouldn't they? No fathers grows dependence on the state, allowing the state to expand in size, and the children are denied a source of critical thinking (the father.)

Single mothers are delinquent subhuman scum who you should avoid at all costs.

10 upvotes · 2 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

No "girls nights out!" well that's a plus. Family women have no business on the carousel.

Single mothers are delinquent subhuman scum who you should avoid at all costs.

10 upvotes · 2 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Then she's a poor judge of character who should either:

A: not fuck him at all

B: if she cant resist his DT tingles that much, get an abortion/use protection. Or basically do anything to prevent producing a child with his genetic material.

Nobody makes these women fuck those shitty kinda guys. They do it all by themselves.

A reminder for us all that nature does not respect the weak

10 upvotes · 1 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Hahhahahaa I can already see it. You act like a cunt thinking you're indestructible for being a lawyer. You piss off a guy assuming he thinks like you. Some low class cunt with nothing to lose doesn't give a fuck and kicks the shit out of you. You're there screaming legal terms whilst the blood flies. Quid pro quo! Affidavit! Quantum meruit! Nice battle plan bro. Bust out the legal latin and big steve definitely won't hesitate to use your head as a smashable object after a few. 10/10 strategy.

Automation-based job loss will be concentrated in male centered sector of the economy

10 upvotes · 15 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I have an essay idea for a couple of months now about this topic, I believe it has huge implications and explains most of the problems we have with world and the current state anti-male affairs we're experiencing today. I have written small portions as long comments in here before, but dont know if I can wrap it all into one mega piece that flows from one section to the next. It's such a huge topic. I shall ponder on it.

Sounds good. I'd read that. I know how hard it is to construct, connect and reconcile the enormity of such a grand framework though. Writing such a thing may prove frustrating, and many breaks may be needed, but to satisfyingly finish such a project would be very rewarding for reader and writer alike.

Why do women seem not as smart/funny/interesting as men?

10 upvotes · 1 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It's fucked up how true this is.

Why do women seem not as smart/funny/interesting as men?

10 upvotes · 1 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm pretty sure that number is exactly equal.

It isn't. I'll keep it simple.

Say the world population is 10 men, 10 women.

All 10 women reproduce, but let's say for arguments sake, only 5 men do.

Those 5 men would get 2 women each, and all 10 women would be impregnated at the same time, but although the children would each have a unique mother, every 2 children would share a father.

Just because one of the men who didn't impregnate her comes along and plays father after the paternal father is gone, it doesn't mean he is the father.

In this example, 5 men reproduce for every 10 women that reproduce.

So that some men may spread their wild oats, others do not spread them at all. Make sense?

Monogamy and religious marriage attempted to correct for this (every man gets a woman) but feminism undid that, now we have reverted back to our primal natures where only the best men have children.

A lot of men are cucked, too. EG: they raise another man's child thinking it's theirs.

To be clear:

A woman can only reproduce with one man at a time, but a man can reproduce with multiple women simultaneously. If you impregnated a freshman class of 30 women, there would be one father for 30 children, eg: Ghengis Khan.

50 Shades Redder - More Wisdom for Men About Women

10 upvotes · 23 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I concur with your recommendation (I think selective sounds better) - edited in!

50 Shades of Red - Wisdom for Men About Women

10 upvotes · 18 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Quite right.

It's funny because some guys read only for the dark triad stuff and when I do posts like this they message me "When are you writing some more of that psychopath shit? We haven't had some psychopath shit in a while!"

Can't please everybody. So I don't try.

The Nature of Women - Alternative Title: "Understanding Hamstering"

10 upvotes · 1 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I feel shocked about there re ppl like you exiting in this world and I find this theory completely delusional.

You realise where you are, right? This entire community is "like me."

Oh the irony, you would.

I will downvote anything you post.

Join the club, thanks for following.

you will not get your life anywhere with that toxic stout in you.

I rather enjoy green tea and regularly add lemon to both water and tea. Peppermint is also very good for aiding digestion and doesn't have the strong taste that the catechins in green tea produce.

Man shares a particularly brutal example of AWALT. "The amount of power mothers have over fathers is simply disgusting. It is a horror show."

10 upvotes · 23 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

If you were an incel going in you won't be for much longer.

Advice for serious lifters

10 upvotes · 20 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

This is what happens when you need to make sales. You fuck people over to maximise profit. Great for the Machiavellian salesman, bad for the customer.

Uncle gets cheated on, decides he can't continue

10 upvotes · 8 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I hope that bitch isn't getting everything in the will. Otherwise, she really did win.

"Greece is Fucked Because of it's people". A short dialogue with my now ex Greek GF.

10 upvotes · 8 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Here is the thing that i realized after that. Women, most women, don't have an opinion of their own. same goes with guys, but guys outnumber women in forming concrete opinion based on years of data and information. If a woman shares "her" opinion with you, instead of thinking that she really is an intelligent person and fool yourself over, we can assume that she has borrowed this opinion from someone else.

"There are three classes of intellects: one which comprehends by itself; another which appreciates what others comprehend; and a third which neither comprehends by itself nor by the showing of others; the first is the most excellent, the second is good, and the third is useless." - Niccolo Machiavelli

If she understands what she plagiarises, she is a good but not excellent intellectual. If she regurgitates it for intellectually aesthetic purposes without really understanding anything she is saying then by Machiavelli's standards she is useless as an intellectual.

I am of the opinion that women are for sex, and it is men that we must seek out for intellectual stimulation. Of course, not all men are fit for such a purpose, but out of all those who are, 99.9% will be men.

The Island with Bear Grylls Season 2 Recap

10 upvotes · 27 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Men have an innate concept of loyalty and honour. Women have no loyalty to anything but their kids, and as for honour, they have none. They are sycophants to whoever has the power. Hence the covert backstabbing, but overt cooperative nature of women. And the overtly defiant, but once resolved otherwise cooperative nature of men. Women are good at seeming cooperative when they're closed to an idea. Men are good at seeming uncooperative when they're open to an idea. Women respond to power before reason, men will equate reason with power, but oft defy power if it seems unreasonable. IMO, men are capable of a greater morality. That's to be expected when your sex is not Machiavellian by nature, but the other is.

Unfortunately in feminist societies female traits are necessary to survive. Cue men exhibiting female qualities and general moral decay.

RooshV slams the Red Pill

10 upvotes · 23 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Great concept. If it's yours, I can see it selling well.

The Red Pill, You, & Modality

10 upvotes · 19 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

This means that an effective man does not have one code of moral behaviour. He has different types of moral behaviour, depending on who he is dealing with, what level of trust he has with them, and what level of reciprocity he can expect from them. The more internal trust a group or culture has, the more elaborate its moral code can be. Moral codes are tools, pieces of social technology, and different tools are appropriate for different tasks.

This is gold. Very concise, spot on.

Only be an asshole to those who would be an asshole to you, and get good at discerning who is scrupulous and who isn't. If you yourself become that unscrupulous guy, nobody is going to trust you. You will be forced to puppeteer everyone and be very mentally violent. An exhausting life for all but the natural psychopath.

The Red Pill, You & Morality - (Full version, I hit the Reddit character limit on my original thread)

10 upvotes · 19 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Here is a preview of a rawer form of the article with accompanying commentary in the original thread:

/r/TheRedPill/comments/36dhaj/the_red_pill_you_morality/

I've created this link thread to ensure those who caught the original thread early don't miss out on the full article. I wrote a lot more when I wrote the original article, but I had to cut it down because I hit the 15,000 character limit Reddit enforces for threads. Rather than do another comment and risk it getting buried in OP, I opted to make life simpler and do an article on the topic. Enjoy.

Maintaining Frame Earned Me A Raise

10 upvotes · 17 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

People try to bait you into vitiating your credibility even in informal debates. In the legal world where money is at stake and appearances can heavily alter how money changes hands, this instinct to bait and provoke whilst being stoically cold must be even more common.

One must always be wary of the provocateur, he who would bait you into losing self-control, only to use that as leverage to further control you (in the instance of the original event) or to reduce your credibility to a court (when being cross-examined in a courtroom.) Provocation is insidious, for the provocateur can always hide behind plausible deniability as long as he doesn't get mad himself, and then use the reactions of the agitated as a form of social proof that said person is inferior, unfit, or what have you.

There is an implicit assumption that superior persons control their emotions at all time, and are immune to emotional outbursts, even when others specifically target one's psyche to elicit such outbursts. Indeed at all levels of society, I do not believe many are capable of such.

I've been banned from another sub I never posted to for being a "supporter" of a "hate group" - redpill -- "thought police" mods are thriving on Reddit

10 upvotes · 13 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

No different from masturbation, really. Except after you cum you start thinking clearly again.

The Japanese came up with a word to describe this exact phenomenon: Kenjataimu.

<https://i.imgur.com/47q9CYv.png>

IM's Hardest Hitting Reddit Rants

10 upvotes · 16 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

feminism start - equal rights for being similar, the ability to do what you want

A flawed premise to begin with, no less.

Reddit CEO bans salary negotiations because women are poor negotiators.

10 upvotes · 11 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

What changed? Free higher education for all that saturated the value of a degree or...?

AWALT: Why I don't believe in gender equality

10 upvotes · 10 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Predisposed to a lack of rationality. Environment further solidifies said predisposition. Effectively, both.

Want to jam the pill down your throat? Get a job in sales

10 upvotes · 3 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Seduction is sales. It's humour, it's charm, it's "getting a read on people", it's "I don't give a fuck outcome independence." It's manipulation, rhetoric, controlling the flow of conversation, setting the frame and having an immovable frame. It's about being socially dominant, persuasive, and seeing people as inferior / susceptible / disposable - using people to fulfil your goal - a sale. If you need to convince yourself you're "doing them a favour" to improve your pitch, it doesn't matter. The outcome is the same, it's just your head game facilitating your technique, see them as suckers or see yourself as someone who brings joy to people's lives - your perception of your customers/targets is yours to decide.

You have to be very skilled, cunning, and emotionally stoic/irrationally optimistic to be a good salesman. You can't be anxious, you must be near fearless socially speaking. I suppose for anxious people (somewhat common nowadays,) constant rejection is a good way to snap them out of that fear of the unknown, they know the unknown, they know what rejection feels like - they've become desensitised - it's not that bad. Now they become more socially effectual, more powerful.

The main difference between sales and game is the sexual overture, sales is game without escalating sexually. Although in some scenarios you may even use innuendo/overture to secure a sale if you think the target is attracted to you. Women use this more commonly to get a sale (flirting with the customer/being sexually misleading.) They bite their lip, undo a button and proclaim "it's hot in here," hold strong eye contact, change their vocal tone to be sensual - it's all part of the game. Seduction and sales? Not a lot of difference. The only difference is the objective and the outcome. With game, you're trying to get laid. With sales, you're trying to make money/hit a target/get a commission. The skill sets are transferable, interchangeable - for they are one and the same.

Anyone can be good at sales, with practice. Naturally, a man who increases the quality of his product first (enhances his SMV) AND THEN refines his game (his ability to sell) is infinitely more successful than a man with low SMV, but can sell. Why? Because with a better product, less effort is needed to make the sale, hence less resistance and more sales than the guy selling inferior product in the same time period. It's all well and good being a good salesman, but if it takes you too long to close the deal you've missed out on other potential customers. A sunk cost. You may be good, you may even be the best, but that won't reflect in your success. Some people are smart enough not to want to buy BULLSHIT even if you layer it with charm - period.

Low SMV is good for learning quicker, without looks/status to help you, you will face more rejection, harsher responses, and learn quicker - however - by being good looking/high SMV, you will find it easier/quicker to sell which equates to more lays and/or profit.

At the end of the day, what's more important to you? Being the most skilled salesman that ever lived (low SMV with a silver tongue) or the most successful salesman - high SMV, silver tongue, but lacking the "edge" that the low SMV guy has because he is shit tested the most? If you really care about the craft in and of itself, learn to sell first - like a PUA, even if your SMV is terrible. If you just want success, make your life easier by making your product easier to sell alongside your sales skills (in relation to yourself: enhance your SMV.) With better product, you have more interest, higher trust/desire and less obstacles/shit tests to overcome to make the sale/close the deal.

Both are important (game/sales and SMV,) but don't neglect one for the other - a master embodies both. If your value is high, but your game sucks, it's time to up your game. If your value is low but your game rocks, it's time to sort out your finances/hit the gym etc. I'm of the opinion you up your value (monk mode) and then up your game when your value is higher. Doing a sales job is the opposite, it's upping your game and using that money/social skills to increase your value. Neither is wrong per se, but jumping into sales with low value is definitely the deep end, hence "baptism by fire." Nice metaphor, I like it.

Said No Thanks to the Starfish last night

10 upvotes · 29 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It's an interesting idea, is it true? I can't say for certain. Looking at it like that is probably helpful to guys who cave under pressure easily. I can see how it would help alleviate social pressure when they think what the women is saying is coming from a place of insecurity/uncertainty rather than being the scathing fitness test that it is. I'm inclined to lean NO, simply because, when they issue these tests: they're not insecure enough. If it was a worry/inner concern - it'd be communicated more like one, rather than an overt challenge - which is how they tend to come across. There is effectively a disconnect in sentiment.

Of course in some situations, a shit test could easily be a symptom of internal monologue/insecurity, I'm not completely closed to the idea - eg: in an LTR where the man has a lot of power. In a bar/club/carousel environment however? No, not really. She's testing because she wants tingles/you to prove dominance, not because she's having an internal chat with herself about her feelings for you. Women don't really process their feelings in fast-paced environments like bars and such, they just "go along with them" aka "it just happened."

TRP in China

10 upvotes · 25 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

They're broken, they're looking for a man to fix them, to "complete them" but you can't fix something which has a fundamental part to it missing - which is what happens to alpha widows, the part that lets them bond is gone. The necessary level of innocence for them to ever really trust/love a man is just not there.

Running game in wealthier and more affluent areas.

10 upvotes · 19 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I thought it was implied, but allow me to clarify:

If all you have is great wealth (and none of those other traits) she is with you out of politics, not lust. I know a young man who went to an elite school who is ripe for such an arrangement. Although, I know the rich like to exercise prejudice in and amongst themselves. My buddy is second-generation rich/nouveau-riche, and not old money - perhaps that's why there is a lack of arrogance in his demeanour. Despite superior education he was taught humility and the value of a dollar, not that he is a god with a birthright to power or any sense of innate superiority. He was not inculcated with narcissism as a child. Meritocracy over divinity, so to speak. He wasn't given a credit card with no limit, his parents even had him work some day jobs. They didn't want a spoilt little brat for a child. He turned out erudite and quite noble, but alas, the absence of arrogance combined with being sheltered from any real hardship have made him naive. Perhaps a little "1%er arrogance" would do him some good.

And yes, it is my belief in terms of dark triad theory that the very top of society is incredibly DT, mostly high-functioning DTs, although some of the kids born into the power just devour themselves with drug abuse and are essentially good for nothing. They're all ego and little substance. Of course I speak of a very specific type of person in a very specific class of people, they do not represent "all the rich kids." The middle class are mostly moral and upright, although there are a few social climbers trying to break into the upper who are not. Power necessitates flexible morality, an adherence to pragmatism over all else. The working class is less moral due to poverty, but for the most part they cause no harm. They would say, steal to pay the bills, not to "show off their power." Similar behaviour, smaller scale, different reasoning.

The underclass are DT as fuck but they are low-functioning DTs. They populate the prisons and account for most of the state expenditure on welfare, social policy, urban rejuvenation and all that kind of social dysfunction. High-functioning DTs in the underclass usually move up to the middle or upper class via superb strategy and relentless work ethic. The extremities of DT behaviour tend to be at the very top and very bottom of society. Even philanthropy and charity balls are Machiavellian as fuck. Predominantly: tax avoidance, non-profits don't pay tax. Secondly: It's the rich man's equivalent of bleach for one's reputation. Indeed, it fools the clueless sheeple "he's not that bad, he helps kids in Africa!" If I were a billionaire I'd keep everyone busy with glorious theatricism that makes me look like my shit doesn't smell too.

My Old Coworker Hung Himself

10 upvotes · 12 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

So, knowing about the lion's tendencies, you have a responsibility to not enter the cage. If you do, and you're eaten, even if the lion is the one who ate, it's your fault.

If only it were that simple with women, eh? It is my belief you can write a list of "things not to do with a woman" do none of them, and still get burnt. Women are the chaos element in humanity. There is more rhyme and reason to the actions of a lion than the fleeting emotional impulse of a woman, who, in her nature, will follow that impulse wherever it takes her if the emotion is particularly compelling enough. Naturally she will improvise reasons on a rational level after the fact (hamster) but the actual behaviour was pure instinct/impulse/emotion chasing.

I trust women to follow their emotions. I can't be there at all times to make sure she's feeling what I need her to feel so she doesn't fuck things up. Likewise, I can't always be there to stop her friends or other men from poisoning her emotions. I think that's too much to ask of a man. This is why in my view, like religion did, we need to socially programme them to suppress their worst instincts and internalise a system of morality. Helps society tick along. It's what built this civilization to begin with (Judeo-Christian values.) Religion has it's faults (and interestingly enough, I'm not religious) but what alternative do we really have for keeping women in check and at least giving men a fighting chance to ensure they [women] don't just burn everything on a whim?

My Old Coworker Hung Himself

10 upvotes · 12 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I won't argue hypotheticals. It is telling however how many people are quick to assume the man is in the wrong/responsible.

Part of your "women are wonderful" cognitive bias no less, I suspect.

Females loathe men of low value.

10 upvotes · 7 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Intelligence which is a more important quality in modern society means basically nothing for female selection.

And as such, the brutes continue to breed whilst the nerds don't. We have seen that education is one of the best contraceptives, with highly educated women having significantly less children than uneducated or only somewhat educated women (in some instances incredibly intelligent women have no children at all!) Indeed, intelligence isn't sexy or even relevant to most women's sexual choices (although they would voice the contrary) despite intelligence being completely necessary for our species to make the quantum leap necessary to become space-faring/post-human.

The obese idiot on welfare who struggles to understand most things and knows little about much have little place in a galactic empire where the most basic jobs they would be hypothetically capable of are performed by automated robots and A.I. The intelligent but uneducated can be taught, but how does one teach someone incapable of grasping fundamentally complex ideas? We'd be better off teaching Plato to a brick!

Where do such people have a place in such a developed civilization? Of course the answer is, they have none. It is these notions of "enforced equality" which undermine "survival of the fittest" that hold us back as a civilization.

An idiot's life is worth less than an intellectual's, and yet it is the idiots who are breeding in far more abundance. Instead of working towards space colonisation and other such things, the majority of the population are entirely devoid of a scientific mind and rather watch the Kardashians, argue about abortion and eat themselves into an early grave. If only women really did select for higher IQ, we'd all be better off as a society. We'd be less overpopulated. Crime would be lower, poverty would be lower, society would be safer. Low IQ is directly correlated with higher rates of poverty, crime, impulsivity and likewise a higher number of offspring.

How far does the concept of AWALT go?

10 upvotes · 4 February 2015 · /r/PurplePillDebate

I think when most people focus on the hardship of women and ignore the hardship men have, doing the opposite is a respectable counter-balancing force in the grand scheme of things. When you're one person in a sea of millions crying out for women's issues, and barely anyone does the same for men, you have no moral high ground to berate people who do give a damn about men. Of course, I know you don't like me, so feel free to twist my words/berate me and generally be mentally abusive over the internet. There's probably nothing you can do or say that will fuck my head, but I welcome you to try. Perhaps a psycho-analysis of my posts would do the trick.

"Men's Rights Activists have missed the point of feminism " - Intellectually disingenuous article from The Telegraph writes a smear piece aimed at discrediting TRP and AVFM.

10 upvotes · 2 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The mainstream media is bought and paid for, alas, to appease advertisers all manner of mediocre bullshit is published. I think I only read newspaper articles to mock them in jest now. All serious reading I do comes from books by respectable/intellectual authors, or alternative news sources such as manosphere blogs (where people aren't paid off to write bullshit.)

"Men's Rights Activists have missed the point of feminism " - Intellectually disingenuous article from The Telegraph writes a smear piece aimed at discrediting TRP and AVFM.

10 upvotes · 2 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I agree, it was rather good. Maybe there's still hope for humanity!

Im a muslim and let me tell u..

10 upvotes · 2 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I live in a muslim country considered civilized compared to other middle eastern countries

UAE, Saudi, Qatar, Kuwait or Bahrain. I bet Dubai has become a BP shit pit with all the western cultural influence there.

The islamic society is witnessing a big change in muslim females mind. women are forgetting what makes a good muslim husband and now want exactly what the western woman want beta/alpha shitstorm.

The dude who cuts my hair is a Turk. I just turn up and say random RP shit and shoot the shit with him, to him it's all natural. None of the muslim guys down my barbers have a good thing to say about women, it's nothing extreme they just say it how it is. Which I guess to your average western BPer is extreme, but in reality it's just truth. Islam differs by country. The poorer countries like Turkey or Algeria are probably more RP. Feminism infects everything everywhere it goes.

FR: 19-year-old college freshman from Tinder. Blondie likes older men...a lot.

10 upvotes · 23 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Seriously fuck these whiny cry babies. "It's not real!" "He's bragging!" in practically every FR now is getting old. You butthurt kids need to quit your complaining. Nobody cares if you believe OP and nobody wants to hear you whine.

Plate, meet my other plate.

10 upvotes · 15 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I definitely support the idea of leaving a girl better off than you found her.

When the sub was small, "leave 'em better than you found 'em" was a phrase that came up time and time again. It's gone now.

To fall in love with anyone, do this

10 upvotes · 14 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

But you know...Becky...I read 50 Shades of grey...and..gulp you're going to think I'm like...like defective or something...but...err...well...rape is actually kinda hot. It's so...kinky. He has to rape me...but I have to want him to rape me..he can't know I want him to rape me though. If you think rape is hot...you'll know where I'm coming from. If he wants to chain me to his cold hard protruding.....bed post. And do unspeakable things...to ME....well....I don't think there's anything wrong with that. Her father walks in. she, in a slip of Freudian weakness, immediately locks eyes with him, unknowingly biting her lip "Ice cream, daddy?"

Cue the "don't shame her sexuality!" crowd. It's only an incest and rape double whammy, y'know.

Next up: bonobos! Grab yer inhalers we're in for a bumpy ride! /s

Whores & Daughters

10 upvotes · 11 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

specifically the machiavellian strategies.

Yeah because you can still practice your own form of morality despite being Machiavellian. Psychopathy, dysfunctional narcissism (but specifically sadism) create the problems. That discussion is worth it's own thread I don't want to debase this topic going off on a tangent.

Why people resort to reputation.

10 upvotes · 6 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Reputation is something you bear in mind, it's one variable. It should not constitute the sum of your opinion. If a lot of people find value in something, then there must be something noteworthy, significant or worth checking out. Even if you don't agree/like what other people like, you can still learn from it. Being analytical you can work out what made whatever it is popular, and emulate those mechanisms with your own rep/business etc. You can learn from the most innocuous things if you're able to deconstruct what makes certain things successful and then apply similar elements to whatever project or business it is that you're working on. Human psychology doesn't change much, once you have "cracked it" and "figured out how people work" you wield a lot of power over the average chump. You're running rings whilst they're in a daze overwhelmed by external stimulus.

People are also, as a survival instinct, more prone to believe the negative than the positive. EG: Negative reputation spreads further and gets believed a lot faster than a positive reputation IF that reputation is the first thing you hear about a person/company. People are skeptical of positive things they haven't experienced first-hand because they don't wanna get burned. Anyone with any life experience has been burned, there's at least a bit of a cynic in all of us. If you've heard of/dealt with something before and heard/thought good things about that thing, then you're more likely to cost-benefit and use logic rather than blindly believe the "reputation" which is essentially the circulation of rumour. If something directly affects someone and the rumour/reputation is negative, they will believe it's true and plan a counter as a matter of "I need to protect my ass." If it turns out to be bullshit, it doesn't matter because they were prepared just in case.

When analysing:

- Factor in reputation, also think "why do people think this" - especially on matters of popularity. EG: I think Justin Bieber is shit, but I realise he's aesthetic enough to get teenage girl panties moist and he tells 'em what they wanna hear in his songs, hence his appeal. He panders to the delusions of teenage girls and looks good doing it and makes a ton of cash. Talk about harvesting that hypergamy. Anyhow, I don't have to like him or be like him to understand his popularity/appeal. Try to understand the popular appeal or distaste people have for things, even if you don't share the popular opinion. By analysing him I can see how he targets a specific demographic and what that demographic wants and I can do a similar thing, target my own demographic and be exactly what they want. The end result is the same: profit.
- Observe what you want to understand. Does it really work or seem how others describe it? Reputations are like "value judgement stories" and like any story, they get altered as they circulate over time. It starts off with "he banged two girls" then it's "he banged two girls who were friends" then they were best friends, then it's "he banged that girl and her sister and the cops walked in on them." People add shit to stories to make them more interesting, with reputations that means people who really like the person they are talking about may exaggerate positive things, and people who dislike the person may omit things that make the person look good or even add total bullshit in, polluting the truth.

Be careful with reputations, keep a clear head, be critical, weigh things up and attempt to analyse them. Most people don't do this, and this is why they are sheep who follow crowd consensus. Independence requires autonomy, and to have mental autonomy you must be able to make solid deductions based on probabilities and known facts. When you are reliant on others to think for you, directly or indirectly, you are basically a pawn too lazy or too stupid to be a king.

The UK is seeming to value men in society more

10 upvotes · 4 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I wouldn't have expected someone like you to reply to my first post on TRP though.

I was about to pop up to Tesco to get tonight's post-workout but saw the word "UK" so zoned in on that like a fly on shit.

I'm a fan of the site I'll add

Thanks bud!

Just wish I'd have found it before I hit 23.

23 is young mate. If you make good time now it'll have very little effect on you in your 30's (as in, you'll be sorted by your 30's.)

Right, off to Tesco now.

Not just sexual strategy is amoral, everything is. Why? Because life has no feelings, no conscience or consciousness and gives no fucks about shit. That doesn't mean disregarding morality as a whole is a wise or even balanced thing to do.

10 upvotes · 29 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

one of those recent controversial posts implied that morality and having a conscience is the result of men being feminized.

What unenlightened trite. Women certainly didn't invent morality did they? Anything but. Morality, like greater philosophy and law itself are actualisations of abstract male thinking allowed to flourish organically via patriarchy. In female dominated societies like the one we have now, morality falls to the wayside, and the law becomes increasingly corrupt. Whoever thinks these things are the product of femininity is completely retarded. The feminine lacks the spirit of mind to produce such cultural marvels, bar the odd exception every 100 years or so such as Ayn Rand.

Get To The Top 20%. Lurkers and New RP Men, Your Beta Qualities Are Officially Worthless To Today's Women

10 upvotes · 17 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Certainly. The point is, I can with far more frequency find a respectable man than I can a respectable woman. And as much as I can respect the best of the best when it comes to female capability and attitude, that will never not be tainted by the sheer mercenaryness of their sexual imperative. Men are not mercenary in matters of love and loyalty, women are. Men cheat out of sexual need, women, out of emotional - a larger betrayal. In essence, women's loyalty is so conditional and contingent on being in an position of inferiority in relation to a male position of power that deeming them equals is a ridiculous foolhardy notion. They need to be weaker than you so they feel like they have something to gain by associating with you (Briffault's Law) - men to a larger degree seem to show a capacity to gain from both those weaker and stronger than them. Men demonstrate a more pronounced capacity for selflessness, a selflessness necessary for turning the cogs on the wheels of civilization.

When you actually give them equal power, or more power, their worst traits manifest, as we have seen from feminist social engineering. Their femininity is corrupted by power and they become unfeminine. They can no longer respect you nor you, they. They inadvertently demand your superiority to be even likeable or tolerable to you as a man. They think they want to be better than you, but they're only actually happy if you're better than them. Women lack self-awareness and are largely counter-intuitive creatures. In essence, women are quite psychopathic towards male weakness (or not even weakness, but just relative inferiority.) Simply put, they just do not care or have the capacity to respect or love men weaker or inferior to themselves whereas we as men are fully capable of respecting and loving both men and women inferior to ourselves. Hence the prevailing RP attitude "treat them like children." Their limited capacity for appreciation and loyalty is their ultimate undoing, arguably more so than their lack of rationalism. I could go on about this for ages and you could misinterpret me in any number of ways because this is quite nuanced, so I shall stop there.

Chinese man moves to Ukraine and lands a 17 year beauty.

10 upvotes · 13 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't get everything right and I'm not perfect I'm just a dude like everybody else here. My post was just my initial impression. Why the fuck is "Chinese man" and "Ukrainian beauty" even relevant? I mean look at the fucking title for a minute, just look at it:

Shocking story of how Chinese man got together with beautiful Ukrainian

So it's shocking apparently that a "chinese" (no ACCOMPLISHED PING PONG PLAYING HARD WORKING CHINESE MAN) just "chinese" somehow as if the cosmos aligned "got together" with a BEAUTIFUL UKRANIAN.

Shit, to me, that stands out plain as day as fucking pedestalisation. It's subtle but it's there. In subtext it's like "OMG THIS CHINESE GUY GOT WITH THIS SUPER HOT UKRANIAN GIRL HOW DID HE DO THAT?" then they tell "his story" of "how he achieved this magnificent feat!" Like if race isn't an issue here, why the fuck mention he's chinese? Asians are obsessed with whiteness, pedestalise it, get jealous, then deny they have this basket case of pigmentation obsession going on. I honestly have no time for that cluster fuck of hamstering but when I come across it such as in this post, it irks me.

Also, hate the subtle implication that the girl is the prize. She isn't. His self-development is. And despite the inspirational element to the story it's this "look how this chinese man ended up with this amazing stunning white Ukrainian girl!" theme which makes me shake my head at this shit. I'm happy for the dude for making something of himself but the pussy on the pedestal shit pisses me off. And whether they want to admit it or not, from what I've seen online, asian guys are mad pedestalising white girls, then they bitch and moan when Asian girls pedestalise white men. Fucking hilarious as shit how you can be that unaware though. I mean a lot of the semi-RP men here are all well and happy for me to call out women on their bullshit, but when I direct that same lens of observation at them? Butthurt ensues. Like I did at the beginning of this post, a "real man" (whatever that is) knows when to yield and say "I'm not perfect, you could be right."

[48 Days of Power] Law 27 - "Play on people's need to believe to create a cultlike following."

10 upvotes · 11 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

that features attention as a reward is going to work these days.

It's exacerbated further by two underlying components:

- Feminism bred women to be collectively narcissistic and take on a "I'm the prize" mentality. Combine that with their inherent neediness and effeminate men pedestalling them and giving them attention out the ass and on tap and you get huge attention whores.
- Baby boomers neglected their kids and/or gave them only a single parent to live with, so feeling attention deprived people look for attention from friendships/relationships to a more pronounced degree than they used to to compensate. When you have two parents attention can be distributed more evenly and the child is less likely to end up neglected as a result. A parent can't work and fulfil their child's attentive needs at the same time.

Instagram. Long ago, you shared photos with the people in your life. Instagram allowed people to create their own mini cultlike following by letting people share photos with others who don't know them. What they are selling is "envy".

You are bang on with that. Sometimes I go on instagram to observe overt narcissism. 50 cent's is particularly narcissistic. "MY SNEAKERS MATCH MY LAMBO U AINT ON THIS LEVEL" (he posted something akin to that awhile back.)

But then when you realise 50 Cent's mother died when he was 9, he never knew his dad and he was raised by what I presume are now dead grandparents, it makes a lot of sense. A hell of a lot of sense.

My Stance On Women

10 upvotes · 10 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You are an outlier. There are always outliers. You have to look past yourself and outside yourself and see what your fellow women are like, although that may be skewed if you keep similar company as people tend to. There are women out there with 160 IQ and a PHD in Physics, does that make them representative of women in general? No. You're probably high testosterone too (enjoy A LOT of sex, pronounced jaw line?) - most women aren't like that. Most women are happy working part time and leeching off a man. The NHS in the UK has a huge doctor shortage because they take more women in than men, those women work 10 years tops (full-time,) have a kid and then work part time. Effectively they found 3 female doctors do as much work as 1 male doctor (15 hours each, whilst a man will do 45 hours.) Crazy fucking world.

Woman sleeps with boss for raise; doesn't tell husband "for the good of the family".

10 upvotes · 7 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah men either work more hours (making her go YOU'RE NEVEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEEE HEREEEEEEEEEEE YOU DONT CAAAAAAAAREEEEEEEEEEE ABUUUUUUUUUT MEEEEEEEEEEEEEE)

Or if they go the morally questionable route, they do violent crimes/dangerous shit to get paid.

Where man's instinct is to use muscle to get paid, woman's is to prostitute herself.

Male power = violence

Female power = sex

[48 Days of Power] Day 22 - "Use the surrender tactic: transform weakness into power."

10 upvotes · 7 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

If you know you're dealing with a stronger opponent that 99/100 times will beat you on whatever battlefield you're fighting on, a lost battle doesn't mean the war is over

Flipside: if you're dealing with a weaker opponent that has everything to gain whilst you have everything to lose, then on the off chance they show you up/win it's better not to give them the opportunity to siphon your power. Taking unnecessary risks out of ego is the worst thing a Machiavellian can do, don't entertain an upstart just because they've called you a cunt or lashed out at your ego. Show self-restraint. "Lions care not for the opinions of sheep." You can only control others when first you learn to master yourself. It is better to ignore upstarts and let your following do the dirty work for you rather than lay into your challengers yourself. Remember the law - keep your hands clean.

Edited: omitted a lot of stuff, holding it back for a future article. Not a fan of reddit's automatic copyright over everything you post either.

Fuck Marriage

10 upvotes · 12 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Quite right. Marriage is nothing but an incredibly unreasonable financial insurance policy for women nowadays. A vehicle for massive wealth redistribution from producers to parasites. Divorce is incredibly unethical towards men. I can think of maybe one caveat for marrying that does not apply to the vast majority of people: political reasons.

Crush your enemy totally, show no mercy...

10 upvotes · 9 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

If you are speaking from your own experience, I would take from the insinuations in your post that you're an older guy that has never been (or currently is not) in a position of power but has had to struggle through many of the pitfalls of the modern workplace without the freedom to exercise power. You have learnt to be useful and invisible, but that means you make nothing but a great tool for your boss. You won't be the boss because you're too good at surviving, you've learnt to survive, but not to conquer. I never thought I'd be finding myself upvoting a comment which bags on the 48 laws at the end, but there we have it. Although I disagree with the assertion it's a bad book, the rest of your comment was solid. In spite of that, what you say is relevant only to a peon within a workplace setting, it's not correct within all contexts and it is poor advice for a leader or person with power.

For example, if you are a business owner and you have competition, crushing that other business by ruining its reputation or acquiring it and adding it to your own portfolio is wiser/better than "outperforming them." Why have half the market share when you can have all of it? You see, the 48 laws are like anything, not all laws apply to every situation and every person, some laws like this one are better suited to people in high positions of power, other laws like "don't outshine the master" are better suited to people at lower power levels (but apply, to an extent, to people at higher power levels too.) In fact some of the laws contradict each other, try to apply law 1 and law 15 at the same time to the workplace and see how that mindfucks you. What you've done here is say "fuck law 15, use law 1" but because you don't like the book or haven't read it, don't realise that's what you have advised.

Thus it is so that the book is only as useful as one is able to interpret, understand and apply the maxims to their own issues. Do not blame the book, the book is quite intelligent and useful, blame those who know not how to use the knowledge in the book effectively.

48 laws is to a large extent directed at leaders/masters and people who wish to attain those positions. His other book Mastery is about using mentors to speed that process up and even replace people with power through the mentor-apprentice relationship. As a manager or CEO of your workplace for instance you will crush anybody who creates too many problems, as you actually point out yourself here:

Modern workplaces will react to isolate and extinguish any source of drama. Don't be that guy. Just be the quiet, effective guy who gets shits done.

Trying to crush people when you're a worker peon, as you say, will make your life harder as you will be on the receiving end of power, rather than the end dealing out punishment.

Context is everything. This law is for people who have the power advantage/resources to necessitate getting away with crushing their enemy. This law is about preserving your power, it is power maintenance, for people without power it is, as you say, a stupid idea to adhere to. Everyone else must do what you have advised, be a wolf in sheep's clothing and blend in. That's law 38, too.

TLDR: If you are in a workplace with no power, law 1 + law 38 guarantee your survival. Ignore Law 15. Do law 38 well enough by mirroring your bosses preferences and you'll get promoted "I see myself in him."

Sex on Campus: She Can Play That Game, Too. Writer explains the trend of more younger/college aged women wanting casual sex and abandoning LTR

10 upvotes · 30 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Self-made wealth is infinitely more satisfying than silver spoon wealth.

The Art of War applied to The RedPill

10 upvotes · 29 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Great post dude, really good stuff. Machiavellianism is wonderful.

Woman drops boyfriend because he lives frugally. Later finds out that he's a heir to a fortune based on oil.

10 upvotes · 28 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

So much vicarious schadenfreude in reading this post. That's why this is getting upvoted so much. Not really very educational, but very satisfying to read. This is like porn for anger phase guys.

The reason why TheRedPill shouldn't cite to fictional works as examples of TRP in action.

10 upvotes · 26 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You seem pretty smart OP so I've friended you to get your posts highlighted. I hope you stick around and that we see more posts from you.

For Darwin and Newton, the process is important, but ultimately the value of the work is the conclusion, assuming it was reached by scientifically valid process. This is the difference between science and philosophy. The RedPill is science.

I disagree on this point. I think TRP is a pragmatist philosophy that can be proven and disproved by science like all and any philosophy. Remember science is an empirical way of giving beliefs validity, science has no beliefs of its own, it's an instrument, a measuring stick, a system of methodology for measuring and proving ideas that men had prior to conclusive empirical proof being available. Science is the establishment of hard fact. Philosophy fuels science, science does not fuel philosophy. Science sets out to investigate things that have already been philosophised, philosophy does not set out to interpret the world through the lens of scientific proof. Such a thing would constrain a philosophy far too much, not allowing it to essentially be a philosophy by making it almost identical to the process of science itself. Effectively it would just be "science explained," rather than a philosophy.

Without philosophy, there can be no science, for philosophy is the basis of science, and it is the basis of science because without it nobody would have anything they're setting out to prove or disprove to begin with so there would be no ideas for experiments. Science is a methodological process that deduces hard facts, nothing more and nothing less. Militant american atheists seem to in my view, treat science as a new kind of religion/institution to follow, (funny how humans need a sense of community/belonging and have a tendency to worship and idolise) however it is anything but that. It is simply a system of deduction. And if it is honest science unbridled by political influence and falsified datasets then it is an empirical deduction of reality.

Hard facts (such as the composition of the Earth's atmosphere) would still exist without philosophy and our scientific process, but it would be knowledge hidden to our species consciousness. Even things as basic as gravity were originally based on an idea, a theory, a component in a wider philosophy that an invisible force pulls things towards the Earth based upon the observation of a falling apple. TRP is not science, we generalise too much and allow too much free thinking. Philosophy is free thinking, whilst science is close-minded. Science only cares about fact and what is measurable, and making what isn't measurable, measurable. Philosophy cares about the reasoning for everything and anything, it is the exemplification of the intrinsic human curiosity. We do not use enough empirical hard data, although to our credit, beyond the realm of coincidence we do often find data which matches our theories, observations and hypotheses. If TRP was science then we'd never make conclusions without proof of a conclusion and thus we certainly wouldn't generalise. TRP is as scientific as you would like to give observation and corroboration it's due merit in terms of ecological validity.

Hillary 2016: why all men should be concerned

10 upvotes · 25 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Whether you prefer Merkel or Thatcher would be a matter of opinion. Chancellor Merkel is someone I don't know enough about to make fair comment on. It is my contention that the best female leaders are all very masculine in character. The idea of a very feminine, beautiful and emotional leader just does not compute. Neither Thatcher nor Merkel are the Marilyn Monroe's of femininity.

Damn:secure your fucking assets

10 upvotes · 25 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah, shit, if anything is treason this is it.

"Why One Male College Student Abandoned Affirmative Consent"

10 upvotes · 21 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women don't want to be viewed as fuck toys on a conscious level, but on a more primal level they respond brilliantly to it. Despite not wanting to be viewed that way, many many women (I'm talking the majority) have very little to offer other than their bodies. They don't make themselves likeable. They may be better looking than you but they won't be funnier than you, richer than you, smarter than you and etc. Hypergamy necessitates they are inferior to you in MOST WAYS to be attracted to you. All you require is a certain standard of beauty and a vagina.

9.9/10 times if I want something other than sex (to laugh, to have an intellectual conversation, to get advice, etc) I can get it in far higher quality from another man than I can a woman. That leaves women with only one unique selling point, sex. There are some brilliant women out there, I was lucky enough to meet a few, you know, those who are actually funny, likeable and somewhat intelligent, but they are ALL TOO rare. They're not even as common as 1 in 10, more like 1 in 100, perhaps even rarer. Most women ain't worth shit but a fuck, so let's not pretend they have non-sexual related value when they almost always do not. Feminism has a lot to answer for with the travesty that is the state of modern women.

How do we protect our sisters and daughters?

10 upvotes · 19 October 2014 · /r/askTRP

She hangs out with slutty girl-friends that she met at one of the most liberal universities in the US.

Well there's your biggest problem. You are the sum of your company. If all her friends are sluts, news flash, your sister is a slut. A slut that bangs convicts, no less. And whilst you agree the convict didn't deserve to fuck her because of his delinquency, she's just saying that because her ego got blown out by him. She is a bad judge of character, will continue to make terrible mating decisions and is a sucker for the adrenaline of fucking a bad boy. The damage is already done with this girl, she's not 8 years old you can't keep her on the right path when she's already strayed down the wrong one. She needs a new social circle, stat. A lack of friends who encourage her to whore it up will help, but good luck finding a social circle of women who don't celebrate being whores in the U.S nowadays. I don't think there is much you can do for your sister. You have your own life to lead. They're going to whore it and there ain't shit you can do about it bar kidnapping 'em and taking them to a muslim country. (FYI: not serious advice.)

RP being discussed openly in 1996, except they weren't calling it RP.

10 upvotes · 16 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Man television is so full of blue pill bullshit nowadays.

Remember, bros will always be there for you, and you will always be there for them.

10 upvotes · 12 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Betas make bad friends. If your friend is alpha but he isn't DT, you're set. They're some of the most righteous people around.

There is a "new masculinity" wherein women & betas re-label traditional markers of male success as "sexist" or "divisive". It's a comforting mechanism by which losers will try to redefine failure as success and success as wrong.

10 upvotes · 7 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Ah digits, that was it. Nice one on the LTR.

Amen to the rest of your post, too.

Too "red pill" for r/mensrights.

10 upvotes · 4 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You could probably make more paragraphs out of your text wall to make it look more hospitable.

After escaping her first marriage to an abusive husband, Dworkin married a gay man and convinced him that his penis was a tool of oppression (which he wrote and published).

So because she was mentally and physically abused, she went and mentally abused a gay dude to the point of him hating his own cock and writing a book about it. Wow that's fucked up I wonder how much sadistic schadenfreude she indulged in from that as a radical feminist. Having her own little homosexual psychological punchbag. Damn. She was dark as fuck.

The great fault of the feminist movement is that it uses its power to legislate equality in a competitive environment, which is absolute proof that women are not equal at all because they cannot compete on their own (equal results instead of equal opportunity)

Brilliant point, they had to dilute education (at least in England - I suspect its the same in the rest of the anglosphere) to change the education system so it has a positive bias towards female achievement over male achievement. This is further exacerbated by absent fathers at home to help manage male behaviour and then an absence of men in the education system itself, especially at the lower, crucial developmental stages of life. I think there was even a study I read some time ago saying female teachers mark boys lower because they are boys, whereas male teachers mark across gender more equally. Something to do with "boys who behave like boys" being viewed as defective girls and female teachers factoring a boys behaviour into his grade, rather than just raw ability.

This is generally because men react better under stress, don't take criticism as harshly, are legally less risky, are more competitive, less catty, and don't bring their personal lives into the office with them (they are better at compartmentalizing). Instead of being hired for their skills, women are instead hired to fill a quota.

That, and the hypergamous expectation that a man needs to be deemed better than a woman for her to find him attractive, as well as "provide" for her (men do not expect a superior mate or to be provided for) are all great economical-sociological arguments for why men deserve higher pay than women for working the same number of hours in the same role. Likewise if you're more skilled than someone else in the job market, you should be compensated for that. Being better at keeping calm under pressure is a skill that IMO, warrants higher pay. It also bleeds into team morale. Personally, I've always found working with women to be a chore, as they expect me to take their negative emotional load and deal with their inability to handle shit. They emotionally lash out in a way a man never has towards me in the workplace. Women oft make a workplace emotionally violent, threatening its very stability. Spinsters and career women are the worst for that shit, they bring their bitterness to work with them and take it out on peers, and if they're in a customer-facing role, customers too. Even women who are above you in the company will delegate their emotional burden onto you. The very opposite of leadership. I've spoken to many women about "if they prefer a male manager, or a female manager at work" and the majority all say they prefer a male manager as they feel they are treated more fairly and to be crude, male managers generally speaking tend to have their shit together more than female managers.

Most women I've seen in leadership positions are poor leaders and do not deserve to be where they are. There are a few great women in the workplace out there, but for every great female leader you have 10 shitty ones and it's not just bad for the workforce under them, but the company and the economy as a whole. They have an overarching tendency to destroy morale and it's psychologically taxing on the men and women who have to work with them. The men especially, as much like in a relationship, they are expected to pick up the slack and take the blame (be scapegoated) for things the female leader did wrong. It's not beyond a bad female leader to expect telepathy from a male worker beneath her and then for her to lose her shit when something isn't done (because the dumb bitch never asked for it to be done.) FYI: she will then rewrite history and profuse she explicitly remember asking for the unasked thing to be done and that clearly said man just has a poor memory/is lying. Again, the accusatory nature of such "leadership" being incredibly poor for morale as well as emotionally violent, a form of bullying/creating a hostile work environment. It's so bad that govt has to force quotas on businesses to hire and promote women who aren't cut out for leadership because "there should always be equality of outcome," even if they're just bad leaders. Its pathetic.

This is the thing about women. They enjoy power but they can't handle the stress, responsibility and accountability that comes with it. They want people to jump to their tune and they want the power to reject people and be bitchy unopposed, but then when the stress of managing people and hitting targets comes to bite them in the ass, they more often than not have a meltdown and all the work bullshit bleeds into their personal life (fucks her man less) and vice versa, any problems with her man lead to poorer conduct at work. It's pathetic when a female leader blames the failure of a project on her peons, cries or screams at work, loses her shit, gets mentally abusive and basically demonstrates she can't even keep a lid on her own emotions, let alone lead a team of people. I know I wouldn't trust someone who couldn't control their own emotions at least 90% of the time to be responsible for anything important. Emotional reasoning, but particularly negative emotional reasoning and hypersensitivity to things other people say and do in particular impede reasoning and can lead to detrimental behaviour and impaired decision making and etc. It's shit for the guys and girls working with such a woman and it's shit for the guy fucking her who has to put up with her when she gets in through the door.

OKC Experiments confirm physical attractiveness matters more than personality and interests.

10 upvotes · 30 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I never understood why artsy types who have none of their shit together get laid. Defies everything we know about SMV. I imagine him pulling a banksy angle or some shit "I'm banksy bitch."

To clarify: I understand the short-term appeal of such a man, the emotionally unavailable man with his own identity, but don't understand it long-term, to a point where women who normally despise weakness overlook said weakness in a cacophony of rebellion and individuality. Most of these types have no fame and no level of popularity beyond what your typically socially successful person possesses so it isn't popularity that is drawing them in. Women typically despise weakness in men, and yet these men epitomise a strange shade of masculine weakness that they find irresistible. There is something deeper to the nuance in female psychology that I'm failing to grasp. It's almost as if it is a caveat that runs contrary to typical attraction signifiers, a loophole in female psychology captivated by a very specific type of, oft somewhat delinquent, man. If anybody can explain this in a way that makes sense, I'd be really interested to hear it.

SMV Graph Confirmed by XOJane

10 upvotes · 24 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

But women make just as good employees as men do! /s

How to maintain frame: don't take anything women say seriously.

10 upvotes · 19 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You're infinitely mysterious to her. Hamst!

One 16 old doing something 2 female police officers couldnt

10 upvotes · 18 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I've never taken female police officers seriously. I could probably easily push ~5 women that size out of the way. Especially when angry. Your strength increases exponentially when angry due to blood pumping to the muscles. The old rules in England, male and at least 6'0 to join the force made plenty of sense. You need size (deterrent in patrols) and the extra strength that comes with it.

Women in the military in combat roles, yet another joke. Political correctness fucks up efficiency for the sake of feels. Do you really feel safe in your neighbourhood with two 5'5 blondes doing the patrol? Not even they feel safe. They had to rely on a fucking male teenager AND call back-up (two policemen) to make an arrest they were incapable of carrying out themselves, which by the way, is a core part of their job. They're not fit for purpose. It's like being a chef who can't cook, fucking insane. The guy they couldn't hold down wasn't that big/tall looking from what we can make out. How would they deal with an even bigger guy? Judging how the guy on the ground was mouthing at the teenager, he looked kinda homeless, so assuming that's true nutrition isn't on his side either. LOL.

Flipping the Script: If girls proposed to guys

10 upvotes · 17 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

About as likely as your net worth dwarfing Bill Gates'

"And no one wants the nice guy because just like a slut, he gives his love to anyone who will take it"

10 upvotes · 14 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

https://fbcdn-sphotos-f-a.akamaihd.net/hphotos-ak-xpa1/v/t1.0-9/10432484_744847442238226_453684860905206480_n.jpg?oh=345e0e89101f050b8238875200a60898&oe=54C96E05&__gda__=1422567736_eae9f5b4bb d9b22f794108ea4ac0629b

The blonde would get it.

She wants to know your SMV, and she will try to figure it out by getting you to reveal it. Don't let her. Stay mysterious.

10 upvotes · 14 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

that's just how you're interpreting it

"You need to learn how to deal with me"

10 upvotes · 6 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Bitches ship sinks like leonardo stole the lifeboat, you do a good deed and let her jump on your ship (dat female privilege tho) and she has the tenacity to bitch like an entitled cunt.

"well by now you should know how to deal with me, if you don't you need to learn" in that bitchy tone we all know. I looked her dead in the eye and after the silence got her to feel awkward I told her "I am dealing with you... What did you think I was doing when I told you to behave or GTFO?" She just stood there with that shelter puppy face waiting for me to crack, after a couple seconds she said in a low tone "oh..."

Shit test passed.

So with a lot of young men moving off to college, what are some general college tips that TRP can give that generally others will not?

10 upvotes · 18 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Woman's advocacy groups could pass themselves off with the dictionary definition of "believing in equality" when it was contextually correct, you know, in an era long since gone when women didn't have the rights that men have. In today's climate it simply doesn't stand up to scrutiny and is a catch-all defence used to defend a movement that's morphed into a supremacy movement. To continue with that line of trite when women have more rights/cultural bias than men do is disingenuous at best, and abhorrent at worst. If you believe in equality in 2014, at least give yourself the correct label and understand what you're aligning yourself with. Humanist, equalist or egalitarian are all far more fitting labels than feminist. With feminism the clues in the name - it's woman's advocacy.

DO NOT BE LIKE ME

10 upvotes · 18 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Don't text her again. Next her completely. Go complete no contact. Use that alcohol to force yourself out of the house, get some pics with you and other hot chicks (should be easy if you're attractive as you say) and stick that up on facebook as your main profile pic. She'll find out one of your mutuals will pass it on. Then go full monk mode. You need to lift, run, write, whatever. You need to replace that void inside yourself with something, anything, as an effort to return to normalcy. You can monk mode or you can just go and fuck a bunch of other throwaway girls (sluts) to get this one out of your system. Don't let this shit ruin you any more than it already has. Stirring over it and analysing it and feeling regret is not the way forward. Fuck it, what's done is done, you've gotta keep on keeping on. As a constellation, TRP isn't going anywhere. You need to vent? We're here.

The Rational Male: Case Study — Low Expectations

10 upvotes · 24 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Not every post is going to be a magnum opus man.

How to ruin a good RedPill advice with just one BluePill pount.

10 upvotes · 4 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

No, stop trying to proselytize, if they can't handle the message in it's raw form then they're not ready for RP. This isn't a movement or a religion, don't be trying to convert people let them come when they're ready.

Gay dude here. Not trolling but actually lol'ing in delight.

10 upvotes · 2 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

every time I went to her for help about bullying I was told to just wait it out and be nice...

This is the feminine social strategy, being nice and seeming overly pleasant and non-aggressive is feminine social interaction down to a T. As a man adopting the same mannerisms you will seem weak and afraid to stand up for yourself and people walk all over you. As the person expected to "step up" and "protect/provide" you cannot be that type of passive happy-go-lucky character. This is why women have the freedom to be nice or at least act nice and seem pleasant but when a man is too kind/sweet/passive he just seems like a bitch. Unfortunately women are solipsistic and do not know what it is to be a man, so even the women with the best of intentions such as mothers fuck their boys up with bad advice that makes growing up really hard on them.

Women do control men with sex - but it can control them too.

A double-edged sword, they can use sex to leverage men but at the same time a lot of women have nothing other than their sex to get what they want out of a man, furthermore they begin to get attached.

All in all, great post mate. Welcome to TRP. For your reference too, we have a gay subreddit: /r/alttrp

How to deal with women using their sexuality to get favors

10 upvotes · 20 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Well that's simple, you tell her to pay you for your help, if she won't pay you, then it's a no.

TV presenter Kirstie Allsopp has urged women to put off higher education and a career in favour of having children because their "fertility falls off a cliff". "Nature is not with you and I. Nature is not a feminist."

10 upvotes · 7 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is impossible to do if you are an out loud feminist because feminism destroys femininity as badly as it tries to destroy masculinity.

Right, feminism is anti-gender identity. Hence why it tries to make women masculine and men feminine. Then when nobody is happy about the situation they decry the need for more feminism. It's quite sickening really as its this which essentially leads to the dysfunctionality that permeates modern western society.

Misinformed Beliefs held by idiots about The Dark Triad

10 upvotes · 6 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Right, it's also why crime is higher in low income neighbourhoods.

A thanks to the Reddit admins.

10 upvotes · 30 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Be tolerant of everyone "except men" caveat: especially if they're white and straight. Other men can seek protection from the race/gay card so we'll avoid conflict with them, but we still think they're cunts because their

men. /feminazilogic

What is confidence?

10 upvotes · 27 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Confidence = absence of fear + self-belief to really simplify things. Fearful people have no confidence. This is why people with social anxiety do so badly, the fear is crippling, they cannot lead functional lives because they have next to no confidence, they are dependent on other people, but they are literally scared of interacting with other people, or if not scared, at least disorientated. These people confuse their anxiety with introversion, they are not the same thing. Being avoidant because other people annoy you/drain you and being avoidant because you fear other people are two different things.

Social anxiety can infect anybody, it's what happens when you spend a lot of time on your own. Such people get so out of practice socialising that socialising no longer feels natural and to socialise is to effectively put them through fitness testing they aren't used to, when you aren't used to something you become sensitised to it and thus if it disorients you, try to avoid it. By avoiding it, that fear controls you. The cure to all phobia is to do the thing you fear as much as possible. Hate picking up phones and talking to people? Call people more. Hate approaching girls? Approach girls more. You get the drift. Fear is the #1 confidence destroyer, and most average people are quite fearful, it's the sedentary lonely lifestyles we lead that make us fearful. Powerful people cannot be ruled by fear, they may feel fear and have certain insecurities, but those fears are kept in check by action, not allowed to fester due to inaction. Community and family are good for encouraging social skills and there is less and less of each nowadays in an increasingly globalised and impersonal world.

Experience aids in both self-belief and an absence of fear. I often think this is why male virgins have the most hang-ups when it comes to girls, they have not proven to themselves that they can get laid, a woman knows she can get laid virgin or not because they don't feel like they have to prove themselves, they know men find them attractive. Repetition is the key to success. Perseverance is a must. You give up and you stop repeating what needs to be repeated in order to succeed (reading/lifting etc.) Obviously if you are repeating incorrect methodologies to try to achieve something (and many people do) you will drive yourself insane, adopt fresh approaches if you make no progress at all with a specific methodology, if you're only making some progress but not as much progress as you suspected, don't abandon the approach but adjust it (eg: change one of the exercises you do in the gym to see if you can get the gains in the places you're looking for.) If you cannot theorise a fresh approach, look to someone else for inspiration. There's always a way.

Out of the dictionary:

belief in oneself and one's powers or abilities; self-confidence; self-reliance; assurance: His lack of confidence defeated him.

Most of the harassing PMs and comments that 2XC users have been complaining about since becoming a default turn out to be lies or false flag operations by regular users, according to admin /u/Deimorz

10 upvotes · 25 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah. Men can be victims, anyone can be a victim, but men get shat on for being legitimately victimised, let alone professional victims. Nobody here on TRP likes a professional victim, but women can capitalise on professional victimhood as it buys into the whole damsel in distress rhetoric, manly instinct is to protect women, female instinct is to depend on men.

As a result a weak woman will get help whilst a weak man will be seen as a failure both in blue pill world and on TRP. Shit I even see other people in TRP say "men can't be victims" yes they can be victims, but there's a difference between being a victim of bad circumstances and being a professional victim/pussy who isn't willing to do anything about their crappy circumstances. I mean shit, if most of TRP wasn't the victim of some crappy situation they wouldn't even be here trying to make a difference. People are associating the word "victim" with "weak" and thus all these guys are hamstering "men can't be victims" because they don't want to be seen as weak. Being a professional victim is bad, claiming men can never be victims and denying to yourself you've ever been a victim of anything shitty is equally irrational and unhelpful.

Professional victim and victim are not the same thing. A professional victim tries to capitalise on their weakness to get power, sometimes they are not truly victims but try to present themselves as such. A victim is someone who has been adversely affected by a negative/detrimental circumstance they had little to no control over.

I think part of the reason RP guys hate seeing themselves as victims is because of male "hyperagency" or the capacity for guys to take on extra responsibility, ironically its the opposite of the female tendency to not take responsibility for things they have done, but rather the proclivity to take responsibility for things that aren't even your fault. This is where the male hamster takes hold, instead of seeing the situation for what it was and accepting they were powerless in the situation, they beat themselves up and go "I'm a man, I should have taken control of the situation, I'm not a victim I'm just a pussy" shit, guys in BP world are taught to beta male shame themselves and some of them still carry this facet with them, even after having been in TRP for awhile. It's fucked up. Whilst the chicks are capitalising on their victimhood when they're not even victims at all, guys who are victims refuse to see themselves as victims and go all fucking macho and in-denial, it's fucked up topsy turvy shit. Guys beating themselves the fuck-up over shit they can't change.

What do you guys make of this?

10 upvotes · 24 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The reason that people laugh at men being abused by women is because the onus is on men to be superior/stronger despite all the bullshit doublespeak rhetoric that the genders are equal, the expectations harboured by men and women alike among their dissonance is that men should burden the apex of all responsibility, contrary to all the bullshit and hamstering you hear. Thus when men fail to actualize themselves as a symbol of strength/superiority and become subject to a woman as an inferior, the audience at hand is engaging in schadenfreude, laughing at the man's misfortune, rather than a sense of empathy, due to the nature of his failure, something humans despise, the inability to live up to the underlying expectation that nearly all humans have of a man causes them to laugh in disgust, almost disbelief at his ineptitude. They're thinking "wow, this guy's fucking pathetic!" Nobody expects a woman to be superior to a man, so when a man hurts a woman its automatically assumed he is abusing his power advantage over her and thus she instantly gets victim status which translates into the protection/indignation of the peer group, this goes a long way to explaining why women are always damsels in distress but men are just pathetic when they're in need.

Then, there are a subset of people who keep their head in the clouds or stick it in the sand and refuse to even believe it's possible, so when confronted with it they don't know what to think, they're called closed-minded/bigoted/radical feminists.

This weekend was basically a two-day RP seminar. Now, I can officially never go back.

10 upvotes · 19 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

She needs to feel like you're the only man in the world who can make her feel special, she needs to believe how you make her feel has legitimacy whilst how other men make her feel is just a manipulation to get into her pants. Dependency in this context is to monopolise her trust, she must feel comfortable in her attraction and dependence towards you, whilst uneasy when feeling similar sensations in regards to other men. When it comes to loyalty, you need to leverage trust, she has to be able to trust her feelings for you whilst distrusting her feelings for other men, otherwise, when she feels the same way she feels with you but only with a stronger/more powerful/dominant man, given enough time in his orbit, she will stray. This may sound evil, but it is not untrue. Monopolising the trust of a distrustful woman is how you ensure the incredibly rare commodity that is female loyalty.

Forget "alpha" and "beta", focus on value.

10 upvotes · 13 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I want to have loving, tender, gentle sex with her. I want to give her tons of orgasms.

That would be your contradiction.

according to the rules and regulations of being alpha, I have to dominate her, be cold to her, treat her like garbage.

Well these things work, but it's more about challenging her. If you want to do these things so much, its a need you have, not a need she has. If you reward her with love and she has to do nothing for it, she will disrespect/cheat on you. That's just how women are.

Listen to <http://beigephillip.com/>

Women's Feelings Towards Their Partners Change During Different Cycle Periods --> GO FIGURE!!

10 upvotes · 7 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

hence trp

Clubs are a scam if you are average.

10 upvotes · 3 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Poison or not it stops you giving a fuck for a while... that's why people drink. To let go.

This popped up on my feed "6 Things Men Will Literally Never Get"

10 upvotes · 26 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I feel sorry for any guy that has to share a workspace with her.

Huge study on divorce with tons of interesting information. TL;DR: Men need to be picky in who they marry.

10 upvotes · 23 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The inclusion of women in my life has, without doubt, fundamentally altered the path I would have taken if I would have grown up lacking female attention. Even with the downright horrible cruelty some of them showed me, I wouldn't want the other side. Touch is better than no touch at all.

Depends what your emotional needs are as a man, how ambitious you are, what you expect from yourself, what you expect from women etc. If you're joe average and work a low to middle grade job, don't exactly want to conquer anything, work on a creative masterpiece of some kind or really change the world in any significant way then you're going to desire women in your life to give it meaning, shit, you will have plenty of time for women.

Hyper ambitious on the other hand? Women will distract you, make demands and hold you back. It's the reason why so many male celebrities fuck strippers, the time sink a woman represents is not something these men have time for. There have been discussions on here before about how many inventors and successful people did most of their work when they were single, if they ever married or settled a lot of their creativity just went out the window. I guess at the end of the day you have to prioritise, what's more important to you, your well-being and your romantic relationships, or adding something to the world? People will say "you can have both" but that's bullshit, half-assing family/romance vs your passion means neither gets 100% from you.

You need pussy in order to get pussy.

10 upvotes · 17 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

My crude and simplistic analysis of it:

From the female POV:

"I'm hot and he doesn't give a fuck, therefore he must already be getting action from someone who's at least as hot as me, otherwise he'd be in to me!"

Girls love guys who aren't thirsty. Most guys are thirsty and it translates very obviously.

The ambiguous reality of The Red Pill.

10 upvotes · 11 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Good post, have a delta point.

Δ

The Red Pill is Intolerant of Irrationalism and Equality

10 upvotes · 10 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Which combat roles?

Frontline and/or any role that is physically demanding.

Russian Woman provides tips for picking up a 'hot club girl.'

10 upvotes · 10 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Laughing at shit is great. Laughing at shit and then learning from it is even better. Thanks.

Sociopaths can spot a pussy by the way he walks

10 upvotes · 9 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Right, again, I agree with your post. It's not just America either, it's all the english speaking nations. USA, UK, Australia, New Zealand, Ireland, Canada etc.

The problem with discussing race relations/differences is the same as that of discussing gender relations/differences, rationalism/logic tend to go out the window, except this absurdity is no longer confined to women, but the irrationalism extends to men too. It's all based on feelings and ego, that which stems from the concept of "collective identity" which race embodies. That "us vs. them" group dynamic. It's the one thing that causes an otherwise rational man to degenerate into a bigot who has no place in an open debate on such an issue of contention.

Women feel personally attacked when you generalise women and are like "hey, I'm not like that!" whereas talking shit about men, men don't give a shit generally speaking, race regardless, we can suck it up. However, when you talk shit about a race (even if it's true) MANY MANY people from that race, men included, immediately feel attacked and think "Hey, I'm not like that!" and rather than even listen to the points being made, they shut the fuck down, go into close-minded mode and just scream racism. As we all know, for those too small-minded and emotionally attached to handle a race debate/critique, playing the race card is the best way to paint yourself as a victim, the other arguer as the aggressor and destroy all discourse with theatrics.

It's amazing how some men who are capable of talking with clarity on a controversial issue, such as the complexity of gender differences, are completely and utterly incapable of speaking with any clarity whatsoever on other controversial issues, such as racial differences. Case in point was Patrice O'Neal, I look up to this man for his wit, capability with women and all the wisdom he has to say about everything feminine. However when he opens his mouth to start talking about race, he just sounds like an over-reactive emotional little bitch who needs to take a step back from that victim position and try and see shit for what it really is.

The more I heard Patrice try to talk about race differences, the more he seemed to just be hamstering shit out of his ass and fuck I love Patrice, that's me telling it how it is. He couldn't discuss race rationally if he had to to save his life, he had this conspiratorial perception of the white man, "OHHH SHIT THE WHITE MAN'S OUT GET TO ME!" it was just fucking retarded.

Male stripper on reddit declares he gets a blowjob from nearly every bride-to-be at bachelorette parties.

10 upvotes · 5 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Equality as an absolute is an idealism, not a reality.

And I would argue most profusely that its not entirely a positive idea, not all people desire it.

Generally, if you read between the lines, the weaker/less powerful desire equality as it allows them to elevate their position, whilst the strongest/most powerful do not want to give up that power/equality. One measure of equality you can guarantee is most people will do what is in their best interest, however, how they go about that varies vastly (morality.)

In a species that has been plagued by war and a thirst for dominance since the beginning of time, a species which even now is at war in various parts of the world, it is naive to believe equality is achievable.

To obtain some modicum of equality, we'd have to either reduce a lot of people's power/capability to the lowest common denominator, or, spend trillions on elevating the earth's least useful people and elevating them up in power/capability. Even then, some will have hard genetic limits which do not allow them to actualise to an extent of capability that others can achieve. Others are too old to catch up on what they missed out on. This is the problem with equality, you can have some form of equality in one area, but achieving it IN ALL AREAS is damn near impossible.

Aging in and of itself is a form of inequality, the old can never be as healthy as the young, even if it's the appearance of skin. Some people are born attractive, others ugly. I could go on, but you get the jist.

If your SMV is low, EG: you're fat, poor, unpopular or whatever then forget women/socialising/doing pointless shit for a good year 6 months to a year - just be utterly selfish forget everyone else and go do your own thing.

10 upvotes · 25 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I, and my friends/room mates, gave zero fucks and enjoyed life as much as we could.

Most people who can't even afford to wash their own shit don't even have friends, nobody wants to know them. This is what I'm saying, the only reason you got any was because you had social proof despite the fact your value was so low at that moment in time. One can assume you weren't fat or half bad looking if you were living on stolen burgers in a solitary room and still getting laid.

I don't know you, maybe you have a very likeable personality/good sense of humour or whatever and people are drawn to you, some people have that "gift" and have no problem getting people to like them and chicks to fuck them, that is what it is, but it isn't how it goes for most guys. Say you do have those traits in your personality, most guys in your situation wouldn't have those traits, they'd need to build themselves to get those traits and then they'd get a circle of friends later on, you see where I'm coming from?

I'd say you're an exception, not an example.

PS: positive attitude is always a helpful attribute.

Stop me if you've heard this one before: Man moves across the country to please GF. She immediately leaves him

10 upvotes · 4 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Hypergamy is a ruthless bitch.

TRP Xpost: "Red Pill Antibiotic Nuke, Come and Feed" by IllimitableMan

10 upvotes · 28 February 2014 · /r/RedPillWomen

I've had flak for the point of unconditionality as it's so rare and I did not fully express my sentiment there being that it was a compilation of bullet points, it was not my intention to say that men DO love unconditionally but simply that THEY CAN, to be brief, I posit men possess the capability to love unconditionally, however due to hypergamy - that women do not (unless you are top of the food chain think 1%er dark triad alpha - but then is that really unconditional or just hypergamy being perpetually fulfilled?)

The hierarchy of love is based on dependency, children depend on women and thus have a certain amount of expectation which impedes on their ability to demonstrate appreciation when it comes to the love their mother shows them, any mother can talk about how her children take her for granted, and the same can be said for women with men, that women have a certain list of expectations of men that impede their ability to appreciate his sacrifices and in fact, they have a large innate propensity to take men in their lives for granted. Men are the end of this line, they have NOBODY to lean on which is to say, to take more than they give (MENTALLY AND EMOTIONALLY) and still maintain a healthy and viable relationship. The hierarchy of love is based on the sacrificial nature of love, it is truly my belief that men must give up much more psychological freedom (as mentally they are depended on, not dependants of women) and often do for the sake of a relationship, legal system incentivises that but I too believe "that's a thing" regardless of the legal climate.

You don't have to agree or believe that and I don't care if you do, that's simply the view that I think/feel and a lot of other men do when it comes to relationships and dating.

When you look at it from the standpoint that most women innately have value from a young age and that men have to prove themselves to be anyone, it makes sense. 80% of guys (according to the 80/20 rule) rarely if at all even get laid, says a lot and means a lot - more is expected to be deemed "worthy" and due to the nature of hypergamy, a man who doesn't get laid probably isn't anyone unless he consciously rejects women.

The Opposite of the Friendzone is the Slutzone, Not the Girlfriendzone | a.k.a. The Difference Between Parasitic and Mutually Beneficial Relationships

10 upvotes · 21 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You've got yourself what sounds like a Lucifer's Daughter

If you meet a Lucifer's daughter and aren't dark triad yourself, run and don't turn back.

Understanding the Friend Zone Scam and the Role Marriage Plays in it (Part 1)

10 upvotes · 20 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

- The education system encourages feminine norms and values as the vast majority of teachers are women, you have boys who have little to no contact with adult men for years upon years. Not just the teachers but the curriculum itself is designed to be "female friendly." It is a feminine environment that you're all legally mandated to take part in from childhood to adolescence, I knew many guys in my personal life who simply could not wait to leave school due to all the bullshit going on.

- Low testosterone levels, obesity causes a drop in testosterone as the body produces more oestrogen (man boobs) also according to my understanding (I may be wrong on a few points) the water supply is also contaminated with progesterone as women taking the contraceptive pill urinate into the toilet, that same water then goes through the sewage system and into rivers and shit, the same water is then filtered and comes back out the tap as drinking water. The same water is recycled again and again and becomes a little bit more contaminated each time, they can filter out a lot of things but there are trace amounts of female contraceptive in the water supply, for men drinking water this upsets the balance of testosterone to estrogen production in their bodies, there was a study posted here probably about 6 or 7 months back talking about how some fish had started growing ovaries in specific rivers in the United States due to the pollution of water by female contraception. Ultimately boys and men are in too much biological contact with female hormones, this could explain why some men are incredibly effeminate, you can nurture a feminine man very easily via not just socialisation but environmental pressures and diet. Vegans are more feminine as red meat increases testosterone levels, etc etc.

Required Reading: Lessons from a psychopath: Understanding the reality behind how people work, the extent to which people can be manipulated, and the amount of power one can hold over others.

10 upvotes · 6 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Parasitic - They still live with their parents.

You are aware of what globalisation has done to the west right? Shrinking middle class, increasing social inequality. Seen the price of property? I'm sure in some cases you could say it was parasitic, but many many other people simply have no alternative. This isn't the 70's unfortunately.

Proof that "if you're 'friends' with a girl you can't date you can get with her other friends" is a lie!

10 upvotes · 29 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You can overcome preselection with aesthetics, wealth, game. It's not a definite, but sure, lack of preselection only makes your life harder. It's just one of many components in the game.

"As a 'Red-Piller' I am sorry." or why we need to keep the language strong

10 upvotes · 27 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

<http://i.imgur.com/wmWBfAI.png>

Haha check out your tag ;)

It's fun when they admit it...

10 upvotes · 26 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

They'll about it, and then say they didn't say it.

Classic female back pedalling. I never said that! You're putting words into my mouth! You thought I said X and I didn't say X I said Y but you're trying to make it look like I said X because you think V about me which is simply not true! blah-de-fucking-blah-draaaaamaaa...

Depending on how crazy she is prepare for the words rapist and misogynist to get dropped at some point.

Vladimir Putin is an excellent role model for masculinity.

10 upvotes · 21 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

There's a difference between homosexuality as a sexual choice and then being a fucking faggot parading it around and endorsing it as a lifestyle choice eg: gay pride, that show glee... ugh. Also, why does homosexuality have to be effeminate? Why can't gays be masculine? They never show that shit, they always present homosexuality as effeminate as fuck.

Homosexuality on steroids (all the in your face displays of homosexuality) are just obnoxious. If you're gonna do it, do it in private - don't make it such a big deal and stop claiming you're a persecuted minority. Gays are not persecuted in the western world, only in poor countries. In fact one of the only ways liberalism accepts you in the west as a white male is if you're gay. LMFAO.

Growth rate of TheRedPill subreddit

10 upvotes · 16 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Archwinger gets my vote.

Why it's not useful to be angry at women - brought to you by Buddha himself

10 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I concur

Un sourced but often attributed is just nonsense.

I don't respect using the name of a respectable dead man to put forth advice no matter how cogent or true it is, there's no need to misuse a name like that.

Kate Beaton shows us the destructive influence women have on men's space

10 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

See we don't give a shit about what women do and let them have their all girls shit, but they can't handle the reverse. Feminine insecurity is hilarious. We're "all equal" girls, remember? You're not missing out on anything other than being born a man, really going to have to accept that.

Reminds me of when I was a kid, I always thought I'd be missing out on something important when it was past my bed time.

TLDR: keep women out of mens spaces they fuck up cohesion

I'm sitting in a Women's and Gender Studies Class RIGHT NOW

10 upvotes · 9 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Oh yeah they're in the business of bullshit alright.

"Immigrants are not the problem, men are. Deport all men from Sweden immediately." - Magda Rasmusson, Swedish politician of the Green Party. (Translated from Swedish)

10 upvotes · 5 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Is there any study to support the idea that men have superiour cognitive skills or reasoning?

No they wouldn't get the funding, western education systems are bastions of feminism with a predominantly female staff. Even if there was/is a study out there which demonstrates this, a skeptic such as yourself would not be inclined to believe it and would then go on to attack its representativeness, it's sample size and blah blah, anything to avoid the bottom line.

As there is so much intellectual fraud in academia (falsified datasets by people with political agenda) studies should always be held as circumspect and not undeniable proof that something "is like something". There was a funny quote I read somewhere which said something along the lines of "If aristotle was alive today he'd be hounded to death to back up his ideas with studies" the point is, just because a study doesn't exist to back something up, doesn't mean that idea is inherently false, this is a fallacious assumption that many textbook academics who lack in critical thinking and/or wisdom-based intelligence make.

I make this statement based on numerous factors such as: man's economic output is collectively higher (probably related to risk taking behaviour), and that mans contributions to society even since feminist equalisation have been more numbersome, as to say - despite equal opportunities men are still at the top of almost every field which is probably due to your next point:

last I checked men and womens' IQ bell curves centered around the same mean, but mens' IQ distribution was slightly wider (more geniuses but also more retards)

Again, unlike yourself I don't put too much stock in IQ tests. When you've known a genius who went to Harvard score beneath 100 on an IQ test it's enough to make anyone skeptical of such standardised and limited tests of one's intelligence. IQ is the speed of learning, I would not contend women learn any slower than men do, however I would argue they have far less technical brains and their ability to reason is far inferior to men's.

It's this weaker proficiency in reasoning which ultimately leads to their downfall. It's proven women are better at multi-tasking because they have 10x the white matter cells of men, meaning they can be better organisers and check on multiple tiny simple things at once, men have 6.5x the grey matter of women which means superior reasoning and an ability to go deeper and deeper parallel into one topic, understanding nuances and utilising reason to a level that all but the outliers of femalekind simply cannot perform at.

On this subreddit I also saw it stated that girls outperform boys in school because they can stay on task while "boys being boys" are diagnosed with ADHD as a result of their typical boys' behaviour.

The education system has been made gynocentric since the 70's, more female teachers than males, more coursework than exams/physical activities and many boys are without their fathers guidance so females do outperform males in education currently. This is nothing to do with intellectual superiority from women but simply a result of social engineering, they're in an environment which supports their learning style so prosper, boys are not. Many more boys tend to be kinetic learners than auditory/visual and they suffer for this in the current system, but it's not limited merely to learning style but other factors as well such as female teachers being more likely to mark a males paper lower than a females (study done on this - don't remember it though)

Are men endowed with superior reasoning or are they not?

Men are most definitely more rational and logical than women contrary to what any feminist influenced academic study may say. Go and analyse interactions between men and women and draw your own conclusions, see how women argue/debate... they are inferior debaters and arguers in comparison to the average man, if they could logically find a way to debate this subreddit into oblivion they would, but they can't and so they don't - they resort to fallacies and shaming tactics, I don't know whether to be insulted you're even asking this question or to pity you as to myself it's something that's incredibly apparent, I will therefore deduce you are new, unfamiliar with the ideas here and thus asking questions which from my own perspective seem to be ignorant and poorly tailored in nature.

All the pain of years of betahood unloaded on my dad. I feel terrible (drunk, sorry for grammatical errors)

10 upvotes · 25 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Merry Christmas man :)

I made r/redpillbooks. It's pretty empty right now. Let's build a red pill library.

10 upvotes · 22 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

LMAO. I nominate for them: "Cásate y sé sumisa"

<http://www.telegraph.co.uk/news/worldnews/europe/spain/10511139/Book-on-submissive-wives-becomes-hit-in-Spain.html>

I don't know how my Life turned around so quickly, but I wanted to thank everyone here.

10 upvotes · 17 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I agree, but would you be so kind to elaborate on your trail of thought?

Are we as men not even supposed to talk about how easy the average woman has it in the dating world?

10 upvotes · 16 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

To better define "just deal with it" learn to accept it.

Dealing with something implicitly implies that you don't really like it and it bothers you and you will tolerate it.

Accepting it means the same level of awareness, except it doesn't bother you anymore. It simply is. Like the sky is blue on a sunny day.

Discussion Thursdays: Week 2 (2nd worst subreddit!)

10 upvotes · 12 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

All chicks are inherently manipulative. All of them. Every last one. Far more so than the average guy, some guys are clueless, or so simple with their manipulations that it achieves nothing.

Some use it for good, some for bad. Most use it for bad.

Women are very cunning and very aware. They are much more sensitive to body language and surroundings than the average man.

Remember, chicks are manipulative. If you want to get good at game and you're not already, start studying machiavellianism.

Women love to project. They demonise manipulation when men do it because they're fucking do it all the time themselves. Double standard. See the hypocritical double standard? That's a manipulation too. It's a machiavellian inception out here.

Why is red pill thinking so 'controversial' outside of this sub?

10 upvotes · 8 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha. Yeah. Egalitarianism, Socialism, Communism, Multiculturalism.... all idealistic shit, idealism = bluepill.

Woman says men aren't marrying - and that it is the rational choice

10 upvotes · 2 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah I know what you mean however this was just a summary of findings, not a detailed presentation illustrating how and why with statistical analysis and the such.

These findings are not particularly difficult to back up with government agency statistics, then there's the census being particularly telling of social trends.

You could get 100,000 men to all openly agree with this and even by an appeal to democracy the feminine imperative which dictates western society's norms and values would give no fucks about these men's opinions, they'd simply rationalise they're victimising themselves, simply put, feminists nowadays, most of them, refuse to acknowledge male suffering - they are so bigoted that it seems almost cliché that such a one dimensional movement could have such a hold on society, you'd like to think the swathes of women and manginas could and would be much cleverer (to define cleverer: objective and critical, not subjective and biased), but clearly not.

Increasing confidence without having sex

10 upvotes · 1 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Great contribution. Thanks for sharing!

I went shopping for healthy foods and supplements to boost my cognition, health and ability to build muscle. I basically spent the 100$ I would have spent drinking and eating on shit to improve my life.

Haha that contrast there. Brilliant.

Please Stop With The Bitching and Crying

10 upvotes · 29 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Basically men need to be arseholes of a sociopathic nature to get chicks but when they find a chick who they perceive of value their souls get fucking raped and the bitches are oblivious to their own destruction. I respect men because they must deal with the extremities that women are saved from. Men are the best of humanity come pain or pleasure. Perversely, men are beautiful. I sound fucking crazy but I believe this shit.

Little Blackberry of Boys. A dossier of how 'I dangled' men for my pleasure....

10 upvotes · 23 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

She rationalises she gives her number away out of some sense of coyness and an inability to offend, but she types like a self-entitled cunt who would have no problem offending anyone.

Basically she's bragging by complaining and adding a veneer of bullshit to her narcissism. This bitch does this shit because this is how she gets validation, its probably the source of her ego/self-confidence. LOL. Pathetic. She's such a P.O.S she can't get the validation internally, she needs a phone full of random guys numbers she supposedly doesn't even like. Dumb bitch.

How does the red pill work in high school/ university?

10 upvotes · 16 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Caveat:

Shitting where you eat is a bitch. Even if you really want to fuck a bitch, when the plate crashes you'll have all manner of drama and attacks on your reputation to contend with as she tries to win popular support/demonise you blah blah blah

Whereas if you don't shit where you eat and the plate crashes, who gives a fuck? No consequences.

"Feminism Ruined My Dating Life"

10 upvotes · 16 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

She's too masculine.

I prefer the 19 year old chick who busts my balls with shit tests but immediately defers and becomes feminine once the shit tests are slayed..... with minimal baggage.

This chick is all manners of fucked up with double or even a triple digit dick count.... ugh. She'd be lucky for people like me to give her "what she desires."

Feminism sold her short.

33 y/o woman responds to open casting call from pornstar James Deen. Betamax boyfriend, upset at first, is now her "biggest supporter."

10 upvotes · 6 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yes this is why I'm all about raising the value of the guys I give a shit about in my life. If you're gonna be someones friend be a decent one or don't bother right?

I am somewhat confused about TRP and how it views sex. [Serious replies only, please.]

10 upvotes · 5 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

a bit wordy

Let's keep it real, it's wordy as fuck. Haha.

A Letter From Fred: what happens when a woman loves a man the way a man wants to be loved

10 upvotes · 26 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Men are the real romantics, there's no contest. Same with all the old shit, flowers, skywriting... whatever. Chicks rarely ever make such grand gestures.

Why women lose the dating game

10 upvotes · 25 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm 23 studying at university. Reading this just gives me so much pre-emptive schadenfreude. My skill with the ladies isn't bad and I've probably had more tail than most guys my age but it's nice to see karma will kick in and that shit will essentially only get easier as I get older.

Study finds that women are more attracted to men with lower voices (higher testosterone levels) yet believe these same men are less trustworthy & more likely to cheat. Lead author is baffled.

10 upvotes · 23 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

@OP title

Well if all women find men with higher testosterone levels more attractive then men which fit that criteria have more options and so thus are statistically more capable of cheating (due to increased desirability to females versus his lower testosterone counterparts)

When you look at it like this, it actually makes sense. No real hamstering involved.

Shit test: "I'm fine"

10 upvotes · 20 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Manipulation is mandatory because that's the game that females play - you must be new.

Do you think Red Pill philosophy would have emerged if not for the emergence of hyperfeminism and fascist/socialist, beta government?

10 upvotes · 20 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

It's nature and psychology going full circle. Before first wave feminism (civil rights) - probably the only part of feminism even remotely close to the idea of "equality" men would hit their wives when they acted out (as in bitch ass crazy and threat making) and people would say "what did you do to make him mad?" rather than "a man should never hit a woman EVER!" which in and of itself highlights the difference between society then and society now.

Men were recognised as having the ultimate burden of responsibility and the power that came with that, feminism simply kept male burden in place whilst transferring power to women, women are very responsibility averse, they detest the shit and outside the free market they have almost none for anything, try to blame a woman for her own mistake and watch her shirk. Even within the economy they tend to shirk responsibility and frame other people for their own cock ups, ladies and gentlemen, have any of you ever worked in a female dominated workspace? You know exactly what I'm saying then. The exceptions are the exceptions, don't bother to bring them to my attention.

In such a culture, TRP wasn't even necessary and the technology wasn't even there to facilitate it, after all, this has only been possible with anonymity and that anonymity is essential because biased western governments do not respect the right to one's own ideology if it's anti-institutional and thus they quell freedom of speech under the clause that what you say is "hateful", if this was a real life movement I expect there would have been many arrests/fines simply because the extreme leftist governments are not tolerant of opposing views, they label such thing as stigmatising concepts such as racism/misogyny/bigotry and thus shut down the dialogue, you are then punished as committing some sort of "hate crime" (at least in the UK that's how it works.)

There's been much talk of even reddit deleting this sub, take that how you will - lots of people like and need the TRP philosophical view because of how sick society is, but it's socially unacceptable, a taboo, the majority of people are largely indoctrinated by feminist dogma, and to go against that will have one ostracized as an outcast at best and your life destroyed into complete tatters at the very worst. That's just how much of a deep entrenchment feminism has in western society, it's untouchable in the mainstream.

Back before feminism it was a different culture and people respected that in most cases it made sense for the man to lead. TRP is about reclaiming masculinity, which is essentially, dominance that our ancestors respected as a natural given.

Feminism has done nothing but create chaos and discord, since feminism the family unit has been brought into disarray, obviously female "equalisation" has had harmful effects on the totality of society, children being the biggest victims of it all. Society has actually regressed in it's model with this "experiment." Crime is higher, family is more dysfunctional, people are hurting more, women's happiness is at an all time low as researched by the establishment (<http://www.nber.org/papers/w14969>) yeah... fuck you feminism. Feminism is what I call a civilization destroyer or if you want to change perspective, the symptom of a civilization that's dying - low birth rates = extinction = culture and civilization dies. That's what I call red pill, facing the reality of what's happening and why.

For those living with the parents how would you maintain being an alpha if a girl asks you about it?

10 upvotes · 17 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

In the UK some of the middle class are able to move out and get their own nice place before 30, but its becoming less and less common, even then, it's usually a rental not ownership. I think there was a documentary saying how people are leaving home later and far older than their parents did, with far less opportunity, an increasing cost of living, more immigration (due to globalisation) and an economy that net shrank post 2008 that shouldn't really come as a surprise.

Others are students who are in flat/house shares or managed to get a good deal on something small who will end up back at home when their student loan runs out and the course they attend ends as most likely they will not find gainful employment within their industry. A few will luck out or studied something particularly hard and in demand, some kind of engineering usually.

Working class kids who don't go to uni or get qualified in something blue collar like building, plumbing, electricians, mechanics, cooking etc have no chance at all.

It's becoming more and more common. If you know someone under the age of 25 who has a nice car and their own place then chances are they were born to a fair amount of wealth, the likelihood they meritocratically worked their way out of the working class and went straight into employment at 21 and saved enough money by 25 to have their own assets is fucking low.

The contemporary paradigm aside, An example of how I'd personally deal with a girl asking "do you live with your parents?"

- I'd say "no, I'm an orphan"
- Then when she came over I'd be like "this is my personal slave, I call her mum"
- She'd say "I thought your mum was dead?"
- I'd respond: "She is when she cooks my dinner late."

Yes I have a sick sense of humour and I really don't care. Some girls get pissed off with your jokey lying or easily freaked out if you say something like "yeah I killed her but then I dug her up" it takes a person who's seen real adversity to deal with that kind of dry humour said in a serious facetious voice. I often find people of privilege who didn't have to earn it are very bad at handling that sort of humour, unless they've grown accustomed to someone of that kind of demeanour over sometime in their life.

"Monogamy is not for having someone to live with; it is for having someone to die with"

10 upvotes · 7 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If not religion as an agent of socialisation for indoctrinating familial norms we need to at least replace religion with an ideology which fosters functional family growth. Replacing religion with an anti-family ideology like feminism is just terrible for society, we really do need some form of ideology that basically tells people "look, go have a family or die alone" and then sells them the benefits of that, tells them they're persecuted and more easily exploited by being alone in the world "independence is good but not when perverted by loneliness" or whatever.

We have higher reasoning ability

Yeah, I think you'll be amazed how little people actually have "higher reasoning" and even more amazed that when you manage to isolate those who do, the even lower proportion who utilise that reasoning regularly, be they underemployed underachieving intellectuals, drug addicts who can't cope with understanding so much BS or whatever.

The English speaking world has been dumbed down to hell. Let's see since around 1960 (at least in England) we've had a systematic degradation in the quality and intensity of education taught, the rise of feminism which co-incided with the rise of the welfare state and then the fall of religion, both in terms of believers and believers who actively practice and are actually influenced by their religion and don't just say "I'm catholic" but drink, fuck rabidly and sniff lines (hypocrites like that should just renounce their God, honestly.)

It's a variety of factors all cohesively fucking society up and it's ugly. Broken homes are the norm now. Personally I'm fuck all out of ideas with what to do with it aside replacing feminism with something more functional, even with less intense education and a lack of religion we'd still have a chance without feminism fucking shit up, feminism is like the salt in the wound to an already damaged society, except it doesn't just hurt, it makes the wound worse.

AMA with girl who worked at "Gentlemen club" (she was a stripper) clearly distills womens' attitudes towards bluepill guys

10 upvotes · 7 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Lmao I know. They want your sympathy for their troubles but it aint reciprocated, hos always be exploiting down that 1 way street.

When "No" is a shit test

10 upvotes · 1 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Word man, you're bang on the money with this.

Females are majority in websites where they can get attention

10 upvotes · 16 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Girls on Xbox Live. Generally they like to be left alone because they get harassed by the immature kids on there (not shaming here, I mean 12,13,14,15 year old boys messaging for titty pics off the kinect and calling her a slut for no reason and whatever)

But whenever a girl does connect a mic and talk to strangers, she's an attention ho. She'll have that air of arrogance about her and all the fucking beta nerds will be up in her vag tryna impress her, it's pathetic. There's so few girls talking on Xbox Live that when one does, all the betas get this scarcity mindset and fucking bombard her with attention. XBL is a great place for any insecure girl to go get herself validation and attention, seeing as it's not saturated with other girls and girls playing and not pretending to be guys/having headsets off on there is so rare, such a girl could easily max her friend list and have 24/7 company, easily, within a few days.

Normal guys like you or I, not famous or super rich - you can have a great personality and looks, be witty, non-vapid and even philosophical, you'll be lucky to get even 1/10 the attention the vapid ho gets. Peoples priorities are twisted, pussy over high quality male friends seems to be the beta consensus.

When it comes to sex, for men it's money and confidence, 6 packs and working out can and do help, but they carry far less weight than money or confidence. If you're broke but bad socially and are jacked to fuck, you may get the occasional lay because a womans in heat, but you're not gonna be batting em off. For women it's packaging yourself so your proportions are on show, cute little chiseled chin, huge cheeks/forehead and big eyes for the neonatal look, decent rack and a nice booty with a tidy pussy. That's life. That's power derived from characteristics in a nutshell.

Any fellow Londoners/UK people views regarding TRP?

10 upvotes · 12 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

London is the hypergamy capital. I lived there for a couple of months and there was a fucking silly number of supercars and sports cars, bentleys, lamborghinis, ferraris, you name it. As well as other expensive mid-range cars, BMWs, Mercedes, Audis, whatever. Fuck I think I even saw an F1 McLaren once. Lots of people in designer clothes, lots of jacked/ripped guys. The alpha in London is very alpha, lots of dark triad sociopathic, weightlifting don't give a fuck guys living there, you notice a lot of the blacks take that mindset on in the local culture, as well as poor white guys and other minorities. The betas however are truly beta, you get so many liberal arts boys, rich boys in skinny jeans with a silly haircut and feminine mannerisms, suit wearing betas pulling 6 figures who are going to get divorce raped or are being circled by post wall women, these are the kind of betas who leave their number with a barmaid by getting her colleague to give it to her rather than going up to her and saying "put your number in my phone" and there's so many of them.. lawyers, estate agents, whatever - they have no game but their power suits/money get them female interest. Competition is so high in London, there's so much alpha dark triad and there's so much high achieving, high earning beta provider that if you're neither you'll get ignored.

Two ways to get chicks in London, be rich as fuck or be mega dark triad. London is not like the rest of the UK economically, there's more money/wealth sitting in that one city alone, London Stock Exchange and all the rest of it, yet at the same time there's SO SO SO MUCH misery and poverty. When there's so many rich guys around I honestly think that will affect how women perceive you, when you're just an average guy and not a mega asshole who runs with a gang and has connections in 5 of the local prisons, or a 6-7 figure armani suit wearing middle easterner who stinks of cologne from 50 yards away. Man, I think if I lived in that city permanently I'd have gone mega dark triad, the competition is fucking ridiculous, economically, sexually, everything. It's a frustrating place to live, and there's no space to fucking move. The air quality sucks. You never get to sit on public transport, I'm digressing now but you get the picture.

As for the rest of the country, northern girls tend to be more red pill than southern girls (less money there). UK is staunchly feminist though. I inadvertently bumped into it the other night, I go into this bar I've not been to before with my boy... full of 40+ balding men and post wall women doing the most awkward ridiculous old-fuddy-duddy dance moves you've ever seen. I was like WTF and left very shortly, that shit scarred my retina. That's evidence in and of itself however, middle aged people are still going to bars to try and hook up and act like they're 20... it's fucking tragic. That's feminism if I ever recognised it. Shit one woman there said to me "I had a baby 8 weeks ago, the husbands at home looking after the kid this is my first night out since" I was like WOW... WHAT THE ACTUAL FUCK?

Yeah that's feminism, your wife has a kid and 2 months later she's hitting up the bars and talking to random guys like me. LOL.

[x-post from r/redpillwomen] Ladies, be like this girl.

10 upvotes · 7 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Examples of women not behaving like cunts with strangers is kinda rare. TRP is fucking mesmerised, no doubt.

I Sense an Impending Upsurge in Subscriptions to /r/TRP

10 upvotes · 1 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah I'm not going to work my ass off for an entitled ungrateful ho either.

So, my flat mate informed last night I need to get "educated" and shared this with me today...

10 upvotes · 28 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You need new flatmates, fuck living with those kind of people.

After swallowing the pill years ago, I think I've found somebody worth marrying and I need advice.

10 upvotes · 26 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't see her keeping a child with someone she's not married to. Why would she anyway?

I'd question why wouldn't she? Why do you need marriage to have kids? In the old days it was because women couldn't work and needed the man's income, and everybody had religious beliefs that sex before marriage meant you were going to literally go to hell. What's the excuse for it now? There is no excuse for it. Women get it into their heads that marriage is some princess party for them, that's generally a red flag, she doesn't see marriage seriously but through a child's eyes if that's her view on it. If you're both strictly religious, I can understand both your inclinations to marry, but that doesn't mean it's safe for you to marry, you still need to protect yourself financially.

If I can't promise her that commitment, why would she ever take that risk?

You're not separating the legal contract of marriage from the concept of commitment, you see them rather black and white and synonymous. Like I said in my original post, marriage is the apex of female escalation, it's the most commitment she can get out of you because it gives her legal and economic leverage to screw you over in a divorce. Commitment is on a sliding scale. It's not no marriage = no commitment, marriage = full commitment, it's more complicated than that.

Commitment wise it's something like this:

- Friends with benefits = no commitment
- Open relationship = little commitment
- Exclusive monogamy (unmarried+live separately) = average commitment
- Exclusive monogamy (unmarried+live together) = HIGH commitment
- Exclusive monogamy (unmarried+live together+have kids) = VERY HIGH commitment
- Exclusive monogamy (married+live together+have kids) = INDENTURED SERVITUDE (hahahaha, I mock)
- TOTAL COMMITMENT

Aside from that leverage she gets over you, marriage changes nothing, so it's a bad deal for you and a good deal for her. Answer me, how have you not committed to a woman whom you live with, potentially have kids with and provide for as well as limit yourself sexually for? If you're exclusive and you're doing those things, without marriage, you're committing and most of us here aren't going to say to go any further beyond "very high commitment" on my "commitment scale" and you should only go that far with extreme caution, taking in many things into consideration and of course she needs to be extremely high value, very feminine etc.

When people say 9 months isn't long enough to know someone they're not trying to insult you, they're sharing their experience with you, invaluable experience. PEOPLE DO CHANGE psychologically, significantly every few years or so and growing together requires immense trust and isn't easy, most people turn out to not be compatible.

There's only so many times you can tell someone "marriage is a bad deal for guys" but if you're gonna do it, nobody can stop you, you'll learn for yourself what marriage is like and then pay for it, quite literally.

I'm almost positive we're going to have to married first, do you think that changes any of the advice you've given so far? Assuming I want kids

It changes absolutely nothing, you frame it as if you stand no chance of having anything meaningful with her unless you marry her and that's a very beta/negative mindset to have, marriage is the endgame for the girl but there's lots of stages of commitment to go in between "just dating" and "married with kids" and as the man it's your job to state your boundaries, don't make them flexible for her, she can be replaced no matter how special you may think she is at this moment in time. It's like I said before, if she's going to force you to marry her that's a red flag and you need to walk away, which from how you're talking, sounds like it will be incredibly tough for you to do.

I don't want to even start serious talks about that because I feel like it will get the ball rolling in that direction, which I'm not ready for yet.

If you do marry her it has to be on your terms, and you'd want to be in a LTR with her for a minimum of 5 years. Never marry a girl because she threatens to leave you otherwise, those are poor foundations for marriage - it can also be a shit test in some cases, calling your bluff to see your options/stance on her ultimatum.

Don't let her control you with ultimatums, you set the frame for the commitment that she wants from you, not her.

Evidence that further state support for "families" does not encourage a growing population: many men in Germany say ideal family size is zero

10 upvotes · 20 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminism and Islamism are directly correlated, I believe. Feminists on average have less than 2 kids, islamists are having 4 kids on average whilst living off welfare. Stating this truth makes you a racist in most places, especially in Europe, hold tight. Be astute of the potential for civil war. Americans: stockpile your guns, and lend us in England some.

Update: looks like wikipedia agrees, hurrah for neutrality: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sub-replacement_fertility

Back from OKC Hiatus. Women's Profiles Have Become Even More Banal (x post from r/okcupid)

10 upvotes · 17 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Those kind of complaints are thinly veiled bragging.

Red Pill Media? What is worth watching for doses of TRP ideology?

10 upvotes · 16 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Careful with TNG, picard is a strong leader but the whole paradigm is massively idealistic and out of touch - eg: it's one big socialist currency devoid galactic empire "federation" which innocuously looks to only explore not conquer. It blags it by saying the years 23XX, so apparently in a few hundred years we'll evolve so drastically that this kind of wide scale global governance gone intergalactic will become some sort of viability? Ok. Quite blue pill to believe from our standpoint in 2013, and it was made in the 80's in a feminist america post civil rights and sexual liberation paradigm.

Tasha yar as the security officer? Give me a fucking break, talk about political correctness. At least she got killed off. Deanna embodies the annoying entitled attention ho and everyone should listen to her FEELINGS!. Dr. Crusher is your mum and will beta the fuck out of you until your balls shrivel up and you grow a vagina. Wesley is a beta with an absent father and no father figure and now he randomly appears in a beta as fuck show on CBS/E4 called Big Bang Theory (which is a good show despite the fact they're all hopeless). Will Riker is a ladies man +1 trp. Captain Picard is a philosophical idealistic loving generous leader who is capable of making the tough decisions and has brotherhood with Riker, some of his philosophy is massively blue pill but ultimately he makes the tough decisions, probably one of the most complex characters in the show, seeing him get tortured and out machiavelli that kardasian chief was the fucking bomb. Damn. Chief O'Brien is an angry beta who doesn't stop moaning and is married to a chick out of his league who he always argues with. Guinan is an alpha female matriarch who has so much aloofness and mystique you'd think she was a fortune teller, oh wait, in the lore her species can see into parallel universes so OK.

TNG is a real clusterfuck of red pill traditionalism meeting blue pill "progressivism", it wasn't as on show as it is these days with shows like fucking glee and 90210, but they were starting to introduce, more subtly, the blue pill elements.

Blue pill TNG: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=tt_OrvkoNmc

Red pill TNG: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ChYIm6MW39k> - questionable blue pill part at the end when he believes in a delusion, but that was under duress so take it as you will.

"LJBF"..."nah, lets fuck."

10 upvotes · 10 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If it was a fresh everyday girl this would sound like BS. When its an ex its very possible.

Feminism is the butt of an ironic joke it has played on itself. Thanks to liberation, smart women don't have kids and because of this future generations of women will get progressively dumber and less capable as natural selection pushes for greater sexual dimorphism in intelligence.

10 upvotes · 8 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Guess these guys are just talking out their ass then:

<http://www.brainskills.co.uk/isintelligenceinherited.html>

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Heritability_of_IQ#Estimates_of_the_heritability_of_IQ

One says rates as high as 60% of your IQ is inherited, the other says up to 80%. That leaves some wiggle room for natural selection and environmental contributions to intelligence so the "survival of the fittest" notion remains intact.

Fact of the matter is when you're an adult more than 50% of your cognitive processes are thought to be inherited in either their exceptionality or limitation, dependent on the case and your viewpoint.

Believe I saw a portion of this clip posted here before, but not the whole thing. I'm new to redpill ideology, but this seems like a perfect example.

10 upvotes · 4 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Her shit test about "not kissing him tonight" was so obvious people the other side of the road could smell it

CBS: Leftover Women of China. Where to start.

10 upvotes · 1 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

They perpetuate a double standard, they want the traditional men with all the power whilst ironically wanting to be a contemporary woman with power. There's not enough power to go around for that. Can't have your cake and eat it girls.

r/relationships is once again shocked and appalled at at a 17-year-old female dating a 25-year-old male. That dirty creeper! That poor innocent flower! The horror!

10 upvotes · 26 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

It's the pussy pass superpower saying hi!

"I don't need a man BUT..."

10 upvotes · 8 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Most people just aren't that intelligent so appearances factor in more than they should as a measurement of how much weight is given to something.

19 year old woman, who has ridden the cock carousel with 27 partners already, asks if her partner count is a deal breaker!

10 upvotes · 1 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You call it how it is. I like that a lot. No homo.

There's something I don't understand about this place

10 upvotes · 23 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

To accept that even though women have a capability for logic, most don't develop it very far and that even those who have developed it somewhat, still prioritise emotional instinct over objective logic because "it feels right"? The prioritisation of good feelings over fact and fairness is typically feminine. Women are the less logical gender in all cultures I've ever come into contact with, I suspect it's part of their genetics. They are more emotional in their responses, men aren't perfect, they often try to use logic under emotional duress/conflict, but temper aside, they try to be reasonable, temper being the result when they can no longer facilitate a decorum of rationality. Women are fuelled with a sense of indignation over the most mundane of shit. White knights and shit essentially have embraced the feminine through socialisation and do the same thing as women, prioritise a woman's feelings rather than looking at facts and justice, whenever they talk about social justice it's through the lense of a woman and how it makes her feel, thus incredibly biased, flawed, subjective etc. Faulty logic.

Holy shit!..."No more Mr Nice guy" is a hard read...

10 upvotes · 21 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Buy it:

- UK -
http://www.amazon.co.uk/No-More-MR-Nice-Guy/dp/0762415339/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&qid=1371779817
- US -
http://www.amazon.com/No-More-MR-Nice-Guy/dp/0762415339/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&qid=1371779817
- CANADA -
http://www.amazon.ca/No-More-MR-Nice-Guy/dp/0762415339/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&qid=1371779817

Download full PDF for FREE:

- https://7chan.org/lit/src/Robert_Glover_-_No_More_Mr_Nice_Guy.pdf

Divorce, Custody, Child Support, and Alimony in Denmark

10 upvotes · 15 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

"Children aren't cash cows in Denmark, except for lower class people with six children, for whom state subsidies and child support from the other parent can be a significant source of income. The previous government tried to limit this by paying only for the first two children. But they watched Muslim women in black burkas rioting across the bridge in Sweden [youtube] so the new government restored the benefits for an unlimited number of children.

Wow. That shit about the muslim women (muslims have the highest birthrate of all groups, so this makes a lot of sense) is fucking nuts!

Girl says: My BF is a "pleasant addition" to my life- but I miss my alpha ex!

10 upvotes · 14 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yep, she wants her hamster feeding because it's not strong enough to rationalise this one away without her feeling guilty (the guy must be pretty fucking amazing, they can normally find at least ONE FLAW and run with that), when everyone collectively contributes to her fucking hamster and validates her immoral choice, she'll go cheat/dump guilt-free. Typical.

Guy breaks up with girlfriend over text, the normally calm and civil /r/intp shames him with downvotes, insults him, and calls him a coward. Top upvoted posts are women.

10 upvotes · 13 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Agreed. I'll share the link in a few days.

Update on RedPill plastic surgeon: radio interview transcribed/translated

10 upvotes · 13 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

He's not wrong, people just don't like the truth.

"Men grow up at 43 - 11 years later than women"

10 upvotes · 13 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Sneakers. Always humours me how most brits know the american words, but not the reverse. Heh.

Wikipedia trivia: The British English term "trainer" is a slang abbreviation of "training shoe".

How low the mighty Seddit has fallen!

10 upvotes · 13 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I hope she doesn't settle down and ends up alone, the beta that ends up with her would be head fucked to no end and he'd need severe fucking "red pill surgery" to even survive her head games. Judging by her sense of entitlement and all the beta validation she gets which feeds into her strong sense of confidence, her machiavellianism trait is off the charts. Shes a control freak. A toxic woman. All men should avoid a chick like that, it's not feminine at all. The only time I can see this kind of chick being remotely worth a look at is if she's drunk and practically begging for your penis, then she gets a pump and dump.

This is my Story. A 24 yr old guy with no job, no education, no women.

10 upvotes · 10 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Takes a lot of courage to come out and be honest about your shortcomings, even on the internet, where there's a risk people will knock you down when you're already in a vulnerable place and tell you shit you already know, or just demean you. Respect for being real man.

Warren Farrell quotes (credit with inventing the women's tag line for men - "success objects")

10 upvotes · 6 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

"Women's vulnerability confessing their desire to see men as a success object is matched by men's confession of compulsiveness of sexual desire for women."

Incase you clicked the link to that wikiquotes page and couldn't find what the topic line here is referring to.

Where the quality bitches at?

9 upvotes · 20 March 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

Studious quiet girl from class? She liked being tied up and fucked.

I don't see anything wrong with this to be honest. Gahahaha. She wants to be dominated in the bedroom? That's feminine as fuck. As long as she's YOUR slut rather than everyone's, who cares.

DON'T GIVE UP! - We're gonna make men great again!

9 upvotes · 27 January 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

Lesbians are often predacious of straight women, turn them against their boyfriends and try to do degenerate depraved shit with them. And because women don't have "anti-slut defence" when it comes to other women, they're very easily manipulated by lesbians. Such people fit perfectly into a crowd like this, the bulls as predators, the submissives as useful idiots. Generally speaking the uglies are bulls and show the dark triad traits, whereas the higher SMV beauties are the submissives who've been brainwashed into it all.

DON'T GIVE UP! - We're gonna make men great again!

9 upvotes · 25 January 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

But I really think there's no way any woman with any self-respect who is not religious could possibly accept this kind of arrangement, consciously. So any efforts toward getting a woman to accept this is going to have to be through subterfuge, or force. That's why I'm not optimistic about this happening on any large scale.

If she's been indoctrinated by feminism, you're quite right, it'll be subterfuge all the way, entertaining her feminist ego whilst leading her feminine nature with red pill ideas. If she rejects all the equalist/feminist however, you are free to be more transparent.

Wake The Fuck Up! See women for who they are, not who you want them to be.

9 upvotes · 20 September 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

You seem to be missing the point that unicorns don't exist.

Yeah it's meant to be ironic and mocking, I guess that didn't translate over. Whole point I put that originally in was to circumvent claims of "NAWALT". I suspect some moron will read this and actually think unicorns are the exception - which wasn't my intention. Eh, what you gonna go? Morons gonna moron.

Norwegian "male feminist" gets raped by a refugee immigrant - then feels bad when the rapist is deported.

9 upvotes · 26 August 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

This is an excellent insight into the mechanics of the victim olympics, bravo, you've eloquently articulated something a lot of people in the sphere can intuit but not verbalise.

Master Monk Mode With Modafinil

9 upvotes · 25 May 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

I outline a lot of risks in the full article and place a large emphasis on safe dosing, in fact I urge more caution than most because I've experienced some of the negative effects firsthand. Sleep is not a problem if you know what you're doing. Of course if you're taking 100mg in the late afternoon-evening.. good luck getting to sleep before 5am.

Introducing Married Red Pill Flair

9 upvotes · 5 May 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

A lot of assumptions here. They may be true in many or most cases but not always.

Please do not disrespect me with the indignity of disputing "not all marriages are like that", as it is disingenuous and makes you look foolish when you understand the heart of the matter, but nonetheless cite a less probable outcome as a rebuttal. The exception proves the rule, it does not disprove it. Why? Well if it's an exception to the generalisation, then the generalisation must hold... and so we come full circle my friend.

2 old sluts just sat next to me at the bar and started telling me I'm cute and flirting with me. They asked where my girlfriend was, when I said "I don't date" they started going off on me saying "I'm on the wrong road" and that "I just hit it and quit it" I said

9 upvotes · 20 March 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Must've read that wrong. It's good this butt fuck retarded person you had to deal with doesn't share your blood.

and flush 20 grand in rings and ceremonies down the drain

That's a lot of xbox games and protein shake brah! I joke, but seriously, yes, the pussy ain't worth the dime. You could get a lot of hookers for 20k. I'm convinced hookers are cheaper than wives (and obviously, they fuck you more)

Machiavellian Thinking vs. Conventional Logic

9 upvotes · 7 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Solid comment, once a man can see through the female deception, he begins to see through all. Makes sense the system is invested in keeping men asleep in order to extract maximum labour and resources from them, women are complicit in this government endeavour because they want to do the same thing. Basically, women and government are equally complicit in the brainwashing of man for their own ends.

TRP Saved me, Whats next?

9 upvotes · 2 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

I agree. Vulnerable/low value/fucked up men should go in monk mode.

I passed this hilarious of all shit tests last night, god bless TRP (FR)

9 upvotes · 4 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

In fact she said after the first time we fucked "I actually had no idea what I was saying."

All that corpus callosum lateral thinking bullshit is why women have shit logic. Logic side gets mixed with emotional side, emotions stronger so win. Men vertical thinkers so easier for them to segregate the two.

Feminist in "open marriage" decides that she has fallen in love with other dude: AWALT

9 upvotes · 17 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Seems if a feminised civilization won't fix itself domestically, an external force is there to 'fix' it instead.

The 'Manosphere' is gaining momentum, more social media / meme pages popping up, and more nice guys are waking up. You should share those social media pages.

9 upvotes · 27 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I do exactly the same, law 38 cannot be understated.

Men aren't taught how to be attractive. Women are born into it.

9 upvotes · 2 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I give you non-faggot gold that doesn't go to the Reddit Cuckministers.

Yeah, fuck gold. There needs to be a "buy this guy whiskey" option. I'd be on board with that.

Instant Gratification is a Poison - Advanced Monk Mode Theory

9 upvotes · 23 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I think its endemic. People think a 2,000-2,500 word essay (which is 7-8 pages in a book) is "long" whereas 1 or 2 pages (300-600 words) is "acceptable."

Goes to show how poor attention spans are. If you can't read an essay how in the hell are you going to read a book? If you read a book in casual segments, a chapter is more than 7-8 pages.

13-Year-Old Boy Charged With Assault For Having No Game

9 upvotes · 15 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Shit like that is the perfect way to breed a society of Elliot Rodger type incels seething with hatred. Look out for a shooting coming to a school near you.

The current state of affairs and a taste of what is to come. Single mother parenting.

9 upvotes · 2 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Single mothers are complete and utter mother fucking subhuman scum 99.9% of the time. If she's not a widow, she's scum. The statistics for kids raised by single mothers shows all manner of dysfunction (poverty, mental illness, crime) for kids raised by single mothers, but not widows. So as far as I'm concerned widows are cool it's not their fault the dad died, they're not making bad decisions but shit happens.

But single mothers - they play the victim angle like a motherfucker and all the SJWs/politically correct bluepillers make the wild fucking assumption that it's not the woman's fault, revoking all agency or blame from the dumb silly bitch who chose to raise a kid alone. But the sheep don't see it like that, they start making all these wild accusations that the father was probably abusive or violent and that's why she raised the kid alone.

It's presumed the mother is a victim of circumstance even though 99% of the time she created the circumstances she's in not only for herself, but for her kid(s.) And it's presumed the father is an asshole, but most the time he's a guy who was told she was on the pill when she wasn't, and then she decided to keep the kid. Sometimes these guys don't even know they have a kid until they get a child support notice out of thin air. Then the poor guy gets fucking berated for being a deadbeat when all he did was fuck a woman under the presumption it was recreational sex and that no baby would be born.

If bitches are deceiving guys into fatherhood, and then crying victim when it backfires because he refuses to defer to her deceit, tough shit for her. The only victim here as far as I'm concerned is the child. She tricked the guy she fucked, tried to force him to become a parent, and when he wouldn't, tried to ruin his reputation and extract wealth. That is some fucked up shit. But hardly anybody sees it from that perspective, do they? Naturally, bitches be crazy and society is all jumped on the sycophancy of feminism and the woman are wonderful effect, so she's blameless and he's just a cunt. People are so single-minded and intent on blaming the father it's unbelievable. If your father is never there for you growing up, there's a good fucking chance that's your mothers fault.

But no, everyone acts like she's this marvellous creature for forcing her kid(s) to struggle for THEIR ENTIRE LIVES. And that the guy is probably some dark triad woman/kid abusing asshole.

It's total fucking bullshit. Very few men who are violent or abusive, that's complete lying utter horseshit used to smear the male name and justify the child abuse that is raising kids without a father.

No, the truth is, mummy was somebody's plate/ONS and thought it would be a wise idea to not use protection or keep the kid. Her body, her responsibility right?

It makes me sick however everyone rallies to the aid of single mothers and says about how hard they have it and everyone should feel sorry for them. Fuck that. Fuck them. They had a choice didn't they? I mean a whore has a fucking choice to take a pill, or get an implant or terminate. The kid had no fucking choice to be born and go through all the dysfunction that awaits it. The kid is a total innocent and the mother, a cunt.

I'm 100% with you when it comes to this sentiment. I reserve all my sympathy for the boys and (to some extent, the girls) who grow up fatherless and fucking despise the child-abusing fucks that single mothers are. They are total fucking scum contributing to the complete and utter degeneracy of our society morally, spiritually, socially and economically. Total fucking scum. Again, it is total bullshit that the huge amount of kids who have no father all had asshole fathers who abused the mother/kid when most men in society are complete fucking betas. This is simple female blame-shifting mixed with misandry.

I have 0% empathy for these broads, but their sons are welcome on TRP and their daughters, RPW.

Disturbing Social Trends Observed During Summer Vacation

9 upvotes · 24 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Start with these books for self-development:

<http://illimitablemen.com/books-for-men/>

But in terms of raw social masculinity, you learn the right attitude and how to hold your own from socialising with men comfortable in their dominance. Reading about that kind of shit isn't even 1% of experiencing it in terms of internalising the behaviour. We become what we mimic far quicker than we become what we read. This is why theory is typically accompanied by practice.

If you treat women like men they will think you are sexist.

9 upvotes · 2 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yep, and the Machiavellianism is intrinsic.

Why men and women should NEVER be friends

9 upvotes · 24 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The other thing is how the sexes respond to adversity. For men, it makes them tougher, more mature, more manly. For women, it does make them mature more, but they become less womanly, missing the sweet innocence that we love in women.

Good observation, one I agree with. I did a section on that in "Women & The Death of Femininity."

Cenk gets put back in his place on the Young Turks

9 upvotes · 15 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

This is what a woman means when she says she's "fluent in sarcasm" or "schooled in snark"- opinionated, loud, and unable to provide intelligent support for all the chatter.

These women think their psychologically aggressive and over-the-top extroversion is sophisticated, but I find a woman who tries to think before she speaks to be the sophisticated one. Generally speaking, they're introverts. Some guys prefer extroverted women because they're not so boring, but I swear the introverted girls are where the real gems are at.

"I'm Sexist? FUCK YOU!" (3rd Highest upvoted post of all time in Non-TRP subreddit)

9 upvotes · 14 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Fucker was divorced twice and still didn't learn anything. Some people are doomed.

Uncle gets cheated on, decides he can't continue

9 upvotes · 8 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

High income professional job, married,

Well, that explains that one. They say wives extend your lifespan. Obviously, this is bullshit.

Women are not liars

9 upvotes · 2 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

However, there are 115 thousand subscribers here.

I remember when there were 4,000.

You can have a spine, and still have a heart.

You're describing me.

#GiveYourMoneyToWomen hashtag on Twitter exposes feminism's final form: "Give me cash or I'll call you a misogynist"

9 upvotes · 2 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

they go through more 'emotional labor' with betas

Got a feeling the hapless betas get their fair share of emotional labour too.

The Hierarchy of Love

9 upvotes · 1 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The flow of love trickles down from man. When a woman 'loves' a man or a child 'loves' their mom, the reciprocal love that is returned is in the form of honor and respect.

Very very well said. This is exactly how it is.

Loving downward is sacrifice. Loving upward is respect.

If people feel this distinction would help augment the essay, I'll add it.

RooshV slams the Red Pill

9 upvotes · 22 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah it's pretty instinctual with women, although, one must ask themselves this; why do so many women have an affinity for psychology? They all wish to harness that which comes naturally.

Anyone here turned there life around at age 30? From no social life etc. to having a good life?

9 upvotes · 10 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Read these for some pointers:

<http://illimitablemen.com/2014/04/13/monk-mode/>

<http://illimitablemen.com/2014/01/03/20s-men-the-quest-for-power-the-decade-of-empire/> (a bit rough around the edges.)

Also, the next article I publish will be relevant to you. All the best.

"Boys risk becoming addicted to porn, video games and Ritalin" - Absent fathers and feminised schools are driving boys into a disconnected online world of porn and video games - Phillip Zimbardo (Psychologist behind the "prison study" in the seventies)

9 upvotes · 10 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I believe he means, the typical male without proper training won't be able to enter a field of work worthy of his masculinity, he will be stuck in a dead end job, instead of someone encouraging him to use his strengths, he will have no way to improve in his company without months of learning absolutely nothing, and even with this he might get $1 or $2 more per hour...

If he's masculine and smart, he'll know what to do. Start his own fucking business. Get a shit job, never have fun (you can't afford to) and put every spare buck aside to save for a course in a trade. Invest in yourself with education that yields a return. If you have the option do an apprenticeship, do that instead so you can learn and earn without debt and having to slog it out in minimum wage hell.

Once trade is learnt, get some experience working for some people. Once you have money and experience, get more certs/qualifications. Get more experience in your trade at the higher level. Done now? Ok, monetise your expertise and experience and go at it alone - start a small business. Get money. Avoid taxes (legally.) Get bigger, get contracts, network. Employ people to do what you used to do, now they do all the work and you profit from their labour. All you have to do is oversee things, check work and answer phone calls.

Alternate:

Get good at sales, learn to sell things and you can convince almost anyone of anything. Make mad money from commissions. Stack dollars, laugh to the bank, middle finger to all the feminised fucks. When you got enough money from selling start a side hustle, internet based shit is low overhead. Make a blog and a youtube channel. Use your selling expertise to build a community and sell online. Make more money. When you're in the big boy league throw money at advertising to bring in more people and make even more money. Win at life, stay high, shoulders back, chest out, smug. This kind of "if you cant adapt to a feminised economy you will never make it" is how poor losers think. It's not how winners think.

So what if the world has changed in a way that outside STEM, most jobs are service based, which women with their superficiality, innate natural Machiavellianism and extroversion are better suited to? Business is never going anywhere. Men take the risks. Being an entrepreneur never went anywhere. That is the key. It ain't easy, but it's not impossible. I don't buy into all this doom and gloom "men are fucked" shit for a minute. That's what these harpies want you to FEEL so then you THINK IT and BELIEVE IT. Then you're a loser. Fuck that. Be a winner.

If you're 16 or young as fuck. Take this shit on board. I would have killed to have known this at your age. Instead I wasted time in the education system, which is nothing but a socialist neoliberal indoctrination centre with a shitty ROI if you're not STEM or going to top colleges (prestige factor.)

Ask IllimitableMan

9 upvotes · 1 May 2015 · /r/askTRP

Do you think a focus on rational confidence might undermine your future ability to generate irrational confidence?

This is where one must compartmentalise. Unfortunately, the man you want to be, and the man who is fuckable to women - is two different men. A man should strive to be learned in all ways, and to appreciate himself, knowledge and power before fun. A woman admires a mighty brute, a man of excessive confidence, courage, valour and resources - but cares little for the inner mechanisms of man beyond that. Perhaps if such a man is emotionally broken, she is attracted to the illusion of being able to fix such dysfunction, but beyond that her interest of your psyche, your reason - it is negligible.

What you build for yourself, what you want for yourself - is distinct from the persona, the charisma you exude around women. Unfortunately, women never "love you for you" unless "you" is a damaged psychopath she wishes to fix, or an irrationally confident brute with blessed genetics. In more crude terms: being rational, just and learned (in and of itself, not for wealth) is not synonymous with being fuckable. In fact, they are at odds. The person as a man you most likely want to be, outside the realm of sexuality, is not the same man you need to be to do well within the realm of sexuality. So thus you must be two men - a man of his own creation, and a man that women will fuck. If you are a nerd and women don't like nerds? Don't stop being a nerd. That's who you are, you will never escape it even if you deny it - but learn how to portray yourself as the nonchalant brute too.

Us mere mortal men, in an age of feminism, cannot successfully procreate and be men of substance that are not exploited by the whims of women without being more than one type of man. A brute is attractive to women, but he lacks substance. An intellectual is not attractive to women (if he were, it would be for his status not his intellect) but he is full of substance.

Women tend to lack substance - they are looking for fun, protection and resources - not cognitive substance. Regardless of age, there are few women who seriously give merit to the political and philosophical problems of the world, who would prioritise reason over "having a good time."

You are you, you are also who she needs you to be, to be attracted to you. She will always want to know "real you" the less confident you, the more rational, self-doubting, socratic you - but she will never appreciate him like you do. He isn't sexy, he's smart. To women, such a man is weak at worst, boring at best. "Girls just wanna have fun," after all. She will only appreciate your bravado, which is why such a thing exists to begin with. You can be truer to yourself in the company of men, than you can with women without being penalised for a lack of sexual attractiveness. Compartmentalise.

Ask IllimitableMan

9 upvotes · 30 April 2015 · /r/askTRP

Dread is artificial manipulation of supply to drive up demand and thus in turn, desire. Is it passive-aggressive? Yes, you could say so, but it's effective. And as long as it's effective, who gives a fuck? As long as you don't overthink "this is passive-aggressive, and therefore, I'm less of a man" then you won't be less of a man. Just because you're a man, you're not above using manipulative social tactics. A smart man always has his woman feeling a little fear, lest she get too lax. If you have to be on your A game, so does she. Don't let her forget that. Dread, dread, dread.

Ex-wife who received billion dollar divorce settlement -- and appealed because she said it wasn't enough -- has her appeal dismissed due to greed.

9 upvotes · 29 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Are you serious? I can't tell here. Sounds pretty fucked up.

I now see why you need to lift

9 upvotes · 23 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Did you fuck? I'm hoping you fucked. Indicators of interest don't get any more flagrant than that.

[Red Pill Theory] Tall guys of TRP, how do you remind yourself to keep good posture?

9 upvotes · 14 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Developed really bad posture in my back as a teenager because I used to wear my school rucksack on one shoulder in a vain attempt to be cool. If you are a guy who is in school learn from my childhood mistake and do not do this. It's not worth the extra stress on your rotator cuff/as well as messing up your posture - evenly distribute weight. (FYI: I have no problems with it now, wasn't a lifelong thing but at the time it caused me problems.)

Avoid chairs with crap back support, they will give you back pain. Most cheap chairs are bad for tall guys because the back isn't long enough or is shaped weird. Chairs don't seem to be designed with 6ft+ people in mind (neither is public transport, but that's another matter) so you will find a lot of chairs end and then half your back is just completely unsupported. You may be tempted to slouch to get support from all of the chair back, but that will fuck up the bones between your back and your ass, so it's not a good idea. Get a better chair with a taller back or a lumbar mesh back support (mesh is cheaper). Also if you are tall you don't want chairs low down because you will end up curling your legs because the height from the chair to the ground isn't enough for all of your leg. If you have an adjustable chair, you want it fairly high so you can sit with your knees bent at 90 degrees no problem.

Do straight leg deadlifts, if you are a guy who works out at home who has no barbell you can do them with dumbbells they help a lot with posture and it takes less effort to sit up straight when you've been doing deadlifts for awhile. To strengthen the lower back (I used to get pain there before I worked out, I do not anymore) I recommend doing bent over rows. I'm not a fitness expert and don't know the names of all the specific muscles being worked and blah blah, I just know what worked for me.

Don't look at the ground, there is nothing there for you, you're not a scavenger. Look up.

If you're a lot taller than your girl (eg: you're 6'2 and she's 5'6), your back will hurt if you hug her a lot and have to bend down to do it. It's awkward. Hug sitting/lying down or pick her up (you'll be able to do that if you've been developing strength from lifting) and then you can bring her up to your height. Make her do the hug where her feet don't touch the floor so she wraps them around you out of fear.

Can't think of anything else, but I know being tall it's easy to fuck up your back. Really place emphasis on looking after your back, if you do your posture will be great and your height will do you proud/give you command presence. Do exercises in good form, have supportive chairs, don't unevenly distribute weight on your back with one strap bags and you'll be good. Us tall guys have to take extra care with our backs, nothing is worse for your SMV than a hunchback posture. Stand tall, chest out, shoulders relaxed, chin up.

Birth Control, Soy Sauce and the Death of Big T. (Testosterone)

9 upvotes · 10 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Also:

<http://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pubmed/20378106>

Personally, I thought soy reduced T too. Science can never make it's damn mind up. So much conflicting information.

CARIBBEAN COLUMN: "Girl has my name saved as " Top Up Friend" on her phone; she has a man for every bill"

9 upvotes · 3 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

This bitch is Machiavellian as fuck. Her ability to lie so easily, improvise plausible explanations for suspicious behaviour and use people like items on a dollar menu makes me think she is possibly a dark triad woman.

Obviously you cannot be certain from something as rudimentary as this, but it does suggest many things. She is Machiavellian because she assigns men different functions in an exploitative manner, without building relationships or being open with the long line of men what their function is in relation to her. That suggests she knows it's wrong/bad on her part, that there is something to hide and other people would not agree with what she does. She doesn't give a fuck about what she's doing (suggesting desensitisation/psychopathic personality traits) because she is able to pull this off without being wrought with guilt. Furthermore, she feels entitled to these different services from men, indicative of narcissism.

In relation to OP, she's not upset about what she's done, she's upset she has to find someone else to top-up her phone and her narcissism is butthurt that a man had the ability to say "fuck this shit" and next her in spite of her sex. You know, what really pisses off a narcissist? Nexting the absolute fuck out of them when they see themselves as someone who is hot shit that runs the show. She has to discard men on her terms, not be discarded - because that is harmful to her ego - narcissism, a common trait in women nowadays. Going by her phone book/improvisational ability (suggesting experience,) this chick sounds like she measures up as a DT, if not at least a borderline.

People have limits, even beta boy OP realised the pussy was not worth his dignity, she duped him and was controlling him/clouding his perception with sex.

The problem with DT chicks is they highlight the very worst of what all women are capable of. Most women won't be as bad as this, but one chick like this in your life is a great cautionary tale of what women in general are capable of when they're at their worst. Of course, most women don't quite operate like this, they have too many feelings to be that effective. A woman who can operate like this is a female psychopath in my estimation. This has red flags written all over it, writing it off as "Caribbean culture" is not very astute or well thought-out. People who feel things for other people and bond within typical human parameters can't do this and don't want to do this.

Is The Mirror trolling us? Hambeast makes false rape accusation after being caught getting doublestuffed by two soldiers

9 upvotes · 29 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Gets busted lying and gets sentenced to jail for 2.5 years. Hopefully she serves it all.

Result. False rape accusations should be criminalised. Defamation/wasting police time.

two situations: one that troubles me and other that troubles a friend.

9 upvotes · 29 March 2015 · /r/askTRP

So she's going with this guy on a trip to London, they aren't even friends, he's just a coworker.

Branchswinging. She's fucking the other guy, or she's about to. I'd put money on the former.

I see is a selfie of her and the coworker before catching the plane.

She's replacing him with the co-worker, he just hasn't worked it out yet.

I already told him to go no contact for a week and than to ditch the whore.

Mentally dump her, but just to fuck with her - go out, get hammered, get pics with him with other girls - fuck with head for sadistic lols/revenge. She may not "love" him anymore, but it'll fuck with her ego if he moves on too easily. She wants him to be miserable, because that means she meant something to him/was special. Women are selfish sadistic fuck-ups like that. When they dump you, you better be miserable. If you're not, they can't handle it - they start thinking maybe they shouldn't have left - if you're not miserable it implies "you have better options than her anyway" which makes you attractive to hypergamy.

What to do?

Rape roleplay. Play with her clit a lot. Buy the kama sutra as well.

Do women judge men's sexual past?

9 upvotes · 24 March 2015 · /r/PurplePillDebate

Hypocrisy is not necessarily a bad thing if the double standard can be justified. EG: we expect men to carry heavy things, but we don't women, because men have superior strength (from what I've read, women top out at 60%~ the physical strength that men have, but there are probably exceptions out there. somewhat related)

Stefan Molyneux recently did a very good job at explaining the slut-stud double standard on his Youtube. Among other things, men have a biological need to ascertain paternity. Women know the baby is definitely theirs, men do not. Sexual history is like employment history, you're going to be judged on your previous experiences as they're the best indicator of what your future behaviours are going to be. A man who knows a woman has slept around expects her to do so in the future, and as such, cannot guarantee her loyalty and in the case of pregnancy, his paternity. On MRI it's shown that men look at a baby's face to determine if it looks like them (trying to discern paternity) whereas women don't activate that part of the brain when looking at a baby's face. People who don't care about men won't really care about these facts, they'll dismiss them out of nonchalance, so I'll add a woman-orientated opinion:

Women are emotionally vulnerable to sex in ways that men aren't. Women who have lots of meaningless sex become damaged, used up, neurotic, distrusting of men, dehumanising men. Men can have meaningless sex, and it won't stop them being incapable of pair-bonding. Men can see sex as purely physical, or emotional as well. Women always see it as emotional, even when they don't want it to be. If that wasn't the case, fuck buddies would indefinitely remain so and not push for commitment as is anecdotally oh so common. Sex is very emotional/mental to women. A woman who's had a lot of partners is not only going to be a bad bet in terms of paternity/loyalty for the man, but she's quite likely going to have issues pair bonding and trusting men. She knows this on some level, because most women feel the need to lie about their sexual history to men, knowing men do not want to treat promiscuous women seriously (although promiscuous women still have the emotional needs more chaste women have: men don't care. A bad bet is a bad bet.) Refer to divorce rate based on pre-marital sex for supporting evidence.

Edit: a typo.

How Men Love / Male Commitment

9 upvotes · 23 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Could you share your thoughts about vulnerability?

You can use it as chick crack/baby bait/fishing tackle (honestly, pick whatever terms you like - you get my drift) - because when used correctly, chicks dig the hell out of this shit. But IMO, it has to be "superficial vulnerability" you tell a girl something she thinks is meaningful and profound that paints you in a weak/vulnerable light, but it's not actually a deep dark secret that'd hurt you in argument, or anything that'd freak her out to make her more insecure about your ability to head the relationship.

For example, telling a girl you were scared of the dark as a kid (but you've overcome that now) is the only way I believe a man should ever use vulnerability as a tool. Manson's models gets mentioned time and time again, consensus between all the people I've spoken to about it is that the vulnerability section is purple pill at best. Some guys thought it was fucking ridiculous. You have to tread carefully when using this, make something up and seem so indifferent to it now that you've overcome it (oh wow he's been through so much!) or just saying your fear/vulnerability is something so inconsequential it barely matters "I used to dream I'd wake up paralysed, that's why I started running." You gotta sell it right and do it with confidence.

Get me? Don't actually tell her that horrible thing that happened to you as a kid that still fucks with you from time-to-time. That's the kinda shit you tell your most trusted friends if anybody, not your girl. Your girl will fling that shit at you in an argument and part of you will never forgive her for being such a spiteful cunt. She may regret saying it the second she says it, "oh i'm soooo sorry I didn't mean it!!" but you can't take these things back - it shows you in those seconds just how low she's willing to stoop, and you will always resent how she did a shit on the sanctity of what you told her. Don't give yourself any more headaches than you need to, women are enough bullshit as it is. Honestly, I think Mark did more harm than good banging on about vulnerability. Naturally, women think it's an awesome idea "get him to tell us his secrets - yay!"

Manipulative women will award you for being weak.

9 upvotes · 16 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

We'll start with a little background. A couple months ago (Pre-TRP) I was in a relationship with a party girl, manipulative, CC-riding slut, dark-triad narcissist.

She tick these boxes? - <http://illimitablemen.com/2014/02/17/lucifers-daughter/>

Like Dante Nero from the Biege Phillip show says, "everybody gets got." That's how we enter the game.

Great guy. He's in hospital at the moment, hope he's gonna be alright.

"I just don't feel like having sex all the time with you."

It's a shit test.

I start complaining, saying how if she wants to keep me around she'll have sex with me, "because that's the point in relationships".

Shit test failed. You were bargaining rather than boundary setting.

In reality, I was giving her every reason not to want to sleep with me, but every reason to keep me around as her BB.

A most valid evaluation, it would seem.

I told her I loved her.

Oh, fuck no.

I kept my schedule clear for her

Devaluing yourself in the process.

<http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-16-use-absence-to-increase-respect.html>

She wanted me to spill my feelings to her.

They want you to spill your feelings to them so you they can better manipulate and control you, not because they care about you. This of course places you firmly in the weaker position within the relationship and diminishes your bargaining power/respect, which in turn, dries up her panties. Never spill all to a woman, ever. I don't care about unicorns and nawalts and whatever other shit some deluded idealistic guy here has to say, the only vulnerabilities you share should be superficially tactical in nature, as so much to say that they paint you in a weak light, but from something that is no longer consequential, eg: "as a kid the dark would scare me" it shows you're human and capable of being vulnerable without actually saying "I'm vulnerable right now," in another way altogether in fact it subtextually communicates "I've overcome things, and I'm stronger now."

She looked at me, and said "Aww." And jumps on top of me, and we fuck. Talk about some sick Pavlovian shit, she capitalized on my weakness as a chance to have control over me.

Yep, she fucked so you'd associate weakness/submissiveness to her with reward. That's pretty dark. That, or she's just a special snowflake who, despite her own barren Saharan pussy felt compelled to give you pity sex. I'm going to lean towards the prior.

I dumped her, and found TRP

If she's a DT, or at least a narc, that will especially fuck with her ego. In the future she'll reach out because you did the dumping and not her. Not because she likes you, but because her ego will always be bruised until she can settle that score. You've been warned.

Anyone else sick of corporation backed feminism? Why am I getting this email from Uber? I couldn't care less about feminist interests, what about men?

9 upvotes · 11 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Those million jobs they're creating are the polar opposite of future-proof. Future-doomed?

If we look to history, it is evident that resources are becoming far harder to amass than they used to. This correlates with a rise in consolidated worldwide wealth, rising wealth inequality and population increase. There will always be a place for the beta bux in such a chaotic world, he may not be respected, he may not be lusted for, but he will be desired.

Guy's wife stops putting effort into their marriage and threatens to bankrupt him if he divorces her. Guy unknowingly lays down dread game while secretly preparing for divorce. Wife is now doing everything she can to make him happy.

9 upvotes · 11 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Holding back on the good stuff eh? I like it.

Rethinking Emotions

9 upvotes · 10 March 2015 · /r/AlreadyRed

Comment of mine from my blog relevant to this topic:

Question: why is it that logic is automatically of more value than emotion? Is it valid to use logic to determine that (even assuming you could)?

My response:

Both logic and emotion are subjective, but logic is more objective than emotion, and therefore, more reliable. Logic in and of itself is technically objective, it is pure as an abstract system, but because we are beings "tainted" with emotion, when we attempt to utilise logic we infuse our emotion into our logic contaminating it with subjectivity and thus agenda, which leads to fallacy. That's why in fields of scientific research, objectivity, neutrality and impartiality are of the highest intellectual priority. Of course, due to politics and how funding is used to control what gets researched and for what agenda, this isn't the case, but in a idealised world where funding was not economically weaponised as it is, this would be the way research worked. Whilst the free market dictates to academia, academia will pander to the needs of corporations to get funding. Whilst the government dictates a specific ideological dogma to academia (eg: multiculturalism, feminism, egalitarianism etc) then academia will set out to conduct studies which support rather than disagree with these views in order to secure funding.

Emotion is not reliable or predictable, logic, to a large degree, is. Not all logic is the same, there are many kinds of logic, and philosophers have attempted to dissect the different kinds of logic (inductive, deductive, logical fallacies etc) even though there are internal elements affecting it, it's extrinsic in nature. Emotion on the other hand is simply whatever one feels in the moment. Emotion is primal, an animal instinct. Logic is a function of higher-thinking. A dog, for example, cannot logic as well as a human, because it lacks the higher reasoning capacity. Dogs operate almost entirely on instinct which acts off reaction to stimulus controlled by a biologically selected-for hard-wired system of morality, eg: “don’t steal my food, don’t hurt my puppies etc.” Outside of that, a dog has zero to minimal system of thought. If they did, they could invent like humans do. In that regard logic outside “primal logic” aka “instinct” or “the logic of instinct” is unique to humans, particularly men, and it’s logic which allows for the very platform we communicate on now and the high civilization we enjoy today. No amount of emotion in the world will create a civilization. Logic could, without emotion, “just to see.” Although one could certainly argue you may need to eradicate all emotions except curiosity to give logic the kick in the ass it needs to conduct experiments at all.

Emotion is fleeting and intrinsic. Emotion is useful in regulated doses to a degree, but in a way far different from logic. It’s not that emotion isn’t useful, but that it is less useful. Emotion is also far more dangerous than logic because it has a higher capacity to psychologically incapacitate somebody. Emotion drives people to logic in detrimental ways that bring about suicide, crime, self-harm etc. Logic without emotion leads to similar outcomes with far less frequency. There is very little one can learn about the world with emotion alone. Emotion normally acts as a trigger for logic and gives logic an agenda or purpose. The problems arise when there is far too much emotion and not enough logic (and this is common, particularly with women, who seem to lack emotional discipline.) It’s important to conserve a productive ratio of logic-to-emotion. Whatever that ratio may be, I am unsure of – perhaps it is something that warrants more research by the academic community.

Logic relies on observable facts and chains of reasoning which can be demonstrated. Evidence is a proof, which is a form of logic. Mathematics is a man-made system of symbols used to represent the logic of quantity. Anything that extrinsically supports the premise of another needs logic to do so. You cannot emote that a gun with a bullet missing was used to kill a person, you use deductive reasoning and probability to deduce that, which are forms of logic. When you see the gun and you emote, you feel curiosity (which may activate logic as a trigger emotion) or you may feel fear (stay away from that gun!) but emotion in and of itself won’t help you solve a mystery. Mystery is simply the absence of rational explanation. Mystery is an emotional word. If you translate mystery from “emotive” to “logical” you end up with the word inconclusive.

Emotion commands how you feel/your state of being and occasionally causes you to behave in ways which may or may not benefit you. For example: if most men acted on the aggressive impulses they feel, they’d all be locked up. Emotion, at times, must be suppressed/channelled/redirected to be used productively. Men tend to be better at this, although are far from perfect at it (they are human after all) women comparatively appear less disciplined in controlling their emotions and tend to have involuntary outbursts in far more marked frequency.

Emotion can be useful, but it is also far more volatile and harmful for the individual. Emotion is like nuclear energy, very powerful, but if you lose containment it fucks everything up. Logic is more akin to renewable energy, it tends not to harm anybody and if it did, it would do so very slowly over a long period of time, probably via the development of a non-pragmatic ideology which actualises a very specific chain of reasoning and creates a narrative around said reasoning to bring about a cult of logically demonstrable beliefs (one could argue that this is what the red pill philosophy is.)

The logical equivalent of depression is “analysis paralysis.” In so much that both cause you to do nothing or become unproductive. The equivalent of negative emotions would be faulty logic, but even if we look purely at positive emotions vs. productive/helpful logic, it becomes apparent that logic has far more application than emotion. Emotion’s highest function is creating a state of happiness. Logic’s highest function is understanding, discovery and systemising. Emotion can’t build civilization. It can give you a reason to build civilization, but it’s the wrong tool for creation, it can’t create anything alone, it needs logic to create anything worthwhile. I could go on for ages, there are a vast multitude of reasons for why logic is superior to emotion, and emotion is superior to logic in some ways too, but holistically speaking on the whole – logic wins. I think men personally prefer logic because they value reliability, stability and what is measurable. Men like to be able to understand and measure things. Men like problem solving. Women tend not to obsess or really even care so much about such things. The majority of women adopt a much simpler approach to life. If it feels good, it's good (even if it's morally bad or logically foolish) and if it feels bad, it's bad (even if it's morally or logically intelligent.) Again, morality is a system of rational psychological governance to instil order in a species that is made inherently chaotic due to the ferocity of emotion. As for rationalisation, that's emotion in logic's clothing. It's pseudo-logic, emotion using logic to justify itself.

Empiricist philosophy (the basis for the scientific method) can elucidate and give a far more comprehensive view of the kind of ideas I'm trying to communicate. Check out this Wikipedia page:

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Empiricism>

Applying Rule 48: Be Unpredictable

9 upvotes · 6 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Formlessness is a metaphor for water. Water fills the container it's in. You can't attack water, because when you punch it, it just splashes, it moves around your inertia as a direct result of your impact rather than being damaged. You affect water, but not in the way you intended because it immediately counters what you do to it. You cause it to react, but it reacts on it's own terms, not the way you dictate. It is slippery, it evades. The words fluid and slippery get their symbolic meanings from the traits of water. To be fluid is to be changeable. To be slippery is to be evasive, unattainable - but not unpredictable. You can be predicted - if you are formless it can be predicted you will become whatever is necessary to evade harm and conquer the threat.

You're only unpredictable as much as you need to be to thrive in the situation you're in. Formlessness is more about adaptability than it is unpredictability, although in volatile environments quick social adaptation will equate to unpredictability, although an outside observer is not likely to be aware of this unless they analyse your behaviour chronologically. Within the moment to your environment, you will seem like "you fit in" not like "you're unpredictable" because you're being what the environment necessitates, not needlessly spontaneous.

Adaptability and unpredictability aren't necessarily the same thing. There's certain elements of erraticism, neuroticism and impulsiveness in the connotation of unpredictability. This is not the essence of what this law is trying to capture. There must be rhyme and reason to what you're doing. If you're unpredictable without adapting, you're seen as neurotic and unreliable, which means untrusting. What I've found from talking to many different people about the 48 laws is how despite the fact we both read the same book, their interpretation is completely different from mine. Some people seem to have learnt bum fuck from the book, despite their fascination with it.

PS: before anyone asks, yes, I will continue my essays, but you can't rush these things. Good art takes time and I consider my writing to be my art.

If LTR's are TRP on Hard Mode, why are we not rising to the challenge?

9 upvotes · 4 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

While I just was thanking everybody else in the 100k post, I'd take this opportunity to eminently thank you personally for all the value you bring to this sub.

Thank you.

Wasn't it you who came up with "Schrödinger's boyfriend".

Yeah it's in The Shit Test Encyclopedia.

Anyways, thank you for sticking to this place and helping everybody, including myself.

It is of the greatest pleasure. Here's to another 100k.

Beta is PISSED at me for "stealing" the girl he's been "working on" for months

9 upvotes · 22 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

You may have misunderstood my situation and intentions. I'm not being 'forced' to spend time with this woman's orbiters, the girl is of no theoretical necessity to me as my main priority is my social status in this circle.

I see, okay. Well the vaguer you are, the less calibrated my advice is going to be. Getting the jist of things here it sounds like you're using a girl to get access to a social strata you normally wouldn't, eg: she's your preselection/gatekeeper to the social circle. You're actually seeking tailored advice without being explicit about your situation by trying to link it into this TRP thread, which it is only somewhat loosely associated to.

She's not the problem, but "her friends" don't like you and you want "her friends" to like you because there's a lot of power in that social circle. Men are instinctually protective of women, especially ones who are high SMV/they want to fuck, so they want to see you're not co-opting her and that you have value in and of yourself. Men don't really trust women's judgement, especially when it comes to other men so they want to evaluate you for themselves. Effectively, if you don't get their approval, you will split the social group up. She will either be forced to choose between you or them, and unless your game is tight she will probably pick them.

That's essentially fuck all to do with beta orbiters (even though there could be jealousy components, as is inevitable when dealing with any kind of person) and more to do with making people like you. If they have wealth you can't impress them with wealth. Rightly, the girl is just "the IN" to the group, you can't rely on her defence of your reputation forever "he's a great guy you guys just need to get to know him!" your reputation needs to speak for itself. I'd assume you have failed to establish an independently respectable reputation and it's her introduction which is losing it's power in giving you whatever iota of social proof you have within that group.

You're fighting an uphill battle when they immediately don't like you. Don't be needy or validation seeking. Assume the position of the joker. You need to add value, you can't give them anything they can't get materially speaking, but there is value to be found in "being the funny guy." The thing is, there's a difference between being the dancing monkey who nobody respects and the joker that everybody does. A dancing monkey tries too hard, it is evident he wants everyone to notice his jokes and that's he insecure and gives too many fucks. A joker is a darker type of comedian.

You will make crass jokes, do crazy shit, bring attention to yourself and come under fire for your "outrageousness." When you are insulted/called out for "being crazy" (shit test) you will make them laugh with your responses whilst holding frame rather than getting on the defence. They need to see you're not a threat, that you're likeable, but also that you add value. Think of the loveable asshole archetype. Kind of crazy, doesn't back down, but gets away with his shenanigans because when he's called out he makes his enemy laugh and in turn, love him. It's soft-power/pleasurable manipulation. You won't achieve what you seek to with force, so charm/humour is the key. You can even lightly insult them if you make it obvious you're jokingly teasing. Be careful with serious hard-to-gauge if he's serious or not humour, it requires a certain level of comfort to pull off. If they don't like you, you have not built up that level of comfort.

Knowledge is only part of the battle, being able to perform will make or break the situation - and that's on you.

TLDR: charm + idgaf.

[PSA] Self-Pity Race/Age Whine-Posts = Banhammer

9 upvotes · 22 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I wouldn't consider what you're doing to be bro-knighting. You're providing a reason that's attached to a strong thesis: fucking your friend's woman will cause you to lose what you've invested in your friend, and that kind of habit is bad for your future partnerships and alliances. No pussy is worth the net-loss of reputation.

Yes this is exactly it. You get it (and explained it quite well) I however have been called out on that by others here, and that shit literally makes me shake my head in disbelief. I value being a man's man that does well with the ladies, they only give a shit about the ladies and just want to slay poon. Standing up for your bro's isn't this faggot-ass "bro-knighting" shit, it's called "backing your guys."

Women will shame high SMV men who refuse to commit. Women believe they deserve those resources.

9 upvotes · 17 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It's actually quite simple when you remove the excuses, political correctness and rationalisations.

The sophistry of civilization. They use words not to illuminate, educate and empower, but to shackle and deceive. Humans are dangerous, like many animals they must be domesticated in order to be fully enjoyed. The masses must become cattle, lest they threaten the status quo and the consolidation of power enjoyed by the few who rule. Feminism/neo-liberalism is human domestication, particularly of men. Women get better at talking bullshit and believing in bullshit as far as it benefits them, but as soon as it doesn't they go feral, especially with a lack of conservative religion to shame them into moral behaviour, eg: AF/BB, cock carousel, breaking up the family for a pay day via divorce rape etc.

I find women are far better than men at having an outward identity that seems compatible with all civilization's bullshit, whilst internally being nothing but a rabid, immoral, hypergamous whore. It fascinates me how women are so good at wearing masks. How people so ugly on the inside can maintain a pretence of sophistication and moral virtue on the outside (although a great many women don't even bother with pretence anymore, particularly the young women coming up.)

My Old Coworker Hung Himself

9 upvotes · 12 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Right you are. There is no justice in this situation. Rather, there seems to be no equitable remedy, and rather, it was prevention that was key.

Charles Manson's Wedding is cancelled after psychopathic plan is discovered; she was using him.

9 upvotes · 10 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Charming women get an increase of 3-5 points in their RMV. ("Relationship Market Value")

No doubt, most women have fuck all game. They're mentally ugly and think they can get away with that by being physically pretty. Bitches need to learn game, obviously not to get laid - but to get relationships.

Charles Manson's Wedding is cancelled after psychopathic plan is discovered; she was using him.

9 upvotes · 10 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Sounds about right. The chick I knew's father was a multi-millionaire, runs a restaurant chain. People always think these are ghetto chicks or some shit, but that's just prejudice. This chick was comfortably upper middle class I'd say.

Machiavellian Thinking vs. Conventional Logic.

9 upvotes · 8 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Sounds about right, no man gets left behind.

Girl Reports Me for Inappropriate Behavior On Match.com for Getting Her Naked !

9 upvotes · 6 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah. Women thrive on emotional conflict. They rather have a fight than be bored. The drama addiction runs deep.

"Men's Rights Activists have missed the point of feminism " - Intellectually disingenuous article from The Telegraph writes a smear piece aimed at discrediting TRP and AVFM.

9 upvotes · 2 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

You wrote a good response OP but the guy that wrote that article seriously does not care and probably won't even read that. Too busy walking all the way to the bank with that click bait shit for his company.

Yes people will sell their grandmothers for profit because they are devoid of principle and morally empty. I don't do it for his sake. It's not all about the money to me. I do it for the masses, young men in particular. On principle. Young impressionable people should be presented with all viewpoints and encouraged to come to their own conclusions via reasoned, critical thinking. I know most people just feel rather than think, but we'll never progress as a species by encouraging the status quo. It's all a part of the informal democratic process, and as much as there are elements of democracy I despise (idiots get a vote,) there are likewise elements of democracy I appreciate. In that respect, it's one's civic duty to enlighten where there is ignorance and lambaste where there is bigotry. I'm just one dude with a keyboard and an internet connection lucky enough to be born in a rich country doing his bit. If I can help just one person... bla bla bla. You get the idea.

Female coworkers laugh at me because my wife gave me a sponge bath for being sick.

9 upvotes · 28 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Ah my old buddy Anders! I hope he's well! /s

Whores & Daughters

9 upvotes · 12 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha this made me laugh. Great imagery.

Whores & Daughters

9 upvotes · 12 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I really admire the way you put together and explain complex ideas.

Thanks. Normally adhering to Machiavellian rules I'd act like it's no big deal and that I just shit great ideas and eloquence out of my ass, but seeing as I want to help you I'll drop the veil. It takes a lot of hard fucking work, dedication, practice, editing, passion and more editing. Of course I did have some raw talent, but that talent has to be refined. Just like oil doesn't get out of the ground and into your car by itself, a natural linguist doesn't become a great writer without putting pen to pad or finger to key.

I want to write (and fill that void a meaningful conversation helps with), but I have problems with finding ideas to write about.

Strange, because you said:

I consider myself a very well read person

A lot of what I say expounds upon what I have read in books. You should not plagiarise if you want to build up a reputation as a writer, but if you can develop ideas further, refine them or reinterpret them to fit different perspectives etc then it essentially becomes unique enough to be your work. Part of a writer's job is to be a good thinker and to be able to think in many different ways. Sometimes I actually debate people on TRP from viewpoints I don't agree with. Not only does that make it harder for people to work me out/discern the person behind the keyboard, but it helps keep my mind on point for brainstorming ideas. Whenever I get a good idea pop into my head I write it down before it's gone. I try to add as much detail as possible so when I come to pick it up later I don't look at it and think "WTF was I thinking? This makes no sense."

I don't plan what I write if I'm not basing it on something I've read. I'm an impulsive type. I find as I write, I start with only a few points. Then as I refine those points and more nuance creeps in synoptically introducing more points, which leads to more points etc. Eventually I have enough points to make a full essay/concept/framework and struggle to wrap it all up within a reasonable word limit. A case in point where using the work of others to give you a creative kick in the ass is this article for example:

<http://illimitablemen.com/2013/12/10/law-01-never-outshine-the-master-exemplified-and-explained/>

It uses the 48 laws of power book as a springboard for analysis and was my basis for brainstorming the ideas and methodologies both similar to and absent from the book. Of course it helped I had life experiences to draw from in relation to the topic I was talking about too. That article goes further than the book it is based upon does by refining points and exploring aspects of the article's premise which the book did not. That book and it's writer were the influence for that text, it would have been more difficult for me to come up with that without them. They serve their utility, but ultimately it's a predecessor text which inspired my work. If I chose to sell that piece would it be plagiarism? No. It is unique enough and different enough from the piece that influenced it to be deemed original. Now if you copy and paste and just change words around, there's a strong case for plagiarism to be made. When you come up with fresh ideas/methodologies/angles, there isn't.

Any tips that you could share with me to improve my writing skills?

Write a lot. Practice makes perfect (OK it won't make you perfect, but it'll get you nearer to perfect.) If you check out my early posts (like articles 1-20 on <http://illimitablemen.com/archives>) the prose sucks compared to what I produce now. The ideas are solid but the delivery is subpar. I am having to retroactively go through and edit them now, but balancing that with real life commitments and posting new content is taxing on my free time. Also, be descriptive, use alliteration to help flow, be dramatic (but don't lie) in titles, try not to use too many adverbials (a personal pitfall.) Don't sweat being verbose (I used to get a lot of hate for it) but don't be so superfluous you end up with tautologies (then you just look stupid and try hard.)

Writing is a craft/art like any other. You will get better as you keep doing it. And assholes on the internet will put you down and show no respect for your efforts because of how you presented an idea in paragraph 3 or whatever. The internet really provokes perfectionists, pedants and autists to come out of the woodwork and have a good crack. Sometimes these assholes don't tell you how to improve what you did. Sometimes they do. When they do, check language rules on Google and if they're right, thank them. Remember a writer never becomes bigger than what he writes - the writings create the reputation and they are what is appreciated, the writer himself is just a conduit for artistic expression. Basically, don't get too big for your boots. People don't like writers who think they're better than their readers and make that obvious. Even if it's factually true, nobody likes a snob. People tend not to read people they don't like in the absence of a revolutionary idea or methodology being explored. Of course not everything you write is going to be a magnum opus.

Also, use <http://hemingwayapp.com> - great little editor.

I'm sure there's more, but that's about all I can think of right now. Take care.

Edit: extend your vocabulary by noting down words you haven't seen before and internalising their meaning. Then use them in your own work. When people don't know wtf a single word was but understand the context, they'll Google the word. That way you passively force people to become more literate. It's what I do. My way of reversing the trend in the degeneracy of language usage. Machiavellian to the end. Muehueheuehue. As a side note: it's also good at weeding out the lazy retards. When they see a bunch of "big words" they'll nope the fuck out, then you don't have to moderate their irrational but obnoxious spam comments. Win-win! "Smart sounding words" or "big words" as they like to call 'em are like kryptonite to lazy/close-minded types. They work well as a filtering mechanism. The person can either get on board and try to get smarter (prescribing to the self-improvement ethos) or they can take their bad attitude and fuck off. Never write like a retard to appeal to the lowest common denominator, it's the bane of refining one's art.

Enjoy the Hardship

9 upvotes · 12 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Sex is easier for girls, and therefore they don't appreciate the average male's struggle for economic dominance. Good. It helps separate the herd. They'll never have to work as hard to be the best, and therefore will never have to develop their personalities, social acumen, or fitness as much as men do. Now given these traits do help acquire a higher quality mate for girls, but they aren't necessary to get the carnal pleasures, or just an average mate in general.

All because eggs are more valuable than sperm. Kind of works against women in a way, rather ironically. They're nature's control group so they're predisposed to the mediocrity you describe. Note the lack of female Nobel prize winners. Even post women's-lib when women are getting more degrees than men, men still dominate the apexes of achievement. Women really have no excuse other than they don't give a fuck because they don't need to. Also, brain differences and all that shit.

My goal in life is to become Nietzsche's Übermensch

A noble goal. One I share.

TLDR: to be successful you gotta love the struggle. I agree. Fall in love with the struggle, fall in love with self-improvement, and what would be a chore becomes a pleasure.

Whores & Daughters

9 upvotes · 11 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I still haven't fucked her despite her eventually giving me the opportunities. I just can't do it to her... It's one thing to kill off a piece of a slut, she's already damaged. But this girl... I just can't do it.

She not worth the LTR/commitment or are you just not in a place where you're ready for that? Also this may be the paranoid Machiavellian in me but 29 and a virgin? Find out if there's a way to check for signs of hymen reconstruction surgery (popular with Chinese bitches, actually.)

On the absolute necessity of patriarchy for women's long term welfare.

9 upvotes · 11 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Despite the sugary language, your camp counsellor was wise. I'll check out that documentary. Thanks for the link!

The Hierarchy of Women

9 upvotes · 8 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

RPW or not, their sexual strategy clashes with ours. And yeah I go there occasionally, but not often. I think they sidebarred one of my posts.

FR from NYE - I bet I got rejected this year before anyone else.

9 upvotes · 6 January 2015 · /r/askTRP

Rejection ain't personal. I've had women reject me who were inferior looks wise to women I'd already been inside. That's hilarious if you really think about it, the sheer irony: you've banged 8's or even 9's but there's some gassed up 7 or 6.5 rejecting you like she's hot shit. It's kinda funny. When it happens to me I chuckle in my mind at the irony of it. Sometimes I actually laugh out loud. Depends on the situation.

With solid game you can get ANY CHICK - but some chicks will need a heavier time investment than others. If you want quick lays you don't want time time costly women taking up your precious time, you don't want women that need to be won around with systematic strategy over time; you want to seek out the women who are predisposed to being receptive to you. Women you have good logistics for easy access. You gotta get good at target selection. If a chick approaches you or lets you know she is DTF/fancies you (rare unless you're aesthetic as fuck) then that's basically pussy on a plate - if she's not ugly - WOO - the lay has brought itself to you. It's funny when chicks approach. Normally they sms or get a friend to tell you because they suck at rejection even more than men do.

One day you will stop shrugging. You will chuckle thinking "this bitch is crazy she's lucky I even approached" and you'll move on, truly not giving a fuck - onto the next chick. Sometimes the chick will see u chuckle and will reinitiate out of ego - seeing how unfazed you are and re-shit testing you. Then if your asshole game is tight you can have your tongue inside her mouth within 5 minutes, grab drinks, flirt/grind for 15-20 then bounce out the venue. Shit can escalate real quick, but you gotta have your mind right and be in control of your frame. If chicks can knock you out of your frame then your self-confidence isn't strong enough and you still have work to do on mentally being the man that you want to be - the same guy chicks wants to fuck.

Nothing pains me more than to see a low SMV guy "trying his luck" in the clubs. It's soul-crushing shit. The luck approach sucks, you need to build enough SMV/game and then it becomes about skill rather than luck. If getting laid in the club is a "luck game" for you then your SMV is probably low. Those women will all bang if "the right guy comes along" bitches don't go to clubs "to dance" despite their protestations.

Lonely NYE sucks dude but fuck, that's what whiskey and drugs are for. Happy belated new year.

You Have No Idea How Easy It Is For Good Looking Men

9 upvotes · 4 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

are blue eyes really that important?

No, but they definitely help. I've never heard someone say "oh my god you have blue eyes, why don't you have brown? Brown are so much better!" but as a brown-eyed guy I've had girls tell me about blue-eyed guys they'd been with. Staring into blue eyes is kind of hypnotic. Scientific study (google it or something, I heard about this awhile ago) says people feel like they can trust blue eyed people more because the pupil looks more dilated or some shit. You know like those anime characters have huge dilated pupils and look kind of innocent? It's this general principle but in real life.

I would like to talk about this.

Then make your own thread about male standards of beauty. I'm not sure in a community that covets self improvement talking about shit we can't change will really be received very well. What is your end game for this discussion? What is the main takeaway? I really don't see a constructive purpose for this topic, it's just your curiosity compelling you to want to talk about something most guys couldn't give a shit about. Plenty of guys are ugly as sin and they just have to suck it up blue eyes or not.

What to do about good friends who are blue pill, lazy, and unmotivated?

9 upvotes · 25 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Being called crazy for being ambitious has dogged me all the way from the poverty-stricken council estate on which I was born to the elite university I just graduated from.

Typical Britain. I read in the Guardian ages ago that other than Portugal the UK has the least social mobility in Europe. We also have one of the shittiest free at the point of need education systems which encourages massive class divides (most people in Oxbridge or the Russell Group universities were privately educated - just 7% of the population!) Education in this country is hugely class segregated. You pay for the best, if you are middle class you move to the catchment area of a grammar. If you can afford neither of those options, you get a 9 in 10 chance of attending an utter shit pit.

that's the definition of the good 'ole slave morality

Yep. England is classist as fuck. The poor keep poor people's values and look down on the rich in some perverse indignant pride, and the rich do the same. The middle take on the value's of the rich, behaving in a manner of those far wealthier than them who would ironically, look down on them for being middle class. But poor people (at least in the south) "act posh" too. It's hilarious and ironic and confusing. England has always been classist as fuck and social mobility is truly limited here. The internet is the only chance at freedom and valuable self-education a lot of young people here get, and even then it assumes they are smart enough, motivated enough and conscious enough to use it to help them break free of the shackles of poverty. Most young people here are clueless and don't have their head screwed on, class regardless. The working class do some crap course at college and then go and work in Tesco for £6.50 an hour being looked down upon by those who spend their week's wages in one visit. As much as I love the heritage of my country, and all that it's achieved, it fucks me off how close-minded we are as a people. We segregate by class "that person's chavvy" "ah look at that toff" "ignore the plebians!" etc.

The working class celebrate their own ignorance and stupidity. They preserve their own labour exploitation by deluding themselves that their uncivilized way of living is superior. They often lack ambition and drive due to this. There are exceptions (such as yourself) and they are bogged down their entire lives by their peers trying to hold them back - sometimes even their own parents. In England "everyone has their place" and if you try to do a drake and start going all "STARTED FROM THA BOTTOM NOW I'M HERE!" the poor see you as a traitor and the rich want to kick you back down. The rich speak in Estuary English and look down "on the plebs," believing they are naturally superior due to their level of wealth. It's a disgusting society, but I believe it's the way it has always been.

Shit, when you think about it, the north-south divide is based upon perceptions of class too. Northerners think "us southerners are posh gits," southerners think northerners sound retarded and common as muck. Poor southerners have working class values and hate the rich, but then think they are more sophisticated than northerners. It's dumb as shit. Honestly, I feel I've dropped a few IQ points just typing that shit out.

I've always been someone who's had friends in every social class. I judge by intelligence, nothing else.

You remain the only endorsed contributor I actually respect.

Appreciate the sentiment mate. At the risk of opening up a basket case, why is that?

Don't let bullshit into your headspace.

9 upvotes · 24 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is why moving out from your parents is so crucial for young people. Jaded by life and coming from broken homes or homes with beta fathers many young men have a family who psychologically drain them and impose limits on their creativity/intellectual/spiritual growth. It's sad to see so many parents are limiting rather than facilitating their kid's growth and actually end up fucking them up instead, but that's how it is. Most people don't get "the perfect parents" or whatever you want to call it. In light of that, leave home A.S.A.P or find some other way to separate yourself from the rest of the house.

The Red Pill Handbook - an free e-book of TRP posts

9 upvotes · 22 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You don't need muscles to get laid, but they help.

If you had a guy with RSD tyler game and no muscles and then you had a guy with RSD tyler game that was jacked - bitches would choose the jacked guy. Those RSD guys haven't maximised their SMV - but they don't need to unless they're constantly around such a high level of competition (which let's face it, they won't be.)

[FR] The Club Isn't Meant For Everyone

9 upvotes · 20 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

She said my shyness was cute but I need to loosen up.

Annoying how women say nothing, fuck off and then talk shit about you behind your back. Never cared for that.

Shit testing stories?

9 upvotes · 20 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I dunno dude, I don't really agree with seuguh. It's not exactly "a big red flag." I'll tell you what a big red flag is. She claims she was raped. That's a big red flag. IMO, "if you're lucky" is just a cocky/funny shit test, shows she's extroverted/sociable (which means if she were in the mood she'd have no problems going out and getting cock.) If we're gonna call that a flag, it's amber at the most.

[48 Days of Power] Day 32 - "Play to people's fantasies."

9 upvotes · 16 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

To be honest, and I think it's pretty much common knowledge around these parts that I'm a big proponent of the 48 laws.. law 32 seems like a nuanced approach to law 27.

Play on people's need to believe.. Play to people's fantasies

What's the difference? people's need to believe = ideology/fulfil their assumptions on a macro political level. People want to follow someone, give them someone to follow.

What is a fantasy? It's kind of like "finding a man's thumbscrew" (another law) except it's the positive version of the thumbscrew, not the skeleton in the closet. You find out a man wants a threesome in Hawaii with a finger up his ass, you give him that, he's eternally grateful. To be honest, there's not a lot of difference between these two laws and I do believe they can be essentially merged.

Law 27 = find out what people want to follow, become that.

Law 32 = find out people's most intimate passions, give them that (or make them think you can give them that) thumb screw law (law 33) = find out people's darkest secrets, blackmail them or imply an exposure of their weakness/secret/dirty deed to keep them in check.

There is only minor nuance to all of these things, when you begin to understand Machiavellianism as a more wholesome concept with overlap between certain areas of manipulation, these laws don't appear as disjointed and separate as they may do to your typical person. A lot of it is just a different angle, or an opposite (but not necessarily a reversal) if that makes sense.

£339m divorce settlement - It's been said before, Do not get married.

9 upvotes · 16 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Heard too many stories of a woman being married for a decade and then going "IM NOOOOOOOOOT HAAAAAAAAAAAAAPPPPPYYYYY" divorcing his ass and moving on as soon as she has her replacement. Bitches don't care. War brides theory.

Society has turned inward. We live in a middle time without total wars and frontiers waiting for exploration and exploitation.

9 upvotes · 3 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yes, it's a cycle. That's what "The Fate of Empires" discusses. It purports the average cycle lasts around 250 years~ before a new civilization rises up and replaces the obsolete civilization. EG: Chinese Civilization will replace American Civilization as the new dominant global power if America continues on it's current trajectory. Eventually however, feminism will take hold in China, it will repeat Americas mistakes and a new country will rise up, perhaps India. Each culture has it's time, it reaches a certain height of glory, wealth and military prowess, and then it fades to ashes consumed by its own ideological and moral corruption, multiculturalism, feminism etc. Glubb makes particular point to how the rise of women in public life and an increase in immigration usually spell doom for a civilization. Rinse and repeat this throughout all civilizations that the world has ever seen, and will ever see and you get "the civilizational cycle." On the point of "america was built by immigrants," yes, they are necessary in the age of pioneering, to build things, to fill a labour shortage. In an already established civilization, they are excessive and unnecessary for all but the most specialist of roles.

I believe you are agreeing with the premise, but think you are not due to some kind of misinterpretation. The gentleman who messaged me was stating we are on a decline, and if we wish to push it back to a later time, thus extending american glory/quashing feminism, then we must explore new frontiers, basically regressing from the age of decadence back to the age of pioneering - essentially extending the life of the current dominant civilization by resetting it's civilizational cycle. Of course for context, he is referring predominantly to the american civilization, but that has close implications with anglo-civilization (canada, aus etc) as well as European civilization (if the balance of power should shift from America to Southeast Asia, as it looks like it will.)

[48 Days of Power] Day 12 - "Use selective honesty and generosity to disarm your victim."

9 upvotes · 26 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Amused mastery, that's the spirit.

The Pill and UK law.

9 upvotes · 25 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Paternity fraud, paternity rape, forcing paternity or acquiring genetic material via deceptive and misleading devices? Nope, not criminalised. She can tell you she's on the pill when she's not, or she can decide to stop taking it, and if she does you're on the hook. Her deception is not punished for the fraud that it is. Easier for the law to make men pay for the babies of women who are manipulative and broody than it is to serve justice and punish women with prison time/forced abortion (as half the genetic material was acquired via deception, the con-woman/thief is not entitled to your property.)

They rather make you pay for the kid you never consented to father than punish women for deceiving you into inseminating them. There was a story ages ago about a man whose woman went to the bathroom, fished his condom out of the trash can, inseminated herself by dipping her fingers into the condom and then inside her vagina, got pregnant and successfully sued him for child support 9 months later. That was in America though, not the UK.

There is no justice for fathers, or men who were forced without their consent to becoming fathers. Easier to just spin it around and say "man up" and "you should have thought about that before you stuck it in!" and blah blah blah. Because yes, it's not like every time someone has sex they intend on creating a life. Using protection is in fact evidence of your lack of consent (as is having sex on the basis she is taking suitable protection,) you are purposely trying to block conception, it signifies you want to copulate for recreation not procreation. Alas, this is probably the highest price a man can pay for trusting a woman. I'd consider it a bigger betrayal than adultery. IMO, lying about contraception should be criminalised, from a point of pure justice. Of course for political reasons (feminist lobby/vote) it won't be. The welfare state would be even more stretched if they couldn't force baby trapped men to pay child support.

Ah well, it's not like they don't redistribute your taxes to all the single baby mothers via welfare anyway. If you're not paying one way you're paying the other (the only guys who aren't paying for all these baby mothers have successful tax avoidance schemes on the go.) I see some of these poor cunts who have been baby trapped and I realise fully why they love the fucking whiskey so much. They know they are royally fucked and powerless to contest the injustice. And nobody gives a fuck. When searching for a tale of victim blaming look no further than a baby trapped man, you'll never find anyone more victim blamed. A woman can have 8 kids by 8 different fathers and whine her ass off and be seen as a victim despite being a shitty irresponsible mother who didn't learn her lesson after the first time and had plenty of options to terminate. Yet if you're a man and get baby trapped once and say how unfair it is? STFU, MAN UP, IT'S YOUR FAULT YOU HAVE A KID PUSSY. TIME TO BE A MAN. Blah-de-fucking-blah-blah-bullshit-manipulation. My advice: skip the fucking country. Make sure your passport is valid. Society is full of shit and doesn't care about you, it will just shame you into compliance whilst it taxes you to death/garnishes your wages.

Some men fucking kill themselves over this kind of shit, don't be that guy.

Polygyny better for women worse for men and society as a whole.

9 upvotes · 21 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

there was a study that showed that single guys are more likely to get involved with organized crime.

Crime is an engine for achieving wealth, power, and respect. All things that help you get women. Heard plenty of stories of women who have been with men ONLY because they had lots of money (drug dealers) THEY KNEW what their man was doing AND THEY DIDN'T CARE. If she gets nice shiny things and vacations she doesn't give a fuck. Female nature is immoral as fuck.

Feminism indirectly pushes low status guys towards this direction for a number of reasons. Lack of fatherly presence in the home increases violent tendency within the son. Lack of power increases violence. Lack of access to women increases violence. Doesn't surprise me parts of the UK went from people not locking their doors and monogamous marriages in the 60's to the fucking unending crime wave that it is now.

[REPOST] The Red Pill Constitution [Updated]

9 upvotes · 8 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah those guys really need to cut that shit out. You don't get to the top being an insecure self-hating sack of shit. If men of other races can see it, imagine what the women are seeing. Refuse to be beta, start by not defining yourself by your race and whatever beta beliefs your race/culture holds about itself.

Comment on Julien in Japanese culture

9 upvotes · 7 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That's solipsistic. If you look at it macro-holistically you'll quickly deduce that society cannot have too many psychopaths without collapsing in on itself. A society full parasites doesn't function, parasites need a healthy host. Alas, moral systems are necessary for a society to function in any advanced form.

Plate is hamstering away. Advice appreciated

9 upvotes · 5 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Firstly, /r/asktrp

Secondly, because I'm a stand up guy, I'll give you my opinion/advice even though you post your question in the wrong fucking place.

Sounds like you got slightly butthurt because you realise this bitch is playing the game back at ya and making you "work for her." Not only that but she didn't tell you about him coming back, whilst inviting you to come out. So she leads you to incorrectly assume the nature of the meet-up whilst omitting important information (that her BF would be present after she cheated on him with you.) Also the manipulator in you would be pissed because the element of surprise is working against you rather than for you, because you're stood there thinking "who the fuck is this guy? oh it's the BF?" and shock factor starts attacking your frame.

She brought both of you together there on purpose, she made you part of her game, this is a direct challenge to you and the BF, to the BF to man the fuck up and mate guard, and to you to take what you want. I believe she was trying to branch swing from HIM to YOU because she sees you as an upgrade, but you want to keep her strictly in the plate zone, not the GF zone. So noping out of there was the right thing to do, but I believe your execution could have been better.

Aside from branch swinging, other reasons she brought you both together:

1. she wants validation from both of you because she's an attention whoring bitch, like 99.9% of women are.
2. she wants to compare you side by side and in an interaction, see who out alphas the other.
3. by extension of point 2, she not only wants to see who is more socially alpha in guy world but she likes the idea of you two fighting over her and whoever wins gets to fuck her. Its some primal thing women have, they like the idea of men fighting over them and get wet as fuck when violence kicks off, a guy wins, and then the victor takes her home to fuck her silly.

I want to insert a caveat here, I don't care. Like honestly, no one-it is, I have a couple of plates spinning to keep that abundance flowing.

Sorry dude but gonna have to call bullshit and say you're gerbilising. No disrespect intended but your frame was shook far more than it should have been for someone who doesn't give a fuck. I understand why you disappeared but you didn't say anything to her "My friend's here, I'm gonna go off with him, have a good night" and then leave the door open to reconnect 1 on 1 later. Instead you just disappeared. Normally when people disappear, they are butthurt and wanna GTFO because they are disappointed. I'm reading between the lines of what you've described here.

So cause of action, what should you do now?

I'd be shameless about my intent and plans for her. If he's beta bux and you're alpha fux, you're not allowed to be butthurt that she has a boyfriend. You shouldn't be catching feelings for this girl. She is nothing but a hole, an instrument you use to masturbate with. Yes its immoral and manipulative and despicable that she has two men on the go for different reasons/functions, but you're getting the good part of the deal. Imagine being the poor schmuck who was cheated on whilst he was away.

If you really don't care about losing this girl randomly open her with something really erotic

"I'm gonna fuck you until you convulse" or whatever. Just say something dirty and direct. Nothing passive like "when we gonna fuck next?" because you have to make it happen not ask her to take the lead.

If you don't get the response you want, if she doesn't engage or hook and goes all "err u weirdo" or "wtf?" or whatever just ignore it and let things fade out dont even bother getting into an argument. If she reconnects later on (a week, a month, or whenever) when she feels differently and misses that dick of yours, you can fuck her. If she says "that cant happen again" or whatever you can say "I know it can't, but it will" and flirt. Push and pull "Cant keep texting, come over or I'm going out." be all matter of fact and shit. Don't let her keep you in texting limbo. If she goes nuclear on you, employ the "oopsie" - Say her name is Sarah for instance: "Oops thought this was Samantha, wrong person." and then just go silent. If she reconnects after you make your intentions clear she 100% wants to fuck.

Good luck buddy.

(FR) went from a friendzoned orbiter to getting her as a plate.

9 upvotes · 2 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill always have a jetpack ready to leave it.

I love this, it's so elegant.

What's with the hubris of sex workers?

9 upvotes · 31 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women, at their base level, will always trade sex for resources. Whether that is dressed up in courtship or a simple straightforward quid pro quo transaction, women instinctively barter with pussy or the promise of pussy. If she's really good she can get a guy to do things for her with "implied pussy" without ever actually having to put out. This is the primary function of the friend zone.

"Slaying" the Patriarchy

9 upvotes · 29 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

A woman who misuses the word "literal" in a superfluous manner within her idiolect is communicating subtextually that she is a self-important narcissist. It makes me think of these teenage girls who speak like: "OMG and then I like literally like literally can't even begin to explain just how horny he made me." When you can pick up on small cues like that to deduce things about a woman without even having to question her overtly or spend too much time on her, your game/psychoanalytical ability reaches a whole other level and you get to operate on a plain that few do. I can imagine this "writer" being all "OMG he had a literal script" in her annoying whiny-ass voice thinking she's smart and sexy for speaking like that, even if she were a landwhale. YUCK.

My 0.02c

Feminism Has Destroyed My Family

9 upvotes · 28 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's called being misinformed. I bet you've done some dumb ass beta shit yourself. There's no point sitting around blaming you for your ignorant mistakes just like there isn't OP. If you are born in the gutter all you know is the gutter. It's harder for a guy from the street to make it to the mansion, listen to classical and read shit. But a posh guy will just say "he should have read more and learnt piano its his fault he didnt" it's a disingenuous analysis that smacks of elitism and close-mindedness. Now we're all sat on TRP with some deprogramming inside us you newer guys (notice how nobody whos anybody is ripping on OP) are getting all holier than thou like you're any better. You're not. You're just lucky you found TRP as young as you did. If you hadn't you would have more than likely ended up like this guy.

Most men follow the societal script if they don't find this place. You were misinformed. OP was misinformed. We were all misinformed. Why the predilection to mack on this guy is so pronounced here I don't know. I'm going to assume most of you are young, had shitty fathers like OP and so in your youthful indignant anger are projecting your shitty upbringing onto OP as he represents your own crappy father figure. Well the reason a lot of young guys are clueless is because their fathers are clueless or they had no father around. No point lashing out at older guys/failed father figures for it, it's not like they're deliberately emasculated and clueless y'know. He found this place and he's trying, that's progress. He can save his shit with hard work. You can't be mad at people for being stupid, there is no malice in stupidity. Hanlon's Razor - don't attribute to malice what you can attribute to stupidity.

If you are stupid is it your fault you're stupid? If you are brainwashed is it your fault you are brainwashed? I'm going to say it isn't. It's not like you consent. Most people don't successfully resist brainwashing, look around you where you live. Nearly everyone is brainwashed. So what's the aim here in TRP? We gotta bring everyone up here collectively and not put them down with the obvious, I think he knows he fucked up. Telling him it's all his fault and making a big deal out of it is fucking banal. He didn't deliberately fuck up shit, he was ignorant, he wasn't smart enough to break out of the brainwashing without TRP. He was raised to be a beta bitch. The male hamster in full swing: everything bad is my fault because I'm a man and men are meant to lead, fuck logic and the actual reasoning for why I was never able to fulfil that role! IT'S ALL MAH FAULT! Oh please. I'd like to see anyone successfully argue how it's even possible that it is his fault he couldn't break out of the brainwashing. Most people you know are brainwashed, we as a community are probably less than a % of the population.

Red pill way for reputation damage control?

9 upvotes · 17 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

OP's problem here is he feels guilt. He laughed. Hardly crime of the century. We all know this campus rape shit is out of control too, more false accusations than actual real occurrences. Yet the women are complicit, spinning the hamster that somehow its all real and anyone who disagrees is just an ass. Feels over fucking reals.

Why People Hate The Red Pill

9 upvotes · 16 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

OP title is not a question, it's a statement. Note the omission of the question mark. Thanks for contributing anyhow, I agree with your statement.

Excuse me. Why does everyone assume you guys are abusive assholes?

9 upvotes · 10 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I haven't read up on GamerGate as I don't really touch games all that much any more, but I'll give it a look later. Thanks.

A Legal Primer to Common Law Relationships (Canadian Edition)

9 upvotes · 2 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's not a victim mentality. It's an "us vs. them" mentality and he sees you as "them." Which you are. Extending an olive branch doesn't really mean shit nobody asked you to post the information you did, you took that upon yourself for whatever personal reasons you have. I don't believe in free lunches whether that's information, a favour or whatever. Maybe a part of you somewhere in there gives a fuck about how men are getting fucked over (after all you are a man yourself, it could happen to you) and the only reason you posted this is so you can help assuage your conscience for all the wives you aided in ruining their families. "I'm not that bad, I live a wealthy lifestyle off helping women pillage their partners assets, but because I told guys how to avoid common law marriage, affecting the size of my own potential future clientèle, I'm really not bad" so the hamster spun.

I don't judge you for what you do because I couldn't give a fuck, hell, I could even see myself doing what you do (the lawyer part, not the family law part) because my commitment is to myself and not society, it's out of necessity. And for me, that's a personal thing. Society never gave a fuck about me so I don't give a fuck about it. And if you're like me, you help people not to help them, but to help yourself. You help people to help yourself. You post this for personal reasons. But what you do [for a job] helps society not give a fuck about the guys on this board, it leads the guys from divorced homes and single mothers needing to come to this place to learn how to be men because of the shitty law you practice and are financially invested in maintaining despite being aware of its corruption. Shit, even you're using TRP for your own ends. Says a lot really doesn't it.

Intellectually, for people who care about their country and aren't as manipulative, selfish and amoral as we are, you can't expect them not to hate you. They will. And they're entitled to do that. You epitomise in a person everything they despise. They will blame you and your ilk for aiding feminism for profit. When you do what you do, prepare to be hated, you help ruin lives in hopes you can better your own. The kicker is, you'll struggle just like everybody else to have a family and kids. Most men want kids because they're narcissistic and want to spread their seed on. Especially a lawyer like yourself who is accustomed to basking in a high status "better than you" mindset. Part of your ego will feel entitled to spread your DNA on one day. And that's where you can get burned by the system which you, as of current, profit from.

I'm not trying to shame you, I am however calling it how I see it.

If you wish to become borderline dark triad through experience, then you don't know what you're wishing for.

9 upvotes · 1 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

One thing is that when you encounter people and they experience your level of intellect people don't always feel comfortable around it so you need to be in control of yourself and adapt to each situation based on who you are with.

I have a split personality because of this. Which if you ever cared or took the time to analyze me in some capacity (say, my tweets, or reddit posts) you would be able to deduce via word choice. Antithetically, they seem at odds, that is to say, a way one personality would behave is completely unlike the other. Introspectively speaking I have deduced it is a direct outcome of my life experience. I was naturally a really smart kid, got ostracised for my intelligence (although, none of the parental BS OP had.)

Certain people are allergic to intelligence, they fear it, as if you're conducting some kind of witchcraft in medieval England. They label you weird, look/feel uneasy and show flagrant disdain towards you. These are stupid people. They are the majority of people. They have a very limited range of social interaction they are capable of tolerating. They are almost always close-minded people. Most people are very close-minded, intellectually average/dim and slaves to their experience and programming, they never try to expand themselves past the sum of their experiences. They don't try to create a program in life, but they follow the program life/others set for them. They demand superfluous vapidness. You must talk about something simple that they can understand. My approach to this is observational sarcasm and metaphorical imagery delivered in a very laconic yet stupid seeming way. Sometimes I out myself by using words beyond their vocabulary, which causes confusion and discomfort. So I'll make a joke saying "why am I using these big words as if I'm some sort of fucking PHD because I'm not fooling anyone, I meant: X" X being a simpler, more common and easily understood synonym, which then causes the bulb in their head to light up.

This kind of stupid-but-funny, with a tinge of seeming deliberate clumsiness persona puts people at ease. Most people are stupid people telling themselves they are smart who, when they interact with genuine relative intelligence, don't embrace it, but fear it. These people force you to dumb down. And doing so, by taking it in your stride with a bit of humour makes them feel good around you. They like you. You show character but you're not a threat to them or their livelihood. They don't misunderstand you or feel intimidated by your breadth or depth of knowledge. Likewise I don't hate average people, but they can be irritating. Stupid people are annoying. Stupid people who think they're intelligent are the fucking worst. Like some 90 IQ dumbass with a psychology degree. (I can't seriously believe you need a 105 IQ to finish college, not when you've met the people I've met in life - LOL.)

Smart people are very different, they are intolerant of stupidity to a point of viciousness. If I conducted myself in the same way with them as I do with "stupid people" they would have no desire to talk with me. They would write me off. Intelligent people are intellectually demanding and insatiable in their pursuit of knowledge, understanding, wisdom, how things work (systemising) and perspectives. We will discuss nuance, intricacy, theory, insight, philosophy and etc. Likewise with smart people the level of humour is more intelligent, more nuanced, more entendre (sometimes get a triple in,) more ironic or tailored to/derived from certain areas of expertise. With the intelligent I feel the exchange is reciprocal, and enjoy the person more. Naturally these people are rarer and tend to be introverted, which is why you find these personalities congregate online and in forums which suit their interests, but if you walk around your town/city in real life you will struggle to find such characters. And the people who are smart don't publicly demonstrate it, because it's not socially acceptable. We must all appease the lowest fucking common denominator and fit in so we're not deemed fucking pariahs or weirdos or whatever. Fucking slang is great for making people think you're dumb, ya no wut im sayin bra? That's why the internet is beautiful, because this bullshit need to fabricate your own idiocy doesn't exist here. The internet is the realm of the smart guy. Retards get lit up.

With average and dumb people, I feel they take more than they give. They do not produce, they expect and they hold more prejudices. The prejudice of a smart person is "how smart is this person," and they give a fuck about nothing else. They are connected to others by a love of intelligence. Average and dumb people care about your wealth, your looks, your popularity, basically shit girls care about. Average/dumb people don't judge you on intelligence as rigorously as the intelligent do (they just fear it if you seem like you're at least one standard deviation above them,) but instead they judge you on superficiality (status/aesthetics) and social skill. Get rid of the halitosis because that shit is destructively distracting and I would of had no qualms hanging with OP despite his low status. Merely because he would be interesting, which is something I value and most people bore the living shit out of me to no end. Being funny and unaffected with a dash of boldness and fearlessness is the mental equivalent of being a 10 to your average person. You could be dumb as rocks but if you've got all that going, most people will be drawn to you.

TRP related tangent: Intelligence doesn't get you laid. Social intelligence will, comedic intelligence will, but only because it makes other people FEEL better, not because it is efficient in and of itself. But broad wisdom and knowledge retention/memory-based intelligence, that which is deemed "typical intelligence" ?? Yeah bitches couldn't give a shit about it. If they did so many engineering nerds, especially the more attractive ones would be swimming in poon. "Oh my god you're so hot. Your incredible knowledge of low density hydrocarbons is just making me moist!" Said no woman ever. Yeah bullshit. Sapiosexuality is a myth. Most of this stuff is beyond their grasp or even capacity to appreciate. They simply don't give a fuck. None of it is relevant to "girl world" which is all about relationship cultivation and being pretty. Like OP I wouldn't commit to a woman who isn't capable of being rational (and aware she has a hamster) with a low partner count, but I know despite their existence, this is tantamount to desiring a unicorn so I don't hold my breath. I accept how underwhelming the majority of womankind are and treating them accordingly. As beneath me where they belong, under a veil of contempt open to being pleasantly surprised should she be capable. And they lap that up, not that I give too many fucks. Hypergamy is hilarious like that, although a bitch reading it all pertinent like this would get consciously upset. Boohoo.

I've always found it humorous how the smarter/smarterest men tend to base their entire lives and pursuits on intellectual endeavours, caring only for women due to their need for a physical release (and not a visceral fascination with women, which less intelligent/average men seem to have.) Whilst women base most of their lives and pursuits on relationships relative to men/having a child. Women don't seem to have passions outside their social relationships. They are boring and completely underwhelming. Some guys have said to me "Hey IM, I love dumb women, it makes shit easier for me, I would hate to be with a smart chick it would constantly keep me on my toes" but do you know what my response is? "I can't imagine wanting to spend my life with a fucking needy, insecure demanding idiot incapable of intellectually connecting with me. If she's going to be needy and insecure, she better make up for it by being smart."

Where the smart bitches at? If sapiosexuality was a thing it'd be men finding smart bitches hot and not the reverse. Probably as an effect of supply and demand, because they're so rare it causes them to stand out and demonstrate non-sexual value, something OH SO rare in women. And no, wearing spectacles to look smart doesn't make you smart, it's just you playing with image perception. Empty frames scream "fucking retard" as well. You're not fooling any real intelligent people with that shit. A quick fucking conversation with that empty little head will discover in less than 2 minutes just how smart you really are. And what you're good for. A blowjob. Haha.

Random: Trying not to laugh at a bitch for not knowing sugar is a carbohydrate. Basic general knowledge, does the bitch not read nutritional information on the shit she buys? What a moment, fucking hell. That's the definition of unattractive. Barbie bitches, even when they're ugly as sin.

No bitch you will not (today in the train)

9 upvotes · 29 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The red pill believes that nobody owes you shit, likewise, you don't owe anyone shit. Basic courtesy is not synonymous with chivalry. I can see where you're coming from, but it seems these women were trying to coerce him out of his seat with passive aggressive body language, so he chose not to yield. He deduced his need to do work was greater than an entitled harpies need to sit. If she'd been polite and had a genuine need, I'm sure he'd have had no problem giving up his seat. Probably more so if he wasn't doing work on his laptop. The moral of the story/take away is don't let a damsel in distress routine, be it a ploy for sympathy OR passive aggressive intimidation fool you into doing silly shit/sacrificing.

High partner count for partners in a temporary relationship. Is it still bad?

9 upvotes · 28 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Therefore for pump and dumps and plates partner count really does not matter

I can think of one way in which it does. STD prevalence.

Did you guys know that /r/TheRedPill cannot be mentioned in a /r/AskReddit comment, because they consider it a "hate site?"

9 upvotes · 25 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Hate can be channelled into a powerful and productive force, but for the most part, the average person busy hating something is getting fuck all done with their feelings of anger. They just like the sensation of hate so they indulge in it for the sake of it. They fester.

What I've learned from the women in my family.

9 upvotes · 18 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women continuously outshine the master because they do not acknowledge their male partners as such. Due to feminism they view you as an equal. But who needs who more? Exactly.

Keep your guard up. "Revenge porn" will become the new false-rape.

9 upvotes · 9 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

1984 and Ed Snowden need more publicity.

The importance of mindfulness and satisfaction and a look at one Omega male

9 upvotes · 1 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

A sigma male is a lone wolf alpha, they tend to have smaller friendship circles and move from group to group rather than dedicating themselves to any one group, but they are loyal to people they admire, which is rare for them due to their high standards. They're basically introverted alphas who are fussier about who they become friends with, they're less socially malleable than the alpha, they don't like spending time with people who aren't very compatible with them. Alphas tend to want to be popular with everyone whilst sigmas don't give a fuck.

Almost one-in-10 British graduates from institutions such as Cambridge, Durham, Exeter and Oxford who found jobs in 2011 were working overseas.

9 upvotes · 31 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Immigration without integration is definitely out of control here. Too much, too quickly.

An Assortment of Red Pill Reports/Studies (PDFs)

9 upvotes · 26 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

are you born that way with how your brain is hard-wired, or are you made that way through extreme events?

Both. For example, prison has a high psychopath population, if someone's been in prison a long time they will experience a lot of "extreme events" and are more likely to adjust as a matter of survival. Typically they are just born that way. A psychopath is characterised by an absence of empathy and anxiety. Pure "IDGAF." Subclinical psychopathy can probably be acquired through meditation, separation of state from emotion and stoicism.

"Psychopathy" has negative connotations but someone who practices stoicism is essentially trying to tap into the same mental state that psychopaths naturally possess albeit through different methodology. Stoics can likewise "choose to feel", psychopaths cannot. There are differences. You will never "become a psychopath" unless you go to war or prison or some other fucked up shit happens to you.

Subclinical as well as clinical narcissism can be socialised (think of women, social networking, tinder, betas pedestaling them etc) People with absent parents that are rich always almost become narcissists gender regardless, which to me is conclusive proof in and of itself that narcissism can be socialised. I see a lot of narcissism towards the top of the social hierarchy especially in gen Y, the harder your life the less narcissistic you tend to be. The easier it was (materially), the more confident/entitled/dismissive you are. These people tend to look down on people who actually have to wage slave for a living, make fun of them and when they get angry use weaponised metaphors for wealth to demean others, eg: "I earn in a year what you get in a decade, so what the fuck would you know?" etc. This superiority complex is part of what chicks dig a lot, IMO, narcissism is the most attractive trait to women. Irrational self-confidence and occasionally, false humility.

Machiavellianism can be innate or learnt. To those it comes innately to it simply "is." (like the majority of women), to those who it doesn't, it's an intellectual pursuit.

My gf finally pushed me into TRP

9 upvotes · 24 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Like what if you're just sitting at home and she says how attractive another guy is, how could you immediately flirt with another girl?

So you can get a bitch up on the social networks or text a bitch, and then when she replies say to your girlfriend "ooooooh Clara's just texted me" (for example). Then when she asks what its about say "nothing important" and be all vague and shit. Gets her hamster going, prepare yourself to be pounced and blown later on by an aroused and slightly anxious girlfriend. Immediately at hearing another girls name that will fuck with her. Soft dread is implying there are other women around/on the radar, the fact that you have relations with other females in and of itself is deemed as a threat to a woman in a relationship with you and makes her feel insecure. The bullshit described by OP is the same sort of "you can't see female friends but I can have male friends because it's not the same" its this henpecking have her cake and eat it too bullshit that women use to control betas who they then grow to resent for not standing up to her/taking control/"being a man" etc.

Alternative is just flat out negging her, eg:

HER: "Your friend is so hot! It's a shame he's taken" (shit test)

YOU: "You'd never stand a chance, the only reason he even talks to you is because you're with me"

HER: "OMG did he say that? What are you trying to say? That I'm ugly or something? Why are you with me if I'm soooooooooo undesirable then?"

YOU: "Because you look hot with my outdated contact lens prescription."

YOU: "For your sake, you better hope I don't see my optician."

BOOM. Get wit. With wit you'll learn to flirt your way through shit tests with asshole game. Don't be afraid to be crude with women when they shit test you.

'I hope he(person with cancer) dies'.This internet feminist was pissed off at the fact that Brandon Boyer,a gamer with cancer who was raising a charity for cancer,was getting so much attention because he was a 'white privileged male'

9 upvotes · 9 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is the cultural marxist bullshit we're up against, a guy gets cancer and if he's a white male "good, I hope he dies!" - that's some fucked up shit, some people aren't just anti-male but they're anti-white to boot. A white male is the jackpot you can bully him all like and if you're not a white male yourself any response from him can be shut down by playing your victim card "you're just a misogynist/racist/homophobe/islamophobe/anti-semite!" blah blah blah bullshit. It's so pathetic these days, people fight to be the victim so they can turn that victimhood into power and leverage it to control other people, when in reality, the person being manipulated is the victim although on the surface the manipulator appears to be the victim. The adage "don't judge a book by its cover" comes to mind. It's a very insidious manipulation style that comes second nature to most women and other people trained to view themselves as oppressed and owed something by the world for some moral wrong that can never be atoned for.

Her envy comes from the fact that someone she perceives to be as part of the "oppressor class" (taught to her by the feminist narrative) has managed to beat her in the victim Olympics and obtain exactly what her self-imagined victimising endeavours for, money, attention and sympathy. What's further fucked up is the amount of narcissism this woman must suffer from to have the audacity to express what she did, her victimhood is imagined, she likes to "feel powerless" and "fight an imagined oppressor" as a lifestyle, that's how dysfunctionally warped her mind is, this guy has cancer, you know, a real non-imagined tangible testable illness and she's comparing her imagined victimhood with this guy's actual victimhood and wishing him death for getting more attention than her. That level of delusion and callousness is not rare with feminists and it's these symptoms better hidden in some feminists than others which ultimately exposes the movement as a farce. This woman is nothing but yet another example of the kind of dysfunctionality that modern feminism breeds in women, self-obsession/entitlement, the hate of men (especially hetero/whites) and shameless narcissism.

NPR article highlighting the reality of Hypergamy

9 upvotes · 8 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Relationships are completely economically-driven, men are seen as shortcuts to wealth by women. Billboards for plastic surgery are everywhere.

As RP as that may be, it's fucking sad how compatibility doesn't factor in at all, their only metric of compatibility is trading beauty for money regardless of personality or you know, any of the shit you have to put up with when living with a person. A culture that pedestalises the beta bucks. Glad I don't live in China, with the girl shortage there after killing so many of them off in the agricultural period combined with this kind of culture they have now, there has got to be millions of thirsty men there, shit, what a fucked up country.

The Rational Male – Open Hypergamy

9 upvotes · 8 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Shit's bang on the money. Double up the feminist propaganda with female in-group preference in the absence of mate competition and you have a lot of pro-female cultural bias.

Having a hard time finding a woman worth marrying? It's nothing new. Read this excerpt from the bible!

9 upvotes · 7 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Except Briffault states it more succinctly: Any past benefit provided to a woman it is not factored into her current summation of you, only present and continued benefit is. You could have bought her a house 5 years ago but because it was 5 years ago she won't appreciate it, she will feel entitled to it. If there is no present or continued benefit from you that she can obtain then she will deem you worthless. The only thing that ever pleases a woman is to provide her with continued benefit, the easiest way to do that is know how to make a woman orgasm and be attractive. Win-win.

Guy's wife spits into his bedside water. When confronted by the guy she accuses him of insulting her. What is TRP's view of this?

9 upvotes · 31 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Oh yes, they have great "girl game"

Stop apologizing on behalf of TRP.

9 upvotes · 27 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

If everyone agreed on every last little nuance of every single thought here, we'd be nothing but a fucking organic hivemind of sorts. I like the fact that people have disagreements and often bring up different perspectives and approaches to give merit to their own arguments whilst discrediting others. Unlike other places where arguing is about winning and dominance, on TRP it tends to remain within the realm of "learning something" if you keep to the topic of women. Opinion pieces are just that: opinion pieces, I don't expect everyone to agree with every opinion that ever comes to my mind or agree with it in the exact same way that I do, I've been called a bitter misogynist and I've been told "your writings resonate with me in a way that I always thought of instinctually but could not articulate in the way you have" and I like that, I like being open to reasonable scrutiny, it forces me to refine my own theories and re-evaluate my own ideas. Often than not there is just enough agreement with an absence of contempt in discussing the points which are disagreed with to facilitate constructive discussion, I've been pleasantly surprised numerous times by another mans way of thinking on this forum in ways that are all too rare in the real world. Remember you can't please ALL PEOPLE all the time, someone will always hate you or what you think or what you represent to them specifically - that's life, one man's hero is another man's terrorist and all that shit.

Wherein a guy's GF suggests cuckolding, and he drops her instantly

9 upvotes · 24 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Isn't it a minority of jews? Basically the banking families that run the worlds central banks with their license to print money for free and then hold everyone in servitude by charging interest on the printing of that money, effectively meaning there is more debt in existence than there is money to pay it off?

I don't know how "elite banking families" who all happen to be jewish, = all jews in the world.

Be Proud You're A Man, Not A Woman

9 upvotes · 23 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women line up to pine on men in descending order of power, starting with the one who commands the most deference amongst his peers - which is the real, anthropological definition of 'Alpha'; currently working on a post to cover this in more detail.

Looking forward to it.

How to ruin a good RedPill advice with just one BluePill pount.

9 upvotes · 4 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Let's not turn it either in a "the worst men are, the better for TRP".

At the same time let's not turn it into "let's dilute advice down for people who are meek, passive and sensitive to the distaste of reality"

In my opinion if they're not ready for TRP, don't bother trying to help them, they'll come back to you when they've lived enough to get fucked up by blue pill ideas.

There is a difference between being servile and being of service (Or you're never to old for the friendzone)

9 upvotes · 29 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The worst thing is these women retain plausible deniability whilst knowing full-well the guy wants more but just exploit it for everything its worth. If he ever tried to call her on it she'd just spin it and make him feel bad to keep him in line. She's become so entitled to exploiting him that she actually feels entitled to apologies when he doesn't conform to her demands. This shows she has ZERO respect for him and just sees him as someone at her beck and call. Shit, why would she have any respect for him? He's been a doormat for the past 10 years. Women are turned off by men they can't respect at best, at worst they abuse their power over weak men. I hope this guy works things out.

GYM problems with HR (rant)

9 upvotes · 24 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

We have 67 women working here, and if hired, you would be the only man. How would you avoid discriminating against these women and future employees based on sex?"

Read that shit in bold altogether, I had to take a double-take reading that. It's like they don't know what the fuck irony is when you know, they've gone out of their way to create a feminine-dominant environment.

The place I am working at now had 4 HR people, I was the only guy. Gossip, pettiness and catty behaviour every day. Now it's four guys in the HR department and it's peaceful and employees aren't afraid to come to us with real legit problems. It feels good to make that kind of a difference.

You got the women kicked out? Nice job.

Anyone know of any good TRP Podcasts?

9 upvotes · 14 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

<http://beigePhillip.com/> - Patrice O'Neals best friends podcast co-hosted by two comedians out of NYC. Lots of game/relationship chatter and despite the deep conversations they manage to lace the whole thing with humour. As is to be expected some episodes are more on point than others, there was this one episode where they were talking to an ex-pimp which was straight fire, this guy knew the game inside out and was dropping RP gems all over the place in regards to countering female head games with better head games. Other episodes they'll be talking about some guys failed marriage and general LTR game, it varies, but it's a good podcast and if it means anything in this community, I'd put my name behind it.

UK women too fat

9 upvotes · 12 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

London does have a high percentage of attractive people, a lot of that is to do with wealth. The more money you have the more you can spend on looking good and optimising your appearance, London has a huge middle class and upper middle class population due to foreign professionals and english commuting in from other places. London = hypergamy central and everyone is trying to use the halo effect to get ahead. Plenty of suits, pencil skirts and otherwise generally fashion-literate trendy people there (but go to Camden if you want that image shattered.) I've noticed London guys put a lot more effort into their appearance too, it's more common to lift/wear designer etc than in your average town or city. London is a VERY superficial city, but then I'd expect the same from it's american counterpart, NYC.

Misinformed Beliefs held by idiots about The Dark Triad [X-post from TRP]

9 upvotes · 7 June 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

Cocaine and steroids (like you use) both exacerbate DT traits. I remember your post about coming off roids and "losing your mojo/sense of self" so to speak. There are a good number of substances that will alter your brain chemistry to make you more DT. Come off either and you'll be a different (inferior) human-being, although the experiences you had while under the influence are yours to keep and will give you some personal frame of reference, it's not the same. That's why people get psychologically addicted to substances that make them feel powerful, like a dead Zyzzy or a coke addict without a septum, they like how they feel and they like how they can influence others whilst on those substances, it's not simply about internal self-improvement, but it's also about status and how these drugs directly help one gain more status. It's also why some people are alcoholics, it takes the pain away/makes them sociable, unfortunately alcohol makes most people sluggish and so thus most people cannot be functional drunks and dissemble the fact they are drunk.

On the other hand most people can do coke and/or roids and nobody would be any the wiser as they are perfectly functional. No point passing judgement, knowledge is knowledge which is power. Obviously power isn't for everyone, if everyone was sniffing coke and doing roids society would be fucked up, you wouldn't be superior if everyone was doing it, although, the game would be a lot more higher stakes. "Playing with the fire" is an addiction to the stimulation of riposting with a fellow DT. DTs only really respect other DTs despite not trusting them for fuck.

Edit:

http://www.reddit.com/r/TheRedPill/comments/27hm6u/misinformed_beliefs_held_by_idiots_about_the_dark/ci0ykkn

A Quote from Aristotle which i think applies to Theredpill

9 upvotes · 2 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Don't give up your sense of identity to pull more poon. That is not what TRP is about. Keep all your hobbies, learn to be charming and/or funny and maintain your appearance, that's enough. Money helps too, but a bitch will fuck you behind a rich guys back because you're funny and don't supplicate too much. Alpha fucks, beta bucks. Being rich is a double-edged sword, it will make you more of a target for parasitic women but it will mean you can slack in other areas as women overlook your beer gut or your lack of humour and basically fuck you to get closer to your bank account. Exceptions are people like Elliot Rodgers, who was so fucking omega that not even decent looks, money and a car could get him laid. He's an extreme outlier. The average guy who had what he had would be tearing it up after reading TRP and even pre-TRP would not be virgins.

The Dangers of Dating a Supermodel -- a video dissection of alpha fucks, beta bucks

9 upvotes · 28 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Blogging is the opposite. Mindlessly writing a 10 minute article can take 30 minutes. When I say mindlessly, I mean basically writing down your "stream of consciousness" without refining ideas or even editing it for grammar. Really making something high quality, in-depth, "complete" rather than inchoate, with decent grammar and lexis can take 3 hours just to create a 5 minute read, not including the research you put into the topic at hand. Blogging/podcasting/ranting streams of consciousness are about as lazy as it gets from a creative viewpoint.

SMV applies to a lot more than the SM

9 upvotes · 22 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's because people who rely on you are afraid to lose you, they want to limit your options so that you remain dependent on them, if you are not dependent on them you may leave, in a way it is subconscious dread game, by limiting your options people feel like they can trust you more, nobody trusts a powerful person because a powerful person cannot be controlled and thus is able to do what they want rather than what you want them to do. In your example a woman finds it too hard to trust a man who has much higher SMV than her because she's insecure about what you're doing with her "why did he pick me" likewise an employer realises other employers may try to snatch you up, everyone wants to limit your options so they can widen theirs. Battle of the options.

If you're on a budget, don't buy a girl's food

9 upvotes · 19 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'll just leave this here:

http://www.photius.com/feminocracy/facts_on_fatherless_kids.html

Letter from a TRP Paradise!

9 upvotes · 16 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The iron curtain protected Eastern Europe from all western born ideology, capitalism, feminism, consumerism, all of it, this is what allows the institution of family to remain strong in Romania, as you purport, whilst in the west it is in tatters, many people are against the world by themselves, whilst in societies such as yours, such a thing would be unthinkable.

The more you open up your nation to the EU, and engage in freedom of movement in the hopes you can escape poverty and earn more money, the more you will lose your culture and become more like the UK/USA, not only do you become anglicised, but if you do not become anglicised (like France for example) western academic thought (feminism/capitalism) will come to dictate your society as you swallow the dogma of the hand that feeds (get addicted to western money.)

Is there a link between feminism and capitalism? Of course. Feminism creates more workers which means more consumers. Women do the majority of the spending according to different surveys and studies (google it if you want proof.) so feminism is good for business in the sense that it increases consumption and spending, thus boosting economic growth.

The drawback to this is that the institution of family is sacrificed to make way for it. Money can't buy you a loving and trustworthy family. That is social capital which in the modern west is overlooked and violated, but in the old world was all well too recognised.

The murder of a man's heart: Male disposability

9 upvotes · 10 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm white. Most black guys on appearance don't like me, I sense it, like they think I'm the cause of so many of their problems or some shit, there's some bad attitude. The one's who take the effort to get to know me end up getting on with me. It's how we're programmed, to see each other as enemies, but shit, a white guy and a black guy have way more in common than a man and woman of any colour. Divide and conquer shit and ancient history setting those divisional lines, but it's nothing a few similar views on life can't fix.

Nihilism and emasculation. Some ideas to motivate your search for real purpose, and the great things this sub has lead me into.

9 upvotes · 9 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I've always had a passion for logic and arguing, I always notice flaws in peoples argumentation and have always had a good ear for contradiction, irregularities and such, so went into Law. That was the noble side of me going into law, the darker Machiavellian component relevant to Law came later. I come from a poor family so moving into such a specialisation is incredibly difficult, especially when you have lecturers who just half ass giving you the knowledge you need or the methods to get the knowledge you need, causing you to frantically Google, search academic databases and struggle in general because you lack the direction and guidance to master your syllabus.

Since I started blogging I've discovered I love to write, I never actually wrote much as a kid. I used to draw as a kid and I enjoyed it, but I was never any good at it. I'd make crappy pictures but I'd be happy I made them because I liked the feel good feeling of creating something that I could call my own. As a kid your quality standards tend to be quite low. Now when I write I'm a perfectionist. Some of my articles have a ridiculous number of revisions, like 50+ and one revision can just be one word or turn of phrase being substituted for another, the position of a comma was moved or a sentence I didn't like the flow of was omitted. It's also the reason most of my reddit posts are edited, I'm something of a lingual perfectionist.

My talent for writing is quite weird. I've always had an affinity for words, as in, I've always been very sensitive to word selection, I'm quite pedantic as in I like to be very specific with word choice, I am sensitive to the nuances in language and always try to use the most apt words to describe what I want to communicate. I have an emotional connection with words, that is to say, some words "feel better" than others when you want to put a literary piece together. I can quite literally "feel my way" through the creation of a sentence until I get something potentially commanding.

I got an A in English at 12th grade level without doing any revising or really putting any work in, which astounded me. I usually have to work hard to get high grades, I was never one of those kids who just turned up and got A's because he had eidetic memory and perfect concentration. I used to write official letters to government authorities and businesses for people because they never knew how to word things correctly, when making demands or bargaining via letter you need to be very rhetorical with your word choice and create a sort of "command presence" within the fiber of your words. I find it easy to spell 99.9% of words, there are random words that trip me up though.

My mother used to do my spellings with me every night before I went to sleep as a kid and I remember I'd score 17/20, 18/20 etc when I was about 7 or 8 years old. I'm sure that helped my brain to develop in a way that is conducive to literary proficiency, I'm not sure if there have been any studies done on it, but it was practically ritualistic, she'd do it every night with me.

I'm also starting to find a passion for philosophy, which arguably, is related to Law, there is something of an overlap. Unfortunately a philosophy degree won't put food on the table, becoming an author requires a lot of support and law is competitive as fuck, the people making most of the money have social capital/connections and came from wealth to begin with so went to the best schools and had the best teachers.

Don't be fooled into thinking that skill alone is enough, there is a "luck" variable too. You need exposure. I had this conversation with a friend recently, extending the basic philosophy question of "if a tree falls in a forest and nobody is there to see hear or it, did the tree fall?" into a metaphor of: "if you make a masterpiece but it is never recognised, have you truly made a masterpiece?" follow-up: "if it was a masterpiece wouldn't it be recognised as being a masterpiece, surely the fact nobody recognises it as such means it lacks the merit to be considered something worthy of such praise?" there is an inherent assumption that people have the skill to acknowledge and value talent, but this is not always the case. Don't get me wrong, skill speaks for itself, but that skill needs to be seen and create an impression within the right people in order for it to get the acknowledgement that it deserves, and for success to ultimately be attained.

An example of this is the philosophy of Arthur Schopenhauer, it is incredibly saddening that he never knew of his own success. Whilst he was alive his philosophy was overlooked and he didn't receive any major recognition for his philosophical prowess and unique mind, when he died he "was discovered" and people started to appreciate what he had achieved, what he had written and how he thought. How incredibly saddening that such a great mind never had the pleasure of being acknowledged for its creations whilst he was still alive.

Despite my passions, I am incredibly nihilistic. I have a very dry, crude sense of humour. I take the piss out of stupid things, I am incredibly cynical, I expect the worst and see positive outcomes as bonuses. I call bullshit and possess a general ability to laugh about anything and everything by finding some sort of ironic nuance in it and twisting it around via reductio ad absurdum to make a point of humour out of it. I'm pretty fucking good with puns and double entendre too. Humour eases the soul when you've had a tough life. I think I might be developing a passion for stand-up comedy, but I've not explored that fully yet.

Find your passions and once you find them, practice them, they will bring you great joy. If they make you money and you become prominent within your field of choice that's great, but even if you don't "make it big", you'll be happier than the next guy whose only passion is of a consumerist nature eg: getting drunk/porn/games/drugs etc.

The good feeling you get when you produce something to a high standard is a type of moral pride, you are justifiably proud of your creation and have an intimate connection with it, when you are happy because you have consumed something it is because what you consume is acting upon you, you are not acting upon it, you're passive rather than proactive. To truly be happy you have to be able to express yourself, be that writing, comedy, debating, building shit, fighting, whatever.

Passion is fundamentally the epitome of expression, one must realise this in order to find their passion. What is it you want to express? What makes you sad, what makes you angry? What activates your sense of morality? What snaps you out of mediocrity and has you form an opinion on something? What makes you want to take action? The answer to any of these things is something that you're passionate about. Now find a way to express that passion in a way which is useful to other people and you begin to have the beginnings of something special. Get a lot of exposure to your passion and if it's good enough people will find it useful and assign it value. Repeat this cycle and hone your craft and essentially you end up with a marketable product/platform/service that is in demand and produces value.

We can all produce, but one can typically only produce what one wants to produce. Forcing ourselves to produce things we don't care for leads to an inferior result and a sense of nihilistic torture in the process. You have to live in harmony with yourself, rather than force yourself to grind pay cheques, that's no way to live in a reality where life is all but fleeting.

RadiumOne CEO speaks out: My Girlfriend Was Having Sex With Other People For Money And I Didn't Beat Her

9 upvotes · 27 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Are you Robert Greene?

Haha no, I'm a guy who is obsessed with Machiavellianism. I do share all my articles here, the 48 laws of Power blogspot site isn't mine though, my site is <http://illimitablemen.com>. When I finish writing my own essays for the 48 Laws of Power, I'll be linking to those instead of the blogspot where relevant.

RadiumOne CEO speaks out: My Girlfriend Was Having Sex With Other People For Money And I Didn't Beat Her

9 upvotes · 27 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Power of the victim: <http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.co.uk/2011/05/law-22-use-surrender-tactic-transform.html>

Please help me understood aloofness and how to be aloof - examples appreciated!

9 upvotes · 24 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

How to be more aloof? Simplest way of explaining it is "act like you don't give a fuck and be convincing about it"

Aloofness is synonymous with indifference and detachment, it is essentially to be both things. If someone lets you down, you don't care. If someone wants a reaction from you, you don't care, etc etc.

To be aloof is to be non-excitable and low committal.

An aloof person will stand up for themselves, but they are not easily upset, they are completely averse to investing. To be aloof is to be dispassionate and blase, you are there in the scenario but your participation is almost silently judgemental, you seem like "you're there, but you're not" because people can't really get you to commit to anything.

Last night I saw a somewhat skinny dude with a girl get challenged to "step outside" by a huge wall puncher. This is how he handled it.

9 upvotes · 17 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Even now I'm not sure if it was the most alpha display of behaviour or the most beta.

It was bold, law of power.

<http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-28-enter-action-with-boldness.html>

<http://illimitablemen.com/2014/03/17/law-28-enter-action-with-boldness-simplified/>

His boldness commanded respect and he held frame. He knew he couldn't win physically so he won mentally. Successful strategy at work here.

Women have an emotional CPU

9 upvotes · 15 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

does any of this lend any evidence to the assertion that the downfall of society is nigh?

The evidence says that civilized society is in decline. There's things like divorce statistics out there as well to support this claim. The evidence in support of a declining society is insurmountable, to deny it is to essentially be emotional in disposition as it means one is leaning towards the least likely outcome rather than the most likely outcome. Even if some of the evidence is poor quality or simply wrong, the likelihood most of it or all of it is, is very low. Unless there is a reason (extraneous variable which comes to our attention) to question the validity of the evidence, we assume the evidence is valid in and of itself as an outcome of data collection.

The statistics line up chronologically with the rise of feminism, now correlation does not imply causation, I understand that, qualitatively however single motherhood is a direct consequence of feminism as pre-feminism in "patriarchal times" said children would have been aborted or the man would have married the woman he got pregnant as was the culture back then. Before people were forced to fix their mistakes "you made your bed, now you lay in it", an accidental pregnancy was often the reason for marriage. Nowadays the taxpayer picks up the slack and the kid suffers, women enjoy being sluts and men enjoy not having to commit just because they knocked a woman up (although child support will chase your ass to high noon.)

Or are we choosing to view things in such a way because it fits our narrative, that feminism is inherently bad and will lead to the downfall of men and society?

This is a loaded and leading question. The question is framed with the assumption that there is an irrational and possibly intentional misrepresentation of feminism, that blaming feminism for these problems is a faulty rationalisation. I would agree it is a rationalisation, but it is not an unsubstantiated rationalisation, it is a rationalisation based upon evidence and deductive logic, not rationalisation based upon emotion and solipsism. Not all rationalisation is equal. Of course, trying to understand something ad hoc rather than pre hoc is an act of rationalisation. All understandings of everything from an outside viewpoint, rather than from someone of prior knowledge in the construction of said object or idea is a rationalisation. Only the architect of an ideology, concept or object understands the element as it was intended and designed, rationalisation is a matter of point of view, with TRP the point of view forms the narrative, the narrative then forms the point of the view for people who did not initially have that point of view, of course we encourage people not to blindly accept the point of view, but to analyse it with their own deductions and see if the logic is good, if the logic is strong enough, people will hold the point of view, the number of people who find it useful speaks for itself in that regard.

we choose to view things in such a way because it fits our viewpoints and gives us rationalization for our anger and our actions.

How you choose to respond to the decline is up to you, if you know what you know about male human physiology and how testosterone makes them susceptible to aggression and you know how unfair society is towards men and then you blame men for being angry about that, then you are being irrational in your moral expectation. It is a justified emotional response, not necessarily a healthy emotional response. Men are responsible for what they do with their anger, very many of them are not responsible for feeling that anger in the first place.

I bear little tolerance for those who undermine male aggression and look down on men for it. One: it's part of their nature anyway, you may as well tell the earth to stop giving birth to trees. Two: a dysfunctional society which doesn't channel male aggression into productivity creates further chaos and breeds dysfunctionism. Logically speaking it's not the males fault for being born into a society that doesn't care about him, as a pragmatic means of self-empowerment we encourage men to accept the bad cards they're dealt and build the best lives for themselves that they can regardless of how the decks been stacked. Disregarding the justification for anger however is simply preposterous. There are 5 stages of acceptance that people have to work through when they're in a disfavoured position in order to become happy and productive citizens.

Sociopaths can spot a pussy by the way he walks

9 upvotes · 9 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Do squats and deadlifts. Regularly.

You will feel the difference after the first time but keep it up, the transformation in how you carry yourself, your posture, and how you feel about yourself will change immensely - for the better.

Beta husband falls for the "polyamory trap" lets other men fuck his wife. Guess what happens?

9 upvotes · 24 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I got as far as the first 30 or so pages and gave up on it. Didn't enjoy it. It seemed to just go on about how women use men as tools for their desires, which is something I already know and do not need explained in excruciatingly nihilistic detail. Up until where I read it hadn't explored how women who had lost attraction to you or otherwise become scorned for one reason or another behave and outlined a model for it or made any kind of explanation as such. If it does that later on, let me know what bit of the book its in and I'll go check it out.

Stop Eating Like a Bitch

9 upvotes · 18 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Thanks for the advice, that's the kind of response I like to see.

Despite my expertise in many areas, including nutrition (lol, the irony) I'm completely ignorant to the differences between butter and margarine. Not something that's ever come up.

Just google that stuff man, I like reading your articles. You dying is not in my best interest.

Haha, I am honoured my value warrants the evasion of death by margarine, thanks man.

BBC realises men kill themselves more than women because nobody gives a fuck about them, derides a vague definition of "macho culture" and then transitions into waffle about mental health illness without making an explicit connection to feminism. LOL.

9 upvotes · 13 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I agree with you, although I'm getting a little tired of saying "I believe its responsible for helping to increase male suicide, not the sole cause of increasing it."

Next person who tells me "it's not just feminism" is going to get ignored, I know that. Feminism has a huge part to play though, downplaying it in diversity is silly when the ideology has a knock on effect in many areas by attacking the foundation of the family unit itself.

In 1965 a female scientist lived with a sexually mature dolphin in a language experiment. It resulted in the Peter (the dolphin) seducing her. Here is her account.

9 upvotes · 13 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Can we get some bullet points? That website is just fucking terrible to read, not user friendly at all, hurts my eyes.

Why all forms of feminism are inherently damaging to the male-female social contract

9 upvotes · 8 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You're manipulative and I respect the intelligence but damn are you trolling. Cmon man.

10 reasons for young bucks to get a bar job

9 upvotes · 27 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Care to elaborate on your story?

You snatched a guys gf from in front of him with some BS.. and then what? That's pretty cold man.

Red Pill Antibiotic Nuke, Come and Feed

9 upvotes · 25 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Saying what you will and will not tolerate in terms of behaviour and following up your actions with words, many women will amplify the shit test by testing the mettle of your words, to see if there's any repercussions or consequences behind wronging you or otherwise ignoring your desires. If you dislike something or will not tolerate certain kinds of behaviour, you must state it. If that person knowingly does something you have communicated you will not accept (violates a boundary set in place) then you punish them with negative reinforcement and follow through with your choice of punishment. Eg: stop providing them with something they depend on from you.

Red Pill has affirmed everything I've slowly been teaching myself over the years...

9 upvotes · 23 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Googled the car, nice car. You set boundaries and stood by them and felt good for standing up for yourself. Remember how that made you feel and keep doing it, it's the mark of a man. All the best and good luck with your career.

A Letter to Wealthy Men Who Date Young Women (enjoy the bitterness of the hamster who wrote this, gents)

9 upvotes · 23 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You see beauty as a commodity that women can trade for cash at the poker table, except women aren't even players; they are the chips men use to play their own game.

And even when men buy a women's beauty, women still pay for it.

They pay for it with sexism, with stereotyping, with heartache and sometimes even with their lives. Not a very equal transaction.

Women are not machiavellians who utilise their beauty to manipulate men and divorce rape, no, not at all - women are agentless beings with no accountability, power or responsibility who are just the innocent victims of all the evil men who utilise them like poker chips!!!!

Lol seriously, does she actually believe the crap she's coming out with? LMFAO. Oh boy. Someone left reality behind a long time ago didn't they?

I'm at that point where I just need to know who her cocaine dealer is because clearly she's been sniffing the good shit.

Understanding the Friend Zone Scam and the Role Marriage Plays in it (Part 1)

9 upvotes · 20 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

are we just screwed when it comes to our drinking water and must look to increase testosterone using other methods?

That's my line of thinking.

To increase T I:

- Eat bacon and minced beef (red meat.)
- Eat eggs (egg fat - yolk part promotes T production.)
- Lift (helps a lot!)
- Stay conscious of my posture.
- And try to get at least 7 hours sleep a night.

Contrary to mixed opinions you will hear, fapping only reduces T very temporarily, I read somewhere for about 20 minutes, you can have a dopamine addiction to fapping but it won't make you low T.

Cisgender? What's going here?

9 upvotes · 20 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Diversity and tolerance are great positively charged buzzwords for "divide and conquer"

The Psychology of an intelligent Crazy Bitch aka "Lucifer's Daughter"

9 upvotes · 17 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Multiple times.

My ethnicity is killing my dating life. What can I do?

9 upvotes · 9 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I am sick and fucking tired of non-whites playing the race card, honestly, fuck your race and stop using it as a crutch to be a little bitch. We're about self-improvement, not using things you can't change as an excuse for failure.

Yes some people have racial preferences. I don't find black women typically attractive, although there are a few exceptions with individual women. Women have these same preferences, it's not racism or oppression it's a simple matter of aesthetic preference.

As for women they are hypergamous, if you are richer/higher status than a white man he won't have a fucking chance unless she truly finds indian racial features to be physically repulsive.

Let's get a few facts straight:

- You're an indian living in the U.S - economically privileged

- You get hit on by chicks at least once a week - genetically privileged

Boohoo your lifes so fucking hard isn't it? Give me a break. Stop feeling sorry for yourself and go and take some fucking action, you're pathetic and I have nothing but contempt for such beta self-loathing.

I keep thinking women are incapable of fairness

9 upvotes · 29 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women everywhere are illogical, it's just that the craziness is on a sliding scale. Some are on the manageable end of the spectrum (gets emotional/upset/expects you to know things without her communicating) and then there's the other end of the spectrum, full on bipolar gaslighting manipulative bitches who just want to shit in your heart and torture you for lols.

None of them are logical and by extension, sane. They all need a man to stabilise them, to ground themselves to a rock in their emotional storm, it's just some women are so broken that nobody can ground them, they're like walking talking psychological black holes. Don't try to fix those kind of bitches, avoid them like the plague.

Multiple studies support the sex appeal of Dark Triad personalities

9 upvotes · 24 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Got a new article out soon but been busy with uni.

Want to add that trying to hold a dark triad frame is almost impossible when suffering from sleep deprivation. Get your nightly sleep. The most stoic unfeeling fucker can transform into an irritable bitch failing shit tests if he's tired.

Dark triad are very good at push and pull as well playing massive aloof game after dhving edit: <http://illimitablemen.com/the-dark-triad-48/>

Women in Australia bemoan the lack of high status males. "Man drought" in Australia.

9 upvotes · 19 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

What do you think a british woman is, Hermione Granger, Kate Middleton?

English chicks (unless u refer to scottish, n.irish and welsh as well by use of the word British) are exactly the same as their american counterparts. The only thing thats different is the accent. The obesity, the entitlement.. it's all there. I think american women are perhaps the most conscious of feminism, with english girls they have the personality problems and the demonstrations of low value that feminism brings but they don't constantly chat on about misogyny and patriarchy and blah blah which is just obnoxious salt in the feminist inflicted wound.

"If you don't respect sluts, you don't respect women"

9 upvotes · 18 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Oh boy... ain't that the truth... damn. I love it.

What is the rationale behind spreading Red Pill Wisdom?

9 upvotes · 16 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

when men can actually say no to pussy just like they easily say no to dick.

Turned a girl down for sex when she offered it on a plate, felt fucking good.

3 teen boys post video telling people what they look for in a girl. They things included innocent shit like wanting the girl to be entertaining, a good cook, hygienic, etc.. Tumblr and Reddit flipped their shit, disliked the video 25000 times and got the Youtube account B&

9 upvotes · 10 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That heightism exposed link is fucking depressing. I take my height for granted, seems like some bitches are real cunts about it.

In response to "Teach boys not to rape" I offer you "What we should teach girls not to do"

9 upvotes · 9 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah women don't do this. I'm very redpill with women and they even retort with "well what do you expect? I'm a woman this is what we do" from time to time. Some of them never even go as far as admitting that's how they are, I respect the ones who do for the selective honesty when exposed (which is inherently manipulative but eh, w/e)

Women are hilarious. Indignant in one breath, drop some truth on them and in the next breath they agree with the point they were previously calling bullshit. Women are full of shit and too many of you eat it all up and actually take them seriously. Lol, equal my ass.

You wouldn't take weather patterns seriously so why take women and their emotional pattern seriously? The problem isn't women, they were always emotional and irrational since time began, the problem is the current system/society giving them too much power and not holding them accountable when they abuse that power.

Feminism as an engine of creating privilege within the female demographic is essentially modelled on a paradoxical principle of agency without accountability.

TRP discussion of Don Jon (movie)

9 upvotes · 5 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The guy becomes at peace with himself and manages to form a genuine emotional bond with a woman - something he was unable to do with anyone before, including his own family.

Nothing fucking blue pill about that at all - some men here are so fucking jaded it's unreal. I wrote this and despite believing very profusely what I wrote there, I do believe it is possible to reconcile these realities and have an emotional bond with a woman, it may not last the test of time but it's definitely a possibility, one must just go into such situations with their eyes open and be under no illusions that a woman will ever love you unconditionally, she won't and she can't and a man of strength and character shouldn't want her to - you earn love like you earn respect. If love is severe admiration, you want to earn that - it shouldn't be given lightly or squandered, for if it is - it's very nature falls into question, it is empty, valueless.

Anyway I've just downloaded this movie so I'll watch it and give my take.

No fat chicks.

9 upvotes · 5 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Would you openly admit to the world that you have a "no fat chicks" policy, would you put "no fat chicks" on an online dating website?

Yes. There's many things I conceal or euphemise for the sake of reputation maintenance in the public sphere, however my taste in women is not one of them. I don't want to fuck a fatty, I'm not attracted to fatties and perhaps if enough men stop validating fatties the fatties will feel so insecure they actually lose the behemoth sized bellies they have, improve themselves, stop raping the health service for handouts and the welfare for disability as "victims" and the whole country will be better off.

I am a crude believer in honesty, fat chicks are ugly. Some chubby and I literally mean chubby, not OBESE but a little over weight.. and I literally mean little, not the 200lb 5'1 girl who considers that to be "overweight" can look quite hot with the extra fat, I hate rake thin girls too, as long as she looks healthy that's all that matters. A rake thin girl does not look healthy, a woman with a car tire and back fat that hangs down to cover her ass crack does not look healthy. I don't even give a shit if despite all that weight she is healthy, if she doesn't LOOK HEALTHY then my dick ain't getting hard.

Don't be ashamed of your own preferences, grow some backbone, a dating website is like ANY OTHER MARKETPLACE, whether in business or in dating STATE WHAT YOU EXPECT and give as little as possible to get your demands met, that way you profit the most. Finance 101, supply and demand. Demand what you want and supply at the least expense to yourself what's needed to get it. A lot of you could learn greatly from the sociopathic ways of the finance world.

Relevant: <http://illimitablemen.com/the-dark-triad-48/>

16 Things Your Boyfriend Should Be Telling You (or 16 ways to make your girlfriend resent you)

9 upvotes · 4 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Treat beta like chili powder in food. Spice it right, but know if you've got too much yer gonna blow out yer asshole.

LMFAO!

Why Is Wordpress Employee Kevin Conboy Threatening To Delete Blogs [Heartiste] He Disagrees With?

9 upvotes · 3 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

When did this happen?

32 Year Old Virgin doctor shows that a job is no substitute for game.

9 upvotes · 2 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Not each and every one but the closest one will get dregs occasionally. You know that guy who seems gay or just super-beta but is straight as a ruler? Yeah he'll get the dregs but she'll maintain friend zone and then shame him with shit like "it felt weird." "Ooooooh we're such good friends, I don't want to spoil it with us!"

They're fucking evil man.

Lamborghini pickup yields negative results

9 upvotes · 2 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

He beats around the bush he makes it seem like he's asking innocent questions then shakily transitions into "do you wanna come there with me?" it's fucking beta. He should be straight up.

Better would be to straight up be like "Hi, you're hot" her: "blah blah blah" you: "OK, I've gotta go now, put your number in my phone" "I don't normally give out my number to strangers" "you must live in fear" hand her the phone then text her later. It can be that fucking simple. Or you can even open with a neg, there's no exact methodology that works 100% with all chicks or whatever... but its a way better bet than wtf this guy is doing. This whole thing was painful, it's like watching someone get the guts to ask/do something.. the more he talks the more he's losing her.

Lamborghini pickup yields negative results

9 upvotes · 2 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

He's not in state. He's reticent. He's uncomfortable. He's not confident. He has his hands in his pocket he looks very restrained. He's constantly asking for permission. He doesn't beat shit tests "I have a boyfriend" - "so what?" etc etc. Each rejection bothers him, he's a huge beta. He gets into some dumb argument with the black chick "am I not black enough for you? etc etc. Such a DLV, screams he needs her validation. My response in that situation? "OK bye" not wasting my time standing there trying to get her to validate me, he's already lost it's time to go.

Also when he tells the girl to take his number he should have said "put your number in my phone" rang her and then said "OK now you have my number too, cya" then text her later.

So many fucking mistakes in these videos the guy has no game no confidence it was painful to watch and then all the captions going on about being nice and not judging people... oh please.

The 'Are you a player?' thing

9 upvotes · 28 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

DaddyMonster sums this shit up. This is the only post you need.

Addendum:

"Yeah tennis player, serve my balls" - saw this on heartistes blog. HAHA.

Respect yourself more than you respect her

9 upvotes · 22 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Cause and effect, everythings reactive, the trick is in making it seem you like don't care. You still win.

Respect yourself more than you respect her

9 upvotes · 21 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Typo'd, contempt. You're being rude and obnoxious because you don't like the post content. These shit-posts will be removed.

Respect yourself more than you respect her

9 upvotes · 21 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'd prefer if you'd make your own thread, rather than hijack mine. /r/asktrp is the place for such questions.

Anyway, because I'm such a great guy:

- <http://illimitablemen.com/2013/10/27/dissecting-the-red-pill/>
- <http://illimitablemen.com/2013/11/10/dissecting-the-red-pill-part-2-q-and-a/>

Your concerns have been asked before and addressed time and time again, I can no longer be assed to explain every time so enjoy the links, they contain all the knowledge you seek.

EDIT: read comments on the first link as well, someone else dropped the M-BOMB too and it was addressed.

School to teach teenagers how to treat women. (X post from r/oneY)

9 upvotes · 18 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Honestly its just the feminists causing a scene, all the guys I know love their porn hardcore and on a hard-drive. Or streamed. These magazines are so very softcore, its hilarious the feminists even care. Probably because they notice these magazines in the shops it offends their delicate sensibilities, whereas porn on a HDD is hidden/can be kept out of sight.

Why Sex?

9 upvotes · 17 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

There's a lot of noobies in here, more noobies than actual red pillers. A lot of the noobies are "still swallowing the pill" or whatever the term or phrase is to signify someone is in the process of changing their lifestyle/worldview in order to concentrate on self-improvement and sexual success.

People who are unsuccessful have libidos just as high as those who are successful but are UNDERSEXED and thus have a lot of pent up sexual energy.

That's what you're not getting, because you never had that problem, that being undersexed makes some motherfuckers literally focus all their energies on getting laid. It's like anything, once you get something you don't really care anymore but what you can't have you want even more (psychologically speaking) combine that with a biological need to fuck and you get some fixated motherfuckers who are waaaaaaaaay too concerned with getting laid because to them it's like santa claus when you're a kid, it only happens once a year and your perception of that shit is that its magical and amazing.

It can get annoying, but it's not what TRP is about.

TRP is about truth and self-improvement. It's also extremely anti-feminist as feminism in and of itself has the propensity to deny truth and fuck up society with its wailing and bullshit. Feminism is a hypocritical caricature of egalitarianism, is in actual fact a supremacist movement; and practices indiscriminate gender segregation.

Weight lifting is good to get pussy, its good for defending yourself/fighting, it creates a better sense of self, higher energy and a stronger body. The benefits to weight lifting are absolutely endless, it will transform a person not just sexually but mentally too. It can bring about an abundance of confidence through the internal validation that comes from focusing relentlessly on something and seeing it bring positive results as well as the external validation one receives for being in good shape in the form of compliments and sexual interest.

I'd contend there's far more than just weight lifting but people should be improving their value in as many areas as possible, learn other languages (especially if English is your first language, as unlike foreigners you don't get the crutch of knowing non-English from parents/country and automatically learning English for free at school) do a martial art to defend yourself, learn an instrument, travel, learn to dance, wine taste.. the hobbies are endless.

Weight lifting generally is one of the cheapest things which returns the most dividends and hence is often heralded as the golden goose of self-improvement, really in my opinion, lifting is the basis on which you can build the rest of your accomplishments on as after all, in order to succeed in life - you need your health.

Craving the approval of women

9 upvotes · 6 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

How do you stop craving the approval of women?

By not attaching your sense of self worth to your sexual success.

I feel like the views and theories expressed in this sub don't solve that problem, but merely deals with it in a different way.

If you're not reading shit noobs post, most the stuff being said will help you become a better more self-reliant person, mentally and physically - you'll acquire outcome independence aka i dont give a shit if this girl rejects me, I still have my whole life intact.

The regular 'nice guy' will seek approval by just trying to get attention from women

I ignore women in my social circles, I make them come to me. If she can't be assed then good I don't have to babysit, I don't care. I think looking for attention FROM ANYONE is insecure behaviour aka "beta" I'm pretty self-centered and into myself, I only give people attention/energy/time if they reciprocate, if people don't reciprocate I cut them off quick and act like they don't exist.

I only feel that strong desire to be liked when it comes to attractive women.

Because your sense of self worth is deriving its roots from what women think of you. You need to get your ego from somewhere else, your body, your intellect, your ambitions, your struggles... whatever. Pinning your sense of self worth on a being who is so prone to instability is one of the worst tactical moves a man can make.

I suppose I always carry the subconscious hope that any attention equals a possibility of sex

You're coming from a place of neediness, women have to prove themselves to you, not the other way around.

For unattractive women and men alike, I only really care when it's a person I respect, and that respect is something they must earn. Why can it not be the same for attractive women?

It can be, it is for myself and many others here. This is an internal issue with you and those like yourself, not a definitive.

Anyway, if you get your approval by getting sexual attention from women, the fact remains that you are still dependent on women.

Yep. I won't contest this one.

I feel like I can't be free to live life on my own terms until I get rid of that need.

You can't. Start putting yourself first, if attractive women aren't into you then you need to raise your social/sexual value, go work out, earn more money and getting on top of your shit.

But maybe that need is simply the reality of being human?

Hamstering. It's a need insecure/low value men have, and those brainwashed to believe they ain't shit without the female seal of approval.... so most guys in the west. We all wanna fuck beautiful girls it's a biological given but you won't get them if you need them BEFORE you can improve yourself... beautiful women are a symptom/result of success, not the building block that starts off the palace to your empire.

Bitches just simply ain't worth a ring nowadays.

9 upvotes · 3 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha, oh boy.

Lincoln-Douglas

I googled quickly, they don't teach american history in England so the reference is lost on me, I'm sure it was a very fitting attempt at belittling, if not - feel free to fill me in should you desire.

By that logic, food distributors use bread to sell sandwiches, but selling bread by itself would just be stupid. Sex=money. I thought that much was obvious.

Fallacious analogy, bread is required as an ingredient of the product, without bread a sandwich is not a sandwich it is just loose ingredients. Sex is a marketing technique, but sex is not being sold, it is being attached to other things to create association. The OP was talking about the actual sale of sex, as in, you know: coitus/intercourse, its a bit ridiculous you've gone so far down this tangent in an effort to prove yourself right, simply put your reasoning is flawed and thus your conclusion incorrect.

I understand what you are saying but your logic is simply incorrect, I have no idea why you do not concur with my assertion that sex is used as an engine to sell things rather than being the product itself, but hey, whatever, prides a bitch I guess? There I go making an assumption and reducing my own credibility, I guess if you choose to stubbornly still disagree with me on this point that'll give you some ammunition to use if this should become a battle of ego, rather than of actual logic.

"accountable for their actions" is a gross generalization.

It's pretty clear-cut. He wants women to build value for themselves, I don't even know how you can perceive that negatively, in fact that's what feminism was about in a perverse sort of way when it was a civil rights movement, before it morphed into the ugly monstrosity it is today.

Feminism has become synonymous with butt-hurt women, which I agree is annoying. I could've worded that one better.

Feminism creates butt-hurt women too. It's had no actual positive impact on society since the civil rights movement, now it just creates social discord and gender segregation. It is truly vile, it is the cause of the divorce epidemic and the animosity that is all so common between the genders in the west nowadays.

While men are more level-headed (which is why, I agree, women shouldn't be president) women are superior to men in other ways, like emotional intelligence (i.e. understanding how they feel, which is why this is probably an all-male subreddit).

The ability to deduce things and keep calm are of far more value to civilization than having a solipsistic understanding of your OWN current emotional state, to even compare them as equal in weight is laughable. To make an analogy, you may as well value raw materials on the level of gold and iridium as equal to copper and iron. TRP accepts women are inherently self-centered.

However due to lack of self-control their ability to empathise is easily impeded. Women are generally very bad practitioners of stoicism, they are incredibly cathartic in their nature (constantly uttering their disturbances and distastes) so they have less emotional control on average than men. I'd also refute the assertion they even understand themselves better, perhaps momentarily, perhaps you could say they understand how emotions affect other emotions, but they are not in control of themselves a great deal of the time which means they give away a lot of their power to whoever is influencing them eg: feminism.

Women are easily led astray and inculcated to believe new things about themselves, women are natural followers, they look for guidance and leadership, their sense of self tends to come from groupthink, even their feminist love for independence is a product of groupthink (feminism itself) how ironic is that? The independence of feminism is within the frame that you're a feminist, if you disobey the sisterhood they will disown you but wait a minute, you're allowed to be independent. LOL. That logic there, it's circular reasoning, great fallacy.

Independence by feminist definition is independence from being reliant upon men for anything, not independence from feminism itself, in fact independence from the cult/ideology of feminism is frowned upon and shamed. However to give your point some credence, they are (women) better at reading body language, are inherently more socially intelligent (read: naturally manipulative/good at reading cues) and if it hasn't been ideologically bashed out of them, make good nurturers (have good instincts for raising children that are simply absent in men.)

True? Maybe from OP's perspective. As much as this ideology is accepted amongst certain communities, it's still not proven fact. And I'm not sensitive to the subject at hand. I'm just trying to speak objectively about something, which is apparently ridiculous.

Whilst I respect any attempt at being objective, you didn't present yourself as seeming incredibly rational. Anyhow, there's no need to focus too much on personal character, we'll keep to knowledge/information.

I agree that you have every right to feel superior but that doesn't automatically mean it's true. Your rebuttal is based on the very logic that I was questioning, and is therefore void.

This is just a plain fallacious assertion, there was no feeling involved per say, it was merely a turn of phrase, you can swap the word feel for think or know and it still remains true, simply, if someone is inherently more well prepared for life because more is expected of them, they are inherently superior by nature of their experiences. You wouldn't say a baby is equal to a 20 year old would you? No. One's more undeveloped.

Same goes for women, they are so sheltered to the adversities of life (on average, most of them are, not all, I've met some smart tough bitches but they've been either very old or cluster B personality types) and have so much sacrifice made in their name they cannot possibly be deemed as cerebral or developed as the average man. Men are expected to overcome adversity, men don't get to play the victim and get power and respect for being weak. Weak women get helped, weak men get laughed at for "not being man enough." Need proof? Check your local homelessness statistics. The fact I need to say any of this just leads me to think you know very little of what it is to be a man which then infers me to believe you are a woman, which would make a lot of sense as I don't think even a silly man could be this ignorant (no offence intended, I am just being brutally honest with my opinion.)

Whether a man realises they are superior is a question of social conditioning. There's plenty of men in sexless marriages out there married to women who don't deserve them because she is of significantly lower value than he is, but he doesn't have the ego or self-actualisation to realise his own value.

What's pathetic is that you'd get so violently defensive about an outside opinion. Seriously, my only reactions so far have varied from objectively neutral to mildly annoyed.

We don't mince our words here. Your inclination to dictate the tone suggests a life of privilege. Honestly if I spoke fucking aggressively like I am in this fucking sentence and you'd suffered some iota of fucking hardship in your life, you'd already be desensitised to such aggression and judge the meat of the argument, not the glazing. This is more telling about who you are as a person, and your sensibilities, than it is relevant to the argument. As I said previously, I'd rather stick to the knowledge than resort to talking about the individual specifically. If you want to put "an outside opinion" forward here, don't be sensitive of how people communicate with you, you need to perhaps "grow a pair" like you advised the OP, TRP doesn't do political correctness and not everyone will communicate with you in a middle-class academic register like I am, eg: OP likes his ebonics. Whatever, who cares.

Red Pill Woman Marine Vet Says it Like it is

9 upvotes · 20 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha america already AMOG'd the UK.

A gay man's take on the friend zone

9 upvotes · 19 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Trp is a philosophy.

Which country has the most sluts? Durex global survey of 26 countries: New Zealand

9 upvotes · 19 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Thai? Those girls who run a huge part of the economy off blowing and fucking people from the developed world? Oh my.

RedPill Promo Video

9 upvotes · 19 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Great post. Hope you got over your cancer. Much love.

I saw limitless when I was BP (back in 2011) I'm gonna rewatch it with a RP lense and see how I interpret the movie now.

Money > TRP

9 upvotes · 16 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

TRP is really a mystery to a lot of you newbies because you seem to have misunderstood what it is. Ugh.

TRP isn't seduction, seduction is a part of it, but TRP itself is a self improvement philosophy.

Which means looks, money, status and all that shit are a part of TRP.

TRP is all encompassing, it's a philosophy, it's not another term for seduction and I've noticed lately new users are so seduction focused that they're missing out on way more important shit which makes up the philosophy.

Now if you'd said

Looks Money Status Theory > Seduction

I'd still disagree with you. Looks don't mean shit unless you're a male 9/10. I'd put status first, then seduction, then money and looks at the bottom.

If you have status and charm (say you're in a band) but your band earns no money and you don't look so great, you'll get laid plenty still.

Read both of these:

<http://illimitableman.wordpress.com/2013/10/27/dissecting-the-red-pill/>

<http://illimitableman.wordpress.com/2013/11/10/dissecting-the-red-pill-part-2-q-and-a/>

Lessons from my father

9 upvotes · 13 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

This is what "real men" are made of.

This is what the radical liberal agenda wants to rob us of, self-determination, independence, integrity, risk-taking behaviour... the components of masculinity.

Fucking perverted liberalism we have in the west these days. Liberalism should be tolerant of basically everything hence "liberal", but no..

Brilliant post, thanks.

Using a Key Logger to Know What Your Girl is Really Doing

9 upvotes · 10 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If you suspect a bitch in your gut why waste your time spying on her? Remove her and replace. I can only see this shit being useful perhaps in a divorce.

[rant] why do guys take dating/relationship advice from girls?

9 upvotes · 5 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Norah_Vincent#Self-Made_Man

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Norah_Vincent#Voluntary_Madness

[rant] why do guys take dating/relationship advice from girls?

9 upvotes · 5 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah you spotted a pretty good nuance there. Feel free to elaborate for the newbies if you like, I'm off for now.

"Truly, love and marriage isn't for you. It's for others." This has to be one of the most ridiculous things I've ever read.

9 upvotes · 4 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Someone get the sick bucket for when this guy finally vomits out the idealistic smurf which is living inside him. It's fucking blue pill incarnate.

Also, get him a job in the marriage industry, apparently more betas need divorce raping and profits won't make themselves people!

TRP hits 20,000 subscribers and to celebrate SRS presents r/ShitTRPSays

9 upvotes · 4 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Women treat their children far better than they treat their significant others (generally speaking.)

No woman will ever treat you as well as your mum did. Sounds like your mother was a great person for you. However she is a woman and thus incapable of teaching you masculinity or what it is to be successful in the body of a man as these are things which escape her field of understanding or experience.

99% of women will not sacrifice for you like your mother did, in fact their entitlement means they expect you to sacrifice for them. Its a perverse dynamic.

Don't compare chicks to your mother, you will find nothing but misery in the disappointment. Modern day women are by and large a complete joke as relationship material. We want real women not prissy little princesses.

Pentagon training manual: white males have unfair advantages

9 upvotes · 2 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Whites are the biggest ethnicity in the west and women make up half of that group, so only makes sense they would be the largest benefactors of affirmative action. Nice one feminism, nice gargantuan fuck up.

This is what happens when a woman refuses the sisterhood by calling feminism irrelevant (/r/redpillwomen)

9 upvotes · 1 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I identify as centre right and I used to identify as centre left, if your political ideology does not change throughout your life then in your journey, you have truly learned nothing as there has to come a point where your veil of political ignorance is pierced.

It's possible to be a liberal and subscribe to TRP, but you must be able to identify the radicalist ideas which have hijacked liberalism for what they are and differentiate the facts from the bullshit. Modern day liberalism is so fucking perverse in controlling how people think and feel you'd expect it to stem from a right wing ideology. Anything radical is inherently, bad. Liberalism is no exception. The problem is, the de facto institutionalised liberalism is very radical by its very nature of insisting and implementing things which at best have a shaky foundation to their logic.

I don't disagree with social safety nets like the welfare state, I'm a great believer and endorser of meritocracy (which you could argue is both leftist and rightist) however I'm not for things like affirmative action or other policies which reward genetics over merit, again, to me, that belongs in nazi germany or in some eugenics based ideology, not in liberalism. Liberalism needs to accept discrimination is natural and not all discrimination is bad, making discrimination some satanic buzzword and changing the language is another thing that pisses me off about the school of political and philosophical exercise.

Modern day liberalism has been corrupted by those with an agenda (like religion was/has been.) Not all things leftist are inherently bad (same contrast could be said for religion), but the leftists need to be more pragmatist and less idealist eg: "we need to make things work, not whine and wish everything was equal and enforce our idea of equality via perverse social engineering"

Equal opportunities, not equal outcomes, that's true meritocracy.

Alpha Game: Why gammas deny SMV

9 upvotes · 29 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

As long as you work on improving yourself, your SMV will increase.

If any physical/mental/financial component in your life is increasing, your SMV as a by-product of all these things is increasing also.

If you get depressed/get fat/lose money, the reverse is true.

Part of the battle is mitigating a loss of SMV. If you're complacent, you risk losing SMV.

If you look at it as social rather than sexual market value (to include friends) it makes sense. Nobody wants to hang around with someone who isn't fun to be around. If you're really funny but say fat and poor, nobody really cares because you still bring value. It's that old stereotype of the fat funny guy, he doesn't work on his physicality but he works on his wit and delivery instead.

Everyone's got one edge sharper than the others, but it's best if none of your edges are blunt.

Inside the mind of an attention whore

9 upvotes · 29 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

There's no way to confirm or deny on the internet, even if she later denies it's truth or that "she" is actually a "he" even that manoeuvre could just be a cover up stemming from the regret of confession.

If you literally turn into a playwright just to troll, nobody can validate your stories.

Why does TRP get so much hate from other men? You would think they would be grateful that there are groups who are standing up for their rights...

9 upvotes · 28 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

it's such a pressure to make sure she has a good time

So you're feeling anxious when you're with a chick, no wonder it's fucking with your fun. The consensus here is just defile the fuck out of her and go animalistic in the bedroom, don't keep it on that disney PG missionary shit but go 50 shades of grey up in that uterus, choke, grunt, whatever... sex is primal and nasty.. just how they like it.

TLDR: Need to care less about women's fun, concentrate on your own. Performance anxiety will just kill your vibe and contribute to shitter sex. I speak in theory and from experience.

i'm left thinking I should have not bothered and had a wank same net gain at the end.

Some girls just aren't worth the BS, I hear you. Lose their numbers fast. Don't chase, replace.

Are most redditors female or are men becoming chumps today?

9 upvotes · 28 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Fuck 'em, say it anyway. Unless you're at work. Don't have those discussions at work.

My fiancée is telling me to fuck other women

9 upvotes · 27 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

One small technicality... they said balance, not equality. Captain and first mate do find a balance... in inequality.

Quite right. To sum it up, there's a mutual respect of the power imbalance because it is acknowledged "things work best this way."

My fiancée is telling me to fuck other women

9 upvotes · 27 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I have no interest to change your view. I answered your question on the basis you lacked understanding, not on the understanding I would be trying to convince you to believe in TRP philosophy. That is not something that is of interest to me. If you are curious enough, you can make a thread asking a question and people will volunteer their answers, I personally have no interest in convincing you anything other than what you already do.

Dove Self-Esteem Project aims to "make girls unstoppable" using "self-esteem programming" cause there is "beauty anxiety" in 8 year old girls

9 upvotes · 27 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

HAHAHAHA. The guys at the top making the big decisions usually are.

Dove Self-Esteem Project aims to "make girls unstoppable" using "self-esteem programming" cause there is "beauty anxiety" in 8 year old girls

9 upvotes · 27 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

What you have to remember is that TRP and TRP women aren't the same thing.

They're trying to be wife material so they're not eternally single post-wall. A lot of guys here won't even do marriage, ultimately they want to lock down commitment, we want to lockdown loyalty and sex from a beautiful woman who doesn't score a 9 out of 10 on the crazy scale. We're trying to build value and become successful in all regions of life so that we have the leverage to attract high value women "man up" "become alpha."

Of course, that's what most of the userbase is doing. Where TRP gets complex is in its intricacies, that the philosophy takes the passive position of simply "distilling the knowledge to give you options, but what you choose to do with that is up to you" this means a minority will simply give up and "go their own way" (MGTOW - men going their own way)

WGTOW (women going their own way) is bullshit, it's not the same thing. They're not going their own way on their own terms they're going their own way because it's too late for them. Women are biologically predisposed to find the strongest available male to them. MGTOW could give it another crack, but don't see the appeal in a cost benefit analysis.

If you factor aside all those who are not giving up on their capacity to become high value and attract a high value mate, TRP and TRP women complement each other although the perspectives are vastly different.

Being focused on commitment TRP women is about being a high value woman who can lock an alpha into commitment, TRP men is about being a high value man who can get lots of sex and only give commitment on his own terms, RP or BP the male and female imperative will always clash, and it's that clash in interests and the subsequent compromises that arise which push forward our social and ultimately, species evolution.

How do you make yourself turn off empathy?

9 upvotes · 23 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Look into buddhism and zen meditation, being zen is essentially "not giving a shit" but its simultaneously a state of peace.

Buddhism, unlike the other religions sticks out to me personally as something that anyone can apply and use to improve their lives. It's not a religion that commands you to do shit or is known for starting up wars, but is based on the basic principle that people can find peace via meditation, that our unfulfilled desires make us unhappy and to detach from that.

If anyone on TRP is into buddhism perhaps you can expand, I've only been exploring the proposition, not dipped my foot into the water as to say yet. Giving you another option to explore, in no way claiming I have the sufficient expertise to back my own curiosities.

If you want to be sociopathic like so many seem to want due to pain, you can become borderline via a process of desensitization to horrific shit, but you'll never be clinical, more borderline, actual sociopaths are born (or develop at a young age) with brains that don't adequately communicate the part of the brain where you introspect your own behaviour to the part responsible for guilt or empathy, in tests its been shown those parts of the brain simply don't light up, or barely light up at all, if you felt no guilt or empathy for anything then you'd do whatever the hell you liked, the ultimate freedom creating the ultimate chaos. People overvalue freedom and see it purely as positive when it isn't, freedom without order is synonymous with chaos, a word which all of a sudden has you thinking negatively, but is the exact same thing as "total freedom" which your mind would have you think of positively, in reality you need enough freedom to be fulfilled, but not so much you destroy yourself through your own human shortcomings.

A lot of people are craving "not giving a shit" nowadays because we live in a society which rewards stepping on people to get higher up the mound and bullshitting your way to success, most people feel like their own worst enemies when they're so mentally healthy their own conscience stops them from getting the promotion or the pussy.

A random RP observation, and tips for the newer members

9 upvotes · 23 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If she's a 5 or 6 you'll be fine. There's a fine line between flirting and banter, a very fine line, and the masters mix and match that shit up.

Likewise it's a DLV if you only talk to the same gender and never to the opposite. You want all your interactions to be successful and/or positive to increase your social value bit by bit.

Avoid 9s and 10s, even at mid-level, everyone is competing and it's too much bother. Plus you can smell the entitlement from a block away, it's fucking messy there, the pussy aint worth the bullshit.

I mean if you can easily isolate a 9 or 10, sure, go in all guns blazing and see what you learn, but generally 9s and 10s are never alone, constantly surrounded by competition or cockblockers and generally have shitty personalities because their beauty privilege is through the roof.

Real life example of a girl cheating on her beta bucks, "coming clean" after feeling guilty, deciding not to cheat again... and then ironically decides to come back and fuck again. Hamster gymnastics!

9 upvotes · 15 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't know who he is neither do I have a method of contact. She has him so wrapped around her finger that even if I could tell him he'd disbelieve me. Then there's the potential he wants to fight me or some shit. This ho isn't worth taking punches for.

Is There Any Way to Talk to Girls in a Civilized Way in the US Today?

9 upvotes · 14 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I get downvoted a lot and my comments are nothing but Rp. Haters will hate and there's plenty of subscribed bp lurkers.

Lesbian couples twice as likely as gay men to end civil partnership

9 upvotes · 9 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Then add the all important fact that bitches are crazy and you can kiss goodbye to long term monogamy.

Women are just little spoiled girls

9 upvotes · 28 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I hope you're high, why do we care about a bunch of SSRI abusing American femicunts again? Oh wait, we don't.

"I, Psychopath": Documentary about Psychopathy and Narcissism

9 upvotes · 28 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I can't elaborate on another mans thought but my train of thought is they are way more proficient at social machiavellianism, controlling you through suggestion and shit, at least the smart ones are. The dumb ones are kinda funny, totally reliant on their sexuality for power, they know how to run a beta, but then if you're a chick betas practically run themselves for you, shit they trip over their balls for you. The betas have women in an abundance mindset for seeing men as easily disposable, that creates massive apathy.

Video of reddit admins promoting SRS. (first link got removed because TRP doesn't allow direct links to videos for whatever insane reason)

9 upvotes · 28 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminazis don't last long here, we have to put up with their illogical bullshit as the status quo on a day to day, in here you make sense or you make your way out the door.

Can your average woman/feminazi/beta bitch argue properly? No, because it's all solipsistic emotional subjective babble occasionally backed up by a study with fuck all ecological validity.

The Difference between TRP and RPW

9 upvotes · 19 September 2013 · /r/RedPillWomen

Are you serious? I love women. Go home.

LOL.

http://www.reddit.com/r/TheRedPill/comments/1mnrok/we_as_men_need_to_put_our_foot_down_and_stand_up/ccb36h7

Business Insider Doesn't like the Red Pill

9 upvotes · 15 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

What a disgusting article. The normalisation of just how to rape your soon to be ex-husband for every penny. Ugh. How incredibly distasteful.

[Mod] New Reddit X-Link Policy - No More of that

9 upvotes · 10 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Honestly, install some forum software on the puerarchy.com server. You can use some free software or pay for something like vBulletin. You'd then be able to monetize TRP with ads, you could easily have a sidebar, you could easily setup user groups for admins/mods/endorsed people. You could go between open to everyone and invitation only based on how many feminazis try to troll. You'd be able to connect to all trpers via email, you'd be able to backup your database in case your hosting service ever fucks with you. The site may be DDOSed by manginas who agree with SRS types, but TRP is strong, you'd get enough donations and shit to afford a decent server. You could get a karma mod installed too to upvote/downvote posts. It would require work, but you'd have sovereignty. I honestly think this should be done, people love the reddit platform but with al the BS this sub gets it's a matter of when, not IF, kinda like Syria right now.

Man tricks pregnant girlfriend into taking abortion pill -- Comments discuss Legal Paternal Surrender and equal male reproductive rights

9 upvotes · 10 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I know a woman with 3 kids and they used condoms every time.

Joe Rogan dominates a feminist.

9 upvotes · 3 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Chicks like this, I love to hate. They're intolerable cunts and deserve everything shit coming to them. Such a cunt is undeserving of happiness.

Bitter. Post-wall. Ugly. Overweight. Massive ego. Ball busting. The amount of schadenfreude I'd embellish in to see this cunts head on a pike. OOOOH YEAH!

The Thrill Is Gone – Modern Men Less Likely To Take Risks Than Their Fathers Were

9 upvotes · 2 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Very interesting!

TIME article on how American schools are becoming hostile to boys

9 upvotes · 25 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Then she lined up all the boys along the wall and yelled at us about rape and how we would go to prison for life.

That is absolutely fucking insane. This bitch is crazy! She shouldn't be allowed anywhere near little boys.

TLDR: Fellas, get your boy at a private school, or don't bring him into the world to begin with, feminist-"liberal" education is not good for him.

[From the MakeUp subreddit] That hot girl at the bar's first deception? That she's hot.

9 upvotes · 24 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

"I don't see what you are trying to prove."

You do, but you disagree and that's OK.

Heartbreaking tale from Relationships. Just a reminder, some women will turn on you in a heartbeat the second you cease to be useful.

9 upvotes · 15 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

And this is why most bitches don't deserve marriage. They're not ride or die they're in a solipsistic me me it's all about me, only respect the most alpha male sexxing up me kinda mentality. It's sickening. I wouldn't marry a chick who didn't have my back when I need her fuck that and fuck these disloyal branch swinging hoes craving a firm hand over all else. Nobody is constantly strong ladies you're deluded in that expectation. A good wife supports her man in his hours of need, which is why most of u will die alone. Sickening post. People justifying for this cunt-ho needa get the fuck outta trp.

Relax. Your ex probably isn't swallowing alpha cum.

9 upvotes · 9 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Solipsism is a real thing.

My dad described himself as MGTOW.

9 upvotes · 4 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Double entendre!

Man watches his wife get nailed by an Alpha in a couple swap, can't deal. Never let another man in your bed.. ever.

9 upvotes · 27 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

That "alpha" might not give a shit about his wife

She's currency to help him get pussy other than her own. He owns her, he uses honesty as a weapon and tells her he's going to fuck other women and she's going to be okay with it and she's even going to help him get that pussy or he's going to leave her, that takes way more skill on a psychological level than merely spinning plates, if she's significantly attached to him, he's strong enough and she's weak enough then she'll do that to keep him, hence why she engages in this perversion to keep him with her.

The wife stops being complicit in this and he tells her he'll replace her with a woman who will. Iron fist, she's in servitude to his dominance which she respects He uses her to undress other mens wives and suck off their husbands to get their guard down so then he can stroll in and get his fill of other women. Notice how he's not limp because he loves his wife or any such shit, he's having the time of his life. His wife out of fear and this guys game facilitates his fantasies so the man that has her enthralled won't leave her. Women are extreme. They are fiercely loyal when they think you're the strongest, a sniff of weakness and they will betray you in a millisecond. Not everyone can be "the strongest" so the majority of society has terrible experiences with women. Under this logic, if it were true, Harry would be mega alpha.

This may be incredibly perverted but perhaps you can see the logic now.

Wife is noticing change...

9 upvotes · 24 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

She doesn't deserve you she doesn't care about your desires, she's a taker and she's lost respect.

Greeks; they've become Freaks; I blame the Media

9 upvotes · 23 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Poland is slutting up/westernising at an intense rate in the cities, Poznan, Warszawa, Wroclaw, Katowice, Krakow, Gdansk, Sopot etc. Think it was posted on here awhile back, a video of a Polish girl in a park with her friends just goes and steals some guys rucksack and starts running around taunting him with it. He goes to punch her in the face, she barely evades it, shes clearly shook up not realising actions have consequences and he gets his backpack back, her running off shit scared.

This is what happens when you send 50% of your country to western/northern europe to go and undercut the indigenous with your offers of cheap labour, you improve your economy back home via sending all that money back via western union but you also bring back some of the toxic culture with you.

How do you replace the feeling of being cared for?

9 upvotes · 21 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If you want a good woman's love, that doesn't mean you're not alpha. If you crave it or NEED it like a woman does to function healthily then I agree with what you're saying. If you desire it that doesn't make you any less alpha. I know a dude who's pretty alpha who misses a real meaningful relationship but he's still going out and banging hos. Shit aint always clear cut.

So where did all the good women go?

9 upvotes · 20 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't let women walk over me, I don't respect most women because I can see the bullshit they try to pull and all their bullshit games in motion, due in part to TRP. I'm not family building right now, I'm still young, I'm thinking ahead. A lot of guys seem happy to fuck sluts all their lives, one day when I'm done developing myself and doing me, my SMV is high and I'm accomplished I want a worthy woman to share it with, not a ho. Being told to accept all women are hoes and to game them with bullshit isn't helpful advice, it's not advice you've given but it's the prevailing theme on TRP, like if you want a LTR at any given point and are willing to commit you must automatically be beta, which is pure BS. I think its beta to be afraid to commit to a worthy woman, which is why I'm asking about worthy women because I realise the vast majority are low quality nowadays.

"I've hit the wall after years of riding the cock carousel and looking for a beta to take care of me and my kid."

9 upvotes · 11 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

<http://imgur.com/J3bQffA>

"Those are terrible shoes"

9 upvotes · 1 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Scottishredpill, a legend among men.

AskWomen goes full-hamster while discussing prenuptial agreements

9 upvotes · 29 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You're in that bitter pill phase. It'll pass as you come to realise you can't change reality.

AskWomen goes full-hamster while discussing prenuptial agreements

9 upvotes · 29 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Shit happens bro, no doubt we have a few feminists subscribed, lurking & downvoting.

New to TRP: Caught Wife with Another Woman

9 upvotes · 27 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yep, even though she just attempted to fuck his wife AND THAT'S WHY he's angry, now she's the victim, because he's angry and she's scared. Fucking female one-sided solipsistic bullshit. I call manipulation. If she was really scared she would have left when asked to, not dug her heels in.

Bunch of beta guys confess that they want sex bots because they haven't had much luck with real women (Blue Pill Example)

9 upvotes · 20 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yep, they'd essentially all be MGTOW getting their sex from robots. The overarching philosophy you'll detect from most posters here is to be "top of the game" with women, but people forget that MGTOW is a fair red pill method as well. If you're not letting women exploit you because you understand how women will use and abuse and refuse to be the bitch of some feminist, you're red pill. Whether you decide to completely avoid women or try to manipulate them via game and mental gymnastics, that's your choice.

"Men grow up at 43 - 11 years later than women"

9 upvotes · 13 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The stereotype of a lad is a guy who has a good time and is "one of the guys", it's essentially a term for a guy who's acknowledged and accepted/liked by other guys, I guess in a way it's a subtle term of endearment from one male to another, perhaps a replacement for the american "buddy" or "bud" except it can be used in any context and isn't just limited to "friends" for example, with a dad talking about his son. Generally, women don't use the word - it's a masculine word and is mostly used by men, although women can weaponize it (although really, it happens rarely) in fact we have a term that the classist establishment here use to shame women called "ladette" which is essentially a "female lad" or a "tomboy" but is ascribed to women who are not ladylike in the littlest, now I know that's ironic because hey-ho, most women aren't ladylike anymore, but these women are usually not good looking, hang around with guys and are so foul-mouthed that other women essentially view them as "one of the guys". Also, to make things more complex, "lad" is generally vernacular of the working class, I've never known a rich or university educated middle class person to use the word "lad" as part of their vernacular, it's more commonly used in the North of England social class regardless although, in the south, some people in the working class use it, although less commonly. Another weird observation, middle class guys whilst their young may use the word if there's a huge group of them together and the testosterone is raging on all cylinders "let's go lads!!!!" Quite a peculiar word I suppose.

Usage examples:

- "He's a good lad, he'll do well" - Father describing son
- "Tom's one of the lads!" - Friend describing tom
- "Lads night out!" - Tom saying to his male friends how he wants to get mad drunk and fuck some hot bitches.
- "Alright there lad" - Respectful greeting, they tend to use this form of greeting more in the north, like I said before, more commonly said in impoverished areas, the Scottish like to use it too "aye lad!"
- "Ah, you're one of the lads, aren't you?" - Feminist shit test, she might as well be trying to call you out for being a "player" in this context.

Enjoy the English language, shit be crazy.

Rollo on how betas game: "I'm not like other guys..."

9 upvotes · 12 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

"I'll be so nice to her she'll have no choice but to respect me!" oh, I can feel a bit of vomit coming up.

When hooked up to a lie detector, men report fewer sexual partners, whereas women report more [x-post from /r/psychologyofsex]

9 upvotes · 12 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

- Men have to show high value, escalate and use skill acquire to sex. Men show high value by having a gym physique, having high social intelligence, having lots of money, having strong regulatory control over their own emotions etc. Men are expected to approach women and make the interactions happen. These things take skill, lots of time, effort and an abundance of confidence.
- Women have to show high value to acquire sex. Women show high value by maintaining a sexually appealing appearance. They do this by maintaining basic hygiene if they are natural lookers, or if they're old or naturally not beautiful by manipulating their image with make-up, fashion and if they can afford it - surgery. They wait for men to approach (generally speaking) and get to do all of the accepting and rejecting, ultimately deciding if sex is going to happen (they're the gatekeepers.)

Conclusion: Men have to be genuinely talented and work hard at seeming like an attractive prospect then have the skill to approach, escalate and close the deal. Women require less talent to be attractive as they only need to maintain an image of beauty and nothing else to get sex. They do not have the responsibility of approaching nor the fear of being rejected. Ironically, if a girl really likes a guy many times she'll get a friend to ask the guy out for her because she can't bare the rejection herself, or just wait around hoping he can pluck up the courage, because she can't.

Takes more skill to be a man and get sex if you're a man. Quoting someone from here who posted this the other day "men are built, women are created"

"Rape Joke" at E3 Causes Irreparable Emotional Damage

9 upvotes · 11 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

This bulgarian dude I used to play with (no homo) I shit you not would say some of the most elaborate crap you've heard, eg: "HEY CUM GUZZLER, I'M GONNA LOCK UP YOUR MOTHER IN MY BASEMENT AND RAPE HER FACE WITH A HIGH POWERED DILDO AND THEN PUT IT ON HER FACEBOOK SO HER FAMILY CAN SEE WHAT A DIRTY CUNT SHE IS!"

And they're offended by "just let it end" WOOOOOOOOOOOOW. lmfao.

Hypergamy and Black Women

9 upvotes · 10 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I read awhile back that blacks as an ethnicity are more masculine, this works in favour of men obviously as women find it attractive, but it works to the detriment of black women as their lack of femininity means black guys find the women from other races more attractive than them. The idea ties in well with what you're saying and makes a lot of sense if those statistics are truth, but without proof that blacks are genetically or socially more masculine than other races, this is just speculation.

My experiences suggest black women are the most masculine, followed by white women and then asian women are the most feminine. This also explains the white guy asian girl dynamic too, the girls always want someone more masculine. Black guy white girl = guys more masculine, white guy, asian girl = guys more masculine. Asian guys and black girls seem to get the most bullshit in the dating game, asian guys perceived as too feminine and black chicks perceived as too masculine. I really hope other people can weigh in on this social dynamic, on a correlation between ethnicity and (perceived)masculinity.

The most hilarious clusterfuck of white knights, feminists and everything in between.

9 upvotes · 10 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Oh my, that scene is not only fucking hilarious but absolutely true.

Top comment on that video, which gave me a laugh:

KingOfTolerance 1 day ago We should just move all the feminists to a Muslim country, they'll kill them in a day or so and we can laugh about it.

Gotta love the fact this dude called himself "King of Tolerance" and then proceeded to write this shit lmao. It's shit like this which gives you a little faith in humanity.

What's happened to this sub?

9 upvotes · 27 May 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yet you have -2 points... someone's managed to find the downvote button.

Course Corrections and a Word on the State of the Manosphere (Stop Being Cunts Edition)

8 upvotes · 14 June 2019 · /r/TheRedPill

RPS, TRP forums and TRP.RED is the rock of stability the manosphere needs.

Everyone else is embroiled in the waves of chaos.

The Monetization of the Manosphere

8 upvotes · 27 November 2018 · /r/TheRedPill

Link the post because I can't even find it and the fact you link it to this is just weird and irrelevant - as if to suggest without that post I wouldn't give a shit our space is filling up with charlatans

It's a preposterous claim bro

Banned on Twitter

8 upvotes · 10 June 2018 · /r/TheRedPill

Why ban someone for insulting a public figure? Seems silly and childish. People insult me all the time and they don't get banned.

Whenever men ask me what kind of woman they should be looking for as relationship material in future I'm just gonna send them this

8 upvotes · 9 February 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah.. dancing in a club is not tantamount to ritualistic dancing in an anthropological context. Everyone is fucked off their face in the club and most guys there wouldn't approach without drugs/alcohol in their system. Please don't insult me with such a moronic question.

DON'T GIVE UP! - We're gonna make men great again!

8 upvotes · 27 January 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

I think the bible references help and I'm not even religious.

She Can Never Be Your Equal

8 upvotes · 26 May 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Well you're not wrong there, cunning comes naturally to women, of which beauty plays a significant role.

Another 54 Machiavellian Maxims for your reading pleasure.

8 upvotes · 2 May 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

If you like simple stuff I don't recommend reading my blog.

Girls are hyper-aware but are playing a game of innocence

8 upvotes · 16 March 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Men (like Disney) often conflate beauty with virtue. This is foolish.

Champion's Mentality - How To Stop Being A Loser & Become Epic - A spiritual successor to Monk Mode. If Monk Mode was "how to stop being a loser" this is "how to start being a winner"

8 upvotes · 29 February 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

You have a typo at, "I didn't become the man I am today because I had an easy live".

Thanks for catching that, often when I self-edit my mind auto-completes what I'm reading with what it should read rather than read WHAT IT SAYS - so I miss little things like this.

Crabs in the bucket is one thing, but I realized that losers that don't cause you any trouble can be awful as well, because their mediocrity invites an atmosphere of pure consumption and little to no stimulation of greater action.

I agree, people underestimate just how much they're influenced by those around them. There isn't really any space for losers in your life if you're ambitious and want to do well.

My father is a very good-hearted man, soft. He never hurt anyone and gave to others before himself, he is a loser. That mentality has hurt me greatly because he is too self involved in his own feel good circle jerk to realize his choices hurt his family and helped others.

Unintentional selfishness via naive altruism, perverse and sad.

We talk about the swaths of losers out there and how they possess little value and only consume, it is easy to hold resentment for all that because we want to change and be better.

You don't even need to hate losers, just don't have anything to do with them! Hating losers is wasted energy you could spend bettering yourself. This is why I find TBP hilarious. They waste a lot of energy on us. They should spend all that energy on something more productive. Anyone who has time to dedicate to posting in a forum that simply exists to mock other people is a loser. Poor use of time. Very sad.

New York City Tax dollars at work: Study Shows Women's Products Cost More Than Men's

8 upvotes · 24 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Y'know, just in case someone thinks I've defected to the dark side.

The Blue Pill is Globalist

8 upvotes · 20 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Racism isn't only whites onto non-whites, remember that. Plenty of asians, blacks and all the rest of it out there who hate whites. Plenty of asians don't like blacks. In fact you find a lot of non-whites are openly racist to whites and nobody calls them on that shit, huge double standard. Any race can be (and oft is due to in-group preference) racist to other races. Racism doesn't have to be abusive, it really is as simple as preferring people who look like you to people who don't. Go to a university, blacks hang out with blacks, asians with asians, whites with whites. The odd person may mix with all, but generally, their instinct is to stick with people that look like them.

In that respect I think pretty much everybody is racist or "racism lite" - that doesn't mean you can't and won't have friends of other races though. Of course some people won't have friends of a specific race because they are that race - that's more what you're probably thinking of when you say racist, and honestly, at least here in the UK, I don't know many people who are like that at all even if they are biased to prefer their own kind.

I believe his allusion to racism is related to the fact that nearly all ancestrally white countries (as well as nations created by white people who aren't indigenous there: Canada, Aus, USA) are expected to open up their borders to non-whites, but non-white countries aren't expected to take in lots of people of a different ethnicity to them. And it's fucked up. If anything, it's pretty racist white people don't get to have their own country that's majority white. Apparently if a country is 99% white or more, it needs more diversity, it's backward, it's racist and excluding everyone else. Yet nobody gives a shit if Kenya is 99% black or China is 99% Asian. Why doesn't Kenya need more Asians and why doesn't China need more white people? Nah nobody gives a shit about that, they only care about making white countries less white.

Why is it Japan is allowed to be 99% Asian-Japanese but say the UK or France can't be 99% white-English or white-French? Japan is a first world country, why is this bullshit not imposed on them? Why don't they have to follow the same globalist nonsense that the European and anglo countries do? People are asking these questions. This is reality.

I think there's an argument to be made that not allowing white people their own country and forcing them to share their lands with every other race, without doing the same to the other races of the planet - is effectively targeting white people. It is racist against them because it doesn't allow them a nation/identity distinct from the other races - this is something all other races have. Only in white countries is it taught that race is unimportant and that you can be English or French or American or whatever if you are not-white. Try being a white dude born in Japan and telling them you're Japanese. They're going to laugh at you, you don't look like them, you may speak Japanese and be born there - but you will never be one of them to them.

I don't get into all this shit much because it's a cluster fuck and people get too emotional but this is reality. Whites also have a diminishing birth rate, as well as a lot of breeding with non-whites due to the mass non-white immigration. One day whites will be a minority in their own lands and a lot of them intuit this and feel sad about it. That is fucked up. The more whites feel like they are being squeezed out of existence, the more a sense of "whiteness" will form as a group identity. Tribalism kicks in when a group of people feel under threat.

I don't think whites standing up for their interests and race is any more racist than when a black or an Asian does it, but apparently, when white people do it, that's racist. And when it's only racist when white people do it but not anybody else? That's really fucking racist. The irony is just too much.

White nations are the most tolerant on the planet, whites (Brits) ended slavery first when EVERY race was involved in slaving, whites allow swathes of non-whites into their lands, and yet we never hear the end of how whites are supposedly the racist ones. If whites are so bad, why do so many non-whites want to come and live in their countries? Honestly, it's getting old, and I think a lot of whites feel the same about this. There is no appreciation for the good whites have done in the world, just the same old washed up shit that they're evil colonialists.

Yet all the raping and conquering that non-whites have done throughout history? Swept under the rug! Nobody gives a shit about all the terrible things non-whites have done, no, instead you are all brainwashed to hate whites for the bad things they've done whilst living in their countries using the shit that they invented. It's fucking ridiculous but apparently this is the reality we live in!

On the note of slavery, the globalists want you to think it was specifically a white thing, that whites enslaved the other races and they're the bad guys and that nobody else pillaged or conquered or raped or slaved (because Ghengis Khan was such a stand up guy!) Not true. Before the British abolished slavery, every race enslaved their own race as well as other races. Only one race ended slavery: white.

I've been called a white supremacist before for airing views like these. I don't give a shit, as far as I'm concerned, this is nothing but real talk and there's not an ounce of hate in it so sue me.

The Empress is Naked

8 upvotes · 10 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Felt kinda bad that I stopped responding to him in PM. I thought I'd get to reading it sooner and respond with my thoughts, but instead the PM just sank away in my perpetually abused inbox and now it's basically unfindable.

Same here, /u/adam-l's books is great, I just unfortunately am swamped in heaps of shit to do, and as such, haven't got around to reading as much of it as I'd like. Being a writer, you find you don't read as much as you'd like because you're always writing shit.

It's good /u/redpillschool has stickied a link to his book, because lord knows this guy deserves it. Great book. If the rest of his book is as good as the few bits I've read, it should be on this subs recommending reading list IMO.

The Red Pill Antibiotic Nuke 2015 UPDATE

8 upvotes · 1 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Thanks for pointing that out, got it.

Female nature is necessary for male excellence.

8 upvotes · 29 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

summary: We owe it to ourselves to be all we can be and if we aren't living up to our own potential we have no place in the sexual market place.

My article on "how to be happy" talks a lot about what it takes to get your mind right mentally.

Women want you to be your best self not because they give fucks about you, but because they benefit most from association with strong males. Beta/weak males are always a woman's second choice because they don't produce excitement (fear) and lust, merely security. If a woman has the opportunity to branch swing from a beta to an alpha, she will without question. No matter what phase of TRP a man is in he's wise to never forget this.

Too many weak males (what we have now, thank single mother culture) means there are a smaller number of strong/dominant men. This makes it more difficult for women to get commitment from an alpha because there are less to go around. Women want higher quality/more dominant men as much as men want higher quality/more beautiful and submissive women.

OP is right in what he's saying about "the perfect storm", the selfishness of the female strategy demands male excellence, which in turn drives male selfishness; a perfect if not somewhat ironic storm indeed.

The funniest thing though is that although women want more dominant men in their relationships, they also want more power/respect in the economy/everyday life, so they cut their nose off to spite their face by going out of their way to emasculate the guys around them. These are the same chicks who will whine endlessly there's no alpha male commitment to go around circa 25+ in their love lives. "Where have all the good men gone?" = "Where are all the high value and dominant men who are willing to commit to me at?"

You can't successfully emasculate men because you want to earn your own money and be respected like a man whilst also being treated like a girl by a dominant man in a relationship. This shit is so funny I've heard it a lot, women want to be powerful at work and then come home and be some caveman alpha's war prize. Sorry, but the economy and people's intimate relationships are too closely interlinked.

A bitch who is bossy all day is going to be a cunt when she gets in through the door. A guy in a job with no autonomy being talked down to by female colleagues/superiors who can't reply in kind due to political correctness is going to be a bitch at home due to the sheer amount of henpecking the dude has to deal with to make bread.

Modern women have this "fuck it all I'll have my cake and eat it" kinda narcissism, but in the big picture mathematics does not allow for a feminised culture to produce the number of dominant men women need to be happy in relationships.

If bitches are intent on raising little cucks and "being the leaders in everyday life" there's going to be little left in the realm of masculinity when it comes to love and relationships.

Only a small minority of women will get to be cunts in the office then come home and cuddle up to the ripped and rich Mr. Big who reminds her she's his little bitch the moment her foot goes over the threshold. Where does this leave all the other women who didn't get one of the few men left who still have their balls intact? It leaves them miserable in relationships with weak men. The majority of women have this "have my cake and eat it" narcissism, but on numbers alone it's not workable, very few will have the best of both worlds (power at work and a powerful man at home) because as I said above, people's roles in the economy affect personal relationships too much.

When men can't put women in their place at work but women can bully and emasculate them, they're going to lose the ability to "be the man" at home. Most dominant dudes I know are in leadership positions or run their own businesses so they don't have to be henpecked daily with their hands tied. Naturally this is great for their confidence and they do better with women romantically. Conclusion: feminisation of culture/the workplace is bad for men and women, but women are too blind to see they are destroying the very prize they covet.

Guy is secretly loaded with cash but does not tell his gf, she leaves him then finds out from his friends that he has been hiding his wealth from her (hamestering ensues) Re-Post

8 upvotes · 14 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Three weeks ago, after seeing a girl I knew from high school buy her 3rd property with her husband, it felt like my relationship with Will was juvenile and had no future.

It seems the problem is more the rate his level of commitment was escalating at rather than the money itself. At least from what I can tell. But then I read a user's summary in the comments rather than OP as I refuse to read a 30 line paragraph, that shit is absurd and needs formatting. Due to formatting alone I'm surprised to see this thread anywhere near as upvoted and commented upon as it is. For some reason you motherfuckers persevered with this shit when much better threads get ignored so hard you'd think they had AIDS. Nevertheless, I digress.

She's been netflixing with a guy for 10 months, he's obviously happy where it's at and felt no rush to upgrade his level of commitment. He's rich on the down low, I get it. She was cool with it too.

Then she went on Facebook and compared herself to the married friend who's just got a new house. People are saying because she said it was their 3rd house that this was a money thing, but I think that misses the point. It's all about "upgrading commitment" with women - that's their end-game. Why? Women are nest builders, they want babies and money to look after 'em. So a third house to this chick translated as "oh wow they're married and have two houses and now they're getting a third, all we do is watch netflix!"

She compared a relatively short relationship to a marriage and got utterly depressed over the level of commitment she's [not] getting. She envies her friend's nest, being 26 and having early wall anxiety "she's looking to settle" and now with girl logic "feels like she just wasted 10 months." Result? Dumped her guy, now looking for a guy who will escalate commitment quicker. Last guy was going too slow for her.

She thought the relationship was going nowhere because the commitment wasn't upgrading quick enough. That's all I see here. I don't see any gold digging here. She didn't know the dude was rich. She found out AFTER trying to get back with him he was rich (inadvertently from a friend.) So what does logic conclude? Not a gold digger, just a text book insecure basic bitch.

In case you don't understand the severity of that in girl world, translating it to our perspective it's like you're in a relationship where you fuck once a month with your girl and she's never in the mood past stale perfunctory monthly sex, but every time you talk to your friend about sex he says he gets it from his girl 3 times a day 4 or 5 days a week. You'd think "fuck this, I need a girl who will fuck me more." Well this chick did the girl world equivalent. Remember, men trade commitment, women trade sex.

The fact she was texting him and "even called him" before his friends told her that he was rich suggests she realised she'd been an emotional idiot. On the flip side, breaking up could have been an ultimatum/shit test to extract more commitment out of him, only for it to backfire when he handled it like a stoic boss.

People who've followed me around these past years know I rarely bat for team women on anything because normally they're in the fucking wrong. But from the material facts present here, concluding gold digger seems like a fucking stretch. If guys have hate and resentment for bitches I 100% get it because shit is fucked up, but trying to see shit that isn't there is begging the question IMO.

Dumb bitch? Yes. Gold digger? Not really. Don't see shit where it isn't present.

Woman makes guy wait 3 months for sex, while fucking Chad on the side.

8 upvotes · 2 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Good guy gets shat on, dark triad low class asshole tears up the pussy. A tale as old as time.

A reminder for us all that nature does not respect the weak

8 upvotes · 1 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yep. That fear over size is called command presence. Had it all my life. Makes it harder to make friends on a cold approach (ppl too scared to talk to you) but let's it put this way, very few people even drunk will follow through on their threats. What I tend to experience is some guy being disrespectful and then when you call their bluff they play it off as a joke. A beard further adds intimidation factor.

AWALT is making my female cousin sad and she doesn't know why

8 upvotes · 14 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I wouldn't mind seeing that either.

A note on the backup forums

8 upvotes · 6 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It's a shame bitcoin isn't more widespread. Currency conversion fees and payment processor fees (mastercard, paypal) are a bitch that cut into bottom lines everywhere.

I made my mom cry.

8 upvotes · 3 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Obligatory link:

<http://illimitablemen.com/2014/02/17/lucifers-daughter/>

EDIT: holy grammar syntax, I need to go and fix up that article.

Can a guy who is a virgin in his 20s realistically lose his virginity to a really hot girl?

8 upvotes · 30 July 2015 · /r/askTRP

Virgins tend to get oneitis, gender regardless. The pair bond/intensity of attachment you experience from sex gets weaker with every partner.

A long term solution to the clothing-imposed SMV problem

8 upvotes · 23 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Care just enough, you get benefit. Care too much, and it works to the detriment of your game.

She behaves as if she was beautiful. Most American women do.

8 upvotes · 13 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Great minds think alike. Already copied and pasted this to WordPress for further elaboration and refinement. Will be a future blog post.

"New York bar tackles gender pay gap by charging women 77% of bar tab"

8 upvotes · 9 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Then get so much botox you can pass for a 2-year-old with gigantism.

"New York bar tackles gender pay gap by charging women 77% of bar tab"

8 upvotes · 9 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

This bar was very quick to conflate a desire for equal prices with an unwillingness to treat women with respect. Be careful against this sort of rhetoric.

Spotted this straight away, glad you did too. It's definitely conflation or a strawman of false equivalency however you want to look at it.

Most feminists believe past oppression / patriarchal systems / etc. justifies reparations to women through initiatives like this. It's not clear what criteria will need to be met before they stop asking for reparations, or what their ideal conception of legal equality would be.

The problem with reparations is that the group that gets them never wants to let go of the privilege. There is not enough money in the world to convince a "victim" to give up the perverse privilege that comes from maintaining said victim status. Reparations promote inequality and for that reason, are a bad idea. Equality of opportunity, sure. Equality of outcome? No. Let meritocracy decide. If women make less, it's because they don't work so hard or in the more lucrative fields. Assuming it's some invisible oppression is laughable, and less likely.

Notice, however, how the young man first thinks of female 'reward' before saving himself with 'reparations'. On a subconscious level, the narrative that "women deserve benefits" can be decoupled from any actual justification of debts owed. Feminists can begin to think that simply being a woman is enough.

Women are entitled solipsists, feminism makes them entitled narcissists.

Each individual initiative like this will be displayed as an isolated incident to help women. The response to criticism will doubtless include "you can go to any other bar, and it's not like it hurts you compared to the massive advantage you otherwise have being a man!". A holistic view of all these small advantages that stack up for women will probably be ignored.

It's a PR stunt. The owner is a genius or just has a great hamster. Do not have enough information to effectively distinguish and ascertain this.

This bar owner could just be a very, very savvy marketer. Lots of free publicity for the bar, draws in large female crowds, draws in the "beta bux" crowd (probably even more willing to buy drinks for women, if they've already conceded they should be charged for), and probably even draws in guys who want to enjoy the 85% female gender ratio. Smart way for the bar owner to use feminist rhetoric to his advantage, whether or not he believes in it.

See my response to your last quotation. Looks like we concur.

AWALT, but... I am not without my faults or undesirable & typical male behavior either.

8 upvotes · 29 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

this is not women's fault.

Nothing ever is. They're happy to go along with reinforcing the illusions that benefit them though. Saying that, I wonder how many are able to see past the hamster? Probably not many. Guess it's not their fault then? It never is. Women, what blameless creatures you are.

The Vicious Cycle of Blue Pill Faggotry

8 upvotes · 28 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I have family from noble stock who speak RP, I speak more estuary with them (pronounce all the T's, no missed vowel sounds, speak clearly.) RP speakers look down on anyone who doesn't speak RP/estuary (Kent/Surrey) accent as it's improper. Estuary is basically RP without all the lah-de-dah inflection that comes with RP pretension - "Oooh, I say!"

Working class friends prefer slang and harsher accents. They really don't like people with soft accents or who use "big words."

Stupid people, whoever they are, hate "big words" aka, words they don't know because it makes them feel stupid and they think you're just "trying too hard" to assert status. Dumb people reject anything intellectual sounding because by rejecting it they feel in control. By not rejecting it they're forced to admit they don't understand it and that their lack of understanding makes them inferior. Think of it as the girl who is a 5 who rejects the guy showing interest in her for a dare who is an 8. If they get that rejection in, they can assuage their ego.

Girls like a London street accent. Common/cockney or a London street accent are good for intimidating people with. RP is terrible for scaring people, you could say the most threatening thing in the world in an RP accent and it'd sound like you're making a quick call to your lawyer followed by a strongly worded letter of complaint. It communicates pomposity, but that is neither fear inducing nor sufficiently threatening to ward off an attacker.

If someone was trying to rob you then you'd respond in an inner city London accent. If you ring up your doctor for an appointment or are dealing with an official function, speak RP or estuary.

I've always played about with accents, they're a good way to passively influence the other person into behaving in a way conducive to your desires. As they say, it's not always what you say, but how you say it. I always thought I was the only one who did this (switched my accent around) good to see I'm not alone. I was trying to figure out what accent to narrate the audiobook for my book when it comes out. Americans expect an Estuary/Harry Potter sounding accent.

People who know you hate hearing you speak in an accent that isn't normally meant for them. It makes them suspicious of you. A person's idea of who you are is greatly influenced by your accent, a guy who thinks your tough doesn't want to hear you speak RP, a posh person doesn't want to hear you speak common. Your nerd friend doesn't want to hear "ya dun kno blud" and your dumb drinking buddy doesn't want to hear words like "quintessentially."

I believe it is a matter of being all things to all people without truly changing who you are. Women are naturally good at this.

How Many Corpses Do You Need To See?

8 upvotes · 23 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Astute and absolutely correct. I hope your post here receives the attention it deserves.

The MASTER KEY to Understanding Women

8 upvotes · 18 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I understand, so I'll reframe it:

Out of the bottom 80% of men and women, men are the prize. In the top 20%, everyone is a prize, except men are more of a prize. Women need men more than men need women at all levels. Obviously if you're sat there comparing a bottom 10% male to a top 10% female you're going to miss my point. Assuming equal SMV, man is the prize.

The Hierarchy of Love

8 upvotes · 1 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

10/10 Article. Especially your insights on how the experience of maternal love affects our relationships with women.

If you're interested in this, you'll like what Freud has to say about it:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Madonna%E2%80%93whore_complex

Amy Schumer admits to raping a guy, feminists support her, /r/askfeminists decide the guy raped her...

8 upvotes · 29 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Women comedians in general aren't funny. They mistake crass and abrasive for funny. There's even a film called "Women aren't funny" which assembles the world's best female comedians to point out how absurd the claim is that "women aren't funny" -- and guess what? It's not funny.

Generally agree, there are a few exceptions. For example, I think this woman's dry wit is genius. She is of course, very masculine in her characteristics. There's a rape innuendo in there if you can spot it.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=YZ1oSS5bQvQ>

For the Girl Writes What fan boys, Karen Straughan lays down her opinion of TRP

8 upvotes · 21 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It's because cheating on your partner is not a crime, but beating up the girl and guy who cheated is.

IM's Hardest Hitting Reddit Rants

8 upvotes · 16 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

We're not similar. Also the more power you give women, the less attractive the average man looks, yet power in terms of "positions in society" must be taken from men to give to women to "make them more equal."

Effectively, it's a fine way to fuck up the family and reduce birth rates (as has occurred in most white majority nations which have adopted feminism.)

Feminism is an even better contraceptive than the pill itself. Get women to prioritise a career over a family. Get women to earn lots of money so they don't want a man who earns less and you get all these women and men who "aren't right for each other." Also get the women voting for free shit from the government so that they don't need a man to support them if they are broke and uneducated, but rather the government can force men to pay for them and their bastard children via taxes. Birth rate falls, lots of people grow up without a father, societal dysfunction ensues, men hate women, women hate men and you get this clusterfuck we live in now rather than the society of nuclear families we used to have with 2.1 children, a white picket fence and a lack of whoredom.

If women are attracted to men who are more powerful than them, but you have an ideology that acts to make women more powerful and men less powerful, you fuck up the mating dynamic. This is what has happened.

Obviously it goes much deeper than this but I'm not going to write an essay on it here

Although TRP is apolitical it definitely changes your personal political leanings.

8 upvotes · 13 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

With respect to DE, one of the central political topics is a critical analysis of democracy. This is more or less what you expressed, and is why I noted that /r/DarkEnlightenment might be worth a look.

Any specific article/source recommendations? My criticism is predominantly of contemporary democracy and not so much the institution in and of itself (which I am still critical of, nevertheless.) For example, I think Swiss direct democracy is probably the best implementation of democracy the world has ever seen, at least if anything, it's managed to keep them out of the communist project that is the European Union. One must consider though that the Swiss are educated to an extent that humiliates state-education in Anglo countries. Simply, democracy doesn't work in societies where there is a distinct lack of critical thinking and people vote based on genetics, theatrics/personality and handouts etc rather than thinking "what is good for my country, and do I think what this politician believes in aligns with what I believe to be good for my country - and can they deliver on these promises?"

Democracy further fails in countries which have high immigrant populations that don't acclimate but incubate (eg: Algerians in France, Moroccans in Germany, Syrians in Sweden,) because they don't even give a shit about the country, they don't love it or respect it, they abuse it. They don't care about the host country other than turning it into a replica of whatever failed state they or their parents originally came from. They are just there to exploit economic resources, their heart and mind still belongs to their native country, or the country of their parents. Whether you like nationalism or not is irrelevant, this is something I have observed time and time again.

The problem with contemporary democracy is consent is manufactured by getting people to believe in certain values via the state education system, labelling these things as good, then offering that politically and smearing the opposition as "far-right" or "extremist." It's corrupt. State education has a biased ideological informal curriculum. Also, allowing illegals in and giving them the vote so you can vote-buy is very, very unconstitutional/unpatriotic.

Although TRP is apolitical it definitely changes your personal political leanings.

8 upvotes · 13 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Have been for awhile, the thing is, I see this consistent referral to moldbug, ctulu, cathedrals etc and I think "Hell no." Some of these neoreactionaries even talk about "atlantians" or some such. Have to draw a line between people who believe in conservative-libertarian politics/alternative politics and those who are, for lack of a better phrase, bat shit crazy in the head. I haven't spent a whole lot of time trying to separate the wheat from the chaff so to speak.

Reddit CEO bans salary negotiations because women are poor negotiators.

8 upvotes · 11 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Hahahahaha oh god this is brilliant.

Said No Thanks to the Starfish last night

8 upvotes · 29 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

repurposing the dark tetrad concept to develop stereotypical extrovert traits. It's taking a while though.

Good luck. All my best blog posts had the most time sunk into them, it's worth it.

A reason for women to want the dating culture to change - Sons who can't get laid

8 upvotes · 28 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Can you imagine a father telling his daughter "All men out there are beautiful creatures who just want the best for you. Trust each of them implicitly and do exactly what they ask of you, and you'll live happily ever after" ??

Probably quite the contrary "he will try to use for sex, blah blah blah."

Women's willed self-delusions cause much pain when they are but a sole source of information for their children to learn from, sons especially. Not even daughters to single mothers are going to get a rounded, reasonable explanation of what men are like, if anything, she'll get a bunch of solipsistic-driven hate.

Women only reproduce with the top X% of men: it's an OLD rule

8 upvotes · 19 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

As much as I like the idea of "women being free" on a philosophical/ethical level, the effects it's had on society quite strongly eradicate that notion, in so much that their collective actions and inability to demonstrate they are ready for such freedom has irreversibly damaged otherwise very socially and technologically advanced civilizations.

In essence, women aren't ready for freedom, they can't handle freedom, they abuse freedom - and we all, as a society, pay the ultimate price in broken families and the mental illness born out of that. Women lack self-discipline, impulse control and rational consistency, without proper disciplining and care, this goes unchecked and we get the insanity we see today. Until this changes, it is my estimation that any society with too much female autonomy is doomed to stagnate. The opposite argument is "half your economic base is inactive when you keep women at home," but in my opinion, that's a small price to pay when you consider the size of the welfare state, the fall in wages in real terms, increases in crime, increases in mental health disorders due to dysfunctional/broken families and the like.

This whole sub is founded on the premise that something is not quite right with women, that they are different from what the majority of us have been lead to believe in our upbringing, and the root and core of the issue goes all the way down to female nature and how their "independence" has affected the family unit. Destroy the family and you destroy society, I fear, this is what we have been seeing and will continue to see. Now the question begs: when will it end, what will be the tipping point, the straw that breaks the camel's back so to speak?

Women only reproduce with the top X% of men: it's an OLD rule

8 upvotes · 19 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

when I asked if they wanted to get married when they grew up, and if so, at what age, to a one they answered "yes" and "27 or 28."

Right about just before the wall. They have a beta primary phase for a few years, set-up a family and then as Rollo's chart says, an "alpha re-interest phase" which is when the marriage falls apart if you're a bottom 80%er.

Guy in thread says:

I had the best luck with women in my early 30s. I had a nice car and my own place. In comparison to the 20 year olds living at home paying off student loans I seemed like a pimp.

Mid 30's is peak male SMV, early 30's is the highest SMV he ever had. Sounds about right according to Rollo's SMV chart.

"Strong and independent," what is it good for?

8 upvotes · 14 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

but he probably laya some good pipe

The way to a woman's heart is through her vagina.

You have What Women Don't

8 upvotes · 9 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

...there's a whole sub dedicated to female Game.

It's also Machiavellian strategy to ensure they lock down commitment "don't put out on the first date" blah blah. A lot of what they say conflicts with our interests (which is to be expected, the female sexual strategy is at odds with the male) although by female standards, it's an incredibly mature forum that advocates a hell of a lot more responsibility than most women's communities do.

I also believe a lot of their subs are men from TRP putting them on the pedestal. Some men run there for advice when they don't like what we say here. It's funny. We say "ask the fisherman, not the fish" and yet you've still got guys heading over to RPW hoping they'll hear the answer they want to hear there. Pathetic, really.

The growth of /r/TheRedPill from 0 to 100,000 subscribers

8 upvotes · 4 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

with the purpose of creating happy relationships where there's no gaming or sexual strategy or "abuse."

Funny, because my next ~~piece of art~~ blog post is going to be about sexual Machiavellianism. People who think you can have relationships without having any kind of strategy or "game" are naive and don't get it. AT ALL. They're basically denying sexual strategy, saying the only valid sexual strategy is unfiltered open truth - which is no strategy at all. Having a strategy where "there is no strategy" will just leave you vulnerable and the relationship, dysfunctional until it becomes non-existent.

Women manipulate and use strategy, advocating men not to is disingenuous and just puts them at a disadvantage. I get that may not be their intention, but it is the outcome. You can't tie man's hands behind his back and expect him to do well. He has to be able to keep his woman in line, if that requires head fucking - so be it. All cards on the table, whatever works - works. Whether one has moral scruples with that or not is their problem, not success'. The results speak for themselves. Men have to be manipulative because they're dealing with manipulative creatures. How they use their manipulation is essentially down to them, we're just empowering them. Whether they use it to bed women, or keep a relationship prosperous is down to what the man in question wants.

Consider TRP an arms dealer. We give you the power. What you do with it is your choice to make, and we're not taking responsibility for the decisions you make based on this knowledge.

Are you a "romantic"? If so, this way please ...I have a several thousand hoops for you to jump through...

8 upvotes · 2 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Look to your right. That's the sidebar. Under "new here?" the final link reads: "Glossary of Terms and Acronyms." It doesn't contain everything and could probably do with a much needed update, but that should get you started.

[FR] Don't get too drawn into Monk Mode

8 upvotes · 27 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I always thought isolation was a natural part of the process, since you get yourself occupied with implementing the new-found principles and you'd rather not make too much contact with anyone before you become "the new you".

For some people that may be necessary to become the best version of themselves. If you try that, and it makes you socially anxious/fucks you up, then don't ignore that. It's best to allocate some social time to find the right balance. Try to distinguish between whether you just need to spend time with a good friend, or whether the actual skill/habit of making a friend is what you're after. For me it's the prior, not the latter. I personally believe friends are pretty rare nowadays, most people are acquaintances posing as friends. A friend is basically like a long-term relationship but without the romantic component. You look out for one another, share deep thoughts, concerns etc. I can just have a long phone conversation with a buddy once or twice a week and I'm good with the grind. I already got a lot of partying out of my system, though. It's definitely something you should experience, but it didn't fulfil me like some guys seem to get off on it.

Really, monk mode is an experiment, but the focus is YOU, over social drama. When I originally wrote monk mode my social circle was full of drama and bullshit and rumour and I wanted no part of it. That's why I stepped back from all of that, lost prominence in the circle, but didn't really give a fuck because being popular in that circle wasn't worth the hassle that came with it. Likewise it increased my productivity. I guess a guy who has no social circle is already going to be isolated, and may find that counter-intuitive, which is why adjusting the understanding of isolation from an absolute to a "isolate yourself from bullshit, do the things you need to do, including socialising" may make more sense to such people.

That's the other core part of monk mode, making your lifestyle habits value-adding rather than expending all your time on mindless entertainment. That's not to say never touch an xbox or netflix, they're good to de-stress, but those things shouldn't dominate every bit of free time you get. De-stressing comes after a hard day, it doesn't dominate the day. You earn de-stress time. Of course, not all time spent socialising with other people is equal. Some people will drain you, others will energise you. I have one friend in particular who always puts me in a great mood because we vibe so well. That's rare for me, because most people are just incredibly hard work or have a personal quality that makes them difficult to tolerate, or they're so mentally/emotionally absent that they're deficient in forming any kind of meaningful friendship, even if it's just bantering (they won't get your humour.) Sad, but many people fall into that camp.

Thanks for taking the time to make a response, IllimitableMan, I love your stuff and am always following your precious pieces of advice/information.

Thanks bud.

Beta is PISSED at me for "stealing" the girl he's been "working on" for months

8 upvotes · 22 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

If the beta has little social power you can just mock the shit out of him. If he has significant social power then hold frame, amused mastery, let him invest more energy into interactions than you. Ignore him a lot. You could opt for the "I think you're a cool dude approach" and try to befriend him, but it almost always fails because they're bitter as shit and are carrying a negative energy. Why is your girl forcing you to spend time with her beta orbiter(s)? Sounds like she may want you to "fight for her," that bullshit is annoying and histrionic and personally bitches who keep putting me in those kind of situations are getting dumped.

Women will shame high SMV men who refuse to commit. Women believe they deserve those resources.

8 upvotes · 17 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Probably she's stretched out real big by now.

If I fuck a bitch and my cock doesn't touch the sides, it's a deal breaker. I know she's been taking cock like a drill in an oil well.

Should I even bother reading "The 48 Laws of Power"

8 upvotes · 14 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I will finish the book but man it's like drinking depression.

I will respond to your PM soon I have some shit to do. Don't get depressed dude, it is what it is. Don't hate the game, get good at it. You can still be happy in spite of all the BS that goes on. That's all part of becoming a man. If you survive and come out the other side you will be superior to all your peers. You will be more aware, more competent, more at peace with yourself and the world. Knowing how the world works doesn't mean you can't be optimistic.

My Old Coworker Hung Himself

8 upvotes · 12 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

One of the most powerful things I've learned about my self improvement on TRP is "you're a bitch and you only have yourself to blame."

That is correct. We're talking a relationship context here though. You are accountable for your self-improvement. In relationships there is a second person, they must be held accountable for things that they do, but a lot of guys here like to say "it's always your fault." This premise is simple, I don't know what hate has to do with it. I can't speak for the sentiment in the rest of the thread as I don't have the time right now to read through whatever everybody is saying. I'm just replying to my comment responses.

User of 4chan explains the difference between men's and women's accomplishments.

8 upvotes · 9 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

...but that's when I remember that having 1 bad day can just as easily bring your consciousness back to dark, selfish levels.

Well Of course. It's out of self-preservation. When people try to fuck your kindness, you have to stop being kind to defend yourself.

How far does the concept of AWALT go?

8 upvotes · 4 February 2015 · /r/PurplePillDebate

Another red pill concept:

Womanhood is bestowed, manhood is earned. Men must continuously prove their worth/masculinity, whilst women must merely come of age and maintain a youthful appearance for as long as possible. Nobody ever says "you're not a real woman" but we hear the opposite all the time. Conclusion: society sets higher, more stringent standards on what qualifies a male to be regarded as "a man" or "real man" or "manly" but does not set equally antithetical standards for what a female needs to do to be regarded as a "woman" or "real woman."

On second thoughts, perhaps "a lady" is the female version of being "a man" in terms of societal acknowledgement/respect for having well-actualised your gender role.

Be wary of speed dating events where women stay seated

8 upvotes · 4 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Can't let a good tragedy go to waste now can we?! Human ingenuity for the win!

"Men's Rights Activists have missed the point of feminism " - Intellectually disingenuous article from The Telegraph writes a smear piece aimed at discrediting TRP and AVFM.

8 upvotes · 2 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Sorry to derail this here, but how is your blog (or other internet business ventures) doing? You write in an unusual field which is kind of a niche, but with plenty of dedicated supporters.

[Redacted]

I have my original response in notepad so if you want it badly enough, I can PM you it.

LTR Shit testing ramping up to nuclear levels

8 upvotes · 25 January 2015 · /r/askTRP

Few potential possibilities here:

- She is trying to get you to give her more commitment/she's looking for more comfort. Use beta game. Beta game = do a few comforting things but hold alpha frame. Make fun of her for being silly, tell her everything's fine, give her a cuddle, blah blah. Sounds like typical female insecurity to me, insecurity demanding a stronger sense of commitment from you. I'm going to assume you're emotionally distant, she probably wants more feels/cuddles and less rough fucking in the ass. Too much alpha, not enough beta. Need to recalibrate your alpha/beta balance.
- If I'm wrong about the last point then I believe she's cheating on you and wants to find a way to frame you as the bad guy so that she can leave "but be the good guy." If I'm right about this it means she may try and wind you up and attempt to get you to lose your shit so that she can use the energy from that fight as a reason/motive to break up with you. It serves as the perfect veil for the real reason she wants you two to end, she's been seeing someone else behind your back and she feels ready to branch swing from your relationship into a relationship with them.

The odd behaviour out of nowhere seems like something someone who is feeling guilty would do to assuage their sense of anguish. So then she can tell herself "I cook his breakfast, I clean his dishes, I'm a good person."

Basically, she's doing this extra shit to give her hamster the fuel it needs to believe she's decent despite having done shitty things to you (eg: fucked Chad McThunderCock.) Just like engineering a breakup fight is a way for her to feed the hamster the fuel/material to make herself believe that you're the bad guy and nothing is her fault. That way over in hamster-girl-mind the reason you would split up is because you were a mean asshole to her, not because she's a cheating whore looking to branch swing. Women like to twist reality in their head so that they're the victim - this allows them to maintain a good rep. So people will think "douchet treated her like shit, that's why she left" rather than "douchet's girl was a whore, that's why they split." There are a few tells here that indicate to me infidelity on her part could be a possibility, so be prudent.

Note: I am of course speculating, it's fucking impossible for someone over the internet who doesn't know either you or your GF to know exactly WTF is up in your situation. She is being shady as fuck, it's guilt or a longing to feel loved without a way to adequately communicate that. Hence the theatrical weird irrational bullshit.

The Sun (UK) bows to pier pressure from feminists to drop topless models

8 upvotes · 20 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The female crab bucket mentality strikes again I see!

More TRP truths from my roommates.

8 upvotes · 16 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The animal inside you wants a woman.

The man inside you thinks they're fucking pathetic.

What I Do to Practice Voice Speed, Accuracy, and Tonality

8 upvotes · 14 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Never analyzed it too hard in terms of how it connects your cognitions but it works like a charm: Read. Out. Loud.

I rap along to lyrics in songs. I've got a pretty good flow just doing this for fun over the years. My verbal eloquence is pretty high, I've been doing this for years. Plus I'm a book nerd that likes learning new words - increasing your vocabulary helps A LOT. I wasn't always eloquent, it was hard earned - but it proves anyone can attain eloquence. Concentration is a big part of the equation, if you lose concentration easily you lose relevant thoughts, lose your thoughts and you lose what you were going to say. It's like anything. Focus.

If you earn it - you have to put in the time. I've easily put in over 10,000 hours into speech/writing/reading etc. Anyone who's read Robert Greene's mastery knows that 10,000 hour theory is the idea that after 10,000 hours you reach "master level" of whatever you're practising. Be it piano.. a martial art.. lifting.. cooking.. or whatever. Gamer nerds: life's just an RPG you have to choose what traits you want to enhance and grind the shit out of them. Except instead of whatever they put in RPGs as enhanceable traits now, we're talking "speechcraft/eloquence" "literacy," "sense of humour," "Machiavellianism" etc.

Also like in game's, in real life one can work on multiple traits at once. EG: stand-up comedy helps not only with speech, but likewise drama/theatricism, social skills, timing, sense of humour etc.

If it's your accent (which is the hardest but completely achievable through perseverance for a few months),

I was told if I move to the states I'll have to feign a generic american accent (harsher than my accent) because apparently you're all really crap at understanding Estuary English and think it sounds Australian (wtf?!?!)

What Estuary English sounds like (similar to my native accent:)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9hDy3RZJNxM>

Tom Leykis Auctions 3 Hours of His Show

8 upvotes · 14 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

By winning this auction, you agree to the following: that you will follow our regular format and break for commercials, regularly and on time, as directed,

Lay Pipe or Lawyer Up: How Bad Fucking Could Put You In Jail

8 upvotes · 13 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Great imagery and character development for Tit..tat..whatever her name was. Psychopath chicks don't really giggle much though, heads up. It's all in the detail. I want more.

Whores & Daughters

8 upvotes · 12 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Double standards and hypocrisy don't invalidate the validity of an argument. We hold men and women to different standards as a matter of "what works." If I believed men couldn't have meaningful LTRs after fucking lots of women I'd say that. I don't believe that. I've known of many men who have fucked half the planet and then lived happily ever after with a quality women. Some fuck chicks on the side, some don't.

Men don't fall in love by having sex. They fall in love by sacrificing (I do believe this is in OP.) Women aren't expected to sacrifice for men in the way men are for women. That's why they don't fall in love in the way men do. Sex is just sex to men. To women, it is love, until they become desensitised, then they can't pair bond any more through sex. Women fall in love by having the same cock repeatedly enter them until a chemical bond is formed. Have I heard stories of women who fucked half the planet and ended up being balanced, healthy relationship material? No. If women could do it, then promiscuity wouldn't be such a problem assuming an absence of STDs. Life isn't fair. Where men get the short end in some areas (can't show emotions like women can) women do in others (can't be a whore and live happily ever after like a man can.) Women can be as angry about the unfairness of that as they like, it doesn't change anything.

This is just the nature of the game. I don't make the rules. Get notions of fairness out of your head, the world isn't fair. Something doesn't need to be fair in relation to something else to be valid or true. It would be great if women could pair bond after being complete whores, it would make all our lives easier. Those divorce rates would be a fuck ton lower for a start. But they can't, so they're not. It is what it is.

Whores & Daughters

8 upvotes · 12 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yes this is a great analogy. Very elucidating. Thanks.

Whores & Daughters

8 upvotes · 11 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yes, I am generalising.

Whores & Daughters

8 upvotes · 11 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

As you can see, logic and consistency are feminine strong points.

Lift, Read, and Game. Lets keep it even folks.

8 upvotes · 11 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

These are the three core pillars of TRP to see immediate self-improvement/SMV gains.

The Intelligent Alpha -- Male SMV and why "Dread Game" Works

8 upvotes · 9 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

If 5 is an average chick, 6 would logically be the lowest level of hotness, eg: "remotely hot" or "somewhat hot"

/r/TheRedPill hits 90K subscribers

8 upvotes · 5 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I actually find it refreshing to see a name I recognise. A lot of the time people talk to me/message me as if they know me, but I in turn have no idea who the fuck they are. That's really weird. It's like walking down the street and strangers come up to you knowing fuck tons about you/your opinions but you know nothing about them. About 18 months ago I recognised most of the names in this sub. It's not as personal as it used to be. Nostalgia is a bitch. I'm glad TRP is still going strong.

What TRP isn't talking about: how to achieve true success

8 upvotes · 27 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I see a lot of never get married, never have kids discussions but we're missing a bigger picture.

Expat. Set up shop where the laws aren't pro-feminist and family law at least adopts a modicum of fairness towards men and children. Problem solved. Patriarch game is largely for those mid 30's and up. This of course depends on the gentleman in question and how far he's come. There is no perfect age to transition, it's when you think you're ready. There comes a time where most men want to focus on building their legacy. I don't think TRP really rejects that notion, just because it does not dominate the conversation due to demographics, it doesn't mean you've brought up some profound point that somehow discredits TRP. TRP presents MGTOW as a credible option too, if that's your thing. TRP is many things to many men at many ages, it's up to you what you do and how you do it. Knowing how women work and what you're getting into with them is simply the common thread which connects a multitude of different stages of life progression and lifestyle choice. TRP is about efficiency and maximising male interests, you do what's right for you based on the stage of life you're currently in. Naturally, this will change with age and wealth level.

I've been lurking a while now. Being from eastern country here's my view of it.

8 upvotes · 27 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The saddest part is your countries all aspire to be like America. You want that money. You watch Hollywood movies and you listen to their artists. You will sell your souls to become like America. Look at divorce rates in China. You want strong moral values and shit? Stay at a middle level of power. Too much power corrupts absolutely and the west has all the power (until it's decadence destroys it from the inside-out, at least.) Then an Eastern country like China will take over and then the same shit will happen to them until someone else takes over. Success destroys the successor due to excessive comfort. Humans lose their edge when they live in opulence, perversion sets in and becomes the new norm. Read the Fate of Empires by Sir John Glubb. We're about to hit the collapse in the civilizational cycle. This isn't anything that hasn't already happened before.

The Red Pill Handbook - an free e-book of TRP posts

8 upvotes · 22 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You are in it quite a bit as well.

The horror! Oh the horror. Make it stop!

Do average men in big cities have a harder time getting dates online?

8 upvotes · 20 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Attractive young women move to cities

Searching for cash and alpha cock.

Shit testing stories?

8 upvotes · 20 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Because real men sacrifice for women and children and get fuck all back shitlord!!!!

/s

I never would have received this without you TRP. THANK YOU ALL!!

8 upvotes · 16 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

LMFAO. That's basically what she means.

"Think of how stupid the average person is, and realize half of them are stupider than that."

8 upvotes · 14 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is an absolutely stellar post, good job.

Chinese man moves to Ukraine and lands a 17 year beauty.

8 upvotes · 12 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

In that case it would appear I missed the point.

I think of Arnold Schwarzenegger as the ultimate example of that. Lifted like a motherfucker, worked his ass off, learnt English (native German speaker) Has a dodgy accent, still breaks into Hollywood. Becomes the fucking governor of california.

That dude is someone to look up to.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Arnold_Schwarzenegger

Chinese man moves to Ukraine and lands a 17 year beauty.

8 upvotes · 12 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

We'd make a bucket full of cash off all the naive blue pillers. I'd issue that as a challenge to any dumb blue piller reading this, put your money where your mouth is. Aka: give me all your money because you're wrong but dumb enough to bet.

Some powerful words for those of us trying to raise our SMV

8 upvotes · 12 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

As a bonus I am starting to value my time and my experiences more so than I would have before. I used to always look for the 'next thing', on my way to the top of the mountain, but now I take time to really enjoy whatever I have at this moment, because I know it could all be gone in the blink of an eye.

This is what an enlightened mind looks like.

Don't Get Married

8 upvotes · 8 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The entire purpose of feminism is to bring about the extinction of white race and they seem be close to accomplishing this goal.

If whites die out/get outbred due to cultural Marxism, do you think feminism will disappear from the world and whoever is left will just continue living on in a non-white world then?

Why do you think they are specifically targeting whites with their ideology and not just everybody? I'm not rejecting what you're saying, but I'd like to see the reasoning behind your beliefs.

I heard feminism has started to pick up in the urban parts of India, too, they're not white. It is spreading globally, especially amongst heavily urbanised developed nations.

I can understand feminism as a form of population control if introduced to a society deliberately, but why would they nuke whites specifically? Some conspiratorial holocaust revenge plot? If anything it's the indians and the asians who have too many people on this earth, and as their countries get more powerful and those people leave poverty they're going to start monopolising the planets resources.

Also as an aside, Rome had its own version of feminism before the fall, and it was nothing to do with the Jews and everything to do with the civilizational cycle. So whether a subsection of academic jews are responsible for modern day feminism or not, it can and has manifested "naturally" before.

You can have kids without marriage, too.

I'm sick and fucking tired of men who enable women and their "it's not my fault" bullshit victim complex

8 upvotes · 6 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Great fucking post dude.

You cant have a society full of alphas. Fuck somebody else's wife, both you and the wife go to the ground, that was the law of the past. Fuck whores, sluts, slaves etc, but don't mess with the fabric of society. If the society has given up all pretense of enforcing monogamy on both sexes, then there's no real reason for betas to pay taxes anymore.

I found to be particularly profound.

Germany to introduce legal quotas for women on company boards

8 upvotes · 26 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yes hyperbole. Give 'em an inch and they will take a mile though.

How you know you're Alpha

8 upvotes · 23 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Boundaries are the external to frames internal.

Frame is not being affected internally, boundaries are things you will not stand for externally.

For example, if you went to punch me in the face and I wasn't able to block it but showed indifference to the punch, I held frame but didn't enforce my boundaries. My mental state is fine but my physical is not.

If you went to punch me and I stopped it dead whilst seeming unaffected, then I held frame and enforced my boundaries at the same time. My mental state is fine and my physical state is fine - this is the optimal.

Enforcing boundaries without holding frame is losing your shit and getting very angry, but blocking the punch. My physical state is fine, but my mental isn't.

Make sense?

Do Not "Report" Posts from Rollo Tomassi. You are wasting your time.

8 upvotes · 23 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Would you all rather I c&p my articles directly to a TRP posting?

Not unless you're comfortable with sections 17 and 18 of the reddit user agreement, I'm not, and it's why I don't C&P my full articles anymore.

your content

17 You retain the rights to your copyrighted content or information that you submit to reddit ("user content") except as described below.

18 By submitting user content to reddit, you grant us a royalty-free, perpetual, irrevocable, non-exclusive, unrestricted, worldwide license to reproduce, prepare derivative works, distribute copies, perform, or publicly display your user content in any medium and for any purpose, including commercial purposes, and to authorize others to do so.

So basically, by copying and pasting an entire work of yours and submitting it to the reddit servers, reddit gets permission to plagiarise and re-sell your shit. Not cool.

Thank you.

8 upvotes · 22 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

In short, I'm going to man up. Not because it's what women really want, but because -I- need to and WANT to.

In the immortal words of our dead brother Patrice O'Neal:

"The reason we hate you as much as we do is because you make us work so damn hard to get it, and then when we get it, it doesn't feel like it was worth all that to begin with." <-- not verbatim, but something along those lines.

Polygyny better for women worse for men and society as a whole.

8 upvotes · 21 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Phases are important. Boom-bust. War-peace. Very few people want to live in a never-ending warzone, there's a reason refugee/asylum seekers are a thing.

Edit: to do your comment justice, never-ending peace would be boring, we are a violent species, it would stifle innovation. We are reliant on violence.

Woman from Norway sentenced to pay $50.000 for false rape accusations, after the man recorded their whole date.

8 upvotes · 19 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah much more fluid. Sounds good. Makes sense. Got my upvote.

[48 Days of Power] Day 3 - "Conceal your intentions"

8 upvotes · 17 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Ancient Chinese wisdom is often overlooked in favour of European wisdom by the English speaking world.

48 Laws of Power series - one power per day and discussion. Any interest?

8 upvotes · 15 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It'll be a long time until I finish my deep essays on each law. Naturally, that'll take far longer than 48 days to achieve. Be good to see what the rest of the sub thinks and says about the laws. From the various discussions I've had with people, it seems a lot of people who have read the book have a poor understanding of the laws. People seemed to enjoy the book, but struggle to apply it to their lives beyond the basics, eg: "say less than necessary." Which is of course a straightforward, self-explanatory law.

January 20, 1961-- JFK's inaugural address. How times have changed. Could you imagine a president giving this speech today?

8 upvotes · 9 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Take it you're European. You see since WW2 us Europeans have been conditioned that nationalism is an evil thing, that it led to the Nazis, that it makes you racist and backward. That was then used as a precursor to allow mass third world immigration into Europe which costs the richest countries of Europe billions every year, whilst allowing baby making factories with no skills to take up our housing and live off our taxes.

Luckily in America, they still have an understanding of nationalism. They are still patriotic. Putting your flag up in your window there isn't seen as backward, intolerant or "insensitive to other cultures" like putting up a St. Georges flag is in the UK. In America being american and identifying as American is important, the country has always been a collection of immigrants who all pledge allegiance to one flag and share a national identity. In Europe, the immigrants don't give a fuck about integrating or pledging allegiance to your flag, if anything, they'll stick up a flag from their homeland and play the racially oppressed card.

Mass immigration and anti-nationalism how I see it are just a divide and conquer technique to segregate and trample upon the spirit of the population, keep them distracted with their in-fighting whilst the government does what it wants and vote buys with yet more third world immigration. Poor people always vote democrat/liberals/left because they want more free shit. Mass immigration when there is no evidence of a skills shortage is always used by govt and big business in tandem to vote buy and reduce wages.

[REPOST] The Red Pill Constitution [Updated]

8 upvotes · 8 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm not sure if you're referring to artemis or myself, but I stand firmly on my point about race. Whether it's harder or not, you have to suck it the fuck up and stop being an insecure sack of shit about it. Men have it harder than women, too, if we bitched about how much harder we have it all the time we wouldn't get shit done. "What's the point in working hard as a man when beautiful women don't have to do shit?!" it's the same kind of logic but "What's the point in working hard as a 5'3 Indian when 6'2 white guys can just turn up?" It's a negative mindset to hold onto. If I see a 5'3 indian with a badass attitude doing well in life, I can respect that guy, he's overcoming his shit and he's killing it out there in spite of his limitations. He'll do better than the average guy of any race because he's not an insecure sack of shit.

If that same guy is whining on reddit about how white guys have it easier I think there is no hope for the sap. Less fixation on "who has it easier" and more fixation on "I'm going to be a successful motherfucker." Life isn't fair or equal because of genetics and family wealth, no point bitching about it you're only going to alienate people like that. When guys moan about this it's like they expect the dating game to be fair, or expect life to be an equal playing field where all men get to slay pussy equally. Life isn't fair, life isn't easy and you're still blue pill if you expect to get a fair chance. The only opportunities you get in life are the ones you craft out for yourself, the ones you make available to yourself with your attitude, work, and timing. No matter your starting point, you can have success but you can't hold yourself back because "OH MAI GAWD IM NOT WHITE ITS NOT FAIR!!" - realising the game is fixed and killing it anyway, or realising the game is fixed and thinking "FUCK IT GAI, WHY BOTHER!" is the difference between a beta bitch and an alpha.

Patrice O'Neal was an obese black dude with diabetes who overcame all that shit with humour, confidence and game. He would hardly be considered high SMV from a glance but the motherfucker could hold a room. That guy was bullied in his childhood and grew up dirt poor in the projects. If he can get laid then any of you motherfuckers can.

As for the racism you have received from women I can believe that shit. In fact I do believe who women choose to fuck causes racial tension between men of different ethnicities but that's a discussion for another time. I don't want race bitching drowning out this thread, it's one point in a sea of many in OP and men get too fucking irrational and emotional for my liking when it comes to race discussion. Upvoted you.

Norwegians up in arms about female soldier ordered to bathe nude in a survival exercise

8 upvotes · 4 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women don't belong in politics. The Russian way is the correct way. Too much emotion not enough reason.

Exceptions: Merkel, Thatcher. Too many average bitches in politics. If a woman is in politics, she better be exceptional, we're talking top 1% of women, and I don't mean in beauty, but in logic and intelligence. So no feminists. Rare women. Again, women don't belong in politics.

NEVER EVER trust women who say/act like they are "one of the guys" and have "mostly guy friends"

8 upvotes · 3 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Not my assertion at all. You have miscomprehended. In fact I think lesbianism is more prevalent because so many men are total pussies so the pussy dries up and the women are socialised into being attracted to other women (or at least, turned off by all the weak ass beta men walking around.) If you have to choose between a pussy with a cock, and a pussy with a pussy and you're as sexually fluid as women are, you're going to choose the pussy with the pussy. However, that doesn't mean you don't like cock. I've heard too many stories of lesbians having sex with alpha guys because "they make exceptions." Basically, if a very manly man (and/or muscular/ripped) comes along and holds his own, lesbians are known to jump on that dick. Can't say I blame 'em. It's a fucked up world we live in. Threesome waiting to happen if it's a dyke couple with two submissives.

Hypergamy in action - Prankster pretends to be famous, gets girl to ask HIM for his number.

8 upvotes · 2 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Because these dumb bitches overuse it. ~~Half of the~~ 10% of the time its true, ~~the other half~~ 90% of the time its a shit test.

Women shaming you = a sign you're doing something right?

8 upvotes · 31 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

When I say that I don't want to get married, girls shame the Hell out of me and call me "selfish."

This is because, literally, by marrying a woman in today's climate, you're doing her the favour, not the other way around. See how mad they get about not being able to marry, or men not wanting to marry them? Women are obsessed with that shit, they need men more than we need them, but they have the attitude that its a sellers market when really its a buyers. Fundamentally it is she who is being selfish for expecting a man to sacrifice his own life and happiness just to placate hers. She calls you selfish because you won't sacrifice for a woman, how ironic is that? If all men were like you, there would be nobody to indulge her selfishness and that pisses her off. Bitches are fucked up like that and blind to the hypocrisy, and even if they could see it, they probably wouldn't care. AF/BB is the very definition of selfish.

People do not want you to become Alpha

8 upvotes · 18 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Law 2 - Never put too much trust in friends, learn how to use enemies.

The Game of Power

8 upvotes · 5 October 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

Could you give a scenario where not acknowledging your opponent works to your advantage?

Say you are a funny guy and you are known for being funny. Most people appreciate your ability to make jokes but a specific individual thinks "you're a wise guy that doesn't take anything seriously" and is jealous of your ability to make others laugh. They call you out and they say

"I wouldn't take anything you say seriously, you are always joking around, but really you're the one that's the joke."

You can say something witty back, but this person is less important than you are so you don't need to respond. They already look butthurt. If you reply and address that person then it makes you look butthurt. Even if you say something like "you're just jealous of my sense of humour" or "aww do you secretly admire me?" no matter how you come across or how witty you are, you seem butthurt because you are addressing the attack of a lesser person. You are feeding into their accusations with your status. You dignify their words with a response. Lesser people sometimes say outrageous shit because they want to climb the ladder, to climb the ladder they have to be noticed. They have more freedom in the sense that they are ambitious with nothing to lose, whilst you have your power to lose. If they can't social climb via charm, they will do it via sheer aggression/controversiality. They have to be noticed by people more powerful than they are and steal bits of their power through social challenges such as this, that way with each challenge won a bit of power is taken from the person with influence and redistributed toward the upstart.

A good example of this is within the hip-hop scene. New rappers will often "call out" or "diss" established rappers hoping the established rapper responds to give them PR and credibility. 50 Cent did this when he first entered Hip-Hop by dissing Ja Rule. Ja Rule naively responded, 50 Cent went a step further ruining his career and cemented his own position in the scene.

Could you give a scenario where not acknowledging your opponent works to your advantage?

When someone above you speaks poorly of you, you must seek to mitigate their accusations and go into damage control mode. Do not ignore the negativity of people with more power than you. Let's assume the same thing is being said as in the last example, except this time the person is your social superior, they are more popular in the group you're in.

"I wouldn't take anything you say seriously, you are always joking around, but really you're the one that's the joke."

Now unlike the lower status person, you semi-justify yourself and apply some spin. "You're on point there, but don't worry I take you seriously because I respect you. I joke around to try and keep spirits up." don't say anything condescending like "chill" either, sound kind of indifferent, but seem like you take it seriously with some justification. In a way I suppose you're being pseudo-serious.

You see if you ignore your boss or social superior the way you ignore the upstart, you don't hold onto your power, you lose it by not appeasing the person above you. If you ignore them like you would a social inferior, they view you with contempt, and the contempt of a superior can lead to your exile. Antithetically the contempt of an inferior rarely needs addressing as inferiors have minimal influence over the group vs. yourself. This assumes the inferior is a social inferior and not merely a hierarchical one in the workplace. Those beneath you in a company who are more popular than you are technically above you in the social group despite differences in pay and company position, so be aware of these nuances and calibrate your responses as you see fit. If you are an unpopular manager and all your staff love a supervisor, you are beneath the supervisor. If you sack too many people, you will be seen as the problem by the board of directors or whoever else is above you. So be careful and play smart.

Female co-worker inadvertently reveals TRP truths

8 upvotes · 4 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Be capable of becoming attached to you emotionally and romantically.

My Blue Pill Upbringing

8 upvotes · 26 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminism replaced religion in dictating sexual values to women. Make no mistake the decline of Christianity is necessary for something like feminism to gain any significant headway institutionally within society. Christianity basically shits on feminism by disagreeing with much of the shit they perpetuate today. The reason feminism makes no gains in Islamic countries is because adherence is so high to Islam that the shit feminism says/does is literally blasphemy/against the religion. In the traditionally Christian countries people are either atheist or "casual Christians" meaning they identify with the label but they violate the tenets of their religion all the time. Even within Christians today in the modern west adherence isn't particularly strong with most of them, they don't reflect their religion in how they choose to live their lives. They are "fake" religious people. Not "good" Christians.

It takes a society with a large demographic of atheists and/or the power of religion to weaken to a point where people who are members of that religion don't take its teachings seriously for something like feminism to come about and have any degree of success.

Whether you like it or not religion does encourage a quality over quantity reproductive model by encouraging monogamy and curbs elements of both the male and female sexual strategy in favour of family. The modern west was built on Christian moral values, and this amoral/immoral society is only taking us socially, down the drain.

FYI: I am not a Christian, just my 2 cents.

Co-worker grows some balls

8 upvotes · 19 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Pops was a wise man indeed.

Why men date younger- TRP philosophy reaffirmed by major dating site.

8 upvotes · 15 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

They're not hitting their peak. Their peak was 16-25 they're going head first through the wall in their 30s and they know it. Hence the easy sex.

"Do it for yourself": the pervasive hamster [Reminder post; /u/redpillschool]

8 upvotes · 14 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

MGTOW is what guys who have been burned so bad by the legal system/divorce that they decide going their own is best for them because they couldn't possibly go through the trauma of losing their family/assets all over again. To get their fix of nut busting glory they fuck hookers and watch porn.

Don't look down on shit you haven't got a clue about.

FYI: I'm not MGTOW but the bashing gets old. Leave 'em alone.

Machiavellianism in Business: The difference between the self-made rich (Nouveau Riche) and poor is machiavellian aptitude (skill/competency), whilst the difference between the self-made rich and middle/working class is not just aptitude but likewise ethical constraints.

8 upvotes · 5 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The most successful businessmen also have anti Dark-Triad values.

You know what they're like now they have success, but don't know who they were when they were forging their success. You've seen the end-product, not the developmental process (which is what is interesting to us, and is the focus of this topic.) Kindness can be a symptom of success and comes as part of the freedom to be kind without being crushed for it, rather than a methodological process which ensures or at least, aids success. Even then, people who wish to maintain power in business are not unnecessarily nice (it hurts their bottom line), they are as nice as their business efforts allow them to be. Business ethics and success tend to align with machiavellianism, that's the crux of the OP.

As for your question about running game on women, it is irrelevant to machiavellianism and it's role in social mobility, you're talking about something else entirely there.

You also seem to have made some assumptions about what being machiavellian means, at no point does it say here you must be devoid of compassion, machiavellianism and compassion are not mutually exclusive. These people may be compassionate in some areas of their life, but you can be assured if they were compassionate in business they would not be where they're at. It seems here you're trying to make an argument that "decent people" do well in business, decent people we would assume are "those who don't use machiavellianism", but that isn't what's being indicated by the data collected by the man mentioned in the OP. Just because someone is kind in their leisure time, or is so rich they can engage in philanthropy, doesn't mean they aren't ruthless business men.

You don't have to like the topic or agree with it that's perfectly fine, but you have a weak counter-argument that does not adequately disprove it. Regardless of that, thanks for your input.

What are you doing to increase in your SMV?

8 upvotes · 3 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I thought I'd read a study on it. Must have been some bro science I've picked up. Fuck. Can't find the study on google either, so crossed out the relevant section. Guess it's a commonly perpetuated myth, or guys just like how it makes them feel. Personally it helps me feel rejuvenated so I'm not going to stop. Thanks for pointing out my faux pas.

Jim Jefferies talks about foreplay. Absolutely nails it.

8 upvotes · 3 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Got that and a few other RP-relevant clips of his on the red pill comedy page

New alimony laws in Singapore. (News paper clippings included)

8 upvotes · 24 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Besides, it's an arrangement that suits both husband and wife well and was agreed upon -- whereas, the paying the wife for the rest of the husband's life to not work at all is not something that was agreed upon by the parties.

10 – Agreements with women don't mean shit.

Don't think that if you're honest and they agree to it, that they'll agree it to later, there's no binding legal agreement. Women have integrity amnesia, whatever you decide the relationship will be in the beginning doesn't mean a damn thing. What she wants in a relationship changes based upon her emotions because her reality stems from her emotional state (See #16.) Whatever they agree to in the beginning doesn't mean shit later on, they haven't signed a legal contract, you have to police that, you have to hold firm with the rules, you show you're a real man by sticking to your guns. Likewise, if you establish something as a pattern, that pattern can't change just because she chooses to complain about it.

Caveat to this: despite the language used even when they have signed a legal contract (marriage) it still doesn't mean shit because feminists made sure that contract is fully breachable without legal or financial penalty for breach and recompense to the person who upheld the contract (as is typical in every contract except marriage) but rather they successfully lobbied for the opposite - the person who breaches the contract (typically the woman) receives a payout whilst the person who upheld the contract is penalised. Then, to add even more irony to the situation, they call it "no fault" - it's hilarious how "it not being her fault" is a massive projection of the feminine imperative and its solipsism as whole. Nothing's ever their fault.

I can only echo this beige phillip principle even more loudly when big daddy government goes out of its way to support the fickleness of the feminine imperative, allowing them to dishonour agreements and all kinds of crazy shit under the pretence of some bullshit spin artistry.

Here are the rest of the principles: <http://illimitablemen.com/beigephillipprinciples/>

Nearly one in four British women would try to conceive without their partner's consent if they wanted a baby, research suggests.

8 upvotes · 22 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

To translate: "according to our research, 1 in 4 women are willing to admit they will get pregnant against the wishes of the father."

Men punished for sexual misconduct on college campuses are fighting back

8 upvotes · 21 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

If a chick lies about her age imo she should also be punished for deceiving you into committing a crime. She is facilitating the crime.

Why are Men Leaving the Workforce? [NPR]

8 upvotes · 12 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

hire college educated women to work HR departments who then prioritize other women's resumes over men for the same roles

With the caveat that prettier women will not be hired by HR departments in companies where HR rather than management do the hiring because they are "too pretty", leading to jealousy and the feminazis running the HR department there feeling inadequate, insecure and threatened by the new girls beauty.

Having a hard time finding a woman worth marrying? It's nothing new. Read this excerpt from the bible!

8 upvotes · 7 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Sounds like a rational theory, god = the apex of authority and thus hypergamy can not look for a higher authority to invalidate it.

TRP, you've all helped me understand the nature of women, but now that I understand, I'm not really interested anymore...

8 upvotes · 4 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah you have to be proactive rather than inactive with it.

"Arguing" with women

8 upvotes · 23 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Most basic definition: it's a test for a reaction (to see how solid your emotional state is) on occasion it's a compliance test (to see how dominant you are so the other person can gauge what level of respect to attribute you with) and it's not exclusive to women, men do it to ascribe social hierarchy, women and are prone to shit testing within RELATIONSHIPS to see if "you're still the shit" as well as being employed as part of a woman's "bitch shield" when being chatted up to see "if you are worth their time" - passing shit tests regularly is imperative to social success, most average guys react with logic and thus fail because they don't "understand the game of subtext." Shit tests work on a subtextual level. All this will be in my next article.

"Arguing" with women

8 upvotes · 23 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Apology is a passive admission of fault, in dominance shit tests never admit you are at fault unless you want to cede dominance/respect, by tenacity of their nature all nuclear shit tests are dominance shit tests because they all try to shift the balance of power from the person being tested (the testee) to the person doing the testing (the tester.)

Women are like hard drugs

8 upvotes · 5 July 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

If you don't want to fall in love you treat it like the cocaine you don't want to become addicted to, indulge it every now and again, perhaps once a week at the most, but don't get too close, too much consumption too often will create addiction whether its chemical or psychological.

A little bit of RP goes a long way.

8 upvotes · 30 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I swear that trp bot is fucking broken.

The most attractive trait you can have is happiness. And I'm serious.

8 upvotes · 28 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Counterpoint: cynical sarcastic assholes are fun to be around, happiness and fun surprisingly enough can exist independently of each other, a negative person can have fun and even be the cause of fun in the moment. Cynical witty fuckers are only ever momentarily happy. Look at the comedian Jack Dee.

The Collapse & The Evolution of Awareness

8 upvotes · 28 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Like most things I write it's a long article, grab a mug of coffee and set aside 10 minutes. Apologies that its been a while since my last piece but I'm on something of a partial hiatus (things going on in real life!) I should return to more regular blogging in the future and yes I will finish the stuff on the dark triad. Thank you to all my readers and the red pill subreddit as a whole for inspiring me to write and to continue to write.

-IM

On being "marriage material."

8 upvotes · 26 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

In a manner of speaking, yes it is. As Patrice O'Neal said, a woman will go to the movies with any guy but then disappear afterwards to have sex with the other guy (we're just friends!), whilst a man will have sex with any chick but then go to the movies with people he actually wants to spend time with afterwards, not the lay.

What is Alpha: A long post explaining the flawed mindset many of you have

8 upvotes · 8 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Quality of prose for a non-fiction, combined with the wisdom is outstanding. The only thing it lacks is contemporary examples. The countless examples of tales from history make it seem somewhat fictional in places, although it is a non-fiction. Great book. I'll probably review it eventually.

Focus on Frame: Be a Tortoise

8 upvotes · 8 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women are attracted to wise men.

Not sure about this, known wise guys very young who don't get pussy for being wise, it basically means nothing in terms of SMV, women won't fuck you because of your intellect like they'll fuck you for being ripped. "Oh my, your brain is so big!"

no wonder that women usually date older men than themselves

Because more money/higher status, not so much wisdom. Wisdom isn't sexually attractive it is however a trait that can help get money/status. If you are wise and without money/status it means relatively jack shit.

Nicky Woolf writing for The Guardian's attempt to describe TRP

8 upvotes · 1 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The Guardian is quoting me. Who would have thought it.

Australian judge questions why "only the boy is charged" in underage sex case

8 upvotes · 28 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'll go there. Does "cultural differences" mean the guy was a muslim?

The MRM is a terrorist group!

8 upvotes · 27 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Cherry picking whatever fits your agenda in an attempt to misrepresent something inherently undermines the credibility of whomever engages in such intellectual espionage. EG: the entire bluepill subreddit finds outliers, misinterprets metaphors on purpose and draws a big arrow on anything ever said by any person in anger in TRP and holds that up as a normative representation of the entire groups views (because their minds are made up TRP is bad and they need to reinforce this worldview by cherry picking), advertising on the other hand takes all the best points of something, exaggerates them and then highlights this representation as the norm of the product. Both are idealistic tangents removed from the totality of reality. One ignores the good in something (TBP), the other ignores the bad in something (advertising), both are forms of misrepresentation via cherry picking to serve an agenda.

Some trivia: misrepresentation in contract law is a vitiating factor which voids the contract. It's a shame cherry picking things rather than engaging with them holistically and critically doesn't equally void public opinion. It's very easy to take one aspect of something, amplify it, and run with it. It's what all stupid and/or fearful people do because intellectualising and taking the time to fully understand something is either beyond their comprehension/personal ability or simply beyond one's desire or patience to do so.

Addendum: Close-minded people willfully misinterpret things in order not to undermine themselves, this is where pride can become an extremely limiting factor, accepting one's own interpretations of something are illogical or otherwise incongruent with the idea as it presents itself/was intended to be interpreted/or is accepted by the majority of people who align with such a group can be quite devastating due to the harm to one's pride. Thus some people will seem to never understand something, because to actually understand it would cause them to accept they were wrong all along. They'd rather think they are right than admit their ignorance, even to themselves. Small people massage their egos at the expense of everyone elses tolerance and expect to be taken seriously. I ignore such people. Validating bullshit only makes it grow.

Why I'm leaving TRP

8 upvotes · 20 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Some people will need this sub a lot more than others, one guy might be good within a month, another guy may need it for years. Depends on your starting point, I don't think an omega will magically become alpha within a month somehow even if he's reading the best blogs and listening to the best podcasts because he's already so far down that climbing out and seeing a change is going to take a long time.

Others come here to express views that wouldn't be tolerated anywhere else, they see it as a bastion of free speech for pointing out bullshit.

It also depends on how much money you've got and what you've got to work with to start off with, some people have more obstacles than others, if you're dirt poor good luck affording optimal nutrition to see gains working out and having enough money to hit the town, spin plates, take up new hobbies and buy all the books we talk about. I mean shit, if you're not at least middle class and you want to have a "RP lifestyle" you better start grinding.

"Money over bitches" seems to be quite a fitting term to use here.

RP maxim #1: If need be, get your finances on lockdown by any means necessary in order to fund the lifestyle you want to lead, being another mans bitch feeding off the scraps he feeds you won't allow you to be the man you want to be.

I don't hate women, I just don't respect them, and unless many changes within their gender come about, I never will.

8 upvotes · 16 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That assumes men and women start at the same mental point of origin which they don't. A woman's M.O that is logic is far more impressive than a man's M.O being logic. Men don't have to work so hard to be logical as women do. It's like the sexual double standard, women don't have to work so hard to get laid as men do. A man being logical is simply growing up and not having a retarded IQ, a woman being logical is overcoming that ridiculous mixture of progesterone, estrogen and other crap she has inside her. So yes, if it's rarer and harder to do, it's worthy of praise. Further example: it's impressive when a cripple walks, it's not impressive when you or I walk. Liken that to being ruled by logic rather than emotion in a man vs women context, women find it infinitely harder by nature of their condition.

Are there people here who's friends have all married and your whole social circle is made up of married couples and you're the only single guy?

8 upvotes · 6 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The problem with the internet is people identify typos and grammar and then use them as a way to discredit people or be general dicks, as such, it is often assumed people are being dicks even when they're just annoyed by the faux pas of a typo and trying to help.

Regarding "Monk Mode" and The 48 Laws of Power

8 upvotes · 24 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Can I do this to acquaintances?

Whoever you want

how can I get out of that mindset?

Experience serious pain, heartbreak, betrayal, etc. Pain is a good teacher and a good motivator.

Pain is like chicken pox, if you don't experience it when you're young but encounter it when you're much older, you're fucked.

Regarding "Monk Mode" and The 48 Laws of Power

8 upvotes · 24 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Link the laws to your desires and then use them on people.

If you want to impress someone use law 5, 30, 32, 37 and 34 and 43. Those are the laws you'd use to get laid. If she was in your social circle, you'd use law 27 too. As for law 32, you'd need to workout what male archetype she desires the most and portray it.

If you have an enemy then use law 44 to fight them.

The toughest law is law 48, "assume formlessness" which basically means "never form an identity, or, allow someone to perceive a solid identity of you, always have them guessing what your position is, hint at what your position could be but don't be pinned to a position"

As a metaphor, law 48 is essentially "be like water" if you're in a bottle, you are one shape, if you're in a kettle, you're another shape, you can never be grasped because you are ever changing, you are unpredictable, people cannot predict your response or your next move because there is no pattern to what you do, nothing that gives away your disposition.

In my opinion law 48 is the most complex law, stay away from that for the time being it's advanced level shit, it's probably the only law I've not managed to fully master myself. I have an understanding of the law, but it's essentially the most difficult law out of all of them to practice, it's not a law you can apply in a short term interaction, it's a long term law, it's a law that is embodied into your personality, not something that is used as a device within an interaction, it is a passive law not an active law.

Edit: if you dumb law 48 down to the short term, it is "to be predictably unpredictable." But Greene doesn't mean it like that or he would have just said "be unpredictable" he's talking about your actual personal identity as a machiavellian and how that is portrayed over the long term.

Regarding "Monk Mode" and The 48 Laws of Power

8 upvotes · 24 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I edited up my post a bit and added extra info.

As for gaining the skill itself, the best opponent to sharpen your machiavellianism is a woman, mark my words, no matter what you hear or whatever anyone says, no matter what popular opinion wants you to think about women, the truth is that women have much more innate machiavellian talent than men do. There's a lot of shit they do worse than men. Machiavellianism isn't one of them.

Don't let anyone tell you otherwise. If you want to sharpen your machiavellianism get into a relationship with a chick, any chick, merely for the purpose for practicing your machiavellianism. If you hold onto a kind of morality that "no I shouldn't be only getting into a relationship just to practice machiavellianism on a girl" then you lack the amorality to be machiavellian, at best, your ethics allow you to recognise what other people are doing if you memorise the book, but you will not be able to become an active manipulator.

Good luck.

Found A Chunk Of Gold From 4chan For PUAs

8 upvotes · 23 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

otherwise fall in love with what you are.

Are you trying to say people should follow what they're good at rather than becoming a stereotype they're not comfortable with just to seem attractive, but rather, corner their own natural niche? If that's what you're saying then I can buy into that. If you're a guy who wants to really rack up the notches with lots of casual sex however, weightlifting dbag is the way forward.

Brainwashing starts as young as 10 by Texas school "Men are the ones most likely cheating"

8 upvotes · 18 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Widespread feminism would be impossible without institutionalised enforced state education.

Academia for all its merits, is at fault here. The no.1 enemy of a bullshit-free world.

Maintain Frame.

8 upvotes · 16 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Lots of Beige Phillip principles in play in this FR. I've noticed the following in play:

13 - Be Ready to take the L.

Do not be afraid to leave, if things aren't working out you've got to leave, and you've got to communicate to her that you will leave. If she calls you on that, you have to follow through. If you're afraid to argue with her, let alone leave, then she's pimping you with the pussy and you're not in control.

17 - Feminine indifference is dangerous.

Never have a woman be indifferent about you. Have her love you, have her hate you but don't have her be indifferent, indifference is the nail in the coffin. If you piss a girl off she's more likely to fuck you.

20 - Don't chase them, replace them, remain unaffected.

You've gotta like you so that when these women make a decision that goes beyond your scope of patience, you'll be ok. You don't control a woman, your patience does. You have to be consistently inconsistent and unaffected, understand the emotions that she's giving you she's just bouncing off you to get a rise. You have to be kinda robotic "this is what we're doing? OK I'll drop you off" being consistently inconsistent is what keeps her off-balance, it creates interest and keeps her interested in you. In poker, if you keep bluffing or raising then they're gonna catch you, you have to mix it up.

23 - The game is going down.

The game is happening whether you're playing or not, you can either learn to play good or you can learn to lose. Choosing not to play the game doesn't mean you're not in the game it just means you're gonna lose quicker. You have to learn the rules of engagement in order to play the game.

24 - Create a bidding war.

Bitches always want what they can't have. If a girl sees you with another chick or that you're generally just having a good time with other people she'll want a part of that. That's how you start a bidding war, by not giving a fuck about her and by nature of logistics, she forced to see you doing your own thing and having a good time. Jealousy is the active ingredient in a bidding war.

Specifically with #24, she tried to start a bidding war by flirting with the guy at the bar knowing OP was looking, so OP grinded on a hot female friend, he replied to her bidding war with his own bidding war. Oh such fun and games, I do love analysing this shit after the fact but nothing beats observing it first hand, much less participating in the equation yourself. Intergender dynamics are fucking hilarious when you understand it all, you start walking around understanding everything, seeing it all go down and laughing to yourself constantly. The constant bemusement creates an aura of amused mastery to your frame as you're like "yeah I've seen this shit before." It's usually how I am every time I go out and see people trying to win girls, or girls playing games to get at guys out of spite.. perpetually amused. There's not much funnier than a clueless beta/omega trying to win female validation with his pathetic antics or a butthurt girl acting out in jealousy trying to win alpha validation.

Maintain Frame.

8 upvotes · 16 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Interesting. Care to elaborate? What are the distinctions between each term? Frame to me is how you handle the situation. Behaviour to me is the same as frame. Identity is the labels you identify with. What about state, naturally feeling the correct frame, eg: IDGAF?

Women have an emotional CPU

8 upvotes · 15 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

everybody makes grandiose statements about the current state of affairs and how it will bring about the downfall of humanity when really they have no evidence at all. It's an emotional argument wrapped in the veneer of logic.

A prediction based upon crime and incarceration statistics, education statistics, sexual behaviour statistics and mental health statistics. Specifically but not limited to, statistics relating to single mothers raising boys. Boys raised without mothers are less likely to go to university, more likely to go to prison, more likely to abuse drugs/alcohol and more likely to suffer from a mental disorder.

You talk like as if these assertions and predictions are unsubstantiated because people can be emotional in communicating them, there is a solid basis for this reasoning regardless of the type of emotion used to communicate such a prediction.

http://www.photius.com/feminocracy/facts_on_fatherless_kids.html

That url contains a body of evidence showing that a large section of society is being less productive, enjoying a lower quality life and helping to contribute to the shitfest which is the decline of civilized society via the insitution of single parenthood, specifically, women raising boys.

Search for anecdotal evidence from 2 generations back to hear from the elderly about how they were the "last proper generation" and hear how things were in their day with nuclear families and such were the norm.

When single motherhood becomes normalised, society starts to crumble. Emancipating fathers from daughters and sons is NOT GOOD for society and feminism has effectively allowed/encouraged this by making divorce easy and incentivising to women. Now a woman doesn't have to work at the marriage for the sake of her children, she can just shit on the guy and deny the children a father when she cannot be bothered anymore.

Here's a little tidbit for you:

Researchers in Michigan determined that "49 percent of all child abuse cases are committed by single mothers." Source: Joan Ditson and Sharon Shay, "A Study of Child Abuse in Lansing, Michigan," Child Abuse and Neglect 8. (1984).

Prior to a ten day trip to Beijing I have coming up, I stumbled upon this article. Thought you chaps might find it amusing. ("western" women in china are sick of the nerds they ignored back home getting all the attention from the natives)

8 upvotes · 13 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

unlike men who can shelve their desire to fall in love, poor expat women are always open to being swept off their feet.

I thought women needed men like fish needed bicycles? Clearly that's bullshit. I suppose we can do away with the illusion of independence if its winning a sympathy vote for the ladies. Haha, how pathetic.

Become Smarter, Stronger and More Refined

8 upvotes · 13 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Allocate time for your profession and time for yourself, the time for yourself should be time which is independent of what you do. You should never "always be reachable." You need reading time, gym time, "cooking time" or whatever other hobbies you take on to be completely alone with your thoughts so you can concentrate on the task at hand. Whilst doing these things, you should be unreachable to people from your professional world, if you've already got a healthy lifestyle you can perform these actions with others, but if you're low SMV and looking to improve yourself, others are just distractions. Turn your mobile data off, turn on blocking mode/call divert and get off the internet so you not only do these things, but you do them undisturbed.

If your profession demands you remain socially connected you're going to have less time to give yourself for actualisation independent of what you do to make your bread and butter, this only makes your spare time even more precious. Never have all your eggs in one basket, you need to develop yourself in many areas to keep yourself adaptable, he who adapts best thrives. I'm not saying not to specialise, what I am saying is not to be ignorant of other areas of your life. Have your fingers in as many pies as possible and when it comes to yourself, make sure you're not neglecting any areas of importance (health, money, aesthetics, status, learning etc.) Obviously being a musician is good for social factors and if you're a success, making money, but that doesn't mean learning, aesthetics, health and all the rest of it should take a back seat.

Also, within your profession, do not let people waste your time. If people fuck with you, leave, or tell them to get lost. You value yourself then you value your time and have no tolerance for such antics.

The Red Pill is Intolerant of Irrationalism and Equality

8 upvotes · 10 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The revocation of basic human rights is not what is meant by anti-egalitarianism, that is to take meritocracy to an extremity, it is the idea that beyond your basic human rights and any basic life sustaining safety net that your government provides should it provide any, that you alone are responsible for your power and must take responsibility for your own development and social standing rather than expecting some institutionalised factor to redistribute the fruits of labour to you due to the idea of entitlement. Like respect, you must work for what you want and earn it rather than expect to have it handed to you, this is what is meant by meritocracy versus egalitarianism. If you are not competent enough to succeed meritocratically, then you shall be sustained minimally within the human hierarchy, but you are undeserving of greater power as you lack the competency to wield said power.

A meritocracy is about promoting the capable and demoting the incapable, it is a utilitarianist concept, it is the opposite of nepotism, which is what politically correct ideology encourages at the institutionalised level. "EG: you're gay and jewish? We're lacking gay and jewish people in our corporation, we're going to hire you based on who you have sex with and what religion you align with", this kind of "equal opportunities policy" is not based on merit, but on perverse inclusivity stemming from a radical branch of egalitarianism, it is giving people a free pass based on things such as race, religion, gender and sexual preference rather than their actual ability to perform, this is something TRP rejects at the fundamental level. If someone is incapable of doing something, it is illogical to grant them the power to do it, they have no entitlement to that position.

I don't think Red Pill has fully crystallized as a theory of social behavior or a philosophy

I agree.

Sociopaths can spot a pussy by the way he walks

8 upvotes · 9 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I agree with what you're saying. I find it vastly unjust and irritating however that if you replace the word "asians" with "whites" in this gentlemans sentence it instantly becomes racist to the common ear, despite preference, comfortability, identity, or whatever.

The hilarity is, in the bigger picture, and not within "white societies" on this planet, whites are a minority vs asians/blacks on a planetary scale and they also have the lowest birth rate versus the other major races (thanks feminism), obviously in their own countries whites are the majority (and they should be, if they founded said existing society) but due to intermixing, feminism and mass immigration from the third world they're on a declining trajectory within their own societies too, let alone on the planet as a whole.

Mass immigration is the result of white societies being the most successful and labour/specialisation chasing opportunity, if it was otherwise, whites would emigrate en masse to places like Africa or Southeast asia to chase prosperity rather than the reverse, as such, to the point they would become a visible minority rather than fragmented expat communities within these locales which of course they never do (to my knowledge.)

Can anybody name a country which is homogeneously/dominantly non-white, with a visible white minority? I don't mean a few businessmen in a SAR like Hong Kong, I'm talking around 5%+ of your entire population. I don't think such a society exists.

Women have an inherit and unfair advantage in the dating game. But dont be fooled

8 upvotes · 6 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

People who don't want to use makeup to hide their terrible skin should reduce sugar consumption to a minimal, take a fish oil supplement (omega 3) squeeze a lemon a day into a drink, perhaps green tea and drink it. Drink at least 5 glasses of water, if you're working out you'll drink that easily that day, probably more.

Vitamin C is important for healthy skin, as is omega 3 to bring down inflammation (as foods are so full of omega 6, causing immune inflammation response) and water to remain hydrated. Do all those things and any shit you have wrong with your skin will improve, even mild eczema/dermatitis.

Beta husband falls for the "polyamory trap" lets other men fuck his wife. Guess what happens?

8 upvotes · 24 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

She's gone FULL dark triad on his ass. Poor fuck.

Is there a "gentle" introduction to the concepts?

8 upvotes · 22 March 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

I agree with what /u/Modified_Hackware is saying, however it wouldn't hurt to get him listening to <http://beigephillip.com/>

The beige phillip principles are very helpful in dealing with women.

Tits or GTFO

8 upvotes · 22 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Just look at Sweden, one of the most emasculated nations in the world and it's a socialist utopia. Feminism cannot fully manifest in a capitalist state like it can in a socialist one. Sweden is beyond FUCKED.

What about our moms?

8 upvotes · 19 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

our mother is someone special(for most of us)

Yeah.

capable of a rational thinking and wise decisions, just like a man.

Haha, no. Your mother is not like a man. Her decisions in relation to you are based on motherly instinct, that's more feminine than anything else.

TRP Reality finally setting in

8 upvotes · 19 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

one's lifestyle is merely a reflection of their habitual mental state.

This is pretty fucking profound, good stuff.

How Women Argue

8 upvotes · 9 March 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

just keeping frame and never step down to their level works too.

This is golden, I have to do this a lot with an argumentative bitch I know who has the tenacity of a bull but the logic of a sieve.

How Women Argue

8 upvotes · 9 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I've known women in the workplace who seem to be able to apply logic and reasoning, and who can change their minds and make good business decisions based on rational arguments.

They are the rare exceptions, and despite being the exceptions this is nothing more than a capability for them, not a propensity. They usually need someone else to supply the logic and reasoning in order to "change their minds" (but not always), however they will only do this if they think it is in their favour to do so, how they interpret favour is based on many interpersonal factors, that, or they will apply the decision regretfully as by not applying it they would look silly, in essence, forcing their hand. A woman forced to be logical by sake of her own reputation is simply playing the game and by forcing her to do the logical thing, you may make an enemy out of her on a personal level. Generally speaking, female bosses are a nightmare to work for, although there are definitely some rare delights out there.

It's hard to expand on this when we're not using a particular example for reference, but essentially the smartest women who are capable of making good logical decisions still have a preference for emotion, it takes them a lot to overcome their biased emotional preference and reach the clarity of reason which comes much more easily to a man. Typically, in contrast to men, women as a whole are not good at making the tough decisions. There are of course sociopathic women, these women are brilliant at making tough, calculated decisions and do present a more logical decorum, even if that logic is merely machiavellian intelligence at work and not logical objectivism per se.

A quote from Aristotle which I live by.

8 upvotes · 9 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Time to find a 24 hour bro.

Funeral for two women--which do you want to end up being in the end?

8 upvotes · 8 March 2014 · /r/RedPillWomen

TLDR: You're playing a risky game when you decide career is more important than family, as a woman.

2 Funerals for 2 Grandmothers. One feminine, the other feminist.

8 upvotes · 8 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

One was a red pill traditional woman, the other a blue pill career woman.

The traditional woman was loved and cared for and will be remembered.

The career woman was loved by none and only her academic contributions, not her, will be remembered.

It's an antithetical distinction between the legacy of a red pill and a blue pill woman respectively.

Inspirational Movie : Limitless (2011)

8 upvotes · 5 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This movie is one of a few reasons I chose my name. It encapsulates a lot.

Women in academia are less likely than men to cooperate with lower-ranked colleagues, study shows (xpost from /r/psychology)

8 upvotes · 4 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I commented, there's a hamster in the comments there already. Ha.

Red Pill Antibiotic Nuke, Come and Feed

8 upvotes · 25 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

A very good question and my answer would be: as soon as he hits puberty.

When he starts uttering blue pill bullshit pull him up on it and correct it. You can teach him masculine traits from a very young age, encouraging fitness, sports and martial arts, but I'd say dating doesn't really start to resemble anything remotely serious until they hit puberty. When he's a teenager you can take him out in the field and show him reality through the RP lense. A lot of guys lose their self-esteem in high school due to failures with the opposite sex, help him have high SMV from a young age and instead of being a pile of regrets his high school memories will be something he cherishes that help propel him into manhood well into his 20's.

I do not speak from experience, only opinion. If you'd like a fathers opinion based on experience, you'd be best off making a topic in /r/asktrp

Edit: typo

Red Pill Antibiotic Nuke, Come and Feed

8 upvotes · 24 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Damn he knows his shit.

Transcribed:

You gotta look good, look good you play good, play good, pay good, play good, live good. Live good, you gon' eat good. That good.

All men with game are just good salesmen [X-post from /r/alreadyred]

8 upvotes · 24 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I agree wholeheartedly, however although it is rarer - machiavellianism can be used altruistically to better people, despite the bad wrap it gets and how averse people are of machiavellians the power can be used FOR GOOD.

It is not the power that is evil, it is the person wielding it that becomes intoxicated by its ability to control that commits evils.

One can be machiavellian, but not necessarily psychopathic. I know you didn't say they were the same thing however I thought it apt that this distinction was made. You can have heart, emotions, honour and all the rest of it and still be a calculating machiavellian. The only difference is that the more love you have in your soul, the more difficult you will find it to act in the most challenging of circumstances, constrained by your morality and the inherent battle which is your desire to be virtuous versus your desire to be successful. There is a cost-benefit analysis that must be undertaken and a final decision which must be made in such circumstances which may result in you violating your own morality in order to attain the success you need. Inherently machiavellianism is amoral, it's up to you as an individual what you do with it. Naturally, being psychopathic makes it easier to wield.

Red Pill Antibiotic Nuke, Come and Feed

8 upvotes · 23 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is one large glorified NAWALT. You're identifying nuances and expecting them to be argued, the exceptions prove the trends. Your study for example which says women give more charitably, there are other studies which show men give more charitably. Everyone uses studies as intellectual weapons, and discounts anecdotal, it's hilarious.

Your pedanticism about family courts in jurisdictions shows nothing but intellectual nitpicking and pedanticism yet again, the anglosphere in its entirety despite the differing jurisdictions STILL is unilaterally biased in favouring the female across the board which should only reinforce the severity of the issue. Denying the male disadvantage in the legal system is going to win you no love here, you're bold for having the audacity to dispute that with such a weak argument. Bold or stupid? I'm not sure.

Some of your points are misunderstandings of the point made, such as point 11. I don't know where it says a man's sexual value is everything, it's surely not - it's one facet of power that should be harnessed however. Your other points take a debunking stance but are merely pedanticism accusing these things of being generalisations, yes they are generalisations and the exceptions prove the trend. Calling something a generalisation does not refute its premise, on that premise alone you may as well just declare all philosophy irrelevant as it's not backed by a study. I'll put more stock in observable philosophy than laboratory performed studies any day, thanks. One requires a biased funding source, one doesn't - I could go on, but I shan't. I would address your post point by point but quite frankly I have neither the time nor the inclination to engage in such a pursuit and feel this post has already gotten far too long.

I thought men weren't great at manipulation?

Men generally speaking are not, but that doesn't mean there aren't exceptions and I'm hardly representative of your average man, I find it ironic how your whole post takes the position of listing exceptions with women to debunk points, for almost the entirety of your post but then when you refer to me, you become very general yourself - great subtle shade of grey there, love the transition in technique, being quite so smooth shows machiavellian proficiency, I'm going to assume you're a woman, am I correct in that? If not, you too have some machiavellian skill as a man. Clearly this point is a reference to my machiavellian articles which I have a reputation for, I can hardly deny being a great manipulator can I? I'm a great manipulator, that doesn't make any of these bullet points less true and my character is irrelevant to the efficacy of this wisdom. This rhetorical ad hominem is irrelevant to the post entirely although I appreciate how the lesser minds would fall for it as a method of persuasion, in fact I admire that manoeuvre very much so, I hope it was calculated or innate rather than just random luck on your part.

Girls always go to bat for the girl's club no matter how small the issue.

8 upvotes · 22 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminists are the biggest group of unintellectual retards that get taken seriously, like shit with the atheists battling the devoutly religious that pretty much only leaves feminism as the singular batshit crazy ideology which is uncontested and unpopular to oppose.

Monday Guilt

8 upvotes · 17 February 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

Recently, it's been less of a monday guilt, and more of a monday sadness, that you really can't trust a bitch these days.

I'll raise a glass to that.

Blue Pill vs. Red Pill: Voice Tonality

8 upvotes · 17 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Great video, basically don't be a tryhard and "beg" to be listened to.

Speak indifferently or disapprovingly, both are more attractive than the sales pitch on the street clipboard warrior "trying for rapport" HEY EXCUSE ME CAN I HAVE JUST 5 MINUTES OF YOUR TIME?!

"No, fuckoff" your brain instantly says, it's like "beta voice" or some shit. Lmfao.

Tales of Hypergamy — Recursive Game

8 upvotes · 11 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Right, it's a semanticism.

Stories of sadistic bitches, got any?

8 upvotes · 8 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Basically. In fact the mpd chick I knew loved horses lmao.

Reading List

8 upvotes · 8 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Thanks for the suggestion! So many books, such little time...

Stanley the psychopath. Excerpts and analysis by Chateau Heartiste from The Mask of Sanity, a book written by American psychiatrist Hervey M. Cleckley, first published in 1941.

8 upvotes · 6 February 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

Reading stories about real-life psychopaths and their escapades is far more interesting than having psychopathy explained to you on an intellectual level.

I really enjoyed reading this piece. However I will say, reading about psychopaths isn't too instructional, what you take it from is based upon your own perception/ability.

This is a very enjoyable piece but even with heartistes interpretations there's not much I could take from it, in fact a lot of the things he's saying aren't really psychopathic in nature, the psychopath employs certain techniques but they are not psychopathic per se, as in - belonging exclusively to the psychopathic mind.

Take away the quotes and you're getting a bullet list of points which is the core meat of the post. It's a long post mainly due to the copious quotations being briefly analysed. The only actual psychopathic trait looked at is the inability to give a fuck about other people, the other things although used by the psychopath are not exclusively psychopathic, I've repeated that because it's important to make this distinction.

- Outcome independence
- Aloofness
- Always DHV, never DLV
- Inability to feel emotion for other people/IDGAF (for a normal person that's practicing stoicism to emulate it or taking drugs in light/low quantities to kill anxiety/stress but retain self-control)
- Be spontaneous
- Be fearless
- Use fear and violence to persuade (push)
- Use charm to persuade (pull)
- Have strong inner-game (narcissistic self-confidence, not narcissistic need for approval)

The problem with reading about psychopathy is most of us aren't genetic psychopaths and therefore you're not reading shit from someone who has actual experience. The closest you can get is having a "friend" or relation that is a psychopath and observing their shit. Those of us who have met or grown up with some fucked up people who may or may not have been diagnosed as psychopathic are thus the closest thing to constitute "experience of psychopathy" other than a psychopath themselves.

The closest I personally ever get to legitimately feeling and behaving psychopathic is when I'm intoxicated occasionally. I've tasted that baseless narcissism which sends you off to go conquer shit, it's incredibly psychologically addictive, one could almost say as addictive for a man as love is addictive for a woman.

It takes ridiculous skill for a healthy person to emulate a psychopath, you're fighting your genetics and having to overcome feelings and sensations which are simply absent in an actual psychopath... to use a metaphor it's like a woman lifting so she can be as strong as the average man, but then the average man goes and lifts and she can't match that. Compared to the average woman she seems quite manly and strong, but she's not a strong man.

Remember guys, you can learn from these people but you cannot become them - despite how much you want to escape your pain. Trust me, I know. You can get close to it, very close, but you will always have "a soul."

As far as I'm concerned psychopaths are soulless "people", I use the word "people" loosely. They are fascinating, sometimes incredible, seductive and even intelligent. But they are not people. There is nothing but a cold inner core, it's not self-control or the mark of a well-disciplined man, it's simply an absence of humanity which sets them apart from the rest.

A psychopath will betray you/abandon you at a moments notice also. It's called outcome independence here, try being on the receiving end of that shit and see "how you feel" then though. Exactly. There's outcome independence and then there's objectifying everyone and not giving a fuck about them, again, subtle distinctions are to be made.

Btw, my dark triad results from some test (I left the url intact in the pic if you want to use the test yourself):

<http://i.imgur.com/5oiO7oU.png>

So to break down what the results say and what they mean: I can manipulate the shit out of people but I'm not overly in love with myself (the less logical you are the easier it is to baselessly love yourself which is why women probably get really high narcissism scores in the west.)

Looks like stoicism could do with some more work but I'm in the top 49% (of this sample, which is people who are aware of the dark triad, in the actual population I'm gonna be way higher up the spectrum.) I've had times where narcissism has been a lot higher, narcissism is one of those things that is most in a state of flux, I believe unless you were raised from a young age to be narcissistic that it is the most malleable dark triad trait. Narcissism can be inculcated socially unlike psychopathy. Narcissism is perhaps more important than both machiavellianism and psychopathy when it comes to a short term mating strategy or even making friends/causing attraction in both men and women (not purely sexual) as it's a constant DHV, hence my own personal quest to experiment with it and raise it within myself. I see myself as a project, fuck what society tried to make me, I'll use that 95 percentile machiavellianism to build me a new me - I suggest the same to all of you too.

More shit to say:

Machiavellianism - social strategy, planning, contingency planning (hypothetical weakness deduction), analysis & observance (cold-reading), emulation/mimicry, awareness and understanding.

Psychopathy - self-control, fearlessness, emotionally grounded.

Narcissism - charisma/attraction, confidence, self-presentation/looks orientated, superficiality.

Psychopaths get shit done. Narcissists are popular and loved by many. Machiavellians pull the strings.

-Illimitable

Girl willingly lets famous photographer take a picture of her tits. He finds out & pussy pass proceeds to rescue her.

8 upvotes · 6 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Hoes gonna hoe.

"You are weird"

8 upvotes · 3 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

When girls calls me an asshole I immediately feel immense satisfaction, it is literally a fucking compliment for me. They don't intend it to be one, but I always take it as one. Means I'm doing my shit right.

We know the nice guys aren't getting any unless its pity pussy or "take control of the situation pussy"

DAE notice that a red pill man in a serious relationship turns the woman red pill?

8 upvotes · 3 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You tell 'em you're going to fuck the feminism out of them with your dick. When she orgasms consider the exorcism complete.

Someones gotta remove those demons.

Are there exceptions to the laws of attraction? 38yo "milk" goes for 20yo depressed beta. (On behalf of my recently awakened friend)

8 upvotes · 2 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It's some weird freudian mother-son sexual dynamic. Like a non-incestuous oedipal complex in reverse.

Single and Educated: China's "Leftover" women

8 upvotes · 1 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Plus there are tons of successful women that just want a beta man

They are just being pragmatic, they don't really "want" a beta, they don't respect him or feel love for him, they're just "settling" because they wasted their best years in a classroom or office block rather than building a family around themselves.

Play On People's Need to Believe – 48 Laws of Power/Dark Triad

8 upvotes · 29 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

"Playing games" (gossiping, mind games, challenges of masculinity) is a sign of immaturity.

Whether you think the tactics are mature or not is irrelevant, all that matters is their efficacy. The dark triad end-game is about power acquisition and maintaining power, everything else is here nor there.

If you're looking at maturity from the perspective of reputation (which is relevant to power) then in the presence of a talented machiavellian you would be unaware of the vast majority of their tactics as it wouldn't be all laid out for you like it is in the article, thus you would not perceive immaturity but the image they had constructed for you and convinced you of using these "immature methods" if that makes any sense.

New to Red Pill, just had a HUGE realization by making a simple calculation.

8 upvotes · 26 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah except my first love I think almost every girl I've fucked has had a boyfriend says enough really women will fuck you if they think you're the upgrade for their current situation - alpha fucks, beta bucks. Most guys stuck in a relationship are getting a raw deal, shit/no sex and she looks for sex elsewhere whilst keeping him on a leash its pretty fucked up.

Also, this: /r/TheRedPill/comments/1vdgjq/youre_new_here_welcome_now_shut_up_read_this/

Equity Private Blog: Business school hypergamy, infidelity, sluttery.

8 upvotes · 25 January 2014 · </r/TheRedPill>

I'm surprised because if one of them went for the same placement gig and got it over you (because they fucked someone) I'm not sure they'd be that honest as to how they got the gig.

Agreed, if they actually stole a placement from under my nose they'd just claim superiority. If I could get them a placement they'd spread 'em.

Redpillers, what was your relationship like with your mother?

8 upvotes · 19 January 2014 · </r/TheRedPill>

Threads like this are just cat feed for all the boring lifeless souls over at BP who spend a good portion of their lives analysing and ridiculing this sub rather than actually doing something productive with their time eg: self-improvement/learning/getting money.

Not sure how anyones personal relationship with their mother is relevant or beneficial to the sub.

"Two there always are. No more, No less." (Yoda on targeting girls in the club)

8 upvotes · 18 January 2014 · </r/TheRedPill>

If one of the two girls fucks off to the smoking area you already have isolation and escalation is easier than counting to 5. Prepare for the cock tease still ;)

New report says millions of women at risk of falling into poverty, economic ruin

8 upvotes · 13 January 2014 · </r/TheRedPill>

"When women do well, men do well and the nation does well,"

Implies women make good leaders. Hint: they don't, they make great tyrants though.

"Men Are Obsolete" - thought you might 'enjoy' this

8 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · </r/TheRedPill>

Undoubtedly.

32 year old Indian woman dual mating strategy, Indian Men vs White Men

8 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · </r/TheRedPill>

The cuteness is what she uses to catch you off guard. Concealing her intentions and then when she finally voices them/makes them obvious it will hurt you less as you're high off the oxytocin of her cuteness. Bitches gonna manipulate man. Think of it as a mosquito, it numbs the skin so you can't feel it's bite. Then later on you're left thinking "wtf? how'd that happen?"

Young doctor wonders why women are suddenly after him. Gets slaughtered by hamsters on r/askwomen. These are redpill truths in action.

8 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Pavlovs fucking dog.

The red pill makes me want to leave my wife

8 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The problem with kids (yes I want kids when I'm older, still in my 20's) is that they tap into the man's sense of honour thus reducing his effectiveness in marital war.

Women however have no honour and therefore they weaponise the man's honour via the kids as they see it as a weakness in the man. The kids are always a bitches pawns.

I've always fucking hated this truth.

Girls really do mature quicker than boys, scientists find.

8 upvotes · 10 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Lol at everyone making the fallacy of assuming

"quicker means superior" and "mature" means "advanced"

Mature in this context means physical growth, basically they grow boobies and pubic hair quicker and thus they go around the rest of their life on some trumped up narcissism thinking they're "the superior more enlightened gender" but its bullshit, compared to fully grown men fully grown women are fucking children logically and emotionally. They take no blame for anything and go around in a mental bubble, blame-shifting, projecting and ego protecting. It's quite pathetic to observe when you're taught your whole life to perceive women as being better and more than they actually are.

TIL: Cesar Millan's wife (The Dog Whisperer) filed for divorce in March 2010. She ended up receiving a single payment of $400,000, monthly spousal payment of $23,000 (that's $276,000 a year), AND $120,000 a year in monthly child support. Cesar Millan then attempted suicide.

8 upvotes · 8 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Oh dear lord. Someones still in Disneyland.

Internet dating? If you're 25 and female you'll get luckiest but men's age irrelevant - as long as they're rich! - says new survey

8 upvotes · 6 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Women can deny it until they morph into hamsters, they're superficial vapid users - 99% of them. Why people continue to be surprised chicks dig money is beyond me, very few exceptions so accept the generalisation. Capitalism and consumerism only made this shit worse, btw. Why do you think they get so mad when you call them out on it? Not because it's not true but because it is - it's essentially exposing them for the users that they are.

Trading sex for resources, humanities oldest job. I affectionately refer to it as pussy peddlin'

The basics explained, and our direction for 2014.

8 upvotes · 2 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Depends how hot she is, if she's incredibly hot the water may evaporate before she even gets moist.

A small but gold nugget advice my dad told me a long time ago... which I think is redpill worthy

8 upvotes · 1 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Why do you think that's the rule? Making yourself replaceable decreases your power. Your field gives no shits about you, just replacing your skillset when you die or retire. You're actively facilitating your own obsolescence, although your field expects you to do that as part of the role you're paid for.

Not trying to be a dick, it is what it is man. Law 11 is very relevant.

Dark Triad - Researchers use Facebook status updates to find potential psychopaths.

8 upvotes · 27 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The algorithm devised by the Swedish researchers to assess psychopathy

Ah, the feminazis are interested in the dark triad, surprising isn't it? /s

Sikström said Facebook users more likely to exhibit psychopathic traits tended to post about negatively charged subjects, like decapitation and pornography.

Err, no. A dark triad is smart enough not to fuck up their reputation like that. Since reading that I think its safe to deduce this study is full of shit. Still, the potential is interesting nevertheless. Data mining for personality traits.

Another reason, if you value your privacy, not to have Facebook, instagram or any of that bullshit.

"The top 5 things every husband should know". Pure beta propaganda, rampant with hamstering and a couple textbook shit tests

8 upvotes · 23 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Maintaining attraction is just as important as maintaining frame it seems.

Yes, and for many, these are entwined.

Masculinity is Dead

8 upvotes · 19 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm not really sure where we went wrong and where we lost masculinity as a concept in of itself, but the reason we make so many poor decisions as a society is because we lack a masculine-feminine duality.

Feminists got power and socially engineered (destroyed the nuclear family) to make a society which oppresses, suppresses, demeans and vilifies masculinity as inherently dangerous, vile and unattractive. Instead opting to create men like the little beta bitch in the obama campaign sat there in his onesie. GAY. The emasculation effort of modern feminism and it's facilitators, the government, has been systematic and pre-meditated.

You're unplugging. That's wonderful.

8 upvotes · 18 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Maybe you're just uneducated and easily intimidated by words which are outside your vocabulary, stop attempting to diminish the usage of the English language by projecting your own insecurities on to others, it's a weak move.

TLDR: If that was too complex for you, time to read a dictionary. "Pedantic" is not a big word. LOL.

Woman aren't the only ones that shit test.

8 upvotes · 15 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The manipulative will frame it as a joke and call you out on losing your shit.

Woman aren't the only ones that shit test.

8 upvotes · 15 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You're bang on the money whistler. I was going to comment, but read your comment so have no need to. This basically sums up what OP is asking.

I could use about a hundred examples of playful "negging"

8 upvotes · 14 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Whether you think it's stupid or not, it works.

Who said this was shit you say on an approach? Obviously its not.

This is asshole game. Lol. I don't know why you're so upset and indignant about this shit.

It's a cliché outside the sub that we're only here because we're "bitter." For me, this is not true - since taking the pill, I am so much goddamn happier.

8 upvotes · 10 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Lol they shame what they fear, typical feminist response to most things that make them feel awkward.

Feminism Helps Ethnically Displace Caucasians

8 upvotes · 9 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

stop caring about STDs

You lost me there. Not good advice.

Personally I don't see why we should care.

This isn't a call to arms, more of an explanation of the ideological landscape and the part its played.

How do you feel about r/PurplePillDebate?

8 upvotes · 27 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

LOL if I ever popped into that sub I would drive them crazy, my logic is fucking rock solid.

"[spending] more time attempting to find semantic holes, creating red herrings, and debating the tone of your opponent's argument than you do actually addressing anything I wrote."

Asking someone to back up their claim with evidence is hardly a "semantic hole" lmfao. I guess law courts are being semantic when they ask to see evidence to help them in their sentencing decisions then? LMFAO. GG bluepill fags.

Why women still need husbands

8 upvotes · 26 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

They'll blame that or the Japanese sex robots ahahha.

Thoughts on having a close female friend?

8 upvotes · 14 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If she's hot (say 7+) doesn't she by merit of being hot help you fuck other chicks just by being in your company? Essentially having a hot chick with you gets other chicks interested and is a DHV.

On a personal note if a chick is funny I will keep her around for that and that alone. I LIKE FUNNY PEOPLE. Rarely do I meet a funny girl though.

I am somewhat confused about TRP and how it views sex. [Serious replies only, please.]

8 upvotes · 5 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You need to try and detach emotionally when you attempt to have logical conversations with men and learn something from them otherwise you won't get very far at all and you frustrate yourself and the guy spending his time to address what are fundamentally your concerns, he's doing you a favour by answering your questions and that is worthy of some gratitude, he gets nothing for doing that.

The patience here is practically nil for people who are incapable of logical discussion, I'm an extremely logical person and I notice many better educated women making appeals to logic and saying they are being logical when in actual fact they are not, sure they can talk well and seem sophisticated but if you deconstruct their arguments and reasoning you'll find fallacies and delusion all over the place, this is pretty commonplace within women as a whole, not something personal to you. Women are fed a diet of delusion their entire lives, princess weddings, being inherently special for no logical reason, all kinds of crap. Plus there's the hormonal disposition to react emotionally, you're fucked by nature and nurture when it comes to logic. The few, few women I have met who were reasonably logical were incredibly masculine in appearance and character.

Nobody is trying to offend you so disregard your sensibilities for a second and process the answers to your questions without filtering them through your emotions, basically don't take it personally - it's an answer to a question, like $2+2=4$. If you are incapable of doing that, you're basically fucked... which is unfortunately how most chicks are. And we to have live with you! Haha, couldn't resist that jab at the end, but take it as a test, if you took that offensively you should probably just leave because it means your sensibilities are too delicate for the brutality of logic.

TRP Knowledge Saved my Life

8 upvotes · 3 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Alphas build up those around them and refrain from negativity because negativity is the quickest way to turn a girl off.

Agreed except it's not all about girls. This applies if no girls are around too. We don't need negative energy, I go out of my way to avoid it and to big up everyone I know. If someone is bringing negative energy I either escape or ostracize them by calling them out "do you get off on creating a shit vibe?" etc.

This is what happens when a woman refuses the sisterhood by calling feminism irrelevant (/r/redpillwomen)

8 upvotes · 1 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah your psychiatrist doesn't give a shit about you and will have you taking drugs that form dependency rather than get you producing your own serotonin via exercise, healthy diet and sun exposure, you're just a source of income to them to be rinsed through therapy sessions and drug prescriptions.

Not to mention people on SSRIs are generally unstable as fuck and stand out like a sore thumb. If it works for you great, but they've ruined the personalities and very essence of many people "who needed help."

You are what's wrong with society and the reason many people don't seek help.

I'm the reason many people don't seek help? OK.

Feminism is about Population Control

8 upvotes · 29 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

TRP is the only subreddit where this post does not get downvoted into oblivion. Try posting it on /r/Europe.

Yeah. I don't post elsewhere, it's like espousing liberal dogma in nazi germany, a waste of time.

I'm not sure about the Jewish conspiracy

Neither am I.

Ultimately this made me leave the EU for good. My life is too short for this kind of shit.

I hear you and good job avoiding the fallout of all this bullshit.

This shit is blowing up my facebook wall

8 upvotes · 29 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Deep as fuck! Major props. Highlight that irony!

Inside the mind of an attention whore

8 upvotes · 29 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

We had a post here in TRP today where a guy was orbiting a girl for years, stopped orbiting her, she came over to his house on the pretence he didn't say happy birthday to her with some alcohol and it turns out, without any underwear on, he proceeded to fuck her.

I orbited a girl for a year in my bluepill days and then ended up fucking her for a long time.

It can happen.

Inside the mind of an attention whore

8 upvotes · 29 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Eh, Paranoia is like cynicism it gets a bad wrap. If your paranoia is calibrated to reasoning, and not simple the baseless emotional kind - it's healthy, a survival instinct.

Unfortunately hypergamy and solipsism are very real things, nothing we can do to change that.

TRP for an ugly man

8 upvotes · 19 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You're not wrong however low value guys don't get relationships or pussy. Women of low value get no relationship, but they do get dick.

Who's really getting the raw deal here? The men. Ugly chicks get laid because most men are bluepill and desperate for a lay that even the whiff of a low value girls vagina has them salivating at the opportunism to fuck a minger/fatty.

Go ahead and have a field day breaking this one down. I don't even know where to begin, but I'm certain you guys would enjoy this.

8 upvotes · 16 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Muslim shit is spiralling out of control. They are emigrating anywhere with a welfare state and having the indigineous pay for them to reproduce at an average of 4 children per woman, in countries where even 2 children per woman for an indigineous lady is rare. Effectively having indigineous populations pay for their growth, the same foreigners they refuse to integrate with, keeping to self-segregated communities more representative of rural Pakistan than anything remotely western. It's pretty fucked up. Really governments need to abolish feminism and deport all the unskilled muslim immigrants to get their own numbers up and stop inadvertently feeding the islamic ideological machine free money.

Islam and Feminism despite being gender opposites share many parallels in how they operate, eg: refusing to be criticised or insulted and claiming a special victim status whilst they bully their opponents.

Europe is islamifying at an "incredible" rate, the freedom of movement within the EU has only caused to exacerbate that problem too. You have Turkey applying and reapplying for membership also, which if they got in, would only speed up the process in Europe.

The problem with Islam is it doesn't separate church from state, far too many extremists, mixes a customary law system with a religious system and a political system all in one specific ideology, has a contradictory book of faith that is interpreted and manipulated to fulfill specific agendas. The world needs to wash its hands of Islam, keep them out and in their own lands, or just have a horrific war and get it all over and done with, this "war of the wombs shit" is fucked up, it's slow, it's painful and completely preventable. Watching a land slowly change in demographic due to national negligence/corruption has got to be one of the most fucked up ways to wage war one could possibly imagine, due to it's slow, deviant nature - and the irony that the attacked host facilitates the process, tantamount if you will to the analogy of a host and a parasite feeding off it and slowly replacing it's original functions until the host can no longer survive without the parasite.

Sad as it is with these religious wars, USA is the last bastion of Christianity and will probably be the only force capable of going up against militant islam, whether it's complexion is caucasian or hispanic.

Another Rooftop Encounter

8 upvotes · 12 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Panoramic views must really have an effect on peoples psychology. Specifically, aid the tingles. Lmao. Let's do a scientific study guys.

We'll get 1,000 bitches for group 1 and take them to rooftops. See how many guys get laid.

Use a separate sample (group 2) and take them to conventional places. See how many guys get laid.

Group 1 + 2 are all RP men.

Control group 1+2 : Use blue pill men, 2 more 1000 sample groups, control group 1 take rooftops and control group 2 go elsewhere to see if there's a difference between the "luckiness" of the rooftop BP men and the other BP men in more conventional places.

A hypothesis: Taking bitches to rooftops too much could normalise it and make it lose its power, however if the panorama itself somehow has an effect, that would warrant further more in-depth research, possibly biological.

Would make a great study.

Yes, I'm being facetious.

Lesbian couples twice as likely as gay men to end civil partnership

8 upvotes · 10 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Marxism seemed legit, I enjoyed that - postmodernism made sense, all though extremely wide in breadth. Feminism fucks up the academic area, it seeps into everything, you get marxist feminists and all these other strange ideological hybrids who then say "from a feminist point of view" and at least on my syllabus, that shit was being shoved down our throats. I'll be clear in saying the academic discipline has been hijacked by the extreme left. Marxism is a old ideology that predates mainstream feminism. Statistical analysis is intricate to all sciences, the fact that sociology uses statistics doesn't mean the syllabuses being taught aren't full of crap and that data isn't purposely misinterpreted to deduce incorrect findings.

I'm not trying to piss off all the Sociology BA holders here, but the fact is it's the least ecologically valid science, even psychology is higher up the scientific ladder because of the fields of neurology and its effects on psychology (neuroplasticity, memory models etc) and the biological effects of chemicals on psychology and behaviour (biopsy)

Edit: Psychology and Economics are also both social sciences, and I'd put them both above sociology in terms of their scientific validity.

EXAMPLE: Women are malleable -- they will change their beliefs to adapt

8 upvotes · 9 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

For real, 31 is a dangerous age to be fucking a woman. Baby broody she will be!

Was the cock tower post removed?

8 upvotes · 8 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Well it's not so much a theory as a known reality. Your vague open ended question elicited an essay so enjoy the gems of wisdom and shit. If you follow my posts you'll see this randomly happens, I'll drop red pill nukes.

- Men favour inexperienced women with a low partner count, chastity is something men value in women instinctually, no amount of feminist propaganda managed to change that no matter how many "slut shaming" campaigns you throw.
- This is why nearly all women lie about how many sexual partners they've had, the general rule we work off is half whatever a man says and double whatever a woman says. If shes "just 6" it's 12+. Women know instinctually being a ho isn't attractive to men for long term commitments, but they get so caught up on the equality bullshit that they look past mens preferences and rationalise "well if men can do it I can do it too" except.. the major caveat - women instinctually find men with plenty of sexual experience attractive "he has to know what he's doing" the opposite is true for men, he may enjoy the sex but he'll question her ability to be faithful and is far more likely to withhold commitment knowing half the village has been up in her insides.

Think there was a study posted up on here ages ago showing that the more sexual partners a woman has had, the more likely she is to divorce.

- Men tend not to push for more commitment in most relationships, it's the women who do. A guy could quite easily be fuck buddies for 5 years with a girl, the opposite is extremely rare. The need for commitment usually manifests from a place of insecurity when a woman really likes you and doesn't want you to go, women get attached emotionally when they fuck you a lot, mainly because each fuck increases her oxytocin levels.
- Men have more to lose from the institution of marriage and that's the end game for women, therefore men hold the keys to that and traditionally are the ones required to ask the wife, even though it's her who wants it more than him (in most but not all cases.) There's a reason they had the dowry in the old days, it was to bribe the groom into looking after the girl so that the father didn't have to anymore, marriage has always been about material gain and politics, that's why it was originally invented - the romanticism around it is a modern idea, marriage does not equal love. This means plenty of betas get bullied into asking a chick to marry them, whereas alphas never pop the question, much to the infuriation of whatever women involved. Marriage is a fairy princess dream entitlement to most women, to men it's a lifelong responsibility to endure as the woman can so easily legally fuck you over - hardly equality.

Marriage aside...

- Men commit to women they think are high value.
- Men have low standards when it comes to having sex, but generally, much higher standards when it comes to commitment, women are the opposite. They'll friend zone you real easy, but sex is the apex of their value, rather than commitment, they'll whore out emotional intimacy like men whore their dicks out.
- Chastity is the major component of that perceived value and ties in with a woman's looks. Highly attractive and virgin or 1-2 partner count woman = jackpot to most men.
- Youth is part of that value. Older women are second hand goods. They've had men in the past and for whatever reason they didn't or wouldn't make it work, they took the abundance mindset of "I'll replace him" and now that's no longer an option they're in the scarcity mindset of "this guy is the best I'll get, I need to be on my best behaviour." however it's too late, when they had their youth they branch swung too far up the tree and now they've fallen off they're at the bottom of the tree getting ignored.
- Older women have high partner counts due to age and thus aren't attractive prospects. They bring little to the table in terms of traditional femininity and tend to be just as demanding if not more demanding than young women. They often come with the anchor which is "another man's kids" as well. Hence, a fuck ton less likely to get commitment unless said guy is equally as undesirable (has his own kids, has limited options like her, etc.)
- This is how older women have fucked themselves out of the dating market with poor decision making. They don't have the looks they used to have to attract men, these women can't deal with the fact they're not desired anymore, they are angry, they are bitter - but whatever, that's not man's problem - men don't find their aging physical looks or their mental psychological bitterness (baggage) attractive, and that's instinctual, it won't be changing, these women are left to rot. Think old, haggard and plenty of cats for surrogate affection.
- Other things aside youth:
 - Cuteness (submissiveness and femininity, nobody wants to commit to a battle axe)
 - Intellect and sophistication (links with wit and knowledge) so she can actually be mentally stimulating and not an empty bag of tits and ass.
 - Cooking ability (shows caring really, you care everyone eats healthy and you're willing to make sure they do)
 - Caring (beyond superficial bullshit females trying to seem nice crap, but actually has a big heart, she's a sap).
- In a nutshell, women should be everything men aren't if they want to earn commitment and keep a man invested in them. They need to invest in themselves, not just their looks, because looks fade with age no matter how much anti-wrinkle cream or botox you have. Women are so brainwashed that they're entitled to everything with men as long as they look good that they've lost the idea and skill that "marriage is earned" you aren't entitled to marriage because you have a vagina or are an 8/10, and if a guy is on TRP he probably won't even marry you, you'll be earning LTR cohabitation instead.

Why would/should a man commit to a version of himself with a vagina? Assertive, driven, confrontational, egotistical etc. All the things women find attractive in men? Another funny thing women get wrong ALL THE TIME - they mistake what they find as attractive in men as qualities that a woman should have to attract men, they find men with a huge ego attractive, they call them assholes but they find it attractive. The opposite is not true, it doesn't work in reverse, men like the opposite. Women with huge egos are fucking annoying to men. Western women are clueless.

To be blunt, women need to stop emulating men and be fucking women. Most women are fucking shit at being female and ate up too much female supremacism bullshit making themselves unmarriageable. They moan a lot of guys need to man up and it's true, they do, but the irony lost on a lot of these hos out there is that they need to learn what it is to be a lady. Any chick reading this shit who can't seem to keep a man around... time to woman the fuck up girl!

Breaking men.

8 upvotes · 4 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I think I'd like to teach my potential child facetiousness, so he can blag talking his mind without it being interpreted as "being an asshole." Having a sense of humour is a good quality too. I mean if you call a strong minded person fat they'll say "I know" or "LOL, gyms are expensive" only a weak person goes crazy over the obvious. This is what I mean about the feminisation of society, political correctness and etc. My grandmother, obviously, is female - but she speaks her mind, pre-feminism women seemed a little more capable of truth, or maybe thats unique to her, I'm not terribly sure.

What shit tests have you experienced, and how did you deal with them?

8 upvotes · 4 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

She's with him for his money. Hypergamy. She talks about him openly with disrespect, when I asked what he's like she said "he's nice" I laughed hard. She was like "what?" I was like "nice, is that all u got? u know how crushing it is when a guy gets told his redeeming feature is his niceness?" she laughed in agreement and said "he says he's too nice to me" she openly talks about how despite his academic intelligence in medicine, his social intelligence is low and she runs rings round him. She holds the pear strings. After I dropped enough RP on her to have her admit out loud that he's easy to manipulate she said "oh god I sound so bad" and I just replied "you know the score you're just not used to expressing it verbally like that" with which she reluctantly agreed with.

That tie up the ends enough? He's beta. He may be dating in the optimal age bracket, but he's bluepill and in a high status profession, he could call the shots, but instead she's mining him for his wealth. He's upper middle class, she's working class. Boom. Hypergamy is a bitch my brothers!!

If your girl says "you're nice" run for the hills, it's a euphemism in womanese for "he's an utter walk over which I manipulate with great proficiency" niceness does not command respect, and functioning red pill men command respect from the women they date.

Addendum: A subtle nuance, a strong man with kindness is often referred to as "just", a weak man who uses kindness is referred to as "nice."

What shit tests have you experienced, and how did you deal with them?

8 upvotes · 3 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha the dichotomy of hating both outcomes. Rock and a hard place it's a bitch.

NYC spending $330,000 in taxpayer money to tell girls its OK to be fat

8 upvotes · 3 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Ah, very subtle.

If a woman refuses an abortion when the man wants to have one, there should be a legal document signed releasing the man from obligation and his paternal rights.

8 upvotes · 28 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Victimhood is a socially acceptable preamble for a power grab. It's abused to fuck in modern society, and it works brilliantly.

Micro-approach: Girl wants something from you but can't get it so cries and everyone thinks you're immediately an asshole, you're too strong to take on 1v1 so she uses the power of the group to win.

Macro Approach: Someone flew a plane into one of our skyscrapers, if we do nothing we'll be terrorized, let's go invade entire countries in the name of defence. Ring a bell? Haha.

Prostitutes > Nightclubs

8 upvotes · 28 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The best part of a club is the smoking area. Bring a lighter, bring cigarettes, be mildly smashed (tipsy) and the smoking area pussy is your oyster, you'll be having tons of random convos which open with something to do with a cigarette, and then follow into whatever.

Hypergamy got me.

8 upvotes · 14 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

She gave the pussy up, that's not the other guys fault. She's the gatekeeper to sex, she gives the A-OK. The ho deserves the hate, not the player.

What the shitty Economy means for Hypergamy

8 upvotes · 14 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

This paradigm would have me slinging rock, making friends with the gangsters and rapping from prison. I often thought to myself before TRP, i'm giving myself a certain age to make it through legitimate hard work, if the system fucks me, I will turn around and give it a big fuck you by shitting all over it (going dark triad) to escape poverty. I doubt I'm alone in this. There's gotta be a number of young, smart guys like myself who haven't had the opportunities to gain skills which can make money and are getting pissed off with the doom and gloom on the horizon.

The amount of times I've said to older people "if I was born in your era, I'd be a professional already" isn't even funny. Gen Y got betrayed by their parents.

YouTuber bar bar says it best, a trove of RP theory

8 upvotes · 12 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Marxism looks at the working class (proletariat - proles aka workers) - those who exchange their labour for a living and the capitalist class also known as the bourgeoisie, whom own the means of production, eg: the infrastructure, such as factories and workshops whom traditionally employed the working class.

Feminist marxism is essentially adding women into the labour pool to drive wages down, shits all over the previous union movements and empowers the capitalist class.

Just look around, in previous generations when a man could support an entire family on a working class wage, you'd now need both parents working to support the household. Purchasing power went down and demand essentially doubled as women had their own income independent of what their husband was willing to allocate to them. Who would buy all these handbags and shoes that single women buy for "retail therapy" before marxist feminism? Absolutely nobody. Women are huge consumers and making them workers led to increased economic output as well as increased economic inequality.

Some people out there will disagree with what I've said here, but that's basically what it is. Feminist marxism increased social inequality economically, if you stop looking at as men vs women and you look at it as rich vs poor (which is where the real inequalities are in today's society) you see that social inequality has risen since the 70's which is when feminist marxism really went mainstream.

TLDR: marxist feminism is great for women in the upper middle class and beyond but shit for the working class, almost impossible to have a well functioning working class family nowadays when the parents are never there and are still poor because inflation of food/essentials beats their wages which fall every year by not matching inflation.

Edit: deleted a bunch of shit, I can go very deep on this topic, it's a rabbit hole in and of itself.

I dumped my (seemingly) perfect boyfriend so I could sleep with other people : (X-post from self) An example of hypergamy

8 upvotes · 7 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

She's alpha widowed from her ex. The new guy was a source of sex and an emotional tampon. Clearly the new guy has no game. She doesn't respect him, he's a tool. Sad.

Why this subreddit has gone to the dogs

8 upvotes · 3 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

As the subs grown there's less self-improvement posts and more "fucking feminism!" kinda posts. The vibe has certainly become more negative than positive, which does suck but is inevitable as less successful people join up and learn just how fucked they are and how much work they need to put in to change their lives, change their world view and change social/dating behaviours which fuck them over.

It's difficult to address the balance because new guys are still pissed. Some guys will always be pissed, a lot of guys are pretty fucked up/over by the blue pill paradigm. I don't endorse being a victim, being a weak/injured man never got a guy anywhere (victim superpowers are reserved for females), but people have pain, and men bottle up a lot of this pain because nobody gives a fuck about their pain, attitudes are nonchalant to men in suffering. You're a man, who gives a fuck about you? Ask yourself that. A lot of guys struggle with that reality, that they're alone with this shit, they're from broken homes and far too many women only see them as ATMs, not people to form a bond with.

You have any idea how fucked generation Y is? (born 1980-2000) not just romantically, but economically? All the unplugged guys and guys "just unplugging" from this generation are fkin pissed. The older guys (gen Y's fathers) who got divorce raped and live out of a car or shed or single room are fkin pissed. I don't think shouting them down for airing their grievances or taking the piss out of feminists "because it annoys you" is really gonna get you anywhere. With all due respect, a space to just hate on feminist bullshit, identify it and mock it is the least they're due for the BS they've had to endure, so don't deny your fellow man a bit of catharsis because it's bursting your personal emotional bubble. Do what I do, ignore the thread if it isn't to your taste or it's jamming your vibe.

Oh by the way, we don't think women are evil, we think feminists are. They're not the same thing. Evil can manifest in anybody, male or female. What many men crave here is a feminine woman to have a family with (as the end game) and to achieve that they want to be better, more confident, more assertive, more resourceful, essentially more masculine men, all the things modern western culture robbed them of in various ways, be it the liberal education system, an absent father, a beta father, lack of good role models or whatever. Ball busting bitches and dumb hos are what get laughed at here, not high quality women - that's why we have /r/redpillwomen, we want to create high quality women who will pair off with the high quality men whom have taken the pill.

"Women see the government as insurance": Why single women vote Democrat, and the impact of Women's Suffrage on the expansion of government through higher taxes and greater expenditures, as explained by Lott & Kenny in the Journal of Political Economy [PDF]

8 upvotes · 1 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I get the feeling the USA was a great place before women's suffrage, obviously it had it's problems everywhere does and probably always will, but ya know, men and women didn't see each other as enemies and actually complemented each other.

Girlfriend of a bluepilller "found a job" in Seattle -- he even encouraged her to "follow her dreams"! He sells his car, quits his job and follows her a few month later. The inevitable happens.

8 upvotes · 1 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Hahahahaha. I see the irony you're pointing out, it's hot shit. What she really means is "your being here is inconvenient, and I was too much of a pussy to confront you about it until I let you fuck up your own life"

Women, shit at being pertinent.

In the new post-intellectual feminist world, education is not the process of elevating the mind, but a social service we must perform. Western civilization beware.

8 upvotes · 30 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

No you're bang on the money. I remember my state school experience very well (public school, in England, is what we label Private School, I know, fucked up) it was undoubtedly day care, very little was learnt and the behaviour was fucking diabolical, kicks to the back of the chair, paper airplanes flying, on bad days, chairs being thrown, kids punching each other or slapping each other across the head... that was an all boys school.

I didn't get a chance to start learning properly until I went to college, I went from class sizes of 25-30 down to 10-15 and instead of failing everything I got A's - C's.

Now I have a place at a decent university but I was lucky that my state college wasn't a daycare too, I hear some of those are just glorified daycares also.

So, my flat mate informed last night I need to get "educated" and shared this with me today...

8 upvotes · 28 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Those bitches are clearly reconnoitering up in here to see how we communicate, which is a cute endeavour for them as most of them won't be able to wrap their heads around our viewpoints and thus will probably get rather pissed off and just give up in rage, sticking to their mainstream rad-fem beliefs and learning nothing. Hey ladies I'm not on your sub and I've never posted on it, but while you're being fucking bigots ban me too OK? I wouldn't want to accidentally stumble upon your crappy sub. Cool :)

His girl is about to start turning tricks, and this beta has no idea how it will end and or what to do next.

8 upvotes · 28 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha, love the tongue in cheek sarcasm.

After swallowing the pill years ago, I think I've found somebody worth marrying and I need advice.

8 upvotes · 26 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I think she is a high-value girl who is looking for a guy to settle down with, she's not going to sleep around, she's going to find the best guy she can, and lock them down, and be a great wife. Does that type of woman exist? And if they do, are they worth marrying once you are able to get one?

Those women do exist, but they're usually extremely religious and brought up in the countryside. Extremely religious women will be more likely to demand marriage for religious reasons and overlook your concerns about the legal climate when it comes to marriage, which is not good FOR YOU, so in a way it's a double-edged sword.

If she's not religious, she has no religious argument to force you into marriage and thus she's an outlier in the fact that she doesn't follow mainstream culture in slutting it up. Traditional women are good, they're extremely attractive for long term arrangements!

If marriage is on the cards for you, despite the knowledge you will find here, it's like I said in the original post - get her best years (in terms of beauty) from her upfront, if you have a lot of trust with each other, go all in and do it after like 5 or so years but protect your assets by putting them in your fathers name so they're untouchable in a potential divorce. Don't bother with pre-nups, they overturned when she hires the most expensive lawyer that you end up paying for to fight against you.

"you're not going to settle down with me, no matter how much I love you, I'm moving on."

I'd consider cohabiting with a woman and having kids with her settling down, you don't need a legal contract to indemnify it as "settling down" and I'd set this boundary down as early as possible, there is no distinction from cohabitation and having children and marriage, other than her legal/economic leverage over you, none, whatsoever. She doesn't need a big party to secure your love/commitment to her, but she needs it to secure economic leverage over you. If she is completely irrational about the whole thing I would consider that a large red flag. Let's not conflate "commitment" with "marriage" they are not synonymous, if you are the father of her children, living with her and paying bills together, I'm pretty sure that's a fuck ton of commitment on your part and classifies as "settling down." That's the problem with these vague terms, you need to start defining shit within the boundaries of the relationship.

Female finance student whines about how hard it is to be in finance, blames it on the lack of female mentors available to her generation

8 upvotes · 20 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Men need male spaces back, so men can act without the constant threat of sanction by authority for offending a woman. Males are often isolated and need other men around to engage in their own masculinity, in an environment that allows them to be open, honest and aggressive without prejudice. We have a society where the feminine automatically takes precedence over the masculine because feminism is so institutionalised and many men are just weak, meek betas whom will support such BS. If you walk into a public place it is automatically a feminised space, eg: a library.

If you say something in a library and a woman overhears what you said and wishes to challenge it, people will automatically side with her, thus you must self-censor or face being banned (in this example) from the library. This is the prioritisation of feelings (fem-centric) over facts (male-centric). Society is more concerned with that woman's feelings than they are your right to speak openly and freely, whether you're being offensive in a pejorative manner or just disseminating truth (which is often, in and of itself, offensive to people who spend their lives entertaining delusions).

This is why male spaces are important, when a woman enters a male space (say a mechanics workshop) and she gets offended, nobody cares, nobody self censors or changes their behaviour to suit her feminine sensibilities, she is not allowed to dominate the space with her demands, and euthanize it so that she can feel comfortable. Her feelings are unimportant, as the truth, facts and efficiency are given precedence rather than making sure that every overprivileged snowflake isn't getting upset by some perceived injustice. Feminists look to dominate the social landscape by moulding it to be hostile towards masculinity with rules, censorship, victimhood manipulation among other mind games.

More male spaces are needed. If you're a business owner, unless a woman molds well with your workforce, I would actively look to employ a mostly male workforce, you'll find less bitchiness, bullshit, harassment lawsuits and other crap and more cohesion, higher morale and of course the boys won't be distracted by the eye candy.

Can The Red Pill Subreddit Survive?

8 upvotes · 17 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

TRP needs a forum on puerarchy, separate from this. Don't take the risk of having shit shut down. It's like having your civilization built on sand, we need stable foundations.

Ashton Kutcher: When your a fetish object no one can hear you scream

8 upvotes · 16 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Great video and analysis. I gotta bookmark this shit cuz it resonates a lot, especially:

Challenge norms push boundries life is what you make it. Don't let others make rules for you.

btw, the title - "you're" not "your" not being a dick, letting you know. Stay sexy!

"Caesar's wife must be above suspicion." - a great example of TRP in history

8 upvotes · 12 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

So the archetype is called "The Siren" (been a while since I read the book)

Pictures:

- <http://i.imgur.com/2AMyiSB.jpg>
- <http://i.imgur.com/uovIseT.jpg>
- <http://i.imgur.com/G56Txdr.jpg>
- <http://i.imgur.com/PCEPGwu.jpg>

Letting Women Into Your Life

8 upvotes · 8 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Good analogous extended metaphor.

Danish woman calls out to IT nerds: Dress hotter and cut down on the lingo so we can date you

8 upvotes · 4 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

So they teach girls not to take shit and for the guys to accept the pussy pass as a valid reason for being a cunt. Wow. That country is so doomed. No wonder Scandinavia is getting a huge influx of islamism, if the guys are pussies the politicians will be pussies too.

Still too scared

8 upvotes · 29 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Rofl, brilliant and true although they simultaneously tend to have incredible narcissism via the establishments sublime social engineering scheme.

Reflecting on a previous relationship: Ultimate blue pill.

8 upvotes · 27 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Shit test alert. You assume they're mutually exclusive. You can be in a relationship with a woman based on love and mutual respect and she'll still love assholes, simply as the provider you give her all the emotional validation, and she gets her sexual kicks and excitement from an asshole guy. If I had to pick between being the guy she abuses as an emotional tampon and disrespects for being nice or being the guy who gets to fuck her without any form of commitment, I'd rather the latter. I, like many other men, don't set the rules. Women reinforce asshole behaviour by rewarding it. If you, as a bluepill/woman want to see a change, stop fucking assholes, if you can control yourself to do that.

Differing opinions on whether a partner can have a 'best friend' of the opposite sex

8 upvotes · 24 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I had a deep platonic friendship with a girl, then we hooked up. Her pussy felt great oh booooy.

"OMG you really get me" or why women love TRP

8 upvotes · 24 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Dude your ability to bullshit is good, that's some tight game, you could become a top salesman with that kinda shit haha!

So where did all the good women go?

8 upvotes · 20 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm all about self improvement and I accept the paradigm. I want to know how to identify high quality women and where to find them so when I'm old and accomplished I can settle with a chick and not have it blow up in my face.

So where did all the good women go?

8 upvotes · 19 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You're breaking my heart.

A movement?

8 upvotes · 30 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I love tough love. We need more tough love. This feminine society has got us expecting to be cuddled or understood or have our feelings respected because the women are demanding it and getting it everywhere in the public sphere so many guys are seeing the disparity and getting caught up in the fact they don't get the same treatment because apparently we're "equal." It's this thinking which makes men weak because aside perhaps your mother or father nobody gives a flying fuck about you, false expectations result in disappointment, inefficiency and just feminine behaviour. Fuck that shit. Here, here to tough love!

Happy 38th! How I got AMOGed...

8 upvotes · 30 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

OmGz thigh slapping! Sexual assault! Hahahahaha. I concur, this shit was gold. A nice snappy comeback.

Girlfriend has male friend that has sexual dreams about her

8 upvotes · 26 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Hypergamy > everything, women are constantly on the lookout for an upgrade and will hamster any reasoning of perceived or real "not being treated right" to morally justify it to themselves and everyone else.

If a girl wants variety she'll still "cheat up" she can hit a club and bag an alpha if she's not butt ugly.

A girl only "cheats down" out of revenge or because she needs a rebound and the guy's convenient. That or she's drunk/inebriated/otherwise not exercising hypergamous judgement. If you're higher SMV and she fucks a lower SMV guy it's probably to get at (hurt) you. Women are loyally monogamous to the strongest male in their vicinity.

Please Help this Man

8 upvotes · 26 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Consider him helped

"There are few things more scary, yet attractive to a woman than a 30 year old man who's managed to stay single." - Nic Krauser

8 upvotes · 26 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Right on! kudos!

She dumped me after 7.5 years, but begged to stay friends.

8 upvotes · 13 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

So wait she's juggling ex-husband, ex-bf and current bf... holy shit she has those plates on the go.. monetised them all too. DAMN! That is some next level manipulation.

Hypergamy in action: girl on the way to meet an orbiter from her past texts her boyfriend to let him know (x-post from /r/Advice Animals)

8 upvotes · 11 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yep, can't be afraid to walk away from a girl. ever.

Hypergamy and Black Women

8 upvotes · 10 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

As a white guy from the UK i never understood what the big deal was about being white or black in the US. In the UK, being black or white really isn't such a big deal, but then the blacks here didn't come from slavery, they came here for work in the 60's so I guess the history is different.

Honestly, I wish black people didn't give a fuck about being black just like I don't give two seconds thought about the fact I'm white. As a white guy I don't think about race. All my issues/problems/thought processes do not even factor in my race. Must be a whole other existence you got going there. To me TRP is strictly a male to female relationship, I don't put a race angle in with it too.

"...very few women believe in broken hearts, and the cause is not far to seek: practically every woman above the age of twenty-five has a broken heart."

8 upvotes · 5 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

They don't believe in broken hearts because they have broken hearts and thus they walk around with broken hearts. The logic is strong here.

My EX want to meet with me.

8 upvotes · 28 May 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah my chick had an objective sense of logic most women don't possess and that was something I found incredibly alluring in a female because it was so damn rare. I knew a girl online (no romantic connection, just a mutual interest thing) who was also quite logical and yet they'd both set up hamster traps for themselves, both saw themselves as being better than "all the other females" because they actually HAD some logic and would use that logic in scenarios which did not apply directly to them, thus they both thought they they were "more male" in a mental sense and could actually carry off intellectual conversations with men (something I, personally, as well as other men I know find a quality to be extremely attractive) however, the thing is, men don't have hamsters and women do, women with logic get confused by their own hamsters but they are powerless to the influence of the hamster.

That hamster makes them do dumb shit and they blame it on hormones and identify it as a fuck up through logic, but when they're "going through whatever it is" the hamster is in full control and you can't stop them, because they can't stop them. Women are fucked up, inherently.

The hamster means their behavioural sense of self-control is limited and thus they are incredibly fallible to irrationality. This in turn makes them a liability as an emotional investment via hypergamy or if hypergamy is no threat (as you're at the top) she just becomes flat out annoying.

You do not want to be a sociopath.

7 upvotes · 23 June 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

OP has a basic fundamental misunderstanding about the relationship between the dark triad and the red pill that is raised AGAIN and AGAIN by newer members who don't really grasp the idea and think there's some weird sort of sub-cult to turn people into psychopaths in order to get pussy.

This is the basic, misinformed level of understanding the ignorant possess.

These misinformed, moralising concern threads recur for 2 reasons:

1 - ignorance, doesn't understand the dark triad, doesn't understand why it's relevant, thinks mention of it is advocacy for psychopathy or "becoming Frank Underwood".

2 - moralising - hates the idea that women like and are often extremely attracted to bad/immoral people, and doesn't think men should strive to become bad/immoral people just so they can be successful with women.

At no point has it been said "become a sociopath".

What has been said is this, and these basic precepts of the red pill should not need to be restated for the thousandth time but they do, because too many new people don't bother taking the time to understand the things they disparage.

- Women are attracted to highly psychopathic/sociopathic/egotistical/calculating men - aka, men high in dark triad characteristics (there is even academic literature to back this up for those that care)
- There are traits that these individuals have, such as fearlessness, strategicness, and egoism, and you can emulate these traits to a degree to increase your life success. THIS IS NOT THE SAME AS BECOMING A SOCIOPATH.

At your nearest leisure, please refer to the following:

<https://illimitablemen.com/2015/06/20/morality-and-machiavellianism/>

<https://illimitablemen.com/2015/05/19/the-red-pill-you-morality/>

You personally get to pick which parts of the red pill you like and will use, and which you don't, but you don't get to dictate what parts other people take. The dark triad is an integral part of TRP and conflating it with learning sociopathy so you can dismiss it is unhelpful even if well-intentioned.

My radio appearance with Donovan Sharpe earlier this evening HEAVY RED PILL - TOO MUCH FOR MOST TO HANDLE

7 upvotes · 15 January 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

Hahahaha. Yep! When I laugh, I really laugh my man.

What To Learn And How To Learn It

7 upvotes · 16 October 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

If you don't mind, last 5 books?

- Elon Musk's Biography by Ashlee Vance (self-explanatory)
- The Bell Curve (IQ differences by race, social economic status etc)
- Lord Chesterfield's Letters (English aristocrat from the 1700's dropping RP gold)
- The Obesity Code (basically a book on fasting and insulin)
- 50th Law (book on fearlessness)

What To Learn And How To Learn It

7 upvotes · 14 October 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

They felt I didn't respect their life experience enough

Basic insecurity. They want to guide you into being a version of their ideal person rather than allow you to grow organically into the person you idealise for yourself. Autodidactism (self-learning) is the shit, it's life long, there's no PC culture, and you learn to think critically as a natural process of using your mind to understand things.

She Can Never Be Your Equal

7 upvotes · 26 May 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Not sure how this is relevant to OP, but women are more herd orientated than men, yes. Women = collectivist, men = individualist.

Learn about female psychology without any of the bullshit

7 upvotes · 19 March 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha, this made me laugh, thanks for the laugh and the compliment - glad you enjoy it!

Champion's Mentality - How To Stop Being A Loser & Become Epic - A spiritual successor to Monk Mode. If Monk Mode was "how to stop being a loser" this is "how to start being a winner"

7 upvotes · 1 March 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

There was a good post about a guy who got destroyed by such a huge contract.

Definitely recommend diversification and not being dependent on any one person, I was merely trying to illustrate a point in regard to quality and quantity. EG: 3 good clients is better than 12 horrible ones - in this scenario you're not dependent on any single client, either.

Keep up the gold work, IM.

Thanks man!

Men today act too 'aloof'

7 upvotes · 29 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

I agree. I have seen many post on here stating how you should never show emotion and never smile or laugh. Because you should be stoic. It pretty humorous.

The flip side is when people say getting angry means losing frame. Yeah if someone's trying to fuck with you, sure it is, but if someone is robbing you, you're not going to "refuse to get angry" because "that's losing frame" - this is a retarded interpretation of "holding frame" and I see it come up repeatedly. I'm a very busy man, but one day when I have the time I'll get around to redressing this nonsense.

The most intolerant wins - the dominance of the stubborn minority

7 upvotes · 27 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Ah yes, how could one forget them? Nassim is a very clever man.

Ex Highschool GF got invitro insemination, get treated like a champion on Facebook

7 upvotes · 6 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The segregation of father from son is one of the greatest injustices to ail the modern time, it's right up there with state schools being badly run and failing to provide children with a good education when their brains are most receptive.

"I'm going to have those kids of yours, lol jk"

7 upvotes · 4 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm going to have those kids of yours ;],

"Every girl wants my kids but I don't just hand out 1%er DNA like it's candy y'know."

Way to handle bitches is just to troll.

Dan Bilzerian Sleeps With Bodybuilding.Com Founder Ryan DeLuca's Wife...and posts it on instagram

7 upvotes · 10 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Three words: narcissistic personality disorder. This guy will never have a solid LTR, he isn't capable of love or attachment.

He's rich because daddy did a bunch of insider trader/corporate takeovers/tax avoidance/other shady financial shit and then hid all the money in a trust for Dan.

It's the same with all these kids who are unremarkable but had rich parents who were never really there for them, they get attachment disorders because they don't really bond with their parents and they're lavished with the power of excess wealth from a young age. Pretty much the 101 of how DTs from the higher classes are born.

The Red Pill Antibiotic Nuke 2015 UPDATE

7 upvotes · 1 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

"Practical Machiavellianism" is a very distant project at the moment, not a priority.

As for the beige phillip principles, Dante's doing a book on it, not going to step on his toes.

Do Not Try to Engage Woman in a Logical Argument

7 upvotes · 31 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Great post OP, I think you'd enjoy this article as it touches a lot on what you're discussing:

<http://illimitablemen.com/2015/02/08/machiavellian-thinking-vs-conventional-logic/>

How to talk/ extrovertize: A Guide for Gammas and Omegas

7 upvotes · 30 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

If I ask someone's opinion on something and their immediate answer is something to the tune of an arrogant "I don't care" I lose huge amounts of respect for them.

I don't just ask anybody their opinion, only a person I believe has even a chance in hell of appreciating the question. To be disrespected with a dismissive "you care too much" when one extends such an olive branch is to effectively burn whatever bridge was there. Unfortunately in this anti-intellectual culture people think its cool to reject and dismiss any sign of higher reasoning as a symptom of social awkwardness, truth be told they're just small-minded fuck heads.

People who are worth their shit and have any semblance of respect at least try to entertain the question and don't get anti-social with you.

I don't associate with fuck heads and I don't want to be treated like one by narcissists/idiots with a "too cool to care" attitude. These people are not worth your time whatsoever, they are losers.

Polyamorous couple wants to have child. Wife thinks that his husband is too jealous because he cares about paternity

7 upvotes · 26 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Minimum of 10% the population's father isn't who they think it is. Estimates go as high as 30%. Google.

What's the outcome of the Western society? How can I as a 19 year old prepare for it?

7 upvotes · 9 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The general apathy of the modern western population is amazing.

Comfort begets apathy and the west is cushy.

Women recognize what they are doing on the cc

7 upvotes · 3 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

No such thing as a BP woman, just pathological Machiavellianism/solipsism/rationalisation that allows them to go along with whatever need be.

What we call a red pill woman is one who follows the traditional script, is quite submissive, didn't whore, had a good upbringing etc. Most women in the west DO NOT fit these ideals AT ALL. In reality a red pill woman is one who knows the game but still agrees with all the blue pill shit in public to get ahead/fit in/benefit herself in the short term. So they slut it up anyway because it's not like they'll be kicked out of the house or become poor for doing so (that's how it was in the old days.)

It's like a dude who knows RP theory but doesn't hit the gym, doesn't really make any changes and continues playing WOW doing his shit job in retail. He's red pill knowledgeable, but he doesn't apply the knowledge to his attitude or his progress so if you met him you'd think he's BP. I think that's what most women are like. They have red pill knowledge but they don't adhere to it because in the short-term they see the BP lifestyle as more advantageous. Basically bitches try to have their cake and eat it too. And they will make use of every positive stereotype going for them to get their way. Nothing new there.

The crux of this post is that most women are red pill aware, but because they don't apply knowledge they may as well not be. Being red pill aware and living a red pill lifestyle are distinct.

Olympian leaves her husband and daughter to pursue a life of prostitution, and tingles, in Vegas.

7 upvotes · 21 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Reading the article in full, her inability to bond with her siblings in childhood, her lack of empathy for her own child and her incredible obsession with nothing but her own happiness sounds like narcissistic personality disorder. Her fixation with her own happiness (be it sex, or a runners high) seems to preclude a capacity to care for the happiness of those who were close to her, siblings, her husband, her daughter etc.

Obviously we don't know all the facts pertaining to her life, and as such, any attempt at diagnosis is therefore limited to what we do know. It doesn't sound like bipolar or borderline personality disorder however. Bipolars have depression phases, she doesn't mention them. Borderlines have flashes of being very sweet people. She seems to lack any of that. A classic NPD here from the sounds of it. What's funny though, is that because women like to play the victim and people are willing to perceive them as such, that women who have things like NPD or even psychopathy often manage to get themselves a "bipolar" or "borderline" diagnosis, and therefore, "it's not really their fault they have psychopathic tendencies."

But the profession of cataloguing and identifying dark triad behaviour characterised by empathy disorders is amok with labelling semantics. What's the difference between a narcissist and a BPD? The BPD suffered more childhood trauma/neglect than the NPD, so became a vulnerable narcissist instead of a grandiose. The BPD could have been abused but not necessarily, sharing rejection the NPD experiences of being "the black sheep of the family" or "the least favourite of the siblings." It seems the difference lies in HOW the child is rejected and not simply the fact that they are though. The BPD would have been left alone in the house as a small child for days at a time, whilst the NPD would be ignored by parents who were present in the house. So it's a matter of rejection via abandonment vs. rejection by being ignored or actively detested.

Yet we feel the need to come up with this "borderline" characterisation because the BPD has a "form of child PTSD in adulthood" and actually seems to care for the people they mentally abuse. Whilst the NPD just had a really shitty upbringing where they were acknowledged but constantly deemed insufficient, becoming empathy deficient to cope with parental rejection. As such, both are caused by similar childhood instances (unsuccessful pair bonding with one or either parent due to neglect or rejection) but it seems the main difference is that BPDs have a higher instance of early physical or sexual abuse and therefore somehow have a slightly adjusted narcissism that allows them to fleetingly care for others before they're swallowed up by anger and a sense of rejection. The BPD is really a more histrionic, more deluded, more "love seeking" rather than "validation seeking" narcissist in my view.

The disorders are so similar and oft mentioned entirely distinct from one another, when really their distinct manifestations belie incredibly similar causes. So should borderline really be an entirely separate empathy disorder from narcissism? It seems more logical they are grouped together, that borderline is recognised as a vulnerable narcissist, someone who experienced more extreme environmental pressures growing up resulting in a more histrionic manifestation of narcissism.

For a long time academia wouldn't even acknowledge psychopathy (ASPD) or narcissism (NPD) as being female disorders, preferring to assign them borderline and bipolar diagnoses. That says a lot about how we as a species have an innate positive bias toward women, a bias so strong that even a female psychopath can easily wrangle a less stigmatised diagnosis. I think it definitely lends credence to the view that bipolar (depression) and borderline (child PTSD) are labels that "mitigate the responsibility or stigma of having an empathy disorder by implying the individual is a sufferer" and therefore it seems such a label is all too readily applied to women.

Whereas men on the other hand are more readily diagnosed NPD (narcissist) or ASPD (psychopath) - which has none of the "it isn't their fault they are the way they are, they're victims" positive stigma attached to it. An NPD is often as much of a victim as a shitty detached, seriously neglectful upbringing as a borderline, and yet they receive none of the sympathy or veil of victimhood that comes with being a borderline. Of course narcissists don't have bouts of sweet and caring behaviour like borderlines do, but you see my point. It's quite easy to make the argument that NPDs (type N's) are victims too - but that doesn't make them any less dangerous.

It seems even in the mental health professions, people aren't comfortable with giving a type P or type N diagnosis, they rather characterise women as borderline or bipolar.

Interestingly, my Lucifer's daughter article (pardon the prose - needs an edit) was inspired by a woman I knew who was in my estimation, type P (a psychopath.) However, if you read the comments, a lot of people refer to bipolar or borderline when loosely discussing "dark triad women." My article was commonly associated with type B women when it was based on a type P. Seems most people lack experience or even a frame of reference for considering that a woman can just be an out and out psychopath in the male sense (type P) or even a narcissist (type N.)

I do suppose it bears mention that say a women were type P, she could easily imitate the behaviour and self-description of a type B, pretend to care for children, behave deferential publicly etc in order to get herself the "less stigmatised diagnosis." I do believe this to be something of a common occurrence, after all, if it's determined you have an empathy disorder, it assuages the ego and fortifies the reputation to be seen as a victim with an empathy disorder who suffered terribly in childhood rather than an out-and-out psychopath who will destroy anyone blocking an objective.

9 Assumptions People Make About Single Women That Are Totally True (but this hamster rationalizes as bullshit)

7 upvotes · 18 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Hahahahah this is gold. Yep, bitches are dense.

A Most Solipsistic Nature

7 upvotes · 4 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Indeed. It is what it is. What will be, will be. We can vent our frustrations as need be, but we cannot change the core of who they are.

A reminder for us all that nature does not respect the weak

7 upvotes · 1 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The thing I like about beards is they piss women off. Anything that pisses off women has got to be a good thing. 9/10 women will tell you to shave it off. You have to really not give fucks to not cave to the "buhhh you look so much more civilised trimmed!" Like cmon bitch quit with the backhanded compliments.

Guy finds out that his girlfriend settled for him because Chad wouldn't commit to her, gets RP advice from his (female) cousin, decides to kick his girlfriend to the curb.

7 upvotes · 30 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

What was the thread name? Think I missed that one.

How to build your career: Just like there is an untalked about rules in relationships, there are also untalked about rules to a career.

7 upvotes · 1 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Been awhile senator, great comeback thread.

The Loneliness of the Redpill

7 upvotes · 25 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It's on the sidebar under "power talk and other language categories"

Why men and women should NEVER be friends

7 upvotes · 24 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I need to go and polish that article.

Guy on /r/relationships finds out about his illegitimate daughter. Refuses to let her use him as a bank account, is probably attacked by raging women across /r/relationships

7 upvotes · 23 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

To continue with your metaphor, MGTOW is shrugging. Thing is, plenty of men want a family (kids.)

An Interview with Jack Donovan, author of 'The Way of Men'

7 upvotes · 20 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

NMMNG teaches you how to stop being a pussy-whipped nice guy, rational male allows you to get rid of your blue pill beta cunditionning and the way of men shows you the direction you should move forward to if you want to become a man.

Yep. They are really great books. Medicine for fucked up young guys who weren't raised right. That's why I have all 3 in my top 10 for male personal growth. If you are a guy starting from the bottom/a bad place, you need those books to help you get your head right. Essential baseline reading.

Cenk gets put back in his place on the Young Turks

7 upvotes · 14 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

but there's a separate rape economy where cheap pussy is suddenly precious.

And that's why cheap women cry rape. To up their market value, get revenge, get attention. Hamstering regret sex as rape makes them feel better too. It's a complete win for them. All it takes is throwing some innocent guy under a bridge, which most women seem all too happy to do. Don't be that guy.

IM's Firstly Monthly Mailbag - Post-college life, how to use Narcissism, 10 books on personal growth and why I still bother with TRP

7 upvotes · 6 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Do something team based, like rock climbing, paintballing, a sport or something like that. You will meet men there. Men bond best by cooperating to win at something. It builds comradery. The ones you vibe with you can add to your rat pack. You need to build a rat pack. No, they won't all be in one place like college - yes you will have to pick them out from different places, but that's just how it is. You'll only be lonely if you don't put yourself out there.

What happened to all your amazing male friends? If they are that amazing, where are they now? Why have you lost touch?

Lifting is not enough. Don't BETA PROVIDE for your BOSS.

7 upvotes · 18 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

You violated law 1 from the 48 Laws of Power:

<http://illimitablemen.com/2013/12/10/law-01-never-outshine-the-master-exemplified-and-explained/>

Read that, and it'll make sense why although it seems bullshit, what happened, happened. Basically, politics.

23 Yr Old Man falsely accused of rape freed. It's not Just a Western thing. Tread carefully - AWALT.

7 upvotes · 16 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Perverting the course of justice? Throw a defamation/libel charge on top and we'll call it even. I doubt she even serves the full 6. Better than nothing, I suppose.

Hagakure: The Book of the Samurai. Read this book and apply it towards TRP way of life.

7 upvotes · 10 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Heartbreak is a blessing in disguise. The guys who haven't experienced it are on borrowed time. It's one of those life milestones that will make or break you. I'm of the inclination that it's more likely to break you if it happens when you're older but can make you incredibly strong if it happens when you're young.

Female Quotas For All: Recently Germany and 7 Other Countries Confirmed to Have Mandatory Political and Corporate Board Female Quotas of 30%-50%. EU Attempts to Force It On All of Europe.

7 upvotes · 10 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Astrology is astronomy. The 'signs' are based on constellations and how they move in the sky. The readings are based on positions of the stars.

Astrology is pretending astronomy can tell you how you're going to feel due to celestial events. It's absurd. Even if it wasn't, as we haven't mapped the full universe, it's flawed from the get go. How does a sun exploding in another galaxy affect your feelings next week? Haha.

To help people, you'll find that you need some kind of claim to power to the oppressed/idiots. You need a vision and power beyond the pure rational answer you can give - people don't move their bodies by logical thought. People, at some point, won't know 1+1 equals 2 if the person with the answer didn't have some kind of accreditation, magic, or wealth they claimed they attained with this knowledge.

Sure there's some truth in that. Stupid people are authority-orientated, smart people are logic-orientated. That's why one of the best things a smart guy can do in the corporate game is play dumb. Won't be seen as a threat, will be seen as malleable.

Women in Education: A Reflection from my Career as a Teacher

7 upvotes · 28 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

We can't see the username, so it's fine. Only threat is if some nerd out there got a printscreen or a redditlog. In that case, he's screwed. Assume whatever you send to the internet stays there forever.

I was asked to train a new female employee to do the promotion I got passed on.

7 upvotes · 21 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

That's the difference between an employer and an employee. Or, being the best, but self-employed.

Fewer Sex Partners Masks 20 / 80 Rule

7 upvotes · 8 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

<https://pbs.twimg.com/media/CEZqR5wW0AAk--b.png:large>

Same sex marriage and recreational marijuana are the two social issues on that chart to happen post-internet. Look at how quickly gay marriage has gone from 0 to 35~ states and keep an eye on how many states legalise marijuana, it's been an issue for circa a year and they have 4 states legalising it already, more than the number of states gay marriage had within the same timespan back in the early 2000's; the internet wasn't so widespread then, not everyone had a computer like they do now, it was slower, vastly more expensive, and laptops weren't even a thing. Social networks hadn't really taken off then either, unless myspace was a thing back then? No I don't think myspace was a thing until around 2005~ which was really "the first facebook."

Abortion is the real outlier on that chart. It was federalised too quickly (not even 20 states had made abortion legal) before there was a constitutional amendment making it legal in all 50 states. It may have picked up traction as more people got televisions and political debate shows were aired. TV connected us all more than we had ever been before, we shared stars and storylines with millions on a weekly basis for the first time in history. The internet did that tenfold in new ways, creating communities such as this one. When for the first time, WE gave input to a screen, and it wasn't a screen simply giving input to us. The next step forward in this immersive frontier of interconnectivity, is in my opinion, piggybacking off the internet, virtual reality.

Anyhow, I digress. Social change happens a lot quicker than it used to; mostly due to platforms like Reddit as well as the real core social networks: Twitter, Facebook etc.

On an off topic note: it's funny how the more connected we become technologically, the less connected we are socially. Real social interaction gets replaced for interaction with a screen. Kids choose games and TV over having a social life and then they wonder why they don't know how to socialise when they hit adulthood, where being able to socialise well is necessary for holding down most jobs, getting laid etc. Socially, I think today's youngsters are more backward than the youngsters of the past who socialised day in and day out from a young age, not to mention that families were bigger: less single mothers and more siblings meant more socialising.

Where technology gives, it also takes. There's never a free ride, it's always a trade-off.

Ask IllimitableMan

7 upvotes · 30 April 2015 · /r/askTRP

I can't speak for everyone as genetics vary, but I feel a lot healthier on a 50/35/15 fat/protein/carb split. Carbs make me tired as fuck, get brain fog, can't cut etc. Probably a gluten thing.

The source of your power stems from the ability to walk away

7 upvotes · 30 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha, it's like the pot calling the kettle black, or to make a better analogy, a virgin giving sex advice. You're paying for nonsense. TRP is free at the point of need and superior in quality of service. Fuck the sham that is marriage counselling.

Exploring Logic & Emotion (Part 1)

7 upvotes · 29 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The simplest way I can word it is that you play head games when you're talking to women (they do this when talking to men, speak in double meanings and blur their intent) you don't speak straight forwardly. Speaking straight forwardly doesn't get you anywhere with them, and they run rings around you. You hold a lot back, and what you do say should be humorous, dismissive or cryptic. EG: Don't compliment, tell her she reminds you of an old chick who used to be hot. A backhanded compliment/soft neg. That kind of bullshit.

If you don't play the game, women aren't interested. Women are bored by logic and direct transfers of information, they always want to play, like children, which means wordplay, flirting, enthused mocking etc. Think of it as bantering with women, except you're not trying to gain their respect or have a laugh with them, you're laughing at them, at their expense, guilt-free. You're letting them know that you're dominant, difficult to manipulate and in control of yourself. Basically that you're worth fucking. You laugh at them, not with them (although if she has a good sense of humour she may laugh at her own idiocy,) and that draws them in, it makes them attracted.

Every woman I've fucked I've just challenged and challenged, laughed at and dismissed to no end. It communicates without saying it overtly "I'm better than you" and if they think you're better than them, they want to fuck you. You keep challenging them on the bullshit they're used to saying and being unchallenged on; you present yourself as a challenge and they're attracted to you even if they hate you, which means they like you. Women say they hate games because they hate the idea they're not attracted to honesty. It's patently false. They eat up bullshit, they thrive on it, they relish it.

Why people hate Feminism - video series

7 upvotes · 9 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Sargon of Akkad does good anti-feminist videos.

"The hypothetical woman with an IQ as high as mine is out of luck. She can either marry down, which women hate to do, or compete for a small pool of men that has been reduced by one."

7 upvotes · 8 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

If you experience this again, with any woman, get her working out to fix her sex drive. If she's stubborn/exercise shy, use fear as an incentive: "to prevent you becoming flabby as you get older." Bam. Sometimes contraceptive pills destroy their libido, got to be careful with these things. Having a girlfriend who never fucks is like having a car that never drives. Other than for aesthetic, it's pointless. Drive your girl.

The hormone that makes people not want sex rises more rapidly in women than in men as relationships progress.

7 upvotes · 7 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

50 Shades of Testosterone wouldn't sound right.

Abstraction

7 upvotes · 6 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Everyone used to say my writing was too complex/wordy. Now I get messages every now and then saying "I love reading your stuff just for the writing style alone." It's all about the audience, there's an audience for everything.

Unfortunately mass appeal lies in the cesspit of the lowest common denominator. I don't recommend ever doing that. If you kept the principles the same and re-worded it all with a kind of patrice o'neal/hood guy zest, it probably would have done well. "If you tha kinda motherfucker that's always sitting on his ass thinkin' about shit, you need to get the fuck off yo ass!" - "If you tha the kinda motherfucker that's always buzzin' around and ain't giving a damn minute to plan shit out - take a fucking breath nigga!"

Unfortunately, how content is delivered matters as much as the content itself. Dumb people see a few big words/non-standard concepts and nope the fuck outta there. Most people are either dumb, or average but lazy so won't make the effort to understand something that the brain cells wont auto-pilot for them.

Abstraction

7 upvotes · 5 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Probably a bit too esoteric for most and went over quite a few heads (alluding to the lack of upvotes) - but I like it, good post. Makes plenty of sense. If you think too much, do more. If you do too much, think more. This is a matter of balance in think/action ratio. I find the intellectuals think too much and do too little, whilst the brutes do too much and think too little. Be the balance.

Woman on r/deadbedrooms is completely turned off by her beta husband, thinks he's a pervert for wanting sex.

7 upvotes · 30 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Get ready for more rage:

<http://tinderrage.blogspot.ca/>

"Marry Him": A book overflowing with RedPill Truths...and it's authored by a woman

7 upvotes · 30 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

feminism is essentially promoting this behavior and unintentionally producing these results.

Get them at 18, 19, 20 - tell them this - show them this - and they'll just scoff at your "jealousy of their power." Then slowly, over a decade, they crash and burn. Women are short-sighted, and with men having no official power over them anymore - they will pursue their interests in the short-term only to harm themselves/their chances of a loving, functioning family in the long-term, harming the stability of society with it. At best these harpies spermjack a man and raise a child by themselves. That poor kid will have a half-assed childhood.

"Partner Count Doesn't Matter" vs. Medical Reality

7 upvotes · 27 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Reverse psychology works wonders when used correctly.

I cannot believe the shit I heard today. "UK government's aim to have 25% of women in FTSE100?"

7 upvotes · 25 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

This is the same country where feminists whine we're only the "25th most equal country in the world!" "we must look to the nordic countries!" Then they talk about that culturally marxist cesspit known as Sweden as if it's the holy land. They talk about the Nordic countries (Sweden especially) like fucking Muslims do Mecca and Medina. Feminism is terrible for the free market. Seen Sweden? It's fallen apart. IMO, feminism's become a religion. If Christianity was still strong (and traditional) in the UK, I doubt feminism would have made the gains it has here. Church is too RP. Women be believing in feminism instead of Jesus nowadays.

Do women want chaste men?

7 upvotes · 24 March 2015 · /r/PurplePillDebate

it seems like a general societal attitude that people who refrain from sex too long are weirdos

Yes, but only due to said negative attached assumptions, the virginity in and of itself is not unattractive, therefore, it is something far more easily forgiven in a woman. A woman who is found not to be crazy/religiously eccentric/asexual etc will be quickly "forgiven" and admired for her chasteness, a man in a similar situation on the other hand will not. Men are penalised for innocence/inexperience by women, women are desired for innocence/inexperience by men. Although perhaps there is confusion because said women are not praised by their female peers, as women nowadays are indoctrinated by feminism to value promiscuity and ostracise "frigid girls" in their cliques - I can see how a woman would confuse the lack of validation from her female peers with how men perceive her. A man who is tabula rasa is undesirable to women because he is unproven. A woman who is tabula rasa can be made into whatever a man needs her to be.

TLDR: female innocence is attractive (virgin, more feminine), female experience is penalised (SLUT! Bitter!) male innocence is unattractive (seen as gay, more feminine) whilst male experience is attractive (Stud! Worldly! Manly!)

The double standards complement each other, always amuses me how people outside TRP find these things hard to reconcile, it really is quite simple, and it makes sense that in spite of conflicting sexual strategies that men and women at least complement each other in some manner.

Edit: a typo

Guy's wife stops putting effort into their marriage and threatens to bankrupt him if he divorces her. Guy unknowingly lays down dread game while secretly preparing for divorce. Wife is now doing everything she can to make him happy.

7 upvotes · 11 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Illimitableman, dude I want to buy you a beer.

If I'm not hitting the heavy stuff, I lean toward cider. Beer makes me sleepy, which is annoyingly counter-productive in social settings.

Rekorderlig is a pretty nice cider. Sweden may be going to shit, but they know how to make a damn fine cider.

Send beer money here.

The stop-being-boring shortcut. Go to India.

7 upvotes · 3 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Shows of brutality are very common to set precedents.

Funny how developed nations shift from physical violence to mental violence as a way of maintaining power and control.

Violence is seen as the absolute worst thing in the west, physical violence, it's constantly derided and anyone who lifts a finger no matter how morally justified is absolutely crucified/demonised/ostracised. But then that's because we're a pussy-whipped civilization, women's preferences run the show, so passive aggressiveness reigns supreme instead of blunt physical combat.

Yet in the third world, the person provoking you and laying out the bait would get fucked up and there would be no pity party for the guy who had it coming. In a fucked up way, I think there's more justice there. I'm not saying the Mafia is a good thing, more so that people resolve their conflicts through violence rather than passive aggressive head games/framing people/SJW bullshit and blah blah blah. A fight is over quickly. Mental shit drags out and bleeds into all areas of life, in fact I think mental violence is far more dangerous than physical. Mental violence is often uncalled for. Physical violence tends not to happen unless you're disrespectful.

All that shit injects mental illness into a society, it makes people untrusting and pseudo-sociopathic. When people get beaten up, they tend to learn their lesson and humble up. They realise they're no longer invincible. Stupid people in particular won't listen to reason, they need a fucking ass kicking. Yet in the west, those people who need an ass kicking never got it. Instead of being punished for provocation, they get to yield it as an effective tool for ruining other people's lives who can't resist their mental abuse. You see it with women "he won't hit me, if he does, his ass will be in prison, so I will just continue to run my mouth and really fuck with this guy, because I can, and he can't do a thing!" - it's that kind of thinking which runs so rampant here. It gives weak manipulative people, particularly women, far too much power, and does not encourage them to be moral people. When you know you can get away with being a cunt, you will act like one if nobody is going to put you in line - welcome to western civilization.

Here, the plausibly deniable sociopathic snakes win, as long as they don't use fists or violence they're good. If they can provoke you into using fists/violence, even better. They'll just go on about how you're a violent thug and they don't know why you're acting so crazy (hint: they head fucked you, but they'll overlook that after setting you up and making you look bad to everyone else.)

In the third world, the provocateur gets fucked up. I like that. A lot. That's how it should be. Not this feminised "you can fuck them mentally all you like, but lift a finger and you're behind bars." It's sickening how someone can be mentally abusive here and nothing happens, but if you punch them in the face you're doing time. I always thought that was fucked up. You even see this in western dramas. EG: Frank Underwood provoked a guy in House of Cards to punch him in the face, then bleeding, he used it as leverage to get him to do what he wants because otherwise he'd call the police and get the guy done for assault. Women do a similar thing fabricating/threatening domestic abuse/rape claims if men don't do what they want. All it does is shift the power from the physically strong to the mentally strong. The violence remains. This is why although you're more physically safe in the west, I believe you will encounter far more sociopathy/narcissism etc.

We're not less violent in the west than anywhere else in the world, they just massively disincentivised physical violence, so to accommodate for that we've found ways to be more mentally violent instead.

The Government is pussy whipped, and Feminism is its shitty girlfriend.

7 upvotes · 27 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Because Machiavellianism socializes responsibility. And I hate socialism.

This makes no sense. At all.

Nothing good comes from sociopathic behavior.

"I just don't like Machiavellianism." - That's a preference/opinion, not a credible assertion.

Machiavellianism is not intrinsically sociopathic, it is intrinsically tactical. Machiavellianism can have altruistic uses. All successful business men employ it to one degree or another. In fact, out of the dark triad, it's arguably the least sociopathic trait. Although mix it with psychopathy, and yes, you get psychopathic behaviour. All psychopaths are Machiavellian, but not all Machiavellian's are psychopaths. I'd argue narcissism, particularly grandiose narcissism (which women find incredibly seductive) to be far more sociopathic than Machiavellianism.

As a general FYI: most women today are narcissistic and Machiavellian. You have 2/3 DT chicks running around all over the place. The Machiavellianism is innate to them, it is instinctual rather than premeditated for many, although of course some show a conscious talent for the vocation. The narcissism is a product of feminism. Some of them are grandiose types, others are vulnerable types, but female ego/entitlement has never been quite so bad as it is today.

The First Rule of Fight Club

7 upvotes · 20 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

negative emotions

I get angry. I get shit done with that anger. People see things as too binary. Every rant I do gets a few commenters saying "you're bitter." I'm happier than most people on this Earth right now. They don't get it because they don't see the value in a good rant, and anger is binary to them. I do educational rants because I know some people can't comprehend/vibe well with more logical writing. Their assumption is "anger = he's a failure and can't handle life." You can be a winner, and still be abstractly angry at injustices in the world. Anger doesn't necessarily mean you have "lost frame" either. A lot of these new kids haven't got a fucking clue and as such their input is worth close to null. Particularly when they glibly pass judgement. If all the people who'd been here for at least a year fucked off tomorrow, this place would fall apart REALLY quick. It'd be a school without teachers, students teaching students, the whole community would devolve into a shit spiral.

FOUNDATIONS OF STRENGTH 1 - Ignite the ego i.e. wake the fuck up

7 upvotes · 20 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I see, well your friend has some interesting ideas.

In the dating game, women are professionals and men are amateurs.

7 upvotes · 19 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Amateurs sacrifice themselves. Professionals sacrifice other people.

In matters of manipulation, yes. However if we wish to go beyond that, it's not as black and white. I understand your sentiment however, and what you were trying to get at. I shan't pester you by missing the forest for the trees. My point is this: men can enjoy sacrificing themselves for those they love, it's part of who they are. We feel good when we provide and help the weak. It reminds us of our own strength. We like to feel useful, it reminds us we're useful. When dealing with women, one must be careful not to allow these tendencies to be exploited. Reserve them for those that you love, long-time friends, those that you trust. The woman you have been dating six months? She does not necessitate that level of trust. Do not be fooled by yourself. Keep your pimp hand strong, the game demands it, as does her nature.

Went out on a tinder date tonight. Bailed halfway through the first drink.

7 upvotes · 14 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Channelled aggression, that's the shit. Nuclear power but not Chernobyl.

What should I do?

7 upvotes · 14 February 2015 · /r/askTRP

We're supposed to study for a test on Sunday because she's missed a lot of classes.

Are you fucking serious? You better not help that bitch pass. Watch her fail and then fucking laugh. She doesn't deserve your help. She spreads them legs and sucks your cock or you don't help her with homework. That's the way it always was. That's the way it shall always be. Do not be the beta faggot that does the pretty girls homework and gets no play. You will fucking hate yourself for years to come.

Neuroscientists: Women experience no emotion during arousal

7 upvotes · 12 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Can't be a good war bride if you're upset the guy who's fucking you just killed the guy that used to fuck you. For your survival it's better to have a hamster and develop Stockholm syndrome, stat.

User of 4chan explains the difference between men's and women's accomplishments.

7 upvotes · 9 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Had a pretty mess break-up. Got betafied through an LTR. Had enough of the shit. Googled some random crap, found Tomassi's blog, then found this place from one of the commenters.

Machiavellian Thinking vs. Conventional Logic.

7 upvotes · 8 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Fantastic post. Love all of your articles and this seems to be one I can begin applying to my own life almost immediately. Thanks for all your contributions and helping blue pilld men like myself unplug and live better lives.

It's a joy for me to write these things and share them with you all, so likewise thank you very much for reading.

Machiavellian Thinking vs. Conventional Logic.

7 upvotes · 8 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

There is still much to learn so I do hope you do put out a book at some point.

Thanks for the support! I've got a lot more to write on the topic of the dark triad. I'm not going to mention ideas but rest assured I've far from peaked.

How far does the concept of AWALT go?

7 upvotes · 4 February 2015 · /r/PurplePillDebate

as a woman, realizing that you might not be able to meet the standards you've held yourself to is just as painful as men realizing women can't meet the standards they've held them to.

Oh yeah. Older post-wall women who realise nobody is coming along to fulfil their yearning of a "happily ever after with prince charming" are some of the most unhappy people I've ever met. They are perpetually angry, bitter, negative forces in the world. They will argue most ferociously over the tiniest of "ordeals" or perceived infractions.

A case in point: I lived in a block of apartments awhile ago that had communal toilets. I was using one. This woman, probably in her 60's, starts banging on the door whilst I'm going for a shit. I say "it's in use" she starts raising her voice (how audacious) "you shouldn't be using it!" I ignore her. I come out of the toilet, and she's stood there waiting for me like some kind of bullyish thug. Funny, because I'm sufficiently taller and more muscular than her, and she has no way to physically prevent me from urinating or defecating wherever I damn well please. I gave her a piercing, intimidating stare as a response.

She then says "you shouldn't be using that toilet, use another one. I'm going to call the property managers if you keep using it" (as to report me/complain.) I just stared at her with deep loathing and contempt, not uttering a word. Once I saw she was sufficiently uncomfortable I walked away. Slowly. There was a toilet next to my cubicle free, that was in fact larger than my cubicle (you could fit a disabled person in there with chair easily) but instead she went at length to harass me whilst I was minding my own business. What a vile, dysfunctional woman. I later found out she's an older woman in her 60's living alone with no family (from another neighbour.) She smokes heavily, some eastern European woman, never says hello to anybody else in the apartment complex. Ugly as sin. Walks sluggishly like the world is on her shoulders. Crux of the story is: she has utterly failed as a woman by female standards. She is old, alone, without family or partner. She is so miserable that all she desires is to spread her misery to others, whether they have wronged her or not she does not discriminate. She is in pain, so she wants others to feel pain. As they say: "misery loves company."

The tragedy of mediocrity is not often discussed because it can seem quite greedy and selfish to people who have experienced the tragedy of utter failure

Mediocrity is something the majority of humans, men and women alike, experience on a day-to-day basis. Very few people are truly free (financially independent, have no landlord etc.) The system necessitates people divorce themselves of their humanity so that they're economically viable. Years and years of working wears on the soul, when one is always stuck in the office or being a retail drone with little outlet for their own passions it really harms their mental health and sense of well-being. Shitty jobs worked out of economic necessity are a leading cause of depression in my opinion. Wage slavery is no fun at all, and those of us who aren't condemned to such a fate are incredibly lucky people.

How far does the concept of AWALT go?

7 upvotes · 4 February 2015 · /r/PurplePillDebate

Women aren't subhuman degenerates. You shouldn't be so misogynistic. Personally I draw the line at sexism. As for my "novels," nobody puts a glock 9mm behind your head and forces you to read anything you don't want to. I'm honoured to count you among my fans though. Regardless of how you feel, you care enough to read my work. I'm writing another novel now, actually. Albeit, it's not very women-centric so it may not interest you. Love your post, gave me a chuckle.

"Men's Rights Activists have missed the point of feminism " - Intellectually disingenuous article from The Telegraph writes a smear piece aimed at discrediting TRP and AVFM.

7 upvotes · 3 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

This is why I always advocate burial rather than cremation. That way you have skeletal remains that can be sold as the bones of Jesus to some religious nutjob who did a bit too much LSD back in the 70's.

"Men's Rights Activists have missed the point of feminism " - Intellectually disingenuous article from The Telegraph writes a smear piece aimed at discrediting TRP and AVFM.

7 upvotes · 3 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Easy. Write about plants/how to look after them etc. Make your blog at wordpress.com. Sign up for an Amazon Associates account and then include your referral links in your blog posts. If someone clicks the link and buys the plant, you get a commission on each sale from Amazon.

Looks like Amazon sell plants, so you're in luck:

http://www.amazon.co.uk/SILVER-WATTLE-MIMOSA-ACACIA-dealbata/dp/B00N858QTG/ref=sr_1_1?ie=UTF8&qid=1422928397&sr=8-1&keywords=Acacia+tree

http://www.amazon.co.uk/SAINTPAULIA-AFRICAN-VIOLETS-COMPOST-PERLITE/dp/B00DPY43TM/ref=sr_1_8?ie=UTF8&qid=1422928465&sr=8-8&keywords=African+violet

Do you have ads on your blog?

Not yet. Just amazon associates links. I've kept it ad free for a long time, but I'm going to experiment with them.

"Men's Rights Activists have missed the point of feminism " - Intellectually disingenuous article from The Telegraph writes a smear piece aimed at discrediting TRP and AVFM.

7 upvotes · 2 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Best of luck in your venture should you choose to embark upon it. And thank you for the kind words.

The Red Pill is the radical notion that women are people.

7 upvotes · 1 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

A man must then act. Put into practice what he has learned. Even that isn't enough to match the natural, the learned isn't intuitive and must learn from his inevitable mistakes.

You can reach the skill of a natural once you reach a level of "conscious competence" however, and I must stress this emphatically it will take many years and prolonged exposure to naturals to effectively emulate the relevant behaviours, to see a shift in your brain chemistry/way of thinking that is conducive to gaining the same kind of abilities that the natural has. That is to say, internalising certain ways of being akin to the DT so it is a natural effortlessly executed instinct (despite not being born with the ability) takes a long time. It is possible, it's just not probable. Most people will thus not "become DT" but be "pseudo-DT" or simply borrow certain abstract ideas/strategies that DTs use, eg: the 48 laws of power.

One must also realise there's a lot of nuance within the spectrum of DT traits and any two different psychopaths can manifest their traits very differently. There are "different psychopathic styles." You have the highly impulsive dysfunctional, the unintelligent, the near uncontrollably violent, the mentally violent but physical pacifist, the instrumentally violent, the hyper-intelligent, the BPDs (I personally consider them to be low-functioning DTs due to high impulsivity, histrionics and low self-control,) and then there are the non-impulsive thrill seekers who utilise impulse only to be unpredictable for tactical reasons.

So you see, there's a fuck ton of nuance in the psychopathic basket case. The DT can be generalised, but unlike TRP those generalisations miss out a lot of important, relevant data. Simply, DTs are more complex and nuanced than women, so they are harder to generalise. No amount of reading will emulate/replace interactions/relationships with natural DTs. Reading gives you awareness these people even exist, and allows you to identify particular elements/understand certain behaviours, but it gives you no behavioural mastery akin to what you're reading. A book can't make you DT, only experience can. A book can just give you a shove in the right direction and help you make sense out of what you've experienced when dealing with these kinds of people. Books assign labels, instructions/methods for mastery as well as reasons for phenomenon/behaviour, they won't "make you the object of your study." Books are supplementary, but they're not enough in and of themselves.

The most important bit of information anyone should internalise about DTs is that DTs will shit test the fuck out of you. You need to be able to hold frame like a boss to not have them ruin you/discard you. Which is why, like I say, despite it being possible, it's largely improbable that most will reach that level of conscious competence. DTs have a low fear response so they push boundaries and will press all your buttons, if you can't hold frame/pass their bluffs (eg: show indifference to threats or faux demonstrations of physical violence - depends on their "psychopathic type") then they will disrespect you/not cooperate with you. Most people aren't cut out for learning from/cooperating with DTs. Though if you meet what Prof. Kevin Dutton calls a "benevolent psychopath" you may be in luck, albeit, they are probably the rarest psychopathic archetype of them all. If you meet one and they like you, you're lucky, you can learn a lot from them. Probably some of the most effective and talented people in the world. Not to mention they won't violate your mental sovereignty unless you pose a threat (unlike other psychopathic types who are far more needlessly predatory and thus a bigger risk to your self-preservation.)

Red pill briefly mentioned in a MSM piece on corporate psychopathy, this time for being a "colony of dark triad devotees." Interesting characterisation, but actually a semi-decent article too.

7 upvotes · 27 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

This is because psychopaths do not pedestalize sex like make RPer do, they don't care about sex and would be the last people to read a reddit on sexual strategy.

I can say with enough confidence to make panties drop and nipples erect that this is 10000000% unreservedly wrong. Plenty of DTs are on this subreddit.

Anthony Ludovici on women. (Gems from 4chan)

7 upvotes · 27 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

If you want to fuck her you will have to play another game

This is why, in a way, a mastery of Machiavellianism is something so powerful that it commands a sort of religious dedication to ascertain conscious competence. Well executed Machiavellianism gives you the power to bend conventional rules and set your own in their place as you amass more influence. Effectively, one can become so powerful that they get free passes and can stretch many rules as to successfully violate them, whether this is on a societal level or in a personal relationship with another.

What kind of relatively unimportant and penniless man that defies all "virtue" of hypergamy has the hottest concubine yearning to position herself on the end of his phallus? The dark triad charmer of course. Where women have met financial ruin and thrown away all they have acquired through their tactical and meticulous use of dating to satiate their most brutally superficial materialism, there has been a man of incredible manipulation, oft mentally abusive, albeit incredibly charming pulling her strings. It is a perversion, but a beautiful one nevertheless. It seems there is nothing but constant tingles/seduction/drama that can override a woman's materialism.

There are caveats and exceptions to all rules, and the functional dark triad man, or at least, one who has learnt to emulate such a man with competence is the exception here. Just like I know a certain dark triad woman who could have most of you down on one knee in marriage in spite of your protests and conscious contempt for modern women, in seductive manipulation there is a certain irresistible allure that overwhelms all logic, whether that be the conscious male faculty or the instinctual female imperative.

There is a lot of nuance within the DT, some are dysfunctional (good example are the bi-polar) others are more intellectual and functional, but the same basic lack of inherent humanity and inconceivable manipulative abilities are there. Effectively, the moral here (no pun intended) is this: in the proverbial rock-paper-scissors, something akin to mental abuse circumvents hypergamy. That's how addicted to drama women are. I know this sounds incredibly fucked up, but consider all you know for a minute and meditate on what I'm saying. Tingles, seduction, the pua push and pull, war brides, stockholm syndrome, women's love of soap opera and cold calculating assholes who occasionally tell her what she wants to hear? They all have one thing in common: a fetishised addiction to drama. Women will give up everything and violate all their instinctual imperatives merely for a seat aboard the emotional rollercoaster ride that never ends. All aboard the ~~orient~~ tingles express! She wants her highs and lows and she musn't be able to predict them. Female infatuation demands unpredictability and hence one could argue, a certain modicum of insanity.

I'll end with this: "Perfect is boring." In matters of women, this could not be any truer.

[FR] First night clubbing after 8-10 months of TRP and semi-Monk mode

7 upvotes · 25 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

What's your opinion about TRT, if you are in your twenties?

Just lift, eat as clean as possible and get cruciferous vegetables in your diet as they're estrogen blockers. Estrogen blockers will help with all the xenoestrogenic endocrine disrupters polluting everything. If that doesn't help at all, then get TRT from the doc. I'd personally advocate it as a last resort when more natural methods have failed, some guys however have had such great results from it though that they advocate every man gets on that shit.

Study shows women retain DNA from every partner they have unprotected sex with

7 upvotes · 19 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Basically, women keep certain kinds of cells in their vaginas from all the men they have unprotected sex with. Any time a man's sperm goes in a woman's vagina, some of the cells from his sperm split off and she retains them inside her vaginal wall. OP wonders if all these different sperm cells inside a woman's vagina affect any kids she conceives. If these cells could alter any future children you had with her, it would be cuckolding on "a whole new level." Cuckolding is when a man raises a child he thinks is his, but genetically it is not. I don't understand the science enough myself to make any hard conclusions based upon this speculation.

Don't overtrain. (Applies to more than just your muscles.)

7 upvotes · 18 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

The idea was that monk mode is a bad idea because while you'll improve your body, your social skills (like muscles) will atrophy over time.

Nah your capacity to socialise is infinitely malleable/upgradeable/improvable. I've had times in my life I've been socially absent and others the dominant focus of everything. This line of thinking is the fear of people with poor social skills speaking (or people who feel empty when they spend too much time alone.)

If you have been remotely popular/been able to socially dominate at any point in your life, you have the capacity to be that again even if you aren't now. Yes you will get rusty, no doubt, but with exposure you will quickly regain your skills and dominate again. You never lost your skills, they just became latent. As for people who were never socially competent, did tagging along all those times make them socially intelligent/competent enough to be popular? No. You don't get good at socialising by doing it all the time without being in the right place in your mind. If all you needed to do to be good at socialising is socialise, we'd all have learnt in school to be expert socialisers because you're around people all the time at school for HOURS AND HOURS per day, 5 days a week.

Nah see you need the right mindset, the right direction in life, an understanding of social dynamics, confidence INDEPENDENT OF SOCIAL STATUS and low enough anxiety (eg: gained from lifting) to get good at socialising if you're not a natural. That is what monk mode is about. Reassigning priorities, putting yourself in the right direction. It's not telling you how to live your life for the rest of your life. People who keep saying "you will lose the ability to socialise" either: can socialise really well, never had problems with socialising and haven't done monk mode OR have never been able to socialise, are lonely types, and know they will use monk mode as an excuse not to build their social skills - but instead of blaming themselves for not confronting their fears (which monk mode encourages tackling via introspection) they blame monk mode for being flawed. Simply put if you are in monk mode, allot 6 hours a week, perhaps over 2 days for seeing people. It shouldn't be a central fixture in empire building/building the self however. If you are not a social retard already, that will grease the wheels on your ability to be glib/not be anxious around strangers.

Hamsters gonna hamst. I actually find it incredibly pathetic I'll have to write an article in the future making these distinctions between introversion, extroversion, and monk mode. Because instead of reading it for what it is and understanding the context, the extroverts had a fit over the idea of not being kept in the loop with their social circles and the introverts thought "but this'll just give me more excuse not to get out there because I don't get out there anyway!"

I wrote monk mode as a methodology for sorting yourself out without factoring in your personal psychological issues. It's those issues which may make your application of monk mode a problem for you personally. The theory/methodology itself is solid. General FYI: get good at being alone and get good at being around people. You need both skill sets/the capacity to jump into both states of being if you want to be at the top pile of humanity. It's called ambiversion, google it. If you're only good at one, you're going to suck at the other and will need to divert enough productive time to that endeavour to bring up the less refined element of yourself.

Tom Leykis Auctions 3 Hours of His Show

7 upvotes · 14 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Oh man Ron Paul is badass! Sucks he never became president and the likes of George Bush Jr. did!

Ron Paul also got that sexy initials going on. RP baby.

MGTOW: If you have trouble with discipline, solidify one habit at a time.

7 upvotes · 13 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

And make that first habit LIFTING - it will give you the energy, the drive, the confidence, THE IMPETUS to do everything else!! LIFT. DO IT. NOW. HABITUALIZE LIFTING.

Bruh, Popular YouTuber's Wife Took Shit Testing to The Next Level by Deleting His Work and Potential Revenue

7 upvotes · 13 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

When it comes along, you next -- whether you're married or not.

He should have seen this coming long before he married the bitch. Something makes me think this guy has ignored A LOT of red flags. Men: that hamster (of yours! NOT HERS) can cost you your life. Be honest with yourself. If a bitch seems cray, she probably is.

Survey Reveals 85% of Women Have a "Plan B" Option (Beta Orbiters)

7 upvotes · 10 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Women's words aren't worth shit. They're so passionate, so indignant, so convincing on a whim - but it's all empty.

How you feel as a man, how you communicate and boundary setting. Useful for interacting with women in general, but especially LTR game.

7 upvotes · 7 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

No that's bad game. He should say what he expects of her/women he's involved with period. If she acts in spite of that, next her. She's a plate, not an LTR. You don't take on fatherly responsibilities and train plates to be less shitty. You already deemed her not-LTR worthy so you wouldn't sink that level of investment into her. You wouldn't pin hope on her "ability to change." You'd fuck and chuck. Perseverance and training is for the few women worth a fuck. Female nature is irritating as fuck to men, putting up with her shit necessitates she has already achieved a certain level of quality.

More Questions Than Answers So Far

7 upvotes · 7 January 2015 · /r/askTRP

She is sketchy as fuck for an LTR

Follow that gut instinct - she's probably failing to keep an emotional lid on some of her skeletons. And if they're showing through enough for you to notice them, unless you're some kind of hyper-analytical type sensitive to the most subtle of cues it means what she is suppressing is pretty bad. Women with nothing to hide are not "sketchy."

I was going to break it off with her and pursue a different career, so I told her, and she freaked out, but understood. Something changed legally and it meant I could keep seeing her and keep my current line of work (geographic location). She calmed down.

You're too vague here with your gender pronouns/descriptors for me to work out if you are referring to your wife you're divorcing or your plate. I'm going to assume your plate. And yes: this is dread game, unintended or not.

One of her red flags is she needs validation from men at a near constant pace, and she goes out to seek it, (has verbally stated it, "I want to go out to a bar with friends, get drunk, and get hit on.

Insecure, promiscuous, fucks men to feel good about herself. Not LTR material. If you are making threads about plates rather than just fucking and chucking them then you my friend are falling for the wrong kind of woman.

I've kept frame on the matter, and she knows I'm mostly alpha; she knows there are consequences for her actions, but she's very young, just 21.

She'll do whatever she can get away with unless she fundamentally fears the repercussions and is thus paralysed by said fear.

Major red flag: she has also told me she wants to go to an outdoor event, lasts several days, and that she might be flashing people at it.

Hahahahaha yeah she's trying to see how invested you are in her (your level of commitment) obviously she wants it to be high - but we both know she is not capable of wielding your commitment - she will abuse it if she gets it. I get the feeling despite your better judgement, you will give her your commitment because you want to "see how it works out" or basically: indulge your emotions.

I know, but sad part is I don't think she's lying about it, unlike other types of shit tests where you pass and life continues normal and slightly better.

She's your plate not your girlfriend dude you're falling too hard for a slut. You shouldn't care. As long as she isn't getting AIDS and infecting you with it, you shouldn't really give a fuck. You're already getting divorced. You don't need another mess in your life right now.

I considered confronting her and laying some boundaries. I even set her up for it over online chat. She tries very hard to read into what I say and asked if everything was okay with us, I told her we would talk.

She wants drama. A lot of women bond through drama. Not only do they get off on it/get tingles/get excited, but they think they can feel closer to you and get more commitment out of you if "you've been through things together." This is a concept I should probably flesh out in a blog post at some point.

Her: I will be. Are you okay? Her: With Me?

Insecure commitment seeking.

I realized that there was just no point in letting her handle anything important.

Finally, sanity prevails.

And the way I set this up into something that made her relieved and have positive feelings about (she gave me the full recipe and expects photos).

Refer to my comments above about how women bond through drama. She is desperate to bond with you on an emotional level. You just didn't fall into her trap of allowing that to happen in a negative way (to women it doesn't matter, positive or negative as long as it's emotional they're happy.) You pulled away and gave her what she wanted, albeit positively. I'm going to assume she doesn't know her father, or that they have shitty relations. I'm also going to assume you're significantly older than her and that she sees you as a patriarch. Perhaps you're around 35~. Why do I make these assumptions? Eh, psychoanalysis based on how you speak of her.

it's about giving her every reason to behave by playing a little dread and rewarding her fear with positive emotions and relief while laughing about it.

Correct. And don't be butthurt. Anyway, reading your post my psychoanalysis of you is you want to GF this girl up. Whether you realise that or not, I don't know. I suspect you want a wife replacement, someone to come home to/cuddle at night.

I consider this a marginal success

You have won the battle, but you have far from won the war. She will persist.

Do women ever deserve to know if we have reasonable emotional misgivings about their behavior?

No it's just male weakness to them. They will ignore it if they're not very invested or feed you some blue pill bullshit if they are heavily invested. There's no point in ever telling a woman your problems. Communication with women ends with boundaries, expectations and logistics. Your feelings should never come into the equation. Women don't care about your feelings, only how your feelings will affect their ability to rely on you. Sinking ships get abandoned. Exercise healthy detachment, work through your feelings with good male friends. If you don't have any, use this forum until you get some.

I get that there should be boundaries in place, but keeping them in check by constantly giving them tingles seems like a better way than direct approach to problems. Is this right?

Correct. Although now and again voicing expectations is necessary. If you don't, they will employ plausible deniability "oh what, little old me had no idea!" and you don't need that bullshit. IMO, mix and match. You will get a feel for when ramming her up against a wall, lifting up her skirt and fucking her is a good idea and likewise when talking in a firm voice and walking out the door if she doesn't adhere to what you're saying is necessary. Always walk out the door/abandon/dread - speak with actions. Don't waste time having pointless arguments with women. Soft-nexting (temporary abandonment) works wonders - arguing the hamster achieves nothing - it is inane and nihilistic, don't fall into this trap like so many men do. Your instinct is to try and logic her into conformity, but women are immune to logic. You must use Machiavellian strategies instead.

I don't think I fucked up, I think I almost fucked up badly by challenging her shit tests head on, so I would like some input on that.

You didn't fuck up but you like her too much for a plate. I see you making her your GF, contrary to red flags.

Shameless plug: check out my blog - <http://illimitablemen.com/>

Guy is best friend with girl for 10 years. She has a new boyfriend that threatens to beat his head in. Guess who she sides with?

7 upvotes · 3 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Really? First of all you get punked out and instead of siding with you, 10 years of friendship just went out the window for a NEW boyfriend she is just starting to date.

Female friendship isn't worth the bullshit if you're a beta. If you're a beta women will just use you as an emotional surrogate for an actual committed (sexual) relationship. As soon as they get that, they'll act like you barely exist. If everything goes to shit with the new BF, guess who'll come back all of a sudden? Even more perversely, as a beta, you'll be hoping it all goes to shit for her so you can monopolise her attention and "get her back." It's so fucking unhealthy from the emotionally co-dependent beta and the emotionally exploitative woman.

Women and betas make me sick, they're so similar.

Any good Dark Triad books?

7 upvotes · 2 January 2015 · /r/RedPillBooks

<http://illimitablemen.com/2013/11/17/understanding-the-dark-triad/>

Scroll all the way to the bottom. There's a book list. I have a few more books to add to that list, too.

How to appreciate what I have? Because I only do when it's gone

7 upvotes · 1 January 2015 · /r/askTRP

You are a person who only values what they have to work for. If it comes too easily, you're uninterested. You don't seem to value women inherently as a prize/object of desire like most men, you seem only to value for them for how they can make you feel about yourself. Basically you like the ego validation, you don't care about the women themselves. They detect that, and they cut their losses because they know they don't need to put up with that shit to get validation/romance/alpha fux themselves. I suspect OP you may be a narcissist. Men who seek a challenge romantically are usually bored with life in general, so rather than direct that bored energy at a project, invention, or business idea they want to fuck around dragging out the emotional theatrics with women. Typically this is the purview of women, the emotional rollercoaster, the relationship drama, the need for validation: not a masculine one. Typically this is a female trait, not a male, for men are horny with their opportunism.

My opinions aside, here's my advice:

Savour the chase. Make these girls not like you on your terms, do things antithetical to your personality, slowly, not all at once. As they begin to like you less, do the things you did which made them like you to begin with, attraction will slowly rebuild. They will have a talk with you about being confused. You will feel like you had to earn their attraction because you've made the irrationality of your ego realise that this woman is in fact capable of not liking you, and her liking you is not a product of you "being the shit" but simply a product of her valuing qualities you have. She doesn't like you, she likes what you represent. And the moment you immediately no longer represented that which she valued, her attraction waned and in turn she began to devalue you. Now you know she's not just a sychophant, but have seen the conditionality of her attraction, you may be able to assign value to it in the moment she actually feels that attraction for you.

No judgement on my part implied, simply stating my views and opinions as matter-of-factly as possible. Best of luck to you.

Not just sexual strategy is amoral, everything is. Why? Because life has no feelings, no conscience or consciousness and gives no fucks about shit. That doesn't mean disregarding morality as a whole is a wise or even balanced thing to do.

7 upvotes · 29 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

But there is a whole movie about this dynamic: Idiocracy.

Man that movie was boring as shit. Underwhelming, and I suspect the major point it was trying to drive home was missed by the majority.

Not just sexual strategy is amoral, everything is. Why? Because life has no feelings, no conscience or consciousness and gives no fucks about shit. That doesn't mean disregarding morality as a whole is a wise or even balanced thing to do.

7 upvotes · 29 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I will condense it: be comfortable with your immorality if you opt to be immoral. Do not lie to yourself, or others that your immorality is in actual fact, amoral. All morality and immorality can be justified as amoral with enough deconstruction and spin. Science has no emotions and is mathematical so it's the perfect scapegoat for amoral arguments. Moralists can use science for morality and call it amoral, anarchists can use science for immorality and call it amoral. Ultimately, science is just a tool and like life gives no fucks about how you feel.

It is better to be honest with yourself than it is to rely on the rationalisation hamster. Never rely on the hamster. You see, as fucked up as I may be, I am infinitely more respectable than a guy who does the same shit I do, but then tells you it's not immoral. When you do that, bullshit detectors go off and you lose credibility. Own your own immorality and you will be respected more than the immoral who feel enough shame to lie about the nature of their immorality by calling it amoral. Ally yourself with the truth, or it will be weaponised against you.

Can someone please provide some explanation or analysis over what the hell is wrong with the men in Japan, and what exactly happened to them?

7 upvotes · 28 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Successful civilizations become dysgenic as natural selection is no longer in play.

Men's Spaces: The Barber Shop

7 upvotes · 27 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I more meant the society did,

Yes our forefathers were fucking idiots. And now ultimately, we are paying the price for their mistakes.

and now we need to fix it.

Yes, the great challenge of this generation and the coming generation of men will be to fix the mistakes of the previous generation of men. Undoing the harmful effects of feminism and battling to save civilization in the process. Women are sheep, they won't save us, it's down to us to stop it all crumbling.

I find machiavellianism beta trait

7 upvotes · 27 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You can't fight Machiavellianism with muscle. It will get you locked up. In developed civilization survival of the fittest/natural selection is selecting for men who can master the art of manipulation. Whether you think that is beta or not is largely irrelevant to the status quo and has no bearing on anything.

I much more prefer leadership than machiavellianism.

This is beyond retarded. It assumes Machiavellianism is separate from, and not necessary for leadership. That goes to show what little understanding you have of the topic you're talking about. Statements like this would typically be enough to warrant silence from me, I do not address stupidity in conventional settings. However, as we are an online community where people come to learn, I'm stipulating this for the lurkers, not OP.

As for OP, you need to go get fucked up more by life, step out of whatever protected bubble you're in, and those naive ideals of yours, that efficient leadership can exist independently of Machiavellianism will fall to the way side. Once you are more fucked up by life you will see the value of Machiavellianism. If you can't see the value in it, it's because you've led an easy/sheltered life or reject reality in spite of your hardships. Mummy and daddy pay for everything. You have no significant worries aside from school. Nothing terrible happened in your childhood. If that sounds like you, it's no surprise you fail to comprehend the utility of this concept. You're still living in the fairytale.

Need some convincing of Red Pill Truths? AskReddit- Girls of Reddit, did you ever have a guy that you wished you said yes to when he asked you out? What is the story?

7 upvotes · 22 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

How I see it for guys and height:

5'2 and under = dwarf. Tyrion Lannister loves you.

5'3 - 5'5 = very short

5'6 - 5'7 = short

5'8 - 5'10 = average

5'11 - 6'1 = tall

6'2 - 6'5 = very tall

6'6+ suffering from gigantism, homie better get a custom bed and clown shoes. Join the NBA.

Kim K to spend the night with Saudi Prince for $1 million

7 upvotes · 12 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Arab princes officially beta as fuck. The arabs are known for having no concept of the value of money anyway, well specifically the sauds because their entire wealth is built off oil and they went from third world poverty to industrialised & rich over night. They didn't earn it the long, hard way like the European nations or S.E asia. Aint no bitch worth a million. Kanye is also a total beta bitch. WHY U TRYNA MAKE A HO A HOUSEWIFE SON? SMH... If Kanye was a close friend I would have beat the shit out of him for marrying that money obsessed narcissistic whore. How would you feel, YOU, the guy reading this, if "your girl" your main girl, your LTR girl you had a kid with decided to fuckoff half way across the world to shag a prince for a million? If she was a plate you'd be like "yeah i want me some of that money" if it's the girl you're in love with though? DAMN.

In other news, Kim K's prostitution career goes from strength to strength, from sex tapes with Ray J, to marrying a rapper with her hypergamy finally topping out at shagging a saudi prince. And you know a Prince ain't ever been told no, he could tell her to eat her own shit, what she gonna do with all his soldiers stood there holding guns and shit? Haha, oh fuck!

Kim K to spend the night with Saudi Prince for $1 million

7 upvotes · 12 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That's what chronic onset oneitis can do to a man. Make him a total bitch.

I'm sick and fucking tired of men who enable women and their "it's not my fault" bullshit victim complex

7 upvotes · 6 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

We tell dudes it is your fault/you can change it/ whatever for a good reason. You can't fix anybody else but you CAN fix yourself and how they respond to you. That part is your fault.

Definitely, 100% agree.

However, you are right that some women are just cunts and no amount of game is going to turn her into a sweet, or even tolerable woman. In a marriage you have 2 choices, be in control and have lots of sex or give your wife control and have almost no sex. Well, I guess you actually have 3 because there is also Divorce/Cheating. However, which choice you make is largely up to you.

I'm only getting married if it's a political arrangement and I have a good way to hide assets.

Orwellian Feminism instead of third wave feminism.

7 upvotes · 28 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Did a piece called "the feminist thought police" you may enjoy OP.

<http://illimitablemen.com/2014/10/16/the-feminist-thought-police/>

Thank you.

7 upvotes · 22 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Most men are pussies. You can weed the nutters out like this though. I've had men stare me down in passing with very aggressive eyes and thought "this crazy cunt belongs in prison" don't be that guy. Fine line between hostile gazes and assertive eye contact.

No. of sexual partners in charts, by country, age and sex

7 upvotes · 20 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm reading these stats and thinking "bitches lying on the self-report."

Way too many women reporting only 1 sexual partner or none at all. Too many "blowjobs that didn't count!" I suspect. All kinds of bullshit up in those charts, plus they are awkward to read. If data is based on women self-reporting, I immediately disregard the validity of that data.

3 Reasons Why You Will Never Make Gains

7 upvotes · 20 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

We're living in a culture that increasingly prioritises style over substance. Its a symptom of the decline and the ever lowering IQ. Dumb people don't understand complex shit so all their appreciation is reserved for stylistics.

Women do not give a fuck about your "feelings".

7 upvotes · 18 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Hear, hear! He's missing the forest for the trees.

[48 Days of Power] Day 1 - "Never Outshine The Master"

7 upvotes · 15 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I need to clean up the grammar somewhat, but I did a deep essay on this law awhile ago which can be found here:

<http://illimitablemen.com/2013/12/10/law-01-never-outshine-the-master-exemplified-and-explained/>

I recommend only reading this if you have already read law 1 in the book seeing as it expands upon what is written there. If you haven't, read the law 1 chapter first in 48LOP and then read this.

Fuck Marriage

7 upvotes · 12 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah you can't even LTR in a common law jurisdiction. I hear that's all of Canada.

[REPOST] The Red Pill Constitution [Updated]

7 upvotes · 8 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Great recommendation, I agree. Amended. Thanks.

♂

NEVER EVER trust women who say/act like they are "one of the guys" and have "mostly guy friends"

7 upvotes · 4 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

she can not find enough men to work for her because women create a very hostile work environment of nonsense disputes.

Bitchy women (that's like 99% of them) absolutely kill the workplace. Feminine, caring women, are a massive asset though, they keep morale up. Bitchy women play mind games, attack people, keep morale down and fuel political bullshit.

and she didn't want to live off the state

Green flag, shows good character without coercion or external influence. She could have took the easy route, but she didn't. How that translates to a relationship is she is more likely to work on the relationship than just throw the towel in, go out, get drunk, and fuck another man. Yes a single mother is a red flag, she was young and made a mistake. Aside that monumental blip, she sounds like she's of good character.

unicorns I described above do exist

I would never describe a single mother as a unicorn, if they manage to get their shit together they're more like reformed sluts. If her SMV is good and she demonstrates good nature, some men will take reformed sluts on board. Depends on the guy, the girl and the whole context for shit.

The Art of War applied to The RedPill

7 upvotes · 29 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

No Wally, no it isn't.

Found a great resource for dealing with Boarderlines

7 upvotes · 28 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

As if normal women in their "win him over phase" of trying to get you to fall in love so they can lock down your commitment don't act and behave like everything they think you want them to be anyway, only to remove the veil once your commitment has been established as irrevocable: marriage contract. It happens to a lesser extent with the jump from plate to LTR too. A plate has to constantly be on top of her shit or she may get dropped and not get commitment. She'll be a good girl for a long time until "the talk" happens and she may blow up over about "where this is going." A LTR on the other hand is getting some semblance of commitment and grows accustomed to it very quickly, meaning she lets her game slip.

With a borderline, all that shit is amplified tenfold, that is until they have a psychotic episode and lose their shit making it obvious they are absolute bonkers. In this way, I think borderlines are more easily spotted to be manipulating than normal women (due to the absence of psychotic episodes in neurotypical women.) Borderlines tend to have memory problems too. IMO, they are kind of obvious, but some guys swear they are difficult to detect.

Feminism Has Destroyed My Family

7 upvotes · 28 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Echos my sentiment too. Family need to be raised outside the west. The west is too socially corrupt.

What does "agree and amplify" actually mean?

7 upvotes · 25 October 2014 · /r/askTRP

Agree and amplify is the usage of the logical fallacy reductio ad absurdum (latin for: reduce to absurdity.) What you do is you take someone's criticism and imply it is absurd by exacerbating what they have said. So if someone were to say "seanlikecrazy is gay" instead of getting butthurt like a normal guy and saying "I'm not gay!" as if you're ashamed and that's there's something of value to that remark, you'd say "I'm so gay I woke up in Narnia with a pinky ring on and a pain in my left butt cheek"

That's agree and amplify. It shows indifference and it gives no power to accusations that are made against you.

You can disagree and amplify too, it has the same effect. Eg: "No I'm not gay I just like fucking men ALL THE TIME."

Try to keep a straight face for even more effect.

It's official (2XC): Telling your girl that "she is overreacting" is now in the same category as beating her...

7 upvotes · 22 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

We need to beta shame these guys for lowering the value of commitment, much like women slut shame promiscuous women for lowering the value of sex.

The problem of insufficient vaginas

7 upvotes · 16 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Well pre-feminism one average man's salary could support a nuclear family. Buy a house, a car, provide for everyone's clothing needs, food and etc for a family of four (man, woman, 2 kids.). Try and do that now without a top job or a dual income household. Isn't possible.

Women Prefer Male Bosses Even More Than Men Do

7 upvotes · 16 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah fuck that shit. I worked under a cluster B woman who hid her mental illness from the company to become a manager long ago. It was fucking hell. Gaslighting at work? Fuckoff.

Let's Talk About Being 30+

7 upvotes · 13 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You went from a modest net worth to 100k per annum salary in 2~ years? Well done.

Why is the 48 laws of Power, so valued on TRP?

7 upvotes · 8 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

OPs topic makes no sense. It is a shit topic. Not purely because I disagree with him, but because he doesn't even make a good argument for what he's saying. If he had a good argument it would be worth analysing and debating but he doesn't.

A prisoner impregnated 4 guards and got 2 of them having his name tattooed, all while incarcerated

7 upvotes · 1 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

If you're dark triad you will corrupt the women who officially have power over you into servile fuck puppets waiting to serve your whim. Despite the social system in place they instinctively fall in line and service that dick/lie for you etc. Female prison officers are bad because these DTs can take control of them and then start running the place.

Hooked On Real Talk: Could Spending Too Much Time on TRP Limit Your Social Advancement?

7 upvotes · 27 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah. Patrice was a martyr. As much as I love the guy, and as much can be learnt from his seductive method, don't model yourself business-wise on a martyr. It's not smart. A select few guys can take up that role if they wish, but for the majority it is not necessary. R.I.P Patrice.

Red Pill Basics: Do not be a Time Ho

7 upvotes · 19 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah some of the later episodes its like a cluster fuck with TBP because the harpies wont shutup speaking over him and getting all indignant. If you can listen through that, its worth it. The beginning episodes dont have these "NAWALT!" women constantly derailing things though.

Have you ever lost a woman due to RP?

7 upvotes · 18 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

unicorns don't exist.

Reading this now as young as I am, I really, really want to disagree with you.

Have your first proper relationship fuck up and then come back. Ironically, the shit you learn here will help that first serious relationship last longer.

What I've learned from the women in my family.

7 upvotes · 18 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I routinely get offers of soup and comfort massages from girls I see when I am hung over or not feeling too well.

Not the same as being out of action for months in an LTR. You're probably also high SMV if women bother giving you that kind of attention/sympathy. Very few females are truly altruistic and not using your weakness as a way to get a foot in the door with a high smv man. Don't be fooled.

"We did not intend to fall in love. It just happened. Love knows no age"... says the 24 year old Playboy slut marrying the 81 year old billionaire

7 upvotes · 17 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Academic studies of psychology are underwhelming. Kids sign up expecting Machiavelli but instead they get Freud and an ear full on Milgram and the hippocampus of taxi drivers. People who want to learn to manipulate are drawn towards psychology only to find it isn't what they expected. Neurology/neuroplasticity is interesting though, as are the biological elements related to hormones. Psychology is mostly a female dominated field too. Says a lot if you read between the lines.

As newly RP, I found this article pretty powerful.

7 upvotes · 17 September 2014 · /r/RedPillWomen

This one's a doozy. Remembering that your alpha has vulnerabilities too and will on occasion need to share these.

Generally recommend men to share their problems with their close buddies and neglect to share weaknesses with their S.O. I know women like the idea of knowing their man's weak spots, but it's fantastical masturbation, in practice it's rarely ever a good idea. This is why men need to have tight-knit circles of buddies (their pack) so they can talk about guy shit and have somewhere to get shit off their chest when life is hard on them.

Women have a tendency to try to whore up their man's time and attention, leaving him little social capital as his friendships with other men deteriorate due to neglect. Of course it's not just one woman's fault. You have multiple women doing this to their S.O's so the men struggle to all get away at the same time. Then when shit hits the fan, all he has is his woman to bitch/moan/cry to and she loses her shit to see the person she depends on beginning to show cracks, or even crumbling if it's bad enough.

Any RP man realises telling a woman his problems is dangerous, and that's why it's important not to cut, or try to cut your S.O off his from his friends, be it due to insecurity/fear (dread) what they will get up to without women around, or whatever. Men need their friends to share the shit that their woman can't handle. Even the most stoic man needs an outlet and a woman isn't it. Every advanced piece of technology in the world needs vents to cool, red pill/alpha men are no different.

AFBB confirmed, classic Indian style.

7 upvotes · 15 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

WTF should they classify her course of action as?! I don't think I could pull off something of similar scope to someone I hate even if I wanted to.

This is why I wrote in the red pill antibiotic nuke aka the red pill constitution the following:

03.) Women are machiavellian in nature, this means they are comparatively proficient at being manipulative versus the typical male. The evolutionary theoretical basis for this is due to smaller size and inferior musculature women had to learn to use men as tools rather than directly oppose them in a physical conflict (as they would undoubtedly lose in all but very few scenarios) this makes the pronunciation of their strength a propensity to be mentally violent rather than to be physically violent. Physical violence is outlawed whereas mental abuse is not, this allows women to get their way without being held accountable by a system of law, the law does not legislate interpersonal morality to this extent. Where a man's instinct is to hit, a woman's is to do a big shit in your mind instead.

Simply put, withholding sex to get what you want is a behaviour that is second nature to women.

Woman who is in love with me let slip why she does not want to fall out of love with me (despite my insistence).

7 upvotes · 15 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I hate surfing that website, way too purple pill for my liking. Some would say blue. Are there any specific articles on the topics you mentioned that you could link to? Thanks.

LMR stone wall

7 upvotes · 13 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Sleeping in bed with a chick you want to fuck who refuses to fuck you is an all expenses paid express trip to being a beta blue balls. You're also giving her your time/presence/comfort without her giving you what you want. I wouldn't do it. Fuck it. Plenty of chicks won't cock tease like that. This Korean chick is completely replaceable. Don't be fixating OP.

Gaylube Oil's Expectation Test

7 upvotes · 9 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Tell her when she licks her lips and stares at your crotch that's an invitation to treat.

UST - Ultimate Shit Test! or How to deal with a plate who is spitting Red Pill

7 upvotes · 3 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

dont let the door hit you on the way out, because i dont want ass prints on my door.

Heads up, I'm stealing the shit out of that.

and how i "know that she has a problem with male authority and yet i stamp it down anyway"

Daddy issues and feminism make for one hell of a neural cocktail.

Korean commentator insightfully debunks feminist lies, propaganda and blatant misuse of statistics (Tons of applicability to the West)

7 upvotes · 1 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I would think with a crazy country like DPRK on your doorstep you wouldn't have much of a choice in maintaining traditionalism. Seem too weak and that loon just might actually fire some sort of short range nuclear weapon at you.

SK and DPRK are still technically at war aren't they?

2xC: "TheRedPill is causing me to self-harm, as I become more depressed by what women must really think of me. "

7 upvotes · 1 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Brilliant show. Marlow and Omar are Dark Triad characters except Omar has a strange moral code whilst Marlow is more typical DT. Omar is by far the best character on that show.

[Rant/Discussion] Did Being Red Pilled Turn You Off Commitment?

7 upvotes · 30 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I have associates/friends who don't give a fuck about me but I keep them few and far. When you know a guy doesn't have your back the relationship is tainted by the conditionality of business, there's no kinship. Dont have many if any friends like that, you'll never feel any more disposable in your life. Its the interpersonal equivalent of being a wage slave.

The other few men I consider friends would give me a sofa to sleep on should I be homeless or stand next to me in a fight should someone desire to altercation with me. I don't have to bullshit these guys our friendships are primarily based off nothing but total respect and an abject lack of bullshit. I can talk to these guys about red pill shit or personal problems and they won't lose their shit or respect me less as a man. IMO good male friends are where the support is at, not girlfriends. Women are fickle. Good bros are the only people other than family worth your loyalty.

Women who don't sleep around before their wedding have happier marriages - but men can play the field without worry, study finds.

7 upvotes · 25 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'll cook something up down the line.

On looks and maximizing sexual opportunity.

7 upvotes · 24 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You're 18 and have $4,500 disposable to undo a tattoo less than a year old? /r/personalfinance wants a word.

Men punished for sexual misconduct on college campuses are fighting back

7 upvotes · 21 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Mens Rea

Feminist statutes give no fucks about equity and common law, in fact they shit all over it. If the men who invented the common law system and the american founding fathers who imported it from England could see how misaligned, inequitable and unconstitutional some of these statutes are they would convulse in their caskets.

Statutes like VAWA violate the very foundation of the legal system, which was about justice, which meant a set of equitable maxims and principles which would be used to determine guilt, penalties and through judicial precedent, the formation and refinement of law.

Statutes were designed so the court system isn't constantly bogged up but to create open and shut cases for precedent that's already been set and enshrined in law, but these feminist statutes violate the equitable maxims. It's a massive judicial oversight to allow the creation of statute which does not adhere to common law equitable maxims IMO.

Slightly off topic, but in the UK we've had all these elderly celebs getting accused of raping people like 30 years ago. Under common law: "Delay defeats equity" (Vigilantibus non dormientibus aequitas subvenit) as you become guilty of laches - "an unreasonable delay in claiming your rights" it's the common law version of the statute of limitations, except it doesn't run FROM WHEN the investigation starts but FROM WHEN the crime was supposedly committed. Yet despite this, they've got police working on getting these celebs put in prison. It's fucked up, the legal system is ignoring its own foundations, even if they did do what is accused all those years ago the victims are all in contempt via laches. You can't go around giving legitimacy to complaints from 3 decades ago.

Men punished for sexual misconduct on college campuses are fighting back

7 upvotes · 21 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The entrepreneurial spirit is masculine in not only demographic, but in its risk taking nature too.

The Three R's: Romanticisation, Realisation & Responsibility [TRP X-Post]

7 upvotes · 19 August 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

You confuse conditional love (eros - attraction) with agape (spiritual love - "loving you for you" - unconditional.) Love is poorly defined in English so it's better to look at the 4 greek types of love to discuss love.

Basically, to be really succinct: our society tells us women will love us with agape (blue pill romanticism), but women are only capable of eros and philia towards men (red pill reality.) Men are capable of both eros and agape towards a woman depending on his level of investment, and if he does not find her sexually attractive: philia.

Women you plate = you love them with eros. Women you want to provide for = you love them with agape. The ugly woman you help out = you love her with philia. How you love your mother is an overlap of storge and agape. Women can give their children agape but they can only give their men eros and philia. Philia is when she sees you as a friend. Combined with eros it's a friend she wants to fuck. If she loses attraction all that remains is philia, but her love is never unconditional (agape.) Men will lose eros for women when their beauty fades, but they will retain both philia and agape. This is what is meant by "women cannot love men in the way that men want to be loved."

With children, that's mostly agape mixed with storge. It is completely independent of eros. When a woman cheats her man because she doesn't "find her man attractive anymore" but doesn't want to lose him, she's lost eros but feels philia. When a man cheats on his woman because he doesn't "find his woman attractive anymore" but doesn't want to lose her, he's lost eros but retains agape/philia.

In part, this also explains why a man cheating on a woman may not spell disaster, but when a woman cheats on a man the strongest source of her love is extinguished and you end up being abandoned or a cuck in the friend zone.

The intensity/hierarchy of love is something like this: Agape > Eros > Philia > Storge

How would you feel if your girlfriend went on a vacation with her ex-fuckbuddy? [xpost /r/AskMen]

7 upvotes · 19 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Some guys have got this currency exchange thing going on called dignity for pussy.

Russell Brand is red pill as fuck.

7 upvotes · 18 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I want to do a post on cocaine in the future for the dark triad section of my site. If you want to share any insights, shoot me a PM.

Russell Brand is red pill as fuck.

7 upvotes · 17 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Whether you like him or not you can't help but admit he has a great vocabulary, quick wit, and creative mind/imagination all of which he uses to create a flamboyant theatrical kind of improvised comedy. That's why people love him. IMO, Russell gives the best over the top examples of agree and amplify. Everything's an extended metaphor full of puns with him. Saying that, this guy did drugs for years, I wouldn't be surprised if they left him with some beneficial perks in his neurology either as direct effect of taking said drugs or because of how he learnt from the world whilst under the influence.

A 200 page free pdf on why women cheat. What do you guys think.

7 upvotes · 13 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Truth's a bitch man. People with options are not loyal unless they've built up a friendship with you over a great many years. Even then, some people possess the ability to flip a switch and throw all that history and previous time investment into the wind. It's fucked up. On trust and relationships there is no secret formula to guarantee success, just strategies you can implement and choices you can make to minimize your chances of getting fucked up. Even if you do "everything you should have done" you can still get fucked the hell up. Why? Because life is a bitch, a cruel bitch. It is what it is.

Robin Williams' divorce rape

7 upvotes · 12 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

They showed a picture of him with her on the TV and I immediately thought to myself "bet she's with him for his money" then they said "married" and I thought "why is this silly fuck married? now he's dead she'll clean up"

Feminism and the 48 laws

7 upvotes · 3 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

More specifically, law 22, the "surrender tactic" is what "playing the victim" is known as in Robert Greene's machiavellian text: <http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-22-use-surrender-tactic-transform.html>

Machiavelli himself in "The Prince" refers to it as "turning vice into virtue, and virtue into vice"

Ever pulled down a chick's panties only to find a suspicious lesion or potential STD?

7 upvotes · 30 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Rather than point and call names, give a dignified counter-argument. Why should we take you seriously when you're so outraged and lacking in self-control you wish a stranger you don't even know would die of aids? Disgusting.

Thunderfoot reacts to latest corp suck-up ad '#LikeaGirl'

7 upvotes · 20 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Haha that irony is fucking beautiful. It would seem the most machiavellian women are going into industries where they, as women, with intimate knowledge of their target market, can manipulative the living shit out of "less confident women" for power and profit. Even within womankind there is a sort of pyramid, where the ugly chicks and the pretty chicks who are brainwashed to feel ugly read the mags and get hooked on them like drugs for the hamster. I imagine most marketeers are above average intelligence and even above average machiavellian intelligence by female standards.

Women & The Death of Femininity

7 upvotes · 20 July 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

You can look at today's 18-25 year olds (or younger if you prefer?) and see that femininity and the cultivation of feminine behaviours is not something a woman is born with.

That is because in this culture much of their femininity is beaten out of them long before then, the bitterness of a single mother raising her daughter is enough to masculinise a woman into a vapid narcissistic combative bitch as she reaches her teenage years, reinforced by her friends, also the products of single mothers, the feminist media and her school. I do not believe young girls raised in a household where the father is the head of house and they are sufficiently incubated from negative external influences lack any femininity. Yes they will be immature and they will have shortcomings, but in the eyes of a man even the wisest woman will often appear immature in the heat of her emotions. The TRP saying "the oldest teenager in the room" is quite literal, it is not meant metaphorically, and thus maturation is often quite irrelevant to men, but rather femininity is what is valued, as in softness, demureness, submissiveness and warmth.

Unfortunately these characteristics don't magically appear on every young female. You're idealising young women - they may be great physically but they're still immature, selfish, and come with all the issues that young people come with.

It is not my claim that women are born full women, but rather that they are born feminine, and rather than have that femininity cultivated into developing them into well-rounded women "on the quest for feminine self-actualisation" as you describe it, they are corrupted along the way, often at a young age, and shaped into picking up masculine traits. Femininity and self-actualised woman are not the same thing to me, femininity is rather the absence of masculine qualities, no ball-busting, no anti-masculine sentiment, but an innate understanding of the dynamic between man and woman, an unactualised woman who retains her femininity at least bears a chance of cultivating her femininity, one who has already embraced the "I can do whatever a man can do too" ethos, masculinising herself along the way will not, she is already too far invested in "new age femininity" which is essentially where the line between masculinity and femininity blurs into the hybrid quasi woman I speak of, a woman who considers herself fully woman only when she has sufficiently masculinised herself.

Implantable birth control chip could work for up to 16 years.

7 upvotes · 12 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

When a woman wants to get pregnant, she turns the tool off with a remote control.

I love how the article implies whether a child is born or not is a woman's choice and a woman's choice alone, it doesn't say "when the couple want to get pregnant, they can decide to turn the chip off." hilariously when they're single mothers it's always the fault of the dad for not sticking around. I mean if the guy didn't get a say and didn't want the kid and she had it anyway, or even worse, she randomly decides she wants a baby, turns her microchip off before she goes out, hits the clubs, has a ONS and then carries the kid to term and raises it off taxpayer money then why the fuck would the father stick around? What real loyalty should such a man have to such a woman who has duped him in that way? Even if it's not a ONS, but they were a couple and he still didn't want the kid but she had it anyway, why would he stick around when he has not consented to his DNA being used to bring life into the world? Women have all the power when it comes to reproduction, but like always, they take none of the responsibility for CHOOSING to bring a kid into the world under those circumstances and blame everything on the father, it's hilarious. If she's widowed or whatever fine, if he disappears after a few years, fair enough, but if he's gone before the kid is born? She's a fucking retard.

It's the kids I feel sorry for, they pay the ultimate price, growing up without a father and often in poverty simply because the mother decided to keep the baby despite not securing the commitment of the father. I get it. Some guys are assholes and will leave a woman on her own, in that case, why the fuck bring his baby into the world, better yet, why not use contraception beforehand? It baffles me how some women are just obsessed with being pregnant, knowing the father will not be around knowing they cannot provide a good quality of life for their child. It utterly astonishes me, it is not only irresponsible but it only serves to fuel the dysfunctionality within our societies.

Personally I can't wait for the male fucking pill. It may be less sophisticated than the ladies latest upgrade, a fucking "control chip" (whatever that is) but at least we'd get a bit of sexual autonomy. It'll be very interesting to see how much the birthrate drops once men get some degree of control. I mean the birthrate is as low as it is with all these women "having oopsies" imagine how much lower it would be if their ability to "pull an oopsie" was unequivocally taken away from them?

Met my beta bux alter ego yesterday

7 upvotes · 10 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The only reason we ever want to help anyone other than for reasons of sexual or material gain is because we see a bit of ourselves, or at least our former selves, in them. We relate to them and want to shout "NO, DUDE, STOP!" but the sad thing is that person will never listen, you have to watch the whole thing play out like a car crash in slow motion. Most people learn the hard way, I know I'm one of those people, I always have been, I've rarely listened to the advice of those in my life and shit even if I agreed I wouldn't make any changes. In my bluepill days if I'd found trp I probably would have ended up being purple pill, believing some of the stuff on RP, but still holding onto some BP idealism simply because 1: I'm a stubborn fuck, 2: TRP hurts and I was a bitch back then, like most bluepillers are.

The best advice reddit has to offer on getting females to your college party [askhamsters]

7 upvotes · 5 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Not a socialite with an mtv crib and a six pack? Not worth knowing. There's standards and preferences, then there is this narcissistic as fuck society where if you're not in the top 20% echelon you may as well be a tramp.

Asian doctor now has a flood of Asian female attention...

7 upvotes · 30 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I am glad he investigates his dates' past and has standards.

Implies most asians are betas who take the first bit of pussy that comes along.

I don't know any southeast asians anymore as their population is fucking tiny in my area (I have to go to a chinese takeaway or a university to see one - and the university ones are all internationals who don't socialise outside their race) so I have no frame of reference, had 2 asian friends my whole life but that's a pretty small sample size, both were what you would call beta and academically gifted. One was south korean, one from hong kong. Great guys to be honest, very different from english guys though in the sense they just seemed very kind and thoughtful although quite distant like their minds were always on some next shit. I loved those guys. They were beta, yet, still respectable people, english/white betas never seem very respectable at all, not like those guys. Weird combination I can't really put a finger on.

"Why Would That Matter? I'm The Girl"

7 upvotes · 16 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The truth is sexist then isn't it. Women getting custody of the kids more than men (due to the assumption they make better 'primary caregivers') is sexist, such is life. It's funny how you make our point for us by disagreeing with us. Yes it is sexist, sexism is a fundamental part of reality. Misogyny or misandry aren't, they are personal choices based on socialisation, but sexism is utterly inescapable as a reality, whether you want to escape it or not. Do women want to be treated as less credible for being emotional? No. But they will be because that is logical. Do men want to feel like they are burdened with stoicism and can never show their true feelings? No, because men have the same need to bitch and moan too to engage in catharsis, but nobody gives a fuck about that, especially women. They are the negatives exclusive to each gender that each must contend with.

Sexism is beneficial and shitty for both genders in numerous different ways, that is what it is. However, nobody grumbles when there is benevolent sexism granted to the "fairer" (weaker) sex, but all of a sudden when that sexism isn't benevolent and is instead critical, it becomes a problem to point out reality eg: the weaknesses of women versus men. Women and those who go out on a limb to protect them have no concept of criticism or allegiance to the truth, if its negative and directed at women you're a misogynist or if they're feeling kind you'll get the manslaughter charge, sexist. Patrice was bang-on with what he said despite how unpalatable it may be to those who need sheepish sugar-coated language to be receptive to a premise. He spoke in that manner because he wanted reality to hit the person emphatically, no maybes and meek talk about exceptions and outliers and intellectual masturbation around the truth, just a subscription to the truth: women are fundamentally inferior in a vast number of ways and nobody wants to accept that or recognise it for what it is despite the fact we all have to deal with the consequences of that.

Sexism is a genetic and biological reality that permeates our social culture, you're never going to escape it so it's best you get to grips with that reality and accept it. If 50 years of feminism can't change anything and basically make women more like men (stoic, logical etc) neither can you or I. Funnily enough, the reverse has seemed to have happened, the feminisation of everything, men being more emotional and feeble than they were.

The Dangers of Isolation: Why Men Need Other Men

7 upvotes · 7 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You've lost me.

How I maintain frame when I'm outnumbered by women at home.

7 upvotes · 6 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Buddhism/Meditation and Frame Control, any buddhists/meditators want to share their perspective of "keeping frame" ?

Husband tries to open up to wife about past grief; "gross, keep it to yourself". Oh, she was cheating too

7 upvotes · 5 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

What a beautiful documentary, it is great to see my ancestor countrymen in such a manner, thanks for sharing.

Woman on TwoX whines that she's only attracted to douchebags. White knight commenters rush to soothe her and say that she's a "victim", and maybe she should give nice guys a chance?

7 upvotes · 4 June 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

maybe she should give nice guys a chance?

To deplete their bank accounts into the abyss of her insatiable hypergamy? Sure. To allow average men into her birth canal? Never!

Cry me a fucking river...

7 upvotes · 26 May 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

Most of the shaming that goes on here, isn't focused on making positive change, instead it is a sad way to get ego validation from putting someone else down.

Thanks. This is the all important distinction.

Self-Respect and Crazy Bitches

7 upvotes · 23 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

At least you made it out man, I'm sure you've got a few stories and experiences to share after that clusterfuck too.

Self-Respect and Crazy Bitches

7 upvotes · 23 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

She wanted you to fight him,

I didn't like the bitch enough to spill blood for her. It was an easy decision for me. Let's assume you're right, doing that on the second date is all kinds of fucked up, way too early in to be pulling shit tests of that magnitude.

Purgatory - Rollo: "If you want an example of the feminine imperative's fluidly reinventing social conventions[...] In 2014 it's 'Any guy who thinks he's in the so called friend zone is just a potential rapist because he thinks he's owed sex for his friendship.'"

7 upvotes · 21 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Obligatory:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=t9QOQNcpuiA>

Look Sharp, Avoid the Chump Filter

7 upvotes · 12 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

because "his shoes were dirty".

No shit. They're on the ground, they get dirty. I'm fucking speechless.

other internationals

Pet peeve, I generally dislike international students, if they are rich enough to go half way across the world to pursue education, they are typically entitled assholes.

An anecdote and an exception: I had a classmate from Hong Kong who came to study in England and he was a really cool guy, but most of the internationals I met in my academic career were all over-privileged entitled cunts. Despite being from Hong Kong he had an English father and a Chinese mother, so unlike most cantonese who came to England he was actually comfortable to socialise with non-asians, whereas all his "chinese friends" would just speak cantonese all the time even though they knew English. They were incredibly antisocial and did not mix outside their race, that is atypical of Hong Kong Chinese studying in England though. Other races/groups are not much better to be honest.

Standards are everything: Have some Self Respect

7 upvotes · 7 May 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Even in my blue pill days, I would judge. "Too slutty, too stupid, too this too that." Its in my DNA to be a judgemental motherfucker of women, even in the times I was a hardcore beta.

Same. I've never been at the bottom of the pile compared to some of the people I have seen and some of the shit I've heard and read, but often there are guys who have less going for themselves than I who have girlfriends. I jumped into the whole girlfriend thing as a teenager, I was a good looking teenager, height, skin, good grooming, not fat, clothes weren't designer but neither were they charity grade so go figure, I had some shit going on. First GF cheated on me. Second GF cheated on me.

Took a break for 2 years from chicks until I was 19 despite getting a lot of interest from girls. Had one girl who wanted to fuck but there were rumours going around she had an STD so I let her jerk me off and left it at that, no fluid swap thanks. I then had an LTR which lasted 2 years but I'd known the chick 5 years, she frightened off a lot of girls at college who were into me, people always thought we were together even when we were "just friends" yeah it was like that and looking back it sucked as she cockblocked the shit out of me. Anyway we eventually got together and it was a very deep relationship, she had qualities that I hadn't seen in other women and to my own undoing, she was the source of my happiness for quite some time. I guess looking back the fact that other chicks found me physically attractive gave me major preselection towards this girl.

Despite her value, and despite some red flags she had some unicorn worthy attributes, I took her V so there was a certain kind of trust there, however, a woman is a woman, and she betatized the shit out of me, she ultimately betrayed me because she stopped respecting me, I was too young and dumb to understand how relationships work and what I needed to do to keep it all together. That's how the fuck it goes when you let love turn you into a sap. If you let her in too much. You can have love for a woman, but you can never love her completely. You can't love her intensely no matter how much you desire it, doing that is the first step to losing her.

Guys hamster, they say, oh no I'm not getting weaker, love isn't making me a pussy, or softer around the edges, no, I'm just more balanced than I used to be, I can still control my woman, I'm still strong, blah blah... bullshit. Most men who are seriously in love to the point of devotion start to lose their edge, their women actively work to ensure their loyalty and they get so much oxytocin and serotonin from all the cuddles, spooning and fucking that they become shadows of their former selves because they're overdosed on feel good hormones. Not only does such a mans bite get softer, but their bark gets quieter too. You always need to be a little bit detached. You never have the freedom to just love a bitch. Yeah, I know, it sounds pretty fucking nihilistic and depressing, but hey the truth is a cruel bitch like that, if it hasn't happened to you yet it's a WHEN not an IF, don't shoot the messenger, if you don't like what I'm saying feel free to fuckoff out of here (not expressing this at OP, but anyone who can't handle it.)

Since her I've not had girlfriends, ever. She set the bar too high with her wit/humour/intelligence and where I live is just a ratchet cesspit of vapid basic bitches who apply makeup like they're trying to give zombies a heart attack. A part from the fact they'd make adequate fuck toys, they do absolutely nothing for me. All that narcissistic entitlement as well? Holy fuck, the obnoxiousness makes you want to punch shit, I can never see myself committing to that.

After I found TRP and started applying it to my interactions with chicks I've turned girls down for relationships, got a girl who wanted to fuck me let me sleep in her bed with her rather than get a taxi home from the club at 4am (nah I didn't fuck her, I don't shit where I eat), I've done meaningless shit in clubs and parties like make out and grind, got laid, been on a top of a girl on a lawn and then turned her down for sex because she was pissing me off (yeah I don't post FRs, I'm a private person when it comes to my escapades, this is the first time I've shared any of these with TRP.)

I've had women clearly attracted to my presence by applying behaviours, personality traits and mannerisms that TRP teaches, listen to Patrice O Neal and Beige Phillip they're magic for your game. Actively practicing TRP, being pretty "IDGAF", showing boldness and having some wit will do that, it will moisten panties. However I don't practice TRP on women anymore, at least, not as present. Doing the whole hooking up thing in clubs got old quick, the shit sex and the effort needed aren't worth it. Most women aren't relationship material, but as I don't like the "player lifestyle" I'd need to have a girlfriend to have something to regularly fuck.

I know if I'd date down I'd get pussy, but one: I don't want to date down due to self-respect and high standards (of myself and others) two: it still takes a lot of effort, effort I can't be fucked with. I'm not an MGTOW, but I don't like my options, so I rather self-improve and not dip into the bottom of the barrel for a scrap of low quality pussy. Spinning plates isn't for everyone, maybe when my life is more stable I'll try it again but I'm on a hiatus from dating. I've always had self-respect and I've always loathed men who don't. Women I can understand it, their hyper emotionalism tends to make them somewhat pathetic, but men? The standards are higher for men, I hold myself to those standards as a man, and likewise, I know women concur, a spineless man makes them dry up quicker than a dying desert.

You don't need a woman, to make you happy.

The irony is they need us more but they do all the choosing and we have to go out on a limb unless we're so passively attractive due to genetics and displays of wealth that we emanate alphaness from our fucking sweat glands, spit happiness and piss liquid gold, lord knows that isn't 99.9% of men on this planet, women want gods when most men struggle to leave childhood in the age of feminism. Irony truly knows no fucking bounds. "I'm dependant but I'm choosy" = most women. Funny how that doesn't really fit with the proverb "beggars can't be choosers" and yet, despite the intensity of their needs, they're not the beggars due to men being brainwashed to be supplicative little bitches and of course, they have enough sexual lust to feed an entire black market economic sector (read: prostitution).

Huge study on divorce with tons of interesting information. TL;DR: Men need to be picky in who they marry.

7 upvotes · 23 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Nah, plenty of us are anti-marriage. I would personally cohabitate, all the benefits of a two parent family, none of the legal obligation to her.

So that's "the beta fucks"...

7 upvotes · 21 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Nah beta fucks is pity sex, like when a woman fucks a guy to keep him around. Beta fucks is when you're top of the beta pile and she wants/needs you for specific services that she'll lure you back in with some pussy, only to say "it was a one off" when she's regained your interest.

Beta fucks is your wife who lost interest in you a long time ago who does the twice a month "duty sex" so that you don't leave her to bring up the kid by herself.

That is beta fucks. A chick fucking a guy up the ass with a strap-on is called a power fantasy.

[X-Post from r/psychology] The difference between a slut and a stud - skill and effort.

7 upvotes · 19 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qqrJp-EKy-w>

Last night I saw a somewhat skinny dude with a girl get challenged to "step outside" by a huge wall puncher. This is how he handled it.

7 upvotes · 17 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is a moral argument. The most effective thing you can do as a man is to do the thing that secures your interests. We can all agree on that. There is more than one way to be "alpha" about something. One way is to go outside with the big fucker and get your ass kicked for telling jokes that some bitch couldn't handle. Some guys would do that. You could then interpret that as being beta for getting your ass beat or beta because you took punches over something as small as taking a joke, your social value in the circle must be low if they're going to get violent with you over a joke. Likewise accepting the disadvantage and going outside with the big guy can be seen as alpha for showing fearlessness. Likewise telling an audacious joke can be seen as an act of fearlessness and thus alpha. You can then interpret his refusal to fight as beta because he was scared or alpha because he played to his strengths and forced the physically stronger man to play to his rules.

This is all an exercise in perception. If his reputation is not hurt by refusing to fight and instead he spins it as a way of embarrassing the more physically dominant guy then he effectively wins the interaction. It's all about victory - nobody gives a shit how you win as long as you win. If you hold yourself subject to a "moral code" or "manning up" so that you would illogically go and fight someone twice your strength and then get beaten up, you're not doing what's in your best interest.

It's like saying, if he got beat up would he be beta for moaning about it, or would it be alpha if he spun it and made the bigger guy look bad, successfully played a victim position, got compensation in court and then stole the big guys girl? We all view this shit through a subjective moral lense. From a machiavellian point of view his strategy is sound. The machiavellian point of view is a point of view I will accept. Personally I would have called the guys bluff for the sake of reputation and then talked him down outside, but then I'm good at manipulating and not showing fear, neither am I a particularly small human-being. There's no objectively right or wrong way to handle these things. We play to our strengths, this guy essentially took the big guys strength and presented it as a negative and amoged him. The little guy didn't get his ass kicked and managed to continue to enjoy his night, as far as I'm concerned that's a victory.

I prioritise success over being perceived as alpha or beta. Sometimes you're going to do things that may make people think "that's beta" but if you get what you want, who gives a shit. Success and effectiveness trump everything. Here's an exercise: if something appears beta "beta game" but you get what you want out of it and win, are you alpha or beta? I'd say you're an alpha that looks beta within that specific situation. Regardless of appearances for all intents and purposes alphadom = success and betadom = failure.

This is in /r/askreddit right now. Jesus fucking christ.

7 upvotes · 17 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Now it's all beginning to make sense.

ravison et al. find that testosterone levels declined in Massachusetts men by approximately 1.2% per year from the late 1980s through 2004

7 upvotes · 15 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't wish to refute the assertion however be aware that correlation does not imply causation.

I advise you to play in the "Champions League" when it comes to pussy.

7 upvotes · 14 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This makes sense too, although I think the statement: "A 10 doesn't ever feel like a 7" underestimates how some girls suffer from poor self-esteem, especially in the absence of or the sheer lack of external validation/male attention. Remember women are in competition, if a 10 feels like she's losing the game to 7's and 8's when she is THAT HOT it's going to fuck with her mentally. If a 10 is too aesthetically intimidating for men to approach and sees lesser girls getting more attention, I do believe self-esteem issues will be present. Obviously this is dependant on the woman, dark triad/highly erratic crazy women are exempt from this analysis to a large degree.

That extreme Red Pill that you don't want to swallow --- Is legalization of Prostitution, the solution to society's gender inequality?

7 upvotes · 14 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

TRP shit comes from an americanised viewpoint, anglosphere countries can follow it the most closely as they all have a common language and way of life which varies only in the brands and companies available in each country, not so much the way of living, for the most part aussies, americans, kiwis, english and canadians all live in exactly the same way and are all feminist bluepill pro-"bastardised version of liberalism" societies, or more succinctly put, radical "liberalist" societies.

People in non-english countries which have their histories independent of successful British Empire colonisation will find variances in what can be applied to their society, not at the core level such as with alpha fucks/beta bucks which generally holds everywhere, but with things that are language based such as "cisgender" which is crap exclusive to american feminism and doesn't even permeate other areas of the anglosphere. Anglosphere girls are more slutty on average than non-anglosphere girls, etc etc.

All the foreign guys I've had turn up in England and talked with either out in a queue at a club or in some other social event have always wanted to fuck a white english girl, if they were arab or indian or asian they seemed to have a white fetish. If they're white themselves (eg: a german or a french guy) and thus don't have the fetish, they're under the understanding english girls are incredibly easily to have no-strings sex with compared to what its like back home. They're not wrong. Don't take everything as gospel, mostly just the fundamentals, that which doesn't apply to your local culture should be self-evident. As I'm not american, every time I hear about one of the 50 gender labels I just facepalm at how ridiculously hilarious it is. I refuse to use those terms and hope they remain firmly isolated in the American standardisation/dialect of the English language and don't make the transition into usage with standardised British English.

That extreme Red Pill that you don't want to swallow --- Is legalization of Prostitution, the solution to society's gender inequality?

7 upvotes · 14 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

a way to lower the incredibly high rate of young male suicides I have deduced, with my infinite knowledge of everything, to be related to young males having their poor little hearts crushed and no one to fuck.

Candid and true. Brilliant.

Become Smarter, Stronger and More Refined

7 upvotes · 13 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

How do you become independent from technology, internet, computers and so on?

Read books rather than blogs. Don't idly surf the internet, use it with intent to get things done, apply for things, discuss things here and etc. Like anything, the internet has to be used in moderation. I use the internet an awful lot myself, it's incredibly useful, however the moment I find myself with nothing meaningful to do on the computer, I take myself off it. If you don't have a library of books, I recommend you start buying books, if money is tight the temptation of changing window is there, but you can read e-books. Check out /r/redpillbooks for book recommendations.

usually fucks up my sleeping schedule.

We've all been there, have the lights off, install a program called Flux on your computer to reduce brightness at night time. Don't listen to loud music late at night or consume caffeine. Classical music helps me sleep if I'm too awake, beating off before bed can help you get off to sleep too. Good quality sleep is important for muscle building, good skin and mood/avoiding depression, it's as important as eating well. Set an alarm for sleeping, don't allow yourself to "wake up whenever you want" as you risk over sleeping. REM cycles occur every 1.5 hours, so try to set your alarm for around 6, 7.5 or 9 hours from when you go to bed to get quality sleep and not wake up groggy.

The Red Pill is Intolerant of Irrationalism and Equality

7 upvotes · 10 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I take a fish oil supplement. If you can get it from food, do so. Much of the food supply is contaminated by high levels of omega 6, so get omega 3 where ever you can. Things like blueberries are great at reducing inflammation. A quick google for "anti-inflammatory foods" should yield some results.

Russian Woman provides tips for picking up a 'hot club girl.'

7 upvotes · 10 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I love when non-native speakers add a plural to something that should never ever have a plural on it, it makes me chuckle and it's kinda cute. EG: when she said "if you want some more advices" I just went "ahahahahaha" when I heard that. Sure, I sound like a fucking dick, I realise that, but it's the truth. Hilarious.

Sociopaths can spot a pussy by the way he walks

7 upvotes · 9 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

They get a pass everywhere, objectively speaking they're probably the one race that uses the race card most to get what they want. I hear it's particularly bad in America, but it's not beyond non-american blacks either.

Reminds me of that show where this Hawaiian dude (think they call themselves polynesians?) starts saying he's tired of how "blacks always get a free pass" and goes on to say affirmative action is a bunch of shit and he'd rather be hired based on merit, rather than the colour of his skin. Can't remember the name of the show. There's some annoying white bitch going "but you're a minority tooo!!!" the whole time. Was funny as fuck to watch.

That "creep vibe" that guys give girls is the same thing as not liking fat chicks who try to look seductive.

7 upvotes · 6 April 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is why I don't like TRP's glorification of men.

Please tell me what you're sniffing. Seeing as everyone else is demeaning men, there has to be a counter-force SOMEWHERE, even if it's a tiny little recess of the internet with just a few thousand participants.

We do the same thing women do.

Yeah everyone has standards and judges, no shit, we don't compile a list of requirements so long and specific it sounds like something out of a fucking movie though.

I agree with the last part of your post.

How much is too much?

7 upvotes · 2 April 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

It happens with all groups/ideas there's nothing you can do about it. We can't compel people to take action before deciding to relate.

If your SMV is low, EG: you're fat, poor, unpopular or whatever then forget women/socialising/doing pointless shit for a good year 6 months to a year - just be utterly selfish forget everyone else and go do your own thing.

7 upvotes · 25 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I see your point. I have philosophical objections, mainly, I wouldn't want to kill for people who are just using my life as fodder to make a profit, military to defend from an invasion? Sure. But not this imperialist natural resource stealing bullshit. I'm not anti-military, but for named philosophical reasoning, it just isn't for me. I can definitely see the benefits of joining up and if you have little to lose to begin with and are willing to risk your life for the opportunity to become stronger, than by all means, go ahead. I think at least in the UK, the age cap for joining is 24 and you need a certain level of fitness to begin with. People with things like diabetes or eczema can't join and neither can guys who are beta/omega in their 30's or 40's so it's not for everyone but definitely an option for younger guys with little to lose and everything to gain.

NEVER BUY GIRLS DRINKS!

7 upvotes · 22 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

"are you going to buy me a drink?"

Is just a shit test translated from subtext as meaning "are you higher or lower value than me?" in the form of an indicator of interest.

You reply "No, you're going to have to buy me one" which translates into subtext as "I'm higher value than you are" as well as providing them some challenge to flirt with you over.

Women of Substance (High Quality RP Women) are MADE, they are NOT born.

7 upvotes · 21 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You can't handle the woman I raised as a single parent. The guy she married is an amazing man.

Yeah because exceptions really prove the trends, all the government statistics show that children reared by single mothers perform more poorly on all indicators (education, mental health, criminality etc)

You're the type of fool who thinks people who use generalisations to perceive the world are idiots when you're the type of person who views the world from an exceptional viewpoint, the irony in that idiocy is hilarious.

"You Make Me Feel Safe"

7 upvotes · 21 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

and the discussion is not loaded with illogical emotional pit traps and conversational detours.

My fucking lord does that shit get annoying.

Does TRP encourage cheating?

7 upvotes · 19 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The entire premise of this question is based on how men feel about women, how disposable is a woman to an RP man? Is what you really want to know.

To most rp guys and I don't speak for them personally, but going by my observations and the multiple discussions I've had with rp men, nearly all women are pretty disposable and good nothing but a fuck, once you take them off the pedestal and see them for who they really are, you conclude very few are of high enough quality to warrant essentially giving up your freedoms for. After all it is in the female imperatives interest to secure the provisioning of a man, it's in the man's biological interest to spread his seed as far as possible.

For me, she'd have to be something special to get my monogamy and I don't mean special as in "special snowflake" or "I'm so head over heels on my own oxytocin that I think she's special" I mean she objectively needs to have high value, not fat, quite intelligent, not an insufferable nag with strong opinions, witty, has a sense of humour, isn't uglier than shrek, has skills like cooking and foreign languages and dancing, that kind of shit. I mean guys are typically more willing to give women what they want (commitment) when the woman actually seems like she's offering a good deal and doesn't just believe the merit of being female is value enough to warrant a relationship.

I don't think I'd really trust or respect many women enough to decide she has exclusive monopoly over both my dick, my commitment and my time. Most of the women I do respect are not sexually attractive. Most of the women I find sexually attractive are not respectable. If you can be sexy and respectable, you're onto a winner.

Might not be exactly what you want to hear but hey the truth's cute like that I guess.

"Easy sex" shit-test

7 upvotes · 18 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

"It won't suck itself now will it?"

Girls and Bosses

7 upvotes · 16 March 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

I'm not sure I would play this with an "agree and amplify" approach in the workplace, even though that seems to work well in relationships.

"Any mistakes you make through audacity are easily corrected with more audacity, everyone admires the bold, no one honours the timid."

-Robert Greene, Law 28 Preface, p227, 48 Laws of Power

Agree and amplify in rp philosophy is a direct small-scale theatrical display of law 28 in machiavellianism.

We are gaining mainstream attention. RedPill mentioned in feminist rant in BC paper.

7 upvotes · 10 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

LMFAO IRONY KNOWS NO BOUNDS.

User in r/Askmen has a cousin who was raped resulting in his wife leaving him.

7 upvotes · 8 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I fear that, unfortunately, feminism will spread with globalisation.

Westerners come to places like Brazil to invest in the boom and as the country gets richer it will become more feminist.

It's happened in Eastern Europe since some of the nations there joined the European Union and freedom of movement has meant they can travel westwards and get more directly influenced by the marxist culture we have here.

Feminism is a curse that's spreading everywhere, and with it, the number of quality women begins to drop massively. The entitlement increases while the desirability of the women practicing it simultaneously decreases.

Why all forms of feminism are inherently damaging to the male-female social contract [X-post from TRP]

7 upvotes · 8 March 2014 · /r/RedPillWomen

I agree with your post as much as is possible women our generation are a let down because they are ridiculously selfish and under perform as desirable beings, I wish I was wrong.

Presidential Proclamation -- Women's History Month, 2014

7 upvotes · 3 March 2014 · /r/askTRP

Set for a face off with Putin over Ukraine.

USA trying to puppet Ukraine through the UN and bribe them into becoming part of the UN and EU in an effort to "westernise" them and add them to the collection of western allies like Poland. Russia is having none of it and put 6,000 troops on the Crimea peninsula.

There are few nations like Ukraine, such as Iran where Russia would start WW3 if USA intervened. Russia still got them nukes, that's why the US was trying to get a "missile defense shield" placed along the polish and czech border.

This is a nice distraction from the real shit going on in the world right now though.

<http://www.bbc.co.uk/news/world-europe-26412914>

How Women Complicate Men's Lives.....MUST WATCH

7 upvotes · 2 March 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

There's more to life than getting laid, if one has a raging libido and can't concentrate without an orgasm internet porn will quickly get them off. Your advice suggests we should compromise ourselves and not enforce boundaries of what the fuck we're willing to put up with to get pussy. Some guys will put up with mountains of shit from a woman just at the mere prospect of getting laid, they are weak. Some guys have too much self-respect to even indulge that phone-call. If it was me on that phone I'd just hang up on the bitch. Plenty more women out there to go around without dealing with that crap from a girl you aren't even already fucking. A girl can tell when you're being flexible/weak to get in her pants and she won't respect you for it. You CAN tell them what they want to hear but it must be within your frame and on your terms, not hers - which means not playing by her rules. Attraction is achieved by dominant characteristics, not supplicative ones. Women don't have to like you to respect you, and it is respect which makes them feel attracted to you.

Red Pill Antibiotic Nuke, Come and Feed

7 upvotes · 23 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It was not my intention to be passive aggressive I meant no offence. And yes but as you can see this is generalised for a layman its not a class on the idea. There are many types of feminism also, again we generalise and say "feminists". There comes a point where pedanticism becomes a hindrance rather than a benefit pertaining to specificity.

All men with game are just good salesmen

7 upvotes · 23 February 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

This is brilliant senator you smashed the ball out of the park with this one.

Always be closing

Serious question as a 1st gen American from Africa

7 upvotes · 10 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm English as well. Grew up in poverty and was generally always red pill meaning I saw shit for what it was.

Got to A level stage at college, found myself surrounded by middle and upper middle class bluepill kids who wouldn't know their ass from their elbow unless they'd learnt it previously in GCSE biology. I noticed something fundamental here, the GCSE stage weeds out a lot of the poor kids from progressing to A Level. Some like myself got there, but most people had too many home problems and money issues to even consider A levels as a viable option. I had a horrific time, lols were had but the bluepill was crazy. Had a LTR in that time and by the end of college A levels I was turned into some bluepill liberal beta. The crazy thing is that bluepill liberal indoctrination is insidious, if you don't know what to look out for it creeps up on you slowly and changes your personality covertly without appealing to reason. It's just inculcation, you hear the same bullshit again and again until you hold it as fact. Luckily I've always been open-minded from a very young age meaning holding differing opinions and weighing them up has always been something I've done. Somehow, a totally gynocratic liberal environment, even if you're aware manages to exert enough influence to enforce conformity.

Now I'm at university studying for a degree and its actually (at least in my class) less bluepill than college was, but as a whole, the university is definitely more bluepill. They have some metrosexual mix raced guy laughing with two english sluts on the prospectus, which says a lot about the universities opinion of what constitutes "a male." I see the bluepill every day there, people are not open-minded to anything outside the liberal worldview, the few times I've dropped some red pill I've had displays of shock and amazement but nobody has actually ever managed to discredit or disprove the points I'm making despite their obvious butthurt and disapproval. I don't want to ostracise myself too much from my colleagues so I keep a bit lip most of the time. There's a chick in my class who is utterly redpill but she's also a fucking psycho (in the legit sense of the word) so I keep my distance from her despite the fact we click. I'll probably survive university because I know what the bluepill looks like and in my free time I'm exposed to red pill material, but if you didn't know any better then that shit would change you into a pussified beta with haste. A cultural battle is one way of putting it, there is definitely a psychological struggle of sorts with the working class in academia, trying to reconcile fact with idealistic bullshit.

What I will say about my college is it was one of the top colleges in the country in a very posh part of the country which is probably why despite the high level of academia taught there it was drenched in utter bullshit and a lot of the kids attending were upper middle class/millionaire kids. I had one chick in my class who used to bunk lessons to go and play golf in Brighton. The actual fuck.

Blue piller accidentally, gave us more ammo on why we dislike sluts and that women are gatekeepers to sex and men are gatekeepers to commitment!

7 upvotes · 10 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

at least porplepilldebate does try to come up with good arguments and sources.

Problem with purplepill is that although they aren't immediately jumping you with ad hominem and face-saving bullshit like the harpies in bluepill you're still fighting gigantic hamsters. Those people have their minds made up that the red pill is wrong before you even talk to them. I learnt that when I posted there once I'll tell you what the purplepill is - purplepill is a bunch of bluepillers saying

"OK, we'll give you a chance to convince us the red pill is right, but we've already made our minds up it's wrong because we've read the sub and disagree with it"

Purplepill is so close-minded you can't even call it a debating sub. For a meaningful debate to take place minds actually need to be open, there needs to be intellectual curiosity and there needs to be a capacity to debate as in - a person has the skills to REASON, DEDUCE, CONCLUDE synoptically and in continuity, they also need to hold ideas and beliefs in their head in suspended animation, as to say, they aren't ideas or beliefs that they believe in personally but they are the ideas and beliefs of another that they can understand and "bare in mind" whilst listening to another's argument - essentially, the ability to grasp hypothetical non-personally held ideas without immediately disregarding them due to distaste - that is the mark of an intellectual, a critical thinker.

Something these people are evidently not.

Some can identify a few fallacies and throw around "ad hominem" and "strawman" and "hasty generalisation" and think they are smart for identifying a fallacy or two and attacking you by using "logical terms", but the bottom line is they misuse, and intellectually dishonestly misapply such terms as forms of attack. They are people not fit for debate, you'd have more chance convincing them anything by appealing to their emotions. Non-rational people win arguments by moving the burden of proof onto you to keep you on the defence. The dishonest way to win an argument is bombard someone with questions which is exactly what they do. Victory does not require logic, if it did women would never win arguments. Lesser minds are ruled predominantly by the ego, they only care about a sense of winning, learning is not on their agenda so to even engage them is a futile attempt in and of itself.

Purplepill is just a cluster fuck of people attacking each other over different philosophical beliefs about men and women and often there is very little logic involved, when I went there my valid points were ignored (like a typical women would do) and anything that had even a crack to it and wasn't 100% solid was picked up and spun around. They are deceitful, not intellectual open minded thinkers - if they were, ironic as it sounds, they'd be here on the redpill, not sitting in a sub trying to placate their egos by having redpillers try and sell the philosophy to them.

It's not our place to convince people that the red pill works, the individual has to decide that for themselves by testing it out for themselves. They made their choice not to believe in it so ok goodbye, no point wasting time sitting around close minded and absently arguing things. Where does it lead? No where. Did the purplepill ever really change anybodys views? I fucking doubt it, it's a psudointellectual off-branch of the bluepill.

Bullshit meta politics for people with little else better to do than dedicate their lives to hating on a subreddit, quite pathetic really. I don't say it's pathetic to be insulting (I'm far more graphic if that's my intention), I legitimately hold that belief. It's a waste of life, totally and utterly. Don't fixate on that you hate, concentrate your energies on positive endeavours and lead a healthier life.

The red pill is really hard to grasp

7 upvotes · 9 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

But next time there is a snow storm or a monsoon going on, go out in it and do a 10 mile run. I don't give a fuck if you've never run more than a mile. Go run 10 no matter how long it takes. Or go to the park in a blizzard and do a bootcamp style workout. Don't come home until you've done 100 pull-ups and a 1000 push ups. I like running because it clears my head.

I get what you're saying, I appreciate the encouragement, but that would really "kill someone" severely out of shape. Working out in severe weather conditions is a quick way to catch flu and be out of action for a week or even longer in bed, coughing and sneezing which is more time lost that could have been spent on working out intelligently.

I don't recommend this, even for the already trained this is an unnecessary risk. Yeah, "ghetto workouts" can be fun, but recommending them to newbies is bad advice. If someone can't even run one mile they need to slowly keep at it until they can do 10. An out of shape person is lucky to even do 10 pull-ups, let alone 100. Smaller men can do more pullups than tall men as tall people only have 20% more strength but 30% more bone mass than smaller men so they have more to lift with less muscle in terms of ratio. If a guy who can't even run a mile pushes himself to do 10 out of nowhere then don't be surprised when he's passed out on the concrete and sent to hospital, a certain level of fitness is needed to do all the things you've suggested.

Again I appreciate the motivational direction you come from, but if anyone out of shape were to take your advice literally they'd do themselves some serious injuries, catch flu, damage a tendon, pass out mid workout etc.

Stories of sadistic bitches, got any?

7 upvotes · 8 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Without a doubt, it is.

Stories of sadistic bitches, got any?

7 upvotes · 8 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is valid pedanticism. My bad for the tautology. To be fair, it is a german loanword. Thanks.

Some truths about prenups and divorce law

7 upvotes · 8 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is a solid post that everybody needs to see.

"Bright girls believe that their abilities are innate and unchangeable, while bright boys believe that they can develop ability through effort and practice"

7 upvotes · 6 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

So basically bitches are more narcissistic and close-minded on average, no shit.

Good article.

we end up with an environment that punishes boys for being good boys.

You're fucking telling me. Outperforming boys my ass. LMAO.

Required Reading: Lessons from a psychopath: Understanding the reality behind how people work, the extent to which people can be manipulated, and the amount of power one can hold over others.

7 upvotes · 6 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You can desensitise but you can't annihilate.

Patrice O'Neal on disregarding the implied & conditioned "social contract" between men and women

7 upvotes · 6 February 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

The sickness is essentially irrationalism combined with being emotionally broken and thinking that they're somehow equal or even superior to men. They are inferior in every way. They are the second sex. It has always been that way and it will always be that way (unless transhumanism - but don't want to digress into that it's not RP relevant)

Has anyone noticed that if you piss women off just the right amount they'll always come back for more? (bit obvious)

7 upvotes · 4 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Sounds like you're embodying the dark triad traits quite well.

[repost] On "shitting where you eat" and the value of multiple social circles

7 upvotes · 3 February 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

Shitting where you eat is possibly something a high value guy could do. I mean a guy who's already pretty accomplished in life, money, career, education, physique... all that shit. A man in his prime.

As for the rest of you mere mortals.. don't even bother, too much risk for too little reward. There's plenty of pussy about so why bother endangering your bread and water (work and education) just to get a bit of pussy? Pussy ain't that special.

Caveat: if you can replace what's lost easily.

EG of caveat: I'm at uni but work part-time, the part-time job can be easily replaced for another shitty part-time job so I would fuck a girl at work and then leave the job when it all went pear shaped if necessary. I don't mind losing a shitty disposable job for a piece of ass, the job ain't that great anyway. However I wouldn't fuck a girl in my university class (ITS NOT A HUGE CLASS) as I'd be stuck with her for a few years after it went pear shaped and I'd have no recourse. I can't just change uni like I can change a shitty part-time job, I've considered fucking a girl in the final year on my course towards the end as there's an easy exit, but until then? Fuck no.

I am thinking that those girls could be girls I number closed but seem like they would flake for a date. So, instead, I bring them out with a bunch of other people, and worse case scenario: I increase my value and start building a social group. Best case: I re-ignite a lead that was going nowhere.

I fucking hate this shit. FUCKING FLAKESSSS!!! This sounds like it could alleviate any anxiety they may have as its a group thing and not officially a date, I'm taking myself out of the game when it comes to fucking chicks atm, need some serious "ME TIME" (SMV building) so let me know how that shit goes for you.

Single and Educated: China's "Leftover" women

7 upvotes · 1 February 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yep women fulfilling their own material hypergamy to such a point of independence that they form an inability to be attracted to men because they feel they're better than all of them, hence; loneliness.

Women do not give a shit about your problems!

7 upvotes · 31 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

So ultimately they only give a shit about feeling and being perceived as feminine, whilst the nature of being female means no fucks are actually given about a man's weaknesses as they are inherently repulsive and to be avoided at all costs.

TLDR: They make no fucking logical sense whatsoever, their love is derived from a respect for power, nothing else.

I keep thinking women are incapable of fairness

7 upvotes · 30 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

when people say women aren't logical I'm interpreting it as that their logic is sub-optimal

The reasoning they use is faulty because they commit a number of fallacies due to the basis of their reasoning stemming from an emotionally solipsist viewpoint. Women identify with things via emotion, they are not good at identifying with something or comprehending it without using emotion, which means they are poor at utilising logic in the third person without hypothetically involving themselves, their sense of abstract logic is by far inferior to men's. Thus their "logic" is generally faulty and inferior to a man's. It also does not take much to overwhelm a woman emotionally so much that any semblance of logic she did possess goes totally out of the window and thus she is transformed into a rambling nutter fixated on her own sense of grievance. Their emotionalism leads to a lack of self-control which leads to a lack of ability to reason.

The only time men even come close in comparison is when they're teething with rage.

I Tried Being The Nice Guy

7 upvotes · 27 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Why do you support mass immigration then? Don't give me vague crap about competition I can see through your slippery formlessness. If you know anything about competition you know that leaders like to maintain their share of the market eg: west hordes wealth to maintain living standards, so I can only assume you/your family are from the third world and want a piece of the pie hence being "pro mass immigration." Not difficult to read through the lines.

I Tried Being The Nice Guy

7 upvotes · 27 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I care about my shit being cheap

Race to the bottom.

I root for American soldiers to die just like I root for rogue Muslim extremists to die. Fuck em all.

You're so formless and powerful by declaring you have no sense of group identity.

I think the one good point you've made is:

Let the free market determine the merits of immigration

Which I addressed and you ignored. The rest is your ego fuelling your cacophonous anger induced rant.

not infantile protectionists like you

Not supporting mass immigration does not make one a protectionist. Where'd you get the straws for your strawman, McDonalds?

An equilibrium will be reached and they'll stop coming because there's no use for them anymore.

You've obviously never been to the third world, a country without roads or proper infrastructure will have people clamouring to leave whether this is opportunity in the west or not.

You're the one arguing exclusively from a place of feels and emotions.

The irony's making my dick hard, you're projecting.

I detect you're mildly educated but rationally dim, very egotistical - so know that every response you make now that I retort with will just be me fucking with your head. I can't actually take you seriously so engaging in a dialogue with me doesn't put us on equal footing, I'll actually just be sadistically fucking with you. You've be warned and I expect as your ego takes that warning as a threat you'll reply out of ego being the simple minded fuck that you are. :)

Let the games begin! Anonymous cyber bullying! Yaaay the fuuuunnnnn.

I Tried Being The Nice Guy

7 upvotes · 27 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Relevant:

<http://illimitablemen.com/2013/12/09/feminism-helps-ethnically-displace-caucasians/>

<http://illimitablemen.com/2013/11/25/the-destruction-of-family-and-other-liberating-legacies-we-can-thank-feminist-social-engineering-for/>

People got upset reading this shit. Bitter fucking pills to swallow. Countless hate comments on these pieces I didn't approve.

God of MGTOW Nikola Tesla gives eerie REDpill truth and gloomy prediction of the future.

7 upvotes · 24 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This is a philosophy of pragmatism, not idealism.

Encouraging men to become eccentric sexless celibate intellectuals so they can accept a position of exploitation and be happy with low status is a bad message, he may not have been a sheep in the intellectual sense but in the human hierarchy he was nothing but another mans tool.

I agree with all the shit about only seeking validation from yourself it creates good frame, but not caring about status and allowing yourself to be exploited because you have an obscure psychology which ignores transgression due to self-fulfillment is not something you'll find many people rallying behind.

Also, remember what this sub is about:

The Red Pill: Discussion of sexual strategy in a culture increasingly lacking a positive identity for men.

Teslas sexual strategy was "fuck human reproduction I'm going to pour my energy into intellectual pursuits" a bad strategy to follow in a place where discussion of sexual strategy and not the abstinence of sex is key. You keep telling drrrrr he's missing the point but you're missing the point yourself... men want sex, nothing short of geneticism is going to change that.

Vladimir Putin is an excellent role model for masculinity.

7 upvotes · 21 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I find this interesting can you elaborate?

Female Colonization Ruins Male Space

7 upvotes · 19 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

No point arguing with women/feminists, you win via your actions not your words. That's why the internet is a cesspit for these people, it's all talk and no action.

<http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-9-win-through-your-actions-never.html>

Ultimate Bluepill example: Man rejected after gifting a BMW, then gets charged with intimidation, false report and libel trying to get it back.

7 upvotes · 16 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

<http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-40-despise-free-lunch.html>

Long Term Inner-Game - You can't be dependent on her love and you can't share your weaknesses with her if you want to keep her, among other nuggets of wisdom (bullet pointed)

7 upvotes · 15 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah, the dark triad. I put machiavellianism above everything and always recommend people read the 48 Laws of Power, it's great for your inner-game, sense of power and ability to understand and influence social interactions all around you.

Then you get positive feedback loops, the more success you have with machiavellianism the more positive outcomes you'll get which will feed your narcissism, your narcissism will fuel your machiavellianism to make you even more bold and then the payoffs get higher and higher, it's a process of constantly moving onward and forward - your grounding is in astute self awareness and an ability to play the game rather than be a pawn in others games.

Once you're a player not a pawn you start leaving the beta mindset behind. Most people truly are what is commonly referred to as "sheep" yet they're too docile and unaware to even realise.

Red Pill friend is blind

7 upvotes · 13 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

he keeps throwing back to me "its something."

He's thirsty he's in a scarcity mindset he's not fully swallowed the pill he values her more than he values himself.

/r/TheRedPill/comments/1tei1v/respect_yourself_more_than_you_respect_her/

Your friend is a beta travelling for that kind of bullshit.

Young doctor wonders why women are suddenly after him. Gets slaughtered by hamsters on r/askwomen. These are redpill truths in action.

7 upvotes · 12 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Why?

Survey: What things does your RP woman do that triggers masculine and dominant feelings in you?

7 upvotes · 2 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

When your girlfriend compliments you it makes you feel loved and appreciated. It helps alleviate the distress of dealing with her lack of logic.

Most / least feminist cities / countries?

7 upvotes · 1 January 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

To shine light on what you're saying, it's a basic human principle. If you are in a position of power and you allow insubordination and weakness, if you do not command respect from your subordinates/people/followers/whatever while in power, your power will be abused via proxy until your power is no longer yours to wield.

Islam destroys secularism (look up Uzbekistan) feminism destroys the nuclear family yadda yadda

"It's Complicated" - Or how I learned to stop worrying and love the Red Pill

7 upvotes · 31 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The secret of life is that the mistakes you learn from don't have to be yer own.

Fucking tweeting that shit. MAGIC.

BDSM is "deviant" sex. Lesbian sex isn't "deviant" these days, cheating isn't "deviant", divorce isn't "deviant" to feminists...but put a man in charge and all of a sudden you're a deviant.

7 upvotes · 27 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Exemplifies hypergamy quite ironically

"The top 5 things every husband should know". Pure beta propaganda, rampant with hamstering and a couple textbook shit tests

7 upvotes · 23 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Just a little nuance, it's called anti-semitism if you're a jew hater, not racism. A blanket application of the emotionally charged term racism to all forms of discrimination shows ignorance, if you're going to call people on their shit then you need to come correct or if you actually engage in a serious debate people will pick on that little thing to pull apart your argument thus putting you on the defense. This is a common tactic with the intellectually dishonest whose only wish is to publically humiliate you. There's plenty of those around, trust me on that.

Attack is the best form of defence, if people can find holes in your arguments they'll keep bombarding you over petty shit to attack your credibility whilst simultaneously stopping you from holding them accountable for their own fallacious assertions/reasoning.

Racism is discrimination based on genetic/ethnic grounds, jews are members of all ethnicities as are christians, muslims etc so it's an issue of religious orientation not of ethnic disposition. Hope this helped.

Slimmer Women's Waist is Associated with Better Erectile Function in Men Independent of Age

7 upvotes · 22 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

HAHA that sub!

"Truth about Men EXPOSED!"

7 upvotes · 19 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Hyperagency, it's always the mans fault.

I don't know how my Life turned around so quickly, but I wanted to thank everyone here.

7 upvotes · 17 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Your story will serve as inspirational for many who are still going through a tough time. Thank you for sharing your experiences.

Do you believe a woman's "number"?

7 upvotes · 16 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Have I lost my ability to "pair-bond"?

Depends. Did you have 10 passionate relationships with 10 different very alpha men which have lead you to have such incredibly high standards now that anything short of these experiences leaves you feeling unsatisfied, like you're settling, but because you're older you're settling for what you can get, not what you feel you're worth? Notice I say "feel you're worth" which is a completely different variable from "what you are worth to a man" for examples sake, let's say what you felt you're worth is 8/10 treatment, but men your age see you as a 5/10 compared to the younger girls they can get.

I don't think so, and I think a woman's behavior in terms of responsibilities is more of an indicator of being a good parent than how many people she's slept with.

Yeah it's your responsibility to demonstrate that you are capable of monogamy and loyalty. If you are having lots of sex with different men, let's assume your number is 56, it tells a man that 56 other men thought all you were good for was a roll in the hay, that in actual fact, if they all thought that - why should he take a chance on you? They can't all be wrong. The common denominator, the problem, is you. You can't get commitment, men just use your body. This signifies you're a low value long-term mate, just a sexual option.

Men also don't want to raise another man's child, women have no qualms passing off a kid as being one mans when it is actually another's because it would suit her best. Be careful asking me too many questions, you may get subjected to male viewpoints you find distasteful/don't appreciate/can't relate to.

Also, how much different is a woman having sex with one man 1000 times or 100 men 10 times each?

I've already answered this above. There are biological reasons as well. I'm not going to go out of my way to qualify this to you though. I'll keep it really simple. Your first love was a passionate one even though he may have been nothing special you would have connected easy. Once you're aged, used up and had hundreds of different cocks inside you you don't connect with men like that anymore. You view them as a means to an end, not people. It's kinda sociopathic.

We can discuss this all you like, in an attempt for you to reconcile "why" but no matter how much we talk, it won't change the fact that men like young women. That is simply reality.

I look forward to your response.

Feminist construction company Investment pitch gets shot down for obvious reasons, there reactions are priceless

7 upvotes · 16 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Theo is a fucking boss.

Feel Good Bullshit: What it is, why it's bad, and how to spot it

7 upvotes · 13 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Just fucking like who you are. That's it. Fucking, that is it.

So basically, if you like being a fat cunt that sits around playing games, as long as you're happy who cares? Who says happiness is the point to life? That's a minimalistic, unevolved inherently narcissistic view of life which is all too common with the rabble "as long as im happy, fuck actual factors in life" so what is your actual fucking impact on humanity? What will that cunt leave humanity with that it can take and use to improve itself for our future successors? Nothing but a chain of fatherless children growing up in poverty. Great.

I think OPs getting at self-improvement here, not self-acceptance, and I'm not sure you've differentiated between the two.

If you're at a low level and you're happy with yourself, you won't improve but you won't give a fuck that you're not improving because your own happiness is satiated.

Happiness comes easier for some than it does for others. Its related to social programming, ambition, genetics, there are a fuck ton of factors at play.

Telling people they don't have to change to improve is feel good bullshit however telling people to accept themselves for who they are isn't. Perpetuating that message means they likely won't be doing anything to improve their lot in life, but will simply carry on their quest for instant gratification (you mentioned pussy, hard drugs and beer) forever - until the end. That guy was alpha because he was a risk taker and constantly had the dutch courage from substances. Women liked how audacious and random the guy was. Objectively, he is nothing to speak home to, he achieves nothing but pleasuring himself. I wouldn't consider a hedonist a role model.

Literally anyone here could be that guy by doing exactly what he did. It's not hard to be a crazy fucker when you're drugged up and drunk and its hardly admirable either, what, just because the guy got tons of pussy he's even worth talking about? He's still a loser. Women are so easily manipulated they're along for the feels he provides, fuck actual success or respectable accomplishments, they respect him because he makes them feel good - that's it.

There's more to measure life by than getting pussy. Fucks me off how this is constantly used as the measuring stick of success, so much so that a completely delinquent fuckwit like the guy you mention is heralded as an example of "you can get women without having shit"

The only message I took from that is women like EXTREMELY FUCKED UP characters, spontaneity and ridiculously high confidence which from what you described, sounds like this homeless travelling druggy in a nut shell.

Do men want to be fathers anymore, or has society conditioned men to avoid fatherhood like the plague? Ask Reddit

7 upvotes · 13 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

No idea trp is fucking weird when we get an influx of new members. Random shit starts getting down voted to fuck. I had a great joke go -8 yday lol

Avoid "herd resistance" (group cockblocking) at parties/group outings

7 upvotes · 12 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

there's no way in getting a girl to leave Disneyland to come bone.

LMFAO!! Gold.

EDIT: Probably wanna "no pedo" that comment still.

Hot blonde chick gets arrested for shoplifting

7 upvotes · 12 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah wtf did the female cop do? Diddly fuck all.

Never Outshine the Master (Machiavellianism) (LONG READ)

7 upvotes · 11 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Nice follow up from your last post on the Machiavellian way of doing things.

I guess it's a follow-up per say, but this post is the start of a series of posts where I basically write 3000 word essays on each law and exemplify the fuck out of them.

This new "48 Laws of Power" series will eventually have 48 posts. If I come up with my own law (likely) I'll postulate it and attempt to get feedback from other machiavellians.

The machiavellian post before was in a different series I was working on, "The dark triad." As they're so related I guess you see minimal difference as a reader, however, as I write these articles I consider them parts of a "different series" as machiavellianism only briefly touches upon narcissism and psychopathy whilst the dark triad looks at them more intensely and the relationship between them.

48 Laws of Power is very one-dimensional in terms of the triad, it looks at the strategy element of power, arguably the most important, however it is machiavellian-centric, the strengths, weaknesses and uses of narcissism are only briefly touched upon and psychopathy is all but absent.

Narcissistic laws of power tend to focus on the illusory effect:

- <http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-6-court-attention-at-all-cost.html>
- <http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-11-learn-to-keep-people-dependent.html>
- <http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-32-play-to-peoples-fantasies.html>
- <http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-34-be-royal-in-your-own-fashion-act.html>
- <http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.com/2011/05/law-37-create-compelling-spectacles.html>

a la law 18...it's just that some circles are simply impermeable to RP types so in those cases isolation may be

Excerpts from article:

If the group alpha is a cunt and acts like they have no time for you then leave the group, be willing to take the loss and move on.

Don't outshine people who in whatever situation, possess a stronger position than you do. A local drug dealer may be a king in one part of the city, but four streets over the inhabitants want him dead. Do you understand? Don't let your ego delude you into thinking that you can immediately take centre stage wherever you go

If you need/want to infiltrate a blue pill circle you need to put on your best beta game, but also know when to call it quits.

Feminism Helps Ethnically Displace Caucasians

7 upvotes · 9 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

In the uk ethnicities tend to be distinct as there's no shared sense of national identity like there is in the US. People identify with a land they weren't born in as englishness is vaguely defined and not popular, patriotism is vilified in this country as a by product of world war 2. In Germany it's even worse. It's really a question of integration. White Caucasian is specifically what I'm getting at, what you describe, racial mixing, lowers the indigenous population by creating mixed race people anyway, it combines ethnicities.

Found this Blue Pill gem in the Fempire... Poor fella went to the wrong place for advice.

7 upvotes · 8 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

That does sound somewhat wondrous.

Found this Blue Pill gem in the Fempire... Poor fella went to the wrong place for advice.

7 upvotes · 8 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Beautiful and articulate translation.

Why is cold approaching vilified and deemed undesirable behavior in western countries?

7 upvotes · 1 December 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Example in the form of a mini field report from last night:

Girl is giving me IOIs last night, standing near me waiting on friends by the drinks area (can't take your drinks to the smoking area, they're left on a table and a security guard watches the area) girl looks nervous, but glanced a few times so I just say "What you doing?" she tells me shes waiting for her friends, I tell her I'm waiting for my friends too (which is good because we had isolation and after I closed a beta came in and swooped her up lmao.)

Musics loud as fuck which gives reason to kino her (move up close to her, put my hand on the side of her face and moved her hair out of the way of her ear so that I could talk into it) got her age, name, what she does for a living I tell her what I do (I'm older, more promising career etc - hypergamy hello dear!)

Then I just give her my phone and say "put your number in" when she puts it in I shit test her and say "don't put a fake number in" (push) she starts qualifying that's its a real number and that when she gives fake numbers to guys she puts in "123456789" (inference, if I was a "creepy" guy I'd be getting that treatment, but I DHV'd enough to not activate the bitch shield so I get her real number), its a legit number but she put one digit too many on, I'm like "see look you tried it" (playful push) she's like "no it was a mistake" I'm like "haha its OK I don't care either way" (outcome independence push) I ring it to give her my number and she's like "I don't have my phone on me but I'll text you later." ...total asshole game, I didn't verbally use any pull on her, I guess the kino was the pull. Expressed interest with a PULL off the bat, then went PUSH PUSH PUSH (nobodies giving birth) so she didn't get all fucking gassed up on her own importance from my approach.

Anyway despite the shit test BS, numbers legit, cute little 19 year old thing. That was a cold approach in a club, My boy literally pulled me the fuck out... some false pretence shit. Assholes. I know a lot of people hate that, I don't really like clubs so when I cold approach I prefer to do it in daytime, I, by habit, flirt with women working in service jobs all day if they are young/cute/not giving off bitchy vibes. Always hold eye contact, smile, talk slowly to them... (not retard, just clear and deep... sounding confidently articulate) they seem to melt from the masculine energy.

If you're insecure and you approach you will get a fucking shitstorm of trouble, you can get a guy try to knock you the fuck out, or have some bitch shrieking like a wailing motherfucking banshee... yeah nobody wants that crap.

Anyway, cold approaching can be that fucking simple. Oh yeah, its also an example of how building value/improving your life means you don't need canned lines or some silly fake alternative persona, just build your credibility via self-improvement and actualisation and you'll do great with women.

You're just like "yeah I have xxxx career" you say it with a physical appearance that is maintained and you have friends/status, throw some shit tests at them and then close. It can become very clockwork and effective. This is what the PUA/GAME community tries to sell via books and these stupid fucking workshops, the deception of success with some confidence building BS, TRP is about actually becoming great, not making people think you are when you're not, which is why anyone who pays $6000 for a boot camp is a desperate chump, its insane people are that desperate and fucking thirsty for pussy.

Oh btw this whole thing was a really quick interaction, (5-10 mins) but writing it in words on a computer from memory and adding detail to explain things to make it noob friendly as possible makes it seem like a lot more than it was. Retrospective analysis lol.

Found this sub recently and I think it's amazing...

7 upvotes · 27 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Women are pretty much soulless fkin creatures in the west. I mean what you described isn't even rare. Bitches are soulless when a man can't make them feel anything. They think that is justification enough, but the fact they do not have an internal frame of reference strong enough to not be so immoral, despicable and disloyal says enough about them as beings. Their actions are always the fault of the mans, bitches don't do responsibility and self-determination when it comes to relationships.

You always take the blame for a relationship going bad, as by merit of being leader, its the responsibility of the man to make sure the relationship is working, and it always will be if anybody is to have a happy and lasting one (which is why you should treat your commitment like its gold-dust, most of these crazy bitches are just not worthy of the best of you), however what we cannot take responsibility for is the inherent nature of women, to betray you, exploit you and shit in your heart when you "don't give her the right feelings" and "she gets bored" or "there's no spark" or whatever other romanticised emotive bullshit she speaks to cover up her own inherent lack of moral decency which she uses to justify her atrocities.

Women are not credible people and their aptitude for psychological destruction is huge.

Irrational + Immoral = Destructive.

Clarify my meaning: women aren't always immoral, they just have the most flexible morality in existence when it comes to romantic endeavours.

ROK author, TroubleMaker is suspended from Twitter after he receives death threats.

7 upvotes · 25 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm not sure how knowing a guy got banned from Twitter is meant to help people become red pill. I mean sure its "manosphere news" but who gives a fuck? Poor him, I'll send him flowers, I'm sure he's a big boy and red pill enough to not give a fuck.

Only thing you can learn from this post, something you probably already knew: mainstream society does not like red pill ideas in theory, but relish them subliminally in practice.

Title: What is the TRP take on children?

7 upvotes · 23 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'll struggle having a daughter. They disassociate from reality so easily (women) and without a conservative society to reinforce self-control, they'll self-destruct.

If I had a son I would make him a fucking boss. I don't want a daughter, it won't end well because of the society we're in. This society encourages females to self-destruct in their own delusion.

What are your favorite RP sayings and maxims?

7 upvotes · 23 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

No such thing as victims just volunteers

Don't chase replace

Let them talk.

7 upvotes · 22 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

We thought the uk had it bad then we heard about usa, usa think they have it bad they talk about sweden. Sweden is depressed.

New EU law would allow government to dissolve companies over gender quotas

7 upvotes · 21 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah... its like theres a perverse plan to fuck up Europe.

I saw 5 romanians on my commute today... none speak english.. all look very poor.. and I'm thinking "how exactly do you benefit my country?" oh wait, you don't. More unskilled immigration from the shit pits of Eastern Europe. One was selling a homeless magazine, the other 4 were all chicks wearing this weird hooded shit.

Red Pill Woman Marine Vet Says it Like it is

7 upvotes · 20 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

hate-filled terrorists who want to destroy freedom-loving countries like America.

Yeah I mean she'd probably consider the UK a freedom-loving country as well seeing as her nation is allied with mine and do joint military operations and such, but I've already demonstrated how the US screwed over the UK to highlight and eviscerate the propagandous nature of her assertion.

The US is about power and control as shown by its extremely globally dominant military presence, if the US was ever chased back into its own backyard only then would it switch to self-preservation, their current military strategy is just all out military imperialism... I mean the US military is ridiculously big, you don't need all that shit unless you want to control the world. All you need to defend yourself is a nuclear deterrent, not copious nuclear powered supercarriers which can carry hundreds of F16 fighters around the world and deploy off any coast to do bombing runs that just wreck the fuck out of shit.

Just look at it all: http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/List_of_aircraft_carriers_of_the_United_States_Navy#Active - the US has 10 supercarriers, most nations don't even have 1, some have just 1 or 2.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/File:TaskForce_One.jpg

(bottom ship, the largest one, is a supercarrier - US has 10 of those bad boys)

If that ain't military imperialism I don't know wtf is, it's the same shit the UK did at its height of power, police the seas with naval superiority and use your navy to transport aircraft anywhere you need it in order to ascertain air superiority (and an effective refueling station) within a localised region.

Another, "Why I won't date White Men" piece...

7 upvotes · 18 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

a desire to colonize her body

You have got to be fucking shitting me. That's taking the victim card to the next level. Not only are you a poooooor wittle woman, but now, you're making references to slavery by talking about "colonisation" ... please. Get the fuck out.

Politics: Does TRP Have An Accompanying Political Philosophy?

7 upvotes · 16 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I care about what my hypothetical future sons will have to live through.

Although SMV is universal target selection can help you

7 upvotes · 16 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

although being non-white means 3/10 to some 5/10 to some and 8/10 to a few Explains why so many of these immigrant guys in England look at me like I'm hitler. Indian guys and arabs tend to give the biggest evils. I can sense the bitterness from a lot of these chumps, I'm 6'2 and white and they look at me like they're pissed off I exist. I never understood that shit until I read non-caucasians talking about how whites apparently have it easy, not that I ever noticed this. The "racial hierarchy" shit in attraction fascinates me greatly I'd love to devise an article or otherwise read one on the topic to learn what the social dynamic on it is. People gonna get butthurt and cry racism whenever you compare races in any respect, but this is interesting shit.

Race shit aside, great post man. Nothing else to add.

Women being red pill about sex - todays discussions

7 upvotes · 16 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't shit where I eat.

Girlfriend of 10 Years Cheats on an "Amazing Guy"

7 upvotes · 13 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

THAT SONG IS AWESOME.

5 rules for picking up in a bar (by a bartender)

7 upvotes · 13 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

DGAF alpha

an arrogant cunt

Massive overlap here. Girls can't tell the difference.

I don't like clubs because women have all the power there.

"Truly, love and marriage isn't for you. It's for others." This has to be one of the most ridiculous things I've ever read.

7 upvotes · 4 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

With a 10 year orbit that bitch must of had the gravitational pull of Jupiter fuck me.

Trying to come up with my own openers. Tips?

7 upvotes · 2 November 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I saw a girl taking selfies

I opened: "Are u taking selfies for your 2000 photo facebook album?"

Needless to say we took pictures together and it went onto grinding and blah blah blah. Opener worked. Try it. I don't really sit around thinking to myself "what openers can I use" you have to "be in the moment" at the time.

Operant Conditioning: How to train your woman

7 upvotes · 31 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

People generalise things. It will never end. We all operate on generalisations (no, not most, you do it too - even subconsciously) and as we get to know people on an individual rather than filtered preconceived basis we adjust our generalisations to match our knowledge of a particular individual. I'm 6'2 and white and built like an adonis, feminists would assume I'm rich and privileged, blacks would assume i'm a racist, women and men alike would assume I'm not too bright because of my physique, whatever - they don't even know me, but that's their impression. They get to know me, they get to know who I am, preconceptions are shattered and they have the enjoyment of "being thoroughly surprised."

The problem with the middle class western world is you're so out of touch with genuine need and social inequality that you're all protesting against things that are non-problems as in, they're either imagined or they're so insignificant that it's a joke it even gets any attention. Like the male stare. Get fucking real. It's biologically programmed if a woman has her cleavage out a man can't help but look. Period. No amount of social justice bullshit on a faux crusade will change that crap. NONE. Are you really going to try and police where people choose to look with their fucking eyes? I thought the USA was a freedom and a democracy, not a fucking nazi concentration camp where people need to stare at the floor as they fucking dig their own graves.

Where the genuine need is, where you have people in your own towns and cities who can't even get the amount of food they need to be healthy, can't get food stamps, many of them are men, women, black, white, whatever. They aren't joined by your overly expensive liberally indoctrinated college ideologies, they're joined in the fact they are all dirt fucking poor. And are the internets social justice warriors from the worlds richest highest GDP economy doing anything about that? No. You're bitching on reddit, tumblr, twitter and facebook that some guy looked at some girls breasts and thats so objectifying and basically feeding some girls narcissistic complex for attention where she pretends she hates something to seem like a victim but is actually just bragging and feeding her ego as people validate the fact guys look at her.

This sub does not care about your sensibilities, and time and time again someone needs to hear "not all but most there are exceptions" or "most likely" we have an acronym we use "NAWALT" - not all women are like that, yes we fucking know they aren't, but most are, most aren't special and most do follow certain trends. If you find something different in a specific woman then great, we don't need to hear everytime something is discussed as a generalised trend about how you know this one woman who is not in that trend because the fact here is that we are discussing trends, we're saying hey most women are like "this, this and this" if you do "this" you'll get "this" kind of result, it's applied knowledge, it's not $2+2=4$, it's less concrete, it's saying if you buy enough shit low and sell enough high, you will make profit by understanding your market (to use an analogy.)

You think people are more unique than they really are. They're really not. Get real. People are sheep by and large. You are all programmed by the same state education system, the same television programmes, you all try to fit in with each other and get approval from each other because most of you care so much about how you are perceived and you need that to have any sense of self or ego, you're mostly pathetic and weak, many are also overprivileged but blind to their own privilege eg: middle class feminists... and yet you cling to this notion of individuality and "but I'm different" when really you're not.

A lot of the theories here in TRP are resultant of the perversion of society due to radical liberalist ideologies, feminism is just one of the ideologies in the liberal subset. Liberals are conformists who all conform as herd in rebelling against things like "patriarchy" which were never even proven to fucking exist, talk about a lack of evidence or ecological validity for an entity that has yet to manifest itself to us here on planet Earth. At least things on TRP have been directly observed and been tried and tested in real life to produce results, that's more scientific than any bullcrap feminism chooses to espouse. Yes there are some people who post utter shite here, but just because you don't like this board why must the board collectively apologise for the ramblings of a single person? People do not understand what TRP is about, both people who want to see it disappear and people who are just new and ignorant.

Obviously talking about TRP ideas outside the sub is not a good idea, society is rad liberal and people care more about feelings and political correctness than they do facts or trends (outside finance and fashion) and honesty. Why should companies have to apologise for offending people with mere words? They're just words, it wasn't always that way. If something isn't intended to be offensive, but you construe it as offensive - that's on you - take responsibility for your own lack of stoicism rather than weaponizing your weakness to demand an apology, nobody should be held responsible for your mental weakness and inability to control yourself, btw for this tirade of mine, when I say "you" I don't mean you specifically, I mean modern western society, where the delicate sensibilities of a effeminate liberal society are fucking pandered to and tip-toed around, something we don't do in this space known as TRP - which is why this space exists - some people need sanity from the superficial bullshit censorship which is the behavioural and thought police known as "political correctness" in the real world. Not all of us are in agreement with this FORCED society where everyone must think and act and speak in a certain way.

If USA is as free as it fucking preaches, freedom and democracy, perhaps the feminists should shut the fuck up censoring anyone they don't like. Bunch of bigoted overprivileged superficial self-entitled wretches.

An army of Betas willingly submit....

7 upvotes · 30 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'd hedge my bets on low testosterone levels if they weren't brainwashed into it.

Forcing a Value Upgrade

7 upvotes · 28 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

This goes for everyone even if they don't believe it upon first laying eyes on you. Of course for OP they'll probably believe it very easily because he's locked down the physicality.

Update: Questions about monogamy and this one girl

7 upvotes · 28 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You're ignoring a lot of the advice you're getting, seems like she's got you infatuated and set on fulfilling her needs on her schedule, so you're just going to have get fucked over by this and learn the hard way. We'll see you back in a few years when you're a shadow of your former self, seeing your kid every fortnight and having wasted numerous years dealing with this controlling bitch who outmatches you in the game of manipulation in every way perceivable. You're applying logic to a woman's behaviour, major mistake #1.

It's like your Hansel outta Hansel and Gretel, you know you're walking into the witches candy lair, but you don't give a fuck because hey, pussy. I don't enjoy talking to people like they're idiots, but I've read the entire thread here and it sounds like your mind is set and you wanted TRP to somehow bless your bad decision. The guy who said "your hamster is showing" is on point.

She is career driven, a slave to her biological clock, no doubt a former carousel rider, doesn't respect you enough to not go slut it up at a party... you're already losing, she's setting all the boundaries and rules. Fuck that. Find your balls. Yank out that oxytocin needle hanging out of your arm.

EDIT: because really I'm a great guy, this might save your life -

<http://illimitableman.wordpress.com/48lawsowomen/>

Study: Young, Single, Childless Women Earn More Than Men

7 upvotes · 27 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Your logic is inconcise, I suspect drawing parallels between earning potential and the consequences of violence makes you a troll, because that logic is too weak to be legitimate.

Dove Self-Esteem Project aims to "make girls unstoppable" using "self-esteem programming" cause there is "beauty anxiety" in 8 year old girls

7 upvotes · 27 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

"Company logos and slogans are a form of narcissism."

To go deeper with that, it's the whole mantra of brand value and it's identification as being aesthetically and psychologically appealing/pleasing which really taps into the narcissism.

Ever heard someone in a shop say something like "hey I don't drink economy shit, I'll only drink coca cola"

The narcissism is exchanged between the corporate entity and the consumers buying habit.

Pretty interesting shit here. Would make a good dark triad article topic.

Men's minds and genitals are in agreement. Women's, mind and genitals seemed scarcely to belong to the same person.

7 upvotes · 24 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Its not up to you to tell this guy how to behave, you don't care about him you're just policing him because he offended your sensibilities. Toughen up.

Learn from my mistake: What happens when you prioritise a relationship over a career

7 upvotes · 21 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

EDIT: Thanks for the gold anon!

9) She's completely ended our sex life. Starts dropping passive aggressive insults about how inadequate I am as a boyfriend. I continue to tell her how pretty she is and how much I love her.

She's ended your sex life because she perceives you as low value. She perceives you that way because you are. You have no money. You have no game. You have fuck all going for you. You are supplicating. You don't challenge her. She is able to manipulate you like putty in her hand. I fucked a girl with a boyfriend doing all the things you describe here a month ago, and the way she would laugh to me on the phone about him, about how pathetic he was was just so cold (I posted some threads on it, you can find it in my post history if it interests you enough.) She is not attracted to you and she does not respect you.

At this point she was simply using you until she could branch swing because bitches hate being single and if someone as low value as you were to just up and leave, the amount of damage it would do to her confidence and ego would be catastrophic she'd think "WOW EVEN A GUY WITH THIS LITTLE GOING FOR HIMSELF THINKS HE CAN DO BETTER THAN ME?!" I realise how harsh and terrible I sound with this paragraph and simultaneously I derive both pleasure and pain in communicating it to you (a very strange sensation) I derive pleasure because I value the truth above all else, and I believe this is the truth - I derive pain because I'm not a sociopath (though with training, we can all be borderlines - useful skill) and I can empathise with just how fucking ruined you were, and how this woman was feeding on that and getting ready to leave you because of it. I've been through the same shit, although, not quite so dramatic as your story.

10) Go on a working holiday to earn some cash and plan it so that she can visit at the end of the week and we can have a romantic escape together. She agrees, but at the last minute changes plans due to "cost", despite my offer to pay. She's been chatting to a "childhood friend" on fb who is coming up to visit with his friends. She wants to go clubbing with them but assures me her brother is going - "I trust you".

So you realise that you need to raise your value/get money and plan to do something about it. Good on you, positive moves. Reason she denied your holiday offer is quite obvious but I'll put it down in writing for the sake of anyone who hasn't worked it out - she perceives this guy from her past as so much higher value than you were (who she deceptively frames as a childhood friend, probably someone who she used to fuck or always wanted to fuck who she never got around to fucking) that she rather spend a night in a club with him than a week or two on a paid vacation with you in a foreign country. Says a fucking lot really. Again with the I trust you shit, she's being manipulative or you're being a fucking betamax tape, you don't state who's saying that shit.

11) Goes out clubbing 2 nights in a row until 4 with them. Call her the next day. She's instantly cold. Ask if something has happened, she denies it, but I get "This is going nowhere". Realise how blind I've been and lose my shit. She ignores my subsequent apology, refuses all contact and says swearing is forever unforgivable.

She's cold because she's actualised her hypergamous pursuit of upgrading from you to the next guy. Some guys sold her some shit that'll he'll stick around (as a fuck buddy or boyfriend, she doesn't care) and the rush of his sperm up her vag combined with the oxytocin release she had when fucking said guy associated with his face now all of a sudden means she's forming an attachment to another man, which makes you seem "more ugly" (if that makes any fucking sense at all) finally you realise you're being a fucking idiot but despite the energy from your anger you lose your frame, she cuts contact on her terms and bullshits you with the old "calling me a cunt trumps all the headfucking I've done to you" chestnut. Bill Burr's done a scene on that, let me get that for you:

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AlvvCYUDHrQ> - he's not wrong, she pulled that on you.

12) I beg her to be honest with me, she says nothing has happened and there's no plans to see anybody else.

Ugh. More begging. God damn man. Obviously she's lying here, not because she cares about what you think but because verbalising it out loud makes her feel like a dirty whore, and her sense of integrity and pride needs to protect her ego so she just feeds you bullshit.

2 days later find out that same night she'd been blowing the same guy she'd been clubbing with after having been invited to go on a party binge when we were still together.

She probably had a threesome/gangbang with him and his boys as she went FULL CAROUSEL on that bitch and I mean full carousel like the victorian white horsies on the merry go round carousel. Remember how quickly she fucked you? How she was up for a threesome? Her daddy issues? They probably passed that bitch around like she was a bag of doritos and a share size bottle of coke, one in the bucket bag one in the tight hole.

13) Still can't imagine life without her. Start drinking and texting, hoping we can work something out. She seems reluctant but not dismissive of the idea of one day fixing things. Assures me there's no plans to see somebody else and we make plans for a goodbye dinner and to talk.

AAAAAAAAAAAAAH NOOOOOOOOOOOOOOO YOU'RE FREE OF THIS WRETCHED CUNT. Ok, got that out of my system - continuing: she's reluctant because you're low value but she likes the idea of having her fuck toy to fuck with, she's a sadistic machiavellianist, if she has nothing better to do she'll use you as plan B, the contingency for when she's bored.

The no plans shit is again not because she cares about what you think, but its bait so she can hook you and control you, get free shit from you and use you for emotional validation via the friend zone. No doubt you were going to be the idiot paying for this dinner "to talk." Look when a girl has gone and cheated on you and lost all respect for you whilst ironically holding a vendetta against you for getting a fucking handjob, no amount of talking in the fucking world will fix that shit. It's done, dust yourself off, cry yourself to sleep, and lay 5 bricks a day until you rebuild yourself.

14) She cancels plans in order to go clubbing. Next day find out she's been hooking up with guys again. I tell her I find it hurtful and disrespectful and get "Oh boohoo, it's my life" as a response.

Fucking hell she pulls that shit off AGAIN. Like I said, you were plan B. Plan A was available, naturally she went out to go satiate her need for validation and cock by parading around scantily in a nightclub. "Oh boohoo, it's my life" is the attitude people take when they really do not give ANY FUCKS AT ALL about you, which confirms what I earlier said about her baiting to possibly use you to derive friendzone benefits out of you.

When she picks up her belongings from mine, all she can do is tell me how happy she is now and what a confident and proud woman she's become from knowing me.

Ah the old salt in the wound routine, you don't even want to know what's going through my mind here in terms of "what I'd do in that situation" but I imagine this was very heart churning shit. Women do this by the way, for different reasons, trying to end the relationship by "being the bigger party" if you dump them they will say this shit and it's them trying to shit test the fuck out of you so they can win a pyrrhic victory. If they dumped you though, they basically won and they're just gloating for ego. There's a sadistic element to this because she's saying without you she wouldn't be who she is, you're obviously in tatters, it's an iconic panoramic example of power transfer, essentially she's saying I wasn't shit before you, now I've drained all your fucking dignity and power and took it for myself, now I'm fucking off and I feel great! WHAT A CUNT. People should be hanged for that kind of shit, honestly. She is vile.

I stupidly give her attention by voicing my disgust. She leaves thinking she's the bigger person,

Yeah aloof and nonchalant would be the best way to deal with shit here. "LOL why do I care I have bitches hotter than you lined up so fuckoff quick" "grab your shit and go I have hoes over at 9" etc etc. That's "game." She not only thinks she's the bigger person but she IS THE BIGGER PERSON, she out maneuvered you in the game of manipulation on every level and strategically came out on top, she turned you into a bumbling wreck, I'd say that's definitely a victory.

but tells all her friends and family how horrible I am.

Ah this is a different part of the manipulation game. Reputation is important. She doesn't care what you know or think of her but the opinions of her friends and family have value to her and could still make and break her. If her reputation is destroyed it makes it hard for hypergamy to operate, she will essentially have an invisible quarantine zone around her as the gossip gets around unless she moves to another city. Also, she wants good relations with her current social support network as well, so she can exploit/use them - a reputation that would damage this network is destructive to her imperative - to upgrade, get cock, get money and go all the way to the top in life (be a footballers wife!) If you had videos or recordings of this bitch being crazy then you could publicly expose her for who she is and really fuck with her.

How come females are reluctant to complement males?

7 upvotes · 19 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Some idiot downvoted you, have an upvote.

Fake it till you make it, Alpha. What are the consequences?

7 upvotes · 17 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Basically you're saying you knowingly AMOG people.

AMOGs are fucking annoying. Fascinates me why two alphas can't just lead together and respect each others boundaries once status is established, AMOGs engage in a constant push and pull with you because nobody will give in. There's banter and then there's being a dick because you want to own the group. Constant warfare.

A prime example of blue pill logic. • Why women and white knights see game as coercion • Why women and white knights see gaming a girl as rape AND MORE!

7 upvotes · 14 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't disagree with you because your logic is sound.

Though I'm an auditory and visual learner, not a kinetic one. This means I can see and hear other peoples fucks ups and derive enough information from that to not have to experience the fuck up myself. Sometimes I live through the experience for myself to see what it's like, out of a kind of morbid curiosity, but things as serious as divorce I never intend to experience, I'm not going to nuke my life just to learn something, in a cost benefit analysis the knowledge gained isn't worth the amount of financial capital lost and ultimately my logic will rein in any potential curiosity I have.

TLDR: Some things are so shitty the experience isn't worth it.

Field Report. French Women in the city of Toulouse.

7 upvotes · 10 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Anyway, I go out with my work friend and I see a big group of girls. I go up to them and ask if anyone can speak English they all point to one girl and she seems pretty bummed out that we are talking with them.

She's out having fun, now she feels like she has a position of responsibility as translator.

I ask if this is the best place to be and I just want to have a awesome time tonight. She says this is the best place to be and asks some standard questions. " how old are you?, where are you from? how long are you gonna be here? " I mess around a bit with the answers for a little bit just to play around.

So she IoIs and you spit game, keep it vague/funny. If you gave dialogue to exemplify your experience demonstrating high value to the strange girl then your FR would be a lot more useful to any newbies to game reading this thread.

They asked me is I wanted to go with them to another bar because I was new to the city I they would show me around a bit.

So you had novelty/exotic factor because you're not French and one can only assume the area is predominantly french, so rather than be pissed off by all the immigration they're enchanted by your uniqueness.

But, then about 7 guys and another girl comes to the group of girls I'm with. I instantly start talking with the guys and finding things in common with them.

This is when the balance of social dynamics really takes a huge turn out of nowhere. You disarm the guys from cockblocking by making them like you, having common interests helped to gain trust with them and demonstrate DHV "he's like us."

Here the boxer dude told be what girls were single and what girls I can't touch and then the band members asked me if I ever french kissed a girl in france.

So typically the guy whos probably most swol/athletic is the alpha of the pack, he likes you so basically gives you permission to get with a girl from his group, but sets boundaries on girls you shouldn't touch, either because he's interested/invested or one of his buddies is.

So I went to the girl just behind them. I grabbed her and kissed her. After that she was mine, No guy talked to her only her gay and girls friends after that.

You showed pre-selection to the girl behind you by getting on well with the group alpha, and this means you got to have your way all night in the club with her without anyone trying to fuck with your shit.

she asked for my number and if we should spend the night.

Should of got her number, girls are too flaky and you can definitely escalate this and take it further with the great start you've had.

Gotta put analysis in these FRs man. Otherwise, good shit, nice.

Lesbian couples twice as likely as gay men to end civil partnership

7 upvotes · 9 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I get that a lot

The Beige Phillip Show continues The Black Phillip Show tradition

7 upvotes · 9 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm compiling the "Beige Phillip principles", it will take a while, but here's some I've done already:

4 - A woman falls in love with you for everything that you are. She spends the rest of the relationship trying to make you everything that you're not, and when she succeeds she will dump you for a guy who is what you were when she met you. That's why you have to set up fake rules for them to break, then they feel good without really breaking your integrity or who you are. When a woman falls in love with you and she's attracted to you there's things she's attracted by, don't change those things because, she's gonna ask you to change those things that she finds innately attractive, and the thing is she knows other women find that shit attractive, so she tries to get rid of that shit so other women don't come at you.

7 - It's always your fault, anything that happens in a relationship that goes bad with your woman, if your woman's a bitch, if she's disrespectful, if she cheats on you, if she leaves you, if she takes your money - it's your fault. The way she treats you is down to the presentation you give her. No such thing as victims just volunteers.

8 - Common sense ain't common, if it was common everybody would know. You can't assume people understand things, you need to be a guy who can explain things straight so there are clear options.

9 - Put yourself first at all costs. If you don't love yourself nobody else will. If you don't put yourself first, she won't. If you put a woman first, she won't appreciate that shit and ends up taking you for a sucker. But if you're like "fuck it I don't care what you need" they're grateful for any little thing.

Girl leaves her provider BF to fuck her ex when he complains about his day

7 upvotes · 6 October 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I hope the ho who punched you has to endure some painful anal.

On relationships, illness, and caregiving.

7 upvotes · 19 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You can bet your dick and all the pussy she's giving it she'd expect you there otherwise she Withholds sex the fucking trump card. Lmao.

We as men need to put our foot down and stand up to misandry in America. "In 147 out of 150 of America's biggest cities, median full-time salaries are 8 percent higher for these women than for their male peers."

7 upvotes · 18 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Which means being red pill and talking to her like you talk to other red pill men is a relationship ender, another reason to have a /r/redpillwomen

So I think I figured out my problem - my wife wants a wife.

7 upvotes · 17 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You're right I guess. This ain't a pissing contest though. I mean, basically it's all ego. It's either the ego of beating the person in argument or the ego of having the most support on your karma/consensus from the community. We always talk about here, how outcome independence and abundance mentality are things we should strive for in self-improvement, but then the competitive nature goes beta and you see pissing contests up in the subreddit from time to time. Sometimes I think the best response is "Wow ok." or "Ok." or not even replying.

So I think I figured out my problem - my wife wants a wife.

7 upvotes · 16 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Identifying logical fallacies is fine but if someone doesn't feel like discussing a specific issue with you, they are under no obligation to as logically it is not conducive to their happiness. I often feel and think trying to bait someone back into conversation with you because you want "victory" is a logical fallacy within itself, discussing for ego, not to learn.

Lawyer Sharon Cook tells Women in Law Leadership Summit the industry requires cultural change

7 upvotes · 15 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

She gets her foot in the door in a position of leadership and she's already stamping her feet and demanding an industry change just to facilitate women. Wow. And she says men are egotistical. Someone put this bitch on a leash her policies will only harm business via feminisation. An overt attempt here by a feminist to champion yet more shit for the collective victimhood mentality of womankind's hypergamy. Doesn't she realise less rich men means more unhappy women? Give the girls these jobs and they rather date cats than date down in the human social hierarchy. They also won't put the hours in so are shitter workers, by her own admission lmao. I hope her delusions burn.

Be mayor. Blow a 14 year old. Get probation. Guess the gender.

7 upvotes · 15 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Pussy pass in action bro

Woman walks out on a man after finding out he's a virgin

7 upvotes · 14 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

^ Yeah there's loads of ways to reply, it's about your frame really not what you say, but the unspoken communication.

I personally like to be a bit of an obnoxious dick about it, but that's just my preferred style eg: "I've seen more dark holes than a chilean miner"

If you have the confidence you can reply "Yes I'm a virgin" in a mocking voice, and even though you told the truth she'll think you're not. I remember when I was at school some girls who were into me were digging, so I started publicly proclaiming I was a virgin (which was the truth) but because I said it so sarcastically, they thought I was lying to them, so they'd get me 1 on 1 and probe and then I'd tell 'em what they want to hear, the lie - I'm not a virgin, I just say that so girls stop harassing me - then they think they've got to the bottom of it and "sussed you out". See? You have to fuck some heads before you can fuck some pussies, it's just how it works. And I know some of you will hear that and think "well hey that's just manipulative" but guess what? Shit works, and when the hos are running game on you, does anyone call them out on their bullshit? No. All's fair in love and war.

Woman in love with a Dark Triad asshole can't change him, goes on national TV to try make it happen.

7 upvotes · 13 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I have little knowledge of music but that sounds awesome man.

1950s newspaper asks "Should a Woman be spanked if she needs it?". The answers are decidedly red pill

7 upvotes · 13 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

It's okay to control others with violence?

That depends on your morality. The government do a spectacular job of doing it saying it's for our protection. Order to chaos if you will. A relationship is like a micro version of that. The use of force must be instrumental and to fulfill a purpose for the greater good, otherwise it is needless and excessive, just like anything else which is not co-ordinated. Violence is a tool when tamed, it is an animalistic utterance of expression when not. Also, sex. Nobody seems to care about violent sex, in fact the chicks dig it. Funny how if we sexualise violent acts, they all of a sudden become OK for many many people. Tells you a lot about our true natures as creatures in and of itself, that when we choose to reproduce it is the preference that such a thing be done violently.

Another thing, emotional violence is played down/ignored whilst physical violence is scorned. Emotional violence can be far more violent and harmful than physical violence. Physical violence in extremes will kill, mental violence is like torture, the pain never ends, you'd wish you were dead or even go so far to kill yourself (personally I think in many scenarios people who commit suicide had a few toxic people in their lives which led to their choice in that) - yet the latter is not legislated against anywhere near as much as the former - which is truly fascinating, man's natural advantage is his physical strength, it is scorned/protected against. Woman's natural advantage is her cunning, cunning is not legislated against yet both can be equally harmful.

Think critically - don't view "violence" as this black and white thing, it's not, it manifests in many ways, and sometimes a violent action can be even pleasurable eg: poison in your favourite cake, a girl taking it in the ass etc.

Betas praise TRP then instantly shoot it down

7 upvotes · 9 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Why don't you tell your boy he's friendzoned, like cmon man look out for your boy. Tough love.

A RedPill story from my infancy, requested, AMA

7 upvotes · 5 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I saw this in another thread, where the mother got the little girl to call the guy "daddy" it's so fucking manipulative, it's pretty cold. They'll use whatever moves at their disposal to get what they want, using your feelings for her kid aint off limits. I think its kinda fucked up exploiting a kid like that.

31, former party girl finally ready to settle down. Comments are pure Redpill

7 upvotes · 2 September 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Very much agree with you on this.

His girl is about to start turning tricks, and this beta has no idea how it will end and or what to do next.

7 upvotes · 28 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Even if you asked them all in self-reports, many would lie. We can never really know. Some women, the ones we call hos, exercise this advantage fully, others, perhaps not so much. I think there was an article somewhere on here awhile back saying the average girl has more sexual partners than the average guy in a lifetime, I'd have no idea where to find that though.

If you don't like Skyler White, you're a misogynist. (some sanity to be found in comments)

7 upvotes · 24 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

He's going from beta to alpha as well.

Spoiler alert: In the newest episode he says to Skyler he'll hand himself in to the police and that she's to hide all the money and leave it for the kids because Hank's found out he's Heisenberg and wants to get him locked up.

This guys willing to sacrifice everything for them.

what male escorting told me, and what I learned from my mistakes

7 upvotes · 7 August 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Feminism was a mandatory part of one of the courses I did in education for 2 years. They basically say, unsubstantiated without evidence (inability to vote/work does not indicate oppression), men used to oppress women, the women broke free and now we must do everything we can to ensure their freedom. You hear the word patriarchy a lot and they teach you about different kinds of feminists. I was one of a few males in a class full of girls. The teacher was clearly a feminist too.

She explained radical feminism as the belief that men aren't necessary because women can do anything men can, and better, and that all that's needed is to harvest their sperm in sperm banks. Not one girl got upset, angry or offended by that statement. I guarantee if you said radical masculinists believe women aren't necessary as men can do anything they can, and better, we just need to have them hooked up to hospital equipment giving birth in baby making farms all those girls would soon speak up and cry oppression/offence. It's one way oppression/hate speech, but they repeat it until you believe it. If I tell you you're gay from a young age for a long time, even if you're not you will believe it. Inculcation is the repetition of a statement or idea placed into the mind of a person until they eventually hold that belief/ideal as true. That's how feminism works, they get 'em young and they hit them on every front in their environment (school/media) which then spreads through their friends and peers until they think "well it must be true everyone thinks it" matrix type shit.

TLDR: don't send your kids to state school and hope they come out OK. You need private school not just for prestige and education, but to avoid indoctrination.

Watercooler #5: Passing Moments of RP Theory

7 upvotes · 30 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Women assume a lot due to the ubiquitous narcissistic entitlement prevalent in the collective female psyche, the key is to pick them on their assumptions and insult them or otherwise spin it on them.

EG: Her: "I thought you were gay"

You: "What because I'm out of your league?"

Have fun

Trigger Warning: feminazis have a new double standard to bitch about: single dads are attractive, single moms are not

7 upvotes · 29 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

This is how we pass the feminazi shit test (all non-feminists of both genders), ignore them and when we feel like we are forced into an answer make that answer no longer than 3 words long.

So you think its okay to oppress women?

No.

It's not fair men to get have sex with lots of women and be called a stud.. blah blah blah

It is.

Single dads are sexy, single mothers aren't, jump in logic to invisible oppressive patriarchal forces

In your opinion.

Theory: feminism is a big attention seeking shit test, don't give it and it's followers the attention it seeks.

Reflecting on a previous relationship: Ultimate blue pill.

7 upvotes · 27 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Women love assholes. Nice guys are boring. Assholes are confident enough to seduce and turn them on, nice guys are not. Women are never happy with nice guys and always moan they need to change to fit her needs before they grow bored. Nice guys are stable and safe. Assholes are exciting and unpredictable, they create tension and attraction. Nice guys are what a 30 year old woman whos tired of clubbing and slutting wants to "settle down" with and experience her marriage fairy princess dream day with before growing bored and divorcing him in a few years. 70% of divorces are instigated by women the most common reasons are "boredom" and "domestic violence", most domestic violence claims are advised by attorneys to said woman so she can get a restraining order and effectively kick him out of the house and claim more in divorce (all of this because she's bored of a nice guy, that insane entitlement is a fucking epidemic) clearly you're new here. Girls love assholes. It makes no sense. Nobody knows why explicitly, but they love them and in a perverse fucked up way they respect them.

What is the deal with "leftism"?

7 upvotes · 26 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Red pill is good for your mental health in rejecting class warfare (more cognitively efficient, keep optimistic etc), but class divides do exist and it's very obvious in countries like mine (England) where people are openly classist and meritocracy is among the lowest in Europe, only Portugal beating us to the punch. The source is a survey from the Guardian newspaper (ironically, a leftist broadsheet paper)

"The reason why women say that there are no good men to date – they let themselves off the hook to continue their pattern of behaviour. It gives them a reason to believe that they don't have to change."

7 upvotes · 23 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The bonus level, the twilight zone, the hypergamous apex.

Looking For Love: A short documentary on China's "Leftover" Women; independent, successful, over-30 career-women struggling to get dates [15min]

7 upvotes · 23 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Do we know Chinese marriage laws? This is dead-on in a western context but China is one of the few countries in the world that doesn't need to bow to the whims of US government sanctioned ideology, feminism being a big one. I doubt chinese government is sanctioning such shit (crappy no fault divorce laws), any feminist activity in China is more likely to be through independent activism and not have a lobby on the inside, although I could be wrong.

Greeks; they've become Freaks; I blame the Media

7 upvotes · 23 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Bitch will rob a bank, but not suck the dick. Damn these greek bitches be crazy!

Thank you, TRP contributors. You are extending the length my life and enhancing the quality of same.

7 upvotes · 22 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

We love you bro, no homo.

Feminist on the carousel doesn't understand why she isn't datable... lots of hampering

7 upvotes · 21 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

WHAT THE ACTUAL FUCK

A Humorous Scene From an Old John Wayne Movie That Shows How Far A Women Will Go If You've 'Slighted' Her. There's No Way This Would Make It to Theaters These Days.

7 upvotes · 21 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

They're legitimately retarded. The grey matter cell count is so low their dog is rocking a higher IQ.

From flirting to "you've been degrading me all night"

7 upvotes · 21 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Next time a chick asks me in a bar/club "why are you even here?" I'm going to straight up say, with a straight face, in a sarcastic tone "to talk to women about life and politics"

Author of "5 Reasons to be a Feminist Man" responds to Reddit...prepare to be ENRAGED!

7 upvotes · 7 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

This guys articles are all hate speech perpetuated under the guise of victimhood (eg: I can say let's kill all cats because I'm an oppressed dog!) it's disgustingly despicable, what a deluded and idiotic man.

19 year old woman, who has ridden the cock carousel with 27 partners already, asks if her partner count is a deal breaker!

7 upvotes · 2 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

A child's thought processes. Equal rights. Fuck life. I need more alcohol.

Update: More women express their tingles for Aaron Hernandez

7 upvotes · 2 July 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

He's got fame, looks, money. That's everything you need to get women. Fame is the super DHV.

How Last Relationship Red Pilled me

7 upvotes · 29 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

If you don't embrace it you lose and so if you need to make yourself not care to be able to embrace it then that's how you cope and you do what you gotta do, doesn't make the current paradigm a healthy one though, even though one can strategize and get into a position to enjoy it.

Part of the reason the economy is a pile of shit is due to women entering the workforce doubling the labour pool from the 60's onwards, making workers in menial roles essentially disposable, and now there's no dedicated parent tending to the kids, the kids are going down shit street, falling education standards, increasing anti-social behaviour etc.. the old people all moan my generation (generation Y) is a waste of space, but ironically fail to see they're the reason so many in my generation are a waste of space, most people who are waste come from broken homes, they have had no training it's no real fault of their own, but it's the fault of their stupid shitty parents who shouldn't of reproduced and couldn't maintain a tried and tested family unit.

Another reason the economy is shit is due to high fucking taxes which have to go to all these single mothers who would in the old world had a beta funding them, not the entire country's tax code. Obviously there are far more significant reasons why the economy sucks, exporting manufacturing to the third world, mechanisation of old jobs, mass immigration etc etc.. but feminism and it's fruits has had a profound economic impact too, in terms of working conditions and taxes.

The only thing our current civilization is good at is getting people who know how to play the system some sex. It's shit for raising a family and a civilization which isn't good at raising it's successors is a civilization doomed to fail. I'm in TRP, clearly I've adapted - doesn't mean I think it's necessarily a good thing we have this paradigm, in fact, quite the contrary. Too many social problems have arisen from feminism, far too many. Like the 90% of violent prisoners in the united states raised by single mothers, most of them men with absent fathers.

Some musings on 'cads vs. dads'. Why is it important for the proverbial alpha to have money, anyway?

7 upvotes · 29 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The fabled dad zone, ironic because if you're not in the dad zone she'll call you daddy when you pump her full of sperm.

"brainwash" -- norwegian documentary examines how fields like sociology and feminist studies reject actual science because it doesn't fit with their ideology

7 upvotes · 25 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I wanna learn norwegian now, if I was rich and could spend so much time learning something that would be of no economic benefit to me, I'd do it.

As for the video on gender differences (vid #1), I watched intently and found the evidence was more in favour of biological differences playing a significant role in affecting behaviour than merely deducing it was only cultural differences which affected behaviour, the Norwegian social scientists had no scientific or logical evidence, basis or fact for their assumption that biology is irrelevant and they were both unable to provide any compelling argument or evidence to back up their self-proposed "theoretical basis" essentially both norwegian social scientists proposed a theoretical framework with no objectively logical line of reasoning or evidence to demonstrate said thesis, thus making their assertions nothing more than opinion.

For my cake day, Ended my 3 year Blue pill relationship for some new found Red pill freedom.

7 upvotes · 22 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

It's the opposite of the more common attitude of doing absolutely nothing productive in your spare time. I think balance is in order. If you gym/work/learn a language/whatever you can't begrudge a guy 12 hours a week on a game. Under this logic you shouldn't be out at clubs and shit gaming women because it's not improving your life and it's making you a shit ton poorer for what is often if successful, only a one night stand.

Girl fucks old man from an internet dating site and doesn't know why -- hint: he's rich.

7 upvotes · 16 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

The answer to the seemingly rhetorical assertion is what brought me here, this title made me laugh fucking hard.

"The Western World has quietly become a civilization that undervalues men and overvalues women, where male nature is vilified but female nature is celebrated." -The Misandry Bubble

7 upvotes · 15 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Read this article before, it's bang on the money. This civilization is committing suicide.

Female Logic: "Why is it that I'm a bigger slut when I slept with 63 guys once or maybe twice when my boyfriend slept with his 1st girlfriend 100+ times? That's the same amount of sex!"

7 upvotes · 14 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Are you trying to say that regardless of girth, length and varying different penis shapes that one dick penetrating a pussy 63 times is equal in "damage" to various dicks penetrating a pussy 63 times? Guess we'd need scientific experiments to deduce this. I always assumed varying girths and lengths made her shit widen and hang more than just the same old dick doing the work.

Guy and girl go on a "break" so she can hook up with her hot roommate. He is going to propose. /facepalm

7 upvotes · 13 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

It gives this excuse validity: "but we were on a break, and you agreed to it" it's her way of saying, you sanctioned my freedom to be a slut, so I chose to be a slut. Fuck that noise.

cock carousel, punjab style!

7 upvotes · 10 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

I think she feels like she violated him by taking his virginity but that he violated her too by not telling her before they married that he was a virgin.

Female virginity = good thing (chaste), male virginity = bad thing (inexperienced)

I remember the first girl I fucked, I had to tell her I'd already fucked other girls when I hadn't because even though we were both virgins at the time, I got the impression from her that an inexperienced guy didn't sit well with her, when I assured her I'd had sex with other chicks before it seemed to put her at ease. So to put this fucking chick logic into perspective of the indian girl she's probably thinking "holy shit I've just fucked a virgin ewwwwwwwww!"

Indian girl commented about how he was all dewy eyed like it was freaking her out or some shit, now she feels dirty because she's rode more foreign cock than half her home village whilst he was still pure. Being his first time he's had this esoteric dewy eyed special experience with her that night, when to her it was just another dick, an inexperienced dick, not the best she's ever experienced and it was a dick that wouldn't of got up in her if it wasn't for the fact they were in an arranged marriage and he was rich.

I would not mistake dread, guilt and pity about their consummation as genuine regret for riding the carousel. You're right about her not hamstering and being self aware that reality has just slapped her in the face for being the slut that she is, but when those feelings of sincere guilt disappear (and they will) her solipsism will allow the hamster to rationalise all her actions as being out of her control and full blame for the shit sex will be attributed to him. It's nice to think her culture will save her, but she's already had 10+ dicks and subscribed to a western lifestyle, I think her psychology is past that now unless she's an anomaly.

"I bought myself a nice fucking ring....Because I fucking can and I am tired of not getting jewelry just because guys won't buy it for me and I am also tired of my mom shoving her $6,000 rock in my face every 50 seconds because my dad would rather waste money on her." Xpost XXChromo

7 upvotes · 7 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Great thing about the red pill is you realise your attention is like diamonds to women, they need it to lead a fulfilling existence.

Russel Brand vs Emily Blunt in this clip. Discuss.

7 upvotes · 7 June 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

His stand ups are more of a "british sense of humour" and even then, it's pretty smut. So if you consider yourself elegant/posh then you won't like him. Some people can't stand his metrosexualism either (the shit he wears, eyeliner etc) ..in this clip he's toned down and reacting to the girls sitting next to him and just taking the piss out of them, in his stand up when he writes his scripted stuff he generally goes WAAAAAY over the top, that's his style - wordy audaciousness. If you read any of his books/articles, you'll notice the guy has an excellent vocabulary, he'll teach you a word or two. In short he's a smart spiritual guy born in poverty to a single mother who worked at it the hard way and got famous in the UK and then managed it in USA too (hard for UK acts to break in to the US market) if anything, this guy is a living fucking embodiment of almost everything the red pill teaches.

Women in Tech: "If more men learned to put away their privilege and have empathy for other people we wouldn't have this problem!"

7 upvotes · 30 May 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

You could pay a woman to get licked out day in and day out and she'd still MOAN. Their moaning.... it's genetic. Innuendo intended too.

Woman has abortion -- says it was miscarriage to husband -- is somehow the victim: "But then I feel angry because he didn't care when I was the one in pain"

7 upvotes · 25 May 2013 · /r/TheRedPill

Switzerland in Europe offers euthanasia to people who have come to the conclusion "now is my time to die, I've led a good life, let's not drag this shit the fuck out" Euthanasia in Switzerland = end of the line for most red pill guys with nobody left when they're old timers.

Also, there's the possibility of living with a chick or being very close with a chick but maintaining that alpha frame, realising it's not romance, but pragmatism and chemistry, and not letting her get the legal papers to own half your shit upon a financially incentivised divorce... which appeals directly to her hypergamy.

2020 Most Influential People in the Manosphere Nominations

6 upvotes · 7 January 2021 · /r/TheRedPill

- Redpillschool
- Chateau Heartiste
- Archwinger
- Whisper
- Deepthrill

These are my nominations. All really old members, because I don't really know any of the newer members. but I know I learned something from all of these men - and teaching me something isn't easy, and for that, I'm appreciative.

GLO likewise deserves some sort of recognition simply for being the unrelenting machine that he is.

Playing the Devil's Advocate: What's Our Endgame here?

6 upvotes · 26 May 2019 · /r/TheRedPill

Have a family, have children, leave a legacy - build a DYNASTY if you can.

OR

Stay on your own, but contribute to civilization, improve the world and make your life worth a fuck.

Either way, spending your entire life for yourself, doing what you want when you want for no reason other than you feel like doing it will not lead you down a path of meaning.

YOU NEED MEANING. You find meaning in things which TRANSCEND you as an individual, like in being a patriarch and heading a family. This is the main one for most men, but a subsection of men can use their high intelligence to lead social movements, change politics, invent things or gain large amounts of money and funnel that money into solving human problems they want to see solved, like curing cancer, making housing accessible and affordable to the young, taking care of veterans - whatever your thing is.

Sex is something you do because you're horny due to your hormones. It's not purpose. It's not the end game. The things you believe in and stand for - making a real difference in the world - that's the endgame. That's always the endgame.

I personally derive a lot of meaning from helping men become what they were always meant to be but were robbed of - when men aren't masculine anymore, we're in serious shit as a species. Knowing one's actions has numerous positive second order effects is a priceless form of meaningful transcendence.

I Found A Unicorn!

6 upvotes · 16 September 2017 · /r/TheRedPill

You can fix the PMS by taking her off the pill and getting her an IUD. Hormone replacement (estrogen) as a form of contraception is terrible. Girls with IUDs seem to magically not suffer from PMS. Just a practical thing you can do to help make your life a little easier bro.

What To Learn And How To Learn It

6 upvotes · 14 October 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Thank you for your dedication in elaborating on the more cerebral aspects of it.

Thank you for reading and appreciating my work.

Woman hits the wall at 25, has mental breakdown: single mother with no money comes to realise no one wants to date a single mother, has vitriolic anger towards her ex who's still living a happy life and having relationships.

6 upvotes · 28 August 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Being celibate is better than catching aids, this doesn't make being celibate desirable. You're essentially saying one bad thing isn't as bad as another. True, but this doesn't make the "lesser bad" (in this example, being fatherless) any more inherently desirable. Undesirable things don't become more desirable because there are even less desirable possibilities. Undesirability of a phenomenon is intrinsic, not comparative.

There's also an issue of false equivalency here. Fatherlessness is far more common than paternal abuse, and so whilst paternal abuse may be the greater evil, fatherlessness is the more common evil. As such one could argue normalising a common evil by pointing to a greater but rarer evil is an inadequate defence that is foolish at best and duplicitous at worst.

Feminists use this argument as a defence of single motherhood as well, and its totally disingenuous because it implies most boys have abusive fathers and are better off without them because of it - total bullshit.

Fatherlessness is common and paternal abuse is rare, as such the comparison of each as equal commonalities is disingenuous. Your assertion may be unassailable, but the essence of your argument is effectively moot.

It's good you turned out ok despite fatherlessness, but the majority of fatherless boys aren't so lucky. Keep it real.

Emma Watson: Star SJW Linked to Panama Papers Leak

6 upvotes · 11 May 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Law 38: "Think as you like, but behave like others"

SELFISHNESS: A Social Virtue Amongst Women, the Same a Social Pariah Amongst Men

6 upvotes · 11 May 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

If it threatens their access to your value, they shame it. If it allows them to derive ever more benefit from you, they applaud it. Briffault's Law in action.

Another 54 Machiavellian Maxims for your reading pleasure.

6 upvotes · 1 May 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Sophistry is manipulating someone emotionally by using words that are superficially logical but irrational in substance.

Dark Triad Q&A - Remastered for 2016!

6 upvotes · 7 April 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

What would you consider to be the 'bible' of DT behaviours?

I'll answer this briefly here, even though it doesn't refer to psychopathy or its biology per se, The 48 Laws of Power has to be the most authoritative text on matters pertaining to strategy. Do infer that should one be weak of heart, they will lack the conviction to apply laws such as #15 "crush your enemy totally".

AskWomen confirms red pill truths: episode #83,557

6 upvotes · 7 April 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Woman's entitlement complex is pervasive, an affectation of the narcissism born from the reality eggs are more expensive than sperm.

50 More Shades of Red - Wisdom for Men

6 upvotes · 31 March 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Kanye West: Dysfunctional infantile psychotic narcissist that /u/delux_bg sees as the quintessential narcissist, and thus writes off narcissism in its entirety.

Donald Trump, functional achievement-based narcissist with none of the internal psychotic problems Kanye West has.

Difference between an achievement based narcissist and one who was raised that way due to shitty parenting is absolutely miles apart from one another, the prior is desirable and arguably quite necessary, whilst the latter is detestable and in no shape or form desirable.

Narcissism is diverse and intricate and people have strong opinions on it.

The Light-Switch Effect - Why Women Re-Write the History of Relationships.

6 upvotes · 29 March 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

In her mind, when the chips are actually down, her emotional state will define a new reality where past benefit doesn't just not count, but rather it simply doesn't exist at all.

Hmm, I'm interested to see how this factors into women's lack of loyalty/honour, what you're getting at here is that women's feelings override promises and thus they are fickle, but that also disloyalty from "good women" is not malevolent (even though it has that effect on the injured man) in so much as it is a product of how retroactive emotional reinterpretation nullifies history to create rapid detachment.

I'd be interested to see how the light switch effect plays out when a woman still loves you but another man's come along and she loves him more than you because "he's what you used to be" or whatever. In this scenario you've not made her sad, but somebody else "makes her feel good" more than you do.

Major lessons learned:

- Women are fickle
- Women's love is fickle
- Any sort of happiness with a woman is contingent on her being in love with you. Lost love = bad treatment and/or abandonment from said woman.
- If a woman who loved you stops loving you, she will treat you like a piece of shit (from teddy bear to psychopath in 5 seconds!)

NEW Dark Triad Article: Understanding Narcissism - learn about abusive personalities - also discusses sadism and psychopathy.

6 upvotes · 25 February 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

On another note, there has been some correlation on this sub with how well/easy bluepills accept this sub.

Guys like you and me found TRP and usually go "Oh, this makes perfect fucking sense and explains my life to a T"

Where guys that had great parents/lives typically find it harder to accept TRP as they haven't seen the wicked nature women are capable of. I've seen some despicable, asshole, alcoholic, abusive, narcissistic and sociopathic men. They don't hold a candle to the lowest form woman can take.

Indeed, you're on the money here, this is taken from my Hierarchy of Love piece and very much corroborates your suspicion in this regard:

Most of you have been with me up until this point; some of you aren't. Earlier I made a point of saying that "he believes rather foolishly that as his mother loved him, the idealised girlfriend could." This has a double-meaning that very few would have the range of experience or nuance of mind to pick up on should I not be pointing it out. Essentially when read, those of you who had a good mother would have, if not now, at least at some point thought "I hope I can find a girl that's as sweet and caring as mom." Then, there are those who had narcissistic, detached, unloving mothers. The mothers who always put on a good public face of being nothing other than wonderful, but due to an affliction of personal defect did not share the love intrinsic to the maternal bond with their son.

I am shocked by the sheer number of men I have spoken to who have had mothers that never really loved them (ergo, my mother was very loving,) but I can't say knowing what I know now that I am surprised. Men who had mothers that never endowed them with the maternal bond find it easier to swallow the red pill and understand female behaviour as adults. It is a recurring observation of mine that men deprived of maternal love are better adapted for dealing with women as mates in adulthood. The man who grew up as a neglected boy never foolishly believed that a girlfriend would love him as his mother would, he believed she would love him exactly as his mother did; with extreme conditionality.

This is to say, the man who never experienced maternal love as the typical man in boyhood did would not come to idealise female love as a man. Rather perversely, the standard of which such a man holds women to romantically is more in line with their true nature. Unlike most men, he was not taught to expect a sacrificial love from women because he never experienced this love to begin with. His mother didn't love him like a mother, but like a partner, ergo, he was loved for his utility rather than his essence. And so it stands to reason that man's frame of reference for the quality of woman's love is based upon how his mother loved him. A man whose mother did not love him like a child when he was a child is therefore, in adulthood, at a perverse advantage. He has no idealisation to shatter, because his expectations of women in relationships are realistic.

Illimitable Men in 2016 - Where I'm At & Where We're Going

6 upvotes · 8 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

I actually kept reading that as effortless even though I'd typed effortless, weird how the brain tricks you like that. And thanks!

Edit: effortless was actually correct, effortless is wrong there.

Machiavellian Thinking vs. Conventional Logic

6 upvotes · 7 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

"The system" is not some illuminati type shit where one small cabal run everything, it's a lot of different groups whose interests intertwine. Sure, it could be possible there's some insidious shit going on in Hollywood (I don't know) but I don't believe Hollywood rules the world, they'd just be one group/player in the global power structure.

There's a whole lot of crap out there (eg: on Youtube) going on about the illuminati, watched some of it, is highly tenuous bullshit with no real credibility as far as I'm concerned, albeit entertaining.

I don't recall ever blaming the Jews for anything, one of my patrons is a Jewish fellow! Got a lot of respect for the ashkenazi subset due to their right of the bell curve leaning IQ (an AVERAGE of 115 is very impressive, explains all those nobel prizes!)

Jews have scientifically contributed much to the world, I stay out of all that bullshit. Even if a small group of jews or zionists or whatever they're called are responsible for the actions of a lot of governments, that's hardly the fault of Jews. That's like blaming all Americans for Libya, Afghanistan, Iraq. It's hardly the people's fault what their government does when the government is answering to power players and not the people. I don't believe we live in a time where a populace can be held accountable for the actions of their government when democracy itself is a farce.

1000 migrants in Germany sexually assault, rob and rape women at one train station on New Year's eve. Feminists actively are trying to cover it up.

6 upvotes · 5 January 2016 · /r/TheRedPill

Irony knows no bounds, honestly dude the world is a pretty fucked up place.

Being a dark triad god to women

6 upvotes · 11 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

They make him sound schizophrenic, I'm not sure if that's because he is, or because he simply refuses to come clean that he's full of shit. If he believed all his own crap, there's a good chance the dude is schizophrenic, I mean, he believes the Chinese have a satellite that pulls your thoughts out of your head and can control you... sounds like a fucking whack job.

[Mod Warning: Temp Ban Policy] Posting Shit That Belongs in /r/askTRP in the main /r/TheRedPill Subreddit

6 upvotes · 7 December 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

...who wants to bet it's the exact same guy?

The Harvard Business Review suddenly discovers that dark triad men experience more career success and satisfaction

6 upvotes · 3 November 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

but fails to see that women are perfectly Machiavellian in their own right.

I am busy as fuck, so I am hesitant to even mention future plans because then I get demands, requests and enquiries out the ass from all directions, but this is a topic I've penned a little on recently.

There isn't many of them left, but if you get a chance speak to a WW2 vet.

6 upvotes · 17 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Most modern geopolitical wars are proxy conflicts over economic and security interests. Direct conventional warfare is rare because none of the developed powers want their nation torn to shreds. Most military stand-offs thus occur in third world countries. Big powers don't fight on their own soil. For example, Russia doesn't want Ukraine in the EU because it needs Ukraine to act as a buffer zone between the west and itself. Ukraine is a strategic military asset for Russian self-defence, and for the US, it serves as a launch pad for easy air strikes/invasion onto Russian soil. Most of eastern Ukraine is flat land, so if you control Ukraine, it's easy to invade Russia.

29 year old woman wants her fiancee to understand she has too much self respect to perform certain sex acts AFTER he finds pictures of her doing these sex acts with her college boyfriend.

6 upvotes · 14 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yep. Women are barely logical at the best of times. You can't negotiate attraction, you have to inspire it.

"A Quick Word from the Machiavellian" [Video]

6 upvotes · 8 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Here's some hip-hop:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xg4NwHTZJ8c>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=40qOnoFaABY>

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=_8W_21h1Ipw

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ZR_X6PrASho

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xvM3YwmDfwE>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=rpj39Znv0oA>

TRP has no cultural boundaries

6 upvotes · 6 October 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

"You are right. Today is your day."

"Everyday is my day and you would do well to remember that."

What you all don't understand

6 upvotes · 27 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Old guys always try to pull rank with age, but you can do a lot in 28 years. You're hardly a kid. Maturity varies vastly anyway. I've known some 35 year old guys who act like absolute children.

Single mothers are delinquent subhuman scum who you should avoid at all costs.

6 upvotes · 8 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

These type of woman are everything wrong with society from the bottom-up. Disgusting.

Single mothers are delinquent subhuman scum who you should avoid at all costs.

6 upvotes · 4 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I'll give one for the heck of it

<http://webcache.googleusercontent.com/search?q=cache:-xLAAWIMMzQJ:www.bjs.gov/content/pub/pdf/pji02.pdf+&cd=3&hl=en&ct=clnk&gl=uk>

56% of prisoners come from single parent households. 39% of all prisoners came from single mothers.

The Rational Male – Solipsism I

6 upvotes · 3 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

https://www.reddit.com/r/TheRedPill/comments/3gb29g/solipsism_or_narcissism/ctwsyjx

You're gonna like the way you approach and open; I guarantee it.

6 upvotes · 2 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Tinder is like domino's pizza for pussy if you are genetic aesthetic master race.

You're gonna like the way you approach and open; I guarantee it.

6 upvotes · 2 September 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Basically, be in a good mood and talk bullshit. Touch her hand and gauge kino response to determine if she likes you. If so, close. What is required of you as a man? Indifference to rejection, confidence, abundance, positivity. The attractive guys in this thread complaining bitches shut them down should just use Tinder. Hot guys get all the tinder pussy for a fraction of the effort.

Jails & Churches

6 upvotes · 25 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I'd also recommend "Machiavellian thinking vs. conventional logic"

<http://illimitablemen.com/2015/02/08/machiavellian-thinking-vs-conventional-logic/>

and

"Solipsism, Emotion & Arguments"

<http://illimitablemen.com/2015/08/01/solipsism-emotion-arguments/>

As relevant reading material in this line of thought.

Cuddles and yapping are tools of dogs, not men

6 upvotes · 21 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Excellent post, I've made similar observations GLO.

I have met perhaps two woman who had "original thoughts" in the psychology field. Both mid 30's but looked early 40's. Both fat. Both were psychology MAs. Both were red pill as fuck. Critical thinking is scarce in women as a whole, with women such as Christina Hoff Summers and Karen Straughan being the exceptions that prove the rule (that women generally have close to zero critical thinking capacity.)

If they did, those women wouldn't be so prominent. They both possess qualities most women do not. This is why women in psych are a joke. I think most RP men realise that. Finding an RP shrink/therapist isn't easy either. But that's where the real help is at.

Why do women seem not as smart/funny/interesting as men?

6 upvotes · 1 August 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

You say you aren't stupid, but then you think because half as many men as women reproduce, that men reproduce as much as women do. "Men reproduce EXACTLY the same number of times as women do." is a disingenuous statement.

Don't shift the goal post now.

This is what your retarded logic is saying:

If there were 1,000,000 men and 1,000,000 women, but 1 man impregnated all the women, then men AS A COLLECTIVE reproduce just as much as women because 1 man had sex 1,000,000 times, and 1,000,000 women had sex once.

How fucking disingenuous is that? You, sir, are retarded.

And what is asinine is talking to someone with logic as flawed as yours.

So now I've shown you up, I'll leave you to sit there with your dick-in-hand. Enjoy yourself.

Can a guy who is a virgin in his 20s realistically lose his virginity to a really hot girl?

6 upvotes · 30 July 2015 · /r/askTRP

I suspected as much, wasn't going to say anything but seeing as you've put it out there...

Nothing is going to make that pain go away until it fades by itself. It will toughen you up. All I can advise is to listen to some angry music and lift heavy weights. Process your pain productively, channel it all into self-improvement. It can be a great fuel. In a perverse way, she did you a favour. It was nothing special about her, but it was your virginity that made you like that. It could have been any pretty girl, literally any, and if you fucked her as a virgin, you'd think "she's the one." It's how our bodies work.

Which is why, thinking about it, this brings the whole "no sex before marriage" religious ideal into perspective. If a man and a woman were virgins before marriage, got married, then had sex, they'd have a powerful pair bond ideal for raising a family.

Of course, modern western culture is corrupt. There are women who have only slept with the man they're with, that end up "getting curious" because all their friends are slutting it up and the media encourages it. Women don't want to feel like they're missing out on something, and when other women are whoring all over town it affects your girl at home.

You got to her too late, let's put it like this:

She was already broken, someone else already took her virginity. So now she's on this soulless promiscuous shit that most people are on in our declining society. All she cares about is sex and what she can get out of men, not forming proper relationships. You weren't broken. Her rejection of you has broken you a bit.

Thing is, men need breaking a bit to be strong, to find their balls and become a leader. Pain helps men. A broken woman is a fucked up woman who is never viable, she can never love as strongly as a young woman who isn't broken. She'll be warlike rather than romantic. Pain makes a monster out of a woman. A general doesn't need a first officer who's prone to mutiny.

Lesson learned: most women are sluts, fall in love at your peril.

50 Shades Redder - More Wisdom for Men About Women

6 upvotes · 23 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm making an announcement in the next few days. More will be revealed then.

50 Shades Redder - More Wisdom for Men About Women

6 upvotes · 23 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

There's a reason the word "perhaps" is in there. It was a semantic factoring in people such as yourself, who assumedly had narcissistic mothers who never gave a shit about them. Refer to Maxim #20.

Be Wary of the Epiphany Phase Woman

6 upvotes · 22 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

And avoid soy of course... Which you should do anyway.

Just found soy hidden as an ingredient in one of my sauces. They creep this shit into the most obnoxious places. Needless to say, I've thrown that shit away.

50 Shades of Red - Wisdom for Men About Women

6 upvotes · 18 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Paragraphs dude, paragraphs. Without paragraphs, most just cannot be fucked to entertain your thoughts.

Cenk gets put back in his place on the Young Turks

6 upvotes · 15 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

They understand, they just don't care, doesn't affect them. That's the dissociation of solipsism refusing to allow abstract logic to arbitrate more fairly, and thus, allocate the correct emotion. That is, sympathy for the wrongly accused man and disdain for the deceitful accuser.

I discuss "woman's psychopathy" in section 5 of this article. If you haven't read it already, you should enjoy that.

BBC reports David Cameron is ready to "tackle gender pay gap" by "pressuring firms into boosting women's wages". Public comment section absolutely rejects gender gap as myth.

6 upvotes · 14 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Definitely not beyond the realm of possibility that there's a conspiracy afoot, but I guess that's a truth we'll never really know for certain.

"You're all fuckin' pussy whipped" -My grandfather

6 upvotes · 14 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Grandaddy's tingles were so great, she gave up a car for 'em.

That is the power of DGAF alpha tingles.

The fact he got rich is just a juicy bonus on the top, definitely isn't the reason "she chose him." Tingles are the reason.

Women will move from a mansion to a room for tingles.

If Mr. Tingles ends up getting a mansion later, she'll take credit for picking him. HA. Typical woman shit.

She behaves as if she was beautiful. Most American women do.

6 upvotes · 14 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

A man desperate to have a deep relationship with a woman is like a woman desperate to have sex all the time. You get no respect from the opposite party because you make it too easy. Because the thing the other sex sees as being your primary bargaining chip, is something you squander. Men are the commitment gatekeepers, women, the sex gatekeepers. If either gatekeeper effectively has an open door policy, the other party sees them as lower value. It's just the way attraction works. Attraction isn't logical.

Fat woman posts selfie after feeling "fat-shamed" goes viral on the net and is described "an inspiration"

6 upvotes · 8 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Super processed refined carbs are the most insidious of all addictive substances, and not only that, they're completely legal.

Food addiction is real. If you're addicted to what you're eating, it's probably bad for you.

Spun Plates. Got Herpes.

6 upvotes · 8 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

So what's the solution to this problem, fuck hookers because they get STI checked?

The Nature of Women - Alternative Title: "Understanding Hamstering"

6 upvotes · 1 July 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Have you tried using lime

I have not, but I do keep limes (which I add with lemon to water)

do you use fresh peppermint?

Nah, they're in bags.

I ask, as I drink unsweetened Earl Grey with fresh mint (I grow mint plants) and lime. Was just wondering if you had tried it like that.

Sounds delicious. Especially the fresh mint. How do you add the mint? Cut the leaves and add it into the water, or do you crush it?

Anyone else see this happening??

6 upvotes · 30 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I agree with you that the plethora of "how do I pass this test" questions are indicative of a problem.

It means they haven't read the sidebar, particularly, this:

<http://illimitablemen.com/2014/12/14/the-shit-test-encyclopedia/>

It's a shame we can't force people to read the sidebar.

"Girls are gamers too!"

6 upvotes · 27 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

That guy is fucking badass, handling bullshit like a boss. How it should be done.

Machiavelli wasn't Machiavellian.

6 upvotes · 20 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

From what I know of Mein Kampf (have yet to read it in full) it says the jews have an innate unparallalled capacity for Machiavellianism, and refers to "the big lie." Ironically, some think the holocaust is simply a jewish big lie. Cultural marxism aka institutionalised radical feminism is a systemic big lie.

If you remember correctly, Hitler had a deep disdain and distrust of the Jews, blaming them for funding communist revolution within Nazi Germany. That can easily be shrugged off as the guy just being crazy and conspiratorial, but if you know about the Bolshevik revolution in Russia, it seems plausible. If it happened in Russia, why can't it happen in Germany?

As for the book being banned in Europe, it's probably only banned in countries which make holocaust denial illegal. I can't speak for the availability in other nations, but it's available on Amazon UK. Saying that, holocaust denial is illegal in many European countries and in the UK it isn't.

Machiavelli wasn't Machiavellian.

6 upvotes · 20 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I would go so far as to say most teachers are ignorant and incapable of actually turning kids on to real learning)

And it's female dominated. Other than human resource departments, where will we send all these ~~high-achieving degree-holding~~ women with their wonderful useless degrees to? Exactly. So they can eat, your kid suffers. That's life.

The MASTER KEY to Understanding Women

6 upvotes · 18 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Do monk mode for you, not because your girl is treating you like X.

Stoicism 101: A Primer on How to Be

6 upvotes · 17 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

- Meditations by Marcus Aurelius
- Letters From A Stoic by Seneca The Younger (often shortened to "Seneca")

Great books. Marcus Aurelius has one book. Seneca has some other stuff, mostly discourses and fragments.

Once you read those guys, there are only 2 other stoic philosophers with surviving texts from antiquity:

- Epictetus
- Musonius Rufus (Epictetus's teacher, but less of his work survived)

These were the main Roman stoics. There were lots of Greek stoics too, but none of their work has survived as far as I'm aware of - lost to history.

Verify your username on Puerarchy

6 upvotes · 11 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Verified my details. Good move RPS.

On having kids

6 upvotes · 6 June 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Came here to say this. You beat me to it. Good shit.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=-F4zRV3rMpo>

Successful Men Are Warriors.

6 upvotes · 30 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I think there is real value in redefining what we mean by "warrior".

No. The fundamentals of power/attraction are:

- Being able to swing a sword (physical power)
- Being competently Machiavellian (mental power)

That's it. Your disagreement is superficial (you haven't debunked these points.) Everything else, as I state in OP is superfluous, eg: intellect. Earning money doesn't make you sexy without any personal power, it makes you a target.

Also the STEM thing is just an example. Guys here who latch onto that specificity of OP only reveal their insecurities for the rest of us to see. Because it's just an example, and you're identifying with this specific aspect (telling of your own personal issues) and missing the general premise like a high-functioning high IQ socially incompetent autistic would. Can't see the forest for the trees. Get out of your ass and read the post for what it is. If you read "swinging sword is more important than STEM" you're quite frankly an idiot. This doesn't just go for the person I'm responding to, but anyone who's main conclusion is that.

If this sounds like you, you have a lot to work on with yourself. I for one will not bother with the intellectual narcissism of the autistic and their endless nitpickery. You're not welcome to talk with me.

Redpill IRC channel - any relationship with TRP here?

6 upvotes · 25 May 2015 · /r/askTRP

Different mods but the chat was set up by /u/redpillschool - it's official TRP, not a hoax or anything. It's different because it's in real-time and all the bullshit that the mods miss in the sub is easier spotted in a real time chat room. Higher signal on average, but people do get bored and hang out in there to kill time instead of working on their lives.

"It's not our site's goal to be a completely free-speech platform." -Ellen Pao

6 upvotes · 20 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

/u/Rollo-Tomassi told me about this on Twitter

Like I said there, make sure you're on the emergency mailer list:

<http://puerarchy.com/mailling/?p=subscribe&id=1>

We keep getting periodic scares about Ellen Pao shutting down TRP, and frankly, it's tiring. Sign up to the emergency mailer list on the sidebar and you'll have nothing to worry about.

On Anger

6 upvotes · 11 May 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

However, I will say that anger really is poison that hurts yourself more than anybody else.

I think of that as rage. I agree that rage, although immediately satisfying, fucks you up more in the long run. You lose control. You do things you don't approve of in retrospect, you do yourself no favours and fuck yourself up. Rage makes you tactically stupid, one could say anti-Machiavellian. It's the definition of "hot-headed."

Rage is "too much anger." And I say that lightly because we lack a tenable way to measure anger. So to use an analogy - I see anger like nuclear energy. When it is contained and within "safe operating parameters" it is an almost infinite source of power. But get too much of it, and you risk breaching containment. Then the thing that empowered you is the very thing that's subjugating you. To me, that's the difference between anger and rage. Anger is nuclear power. Rage is Chernobyl.

Anger, like nuclear energy, can be cultivated. It is powerful stuff so you don't need too much of it. But if you find that sweet spot, you can really see big improvements in all areas of your life. Your self-discipline, how you talk to people, how people react to you, your persuasive ability, how attractive you are to the opposite sex, your money/status - everything. Untapped anger is a waste of potential. Rage is too much of a good thing, making that good thing a bad thing.

Ask IllimitableMan

6 upvotes · 30 April 2015 · /r/askTRP

It shall be done.

Ask IllimitableMan

6 upvotes · 30 April 2015 · /r/askTRP

Depends on your friends. If they are slayers they will help, if not, they will drag you back, go alone. If your friends aren't slayers you will be tempted to hang around with them in the club rather than approach, groups of betas in clubs are obvious, they strike out over and over, get depressed/angry over their failures, get shit faced and go home with their dick in hand.

House party is better, you get a chance to talk to people, there's just higher risk whoever you hook up with knows someone you know and that this could cause social drama, good to be invited to a house party as a +1 by a friend who's been invited by people you don't know. That way, whoever you fuck or make out with's boyfriend or brothers or whatever can't find you unless you friend rats you (which means your friend is not a bro and you need to ditch them.) House parties are more social and your competition won't be so intense as the club as you won't be up against a bunch of guys who queued and paid to be there wearing their best clothes.

Solipsism: the feminine psyche is masturbatory.

6 upvotes · 21 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

"Satire" seems to be an appropriate word for what you're trying to encapsulate.

Found a website of women admitting that TRP is true, and it's in their nature and they can't help it.

6 upvotes · 20 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I agree. Good post, by the way.

From Middle Class to Concubine Class

6 upvotes · 19 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It also means he gets her prized virginity, and not you. If he bust inside, you're raising a lord's bastard. Fucked up, but that's humanity for you.

[FR] I (28/m) went on a second Tinder Date with a Blonde (22/f)

6 upvotes · 12 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

She physically called the Uber and could've easily set the frame that she was leaving and that was that.

Nuclear shit test - <http://illimitablemen.com/2014/12/14/the-shit-test-encyclopedia/> (scroll down to section 4c)

But he over took her frame based on how receptive she was to his escalation, which is something that needs to be acknowledged.

Basically, before, she didn't feel like fucking him as her anxiety was stronger than her desire to fuck, he aroused her enough to replace the anxiety with arousal, which caused how she felt to change and "want to fuck." I've had LMR before, even with girlfriends, the chick is saying it's not going to happen, you play with her nipples for a bit and boom she's begging for your dick. "What do you think you're doing?" "getting what I want from you." Blah blah blah. It's hot.

But the underlying tone is to watch what she does, not what she says, when it comes to shit tests.

Kind of. The underlying tone as you call it is to not let her words dictate the frame of the interaction you're sharing, let your words/behaviour dictate the frame, don't buy into her attempts to dictate the frame. If you make it sexual, it will become sexual, if she throws up barriers and you buy into it, then you're not going to get laid because you accept she's in control of the interaction. You lead the interaction, if you let her lead, she won't think you're worthy of fucking and she won't feel like fucking you which equals blue balls.

its a new concept and part of me feels uncomfortable with physical shit tests (such as grabbing a phone and canceling an uber)

If you're horny and/or lift regularly, bold moves like this will feel more natural.

I may have preconceived notions about set boundaries

Her boundaries change based on her desires, the more you make her want her, the more those boundaries crumble. If you are bold, highly sexual and show her you desire her, she will want you. Men who are too afraid to be bold sub-communicate they aren't worthy, their inaction stemming from fear leaves them empty-handed. You push her boundaries until you get a "hard-no" at which point, you calmly exit. Where do you go from there? You're probably going to hard-next but if she's begging for a second chance, you can set up a meet on the condition she is DTF. If you can't close again or if she flakes there's no third chance. Hard-next the bitch. Usually you'll hard next after the first fail, although recoveries can happen.

Why most of today's women aren't worthy of your commitment.

6 upvotes · 10 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Enough. There are very few women in the world who could get me to commit on a serious level, although I know they're out there, I'm not exactly dedicating my life to find them. If it happens it happens, if not, I don't care.

"The hypothetical woman with an IQ as high as mine is out of luck. She can either marry down, which women hate to do, or compete for a small pool of men that has been reduced by one."

6 upvotes · 7 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Five exceptional female scientists

- Margaret Thatcher, (chemist - 2:1 in Chemistry from Oxford specialising in X-ray crystallography)
- Angela Merkel, (chemist - doctorate thesis on quantum chemistry)
- Marie Curie. (chemist and physicist - discovered the elements radium and polonium)

1 Of them is alive.

Five exceptional female composers

Ah, can't think of one.

Five exceptional female leaders

- Margaret Thatcher. (Debatable, but she was popular enough to hold power for a long time.)
- Joan of Arc
- ~~Hillary Clinton~~ (Ok, I'll stop trolling)

Five exceptional female economists

Ah.

Find it and become a master.

Definitely sped up by a mentor, although not necessary. Robert Greene's Mastery is a good book on this topic.

Starting Off Your Woman Right!

6 upvotes · 1 April 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Keeping 2 at a time is trouble and leads to fighting.

Indeed. They both decide you're the enemy and turn against you. 1's company, 2's a coup d'etat, 3's competition.

Instant grat and Delayed grat activities, how they can change your life.

6 upvotes · 18 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It's pretty close, I stopped progress on it to work on something else though.

My big brother got sued for consensual sex.

6 upvotes · 17 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

You cannot convict people based on feels, society would devolve into chaos due to revenge instincts. Luckily (feels before reals) didn't win in this instance. Bet her parents were pissed she was costing them so much.

You have What Women Don't

6 upvotes · 9 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Women won't expose their strategy no matter how much they respect you. True machs to the end.

The growth of /r/TheRedPill from 0 to 100,000 subscribers

6 upvotes · 4 March 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I would like to believe that being a good person and loving my partner is all that is necessary for a happy and fulfilling relationship, but experience had taught me that's not the case.

Exactly. And instead of denying reality, you have chose to adapt to enhance your chances of success. Ideals are useful as something to strive for from a social-evolutionary perspective, but when they inhibit our immediate needs, thus stifling our efficiency, those same ideals are dysfunctional and not in our best interest. The idea may sound great on paper (everyone being trusting and honest) but it is simply fantastical and unworkable in reality. By reaching too far, we effectively miss the vine and hit the forest floor, instead of making it to the next stage. Unfortunately many altruists are naive and see things as very binary (black and white.) We live in a world where to get power, you must do immoral things. Only with power do you have the freedom to do any meaningful good. Likewise power corrupts, and to maintain power, you must do further immorality/evil to sustain it, lest someone else depose you. Bringing it back to relationships, man must maintain power in the relationship at all costs. If a man gives himself over to senseless altruism, his relationship will not flourish. As soon as he loses power, the relationship is doomed.

The next one of you assholes to post some shit about this or that movie was redpill, bluepill, whatever... gets permabanned.

6 upvotes · 27 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

In real life you would hate a dark triad character.

Depends. You either hate them or love them, there's never indifference. In House of Cards for instance Zoe fucking adored Underwood. She was a Mach trying to control him, but he was out-manoeuvring her and controlling her. He propelled her career ahead whilst using her to influence the media. She did what he wanted because she had every incentive to do so. The key point is she was replaceable, he could have picked any journalist to leak stories, she wasn't special. Inversely, he wasn't replaceable, she was as she'd be hard-pressed to find a better source. So when she started overreaching and giving him shit, BOOM. She was gone.

Underwood can get the job done, but he lacks charm. He's very matter-of-fact, quite dull, in a way, although he always has some crazy shit going on. I really liked the spin job they did with the peachoid and the whole pretending he missed his daddy thing. Pretty expert. Funny how he has a personal attachment to Claire but treats it like a business contract on the surface.

Underwood is just one type of DT. The charming ones.. you'd love 'em. Most tend not to be charming though. Most DTs suck at emulating charm/being charming, that's what my experience tells me. I'd say 50 Cent is pretty charming for a DT, most of them are just cold. He has some cheekiness that makes him "seem like you." The women tend to be better at charm, although going back to House of Cards both Claire and Zoe were pretty charmless. Saying that, they were both Machs, not DTs. Both were lacking grandiose narcissism. Zoe's a mach with daddy issues, possibly vulnerable narcissism. Claire is a high IQ mach, low N, low P, but has a hamster to accommodate for her lack of psychopathy. Frank, he's a psychopath, but then that isn't too hard to gauge. Gauging whether he's a narc or not is the most difficult to discern. I'm still on the fence about that.

Man paying 30k for someone else's child

6 upvotes · 20 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

This is some superb hamsterisation translation. Bravo.

Women will shame high SMV men who refuse to commit. Women believe they deserve those resources.

6 upvotes · 17 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I'll fuck the hell out of them until they explode several times over, but never usually do myself. Unless it's a major exception, I stick to covering my ass.

Yeah doesn't sit well with me that I may have a few kids out there I don't know about... on the bright side: better than paying child support. Motherfuckers stuck paying child support in the absence of great wealth absolutely hate life.

Machiavellian Thinking vs. Conventional Logic.

6 upvotes · 9 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Very hard to read for someone whose first language is not english.

Hard for most English native speakers too, don't worry ;)

In a rare moment of drunken honesty, a poster in r/TwoXChromosomes admits she prefers assholes to nice guys

6 upvotes · 8 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Epic comment man. Tweeted this shit. Very true. I would give you a TRP point but the bot doesn't work with my username. If someone else could give this guy a delta point on my behalf, I'd appreciate that. Thanks.

Red Pill Example Never let people walk over you

6 upvotes · 7 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

You gotta come to Florida to get a proper one.

Time to lube my ass up for a TSA anal probing, you know, being from the UK and all that. I may have terrorist teabags up my butt or something.

"Sir, what business do you have in the United States of America?"

"I've come merely to sample a sandwich with Mojo marinated thin-sliced pork, glazed ham, swiss cheese, mustard, and deli pickles homemade from the hands of a Cuban immigrant."

Red Pill Example Never let people walk over you

6 upvotes · 7 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Here's a really good manospherian piece on the concept by our very own /u/IanIronwood mate:

<http://theredpillroom.blogspot.co.uk/2013/04/the-crab-basket-effect.html>

Found this RP Gem on answers.yahoo.com

6 upvotes · 4 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

I agree with everything except the final sentence. Women need family and strong male influences to be most functional and happy, I agree, but it's not man's fault women are inherently flawed to the degree that they are. Simply put: man can mitigate women's flaws, but women are emphatically fallacious with or without our input. Holding women to a high standard is not inherently a bad thing, it's understandable if you want to have children and a good family. Mediocre women just won't do, but if other men have messed her up or mummy messed her up because she was a single mother that didn't give her daughter a father growing up, there's little we can do to UNDO that damage. The damage is done and thus, she cannot be her "optimal self."

Hate is the new love

6 upvotes · 3 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Good comment, makes sense. I'm inclined to agree.

"Men's Rights Activists have missed the point of feminism " - Intellectually disingenuous article from The Telegraph writes a smear piece aimed at discrediting TRP and AVFM.

6 upvotes · 3 February 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Oh yeah, I saw an article on that, also in the telegraph. This "man-spreading" idiocy. What a ridiculous name. This was my response:

Your testicles are outside your body because they need to be cooler than body temperature for optimum sperm storage. When your thighs are pressed up against your testicles the body heat warms the testicles and damages sperm quality by heating up your nut sack. Men spreading their legs apart is good for their fertility, forcing them to close their legs negatively affects their fertility. In my opinion, this whole social phenomenon is absurd and ridiculously discriminative. Not to mention damaging to male fertility.

Sports team captain, ripped, good looking, glittering military career, new job as a stockbroker - STILL BLUE PILL ... dumped

6 upvotes · 26 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

"okay!!! then if he can fuck other girls, I can fuck other guys!!! it's only fair!!!"

This is common. It's what women obsessed with equality but who do not understand the fundamental differences between men and women don't understand. They'd read this discussion we're having now and rationalise it as "these men just want to be able to fuck who they want whilst making sure their women are exclusive, this is all bullshit." They wouldn't understand the nuanced differences between how sex affects men and women. When a man cheats he's merely filling his sexual appetite. When a woman cheats she's betraying her man psychologically. Women can't cheat without betraying, men can.

That's the difference, but the average idiotic woman of today doesn't give a damn about that. She's more obsessed with "fairness." Well you know I don't think it's very fair a woman falls out of love with you when she starts fucking Chad McThunderCock and a guy will still love his wife even if he has to fuck hookers behind her back, but that's just the nature of the game. I don't make the rules. Men and women are intrinsically different, women would be wise to realise that sooner rather than later. Double standards exist in order to account for gender differences. If women could still love you whilst fucking the guy down the road and cuckoldry/paternity wasn't an issue, I doubt men would give as many as shits. But that's not the real world, that's the idealised world of social engineers.

"The Rise And Rise of the Spornosexual"

6 upvotes · 21 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Sure, you can definitely improve yourself physically to stay healthy - I can get behind that. But getting absolutely ripped? You're not just doing that for the health benefits.

Some guys do it for self-respect. I'd say the majority of men are doing that shit to get laid/build a huge ego. They get high off their own aesthetics (like Zyzz) get cocky and then silence a bitch by pulling up the shirt and revealing a six-pack. I saw Joe Rogan pull that gambit on some feminist on youtube. Many, many men work out for pussy. But that's because they think they have to "prove themselves to women" they're in that PUA fem-centric kinda worldview. They don't think they're more important than women because they don't have a "women need to impress me" mindset, their mindset is "I need to do X so women will think Y about me." If you're into body building as a sport, or you lack self-respect and you're trying to build that up.. or shit you're even addicted to the post-workout high/increased energy levels.. those are all valid reasons for working out.

So no, I don't think it's hamstering. IT CAN BE HAMSTERING if you're not being honest with yourself about your reasons and priorities for what you're doing. I mean shit under this logic we could say the only reason you have a good job is to get laid. You want money to get laid, not to have nice things. Or you only want nice things to get laid. Fuck if we go Freudian enough we can say anything related to self-improvement is just an extension of wanting to get laid.

I'm of the opinion that if your #1 priority is impressing chicks then you're still in the BP mindset. I want to fuck chicks. Yes I know I can't be butt ugly if I want to fuck chicks without status/money, but you know what? I care less about chicks than me. I'm more scared of being a fucking loser than I am afraid of the prospect of not getting laid. And you can never get comfy. Get too comfy AND NO MATTER WHERE YOU'RE AT - YOU WILL BECOME A LOSER. YOU ALWAYS HAVE TO BE ON YOUR A GAME - AND THAT INCLUDES STAYING FIT. To me, being a loser is not being a man. It's not being successful. It's not getting shit done. Not getting laid at all, or as much as I'd like isn't what I fear. It isn't for me personally, what would "make me a loser." I like fuckin' bitches but not enough to make it a fucking fixture. More important shit to be done. I guess it depends where you're at in your life, what your priorities are and what you need to do to get where you're going. If you've already made it then you have nowhere to "excel" except social game and slaying pussy. Still, even if/when you've made it, you need to spend time maintaining your investments, your fitness etc.

Guys on the grind don't really don't have the time for pussy unless it's fucking delivered to the door via tinder. Do you think those chinese motherfuckers built the great wall stopping every 6 hours to bang? I doubt it. Them motherfuckers went MGTOW to build that wall. Then when that shit was built, if they didn't die trying to achieve their goals, they banged some bitches.

Let's say you're a MGTOW that fucks hookers but works out religiously, is he doing it for chicks or himself? Probably himself. When you take a solipsistic approach to other people's opinions it can be hard to get out of your head and even possibly fathom/conceptualise why or how someone would do something for a reason you would never possibly dream of, especially if it is polarised to your own needs/reasons. But it's definitely possible. In fact, just a few months back we had a lot of "don't lift for women, lift for yourself, if you lift for women you'll lose motivation once you get comfy and won't keep it up" blah blah blah.

Personally I lift because I'm a lazy sack of shit without lifting. I have lower energy levels, less motivation, less concentration, less confidence, I don't feel like "my full self" without lifting. Lifting fucking helps me be the man I know I should be. I suspect without lifting my T levels just aren't high enough, that's why I lift. I'll lift until the day I die, as long as I'm capable of doing the lift (haven't fucked up a limb or some shit.) I'm 100% fucking solid sure I'm not lifting to get bitches (and to suggest I am would be a projection as I know my own head better than you.) Anybody, as long as they aren't fat or hideous can get bitches relatively easy with solid confidence/game/audacity. Obviously lifting helps with T which helps with confidence and the more you lift the hornier you're going to get so you're going to end up banging bitches. But effects/symptoms of lifting aren't the same as your REASON for it.

You don't need to be RIPPED to get bitches unless your only method of bitch retrieval is via tinder. Fuck even with tinder you can probably get laid by just having a low body fat symmetrical face. If you have defined jaw and decent skin with a low BF face you can basically fuck any woman if you behave like A MAN. YOU DO NOT NEED to become a fucking ripped body builder. It's hilarious some guys go to that extent, when I see guys who got into lifting for pussy I know it's because they lack game/rp knowledge. They just lift, get high on the workout buzz, go out and act on post-workout feels to get pussy. That can work and does work, but it's not efficient. Those guys "get laid" but they don't know how. I equate gaming chicks when you're high on a post workout buzz with gaming chicks when drunk, you're "in the zone" because of your chemical state, and you're using that to do things you can't normally do. They don't have the knowledge behind what they're doing which is what is great about TRP, if shit works for you, you understand logically in your head why so you can go replicate that shit again.

I don't doubt plenty of guys get ripped to get bitches because that's their priority in life. If that's your priority in your life you're quite privileged because you don't have bigger concerns, you either already made it in life or you're a kid and someone is paying your bills. Some of us actually have to lift just to feel normal/keep productive energy levels though. Remember everyone's different. I know a guy who eats 6k calories a day, can never get BIG (he makes gains but he just doesn't get to my kinda heavyweight frame) and HE IS ALWAYS hyperactive as fuck. To be my size he'd probably have to become obsessed with lifting, eat 10k calories a day, go full supplement mode and bla bla bla. Whereas I can eat 1.5-2k calories a day to be the size he wants to be, I'm way more muscular but I get tired and have nowhere near the energy levels this guys does. I have to sleep for at least 7.5 hours a day, he can do well on 5-6. I have size but he can get more shit done. He doesn't need to lift to be energetic, whereas I do. Genetics are a bitch.

Edit: typos.

Plate, meet my other plate.

6 upvotes · 15 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

maybe the machiavellian heavy dark triad shows ethics to hide the manipulation.

Sometimes, yeah. When I need to save my ass it is useful to point to noble things I did. I'm not getting roasted on the fire of anybody's witch hunt if I can help it. It is not the sole reason for me personally though. I show ethics because I can. Because often I have the power to influence something positively that nobody else does - so if that doesn't cost me too much, I will do good. If it costs me a lot? If I have to fuck myself over to do it? Then I won't. I'm altruistic, not a fool.

What I Do to Practice Voice Speed, Accuracy, and Tonality

6 upvotes · 14 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

No worries man. I like buying my books so I'll add it to my wishlist (ridiculously long as it is.) Thanks!

Book sounds right up my street so thanks for the recommendation.

Whores & Daughters

6 upvotes · 12 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Excellent post. Gave me something I hadn't previously considered to think about. Thank you for sharing!

Whores & Daughters

6 upvotes · 12 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

It's time for amorality battle round 2: corporate amorality.

Had a draft on the psychopathy of corporatism/capitalism laying around for a long time (long before the recent feud.) My unpublished content count is quite high, some are rough articles not good enough to go out, others are just a ton of notes. This article in particular is far too rough/undeveloped to publish. It needs a lot more fleshing out. Time and perfectionism is a bitch. When you aim for quality like I do, publishing new content is slow. Anyone can write 400 word posts comprised of feel good shit, basic dieting advice or a rant everyday. It takes little creative skill and general abstraction. I set the bar higher than that for myself. Sometimes I go back to pieces I previously published because I know they can be and should be better. Not just grammatically, but in terms of content. I plague my art with critical perfectionism. It's a bitch for the work rate.

The Hierarchy of Women

6 upvotes · 8 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Quite right. Woman's words are worth absolutely fuck all WHEN their actions consistently demonstrate the contrary. Marriage = less sexual satisfaction, she gets fatter bla bla bla. The safety of marriage (and power of the state corrupting the marriage by holding it at constant gunpoint) causes her to stop working on her game. When you get married you're in a PUT UP & SHUT UP situation with a woman. Married men already here are in damage control mode; they are playing on the hardest difficulty and if they had found TRP say 10 or 20 years ago (Assuming it existed) they may not even be married right now. They were fools and they're trying to make the best of a bad situation, but we don't need to follow in their footsteps to validate the "RP marriages" they have now. I do believe in LTRs. I do believe in having a family. I don't believe contemporary marriage is necessary or conducive in making that happen. That's probably where I differ from the traditionalists, whereas on most issues - I am in agreement with them.

The UK is seeming to value men in society more

6 upvotes · 5 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

There's a reason the black dude was special advisor to David Cameron and that bitch is a nobody. She couldn't make a penny out of copper with a PHD in blacksmithing. She took shit too personal, clearly was coming from a solipsistic "as a single mum myself" origin point and was all too quick to jump on the idea of "deadbeat dads" whilst giving no real thought to the majority of dads who aren't deadbeat at all. Mostly likely the father of her kids left her because she's an obnoxious cunt. Now she thinks all men are shit and isn't capable of giving a fair or balanced view on the issue. She can't look at it from outside her own experiences, that's why her opinion is worth jack shit.

She's so retarded you can't even treat her seriously. It's quite amusing they allow a dumbass like that on television. If I was there in that "discussion" I'd just A+A all her points "most dads are deadbeats, you're totally right, why don't we just start locking up all these alcoholic women beaters? I'm so glad you're bringing the REAL ISSUES to our attention." Amused mastery all the way.

Women like her are completely unattractive and will never be marriage/relationship material to anyone. She could be a 10 but her personality would still be horse shit. Most men would rather hop in the tardis and die in the twin towers than live out the rest of their lives stuck with a cunt like that. Obviously I'm speculating a lot in this post but I really doubt I'm wrong. It's what I'm picking up from her behaviour. It's the most rational explanation for her irrationality/glibness towards what is fundamentally a very important issue in society.

The UK is seeming to value men in society more

6 upvotes · 4 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Some of them are real insensitive bitches actually, but it's still true that most people here would get on famously with them.

Every time I hear some shit about Theresa May or Dianne Abbott I want to smack my head on a table. Both are sensationalist idiots. Yes they say the occasional thing that makes sense, but for the most part neither are anywhere close to Thatcher level.

LTR "dumped" me. just texted me....

6 upvotes · 4 January 2015 · /r/askTRP

So I just read your other thread. This chick never really liked you dude she is just a control freak and saw you as a nice little project to fuck around with. She was with you because it fed into her ego. She is a cunt, a 100% cunt. And what you will learn from this is that the next time you meet a cunt, if you're not banging that cunt's cunt, you next the cunt.

Also, next time some bitch starts giving you bullshit shit tests like "I've never sucked dick before" you reply with confidence "well you're about to because this thing ain't gonna suck itself" and if she refuses you go cold on the bitch. You don't ultimatum her ass because it come across butthurt. You say "OK." You get your pants on and you walk the fuck out. If she's at yours, tell her to get the fuck out of your house and not come back. Be a real jerk. Whatever happens, stand up for yourself. I'm not surprised she's dumped you because in that other thread it sounds like she was calling all the shots and you put up with it because she was hot. You have a long way to go, but that's fine. We were all there at one point. I really advice you listen to the black phillip show on Youtube:

https://www.youtube.com/playlist?list=PLh8oUx_ONafXHhcA45m43A7eNGf9vIrpX

I'm not trying to be mean to you dude - just being brutally honest. I hope this bitch was a valuable learning experience for you. Oh and another thing before I'm out, do not be so eager to go down on a bitch. Do you want to eat out a whore's pussy? Do you know how many dicks have been where you wanna put your tongue? That bitch bleeds from that thing once a month. Eating out isn't equal to a BJ anyway, she could make you cum in 5-10 mins off a BJ, fucking eating out can take forever. Finger bang her, eating a girl out is something you do for a girl you actually love.

Don't be so eager to please a bitch in a relationship. You make sure you get yours first, lead in the bedroom, tell a woman what to do. They don't wanna lead in the bedroom it doesn't turn them on. If she won't follow your lead she's not that attracted to you/doesn't respect you, show outcome independence/IDGAF by telling her to leave. Half the time you do that they all of a sudden have a change of heart, want to stay and do exactly what you want. If they call your bluff and leave, good, it wasn't a bluff. Now you can fap to some quality porn and get off without her bullshit. You know I've said that to girls before "I've got a bitch hotter than you on my laptop who's not gonna give me shit, it's you or her so take your pick because I don't give a fuck" - they usually always stay. Bitches are egotistical "what he rather use his hand than have me? OMG AM I THAT BAD?" Seriously dude. Don't put up with their shit, if you do, they will run rings around you and make you feel like crap. You're a man, you have to lead and set the tone.

The Cult of Feminism & It's Fabrication of History

6 upvotes · 3 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

...the moment you attempt to see the "big picture" and make a broad analysis of trends you cross out of Red Pill and into Neoreaction.

Definitely, specifically "the masculine reaction" to neoreaction - hence relevant to the sub. I understand these subject matters will not be popular with the younger demographic but I don't really cater to horny youngsters. This one is for the subset of men who do care about the bigger picture and can see beyond their next lay. I write plenty of shit youngsters can use regardless, so said people can read this and give it a try or suck it up and wait for the next article. I write about a variety of topics relevant to men, not all will interest everybody.

"Game/social dynamics" is probably the only topic people don't somehow find a way to whine about in this sub. 48 laws? Immoral! Dark triad? Dark tryhard psychopath wannabe! Men's Rights? Whiner! Neoreaction? Tindderrrr brahhh!!! Unfortunately as the community has got larger, close-mindedness has reared it's ugly head and a subset of members have taken on an autistic narrow-minded PUA approach to the sidebar adage: "The Red Pill: Discussion of sexual strategy in a culture increasingly lacking a positive identity for men." Some truly believe TRP is seddit 2.0. The reason TRP was made was to offer an alternative to seddit and discuss the wider framework in play relevant to men.

I might have to see what /u/redpillschool thinks about widening that sidebar definition to include "& society" after "sexual strategy" to stop the PUA police mandating what is and isn't post-worthy "in their view." As far as I'm concerned if it's of interest to men and has a focus on women/family, helps men understand women, or it helps men to be stronger/smarter, then it's good. It'd be good if RPS cleared this up once and for all. I mean ffs, even Heartiste posts a lot of neoreaction now, it's a progression within the manosphere itself.

TIL that Barack Obama's wife once threatened to divorce him after he lost an election

6 upvotes · 2 January 2015 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah sure thing sounds good. I look forward to it.

Plugged Back In: A dangerous psychological trap known as monk mode

6 upvotes · 31 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'm exemplifying. Everything is on a spectrum blah blah blah. Your absolutist interpretation is the problem, not my explanation. Do you really need caveats thrown in not to activate the autism "nitpicky" reflex? I have no time to argue nuance with people who can't see the forest for the trees.

Hot actress says she's not a feminist and it shows.

6 upvotes · 31 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I don't argue with women. Your comment/tone/position is already emotionally charged/provocative. I don't need your psychological payload girl, take a hike.

Not just sexual strategy is amoral, everything is. Why? Because life has no feelings, no conscience or consciousness and gives no fucks about shit. That doesn't mean disregarding morality as a whole is a wise or even balanced thing to do.

6 upvotes · 29 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The ONLY thing that should determine who a woman has sex with is the woman herself.

Completely disagree. Women are too easily influenced. I'll tell you something mate: you could have high smv/looks/wealth and get into an LTR. Then leave your girl alone with me, maybe you have to go to work. I can get her to cheat on you, EASILY. SHE STILL WOULDN'T BE LOYAL. That's not even your fault, that's the flaw in her nature, and that's ultimately why your "let's place no restrictions on female sexuality" attitude is naive, and to me, detestable hippie shit used to justify your own reluctance to take responsibility for who and what you put your cock in. Morality has it's place, and it's because women cannot be trusted to behave and do what is best for both them and their family that many of society's moral codes exist to begin with.

Your "free sex" or free love attitude (or whatever you want to call it) if adopted en mass would set us back to the stone age. You have not fully understood OP, you have picked at specific elements you find disagreeable and are polarising. As for women, they get caught in the moment, addicted to the tingles, and follow it through all the way to the end regardless of who their man is. It is just convenient for you to place no blame to yourself, attribute minimal blame to the woman and maximum blame to the other man. This is why your "it's always her man's fault" ethos is completely flawed, and is just a convenient way for you to rationalise doing whatever you want. The main post wasn't aimed at you, this comment certainly is though. You want my attention? You've got it.

Not just sexual strategy is amoral, everything is. Why? Because life has no feelings, no conscience or consciousness and gives no fucks about shit. That doesn't mean disregarding morality as a whole is a wise or even balanced thing to do.

6 upvotes · 29 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The reality is fucking another mans girl is an ego trip. It can make a man feel like a god and it's addicting. I get why people do it. But spare me the pseudo-philosophical justifications.

Got it in one. As for the part in bold: Hence my reference to sado-narcissism.

[48 Days of Power] Day 44 - "Disarm and infuriate with the mirror effect."

6 upvotes · 28 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I see where you are coming from, but I disagree.

When you live in a blue pill society and you hold traditional ideals, you cannot allow the "cultural revolution liberal hippie majority" to come in and trample all over your ideals with their university taught culturally marxist egalitarian fluff. If you do, your ideals will not survive. Not because they are not correct or even inferior, but purely because you are outnumbered by the status quo. Compare it to how the church was intolerant of science. Science was not inferior to the church, but individual scientists were lesser in number than priests with their huge congregations. This is the same kind of comparison that can be drawn between TRP and today's dominant cultural norms. In matters of belief, we are the underdogs.

As for feminists, they are a major culturally institutionalised ideology. They are more than strong enough to take a little criticism and show some transparency. Instead they have a policy similar to ours. Why? Because transparency would expose them to crippling hypocrisy and they would lose much credibility. TRP can stand up to scrutiny, but if you cripple a relatively new and small philosophy with constant haranguing, you damage it and cripple it - you do not allow it to blossom organically. Naturally haranguers who are silenced will pose their questions as legitimate and cry censorship, but those arguments do not wash when you consider they are here to destroy a philosophy they disdain under the guise of rationally questioning it.

Modern day feminism has a lot of different interests helping to continue perpetuate it, which is why in spite of it's dysfunctionality it is still going on strong. The government needs it for female vote herding and justifying the enlargement of government as an institution. Big business needs it to support profit margins through copious consumerism (women control 80% of consumer spending despite earning less!!) The family courts need it to justify their robbery of male assets via divorce and child support. Lawyers need it to prop up one of their most profitable sectors, the divorce industry. What vested interest does TRP have from any big cultural institution? Absolutely nothing. We are a threat because by empowering individual men to take control of their lives, these men can no longer feed into a corrupt system of economic parasites who do not care about them. If you ever wanted to call TRP an ideology or movement, it would be classed as a minor grass roots movement. Personally I see it as a personal philosophy due to a lack of political action or protest, but your take may differ.

I find machiavellianism beta trait

6 upvotes · 27 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Sons and daughters of important people, businessmen, politicians, doctors and so on.

Then you need this even more than average people because you already have power through your family. This makes you a target, your goal is to preserve power as well as acquire it, rather than merely acquire it. The strength of the underdog is they have nothing to lose, so there is nothing you can take from them. If your family is in power people will prey upon you and use your naivety to steal from you. You won't suspect it because you have always been in a sanitised and safe environment. Be careful who you trust, try to sum up the agenda of everybody you know and talk to, as well as deduce their incentives for continued association. Maybe they want your families to work close together, get a contract etc.

What do you suggest for me, personally? Thanks for your response.

Read The 48 Laws of Power and what is written at <http://illimitablemen.com/power/> with a more open mind. Read it as if you are an important person looking to hold onto the power they have found themselves born into which others would literally kill to have for themselves. Specifically, I think you may find this article useful: <http://illimitablemen.com/2014/04/25/how-to-apply-the-48-laws-of-power/>

If you are the son of powerful people, and they have not schooled you in leadership and the arts of social manipulation, then you will have to take it upon yourself to educate yourself on the nature of such things. Then when it is left to you to take up the mantle of preserving the family name, you will be strong enough both of mind and of heart to continue the family legacy. If you are the sole or eldest son, your family will eventually rely on you to be a leader.

Also, it may scare you, but take a walk through the poor neighbourhoods/slums. Observe how those people live. Try to blend in (I don't know if you are capable of that - I don't know what your social talents are like or how adaptive you are to interacting with lower social classes.) Such an exercise will open your eyes to much of the world's horrors that your parents tried naively but with good intention to hide from you.

You can PM me if you have specific or personal questions. Although if you ask something incredibly complex or situationally specific and rich in detail, I may not have the time to reply. In light of that, brevity is best.

Guide to Monk Mode

6 upvotes · 26 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

It seems like you have taken the introspection part of monk mode to heart, but realise monk mode is both physical and mental in nature. You should not retreat into your mind at the expense of making any developments physically.

I actually have another monk mode post in the works because I can see as much as the idea has caught on, there is confusion and men don't seem to know how to "get the most out of monk mode."

I believe the reason the other responses here are negative is because you are not showing you are willing to do anything physically, only mentally. TRP men are men of action. It's all about the gains here. I have to be able to see you in 3 months and notice a beneficial difference in you. Your SMV should have gone up a little bit. Both are necessary to self-improvement, mental masturbation is not what monk mode is about. Monk mode is about actualisation. Do not get caught in that trap of thinking because your mind is slightly healthier that you are making progress. If you do this at the expense of real world progress, working out, refining your wit/social skills etc, then really you are shifting priorities in a way which weakens one skillset in order to strengthen another. I can understand you retreating mentally RIGHT AT THE BEGINNING of monk mode, especially if you are all fucked up, have shit SMV and had a crappy life - but you cannot stay there indefinitely - you have to treat every day like it might be your last and get the most out of your day. You will not achieve that by procrastinating and calling it monk mode.

One of the best lessons monk mode can teach is you must hold yourself accountable (to yourself.) This means realising when you are bullshitting yourself, seeing through your own bullshit and doing what is necessary in order to help yourself. Apply for those jobs. Lose that weight. Make the effort more socially. Take up that class you've been putting off etc.

The Bottom Line: Women Are Weak

6 upvotes · 24 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I need to watch that show, people keep mentioning Frank Underwood to me.

Dance, Monkey, Dance: The Time Has Come For A Shift In The Mediums Of Seduction

6 upvotes · 19 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The brighter they burn, the harder they crumble.

Everything you need to know about shit tests

6 upvotes · 15 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yep, both true and relevant. Borderline women are too annoying for my tastes.

1 year plate not coming over to fuck anymore, still txts me everyday, how can I tell her to fuck off without coming off as emotional?

6 upvotes · 14 December 2014 · /r/askTRP

Plates don't normally last as long as a year. Usually you're lucky to get 6 months. She wants you to GF her up or she's going to branch swing/try and friend zone you.

Start ignoring a lot of her texts. Get a 10-to-1 ratio on the go and then reply "I've been busy lately, meet up soon."

To be honest it's about time this plate crashed, you've had it spinning a long time. You didn't think the cheap and easy pussy buffet was going to last forever did you? You have to introspect and make a choice, do you like this girl so much you'll GF her up? Or is it time to let this plate crash and get a new one? Decisions, decisions.

Chinese man moves to Ukraine and lands a 17 year beauty.

6 upvotes · 12 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Asian men pedestalise white women so much that this shit is newsworthy? Fucking hell...

[48 Days of Power] Law 27 - "Play on people's need to believe to create a cultlike following."

6 upvotes · 12 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Get really good at something and put yourself out there, you will get a following. Now you have a "cult-like following" success."

TLDR: Be a 1%er in something and grind your ass off.

Whenever I (30m) make decisions for us, ie, where to go eat, my gf (29 f) gets frustrated.

6 upvotes · 9 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

So drop subtle hints, imply things very very very indirectly via words, don't say what you really mean and always act butthurt when things don't go in a dream like way that your internal narrative demands? Gotcha

Anita Sarkeesian and Feminist Frequency produces video: 25 Invisible Benefits of Gaming While Male

6 upvotes · 3 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Gotta get stung to build up tolerance.

FR: Walking Away From An HB9 Can Be Hard. Do It Anyway (if the alternative is oneitis and/or emotional harm).

6 upvotes · 2 December 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Truer words never said. I wish I had more than one upvote to give you dude. I would give you a delta point thing but it never works for my name. Probably due to my custom flair text.

Polygyny better for women worse for men and society as a whole.

6 upvotes · 21 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Rant@BluePill- I was looking at TBP and exTRP they talk a lot of shit about this sub. I thought this might show not every bit of evolutionary psychology and TRP logics support our so called misogyny. Because look he we are supporting a monogamous society. We do that all the time in threads about marriage and why we don't pursue it unfair/alimony/psychology of marriage. They just see it as, privileged selfish man trying to keep more from the victimized woman. Also how to game your wife. Really we are just pick up artists? Pick up artists usually go for women that aren't their wife

Look, stop validating these fucks, their opinion is worthless. Irrelevant people say irrelevant things all the time. If you feed it, you get more irrelevance, therefore, you ignore it.

The rest of the post was good.

[48 Days of Power] Day 3 - "Conceal your intentions"

6 upvotes · 17 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The Art of War? Which one? I'll raise your Machiavelli a Sun Tzu.

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Art_of_War

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The_Art_of_War_\(Machiavelli\))

[48 Days of Power] Day 1 - "Never Outshine The Master"

6 upvotes · 15 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Very interesting story. From reading your post it actually sounds like it was Fouquet who outshined the master rather than Louis. He misapplied the notion of "create compelling spectacles" to a factor of 10 and pissed off Louis in the process. Of course, my post is based on what is written in the book, if the book is wrong about a historical fact, then my interpretation of that fact will likewise be wrong. If we hold what Greene wrote as a hypothetical reality, then the logic holds within that reality and a lesson can still be learned regardless of the anecdotally flawed history.

[48 Days of Power] Day 1 - "Never Outshine The Master"

6 upvotes · 15 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You need to stop posting here and start reading the thread/book. Without trying to disrespect you/hurt your ego too much, it is obvious you haven't got a clue.

<http://48laws-of-power.blogspot.co.uk/> is a good start.

The logic of bans

6 upvotes · 13 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

All those responses should be deleted they're dumb as fuck.

Fuck Marriage

6 upvotes · 12 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Most men will never be "marrying a pedigree woman to enter specific upper class social circles" that's marrying for political reasons, not love and not family. That's probably about the only reason to get married. It also doesn't apply to most men on this board, and neither will it ever. If you're identifying with clooney "I will marry a specific type of woman to get into the upper classes" then you are not the typical man and this post is not aimed at you. This is not a political/machiavellian post.

The double standard, females on Twitter calling 12 year old Romeo Beckham hot

6 upvotes · 6 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Oh yeah, definitely a ripe opportunity for some of the finest black knighting the world has ever seen.

The Path Natural Alpha's Took: Monk Mode and Approach Everyone

6 upvotes · 5 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

True say man. But if you don't give a fuck about any particular chick and want to have fun being antagonistic, patrice game is great for shits and giggles. If there's a particular girl you're fiending, then sure, gotta calibrate. Bunnies are annoying.

Edit: this is called black knighting, the antithesis to white knighting. If you dig through TRP there's a really old topic by /u/GayLubeOil on it.

Red Pill logic hits the front page, gets tons of upvotes.

6 upvotes · 5 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

That and the failure to understand that those more on the side of emotional thinking tend to respond much more to the form of communication than the content.

Don't I know it, those who took issue with my newest piece had nothing to say other than "I don't like how it was written" no actual flaws, helpful suggestions or meaningful critique, just "It's too wordy." Empty criticism like that which attacks style over substance is akin to the feminine/emotional side of the spectrum. Caring more about how it's said rather than what is said. Then there's the ego behind thinking someone should change themselves for you. LOL, seriously. Some of the newer guys on this subreddit should not be posting at all.

NEVER EVER trust women who say/act like they are "one of the guys" and have "mostly guy friends"

6 upvotes · 4 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Well isn't that a pleasant delight. I've had the linguistic autistic police going to town on my words recently and nit-picking so fastidiously you'd think they did this shit for a fucking job. Haha!

NEVER EVER trust women who say/act like they are "one of the guys" and have "mostly guy friends"

6 upvotes · 4 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Not enough to go on from that brief interaction. She's certainly a candidate, but cross comparing her with the woman who inspired the Lucifer's Daughter article, I'm not sure. Didn't get to shit test her enough or probe her for information beyond this interaction. She contained her temper but I noticed the change in her demeanour, I caused her frame to change. Plenty of women collect orbiters, it doesn't make them psychopaths, it just makes them commitment miners, lovers of free gifts, egoists, backup cock insurance policy holders and etc.

NEVER EVER trust women who say/act like they are "one of the guys" and have "mostly guy friends"

6 upvotes · 3 November 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I get asked this a lot. I'm sorry, I don't have any book I can recommend because I didn't learn it from a book. I learnt it from practice/my habits, and I suppose, without meaning to gloat, there's an element of natural talent involved. Naturals are shit at explaining things. I never had to consciously go through the learning process of acquiring the skill so I can't really explain it. If somebody else can, or has a good link, I'll add it to the OP as I'm sure other people will have this question.

Part #2 to "4/10 American girl goes to Japan." Author writes follow-up, called "Are North American Women Really THAT Bad?"

6 upvotes · 29 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

The vile and repulsive state of contemporary western women serves as a huge warning for the rest of the world not to institutionalise the ideology of feminism into their own cultures. Feminism has been, and always will be, cultural suicide. I of course, am referring to the fall of Rome.

Woman wears a GoPro camera in New York city to show how much she suffers "Street Harassment" Wants you to donate money to stop these heinous acts.

6 upvotes · 29 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

What books would you say have expanded your vocabulary so much?

That's a tough question because I read an incredible amount of varied content and thus it would be difficult to pinpoint a particular source. Nothing in particular strikes me at this moment. I tend to isolate words that stick out to me from all the over place and then bury them into my mind. Sometimes I hear them spoken, other times I read them. When the context is correct my brain will sort of go on auto-pilot and fetch me the word I need. My suggestion is you read frequently, not so much forums (noise to signal is too high,) but books, or blogs written by proficient and articulate writers (most bloggers are average writers, but there are some good ones.) Blogs can be very hit or miss. Neoreactionary blogs will in all likelihood, have a higher frequency of more complex word usage than TRP blogs. Some words are very terminological though - which means rather than rare words, they are obtuse words relevant to a very small dimension of discussion.

Philosophical and political books usually have a wide lexicon. In England we have a TV channel called BBC parliament, sometimes I listen to that in order to listen to political discourse and argumentation. Politicians tend to as a matter of course, be quite articulate. You can pick up a lot of words like that. You should read daily, too, where possible.

Every one of your posts are incredibly well written.

Thank you very much, how humbling.

Reminder: Reading the sidebar and going to the gym doesn't make you "alpha"

6 upvotes · 24 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I used to do this so much. I'd never decide where we're going, what we're doing or anything. I was absolutely awful at making decisions. After I swallowed the red pill, I forced myself to always decide on things when I was asked, and even just state things when not asked.

It completely changed everything. Before, my girlfriend was constantly complaining about how I never chose what we're doing or where we're going. She absolutely loves it. Even if I'm not sure about what I want, I'll just say "I still haven't decided yet", and then later she'll usually ask "have you decided yet?". She seriously eats that shit up.

Women crave to be led by a strong man. A man who can't or won't tell his woman what to do is one she cannot depend on to do what needs to be done when shit goes down.

"It was all a lie." A TRP insight.

6 upvotes · 24 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Solipsism has an incredible knack for being ironic.

5 Red Pill Truths From My GF

6 upvotes · 22 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Enjoy the flourishing love while it lasts my man. Best of luck to you. Great post.

5 Red Pill Truths From My GF

6 upvotes · 22 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I believe he meant lucid rather than livid.

CDC Study: More Men than Women Victims of Partner Abuse (2012 but still relevant)

6 upvotes · 17 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

<http://illimitablemen.com/2014/02/17/lucifers-daughter/>

Why People Hate The Red Pill

6 upvotes · 17 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Quite the opposite actually, TRP is helping many married men improve their marriages as well as helping men form healthier long term relationships with their girlfriends.

Idolizing DT: A true example of Psychopathy

6 upvotes · 14 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Luckily I don't really care for karma or reddit gold. I'll elaborate on it, clean it up a bit and stick it on my blog at some point.

Stefan Molyneux on the history of female SMV, family and feminism

6 upvotes · 14 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I agree. Women like sex as much as men do BUT men typically want to have it more frequently than women do (due to T.)

Then there's the fact a lot of women aren't capable of vaginal orgasm (so they need ridiculous amounts of clitoral stimulation) as well as a lot of men not knowing how to give women orgasms even when she is capable of them.

These elements must surely also factor into the equation. If you weren't guaranteed an orgasm every time you fucked, would you care about sex as much either?

The Art of Not Caring

6 upvotes · 9 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Obligatory link to the methodology of monk mode, for those of you who read OP and don't know what it is and/or are interested in it.

To those men who are getting over an Ex. You are a drug addict.

6 upvotes · 7 October 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I'll just leave this here:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ASmdjv8-p7o>

So you want to be a man? Welcome to life on Hard mode.

6 upvotes · 23 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Of course the actual reason she sought mental help is ignored here because the other reason is more convenient at pushing the red pill philosophy.

I can't speak for others and their agendas, but for me it's mostly ignorance speaking. I hadn't really taken the time to look at her situation in-depth beyond the youtube clips and some posts on her book. Whilst I still think there is some merit to "the point that gets pushed" using her example, everything /u/serb1991 raises is extremely relevant too and of course, vitiates the validity of her experience as evidence that "living like a man" damaged her and it was not simply an effect anyone would experience trying to live outside their gender identity.

But really how do we determine whether it was "being a man" that was the problem or "pretending to be something you're not" ?? The nuance is so small and either premise unprovable that really what caused her mental problems can be whatever it is rationalised to be. Would pretending to be something you're not have the same effects if the thing you're pretending to be in anyway brought benefits to your life? (Eg: fake it till you make it) I have oft thought all these male to female transsexuals who wanted to become women did so simply because it would mean an easier life/more comfort and more support without having to endure the struggles of the common man. A simple operation and you get to play life on a lower difficulty setting.

I use her as an example because there is no other comparison, not out of a deliberate intent to misinterpret an experiment and use it as conclusive proof for a pre-held opinion. That is not my intention at all, of course I can't speak for other posters.

Blue pill stumbles upon TRP straight from the mouths of women on Tinder

6 upvotes · 18 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

"No teeth" tends to increase the quality with girls who don't know how to suck dick.

Schopenhauer on Women

6 upvotes · 16 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Love the fuck out of Schopenhauer. Some of his writings will go completely over your head if you're not dedicated to understanding them though.

The Rational Male – Year Three

6 upvotes · 8 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

<http://therationalmale.com/year-two/>

2xC: "TheRedPill is causing me to self-harm, as I become more depressed by what women must really think of me. "

6 upvotes · 1 September 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

You could be onto something with this.

Almost one-in-10 British graduates from institutions such as Cambridge, Durham, Exeter and Oxford who found jobs in 2011 were working overseas.

6 upvotes · 31 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Over two million Brits have left Britain.

Once I've made enough bank you can make that two million and one brits. This place has fallen so far from grace it's not even funny.

How effective or needed do you think TRP is in Europe?

6 upvotes · 28 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I lived outside London and moved to London, compared to my hometown London is hypergamy central, compared to everywhere else in this country I've visited (Manchester, Southampton, Bristol, etc) it is hypergamy central. I wouldn't say the NHS and a crappy welfare state (it's worse than Americas let's be honest, we don't even get food stamps) nullify hypergamy in London. In fact I'd argue how expensive it is getting around on the tube, and the cost of living/eating/utilities without a higher minimum wage to accommodate that, as well as property prices being as high as they are in London actually necessitates/encourages hypergamy even more. And for what you get for an apartment in most parts of the country you'll downgrade in London. So the kind of money that gets you say a 2 bedroom flat in southampton will get you a small 1 bed or a "luxury" room in London. Add the massive gap between rich and poor in London (tons of rich foreigners move there, city has 53(?) billionaires) and then the fact tons of eastern europeans and non-english people from more impoverished societies have moved to London since the EU opened up and you will see hypergamy everywhere. I do and have.

All the corporate buildings, recognisable brands, sports cars driving around and all the suits give a girl a lot to compare the average guy to. London is a place where successful people go to live. Unless you are kind of crazy (don't mind getting into crazy shit, selling drugs, being in a gang) or born to a rich family, or otherwise insanely intelligent so you can get a high paying job there, the average guy has a very tough time competing with hypergamy in London. Rent kills quality of life in London, absolutely slaughters it. The easiest option to appeal to hypergamy there is to go to the gym and become ripped/aesthetic, it's far easier than competing with all that wealth and other bullshit. London is really competitive. The best things about this country are in London and the worst things about this country are in London. It is a city of extremes, the wealth inequality is nuts. I could go on for ages about London.

Another thing you have to consider about London is it's not really an English city which affects what the women are like there. It's been deanglicised by intense immigration. Half (probably more) of the people living there identify predominantly with a non-english nationality/culture/religion rather than England/the english way of life. When I'm in London people are always shocked to meet a native it's that bad. English culture has no presence in London. Outside of politics/westminster/chelsea and all the posh old-money english the city is mostly dominated by black jamaican culture and pakistani muslims, with a bit of eastern european thrown in for good measure. Cockneys and that kind of traditional english attitude are practically a dying breed. Most of them moved to Essex, Greater London (Eg: Croydon), Surrey, Hertfordshire and places like that. White flight in London is HUGE.

How to be RP when it comes to your friends or "friends" should I say?

6 upvotes · 24 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

This guy is a snake you're gullible and naive and overlooking bullshit/trying to rationalise it away because you've become emotionally invested in someone that wants to tear you down. This guy will ruin your social circle if you let him. Read 48 laws of power, I don't know how you'd stick around a cunt like this for 6 years and even call him a friend. People have been physically fucked up for far less than what this cunts done. I can't put it any simpler than this: betrayal in any relationship is a deal breaker, people who switch personality on you are not trustworthy. He's doing both. Baiting and switching with the buddy/saboteur dynamic. Open your eyes you're infatuated with the enemy.

Think men are the unfaithful sex? A study shows WOMEN are the biggest cheats - they're just better at lying (read: hamstering) about it

6 upvotes · 22 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Thanks. I may write an article on this topic in future.

#IfIWereABoy: A trending hashtag where women say what they would do if they were male.

6 upvotes · 7 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I noticed this from a young age. When I was about 8 or 9 I noticed how girls were obsessed with the boys in school and with their relationships to other people, it's something deep within them and once it fires up at a young age it never goes away. Hypergamy and "being social" rules them completely. Women are all social climbers and the prettier they are the higher they climb. Attractive women are negged by average and unattractive chicks because they can't climb as high as their attractive counterparts. It's like one gigantic relationship, man obsessed beauty Olympics over there in girl-world with sex or the implication of it as the bargaining chip for all of a girl's desires. I for one am somewhat happy to exist outside of that bullshit and engage in things with more depth than "how sociable and fuckable I can make myself." For men, being sociable and fuckable is an adjunct, to women, it's everything, absolutely everything.

Patrice O'Neal: Brutally Honest (2012) Documentary

6 upvotes · 2 August 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Patrice was a revolutionary, R.I.P buddy.

Let Women Follow Their Nature

6 upvotes · 24 July 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

Relevant comment from /u/opioidus on TRP on a different topic, but applies to your theory here:

...feminism is a self defeating ideology. Trying to "weed out" beta males and undesirable mates while maximizing societal/economic power might sound like a win-win to most women, hence the success of feminism in our world, but there's a little catch here: Alpha males are made not born! By creating a culture where it's increasingly difficult for men to become men, less and less women will get what they worked so hard for.

Agree & Amplify Proven Scientifically

6 upvotes · 24 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

I concur, didn't help me much either, I had to work all this shit out by myself which is why I'm going to put my findings into an article within its own right.

The 48 Laws of Power - a must read

6 upvotes · 23 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Read it in public for a reminder of the timelessness of its application.

In a place where people you know do not frequent, after all you should be concealing your intentions, many people will be wary of you if they deduce you're reading a book on manipulation.

"Arguing" with women

6 upvotes · 23 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

Yeah this is a really great community, helped me a lot.

r/OkCupid, redpill theory confirmed

6 upvotes · 20 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

All you need to do is find a place where men have lower sex drive and women have higher sex drive.

This is what I talk about when I say you're being hypothetical and so by extension, completely detached from reality which is so far removed from what the red pill is even about. You've ignored evopsych and biology completely in your arguments stating economic markets are purely the reason men and women behave the way they do, asserting essentially (but less clearly) that "men are just as hypergamous as women are, but the reason they are not as it stands is because of the society we live in, and given the chance they would be." 1: I refute that assertion due to biological differences (which I go into detail more at the end of my post) 2: that inadvertently agrees that women are indeed hypergamous, but not in a way that is unique from the theorised male capacity to be "equally hypergamous."

The funny thing about this is you then go on to undermine yourself later on by mentioning the importance of sex drive/testosterone (which is the hormone that regulates sex drive.) I refute your economics based argument on the basis that a society where men have lower sex drive than women is impossible and theoretical and thus not red pill, it may as well be some academic bluepill nonsense because it is not the reality of the human condition, your theories must attempt to explain the human condition as it is, not posit what it could be if reality wasn't what it is. That my friend is a hypothetical reality, not a pragmatic one, and if you need to conjure up unrealistic scenarios to make a point that "women aren't that bad, and really, men are just as bad" you've got to realise you're going down a very slippery slope which inherently undermines the credibility of your argument. You are free to disagree, but if you have not read RP theory or disagree with the theory of hypergamy you're going to have to do better than you have to discredit it, likewise, most of us will not care, as we do not live in societies where men are the gatekeepers to sex, in fact no such society is known to exist or have ever existed.

If you think of a girl as being a employer who chooses to hire men at her leisure there ends up being nothing hypothetical about this at all.

This is where you misunderstand hypergamy, by assuming men and women are the same and all their behaviour is dictated by the marketplace, you believe in free market economics of the sexes when its more complex than that. In reality, a high value man is still treated as an employee by a woman even if he's a multibillionaire supermodel. He will pass the interview of shit tests she gives him, but there is still an interview process. He is still the interviewee and she is still the interviewer, women are hypergamous because they do the choosing, whilst the males compete to be chosen. Male "hypergamy" is competing to be chosen by the best females, it is not "i'm the prize, all women must approach me and convince me they are the shit" no matter how accomplished a male is, this is rarely ever the case, whilst in even beneath average women, this is often the case. THAT is the nature of hypergamy.

What's the point of AWALT when AMALT is equally true?

This assumes an equalist position that men and women are inherently the same and it is purely opportunity which drives their behaviours and expectation (and by extension, hypergamy), which again, is far removed from what we observe and believe here. This isn't about "who is the better sex" but rather understanding women in the paradigm we find ourselves in here, you seem to have missed that point but are rather more concerned with the "unfairness" of reducing women to the hypergamous qualities that we as men all have to observe, endure, and manoeuvre around. You're missing the point that men compete for sex and women choose who to have sex with, it is only in rare circumstances (such as with men who are at the top of the hierarchy) that this is the opposite, and even then, these women still do "the choosing", they are simply granting instant access because they acknowledge the man's status he has "already won" so to speak.

Under your logic in the old days when women had less earning power and were reliant on men completely to be economically provided for, they would have been less hypergamous and men would have had all the economic power and thus it would have been men who were hypergamous rather than women, when history suggests the opposite, women always have and always will try to date out of their league and marry up regardless of whether they are the "employee" or "employer" in a situation, the greatest thing about this is perhaps demonstrated by people at the top. Men at the top of the game will date women who are beautiful and that's their "hypergamy" satiated, whilst women at the top of the game will for a start, only date men who out earn them, and then they will demand looks, social dominance and all the rest of it. Why is this? because they would have bared the risks of childbearing in ages gone by and needed a man who embodied strong qualities in many different areas to look after her and the baby, you could say that hypergamy in large part is caused by the higher biological risk taken in pregnancy, eggs are expensive, sperm is cheap. No matter where a woman is in society her laundry list of requirements is always longer than a mans and it is this long list of qualities demanded and expected that constitutes what hypergamy is. Men DO NOT generally behave in that way and an employer/employee analogy does not capture that dynamic and demonstrate that they do to the contrary.

You disagree with our theory of hypergamy and I disagree with your disagreement, anyway, feels like I've ended up in some sort of /r/purplepilldebate argument with someone who doesn't completely agree with TRP or at least its hypergamy component (and perhaps doesn't even fully understand it), so that's me done, I don't prosteylise, but I don't expect to see people arguing about parts of TRP within TRP, that shit should stay out of this sub (as it ruins the signal) and stay on /r/PurplePillDebate/.

r/OkCupid, redpill theory confirmed

6 upvotes · 20 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

A worthwhile insight, but seeing as this is not the reality for men, somewhat irrelevant. Women being the gatekeepers to sex is the largest market force in play here.

Sigh Guy catches his girlfriend cheating on him during a livestream

6 upvotes · 19 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

90% of women, american or not, would behave the same way.

The most responsible in teenager in the house...

Sigh Guy catches his girlfriend cheating on him during a livestream

6 upvotes · 19 July 2014 · /r/TheRedPill

"Brian you hit me, you beat me, you beat the fucking shit out of me, I don't care anymore"

But that's OK because she's still the victim as far as she's concerned so it's all justifiable ok?

The Nuances of Rationalising the Dark Triad Personality Type

6 upvotes · 10 July 2014 · /r/AlreadyRed

- Narcs - put other people down, look for people who will give them validation and feed their ego, affirm to themselves they are the shit/superior and surround themselves with people who will worship something about them, that can be something such as intelligence/reputation in men, whilst most commonly with women it is body image. Zyyy is a double-example of how prolonged steroid use can make your spiritual state psychopathic whilst self-respect/self-love gained from his body image padded by the following which came with it brought about narcissism. In essence Zyyy was a narc/psycho but there is no evidence to suggest he was very manipulative, he didn't need to be. In the workplace narcs surround themselves with schmoozers, they are normally smart enough to know they are being schmoozed, but don't care as they feed off the energy. Narcs love to be the centerpiece, put them in any social setting where nobody cares who they are and they will flee, they cannot handle not being worshipped or even being a momentary nobody.

Narcissists: obsessed with perception, reputation, superficiality and popularity. Vain as fuck and obsessed with mirrors. Most women in the modern west are raised to be narcissists.

- Machs - control other people, normally indirectly such as with money, secrets or psychological mind games (withdrawing attention, push/pull etc), this is the hardest trait to spot with a cursory glance because there is so much illusion involved, less intelligent machiavellians are quite easy to spot as they slip-up and are obvious with their nature, exposing contradictions and arousing suspicion, they are clumsy. The more intelligent they are the more elaborate the ruse becomes, in essence you enter the ruse and fail to see outside it believing what they allow you to know and see, but if you were capable of stepping out of the ruse and analysing the history of your relationship you would instinctually feel something is off, it is not what you do know about a competent machiavellian that disturbs you, it is what you don't know. This is normally difficult for a person to articulate as it manifests as uncomfortability in the subconscious. High level machiavellians are good at being different things to different people, they have no set mask/identity, but a collection of identities of which they rotate through, they are the masters of self-interested calibration but this doesn't mean they are necessarily comfortable with each mask that they wear, like I said in the OP sometimes socialising is a chore, particularly when they're wearing a mask which embodies an identity they don't enjoy playing. In psychology on a micro-scale this is called "mirroring." The best machs are analytical, have strong memory, quick-witted and are theatrically good actors (eg: Russell Brand.)

Machs: obsessed with psychological dominance, perception and reputation. Always "have to win" and have no moral boundaries on what winning requires. Manipulation and machiavellianism are not the same thing per se, manipulation can have moral boundaries and constraints, whilst machiavellianism as a psychological vocation does not, machiavellianism is far more psychopathic than simple everyday manipulations as well as far more elaborate. When it comes to women many of them are competently manipulative to varying levels of moral degree, a woman even slightly right of the bell curve raised with a lack of morals though? Total machiavellian, it's practically in their blood. You can subdue the natural machiavellian in a woman by raising her well outside of western culture, but you cannot remove it entirely, just much like you can subdue the violence in men with western culture, but you cannot remove it entirely. Many women aren't very smart with their manipulations at all, many more aren't even intelligent enough to be self-aware of their own natures and flit around being duplicitous rationalising it as "just who they are."

